COUNTYLISTENINGPOST

By the County Superintendent

MISS OLGA HAUG RESIGNS

Miss Olga Haug, of this village, who for a number of years has held the responsible position of supervising teacher of Washington county, has tendered her resignation which will take effect June 1. Miss Haug who is a graduate of the local high school of the class of 1908, has been very successful in her work as supervising teacher, and through the aid of her good and faithful work, the success of bringing the rural schools of the county to a high standard must be credited to her. She is one of the main factors in the undertaking. We have been informed from reliable sources that Miss Haug intends to go back to teaching next year. County Superintendent M. T. Buckley has the following to say of Miss Haug, which certainly speaks well of her, and of which she can justly feel proud:

"The Committee on Common Schools at its meeting on Tuesday, May 19th, will have to appoint a new supervising teacher, Miss Olga Haug, the present incumbent of the office, having tendered her resignation which is to take effect on June 1. School Superintendent M. T. Buckley has submitted the committee a list of three names of teachers who are to be considered in filling the vacancy, the one best qualified in the eyes of the committee to be selected.

Among the names of suitable candidates for the office is that of Miss Kathryn Huber. Miss Huber, in the estimation of prominent educators, is eminently qualified for the position of supervising teacher. She is a graduate of the Milwaukee Normal, class of 1912, and for four years taught in grades in this city. She then took the Rural School course at the Milwaukee Normal, and has been supervising two years taught in country schools in this county. At present she is a seventh grade teacher in the Mineral street school at Milwaukee. Prof. C. E. Patzer of the Milwaukee Normal unqualifiedly recommends her as possessing the necessary elements to make a good supervising teacher.

Miss Olga Haug who has held the position for a number of years gave universal satisfaction. Putting her own energy and much enthusiasm in her work. Her aid to bring up the schools of Washington county to the present high level was most valuable, and for that reason her resignation is to be regretted. The county was lucky to find a successor who comes up to her in ability, industry, and personal equation.

Later reports are to the effect that Miss Huber had been appointed as supervising teacher to succeed Miss Haug.

WHY COLDS ARE DANGEROUS

You are often told to "beware of a cold," but why? We will tell you: Every cold weakens the lungs, lowers the vitality and paves the way for the more serious diseases. People who contract pneumonia first take cold. The longer a cold hangs on, the greater the danger, especially from the germ diseases, as a cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of consumption, diphtheria, scarlet fever and whooping cough. The quicker you get rid of your cold, the less the danger of contracting one of these diseases. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation as a cure for colds and can be depended upon. It is pleasant to take.

RETURNS FROM CONVENTION AT DAYTON

L. P. Rosenheimer, the local Delco-Light dealer returned this week from the Fourth Annual Delco-Light convention which he attended in Dayton, Ohio on March 18th to 20th. He came back displaying boundless enthusiasm over the trip and described fluently the many unique and interesting features which were offered at this Convention of the makers and salesmen of Delco-Light, the best-known form of electric plant. Some of the more striking features, says Mr. Rosenheimer were: first the opening session on Thursday morning when talks were made by R. H. Frank, General Manager, and other officers of the company. These talks he stated, had to do largely with the general proposition of the spread and development of electrical equipment for the rural communities and many valuable new electrical products were announced. On Thursday afternoon, the whole convention body of some 1500 members were taken on a trip through the great Delco-Light factory, largest of its kind in the world and covering more than a million square feet of floor space. On Thursday night the feature was a comedy with music, produced and presented exclusively for the Delco-Light organization. Friday's program dealt with intimate service and financial problems and included also, a striking parade of factory employes, representing each department. The keenest interest and enthusiasm was displayed on every hand, declares Mr. Rosenheimer clear up to the culminating feature, the annual banquet for the entire convention body, on Saturday night. Prominent speakers, delivered stirring talks and at the conclusion, motion pictures were shown of many of the important features of the three-day convention. Mr. Rosenheimer declares that in his opinion electricity is one of the most important factors in the carrying out of the program, and that that opinion was strengthened by what he saw and heard at the tremendous gathering of salesmen of electrical products. An electrical exposition conducted by about 100 manufacturers of electrical appliances was a valuable feature of the convention, he adds, and concludes that when all farmers come to use electricity as they will one day, they will have a most profitable saving of time and labor and the unquestioned addition of untold comfort and enjoyment, made possible by the enjoyment of the advantages that electricity alone affords.

DEATH OF MRS. ANGST BUTZLAFF

At the home of her daughter, Mrs. Otto Schaefer, at Milwaukee, with whom she had been staying for some time, Mrs. August Butzlaff (nee Dahlke), passed to the higher resting of life last week Saturday, March 20, 1920, at 9:45 A. M. Mrs. Butzlaff had been a sufferer with dropsy for over a year, and death came as a great relief to her. Mrs. Butzlaff was born in Germany on March 3, 1852, immigrating to America in 1865 with her parents, and settled in the town of Barton, where she resided until about five years ago when she moved to West Bend, where she lived until last fall when she went to Milwaukee to make her home with her daughter. In 1875 she was united in marriage to August Butzlaff, who preceded her in death several years ago. This union was blessed with twelve children of whom nine survive, and whose names are: William and Herman of the town of Kewaskum, Emma (Mrs. Gust. Treichl) and Tillie (Mrs. Otto Schaefer) of Milwaukee; Albert of the town of Barton; Ella (Mrs. Jacob Schaefer) of the town of Kewaskum; Alvina (Mrs. Walter Effland) of Milwaukee; Ananda (Mrs. Lorenz Miller) of the town of Newburg; and Arthur West Bend. Besides these she leaves to mourn her demise, 17 grandchildren and two sisters. Mrs. Butzlaff was a devoted Christian, a woman whose mission in life was to do good. She was a true mother and a kind neighbor. The remains were shipped to West Bend on Tuesday at noon, and services were held at 1:30 o'clock in the Luth. church here. Rev. E. Hoyer officiated. Interment was made in the Union cemetery. The bereaved relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of the entire community.

DEATH OF CARL BRUESOWITZ

Carl Herman Bruesowitz, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bruesowitz of the town of Farmington passed away in death, at his home on Wednesday, March 25, 1920, after a week's illness with diphtheria. Deceased was born on April 22, 1913, in the town of Farmington. He leaves to mourn his early demise, his parents and his mother and a kind neighbor. The remains were shipped to West Bend on Tuesday at noon, and services were held at 1:30 o'clock in the Luth. church here. Rev. E. Hoyer officiated. Interment was made in the Union cemetery. The bereaved relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of the entire community.

J. B. DAY SELLS MANY FARMS

Jan. B. Day of Hartford, one of our local and influential real estate men, and who has been appointed executor of his brother Frank's farm, kept busy last week in disposing of three of the Frank Day farms, besides selling one of his own and buying another. The deals made are as follows: Sold the Weber 160-acre farm in the town of York to Geo. Bellmann for $24,000, without personal property. Sold the McNair farm of 160 acres in the town of Mitchell, Sheboygan county to Leo Mullen for $15,500, taking as part payment the latter's cheese factory close by. Sold the Herman Bell farm, just south of Plymouth to Dr. Carl Marth of Campbellsport for $28,000. Sold a 160-acre farm in the town of Leroy, Dodge County to Herman Bleifuss of the town of Hubbard, Dodge county for $32,000. Bought the Henry Cahill 80-acre farm, 4 1/2 miles south of Rosendale, Fond du Lac county, including all the personal property, for $13,500.

CITY TEAM WINS CLOSING GAME

The Kewaskum A. C. team finished its season of basket ball by winning the closing game by a score of 31 to 25, in a contest with the strong Hartford Kissel Kar team at the Opera House last Saturday evening. Although the game was rough, it proved to be very interesting and exciting from start to finish. The locals were outwitted man for man, and things looked rather dubious for them during the entire first half, which ended 14 to 19 with Hartford at the long end. The second half started with a rush and the visitors were successful in catching a field goal after a few minutes of play bringing the score up to 21. Several minutes of play elapsed before Kewaskum scored on a free throw, which was followed by four field goals, by the local quintette, tying the score. From there on the locals took the lead which they held until the final whistle blew. "Spatz" Miller played a star game. The Hartford team is a strong aggregation and ought to give the Slinger team a hard rub for their money when they play at Hartford on April 1st. The locals journeyed to Hartford Friday evening to play a return game with the Kissel Kars. On Sunday evening they will go to Newburg. The local quintette has finished a most successful season, winning most of their games played, and the team as well as the Athletic Club desire to express their sincere thanks for the liberal support given them by the fans throughout the season. They also wish to thank the West Bend News and Pilot as well as the Campbellsport News and local paper, for the liberal support given the team throughout the season, and to those who assisted the team at the various games played at home or away. The season closes with the hope that Kewaskum will be represented with a still better team next year.

THE BEST LAXATIVE

"My sedentary habits have necessitated the use of an occasional laxative. I have tried many but found nothing better than Chamberlain's Tablets," writes George F. Daniels, Hardwick, Vt. Mr. Daniels is proprietor of the Hardwick Inn, one of the model hotels of New England.

PRIMARY ELECTION VERY TAME AFFAIR

The village and town caucus held here last Saturday passed off very quietly, due to the fact that there was only one opposition on both tickets. In the town, Albert Kocher and Hubert Fellenz ran for treasurer, the former defeated his opponent by twenty-five votes. In the village the only opposition was for the office of president, namely L. D. Guth and B. H. Rosenheimer, the present incumbent. The former received 60 votes and the latter 58. It is expected, however, that election day will be more exciting because both candidates are making a hard fight for the office.

CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, pioneer citizens of this village, had the honor of celebrating their golden wedding anniversary at their home here last Sunday, March 21, in the presence of their children and near relatives and friends. Mrs. Elizabeth Miller (nee Baer), was born in Boden, Germany on June 28, 1853, where she spent her childhood days, and where she received her early education, later she immigrated to America with her parents, settling in Washington county. Mr. Miller was born in Rheinbaverg, Germany on January 24, 1843, and immigrated to this country with his parents when a young man, settling near Cedar Lake, where he grew to manhood, and where he endured many of the hardships of pioneer days. On March 19th, 1870 they were united in marriage at Schiesingerville, shortly after their marriage they went to homekeeping on the groom's farm near Cedar Lake, where Mr. and Mrs. Miller toiled hard and diligently for two years when they returned from farm life and moved to Kewaskum, where they have since resided. By profession Mr. Miller was a carpenter contractor, which trade he followed up to about eight years ago, when he retired. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are the parents of eight children, three of whom have passed away in death. Those living are: Edward F. of Kewaskum; Dr. John B. Miller of Edgerton, Wis.; Olga (Mrs. Hugo Waechter) of Milwaukee; Mayme (Mrs. Anton Kellhaek) of Chicago; Elmer A. of Milwaukee. The anniversary day was last week Friday, but for the convenience of the children the event was celebrated on Sunday and the occasion was most enjoyable affair, which will long be remembered by the aged couple. A sumptuous dinner and supper were served to the guests, to which all did ample justice. Mr. and Mrs. Miller were presented with a purse of gold by the children. Mr. Miller is one of the oldest settlers of this community and he and his venerable wife are very highly respected residents of this village. Their many friends and relatives extend heartiest congratulations, and hope that health and happiness may attend them, until such time at least when they will be able to celebrate a rare occasion of their diamond wedding. Those who attended from away were Dr. John B. Miller and sons Paul and Robert of Edgerton; Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Waechter daughter Frances and son David of Milwaukee; Elmer Miller and wife of Milwaukee.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

To give Washington county wool a good name and to create a better market for their product, local wool growers are asked to co-operate with the sheepmen of the state in a collective sale of their 1920 clip.

At a recent conference of representatives of the Wisconsin sheep breeders' Association, the College of Agriculture, the State Division of Markets, the Wisconsin Live Stock Breeders Association, the State Grange, and the Wisconsin Branch of the American Society of Equity, plans were laid for the collective marketing of Wisconsin wool, and an organization was effected of the Wisconsin Division of the fleece wool states growers' association.

The plan provides for the use of existing local marketing machinery or the organization of special county or community wool growers' association.

County Agent will co-operate with the growers of the county in the handling of their clip. Washington county is credited with 4755 head of sheep by the United States Department of Agriculture. Allowing an average of but 7 pounds to the fleece there would be 33250 pounds of wool in the county this year. Pools in Dane and Buffalo counties last year added greatly to the wool supply of the state.

The early hatched chicks are best, says J. G. Halpin of the University of Wisconsin. In Wisconsin under usual conditions the chicks should be hatched during March, April or May. There is a tendency on the part of many poultry raisers to hatch too many chicks late in the season. Late chicks seldom reach maturity before cold weather sets in and as a result they produce but few eggs during the winter. To make poultry raising profitable set the hens early. If the incubator is not already in service better get it out at once.

Don't forget the BEE SCHOOL that is to be held at West Bend on April 3. TO THE BOYS AND GIRLS. If you are planning on entering the corn contest send in your names now. The time for field work will soon be here and before you realize it corn planting time will be here. Now is the time to join the club.

NEW BEEKEEPING METHODS WILL BE TAUGHT

The University of Wisconsin through the Extension Division of the College of Agriculture will hold a beekeepers' meeting at West Bend Commercial Club rooms on April 3. Two sessions will be held one at 10 o'clock in the morning and one at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Special attention will be given to new and up-to-date methods of handling of bees and also to bee diseases and their control. During the last 20 years the number of colonies of bees in Wisconsin has decreased from over 100,000 to less than 50,000. The losses have in a great part been due to foulbrood which destroys the young bees in the combs. It is possible to control these losses by the proper handling of bees and these different manipulations will be taken up in detail at these meetings. The meeting will be conducted by H. L. McMurray, extension agriculturist, University of Wisconsin, U. S. Department of Agriculture and State Department of Agriculture, co-operating.

ESCAPED AN OPERATION

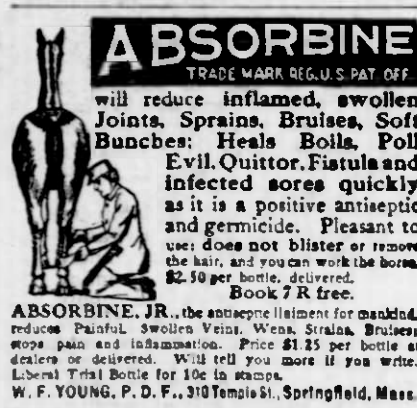

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many Such Cases.

Cairo, Ill.—"Sometime ago I got so bad with female trouble that I thought I would have to be operated on. I had a bad displacement. My right side would pain me and I was so nervous I could not hold a glass of water. Many times I would have to stop my work and sit down or I would fall on the floor in a faint. I consulted several doctors and every one told me the same but I kept fighting to keep from having the operation. I had read so many times of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped my sister so I began taking it. I have never felt better than I have since then and I keep house and am able to do all my work. The Vegetable Compound is certainly one grand medicine."

—Mrs. J. R. MATTHEWS, 3311 Sycamore Street, Cairo, Ill.

Of course there are many serious cases that only a surgical operation will relieve. We freely acknowledge this, but the above letter, and others like it, amply prove that many operations are recommended when medicine in many cases is all that is needed.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass.

TREATY IS KILLED BY THE SENATE

Votes to Keep Out of the League of Nations.

GOES BACK TO PRESIDENT

Body by a Vote of 49 to 35 Makes the Controversy a Campaign Issue—Members Prepare to Vote Separate Peace.

Washington, March 22.—The senate rejected the treaty of peace with Germany and sent it back to the White House with a resolution informing the president that the senate would not consent to its ratification.

For the second time since the treaty, with the covenant of the League of Nations, was brought back from Paris by President Wilson, the senate refused to give it the approval that is necessary to bind the United States to the engagements which it imposes upon the nation.

Exactly four months ago to the day the treaty was refused ratification by the vote of 41 to 51. Today's vote was 49 to 35, the majority in favor of ratification being seven votes short of the two-thirds required by the Constitution.

Immediately following the vote by which the treaty was rejected, the senate adopted a resolution by Senator Lodge directing the secretary to return the treaty to the president and notify him that ratification could not be accomplished. The vote on the adoption of this resolution was 47 to 37.

Before the senate convenes next Monday a messenger from the office of the secretary of the senate will have deposited at the White House the document which has been the cause of the most bitter struggle in the history of the senate.

Once in the hands of the president, the senate will have no authority to recall it, and the president is not likely to return it to the senate unless he can obtain reasonable assurance that ratification can be had.

In view of the president's desire to take the treaty into the campaign, it is not believed by any of his followers in the senate that he will for a moment consider sending the treaty back to the senate, at least until after the campaign is over.

The senate will immediately turn its attention to the proposition of declaring peace with Germany by a resolution which both houses of congress will be asked to pass.

Senator Knox began the discussion of his resolution on the subject shortly after the vote against the treaty had been recorded.

That such a resolution will pass is conceded by the ablest leaders of the senate, in view of the second failure of the attempt to bring about peace by ratification of the treaty.

The Knox measure is a joint resolution, requiring passage by the house as well as the senate.

It provides in addition to restoring a state of peace, that unless Germany conforms all the "rights, privileges, indemnities, reparations and advantages" to which the United States would have been entitled under the treaty of Versailles, the president may prohibit commercial intercourse with or financial assistance of Germany.

The Knox measure is a joint resolution requiring passage by the house as well as the senate, and signature by the president. If it should be passed and vetoed by the president it could become a law, notwithstanding the veto, by a two-thirds vote of both houses.

When news of the senate's action was flashed to the White House it failed to bring forth one word of comment. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, was at the executive offices until the senate adjourned, and the information of the defeat of the treaty was promptly transmitted to the president. But after the adjournment of the senate, Mr. Tumulty went home. He announced there would be no statement from the president.

Senator Lodge—"The treaty is gone. It has been rejected by the senate and sent back to the president. If the president chooses to return it to the senate it will have to go through the same process as before. If it goes to the foreign relations committee he will have a mighty hard time getting it out. If the president desires to make a campaign issue of it the Republicans are perfectly willing to meet it."

Senator Hitchcock—"I am glad the ratification did not carry on the Lodge reservations, but the result was about what I expected. It will now be up to the president and he will have to take the initiative."

The treaty, with essentially the same reservations commanded 13 more votes Friday, than in November, when it was 21 votes short of two-thirds. These votes were contributed by the following Democrats:

Ashurst, Beckham, Chamberlain, Fletcher, Henderson, Kendrick, King, Nugent, Phelan, Pittman, Ransdell, Smith (Md.), Trammell, Walsh (Mont.) and Wolcott. The irreconcilables gained two votes—Penrose (Rep.) and Shields (Dem.)—both of whom voted for the treaty in November.

Doldrums of Oratory.
The ratification roll call came shortly after six o'clock, following a day of listless oratory on the subject of the covenant and the reservations. The roll was called in a stilted silence.

Pasteurizing Milk.
The milk in the bottles may be placed in a boiler in which cold water comes up to the necks of the bottles. The boiler is then placed on the stove and heated until the water reaches a temperature of 145 degrees Fahrenheit, as determined by the thermometer, where it is maintained for 30 minutes. The bottles are then removed, cooled in running water, and kept sealed until the milk is ready to serve. Pasteurization kills disease-causing germs.

Shellac.
Shellac is the joint product of insects and plants and comes from India. The lac insects are about 1.25 of an inch long, a bright red in color. They suck the juices of plants, digest them and exude them in the form of resin, which soon encases the whole insect. When the young insects have swarmed out, the resin is scraped from the branches, ground, washed, mixed with colophony and orpiment, cooked slowly and drawn out into thin sheets we know as shellac.

HOW SENATORS LINED UP ON THE PEACE TREATY.

Washington, March 22.—The roll call by which the treaty failed of passage in the senate follows:

FOR RESOLUTION.

Republicans.
Ball, Calder, Capper, Colt, Curtis, Dillingham, Edge, Ekins, Feelinghuysen, Hale, Jones (Wash.), Kellogg, Kenyon, Keyes, Lenroot, Lodge, McNary, McNary, New, Page, Phlips, Smoot, Spencer, Sterling, Sutherland, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson—28.

Democrats.
Ashurst, Beckham, Chamberlain, Fletcher, Gore, Henderson, Kendrick, King, Myers, Nugent, Owen, Phelan, Pittman, Pomerene, Ransdell, Smith (Ga.), Smith (Md.), Trammell, Walsh (Mass.), Walsh (Mont.), Wolcott—21. Total for—49.

AGAINST RESOLUTION.

Republicans.
Borah, Brandegee, Fernald, France, Gronna, Johnson (Cal.), Knox, La Follette, McCormick, Moses, Norris, Sherman—12.

Democrats.
Comer, Culberson, Dial, Gay, Glass, Harris, Harrison, Johnson (S. D.), Hitchcock, Kirby, McKellar, Overman, Reed, Robinson, Sheppard, Shields, Slimmons, Smith (S. C.), Stanley, Swanson, Thomas, Underwood, Williams—23. Total against—35.

Twelve senators, nine Republicans and three Democrats, were paired. They were:

Newberry (Rep.) and McCumber (Rep.), for, with Fall (Rep.), against; Nelson (Rep.) and Harding (Rep.), for, with Penrose (Rep.), against; Cummins (Rep.) and Townsend (Rep.), for, with Poindexter (Rep.), against; Gerry (Dem.) and Jones (Dem., N. M.), for, with Smith (Dem., Ariz.), against.

with scores of persons in the crowded galleries keeping tally.

Amidst the confusion that reigned as soon as the defeat of the treaty was announced by Senator Cummins, the president pro tempore, Senator Lodge offered his resolution to return the treaty to the president and Senator Hitchcock strongly objected.

"I hope," he said, "that this resolution will be deferred for more mature consideration. While the treaty remains before the senate there is still a chance of its ratification, but once it is sent to the president that chance is removed. It seems to me that the sincere friends of the treaty ought to be willing to defer action on this measure tonight."

Senator Lodge retorted that the time had come to end the proceedings over the treaty.

"It seems to me," Mr. Lodge said, "that after a year of discussion and after the senate twice has failed to ratify the treaty, the time has come to end it. The hope of getting the necessary votes to ratify it is groundless, and we have the right to bring it again before the senate and interfere with other pressing public business. I feel that I have gone as far as I can, and in justice to the country we must notify the president that the treaty cannot be ratified."

Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, supported the resolution.

"It is very evident," he said, "that the treaty cannot be ratified until the president gives his consent. I believe, therefore, that it should be sent back to him. He can submit it again to the senate at any time that he sees fit."

Several senators attempted to speak, but their voices were drowned out by cries of "Vote! Vote!" of members weary of the long treaty fight and anxious to have it ended. The resolution went to a vote and was carried, 47 to 37.

Seeks to Reconsider.
Senator Robinson, Arkansas, Democrat then moved to reconsider the vote by which the treaty had been rejected.

Senator Watson, Indiana, Republican, moved to table the motion. The "mild reservationists" on this roll call voted with the Democrats. The motion to table was lost, 34 to 43.

Senator Robinson then moved to adjourn. Shouts of "No, no," arose from many parts of the senate and motion to settle the question. The senators insisted on remaining in session to adjourn was rejected, 33 to 42. Chamber is Adjourned.

Senator Knox then moved to proceed to the consideration of his resolution declaring the war at an end. Senator Lenroot said that while he felt such a resolution should be adopted within the very near future, he would oppose taking it up immediately.

Senator Lodge thereupon moved to adjourn and the motion was carried without a record vote.

Paris, March 21.—The conference of ambassadors met with Premier Millerand presiding and Marshal Foch present. The conference discussed the events in Germany, and also the Hungarian demand for modification of the peace treaty.

The question of German war reparations passing across Holland was considered, and it was decided to draw Holland's attention to this.

Our Closest Associates.
It is a well-recognized fact that we become like those with whom we associate, but few of us carry that principle quite far enough and realize that we take on the color of our mental associates, our thoughts. We should avoid the society of one mentally deficient, but some of us spend days and even weeks or even years, with foolish thoughts unworthy a rational being. We should be careful as to our associates, and particularly regarding the closest associates of all our thoughts.—Girls' Companion.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

OF MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MRS. HIPPOPOTAMUS.

"Ladies," said Mrs. Hippopotamus, "are often very vain. They care about their figures and about their looks and about their hats and about their shoes. They care about their dresses and they care about the styles, while I, the fine Mrs. Hippopotamus, am above such things."

"I do not care if my legs are short and my body enormous and all out of proportion to my legs."

"I do not care if my mouth is like a cavern—it is so large. I do not mind it that my skin is so queer, of a funny dark brown color with all sorts of little holes and marks and such all over me."

"I have horrible oily stuff over me, too, but I do not mind. What is more, there is great sense to that. That keeps me from getting ill when I go about rivers in Africa where there are all kinds of fevers and such sickness about."

"I have great teeth, teeth such as no lady would like to have. They are little white even teeth, silly little things."

"I'm above such things. I'm not ashamed of my teeth. I like them. They're good sensible, strong teeth. And I'm not going to worry because they're irregular. I'm not so vain as to long for regular teeth."

"My teeth and tusks can act like scissors for they're shaped so as to act that way. That's better than having white even teeth."

"I live in the water and there I go and look for my food. I don't go into silly shops and to market like ladies do."

"I sometimes go shopping and swimming around lakes and sometimes in the rivers."

"Now and again I become cross at some trifling thing though usually it has to be at something quite worth getting angry about."

"But you know how it is? Every one once in awhile is made angry by some little bit of a thing. It is a truth, I am sure.

"I Like to Sleep."

"I like to sleep in tiny islands where there are tall reeds along some nice river. And in a home such as I can have in a place like that I welcome my baby. I don't have a number of babies arriving at a time like the mother tigers and the mother lions and many other animals do. No, old Mother Hippopotamus is a good old mother and she feels she can only do justice to one baby at a time."

"Ah, I have in my great big heart and despite my great thick hide (though it is a protection to me as you can understand) I have a great feeling of love."

"I don't believe there is a soul who can love her baby more devotedly and nurse it with more loving care than Mrs. Hippopotamus."

"We love sugar and rice and vegetables of that sort—we don't care for meat and fish and such food."

"Of course I started my talk in saying how glad I was I wasn't vain. I said how delighted and happy I was I didn't have foolish desires for more clothes or to be fashionable or anything like that."

"I don't mind if I do look like a fright and if the folks do say when they see me as I've heard them say, 'Oh, look at that hippopotamus, isn't she a terrible sight with that great jaw of hers. Oh, look, now she is opening it.'"

"It is indeed a terrible looking thing."

"I'm proud of myself that I, like ladies often do, do not make myself unhappy over being out of fashion or having shabby things."

"But there is just one thing I feel in sympathy with ladies about—at least all ladies who are loving mothers—I can understand what it means to have a baby look at its mother out of its lovely baby eyes which are as beautiful as anything in the world. And I can see its love for its mother, and oh, my whole heart goes out with love for it."

"Yes, sometimes when you see the great old ugly hippopotamus you must not only think of the ugliness but you must say, back of that thick hide, behind that awful jaw and those hideous features, deep down in the heart of a mother hippopotamus there is love and devotion and the beautiful joy of giving of that love to one's own baby."

"For a baby hippopotamus is a baby to be loved by a mother hippopotamus."

Increase in Ship Yards.
In April, 1917, there was in this country only 61 ship yards with 294 ways on which vessels of 3,500 dead-weight tons could be constructed. In November, 1919, there were 223 yards with 1,069 ways, or about four times as many as there were two years before.

Complexities of Commerce.
"I wouldn't be a profiteer."
"Neither would I. After a man gets his income tax paid I can't see the profit of profiteering."

SOMETHING ABOUT POTATOES.

One medium-sized potato, an ordinary serving of a common cooked cereal and a medium-sized slice of bread contain about the same amount of energy—yielding food, principally in the form of starches. We need starch to give us energy to live and work.

As a source of iron, potatoes are equal to whole cereals and eggs when properly cooked. The potato contains but a small amount of one type of building material which is very important; that is nitrogen; but the amount seems to equal the average amount found in cereals, on the basis of the usual servings.

Although potatoes and cereals have a good supply of lime and phosphorus, they should not be depended upon as a source of these minerals. As lime and phosphorus are needed for building bones and teeth as well as for regulating the body processes, they should be supplied from milk, eggs, legumes.

One great advantage that potatoes have over cereals is that they help to keep the fluids of the body neutral or slightly alkaline, because of the potassium they contain. Those foods which have an alkaline reaction in the tissues seem to furnish better health to the average individual.

The waste in paring a potato after cooking, as compared to that of the method of peeling, before cooking, is just half, as the skin holds back the mineral salts; the protein and starch and none of this food substance comes off with the skin after cooking.

The temperature of water in which potatoes are put on to cook also influences loss of nutriment. Experiments have proved that the loss of mineral matter is little; the loss of protein is over twice as great when potatoes are put on to cook in cold water as in boiling water.

From all points of view the best methods of preparing potatoes are by baking and steaming.

If you have a mind to adorn your city by consecrated monuments, first consecrate yourself the most beautiful monument of gentleness and justice and benevolence.—Epictetus.

GOOD THINGS FOR OCCASIONS.
For those who have a sweet tooth, the following will be enjoyed:

Date Jam.—Remove the stones from two pounds of dates after washing them in warm water. Put them in a saucepan with a pound of sugar, one pint of water, the juice and rind of a lemon and a dash of nutmeg. Simmer until thick, stirring frequently. Pour into glasses and seal.

Baked Ham in Milk.—Parboil a piece of smoked ham cut from the center of the ham, two inches thick, in milk to cover, twenty minutes. Put into a saucepan and cover with a paste made of one-half cupful of brown sugar and two teaspoonfuls of mustard, mixing with some of the milk, and spread over the ham. Bake, surrounded with the milk, until well browned, then turn and cover the other side of the ham with the sugar and mustard. Bake until well browned.

Chicken Cooled in Milk.—Cut up a chicken as for fricassee, cover with sweet milk, after rolling in well-seasoned flour, and bake in a moderate oven until the chicken is tender. The gravy will be thickened with the flour and ready to serve with the chicken.

Canapes, Spanish Style.—Cut the desired rounds, squares or diamonds for the canapes. Fry them in a little corn oil until well browned. Pound to a smooth paste one-fourth cupful each of butter, cooked chicken, two tablespoonfuls of ham and grated cheese, a dash of paprika and a little salt. Spread this well-seasoned paste over the prepared bread. Garnish each with figures cut from slices of pickle or cooked beets.

Salad Dressing.—Beat three eggs until stiff, add the juice of one lemon and beat until the eggs have thinned again; season with one-quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and a trace of cayenne. Cook in a double boiler until creamy, stirring constantly. Remove from the fire and add two tablespoonfuls of butter. When serving this dressing, add an equal quantity of whipped cream and such seasonings as the salad combination requires.

Breakfast Toast.—Prepare stale bread by dipping it in cold water and putting into a covered pan in a hot oven. Serve well buttered with hot, seasoned tomatoes poured over the hot bread. The tomatoes should be seasoned to taste with salt, pepper, butter and, if liked, a little sugar.

Virgins.—Virgins are almost anti-everything. Most of the commandments are "don'ts."

FASCINATED THE FAIR SEX
Marat, Repulsive in Person and Manners, Was Noted for His Attractiveness to Women.

Jean Paul Marat, one of the leading and most infamous figures of the French Revolution, was described by a contemporary as "beyond any question the ugliest man in the whole of France—and not merely ugly, but positively repulsive in person, habits and manners." And yet, in his early years, he was the most popular physician in Paris, not because of supposed professional skill, but on account of his attractiveness to women, the most wealthy and beautiful women of France daily crowding his consultation rooms, pushing, almost fighting, to get a word or perhaps a smile from him. That he turned a cold shoulder to their attentions seemed only to inflame their ardor, and at one time he contemplated flight, so embarrassing became their attentions. Even when he contracted a loathsome skin disease while hiding in the sewers of Paris, fair women continued to adore him.

Stock Raising in WESTERN CANADA

is as profitable as grain growing. Successes as wonderful as those from growing wheat, oats, barley, etc. have been made in raising horses, cattle, sheep and swine. Bright sunny climate, nutritious grasses, good water, enormous fodder crops—these spell success to the farmer and stock raiser. And remember, you can buy a new farm in

Farm Land at $15 to $30 An Acre
—land equal to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—grazing land convenient to good grain farms at proportionately low prices. These lands have every rural convenience: good schools, churches, roads, telephones, etc. close to live towns and good markets.

If you want to get back to the farm, or to farm on a larger scale than is possible under your present conditions, investigate what Western Canada has to offer you. EASTER'S SYMBOL A GLORIOUS PROMISE

"He That Believeth on Me, Though He Were Dead, Yet Shall He Live."

The glad world greets the day long celebrated as the anniversary of the resurrection of the Son of God.

Nineteen centuries ago He came to earth wearing a garment of flesh, but He knew His body for the temple of God; and although foolish men, who knew not what they did, attempted to destroy that temple, the Christ that dwelt within those sacred walls made death His slave.

For the temple of God; and although foolish men, who knew not what they did, attempted to destroy that temple, the Christ that dwelt within those sacred walls made death His slave.

There are those who declare that this resurrection of "Him who was the first fruits of them that slept" is only a myth and a symbol of the possible.

Example of Nature. As a fact in nature—and certainly the resurrection of our Lord was no example of the reversal of the order of nature—Christ's victory over the grave was a demonstration of that wondrous system exemplified by every bursting bud of spring, by the birth of every sentient being, by the constant expansion of the powers of intellect and of the love of the heart.

From the stars of the night and the dewy grass of the spring mornings, in the notes of the birds and the music of little rills, through all of the myriad voices of nature, there comes the healing touch of patience, the consciousness that vast, eternal forces go on their majestic way quite untroubled by the ferment of human brains and the hot impulses of human hearts.

Easter's Lesson. From the stars of the night and the dewy grass of the spring mornings, in the notes of the birds and the music of little rills, through all of the myriad voices of nature, there comes the healing touch of patience, the consciousness that vast, eternal forces go on their majestic way quite untroubled by the ferment of human brains and the hot impulses of human hearts.

Standing there by the empty tomb, Lo, the anguish, the fear, the gloom!

"Where have ye laid him? O garden, say, In our arms we will take him away."

"Mary"—"Master"—the gloom was gone; Over the earth rose eternal dawn.

"Seek not the living among the dead Haste with the message of joy," He said.

Everlasting Hope. Wherever the breath of life is breathed, wherever the shadow of death hovers, there will shine the white lilies of the hope of the Resurrection.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

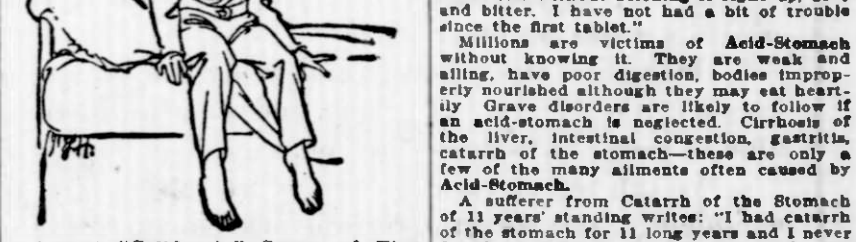

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Adv.

TAKE ASPIRIN RIGHT

Bayer Company, who introduced Aspirin in 1900, give proper directions.

The "Bayer Cross" means the genuine, world-famous Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticester of Salicylic acid.—Adv.

Sick for Five Years and Given Up

Pontiac, Mich.—"A few years ago I was in a very bad state. I had been sick for about five years.

Had several good doctors but kept getting worse all the time. Some said I had consumption; some one thing, and some another. I finally made up my mind they did not know what did me.

I had tried several different kinds of medicines but nothing seemed to give me any relief. One day I saw Dr. Pierce's medicine advertised and I got a bottle of "Golden Medical Discovery" and it began to help.

I felt that I had some other weakness so I got the "Favorite Prescription" and the "Pleasant Pellets" also, and these medicines cured me completely in just one year.

I had doctor five years before. I feel very grateful to Dr. Pierce for my good health and keep his medicines in my home for immediate use. I consider they saved me lots of suffering and doctors' bills as well.

I have recommended Dr. Pierce's remedies to many people and will gladly reply to anyone wanting to know about these medicines and what they did for me.—MRS. B. J. BALDWIN, 246 Norton Ave.

STOMACH TROUBLE Can Now Eat Anything

Grand Rapids, Wis.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's medicine and found them very beneficial. I had stomach trouble for about eight years. I had to be very careful what I would eat or I would be down sick.

I suffered something terrible for ten years ago. I started to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and two bottles put me in fine condition. I can eat anything and not feel distressed. I take a few more medicines previous to this and had doctors prescribe for me but nothing seemed to cure me until I started taking the "Discovery." It gave me great relief. I take pleasure in recommending it.—MRS. EMILIOBSTEIN, 212 14th Ave., North.

BELCHING Caused by Acid-Stomach

Let EATONIC, the wonderful modern stomach remedy, give you relief from disgusting belching, food-repeating, indigestion, bloated, gassy stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn and other stomach troubles.

Millions are victims of Acid-Stomach without knowing it. They feel weak and ailing, have poor digestion, bodies improperly nourished although they may eat heartily. Grave disorders are likely to follow if an acid-stomach is neglected. Cirrhosis of the liver, intestinal colic, indigestion, catarrh of the stomach—these are only a few of the many ailments often caused by Acid-Stomach.

A sufferer from Catarrh of the Stomach of 11 years' standing writes: "I had a catarrh of the stomach for 11 long years and I never found anything to do me any good—just temporary relief—until I used EATONIC. It is a wonderful remedy and I do not want to be without it."

If you are not feeling quite right—lack energy and enthusiasm in doing your work—here to break the trouble—EATONIC and see how much better you will feel in every way.

Plymouth Self-Feed ENSILAGE CUTTERS

"Plymouth" Feed Cutters are the result of twenty-five years' experience and practical study of conditions and needs in the farm and dairy field. They embrace every advantage known to other similar machines, and many vital features which are original with us and can be had only in the "Plymouth Self-Feed." Below are some mighty strong points for you to think about before you buy a feed cutter:

AUTOMATIC SELF-FEED—This feature consists of a traveling feed chain, made of heavy iron slats securely riveted to a chain which passes over the lower feed roller. Throw the fodder into the feed box and the "Plymouth" does the rest.

DANGER-PROOF SELF-FEED ROLLERS—Here's another strong feature original with the "Plymouth." It consists of four large rollers of cast iron. The traveling feed chain passes over the lower hind roller, just passing the lower front roller, which is six inches in diameter, and smooth. The two upper and lower hind rollers are ribbed. The 8 inch automatic roller at the top, to the rear, is a special feature of the "Plymouth." It acts as a lever or weight to keep the fodder passing through continuously, depending on its own gravity to keep the material going through without a hitch. Two coil springs serve to exert an even and steady pressure on the automatic roller as the volume of fodder increases in going through. The spring feature is entirely automatic, and is only to be had in the "Plymouth." It absolutely prevents clogging.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten?

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by parcels post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

"Can't Cut Off My Leg" Says Railroad Engineer

"I am a railroad engineer; about 20 years ago my leg was seriously injured in an accident out West. Upon my refusing to let the doctor amputate it, he told me it would be impossible to heal the wound. I have tried all kinds of salves and had many doctors in the past 20 years, but to no avail. Finally I resolved to use PETERSON'S OINTMENT on my leg. You cannot imagine my astonishment when I found it was doing what over 100 things had failed to do. My leg is now completely cured."—Gus Hauff, 220 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The COW PUNCHER

By Robert J.C. Stead

Their eyes met, and each of them knew what it meant. It meant an announcement to her mother that she had met Dave downtown. It meant perhaps a supposition on her mother's part that she had gone downtown for that purpose. It was far-reaching. But she said simply, "I should enjoy driving home with you."

On the way they planned that the following Sunday they would drive into the foothills together. Of course they would ask Mrs. Hardy to accompany them. Of course. But it might happen that Mrs. Hardy would be indisposed. Irene was of the opinion that what her mother needed now was rest.

As it happened Mrs. Hardy was all the gate. She greeted Dave cordially enough. Encouraged by her mood, Irene determined to settle the Sunday program at once.

"Dave was good enough to bring me up in his car," she said. "And just think! He invites us to drive into the foothills with him next Sunday. Will you come? It will be delightful. Or are you feeling—"

"Mr. Elden is very kind," said Mrs. Hardy, with dignity. "I have no doubt Mr. Conward will accompany us. He is to call this evening and I will ask him. . . . Yes, I think it very likely we will go."

The summer wore on, and autumn followed on its heels. The processes which had been discerned by Conward and other astute operators were now apparent to the mob which forever follows in the wake of the successful, but usually at such a distance as to be overwhelmed in the receding flood. The forces which had built up fabulous fortunes were now in reverse gear, and the same mechanism that had built up was now tearing down.

As the boom had fed upon itself, carrying prices to heights justifiable only to the most insane optimism, so did the subsequent depression bear down upon values until they reached depths undreamed of only to the most abandoned speculativity. The rosy bubble, inflated with the vapors of irresponsible speculation, had dissolved into thin air.

Mrs. Hardy was among the last to admit that she had bought on an ebullient tide. She contended that her house was well worth the price she had paid; that if speculation had come to a stop? So much the better; her house was still worth its price. She would stand firm.

Mrs. Hardy consulted Conward. It had grown to be her habit to consult Conward on all matters in which she found an interest.

"How is it, Mr. Conward," Mrs. Hardy said to him one evening over her fancy work—for she practiced an indefatigable industry in matters of no importance—"how is it that there is no demand for property? You are a real-estate expert; you should be able to answer that. Isn't this city as good today as it was a year ago? Doesn't it occupy the same sites? Are not the farms still producing?"

"That's just it, dear Mrs. Hardy. Why, indeed? Simply because the booster has given way to the calamity howler. Its psychological explanation is simple enough. The world lives by faith. Without faith there would be neither seedtime nor harvest. That is true of raising cities as well as of raising crops. But there are always those who ridicule faith; always, there always will be. And as soon as faith disappears things begin to sink."

"Ah! said Mrs. Hardy gently. "So we owe all this—these empty houses and shops, unsalable property and everything to those who have lost faith—or never had it. To men like Mr. Elden, for instance. You remember how he tried to discourage me from the very first—tried to break down my faith—that was it, Mr. Conward? I see it all very plainly now—and he and others like him have brought things to their present pass. Well, they have a great responsibility."

As a result of this discussion Dave found himself rather less popular with Mrs. Hardy than before. Dave accepted her displeasure with a light-heartedness that was extremely trying to the good woman's temper. Had it not been for his desire to spare Irene any unhappiness he would have treated it with open flippancy. He was engaged in the serious business of capturing the heart of Irene Hardy—a task made none the easier by the self-imposed condition that he must conduct no offensive but must avail with such patience as he could command the voluntary capitulation of the besieged. On the whole he told himself he had no reason to be dissatisfied with the progress of events. He and Irene often motored together, frequently accompanied by Mrs. Hardy, sometimes by Conward as well, but occasionally alone. And Irene made no secret of the fact that she preferred the trips in which only she and Dave participated.

The gradual shrinkage of values to the vanishing point imposed upon Dave many business duties which he would very gladly have evaded. The office of Conward & Elden, which had once been besieged by customers eager to buy, was now a center of groups no less eager to sell; and when they could not sell they contrived to lay the blame upon the firm which had originally sold to them. Although, for the most part, these were men and women who had bought purely from the gambler's motive, they behaved toward the real-estate dealer as though he had done them an injustice when the finger of fortune turned up a loss instead of a profit. For such people Dave had little sympathy, and if they persisted in their murmurings he told them so with becoming frankness. But another event, much more dramatic and far-reaching in its effects upon his life, was already ripe for the enacting.

There were cases that could not be turned away with a sharp answer. Bert Morrison, for instance, Bert had never mentioned her "investment" since the occasion already recorded. She greeted Dave with the sociability due to their long-standing friendship; and her calm avoidance of the subject hurt him more than the abuse of all his late patrons.

Business conditions had necessitated unavowed economy in the office affairs of Conward & Elden, as a result of which many old employees had been laid off and others had been replaced by cheaper and less experienced labor. Stenographers who had been receiving a hundred dollars a month could not readily bring themselves to accept fifty, and some of them had to make way for new girls, fresh from the business colleges. Such a new girl was Gladys Warden—pretty, likable, inexperienced. Her country home had offered no answer to her ambitions, and she had come to the city with the most dangerous equipment a young woman can carry—an attractive face and an unsophisticated confidence in the goodness of humanity. Conward had been responsible for her position in the office, and Dave had given little thought to her except to note that she was a willing worker and of comely appearance.

Returning to the office one Saturday evening Dave found Miss Warden making up a bundle of paper, pencils and carbon paper. She was evidently in high spirits, and he smilingly asked if she intended working at home over Sunday.

"Oh, didn't Mr. Conward tell you?" she answered, a slight surprise that the good news had been kept a secret. "He is to spend a day or two at one of the mountain hotels, and I am to go along to do his correspondence. Isn't it just lovely? I have so wanted to go to the mountains, but never felt that I could afford it. And now I can combine business with pleasure."

The smile died out of Dave's eyes, and his face became more set and stern than she had ever seen it.

"Why, what's the matter, Mr. Elden?" she exclaimed. "Is anything wrong?"

He found it hard to meet her frank, unsuspecting eyes; hard to draw back the curtains of the world so much that those eyes would never again be quite so frank and unsuspecting. "Miss Warden," he said, "did Conward tell you that?"

"What? Of about going to the mountains? Of course. He said he was taking some work with him, and he wondered if I would mind going along to do it, and he would pay the expenses, and—"

"There was a quick, hard catch in her voice, and she seized Elden's arm violently. Her eyes were big and round; her pretty face had gone suddenly white.

"Oh, Mr. Elden, you don't think you don't think that I—that he—You wouldn't believe that—"

"I think you are absolutely innocent," he said, gravely, "but—it's the innocent thing that gets caught."

"Whatever shall I do? I don't know what to do," she moaned. "Oh, why didn't somebody tell me? What can I do?"

He let her passion run on for a few minutes, and then he sought, as gently as he could, to win her back to some composure. "Some one has told you," he said—"in time. You don't have to go. Don't be afraid of anything Conward may do. I will settle this score with him."

She controlled herself, but when she spoke again her voice had fear and shame in it. "I—I hate to tell you, Mr. Elden, but I must tell you—I took—I let him give me some money—to buy things. He said maybe I was short of money and I would want to buy some new clothes—and he would pay me extra, in advance—and he gave me fifty dollars—and—and—I've spent it."

BALD HEADS AT PEACE TABLE

Many Diplomats Had Whiskers and Mustaches, but Lacked Hair on Their Craniums.

An amusing sidelight on the recent peace conference at Versailles is thrown by a correspondent, who not only reported the proceedings proper, but took notes regarding the hair, mustaches, beards and whiskers of the peace-makers.

Two-thirds of the delegates were more or less bald. Perhaps some of them made up for this by wearing mustaches. Out of 65 men who sat round the peace table, all had mustaches but 14.

Whiskers, on the other hand, were not popular. Only three people wore them, and by a curious coincidence the names of all these three people began with V. They were Venizelos of Greece, Vandervelde of Belgium and Vasich of Serbia. The latter's whiskers were particularly prominent.

In regard to dress, there was less formal attire than one might have imagined. The English paid no special attention to dress. High hats and frock-coats, once a combination that would never have been sanctioned were quite popular; but there were some countries which put all their energy into their attire. These were, notably, the Japanese, and some of the South American states.

Better Late Than Never. The strangest wedding I ever saw was that of an aged aunt, who in her youth had had a suitor who went off to make his fortune and never returned until, old and infirm, but wealthy, he returned to claim his old sweetheart, who was so feeble she had to remain in a bed chair during the ceremony. —Chicago Tribune.

Tricks of the Trade. Lawyer (to fair client, a defendant)—"When a young juror looks at you, weep; when an old one looks at you, dirt."

Nothing New. "All the world's a stage," and yet some people look upon the revolving stage as a modern idea.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Madison—Judicial elections will be held in only four of the Circuit court districts in the state this spring. In only one of the four is there a contest for the bench. Judge George W. Burnell, Oshkosh, Third district, will have two opponents at the primaries. They are George C. Hume, Chilton, and D. E. McDonald, Oshkosh. Judge J. Ray Stevens, Madison, who now presides over the Ninth district bench, has no opposition. Judge Stevens' court is considered the most important of the Wisconsin circuit because appeals from the ruling of all state commissioners are carried there. Judge Byron B. Park, Stevens Point, is a candidate for re-election in the Seventh district without opposition. In the Eighth district Judge George Thompson seeks re-election without opposition.

Madison—With the birth certificate sent to the mother of every new baby born in Wisconsin, the state board of health during the present year will send three government booklets pertinent to her own and her child's health and wellbeing. The plan is experimental but officials of the department anticipate it will have beneficial effects in inducing many mothers to adopt right methods in the rearing of infants and in preserving their own health.

Horicon—Bert White, former Fox Lake resident, who for a long time has been mourned by relatives as dead, is working at Berlin, Wis., according to a letter received by members of the family. It was supposed that some years ago Mr. White had been burned in a lumber shanty in the north. In his letter Mr. White states that he had been out in Montana and was greatly surprised to learn of his supposed death.

Eau Claire—H. W. Heider, waiting trial in jail at Barron, tried to make good a loss of $28,000 from fire set in revenge a month and a half ago when a barn and herd of pure bred stock belonging to W. L. Brown burned. Heider agreed to pay $2,550 to cover insurance carried by Oak Grove Farmers' Fire Insurance company, and gives his claim of $20,000 of North Dakota land and $1,000 in cash.

Madison—The great frolic of fun, the University of Wisconsin annual circus, has come back after being discontinued since the spring of 1916. The week-end of May 22 will see the various school organizations contributing their talent. It will be a real circus, with pink lemonade, cider, hot dogs, cracker-jack and pop, stimulated by the "agrics" playing the part of steer throwers with some of the state's steers.

Plover—Maj. George D. Whiteside of Plover, former Portage county assemblyman, has sailed from New York en route to Europe, where he will have charge of medical and surgical relief work for the American Red Cross in southern Russia, Poland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Serbia and Rumania. He will establish his headquarters at Warsaw, Poland.

Marinette—Charles Meyers, veteran of the World war, offered to give his blood to save the life of his mother, Mrs. Marie Meyers, who suffered from an aneurism. After the transfusion of blood from the son's veins to that of the mother the condition of the woman was pronounced improved. The son was able to leave the hospital an hour after the operation.

Crandon—George Cody, a former hotel man here, has purchased an old hotel bus which he and his family will occupy on a trip to California. He will defray expense of the trip by doing blacksmith work enroute and trading horses, regular gypsy style. The old bus was doing service for the Ward hotel at Clintonville thirty years ago.

Edgerton—Because they joined the Milk Producers' association, several farmers near here are barred by the Nestle Food company, which refuses to buy their milk. A report from Newville states bad roads prevent the delivery of milk to Edgerton and many of the farmers are feeding it to their hogs.

Neenah—Neenah's milk strike has ended. The two local creameries and thirty farmers involved have reached an agreement whereby the farmers will receive $3.25 per hundred for their milk up until April 1. This is a measure grants the demands of the farmers.

Rhineland—The American legion here has gone on record that a government bonus at this time is not to the best interests of the country.

Rhineland—The Smith school at Armstrong Creek has won the platform scale awarded by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association for the largest per capita sale of Red Cross seals made during December by a rural school in Forest county.

Wausau—H. H. Wilson has tendered his resignation as manager of the Wausau Gas company to accept a position in the accounting department of the Wisconsin railroad commission. H. C. Higgins, Chicago, will succeed him at Wausau.

Stevens Point—The Rev. R. Hudtloff, chaplain in the navy during the war, has been named to fill the vacancy in the pastorate of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church here. An award of $100 has been supplied by pastor at Merrill, Wis.

Wausau—Presenting "The Melting Pot," Miss Helen Sturtevant, daughter of J. L. Sturtevant of the Wausau Record-Herald, won first place in the recitation contest of the Wausau High school against seven other contestants.

Water town—Wisconsin members of the Northwestern Hotel Men's association, together with Nebraska, Minnesota, South and North Dakota members, will enjoy a lake trip this summer, from Milwaukee to Duluth and return, according to President E. J. Carroll, president of the association, Watertown. The party plans to stop at Sturgeon Bay, where the Business Men's association will meet the hotel men and donate cars for a half-day trip through the apple and cherry orchards. Over four hundred members of the association are expected to make the lake trip.

Madison—Dream books, spiritualism, palmistry and the like belong to the dark ages and should have passed with them, according to Prof. Joseph Jastrow, University of Wisconsin, who is refuting Sir Oliver Lodge and the ouija board. "Stars have no more influence upon our life," says the professor, "than the sands on the bottom of the ocean. A round head or a long head may be a bone head or an empty head."

Chippewa Falls—William O'Neill, son of Mayor O'Neill, formerly a captain in the American expeditionary forces, was found not guilty of a charge of pointing and aiming a revolver when tried in municipal court by a jury of six business men, as an outgrowth of the fistcuffs between the mayor, and Editor George E. Dees of the Chippewa Falls Herald, in the latter's office.

Appleton—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, candidate for Republican nomination for presidency will visit Appleton and the Fox river valley early next month, according to information received here by Fred Felix Wettengel, candidate for election as Wood delegate from the Ninth congressional district. Mr. Wettengel is now organizing a Wood club in Outagamie county.

Marinette—The Sawyer residence, being moved across the river from Menominee to this city, broke through the ice and sank in five feet of water. About two weeks ago the moving began, but runners, on which the house was being moved, cut into the ice and were frozen in. All efforts to move it were in vain. The house will be torn down.

Crandon—Between this city and White Lake, across the Wisconsin & Northern railroad, there are 49,000, 000 feet of logs ready to be hauled to the mill. The greater share of this timber was purchased by the Shawano Lumber company and will be shipped to the company's mill at Shawano.

Manitowoc—Paving costing $145,000 will be laid this year. The city council voted a bond issue for that amount to carry on its program of street work for 1920. At the same time, the city approved a committee report outlining about three and a half miles of pavement to be laid in 1921.

Madison—C. N. Maurer, graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed motor engineer to the state highway commission. He takes the place of Walter Alexander, resigned, who has gone to Milwaukee to become manager of the Union Refrigerator and Transit Co.

Appleton—A Holstein cow, Sadie Gerben Sengerveld Dekol, owned by R. M. Harriman of Appleton, broke the nation's record on a thirty day test, producing 3,247 1/2 pounds of milk and 157 1/2 pounds of butter in that time. In a week's test, Sadie gave 15 1/2 pounds of milk a day.

Fond du Lac—"Boys, someone is trying to slip a bootlegging stunt over on us," said Postmaster D. F. Blawert when he discovered liquid oozing from a package in the parcels post. Eager hands tore the wrappings from the package. Inside was a dead lizard packed in ice.

Madison—Oscar A. Olson, for several years connected with the state insurance commission, was appointed by Commissioner Platt Whitman as chief deputy commissioner, succeeding F. W. Kubasta, who resigned recently.

Oshkosh—Charles Rook, employed in his brother's sawmill near Van Dyne, was seriously injured when caught in a saw. One arm was almost completely severed at the shoulder and one side was gashed by the saw.

Racine—An electric revolving cross on top of the First M. E. church is the first of its kind to be installed on a church in this section of the country. The cross is to "advertise religion."

Beloit—Petitions were circulated here for a referendum of Beloit voters April 6, on the question of permitting pool and billiard halls to remain open on Sunday.

Plymouth—At the largest cattle sale ever held in Shobonville county 200 full bloods and 125 high grade Holstein cattle were disposed of for a total of $90,000.

Eau Claire—The Rev. Hans Sagen, pastor of the Norwegian Methodist church at Mondovi, is dead at a local hospital following an operation for appendicitis. The Rev. Sagen was one of the best known clergymen in the Wisconsin conference.

Marinette—The new town of Rat River in Marinette county has been formed. It was carved from the town of Athelstane in the southwestern part of the county. This will give Marinette a county board of nine members.

Oshkosh—Boys and girls of Winnebago county who made the Calix club project a success last year, and kept complete records of what they did are to receive "achievement pins" as an award. These are to be distributed by the county agricultural agent.

Cedarburg—Ozaukee county is going to spend $30,000 in road maintenance this year. Four miles of concrete highway also will be constructed. Recently a large consignment of road machinery was purchased by the county.

Madison—With the birth certificate sent to the mother of every new baby born in Wisconsin, the state board of health during the present year will send three government booklets pertinent to her own and her child's health and wellbeing. The plan is experimental but officials of the department anticipate it will have beneficial effects in inducing many mothers to adopt right methods in the rearing of infants and in preserving their own health.

Horicon—Bert White, former Fox Lake resident, who for a long time has been mourned by relatives as dead, is working at Berlin, Wis., according to a letter received by members of the family. It was supposed that some years ago Mr. White had been burned in a lumber shanty in the north. In his letter Mr. White states that he had been out in Montana and was greatly surprised to learn of his supposed death.

Eau Claire—H. W. Heider, waiting trial in jail at Barron, tried to make good a loss of $28,000 from fire set in revenge a month and a half ago when a barn and herd of pure bred stock belonging to W. L. Brown burned. Heider agreed to pay $2,550 to cover insurance carried by Oak Grove Farmers' Fire Insurance company, and gives his claim of $20,000 of North Dakota land and $1,000 in cash.

Madison—The great frolic of fun, the University of Wisconsin annual circus, has come back after being discontinued since the spring of 1916. The week-end of May 22 will see the various school organizations contributing their talent. It will be a real circus, with pink lemonade, cider, hot dogs, cracker-jack and pop, stimulated by the "agrics" playing the part of steer throwers with some of the state's steers.

Plover—Maj. George D. Whiteside of Plover, former Portage county assemblyman, has sailed from New York en route to Europe, where he will have charge of medical and surgical relief work for the American Red Cross in southern Russia, Poland, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Serbia and Rumania. He will establish his headquarters at Warsaw, Poland.

Marinette—Charles Meyers, veteran of the World war, offered to give his blood to save the life of his mother, Mrs. Marie Meyers, who suffered from an aneurism. After the transfusion of blood from the son's veins to that of the mother the condition of the woman was pronounced improved. The son was able to leave the hospital an hour after the operation.

Crandon—George Cody, a former hotel man here, has purchased an old hotel bus which he and his family will occupy on a trip to California. He will defray expense of the trip by doing blacksmith work enroute and trading horses, regular gypsy style. The old bus was doing service for the Ward hotel at Clintonville thirty years ago.

Edgerton—Because they joined the Milk Producers' association, several farmers near here are barred by the Nestle Food company, which refuses to buy their milk. A report from Newville states bad roads prevent the delivery of milk to Edgerton and many of the farmers are feeding it to their hogs.

Neenah—Neenah's milk strike has ended. The two local creameries and thirty farmers involved have reached an agreement whereby the farmers will receive $3.25 per hundred for their milk up until April 1. This is a measure grants the demands of the farmers.

Rhineland—The American legion here has gone on record that a government bonus at this time is not to the best interests of the country.

Rhineland—The Smith school at Armstrong Creek has won the platform scale awarded by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association for the largest per capita sale of Red Cross seals made during December by a rural school in Forest county.

Wausau—H. H. Wilson has tendered his resignation as manager of the Wausau Gas company to accept a position in the accounting department of the Wisconsin railroad commission. H. C. Higgins, Chicago, will succeed him at Wausau.

Stevens Point—The Rev. R. Hudtloff, chaplain in the navy during the war, has been named to fill the vacancy in the pastorate of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church here. An award of $100 has been supplied by pastor at Merrill, Wis.

Wausau—Presenting "The Melting Pot," Miss Helen Sturtevant, daughter of J. L. Sturtevant of the Wausau Record-Herald, won first place in the recitation contest of the Wausau High school against seven other contestants.

Water town—Wisconsin members of the Northwestern Hotel Men's association, together with Nebraska, Minnesota, South and North Dakota members, will enjoy a lake trip this summer, from Milwaukee to Duluth and return, according to President E. J. Carroll, president of the association, Watertown. The party plans to stop at Sturgeon Bay, where the Business Men's association will meet the hotel men and donate cars for a half-day trip through the apple and cherry orchards. Over four hundred members of the association are expected to make the lake trip.

Madison—Dream books, spiritualism, palmistry and the like belong to the dark ages and should have passed with them, according to Prof. Joseph Jastrow, University of Wisconsin, who is refuting Sir Oliver Lodge and the ouija board. "Stars have no more influence upon our life," says the professor, "than the sands on the bottom of the ocean. A round head or a long head may be a bone head or an empty head."

Chippewa Falls—William O'Neill, son of Mayor O'Neill, formerly a captain in the American expeditionary forces, was found not guilty of a charge of pointing and aiming a revolver when tried in municipal court by a jury of six business men, as an outgrowth of the fistcuffs between the mayor, and Editor George E. Dees of the Chippewa Falls Herald, in the latter's office.

Appleton—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, candidate for Republican nomination for presidency will visit Appleton and the Fox river valley early next month, according to information received here by Fred Felix Wettengel, candidate for election as Wood delegate from the Ninth congressional district. Mr. Wettengel is now organizing a Wood club in Outagamie county.

Marinette—The Sawyer residence, being moved across the river from Menominee to this city, broke through the ice and sank in five feet of water. About two weeks ago the moving began, but runners, on which the house was being moved, cut into the ice and were frozen in. All efforts to move it were in vain. The house will be torn down.

Crandon—Between this city and White Lake, across the Wisconsin & Northern railroad, there are 49,000, 000 feet of logs ready to be hauled to the mill. The greater share of this timber was purchased by the Shawano Lumber company and will be shipped to the company's mill at Shawano.

Manitowoc—Paving costing $145,000 will be laid this year. The city council voted a bond issue for that amount to carry on its program of street work for 1920. At the same time, the city approved a committee report outlining about three and a half miles of pavement to be laid in 1921.

Madison—C. N. Maurer, graduate of the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed motor engineer to the state highway commission. He takes the place of Walter Alexander, resigned, who has gone to Milwaukee to become manager of the Union Refrigerator and Transit Co.

Appleton—A Holstein cow, Sadie Gerben Sengerveld Dekol, owned by R. M. Harriman of Appleton, broke the nation's record on a thirty day test, producing 3,247 1/2 pounds of milk and 157 1/2 pounds of butter in that time. In a week's test, Sadie gave 15 1/2 pounds of milk a day.

Fond du Lac—"Boys, someone is trying to slip a bootlegging stunt over on us," said Postmaster D. F. Blawert when he discovered liquid oozing from a package in the parcels post. Eager hands tore the wrappings from the package. Inside was a dead lizard packed in ice.

Madison—Oscar A. Olson, for several years connected with the state insurance commission, was appointed by Commissioner Platt Whitman as chief deputy commissioner, succeeding F. W. Kubasta, who resigned recently.

Oshkosh—Charles Rook, employed in his brother's sawmill near Van Dyne, was seriously injured when caught in a saw. One arm was almost completely severed at the shoulder and one side was gashed by the saw.

Racine—An electric revolving cross on top of the First M. E. church is the first of its kind to be installed on a church in this section of the country. The cross is to "advertise religion."

Beloit—Petitions were circulated here for a referendum of Beloit voters April 6, on the question of permitting pool and billiard halls to remain open on Sunday.

Plymouth—At the largest cattle sale ever held in Shobonville county 200 full bloods and 125 high grade Holstein cattle were disposed of for a total of $90,000.

Eau Claire—The Rev. Hans Sagen, pastor of the Norwegian Methodist church at Mondovi, is dead at a local hospital following an operation for appendicitis. The Rev. Sagen was one of the best known clergymen in the Wisconsin conference.

Marinette—The new town of Rat River in Marinette county has been formed. It was carved from the town of Athelstane in the southwestern part of the county. This will give Marinette a county board of nine members.

Oshkosh—Boys and girls of Winnebago county who made the Calix club project a success last year, and kept complete records of what they did are to receive "achievement pins

"U. S." Boots—All rubber surface—absolutely waterproof—easily washed off. Heel-Bootee, six eyelets: Lace-leather for eyelets. In red, black and white.

For every wet, muddy job—

Here's an all-round rubber shoe that's strong and comfortable

OUT in the rain for hours—or working in ankle-deep mud—that's when you need footwear that combines real comfort with absolute protection.

And comfort plus protection are the two big points which have made the U. S. Bootee so popular with farmers everywhere.

This water-tight, lace rubber shoe fits as smoothly over your sock as a leather shoe—you're sure of solid comfort all the time. And in the wettest weather—over the muddiest ground—U. S. Bootees keep your feet absolutely dry.

Wear them anywhere—they're specially built for the roughest, hardest jobs around a farm. At the very places where rubber footwear is usually weakest, U. S. Bootees have been made strongest. Every single point of strain is heavily reinforced.

Ask your dealer today to show you a pair of the new U. S. Bootees. Note their water-proof, smooth rubber surface—feel how pliable and comfortable they are—examine for yourself their wonderful built-to-wear construction.

Other "U. S." models—all built for the hardest wear

Whether you prefer a boot or a bootee for the wet season, a rubber for general use, or a cloth-top arctic—you can find in U. S. rubber footwear exactly what you need. Tough, heavy soles—special reinforcements at toe and heel—and always the highest quality rubber—these points are winning U. S. rubber footwear thousands of new friends every year.

Ask for U. S. rubber footwear—it means solid wear and long service for your money.

"U. S." Boots—Made in all sizes and styles—the Knee, Half Hip and Hip. In red, black and white.

Warning to Mothers

Mothers should see that the whole family take a throo. purifying system cleansing Fiz-ik this spring. NOW IS THE TIME. The family will be healthier, happier, and get along better if the blood is given a throo purifying, the stomach and bowels cleaned out, and the germs of winter accumulated in the system, driven away. HOLLISTER'S ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA is one of the very best and surest spring medicines to take. Get it and see the difference in the whole family. Their color will be better, they'll feel fine and be well and happy.—Advertisement.—Edw. C. Miller.
