TO CHANGE GAME LAWS

For the purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the people of the state upon the proposal to have no open season for trapping muskrat and mink until the fall of 1921, and also to find how the public feels about having no open season for deer hunting in 1920, the State Conservation Commission has arranged a long programme of public hearings that will take it into every county in the state during the next two months. For Washington county a public hearing will be held in the city of West Bend on May 25, 1920, at 8 p. m., in the county court house, at which time all parties may be heard.

WHAT IS A FARMER'S TIME WORTH?

How Labor Saving Means Money Saving. How valuable is the farmer's time? What is it worth per hour? Thirty cents? Fifty cents? A dollar? This can be determined by considering the results obtained during one busy hour on the farm.

It is plain that the value of his time increases as the amount produced by his efforts increases. Labor-saving devices such as the tractor, harvesting machine, hay fork, hay loader and many others have been introduced on the farm to increase production and cut down the labor cost. The most progressive farmers in any community are those who keep in step with the onward march of things—the fellows who are always willing to do the work as their ancestors did so long as there is no more modern and up-to-date way of doing the same thing.

One of the newest products of inventive skill to attract the farmer is the small electric plant, a plant that will furnish electric lights about the farm home and electric power for small jobs like operating churns, cream separators, horse clippers, fanning mills, grindstones, washing machines, also the pump and water and many other add to the value of the farmer's time.

So far the development of farm lighting plants has progressed to the extent that it is possible to secure compact lighting units where the necessary gas engine and electric generators are built upon the main shaft, directly connected with the gas engine, air-cooled and operating as a fuel. It has been calculated that three or four thousand watt hours of electricity can be secured from these individual lighting plants for five cents per kilowatt hour, or less. It is not uncommon, say certain authorities, to find farmers who have saved by having electricity pump the water and operate various small machines.

VILLAGE IN UTTER DARKNESS

With the power plant at the malt house being remodeled, preparatory to installing a new engine and generator, Kewaskum was entirely shut off from electric current this week, leaving the village in utter darkness. The change from bright electric lights to kerosene lamps and candles is very much different and hard to get accustomed to, distinctly reminding the villagers of the time long ago when this form of lighting was in use. Although the experience was taken up by the citizens in a good natured way, it more firmly impressed upon the minds of all the value of electricity and the convenience afforded by the modern methods used in the homes and business places. The L. Rosenheimer store and the Wm. Dehoo garage were lighted up with Delco lighting outsiders on Wednesday evening. Outsiders found it a difficult task to keep on the sidewalks in the transaction of their business. Frequently you could hear slight ejaculations from some individual or group who had lost their bearings and lapsed either up against some building, telephone pole or in the gutter.

VACANCIES AT ANNAPOLIS

Fifteen vacancies in the present class for the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis are to be filled by appointment from Wisconsin according to notification received Monday by Commander H. The fifteen appointments are to be apportioned among the congressional districts of the state, with two appointments at large, to be filled by Senators LaFollette and Lenroot.

A special examination will be held through civil service facilities, June 22, 1920, thus enabling young men to take the examination without great outlay for travel expenses.

These appointments must also pass a competitive examination in rudimentary subjects. At the various training stations are classes formed to prepare young men for this examination. PASTOR GIVES FAREWELL TALK

Nearly all the members and a large number of non-members attended the services at the Ev. Peace church here last Sunday, when Rev. Mohme delivered his farewell sermon. The pastor gave a very impressive talk and one that will long be remembered by all present. The reverend and his wife left Tuesday for their new home in the town of Herman, Sheboygan county, where the former will enter upon his new duties at the parish there tomorrow, (Sunday.) Rev. and Mrs. Mohme were given a farewell supper in the church parlors Sunday evening by the ladies of the congregation, at which time good-byes were exchanged and the unanimous wish that the departing ones may have luck, health and happiness in their new home. Not only the members of the congregation are loathe to part with the Mohme family, but the citizens of the village in general, who had come to regard the family in the very highest terms. Rev. Barth, who succeeds Rev. Mohme here, moved his family and household goods from Cleveland, Wis., to this village on Wednesday and will take charge of the parish of the Ev. Peace congregation tomorrow (Sunday) when he will deliver his initial sermon.

TO GIVE BIG BOOSTER DANCE

The Kewaskum Athletic club will give a big booster dance at the South Side park hall on Sunday evening, June 13. The proceeds of this dance will go toward defraying the expenses of the club and for the maintenance of a basketball team. A large number of fans were attended by a number of game, the game receipts were small and not large enough to cover the expenses of the games. At times the weather conditions and the state of the roads were partly responsible for the low receipts. It must also be understood that with the excellent team we had the past season it took considerable money to get good enough outside teams here to put up a good grade of basketball required by the fans, and a heavy guarantee always had to be deposited in order to get them here. This, connected with traveling and hotel expenses, made additional expenses of operating last season's team above that of any previous five ever organized here. Pat. Neitzel's celebrated orchestra of Watertown has been engaged to furnish the music for this dance, and this alone is worth going miles to hear. So try and arrange your affairs to attend this dance and be guaranteed an evening of rare enjoyment.

LEAP YEAR DANCE A GREAT SUCCESS

As was predicted, the leap year dance held at the Opera House last Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Royal Neighbors, proved to be a grand success in every respect. The hall was beautifully decorated with streamers of purple and white tissue paper. The large crowd attending was well pleased with the royal time showed them by the members of the local camp. The drill team from the West Bend Royal Neighbor camp was here and as an added attraction gave an exhibition drill at 11 o'clock, which made a decided hit and was received with hearty applause by all present.

Educational Listening Post

The school boards of West Bend and the North Side, Hartford, gave their city grade teachers a raise in salary of 50 per cent.

The county examining board was selected with great amount of care. We wish to state in their judgment. We wish to state at this time that no changes will be made in standings reported by them. If a child stands 84 per cent in arithmetic the county superintendent has no right to change the 3 to 7 and make him stand 74 per cent. Those young people will be in the high schools next year and fictitious standings made in the county superintendent's office is an injustice first of all to the children and secondly to their teachers of next year. The requirements are too low—an average of 65 per cent and a minimum of 80 per cent.

We have received from the headquarters of the Red Cross diplomas for the school districts which were 100 per cent in membership last year. Teachers are requested to call for them. Those who have sent names in for reading circle diplomas may also call for them at the office.

The school board of the Boltonville state graded school has engaged its principal for next year at a salary of $140 per month.

The town contests were concluded at Elmore on Thursday week. The report of the contests will be made in this column next week.

The school boards of the country schools are taking a wholesome attitude on the salary question. The usual remark is: "Get us a good teacher and we will pay the price."

DANIELS REPLIES TO SIMS' CHARGES

Calls Admiral Pro-British and Says He Coveted Foreign Decorations.

BELITTLED THE U. S. NAVY

Declares Naval Commander Gave Maximum of Credit to British Efforts and Minimized What His Country Was Doing.

Washington, May 12.—Secretary Daniels, before the senate investigating committee, made his long-awaited reply to the criticism of Rear Admiral Sims of the navy's part in the war.

The naval secretary let go a broadside which includes charges that Sims lacked vision, belittled the work of the American navy in contrast to the British, coveted British decorations and aspired to become an honorary member of the British admiralty.

The testimony of other officers in possession of first-hand knowledge, Secretary Daniels testified, "should be accepted by open-minded men and an absolute refutation of practically all of Admiral Sims' charges."

Sims, Secretary Daniels told the committee, did not measure up to expectations in various ways, of which he mentioned six, as follows:

"He lacked vision to see that a great and new project to bar the submarines from their hunting grounds should be promptly adopted and carried out, no matter what the cost or how radical the departure from what ultramodern men regarded as impracticable.

"He seemed to accept the views of the British admiralty as superior to anything that would come from America and urged those views even when the navy department proposed plans that proved more effective.

"In public speeches and other ways he gave a maximum of credit to British effort and minimized what his country was doing.

"He coveted British decorations and seemed to place higher value on honors given abroad than on honors that could be conferred by the American government.

"He aspired to become a member of the British admiralty and wrote complacently when the American government declined to permit him to accept such a tender by the king of England.

"He placed protection of merchant shipping as the main operation of our forces abroad, failing to appreciate that the protection of transports carrying troops to France was the paramount duty until I felt impelled to cable him personally that such was our main mission.

Secretary Daniels testified that he had known that in October, 1918, Sims had made statements reflecting upon the contributions of the United States' army and navy to winning the war to members of congress visiting abroad, he would never have recommended his promotion.

"If I had known that he proposed, under the permission granted him, to tell the story of what the navy had done overseas, to denounce the Irish people as he did in his article in the World's Work, the permission would not have been granted," he said.

The investigating committee, Secretary Daniels said, had been "wearied and the public impatient with an abortive attempt to ferret out the molehills of mistakes and exaggerate them into mountains, to make a noble and notable accomplishment appear as the dim and fading background of a frontispiece of comparatively unimportant errors of judgment."

"The navy's record in the war stands untouched today and for all time, despite criticisms from within or without," he said.

The portion of Admiral Sims' celebrated letter that shocked the public more than any other, Mr. Daniels said, was the statement that he had been told at the navy department "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes. We would as soon fight them as the Germans."

"I must confess that it shocked me," declared the secretary, "for in all my years of association with officers of the navy this was the first time I had ever known one to make public any confidential conversation with a superior officer. I did not believe it was possible for an officer of our navy to do such a thing.

"The people could not understand how any patriotic American who put the good of his country first could possibly spread broadcast a statement which reflected upon his own government and might tend to disturb the cordial relations with a friendly power, and violate the confidence reposed in him."

POLES CAPTURE KIEV

Moscow Admits Loss of Ukrainian Capital.

Retreat of Bolshevik Army Threatened With Being Cut Off Through Seizure of Faustova.

London, May 10.—Polish and Ukrainian troops captured Kiev, the capital of Ukraine, Thursday night, May 6, according to an official statement issued at Moscow yesterday and received here by wireless.

The statement says: "In the Kiev region, during the night of May 6-7, our troops engaged superior enemy forces northwest and southwest of Kiev. Toward evening, the enemy broke into the outskirts of the town, but were held up by our counterattacks. Later our troops, in accordance with orders, started to withdraw in order to the left bank of the Dnieper river.

"In the direction of Prylout our troops repulsed an enemy advance 28 miles south of Krasny. In the direction of Igumen (east of Minsk) the enemy attempted to cross the Berezina river near Berezina village, but was driven back across the river."

Bern, Switzerland, May 8.—The bolshevik's retreat eastward in the vicinity of Kiev may soon be cut off through the occupation of the railway by the Ukrainian irregulars near Faustova, southwest of Kiev, according to a message received here today by the Ukrainian mission.

The message adds that Polish, Ukrainian and Galician troops have joined for the purpose of pursuing the bolsheviks.

Census Figures Given Out by Washington Show Increase of 34.4 Per Cent.

Washington, May 11.—Births in the registration area of the United States, which covers about 53 per cent of the country's estimated population, during the year 1918 exceeded deaths by 24.4 per cent. Of every 100 infants born during 1918, the figures indicate ten died before reaching the age of one year, a fractional decrease over 1917. Mortality rates among male infants was 23 per cent greater than for female infants. The birth of 15,342 pairs of twins and 147 sets of triplets was reported. The order in which the births were recorded ran all the way from 345,927 cases of first born to fifty-eight cases where the birth reported was the twentieth or more child.

GEN. CARRANZA TAKEN, REPORT

President, His Son-in-Law and Former Ambassador to U. S. Captured.

AGUILAR AND MURGUA SHOT

U. S. Dreadnaught Oklahoma Rushed to Mexican Waters With Marines to Watch Developments—Insurgents Take More Towns.

El Paso, Tex., May 11.—Venustiano Carranza, escaping president of Mexico, was captured together with cabinet officials, Louis Cabrera, Manuel Aguirre Berlanga, Luis Samuel Rojas, Manuel Anaya, Lucio Blanco, Ignacio Bonillas, former ambassador at Washington, and Governor Bueda Magre by revolutionary forces of the command of Gen. Pablo Gonzales at Apizco, state of Puebla, says advices to Roberto Pesquelin, rebel financial agent here.

Confirmation was also received of the execution of General Francisco Murguia and Gen. Juan Barragan, the latter chief of Carranza's bodyguard of Hussars, Gen. Candido Aguilari, son-in-law of Carranza and General Diguez, lost their lives in a fight with rebels in the state of Vera Cruz. Col. Alberto Salinas, nephew of the fleeing president and commander of the aviation school, was wounded.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon has ordered the Carranza party survivors brought back to Mexico City under guarantees that their lives will be spared. The national capital is quite fully under revolutionary control.

Washington, May 11.—President Carranza, his son-in-law, Candido Aguilari, Ygnacio Bonillas, former ambassador to the United States, have been captured by the revolutionists, according to reports published in the Mexico City newspapers and received here.

Aguilar was said to have been executed along with Generals Murguia, who commanded the federal forces of the capital, and Barragan and Urquiza. General Obregon, now in charge of Mexico City, has directed that the life and property of Carranza be fully protected.

Official reports received by the state department from the embassy at Mexico City disclosed that Gen. Pablo Gonzales captured the capital. His troops took charge last Friday. The embassy report said that General Obregon and his forces were on the outskirts and were expected to enter on Saturday. Previous advices to the department from the embassy said Obregon entered the city Friday.

Both Gens. Obregon and Gonzales, the embassy said, notified the people that there would be no disorders and business houses were open as usual. The newspaper reports as received here gave no details as to the execution of Aguilar and the other three generals, nor was it stated whether they had been killed by their troops or by orders of revolutionists.

Communication with Mexico City still was difficult though the wireless station was in operation. Apparently the revolutionists have captured all the news items that Carranza still before the capital. General Obregon was at Chapultepec, the military school in Mexico City, and sent a telegram from there to his wife, who is in Hermosillo, state of Sonora.

The dreadnaught Oklahoma has been ordered from New York to Key West for possible duty in Mexican waters.

The ship will stop on the way at Philadelphia to take on a full company of marines from the League island station.

The Oklahoma should reach Key West several days ahead of the transport Henderson, which is now on the way to League island to take on an additional force of 3,200 marines. So far as could be learned, no orders have been issued to either vessel to proceed farther than Key West.

Estimates of the state department place the number of Americans in Mexico at 6,000 to 7,000. This number includes railroads and draft evaders who crossed the border to escape arrest or court proceedings.

With Mexico City, Vera Cruz and Tampico in the hands of the revolutionists, American destroyers are on the way to Mexican waters to await eventualities and to afford protection to American lives in the Mexican gulf ports. General Obregon is said to be in control of the capital. An unconfirmed report told of the capture of President Carranza.

Official confirmation of the fall of the Mexican capital was received by the state department from the American embassy, which reported there was no disorder in the capital incident to the transfer of authority. Tampico and Vera Cruz also were reported quiet.

NEW EXECUTIVE RULES MEXICO

General Adolfo De La Huerta Named as President.

REGIME IS NOW FUNCTIONING

Obregonistas Confiscate the National Treasury Funds at Mexico City—Collapse of Carranza Government Appears Complete.

Washington, May 12.—Following the complete collapse of the Carranza regime in Mexico, a new government, with Gen. Adolfo de la Huerta at its head, has been formed. This announcement was made here by the mission of the revolution, whose chief is Senator Alvaro Torre Diaz.

The new government is already functioning, and it is understood to have indicated that it desires the recognition of the United States. A telegram on that subject has been received from Sonora, seat of the new Mexican government.

The rapid developments, all bloodless, demanded discussion by the cabinet at its meeting, but as usual, nothing official was announced following the meeting. The situation called for principally because the new anti-Carranza, anti-autocratic dictatorial cabinet at Mexico City is already functioning, and it is with this regime that the United States army and navy and the state department must deal unless Carranza, whose whereabouts are unknown, be propped up again at some place within the boundaries of Mexico. This, however, is only very remotely possible, in the opinion of officials here.

Obregon Seizes Treasury.

What apparently has been decided is that this government, in its settlement this time, will not invoke the A. B. C. governments as precedents. Instead, it will follow the rule that if the regime does not interfere with the life and property interests of citizens of the United States it will be recognized.

Obregonistas confiscated the national treasury funds, according to wireless messages received from Mexico City. A peaceful outcome is indicated by the fact that the dispatches from American consuls and naval officers in Mexican waters declare that all is quiet.

The personnel of the new government follows: Gen. Adolfo de la Huerta, provisional president.

Gen. Salvador Alvarado, minister of finance.

Gen. Plutarco Calles, minister of war.

Alonso Torre Diaz, minister of state ad interim.

Not Related to Former President. Senor Diaz belongs to the old Diaz family, but General de la Huerta has no family connection with former President Huerta. Interesting, as indicating the closeness of the relations between Gen. Pablo Gonzales and General Obregon, it was said here that Diaz is a close friend of Gonzales and was suggested by Obregon for his present post.

The new provisional president is now at Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, where the present revolution was organized. He will proceed to Mexico City very shortly, according to the revolutionary mission officers here. He is the present governor of the state of Sonora.

General de la Huerta is about forty-three years of age, and is described as a man of great executive ability, both as an official and in commercial business.

Brownsville, Tex., May 12.—An advance guard of 300 revolutionists approached the southern side of Matamoros, the Mexican town opposite Brownsville and exchanged a few shots with a Carranza outpost. The rebel move is believed to be preliminary to an attack in force.

American military authorities ordered a detachment of soldiers to the American end of the International bridge, where two machine guns were put in position pointing toward Matamoros.

Largest Organ.

It is just about impossible to say where the largest organ in the world is, because there is always one being built that is bigger than the last. There are many large organs in England, and in the United States. Sydney, Australia, claimed, some years ago, to have the largest organ in the world, but, like ships, they are always increasing in size.

If you break a tumbler, it is a sign some secret will be discovered about you.

My Mother.
We read about the mother of the days of long ago,
With their gentle wrinkled faces and their hair as white as snow.
They were middle aged at forty and at fifty donned the lace cap and shawl.
And at sixty clung to shoulder shawls and loved their little naps.
But I love the modern mother who can share in all the joys.
And who understands the problems of the growing girls and boys.
She may boast that she is sixty, but her heart is twenty-three.
My glorious, bright-eyed mother, who is keeping young with me.

Getting Gold Out of Australia.

Australia forbids the export of gold without authority, but the Chinese who go back to their own land on a visit show considerable ingenuity in taking away the coveted sovereign. Recently customs inspectors made a rich haul in a rain jar, the back of a shaving mirror, an alarm clock and the leather band of a hat. The Chinese cheerfully paid the fines imposed on them and were delighted when the confiscated gold was returned to them.

Theodore's Bright Idea.

Theodore was fond of olives, but his father had forbidden him to eat them. At dinner one day, during his father's absence, a large dish of olives had been placed near Theodore's plate. He looked at it longingly and said: "Mamma, let's play a joke on daddy and eat some olives."

The Motive.

All who have meant good work with their whole hearts have done good work. . . . Every heart that has beat strong and cheerful has left a hopeful impulse behind it in the world, and bettered the tradition of mankind.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Not Easy to Practice Thrift.

Thrift begins with trifles and leads toward contentment. The difficulty is to begin saving just a little when you have plenty. It is so much easier to spend the whole surplus from week to week and from month to month while things are coming easy.

Quite Welcome.

"I went up to the front door of the lodging house and rang, and when the landlady came I asked, 'Can I stay here?' She answered, 'Yes, you can stay there as long as you like' and I stayed there for a week.—Adv.

World's Tea Consumption.
The world's consumption of tea, exclusive of the countries in which tea is grown, is about 800,000,000 pounds a year.

It is a Southern State.
It is a State that the state of Georgia in 1845 alone ultimately produced 2,000,000 bales of cotton a year.

Make the Most of Your Tractor Power

A TRACTOR will do better and more work if it operates machines and implements especially designed for tractor operation instead of horse machines. A horse plow is inconvenient to use with a tractor, whereas a self-lift power plow works with it like a one-unit machine. The same is true of harrowing. Horse harrows are all very well for harrowing with horses, but when it comes to tractor operation they are not quite as convenient as they might be.

The International Leverless Disk Harrow was designed especially to meet the need for a rugged, efficient disk harrow that could be managed by the tractor operator without difficulty or inconvenience, working as a one-unit outfit. The gangs are set by merely backing the tractor, the operation being automatic. They are straightened by the simple act of pulling a cord tied to the tractor seat, this operation also being automatic, so the operator doesn't have to stop for the wet spots or go around, but straightens the gangs by a jerk on the cord—and rolls across like a wagon.

Tractorize your harrowing just as you have already tractorized your plowing—get tractor equipment to work with your tractor. Get an International Leverless Disk Harrow—from us.

The Wisconsin Industrial Commission has extended the time for the enforcement of the automobile headlight law from May 1 to July 1. The reason for the postponement is given on account of the heap of freight traffic, making it impossible for auto accessory dealers throughout the state to secure sufficient lenses to comply with the state law. Another reason is to give motorists an opportunity to become acquainted with the provisions of the law.
A demountable rim that is fixed to the automobile wheel by the adjustment of a single nut, is described and illustrated in the April Popular Mechanics magazine. To obtain this facile but certain binding action the inventor has stotted the wheel felloes and provided the inner circumference of the rim with corresponding projections. To put on a tire, the motorist places the rim on the wheel, and simply moves one upon the other, to right or left. In this engaged position he locks the two by means of a clip which slips over a bolt projecting from the wheel.

Catarhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the Blood on the Mucous Surfaces of the System. Catarhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be removed and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing may be destroyed forever. Many cases of Deafness are caused by Catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the Mucous Surfaces. ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for any case of Catarhal Deafness that cannot be cured by HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE.

SUITABLE TAFFETAS FOR SUMMER WEAR

THERE are so many pretty taffeta dresses this season, made up in so many ways, that it seems almost an entire wardrobe might be assembled from among them. If all other fabrics were barred. Then, to add to their diversity, designers have laid upon combinations of taffeta and organdie, taffeta and net, and taffeta and lace. An example of original and beautiful designing, the dress at the left of the two shown above will interest every lover of taffeta. Its bodice is cut on knee lines but departs from them with a wide flare in elbow sleeves and its fastening at the back. It has a round neck and extends six or eight inches below the waistline. The skirt at the front forms a panel extending a little way above the waist and merging into the bodice in a "V"-shaped opening outlined with embroidery in silk. In the back it terminates at the waist line. The bodice forms a narrow yoke at each side over the yoke and the skirt is fastened to the hips in a series of pencil folds, bordered with a narrow band of silk in a lighter shade than the brock. This light silk faces the sleeves that are turned back to reveal it and gathered under a small disk of embroidery above the facings. An unexpected detail in the design of this frock is the harem skirt gathering at the bottom. Another pretty taffeta, shown at the right, is made on more familiar lines but rivals its bodice with turning-back elbow sleeves and a group of small tucks at each side and a soft grille that fastens under one large ornament at the right side. Narrow frills of the taffeta, set on in bands at the front and back and across the hips at the side, make a charming trimming. A frill of lace about the neck provides a youthful round dress. Neck in this style invite the use of beautiful old lace collars shaped to fit them and already they have made their appearance.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MOTHER TOAD.

"There are some creatures," said Mother Toad, "who are most peculiar, but in spite of that fact I like them."
"What is peculiar about them and who do you mean?" asked Mrs. Teddy Toad.
"Well, people are funny," said Mother Toad. "Mothers only have a mere handful of children about them, a mere handful."
"I've never seen them carrying their children upon their hands," said Mrs. Toad. "Sometimes I've seen them carrying one baby in the arms, or one child upon the shoulders, but a lot of children in the hand—never."
"How then do you say that they have a handful of children?"
"I mean," said Mother Toad, "that they don't have thousands of children like I do. I didn't mean they carried their children around in their hands, but that they don't have enough to count so that they would amount to a good number."
"I, you see, have thousands, and so do you."
"But even though I am so different from people I like them. They're strange and tall and they walk instead of hop and they eat roach beef and little insects, but still I like them."
"So do I," said Mrs. Teddy Toad. "You see," said Mother Toad, "I think creatures are absurd who only like things that are just the same and think just the same as they do themselves."
"That's where I am different and I love folks lots better and have lots better a flure because of that. Just suppose I said, 'No, I don't like her; she wears dresses, I wear I, the toad, do not.' Now, wouldn't that be absurd?"
"Toads help people because they like them. They do a lot of good work in the gardens, just quantities of good work, and upon the farms, too."
"But I haven't much use for folks who're always disliking everyone who doesn't think the same and dress the same and act the same as they do."
"They miss so much joy out of life, and besides, so much joy want everyone else to agree with them are so conceited. They have the manner as though they know it all and were the only ones who were right."
"But I was saying how different people are from toads. I presume they

MORALE AIDED BY MUSIC

First Brought Out by the War Bound to Have Great Effect on Future Generations.
"Music makes morale," and so promptly music was enlisted in the war. Song leaders were appointed at all the training camps and immediately the glory of real music was spread before the millions of men as a reinforcement and aid to the idealism which had brought them into the war.
From then on the soldiers had music individually, in masses, in groups. They made it themselves, it was made for them by our finest artists. They had phonographs. They had records by the million. The process of musical education was swift, and the pupils were apt. Now they have returned to us men who know good music as a large part of their life and entertainment, have become reasonably apt performers themselves in a great many cases. What must this mean to the country? It must mean that there ever before to listen to it as well as to be taught it.

What's in a Name?
"A printer informed me recently what the 'Evansville Bar association' really is," said Joseph H. Igleheart, secretary of the Evansville association.
Mr. Igleheart recently ordered printed a number of licenses to be granted to members of the association. When a copy of the proof was shown him, he discovered that the words "Evansville Bar association" were in unusually large type.
"What do you think these licenses are for—saloon keepers?" inquired Igleheart of the printer.
"Why, certainly; what else does the word 'bar' mean?" was the printer's response.—Indianapolis News.

She Had It Busted.
In illustration of the extent to which gold and silver are being hoarded in China, the far eastern division of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce gives currency to an incident reported of an old woman paying for her purchase of a cotton mill with $200,000 worth of gold bars, which she had dug out of its hiding place. It is estimated that, due to the disturbed political conditions and lack of adequate banking facilities throughout China, at least a billion dollars' worth of silver is similarly hoarded, which may partially account for the present exchange situation.

For Matrons—Brilliant Hats

MODISTES and costumers may make for clothing greater variety and quantity for young women than for matrons, but it is the matron's outfit that gives them most concern. In the province of millinery the designing of matrons' hats is of such importance that the men and women give all their time to it. In the group shown here four semi-dress hats are pictured.
The hat at the top of the group is a spirited shape of brilliant black straw that recalls the Napoleon. The high tuster of the brim and the lines in the shape, are both contributors to the smart style of this model, which is less trimmed than any of its companions. It has an ornament made of long glycerined ostrich luffs and cellophane foliage.
The handsome turban of black moire ribbon and a jet ornament at the left of the group is a Russian inspiration in which very rich ribbon is very cleverly draped over a frame. This is a handsome hat, with plenty of character that might be made in any rich color or in black. Facing it a similar hat, the tolle three hats are wearing each day, but are ribbons continue strong.
Old Hat Trimmings.
Ostrich feathers may be recycled by drawing each luff over the back of a knife. Ribbon trimmings may be fresh by pressing and steaming, with tissue paper over them, from becoming shiny. Instead of pressing, they may be washed and stretched to dry on an unvarnished board or an enameled table top.

How Different People Are From Toads.

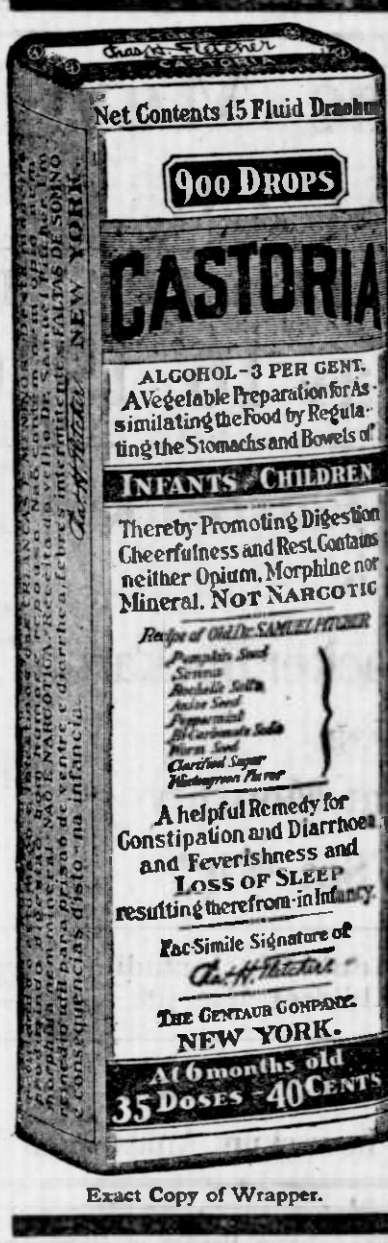

think they're pretty different, too," she laughed.
"I guess they do," said Mrs. Teddy Toad.
"Oh, well, no matter; they think the truth," said Mother Toad.
"Now I lay eleven thousand eggs as a rule in a pool. Sometimes they change right into toads in a few hours. We don't wait for months like the frogs in order to become something."
"Just think of being the mother of eleven thousand children all at once. That is something to be proud of. And everyone of the eleven thousand children helps on farms and in gardens."
"Did you ever hear of Mother Kangaroo by the way? I heard of her the other day when some children were talking. It seems she has a litte sack under the front of her, where she keeps her children for protection when danger is near—sort of swallows them, you know."
"Now, that is an interesting thing if it is true, and I fancy it must be, for I've heard of so many different people, though I will admit I've never seen it happen myself."
"Of course, I suppose it is because I'm not around where kangaroos are. But, oh dear, oh dear, how I love to think of eleven thousand little toads! It must be awful to think of only a half dozen children. But, I suppose, their mothers feel that it would be horrible to think of eleven thousand children to wash and to put to bed, or to send to bed when they got older and could go by themselves. And they'd need several schools for one family."
"So I suppose it is all right that they have their own ways, but I'm glad I'm a mother toad, and have a mother toad's ways!"

The Reason Why.
My sister, aged five, had come to the table with very dirty hands, and mother said to her: "Mabel, go and wash your hands immediately. Did you ever see me come to the table with hands like that?" "No, mother, of course not," answered Mabel, "but I didn't know you when you were five years old."—Illustrated News.

"He had reason to. He's got a jumping toothache."

Eau Claire—The sheriff of Eau Claire county was placed on a salary basis by the county board here on and after Jan. 1, 1921, by a vote of 18 to 13. The salary was fixed at $4,000 after long debate, and out of this amount he must provide his deputy and also to furnish his own automobile. All fees collected must be turned over to the county. He operates the jail, however, as before, being allowed so much per capita for board and lodging. Heretofore the sheriff's office has been operated on the fee basis, all fees going to the sheriff.

Darlington—For thirty years Darlington has had to put up with the same train service—four passenger and mail trains each day, two east and two west. With the increase of all kinds of business these conditions have become deplorable. The daily morning paper is not delivered at the post office before 3 p. m. To better conditions the common council unanimously petitioned the C. & St. Paul authorities for another train, one leaving Janesville at about 7 a. m., and returning to reach Janesville about 7 p. m.

La Crosse—La Crosse's cardinal, a habitue of this city for several summers past, has arrived in the city, this year accompanied by Mrs. Cardinal. The bird is the only one of its kind reported to have been seen in this vicinity for a number of years, and keen interest is displayed in its comings and goings. The bird couple have gone to housekeeping in a nest near Sixth and Cass Sts.

La Crosse—Herbert Haas, young farmer living near this city, is defendant in a $7,000 breach of promise suit brought by Marie Buschmann, 17, La Crosse. According to the complaint, Herbert promised to marry Marie June 16, 1919, and again Aug. 2, but became "rough and brutal" in his treatment of her and finally said he would have nothing more to do with her.

Manitowish—J. J. Kelley, former city clerk, was elected president of the new school board and B. A. Hanson, local agent of the American Federation of Labor and one of the Socialist leaders of the city, was elected secretary. One of the first moves made by the board was to order its proceedings published, something that the old board always refused to do.

Janesville—Charged with having taken Ada Bullis, 16, a store clerk, across the state line into Illinois and keeping her several days at Harvard and Chicago, Sam Tuck was arrested at Woodstock, Ill., and brought back here. Complaint was made by the parents of the girl upon her report when she came back home that she was married to Tuck at Harvard.

Madison—Up to and including May 4, according to the semi-monthly news letter of the division of markets, Wisconsin has shipped 17,178 cars of potatoes, an amount considerably below the estimate of shipments made a year ago. About nine-tenths of the potato warehouses in the state are now closed, which indicates that the season is fast drawing to a close.

Madison—The railroad commission is making a determined effort to lessen the number of railroad crossing accidents, by which in 1919 in Wisconsin seventy-seven persons lost their lives and 202 persons were seriously injured. It has had printed and will soon distribute 50,000 notices for posting in railroad offices, garages, banks, hotels, postoffices, etc.

Green Bay—Reports from various parts of Brown county indicate that this year will see the largest crops in the history of the county. This information is based on the fact that a larger acreage is under cultivation than during the war, when labor was scarce. Corn, according to the report, will be the leading crop.

Eau Claire—The city council has set off part of Mount Tom park as a camping site for automobile tourists. This park is on the new concrete highway between Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls, the main route of travel, is within the city limits of Eau Claire and offers fine facilities for camping.

Pardeeville—Mrs. L. V. Smith, this city, has an interesting relic of former days. It is the record of the Sewing Circle of the First Baptist church, dated 1855. In those days, according to the book, men's shirts were made for twenty-five to fifty cents each.

Horicon—While putting a bridle on a horse at the cannery factory here, the horse bit a finger off the left hand of A. M. Kohlman.

Madison—Miss Agnes Bill, formerly Ozaukee county public health nurse, with three years' experience in public health work, will become county nurse of Trempealeau county July 1. Miss Bill served in the army nurse corps for two years.

Kenosha—Forced to seek refuge in the home of a neighbor while clad only in her night clothes because of the entrance of one of her husband's acquaintances into her home, Mrs. Frank Zabukovic swore out a warrant for the arrest of Tony Eree on a charge of burglary.

Washburn—Fire of unknown origin broke out in the frame warehouse of the Farmers' and Fruit Growers' association, and destroyed the building and contents. The building contained feed, hay and some farm machinery.

Green Bay—A decision of importance to Wisconsin railroads has just been handed down by the United States Supreme court in a case which originated in a Brown county municipal court. Under the decision railroads are virtually required to provide box cars with ladders which workmen may use in descending from the side door to the ground. The action on which the decision is based is that of Herman Vande Vando against the Northwestern line. The plaintiff jumped from the side door of the box car and received an injury to his hip joint. In municipal court a jury in Judge Monahan's court awarded damages of $3,500 to Mr. Vande Vando and this has been sustained by the supreme court.

Darlington—The body of the Rev. William Bray, 88 years old, Congregational minister of Summit, N. J., missing since April 21, was found in the Pecantonica river, one mile east of this city, by Charles Winters, a farmer. Mr. Bray's drowning is believed to have been accidental. He was coming to visit with his brother John here after spending the winter in California and it is believed that he walked off an ice chute into the river which was at flood stage the night he arrived in Darlington. Funeral services were held at the First Congregational church in Kenosha where the Rev. Bray was pastor for thirty years prior to his retirement.

Madison—The death rate in Wisconsin for the first three months of 1920 was considerably higher than the rate for any similar period in the last thirteen years, according to reports compiled by the state board of health. The rate was 15.6 per thousand population, and was based on total deaths of 10,016. "This excessive mortality," the board explained, "is due almost entirely to the influenza epidemic which appeared early in January and continued in various parts of the state through January, February and March. The actual increase in deaths over similar period in 1919 was 1,621.

Monroe—Herman Monte, a farmer near Monroe, was arrested here upon a warrant sworn out by an adopted daughter, Leona Moxley, charging him with assault. The girl who is 18 years of age, states that for ten years she has made her home with the defendant and his invalid wife and that in the last two years he has repeatedly subjected her to indignities. Monte and his wife and the girl and a younger sister sleep in the same room.

Urbahn, retiring division superintendent of the Soo line, on the eve of his departure for Minneapolis, where he becomes general superintendent of the Soo system. Milwaukee—Jealous of his girl wife who left him two months ago after less than a month of wedded life, Walter Konopolski, 24 years old, waylaid her and shot her down on the street and then turned the gun on himself, crying, "We'll both die together." Neither of the shots were fatal, however, and an Emergency hospital where they were taken, it is said that both may recover.

Madison—The decision of the state supreme court that marriages outside of the state are legal came as a relief to hundreds of Wisconsin couples who have been married in Illinois, Michigan and other adjoining states. Since the ruling of a Milwaukee circuit judge that such marriages were illegal, many were placed in a quandary as to just what their status was.

Stevens Point—Springville pond, at the mouth of the Plover river, two miles south of Stevens Point, has been cleared of suckers and other rough fish under direction of a state conservation warden. If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

COULDN'T FORGET THE GREEN DEW HAS VITALIZING EFFECT

Mrs. Flannigan's Neat Expression of Loyalty to Her Native and Her Adopted Land.

Mrs. Flannigan for years has proudly exhibited from her front window a row of geraniums, in pots wrapped in bright, Irish green crepe paper, says the Indianapolis News. But the other day when her neighbor, whose son was in France for several months, pulled back her window curtain and revealed her flower pots, decorated in red, white and blue paper, Mrs. Flannigan was visibly troubled. She worried and worried. It is quite hard to be loyal to two countries at the same time, yet Mrs. Flannigan desired to be so.

Then one morning her wide Irish smile came back to her face. And passers-by saw in the Flannigan front window a row of flower pots brave in red, white and blue coverings and every covering was tied to the pot with a wide band of green ribbon.

Allot Land to Eskimos.
It is announced from Ottawa that the Canadian government has decided to reserve for the remnant of the Eskimos a small part of the territory over which they formerly ranged at will in the varying pursuits of fishing and hunting. The reservation is to consist of Banks and Victoria islands, north of the vast region, wide as the continent, known as the Northwest territory, and far north of the arctic circle.

From this reservation, and apparently the waters immediately adjacent to it, the white hunters are to be excluded; and those who have begun operations on Banks Island will be ousted. Thus the resources needed to sustain Eskimo life will be reserved for the Eskimo.

Abundant Proof That It Possesses Invigorating Action That Affects Growth of Plants.

Dew is vitalizing, not entirely because it is water but because it possesses an invigorating action due partly at any rate to the fact that it is saturated with oxygen, and it has been stated that during its formation peroxide of hydrogen and some ozone are developed. It is not improbable that the peculiarly attractive and refreshing quality that marks the early-morning air has its origin in this way. The difficulty of inducing grass to flourish under a tree in full leaf is well known and is generally explained by saying that the tree absorbs the nourishing constituents of the soil or that it keeps the sunlight away from the grass and protects it from rain. It is doubtful whether any of these explanations is true, the real reason, most probably being that the vitalizing dew cannot form upon the grass under a tree, whereas as a rule both rain and light can reach it.

Really "Bored to Death."
The expression, "bored to death," is no mere fanciful figure. A person may actually die from boredom. The Medical Press, in commenting upon this subject, refers to a statement by Dr. W. H. R. Rivers, that "interest in life is the primary factor in the welfare of the people." Doctor Rivers contends that the dying out of native races is due not so much to what the white man has introduced in the shape of new diseases and new modes of clothing, housing and feeding, as to the fact that by uprooting native institutions, without providing adequate substitutes, he has "deprived them of nearly all that gave interest to their lives."

Yellow Men Sleep

By JEREMY LANE.

"THERE was a quiet scene in her veins that took her to John Livingston. It was a gray-fueled night in spring and she refused to turn back. John held her against his chest and could not accept as real the great beauty of the world.

She was writing a story as usual when she came to his door, and the steady lines were always of her, of his Mary, his unattainable. Now the flame that he loved alone forth in her. In the dim, dusty hallway outside his door he found her arms about his neck, and that springtime evening dowered in their kiss. Mary would not go back. Her family, the proper Martins, had estranged her when they refused to release the man of her choice. It is an extraordinary novel, something new and exhilarating, oriental, exotic, fascinating. One senses the inscrutability of the East, while around it is a flavor and charm reminiscent of nothing so much as the Rider Haggard at his best. Most of the action is in the Desert of Gobi; and the plot reaches across China and has ramifications extending back to the United States. It involves American secret service men and an inaccessible empire in the midst of the desert, an empire of selected specimens of almost every race on earth. The story centers around a beautiful American girl held in the strange empire by trickery and craft, and the efforts to rescue her from her captors and herself. A sub-plot deals with the production and international sale of a mysterious drug made from seed taken out of the earth in which they had been buried for centuries. Romantic and thrilling, "Yellow Men Sleep" is far from the stereotyped kind.

Walking Snakes.

It is supposed that the early ancestors of modern snakes walked on four legs. Some big serpents, such as the boas, even now have rudimentary hindlegs. But the "feet" on which all snakes do their walking today are the cartilaginous extremities of their ribs. To preserve these is the greatest difficulty in the preparation of an ophidian skeleton.

Putting His Luck to the Test.

In old Japan when a man wanted to get a wife, he went to the house of the girl whom he fancied and threw one of his shoes into the yard. If the shoe was picked up and taken inside by her, he looked for a favorable issue; but if it were cast out again, he went away disconsolate.

THE USEFUL STORAGE BATTERY

With the coming of electricity to the farm the farmer has become interested in the storage battery, a piece of electrical equipment which has undergone very extensive development in the last two years.

A good many ways ago engineers saw that some way would have to be developed to store electrical energy generated by mechanical devices such as the electric generator. This necessity arose from the fact that there were various classes of electrical service which demanded the production of current in comparatively small amounts for intermittent use. One of the best examples of such intermittent use is the electric service demanded by the farm home.

Lights are of course used principally at night, but there are many times during the day when electric light is wanted for a few minutes and there are many more times when electric current is wanted for the operation of power appliances, such as pumps, vacuum sweepers, washing machines, chains, etc. If this electric current had to be generated for each of these uses by going and starting an engine and generator it would obviously be very inconvenient.

In order to have current available at any time whether the generator is running or not the storage battery is used. The storage battery is simply an electrochemical machine consisting of a number of jars filled with a chemical mixture called electrolyte, in which are suspended lead plates. When current is sent through this battery by the generator a chemical reaction takes place which stores electrical energy in the battery. When current is wanted for the burning of a light or the running of a motor, the storage battery supplies it, releasing the electrical energy stored in it while the generator was running. In this way it is necessary only to run the generator for a few minutes at the beginning of the day, at which time it may run for an hour or so.

This combination of the generating unit, consisting of a kerosene engine and generator, with the storage battery makes it possible for the farmer and his family to have electric service in the home as complete and as convenient as that given to the city dwellers by a central power station, and both by a central power station and the storage batteries have in the last few years been developed to such a high point of efficiency that they deliver this electric service at a very low cost and with the greatest of dependability.
