SOCIAL WORKERS FOR CLEARING HOUSE

The recent move inaugurated by the social workers of the state to establish a central clearing-house seems to be meeting with most gratifying success. Last March, Wisconsin Social Workers set a mark for the rest of the nation by engaging a full time trained executive secretary, Edward Lynde and launching on a militant all-the-year-round program, through their "State Conference of Social Work."

Mr. Lynde whose office is located in the University Extension, Madison, is being called to various counties throughout the state to meet with workers individually and in groups, to make suggestions and to help solve problems confronting them in their work. Many requests also come by mail for information or advice on matters relating to social work. At the request of several communities also the Secretary has met with a representative group of people and brought to light the most urgent social needs in their county. As a result certain communities are already organizing to meet the needs disclosed.

One of the projects of the Conference is the selection in every town in the state of some person with social vision who will help to advance social movements, local and state-wide. These Township Representatives and the other members of the Conference will act together in promoting important measures of social legislation.

Every one interested in social problems is invited to attend the Annual Meeting of the State Conference, to be held at Oshkosh, October 13th to 15th. This year the program is to be an especially strong one, with several speakers of national prominence. Arrangements have already been made with Julia Lathrop, head of the National Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., Dr. Graham Taylor of Chicago, head of Chicago School of Civics and Philanthropy and of Chicago Commons; Allen T. Burns, New York City, president of the National Conference of Social Work, and Director of Americanization Studies for the Carnegie Foundation; Mrs. Ira Couch Wood of Chicago, a national leader in nutritional clinic work; Rev. Father Stienberg, Director of the Loyola School of Sociology, Chicago; Dr. Valeria Parker, Hartford, Conn., Secretary of the American Association for Social Hygiene; Fred Johnson of the Community Union in Detroit, Michigan, formerly charity commissioner of Bridgeport, Conn.; Judge Clark Higbee of Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Walter Davidson, acting manager of the Central Division of the American Red Cross.

There are to be sections on Rural Social Work, Recreation, Industrial Relations, Public Health, Delinquency (including preventive as well as curative work); Public Poor Relief, work with children, Mental Hygiene, Family Welfare, Social Hygiene, and Red Cross Work. Opportunity will be given in each section for questions and discussion.

The Oshkosh people will entertain in their homes those attendants who prefer not to go to a hotel. Those desiring to avail themselves of this hospitality are urged to write at once to Edward Lynde, Secretary of the State Conference of Social Work, Madison, Wis. Already many reservations have been made.

FINISH BEAN PACK; BEETS NEXT
The Hartford Canning company will complete its season's pack of beans this week, and expect to start immediately with the canning of red beets. Owing to the extremely warm weather the yield of string beans was not as large as the growers and the company would have liked to have seen it, but at that a fairly good pack was put up. Fifty acres of beans have been harvested. From present indications the beet crop will be exceptionally fine this year. The local cannery has an excellent reputation for putting up a fine brand of canned red beets and a ready market always awaits the product. The weather has been ideal for this crop. This portion of canning will keep the factory busy another month or six weeks, after which the canning departments close down for the season. With its three products—peas, beans and beets—the canning factory is kept busy a great deal longer than the average canning factory.—Hartford Times.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

Orders are coming in daily for pedigreed wheat and rye. If you have either for sale notify your county agent as to the number of bushels you have and the price you expect for it.
If you are anxious to increase your yield per acre, as well as the quality of your wheat and rye, sow pedigreed seed. Sowing the seed early will also bring in the desired result. Wheat should be in by the last week in August or the first week in September, and should never be sown later than September 15.

WILL HOLD CHURCH CARNIVAL

For the benefit of the congregation a carnival will take place on the church grounds of the St. Mathias church, Sunday, August 29th. Refreshments of all kinds will be served and all sorts of amusements will be on hand. Everybody is cordially invited to attend.

PUBLIC SCHOOL RE-OPENS SEPTEMBER 7

The teachers for the present year are as follows: Miss Harriet Kleiber of Waukau, Wis., Primary Department; Miss Elsie Guth, Intermediate Department; Miss Olive Haug, Grammar Department; Miss Owens, Oshkosh and Miss Stines of Capron, Ill., assistant principals and C. W. Dupree, principal. Due to the great scarcity of teachers the matter of hiring them this year has been a very difficult problem. The best effort has been made to secure the best teachers possible for the positions to be filled. Miss Kleiber is a graduate of the teachers' training course at Omro, Wis., and has had two years' experience in teaching. Miss Owens is a graduate of the three year high school course at the Oshkosh State Normal and has taught one year. Miss Stines holds a Bachelor degree from the University of Wisconsin and has taught eleven years. Only experienced and well recommended teachers have been hired. As a result of the entertainment given by the grades last spring each grade teacher has $17.00 with which to purchase things to be used in her school room. As a result of plays and other school activities the high school contributed $66.78 to the school fund to be used for purchasing apparatus and material for the high school. While this is not a large amount of money to be spent for apparatus it will help considerably and makes our efforts with school activities seem well worth while. Every effort is being put forth to make this year the best in the history of the school. The continued support, efforts and co-operation from the public will help to make this possible. We appreciate your effort in the past; may we have even more of it in the future.

A HEAD-ON AUTO COLLISION

A head-on auto collision, which turned out mighty lucky for all concerned occurred on the road to Milwaukee on the east side of Germantown, at an early hour last Saturday morning, when Sim Hall and a number of companions from this city were thrown from their car after being run into by another automobile coming from the opposite direction. The car was unable to leave the name of the owner of the other car.

Mr. Hall was proceeding at a fair rate of speed when suddenly a car from the opposite direction came into view, and before he could turn out, the oncoming car was on top of them. One of the occupants of the Hall car was thrown from the back seat, through the windshield, but he miraculously escaped with only a few scratches and cuts on both his arms. All of the people who figured in the accident were more or less cut and bruised.

Both of the cars were what might be termed total wrecks, as the fronts were badly damaged, and the motors refused to work. The fenders were bent, the windshield broken, the radiators jammed in, and practically everything on the fronts of the cars were bent and twisted. How the occupants escaped serious injury is something unexplainable.—Hartford Times.

ST. MICHAEL'S CHOIR LEADER THE BRIDE OF HY. KIRCHER

Miss Isabelle Thull, the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Math. Thull of Farmington, and Henry Kircher, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kircher, Sr., of Barton were quietly married at Milwaukee on Monday, the ceremony being performed in one of the Catholic churches of that city. The happy affair came as a surprise, although it had been known for some time that the young people were good matrimonial prospects. Mr. and Mrs. Kircher are now at Barton, but will leave in a few days for Schlesinger-ville, where they will engage in home-making. The groom has for some time been in the employ of George Wild as a tinsmith and plumber. He served overseas with the Black Hawk Division during the late war and by all is considered one of the substantial men of the community, one who has a future of much promise. Miss Thull has for some time been the choir leader of St. Michael's congregation and is so well known and thought of that we deem an introduction on our part unnecessary. There are few better girls than she and fewer still who are so well qualified to provide over a home. Mr. and Mrs. Kircher have the best wishes of all for a bright and happy future.—West Bend Pilot.

KEWASKUM BOY HIGHLY HONORED

No little interest was aroused in this village last Saturday when it became known that Postmaster George H. Schmidt had been elected to the responsible office of Vice-president of the National Postmasters' League, at a convention held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, last week. Mr. Schmidt has always been an ardent worker as postmaster in this village, to which position he was appointed by President Wilson eight years ago. Immediately after he had been appointed he studied the work outlined for him in the capacity of postmaster diligently until today, he understands his duties most thoroughly. It has always been his aim to raise the standard of the local post office to a higher plane of efficiency and by constant plugging has been successful in his determination. He not only took a deep interest in local affairs but in state and national affairs as well, always attending the various postmasters' conventions held during the year, at which time he would be ready to put into effect would bring about better conditions and regulations in the mail service. After Mr. Schmidt had been postmaster one year, his influence as a man of good sound judgment in his chosen field commenced to have a telling effect, and as a result he was elected secretary of the Wisconsin State League of Postmasters. A year later he was appointed a member of the executive committee of the National Postmasters' League. In each of these offices he fulfilled his duties in a most efficient manner, which brought about his being elected Vice-president at the Minneapolis convention and made him a strong favorite for the office of president. Mr. Schmidt is a hard and conscientious worker, one who puts his whole soul mind and body into the work which he undertakes to do, and for his untiring efforts he is receiving his just reward. That he will be successful in his new office is a foregone conclusion, as his past record in the capacity of postmaster will show. Too much praise cannot be given Mr. Schmidt for the high office to which he has been elected and which is not only an honor and credit to himself, but to the village of Kewaskum and community as well.

ONE BUCK RULE NOW IN EFFECT

The one-buck hunting law will be put into effect this hunting season. The law also provides that during the last ten days of the hunting season every licensed hunter will be allowed to kill one male deer with antlers. This will prevent hunters from killing a female as well as does. This year a metal tag will be furnished all hunters to put on the deer killed by them. This tag is constructed on the same principle as a box car seal, which will make it impossible for a hunter to use the tag on more than one deer, which has heretofore been the practice by a number of hunters, who were successful in this manner of competing home with more than one deer.

EV. PEACE PICNIC WELL ATTENDED

The picnic given by the Ev. Peace congregation at the South Side Park last Sunday afternoon, was well attended and enjoyed by all present. The committee in charge are to be complimented upon bringing the picnic to a successful conclusion. There was enjoyment for both young and old. Rev. Barth, the chief promoter of the picnic is working over time, in working up new ideas and putting new life and creating a greater interest in church affairs. We are glad to state that so far he has been very successful, as the results of his strenuous efforts have already brought about remarkable results.

CAR WRECKED BY LOOSE PLANK

Frank Curran who was a visitor in this village on Monday morning, had his Ford coupe wrecked while returning to his home at Campbellsport. Mr. Curran, when crossing a bridge on the county line between Fond du Lac and Washington county, struck a loose plank level up and got caught between the radius rod and the front axle, breaking the radius rod. The car swerved to the right and struck the side of the bridge, bending the front end of the car. Mr. Curran fortunately escaped injury.

A CHANCE TO GET RICH

Quack grass, known as a weed pest and bothersome as most and curse to the farmer, now has a money value. Wholesale drug companies are offering from 20 to 40 cents per pound for dried quack grass roots, including also the underground stems. The roots of the burdock bring 10 to 15 cents per pound and growing, which is commonly found and erow, which where it causes much trouble, is worth from $3 to $4 per pound.—Ex.

KEWASKUM BALL TEAM VICTORIOUS

A picked team of baseball players from this village journeyed to Newburg last Sunday to play the team of that place, defeating same by a score of 6 to 7. This in our opinion is doing remarkably well, for reason that the boys have not played ball for several years, save from a game with St. Kilian several weeks ago, which they lost by one point. The young men simply got together, picked nine fellows and without any practice proceeded to play ball and administered defeat to the strong Newburg team. This plainly shows that Kewaskum still has the makings of a good baseball team. Why then is it that the young men did not get together sooner and organize, is it because they thought they did not have enough players to make a good team or is it because they were afraid that they would not get the necessary support from the citizens of this village to maintain a team. In each case your arguments are without foundation. Kewaskum, as past records will show has always supported a ball team and always will as long as the games are played in a clean-cut way. Base ball is again commencing to hold its own in the ranks of athletics. So let us hope that next year we will be able to boast of a base ball team from the beginning of the season. Tomorrow, (Sunday) the locals will go to Boltonville to cross bats with the strong team of that place. This will be the last game away from home for some time, as the following Sunday Newburg or Theresa will play here.

The score by innings in last Sunday's game is as follows:
Kewaskum 1 0 3 0 0 0 3 0—7
Newburg 2 0 0 0 3 0 0 1—6

CHEAP COOKING WITH ELECTRICITY

Most of us have always thought that cooking with electricity was entirely beyond the reach of the average home on the basis of expense. And it is true that the use of electricity for all cooking purposes will use a considerable amount of current. But there has recently been so much improvement in the design of electric heat appliances of all kinds and in the small electric light and power plant which furnish electric service to the farm home, that for reasonably light service, electric cooking is well within the reach of the average farm family.

This has been accomplished by combining the principle of electric heating as used in the flat iron with that of the "fireless" cooker. The electric cooker is a box about two feet square and about three feet high. The walls are very thick and are insulated with rock wool, when the cover is closed practically no heat can escape. In the bottom of the box is the electric heating element and immediately above this are the food receptacles, aluminum vessels with covers. The cooking is started with a high heat which is soon reduced to just enough to keep the cooking process going on. The heat insulation of the box is so good that once the cooking is started little more current is needed than enough to light an ordinary electric lamp. An automatic clock regulator is also supplied which changes the current from high to low after any desired number of minutes. This means that once the food receptacles are filled and placed in the cooker the whole appliance needs no further attention.

CARD PARTY IS A BIG SUCCESS

The card party given under the auspices of the local branch of the M. A. C. W. at the Holy Trinity school hall, Tuesday evening, was a grand success in every respect, and greatly enjoyed by all present. The fact that the players were given a chance to play any game they desired such as Schafkopf, Bunco, 500, Skat, Cinch, Rummy and Black Peter made the gathering all the more interesting, concluding with a delightful program after the games, arranged by Miss Priscilla Marx, which was well coached, well rendered and well balanced and made the evening's entertainment for the players and others who attended one of the most enjoyable affairs of any card party ever held in this village. Too much credit cannot be given the committee in charge for their untiring efforts in bringing the event to a successful conclusion. Prizes were awarded as follows: Schafkopf—1st, Ladies, Mrs. William Ziegler; 2nd, Ladies, Mrs. Ockenfels; 1st, Gents, J. M. Ockenfels; 2nd, Gents, Mr. Hilmes. Kohn; 2nd, Ladies, Stella Hillmes; 1st, Gents, Alex Becker; 2nd, Gents, Hildegard Van Aenderen.

The program as rendered consisted of dancing by Miss Gertrude Marx, who most delightfully entertained the audience with the "Highland Fling," "Irish Jig," "Irish Reel" to the accompaniment of Saxophones by Elmo and Ralph Rosenheimer. Miss Maude Hausmann brought laughter and applause in her reading, "Little Jim" and "Sign Wanted." Both young ladies and the Rosenheimer brothers were highly commended on the pleasing manner in which they entertained the audience. Let us hope that the members of the M. A. C. W. will give another card party in the near future. Last Tuesday evening's event certainly was a treat to all, and every one went home with words of praise.

Rev. Father Vogt received the sad news last Sunday of the death of his father, Philip Vogt Sr., which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. P. Gutschenreiter, at West Bend on Sunday morning at 5:45 o'clock. Deceased had been in ill health for six months, and his condition kept growing worse until he finally passed into Eternal sleep. Old age is attributed as being the cause of his illness. Mr. Vogt was born on February 15, 1835, in Saxony, Germany. At the age of sixteen years he immigrated to America, coming to West Bend in 1865 where for a number of years he successfully conducted a general store business. In 1858, he was married to Miss Louisa Schmidt, who preceded him in death several years ago. This union was blessed with six children, 5 of whom survive, namely: Rev. Philip J. Vogt of this village, Louisa (Mrs. A. W. Wagner) and Mary (Mrs. P. Gutschenreiter) of West Bend, Tillie of Kewaskum, and Marguerita (Mrs. George Volz) of Milwaukee. Mr. Vogt lived with his children for the past six years. Being naturally of a social and engaging disposition he was a favorite among all classes of people. He shared in their joys and their sorrows, helped to rejoice in their good fortunes and smoothed their way in times of sickness and adversity. He was every man's friend and had a good word for all, whether in prosperity or in trouble. Next to his chosen field of endeavor he loved intercourse with his neighbors and took pride in helping to build up his community. Such devotion to his duties toward fellowmen always brings its reward, and he will live in the hearts of many because of his good qualities. The funeral was held on Wednesday morning at 9:30 o'clock with services in the Holy Angels' church at West Bend, with a solemn requiem mass celebrated by his son Rev. Philip J. Vogt of here. Interment took place in the congregation's cemetery.

Death came as a relief to Mrs. Geo. Wendelborn who passed away at her home here last Thursday, Aug. 19, 1920, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. She had been in declining health since last December, and a stroke of paralysis, which she suffered last week Tuesday, hastened the end. Deceased was born November 3, 1863, in the town of Trenton, her maiden name being Annie Krejci. She was married to George Wendelborn on April 11, 1887, and the couple since made their home at West Bend. Besides her husband, she leaves five children, namely: Elsie (Mrs. John Wilkerson) of Barton, and Chester, Clarence, Roland, and Bert-hold at home. She also leaves two grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Joseph Schmidt of Kewaskum, and one brother, Wenzel Krejci, of here. Mrs. Wendelborn was a good woman in every respect, one who well filled her place in her home and in the community. Her life was the helpful, loving and forbearing life of a true Christian, and she will continue to live in the hearts near and dear to her. The funeral was held Monday morning with services in Holy Angels' church, Rev. J. Heyde officiating, and burial in the parish cemetery.—West Bend Pilot.

THEIR EARTHLY CARES ENDED

The citizens of this village and community were shocked last Saturday, when news reached here that Mrs. Jos. Remmel (nee Alma Meinicke) had been called to her Heavenly reward in the prime of life. Deceased had been ill for about two weeks with blood poisoning. She was taken to a hospital at West Bend, where every attention was done in an effort to save her life. But the best of medical attention failed, and her condition grew worse from day to day, until Saturday morning at 8:45 o'clock when she passed beyond the Great Divide. Alma Meinicke was born at Shawano, Wis., on July 15, 1888, and had attained the age of 32 years, 1 month, and 6 days. She spent her childhood days there and where she grew to womanhood. In the year 1900 she came to Kewaskum with her parents. On September 26, 1908 she was married to Joseph Remmel. They moved to Barton, Wis., in April, 1920. Three children were born to them, all of whom survive and whose names are, of youngster, nine years, Elroy, three years and a d'Virgiana. Besides these she leaves to mourn her untimely death, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meinicke Sr., of this village, seven brothers and two sisters, as follows: Otto and d' Charles of Kewaskum, Fred of Barton, William of Michigan, Adolph, Alfred and John of Milwaukee, Hulda (Mrs. S. Gerhardt) of Marquette, Mich., Ella (Mrs. Alvin Stiechler) of Port Washington. Mrs. Remmel was possessed with those characteristics that go to make up a true type of woman and mother. To know her was to love her. She was a kind neighbor and friend. Held in high esteem by all, which was shown by the large cortege of sorrowing relatives and friends who followed the remains to their last resting place in the Barton cemetery. The funeral was held on Tuesday forenoon at 9:30 o'clock, from the family residence at Barton with services in the Immaculate Conception church at Barton, Wis. Rev. Father Vogt officiated. The sorrowing relatives and the grief stricken husband and family, have our heartfelt sympathy.

Interment took place in the congregation's cemetery.

Death came as a relief to Mrs. Geo. Wendelborn who passed away at her home here last Thursday, Aug. 19, 1920, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. She had been in declining health since last December, and a stroke of paralysis, which she suffered last week Tuesday, hastened the end. Deceased was born November 3, 1863, in the town of Trenton, her maiden name being Annie Krejci. She was married to George Wendelborn on April 11, 1887, and the couple since made their home at West Bend. Besides her husband, she leaves five children, namely: Elsie (Mrs. John Wilkerson) of Barton, and Chester, Clarence, Roland, and Bert-hold at home. She also leaves two grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Joseph Schmidt of Kewaskum, and one brother, Wenzel Krejci, of here. Mrs. Wendelborn was a good woman in every respect, one who well filled her place in her home and in the community. Her life was the helpful, loving and forbearing life of a true Christian, and she will continue to live in the hearts near and dear to her. The funeral was held Monday morning with services in Holy Angels' church, Rev. J. Heyde officiating, and burial in the parish cemetery.—West Bend Pilot.

PROMISE GIVEN OF MORE SUGAR

Crop Conditions Give Assurance of Increase Amounting to About 333,000 Tons.

BEET ACREAGE MUCH LARGER

There is Also Substantial Addition to Cane Acreage, Especially in Louisiana—Growing Conditions Show Improvement.

People who have soft-pelted the sugar bowl for six years may be interested in the statement that crop conditions on July 1 promised an increase in next fall's sugar production in the United States; an increase amounting to, approximately, 333,000 tons, or enough to load a train of freight cars 70 or 75 miles long, allowing 40 tons per car. This prospective crop is equal to more than 22 pounds of sugar for every man, woman and child within the United States, and the increase over last year equals more than six pounds per acre.

The sugar-beet crop this year covers almost a million acres as against the five-year average of about two-thirds of a million; and the growing condition on July 1 was above the ten-year average. There is more than half a million acres of sugar cane this year, about half of which is intended for sugar and the other half for sirup, after deducting considerable amounts for planting the next crop. There is a substantial increase in acreage over last year, especially in Louisiana, where nearly all the cane sugar of the United States is made. The growing condition of the cane in Louisiana is much better than last year, but considerably under the average for the past nine years.

Protection for Crop. The department of agriculture, which has carried on a number of projects looking toward making this country self-sustaining from a sugar standpoint, is co-operating with other agencies in protecting the crops from insects and disease and otherwise promoting the production and utilization of a bumper sugar crop. It should be borne in mind, however, that the forecast for 1920 is based upon conditions on July 1, and the actual out-turn would be above or below this forecast according as conditions between July 1 and harvest are better or worse than average.

PROPER TRAINING FOR STOCK

Finest Calf in World is of Little Use to Farmer Unless It Has Been Broken.

Nobody really cares what makes the wild cat wild because the wild cat is no good even when it is tame. But it makes all the difference in the world whether useful live stock is trained or wild. The finest calf in the world, product of the best draft stock, is of little use to a farmer unless it has been broken to harness, is bridle-wise and gentle.

A cow may be a champion milk producer, but she is of comparatively little value if nobody can milk her. A setter may carry the blue blood of Count Gladstone and have a nose for birds that is unequalled, but nobody wants to hunt behind him unless he has felt the jerk of the trainer's choke line and given his only an opportunity to bag them.

GUARD TWINE FROM INSECTS

Solution of Kerene and Crude Cresote is Recommended by an Illinois Entomologist.

If the twine one buys is not already protected from crickets and grasshoppers the following formula given by W. T. Flint, entomologist of Illinois, can be used very satisfactorily. He recommends a solution of two gallons kerene, and one gallon crude cresote. Mix these together and immerse the twine for a period of about one hour or until it is saturated, then lay out in the sun and dry thoroughly before using. The Missouri Agricultural college recommends a solution of one gallon of lime sulphur and ten gallons of water. Soak for a similar period and dry thoroughly before using.

PLANTING CABBAGE IN FALL

Small Pointed-Headed Varieties Must Be Used If Set Out Late—Warm Don't Set Other.

Cabbage set late will make good heads and it is sometimes much easier to grow it this way, as the worms are not usually so big as in the spring. Of course you must plant the small pointed-headed varieties if you are planting very late. The large headed sorts may be set out the first of September and will usually make heads, especially if of the medium early sorts.

Sudan Grass for Pasture.

Sudan grass furnishes good pasture for horses, cattle, sheep or hogs. It is best not to pasture a young seeding until it is about a foot high. By this time it will have become firmly rooted and under average conditions will not be injured much from trampling and pulling by animals. A hay crop can be cut about the last of July and an abundance of succulent pasture secured throughout August when other pastures are burned up, or it can be pastured the early part of the summer and a hay crop secured afterward. The crop also may be cut and fed green with good results.

BEST AND EARLIEST EARS FOR SEED CORN

Quite Practicable to Allow It to Ripen on Plant.

Examine Grain Carefully, Removing Any Worms Found and Then-Fold Back in Place and Tie With Elastic Band or String.

The best way to secure home-grown sweet corn seed, according to United States department of agriculture specialists, is to allow it to ripen on the plant, and, since a single ear will be seed enough for a small garden, it is quite practicable to do this. Select the best and earliest ears by stripping down the husks to examine the grain and to remove any worms that may be found, and then carefully fold them back and hold them in place by an elastic band or a string. Allow these ears to ripen thoroughly on the stalk. In the North it is often better to pull and hang the plant where there will be no danger from moisture, frost, or even chilling until the seed is thoroughly dry. All the ripe ears remaining at the end of the season in any crop of sweet corn should be harvested.

Well-Formed, Properly Dried Sweet Corn for Seed—Crosby's Early.

and saved. The best ears will make fairly good seed, and nearly everyone knows the enjoyment in parched sweet corn.

MOLD IN SILO PREVENTABLE

Use of Plenty of Water at Filling Time Will Overcome Difficulty—Pack Thoroughly.

The use of plenty of water at silo filling time is one of the surest ways of avoiding difficulty from molds if the corn has been frosted or has become overripe. If one has the facilities for running a steady stream of water into the blower and at the same time is careful to see that the tramping is thoroughly done, the loss from molds can be made almost negligible. As a matter of fact, it is possible to entirely prevent the growth of molds if the corn is cut at the proper time and thoroughly distributed and tramped in an air-tight silo. What air remains after this is done is used up in the fermentation process which begins as soon as the corn is ensiled—the oxygen being converted into carbonic acid gas and silage acids.

IMPROVEMENT OF GAME BIRDS

Pulaski County, Virginia, Continues as Leader in Stock Improvement Campaign.

The aggressive character of livestock improvement activities in Pulaski county, Virginia, is illustrated by a recent staidlight in the "Better Stock" movement. A poultry man enrolled his 50 Indian Game (Cornish) headed by an Indian Game cock in the campaign. He kept no other stock.

Care for Broody Hens.

Do not mistreat broody hens by the abusive methods so often recommended, but make them comfortable, feed them well, and keep them supplied with water.

Farm Bureau Movement.

The growth of the farm bureau movement is one of the hopeful things in the progress of American agriculture.

RIBBONS GROW IN IMPORTANCE

RIBBONS, which have so long been accessory to everything in apparel, have progressed until they enter into the making of as many garments as they have adorned. They are present in every sort of dress, from the simplest street frock to the most complicated evening gown—not merely as accessories, but as a part of the garment, or as its trimming. At the same time they flourish in necessities and in millinery as never before. The new season will bring us tailored clothes with ribbon vests or with ribbon ruffles for trimming, or ribbon applique and simulated embroideries, and numberless ribbon garnishings, and adornments on an interesting and evening dresses promise an afternoon, even of which we had the beginning in the early spring.

Wide Variety in Blouses

THERE are two points on which the creators of blouses and snooks appear to agree; they are materials and the management of the neckline. In everything else each appears to be independent of the other, but these two items are enough to give the styles coherence. Voile, batiste, crepe de chine, silk shirtings and satin answer for heavier ones, and in style there is everything from very manly, high-necked shirts with narrow plaited bosoms, high collars, long sleeves, to elaborately embroidered georgette affairs with short sleeves and neck either round or having a collar. With all this variety the blouses, especially those of sheer cottons, are unusually tame.

The hand-made blouse, in fine cotton, continues to do honor to needle woman, holding first place as a dainty utility garment for daily wear. In the estimation of the best dressed women, these blouses are prettily decorated with drawn work, hemstitching, fine tucks, platings and trimmings of lace, still holding its own as the best choice in laces. Many of the tailored blouses are long sleeved, as they should be, but there are plenty of exceptions to the rule in this matter. The three-quarter length sleeve is a happy compromise between the popular elbow and the long sleeve. The best liked collars are those that are high at the back, with a "U"-shaped opening at the front. They are made of the same material as the blouse and trimmed to correspond.

One of the new blouses, shown above, emphasizes embroidery. The front is extended into a peplum and is covered with it. Since there is so much of it in this position it is necessary to practice some reticence in the rest of the blouse; therefore the sleeves have none and are finished with a binding. The round neck is allowed a very simple pattern outlining its shape. The collar contrasts are not bold, but pleasing and soft.

Scoped Up on Each Side. One of the smartest little black tafetas shown this year had a tunic long in front and back and scooped up high on each side. The edge was corded and finished with a six-inch fall of black lace. The bodice was rather quaint and long and the sleeves and neck finished with two frills of pale organdie. The frills of the collar were detached at the front, where they were tied together with a black tiny tie that the "U" filed in with a flat piece of yellow organdie. The collar was also held down by six tiny organdie buttons on each side. Pockets on the skirt were composed of black lace and trimmed with little bunches of fruit. Lace flouncing and accordion plaited chiffons has made some of the finest of summer frocks. In fact lace is having its best day.

Fashionable Hat and Veil. A plain straw or taffeta toque draped with a veil is charming, and the latest fashion is to catch it lightly to one shoulder.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By MARY GRAHAM BOWEN

DOG AND CAT.

"Think the dog, and Zeppy, the cat, were talking," said Daddy.

"Think was sitting inside a screened piazza and Zeppy was sitting outside.

"Of course, they were great friends and the reason one was outside and the other inside was because 'Chink' had been napping and Zeppy had 'chink' out for an airing. They belonged to the same lady, they were very happy and very friendly.

"I really would be ashamed," said Zeppy, "if I had to have screens and mosquito netting put up because of me. Why the mosquitoes and flies haven't got any decent pride.

"They don't mind if they're not asked in. They don't even mind if they have screens put up on piazzas and in windows to keep them out.

"If they get a chance to get in they will just the same. Now I am outside of course, but all I have to do is meow and I am allowed in, and if you are out you know what you have to do to get in."

"Of course," said Chink, "all I have to do is stand in front of the door and wag my tail and they let me in. I am really invited in whenever I want to go in. I am a member of the family as you are. But I cannot understand the ways of mosquitoes and the ways of flies who will come in even when things are made so plain that they must stay out.

"Now it is true that here on the farm they put up scarecrows to look like men to scare the crows away.

"But the actions of crows are a little more easily understood. The crows simply want a meal, they do not want to come around and bite people and make them uncomfortable.

"Every time though that I look at the make-believe crow on the entrance to the gate of the garden I feel like talking to him and saying:

"They Let Me In."

"Well, old boy, those two scarecrows in the fields beyond are put up for you."

"He looks so real sitting there on the fence."

"I knew he wasn't real," said Zeppy, "for I sat and watched him for ever so long and he didn't caw. I went up to him and I asked him if he couldn't caw.

"My dear fellow," I said to him, "are you quite dumb, can't you speak?" And he didn't say a word.

"So I knew he was a make-believe crow for between not making-believe and not moving one could tell.

"And then a day or so afterwards I saw the lady who looks after us all pick up the crow and fix him so he looks in another direction as she put him and then I knew he wasn't real.

"I am glad I'm not a make-believe cat. If I were a make-believe cat I wouldn't be given any milk."

"You wouldn't want any milk if you were a make-believe cat," said Chink.

"Oh, but once I passed a house, and outside were two make-believe lions. Their mouths were open and I felt so sorry that they couldn't be given bones and big chunks of meat and that they couldn't roar."

"Well, I never before knew you to care so much for other creatures," laughed Chink.

"I'm feeling sorry for make-believe creatures, not for real ones," grinned Zeppy.

"Did you hear that the youngest kitten of Mrs. Black Cat was playing with a key she got out of the pantry door and she lost it and that no one could get it into the pantry and there was a terrible time? They had to break the lock."

"Why, what exciting news you have to tell. No, I didn't hear that. Well, well, and did they send the kitten to bed without any milk for supper?"

"They didn't for she was too young, she didn't know any better."

"Ah, it is nice to be friends," said Zeppy.

"Fine, fine, me-ow, me-ow," said Zeppy. "But it is beyond me as I said in the first place to understand creatures like mosquitoes and flies who get all the hints that they aren't wanted and still haven't pride enough to stay away."

"It is something I cannot understand either," said Chink.

LIGHTNING

By CORONA REMINGTON.

(©, 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"I'll never get over it—I'll never get over it! What's the use of trying to cure me?"

Corinne Benton turned her young face to the wall and indulged in another delicious bout of weeping. Doctor Westover sat patiently at her bedside until the storm was over. Then he tried to reason with her.

"I'm older than you are, my child, and my experience has proved that most young people run onto the shoals in their first love affair, and ordinarily they get over it with surprising rapidity.

"As to trying to cure you, you have nothing the matter but a little attack of nerves, and a few months of good hard work will straighten them out; so tomorrow we're going to see about taking a business course. I've talked it all over with your parents and they approve most heartily."

Corinne tried to pacify the doctor with one of her horrible looks, but if he was in the least affected he showed no signs and a minute later gave his patient a hearty handshake and left the room whistling. Indeed, so unimpressed did he appear that the girl began to fear that her features had failed to register the unexpressed disgust she had felt for anyone so hopelessly flippant and heartless. She must be developing facial paralysis or something, she decided.

"All ready!" said the doctor to Corinne a few days later. "We're going down to start that business course this morning. I have a young protegee that graduates in medicine this June. He'll be the office, so I'll engage you right now for him. Let's get busy."

"You're a perfect brute, and I just hate you!" Corinne found the energy to stamp her foot with emphasis.

"I guess I can bear up under that, too," said the doctor with unflinching good nature.

It was a hard fight, but Westover finally won, and as the days went by Corinne was disgusted to notice the return of color to her cheeks. At any rate she thought she would never get over the love tragedy, even if going into the open did make her look healthy again—diseased bodies are curable, but never a crushed soul! As she improved, Doctor Westover saw less and less of his pretty, impetuous little patient.

"You're looking fine!" he would tell her heartily.

"But I'll never get over it," she would always reply. "I'll never love another man."

The doctor would smile to himself as he passed on, but Corinne knew nothing of this—old folks have a right to keep a few secrets to themselves.

With June came the zealous young Doctor Mann and the girl was duly installed. He was a big six-foot man who dressed well, spoke rapidly and had a lightning smile which he flashed with frequency and impartiality on all living things. He loved life, he loved people and he was possessed of a keen sympathy.

Naturally, the patients did not flock to his doors immediately, and both the young people had plenty of time on their hands. Corinne read a great deal and dabbled at fancywork, but the doctor had read himself almost into a frenzy for six long years and fancywork was not in his line, so things were decidedly slow for him.

"I say, Miss Benton," he exclaimed one morning, appearing from the inner office. "It's dull as blazes today. Couldn't we go into my consulting room and have a game of checkers?"

He looked almost sheepish and very boyish as he stood before Corinne.

"I guess so," she answered slowly. "But I'll never forget him," she declared loyally to herself as she glanced at the lightning smile.

They played checkers a great deal that summer, those two. To be sure, his practice grew steadily, but there were still many unfiled, and the young man's mania for checkers became more acute the more he played.

It would reach the point where they would get so absorbed that they would fail to keep an ear open for patients in the outer room, and one day they kept Mrs. Conington flashily waiting nearly an hour, as she testily informed them when they finally appeared.

"My dear madam," the doctor said suavely. "I'm sorry that you had to wait, but we were attending to an important matter."

That same evening—it was December then—Doctor Westover ran right into his little ex-patient as she started home. "Hello there!" he greeted. "Haven't seen you in a coon's age. How are you getting along with Mann?"

"Oh, all right; but I'll never forget him," she ended in her usual way. "Forget whom?" asked the doctor.

"You know," replied the girl in injured tones.

"Oh, that other chap," said Westover, appearing to remember. "That's a fact—I'll have to give Mann a hint, because I believe he's beginning to care for you, and I'd be a darn shame to let the poor fellow chase a rabbit."

"No, no! Don't you ever dare!" exclaimed the girl tensely.

"Why not, I'd like to know?"

"Because—because it's none of his business," she ended weakly.

"Oh, all right," said Doctor Westover as he smiled to himself in the dark.

Yet to Be Determined. American Punch declares that an London newspaper has announced the grafting of a tomato shoot upon a potato plant so as to obtain a crop of fruit above ground with roots below.

"But," says Punch, "the article doesn't state whether the plant should be known as the 'potato' or the 'tomato.'"

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Tomah—The open season on big corn stories has now started and Monroe county presents its first offering. On the W. Zahrtz place, a few miles north of Tomah, Albert Zahrtz planted seed of the Wisconsin No. 7. A sample stalk was brought to the Montfort-Herald office which measured 13 feet 10 inches in height and the top ear was 8 feet 8 inches above the ground...

Madison—Two Vilas county women have come out as candidates for county offices at the general election this fall. The offices to which the women aspire are those of county clerk and register of deeds, in both of which they are at present deputies. Miss Mary Hour is seeking election as county clerk and Miss Fern Scott as register of deeds. The fact that they have filled the positions of deputies satisfactorily has led to their seeking the more important higher places.

Horicon—To relieve the shortage of homes and to provide better accommodations for the families of the men who are working in the large factories in Horicon, the Van Brunt Co. is building comfortable cottages with modern conveniences, two stories in height with a basement and finished in accordance with the tastes of those who take them over from the company at the actual cost of construction. The plan is to open the way for employees of the company to secure homes of their own.

Beaver Dam—The harness horse races at the Dodge county fair to be held in Beaver Dam Sept. 27, 28, 29 and 30 and Oct. 1 promise to be better than usual. The speed program purse will be $5,900, which is $1,150 more than was offered in 1919. The manufacturing firms of Beaver Dam have offered purses this year that will bring more speedy horses to the Dodge county race track to compete. The entries will close Wednesday, Sept. 22.

Sheboygan—Jacob Jung, Sr., has received a letter from the General committee of the German Red Cross society, Berlin, acknowledging the receipt of a car load of provisions which were shipped by county committees for the relief of sufferers in Germany and Austria. The car load, which contained chiefly perishable groceries, was loaded here June 1, and reached Hamburg, Germany in a short time.

Sheboygan—Henry Stein, one of the first mail carriers in the city and the oldest employee of the postoffice here, in point of service and years, has formally resigned his position, with a government pension of $69 a month. He was presented with a gold watch chain and charm by his fellow workers and Postmaster Knauf. Mr. Stein delivered mail here for the past thirty-three years.

Rhineland—Fred R. Wedge, former pastor of the First Baptist church of this city, and former saloon keeper, lumberjack and prize fighter, is now principal of the high school in Benson, Ariz. Wedge left the prize ring for the pulpit when he killed an opponent in the ring in San Francisco. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin.

Antigo—The assessment of ten leading manufacturing companies in Antigo shows an increase from 1919 to 1920 of from $921,150 to $1,425,181, an increase of 55 per cent. The assessment of the Langlade Lumber company was increased from $285,750 to $438,180. Some of the companies voluntarily increase their assessments, by a large percentage.

Ashland—Fifteen rural schools in Ashland county are without teachers, despite the fact that the school year opens in September, according to Thomas O'Connell, county superintendent. The highest salary paid in the county's rural schools is $100 a month. Five years ago the average was $40.

Superior—Because they had been overseas soldiers, and had made no effort to sell their liquor, Arthur Balke, August Tretin and Charles Tretin, indicted for the manufacture of moonshine, were called upon in Federal court to pay fines of only $1 each. They were warned, however, that a second offense would cost them more.

Madison—The municipal information department of the University of Wisconsin has compiled a schedule of tax rates in the cities of Wisconsin. The highest valuation in any of Wisconsin's 132 cities listed this year was 140.46 per cent of true valuation, and the lowest valuation was 57 per cent.

Marinette—A community agricultural and livestock fair will be held Oct. 8 at Goodman, Marinette county. It will be largely confined to displays by new settlers in the town of Goodman and vicinity. Merchants and lumber manufacturers have donated liberal premiums.

Sheboygan—Charles Neck, 84, pioneer and veteran of the Civil war, died at his home here. He had lived in the residence where he passed away for the past 55 years. His aged wife and two sons survive.

Marinette—The annual Marinette county grain and potato shows will take place at the Stephenson Training and Agricultural school at Marinette, Nov. 5 and 6. These shows are preliminary to the state grain and potato shows, in which Marinette county always has been a strong exhibitor.

La Crosse—Thieves, making their getaway in an automobile truck headed for Winona, broke into the creamery at Galesville and stole 300 pounds of butter valued at $165.

Sheboygan—Sheriff William Brockmann and Police Chief Henry G. DeBne are on the first lap of a 12,000 mile journey to Sydney, Australia, to bring back Ed. Pooler, wanted here in connection with a daylight holdup perpetrated by Pooler and his son, Calvin when they lured young Canisius of this city into a hallway on the main street here on March 1, and robbed the youth of $800 in cash. The son is serving a six-year sentence in Waupun for his participation in this crime. The elder Pooler succeeded in evading the officers of the law and made his escape to Australia, where he was apprehended by the authorities and is being held.

Birchwood—Barron county has again come to the front as a fruit-raising section, worthy of note. During the cherry season, the Sullivan farm near Barron, was one of many to produce excellent cherries. Now the apple crop of that county seems to occupy the center of the stage. Apples from last year's crop, produced on the Perry Nicklow farm at West Dallas, are nearly as perfect now, both as to firmness and flavor, as the day they were picked. These apples were of the Malinda variety.

La Crosse—Charging that he was without cause or provocation, taken to the common jail in the city hall and held incommunicado for nearly forty-eight hours, despite his requests for counsel or the use of the telephone, H. L. Brown, a railroad employe, has brought suit for $5,000 against Patrolman Blain Thompson and Night Desk Sgt. John P. Wendling, alleging false imprisonment. Brown was arrested as a "peeper" suspect, according to the police.

Sheboygan—According to the American Contractor's resume of building statistics from large cities for July, compared with the same month for the previous year, Sheboygan took first place in the state in the gain in building construction and is second only to Milwaukee in the total amount of construction work authorized. The total amount is $500,824 against $71,819 for July, 1919, or a gain of 60.4 per cent.

Merrill—The Rev. Oscar Montan, Ironwood, was elected president of the Ogemia district of the Luther league at the business session held here. John Burman, Bessemer, was elected vice-president; Miss Eva Swedberg, Rhineland, secretary; Miss Esther Johnson, Wausau, treasurer, and Miss Emma Wariand, Wisconsin Rapids, clerk, to prepare and file the statistical report.

Eau Claire—Harry Zimmerman, a machinist in the Omaha shops at Altoona, remembers Ponzi, the coupon financier, when he was a prisoner in the federal prison at Atlanta where Zimmerman was then a guard. Ponzi went by another name, or several, at that time, Zimmerman said, but he recognized his picture at once and recalled him as being "shrewd but crooked."

Madison—In the last issue of its market news letter, the market division says that in spite of the increased yield of apples this year, prices will not differ much from those of last year. This is partly accounted for by the fact that supplies of all kinds cost more this year. Barrels, for example, are selling at $1.25 to $1.50 apiece, and hard to get at that.

Tomah—Virgil Gustin, 13, of Tunnel City, Monroe county, is a hunter of prowess and accuracy of aim. He shot and killed a large fox which had, during the season, killed more than 100 young chickens from his father's coops. The youthful hunter not only saved the family flock of chickens, but has received the state bounty of $40.

Rhineland—The 21,000 pound allotment of T. N. T. for Oneida county has been sold to farmers and shipments will be made Sept. 1. Thousands of acres of cut-over land have been cleared in Oneida county this summer as a result of the government T. N. T. being issued to the new settlers at 10 cents a pound.

Sheboygan—At its regular meeting the city council by adopting a committee report, placed the matter of bonding the city for $200,000 for a new bridge on North Eighth street in the hands of the voters of the city, who will decide the matter at the November elections.

Manitowoc—Miss Lillian Chloupek has been appointed county superintendent of schools to fill the unexpired term of Joseph W. Voboril, resigned. The appointment was made by State Superintendent Cary. Miss Chloupek is one of two women holding county superintendentcies in Wisconsin.

Eau Claire—Prof. A. Blume, who lives on a farm near Cheek, was brought to Eau Claire with his lower jaw fractured in three places as the result of a kick from a horse. The attending physicians had to wire the broken parts together.

Eau Claire—George Tibbitts, a liveryman, was fined $400 and costs by Judge James Wickham in circuit court for stealing four automobile tires from the Tanberg Auto Co. In addition he must make restitution amounting to $87.80.

Rhineland—Mayor S. G. Perinier, City Clerk Thomas Wight, Aldermen Joslin and Stoltz will represent this city at the convention of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities which will be held in La Crosse in September.

Marshfield—Herman Martin, 29, met death by electrocution at the Booth Campbell retail lumber yard warehouse, where he was employed. Martin attempted to change the location of an electric light wire. His death was almost instantaneous.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Home-folks! Well, that's our name, to me. Things jibe the same as poetry—That's, if poetry is it! As sweet as I've heard tell it!

PICNIC LUNCHEES.

During the season for camping foods easy to carry and prepare for serving are justly popular. Bread which is very nice for sandwiches and one which will keep for several days is:

Lunch Cake.—Take one cupful of sugar, one egg, three-fourths of a cup of chopped or broken walnuts, two and one-fourth cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt. Mix flour, baking powder and salt, beat the egg, add sugar, milk and flour, stir in the nuts and bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven.

Doughnuts.—Cream three tablespoonfuls of butter, add three-fourths of a cup of sugar, the yolks of three eggs and one white, one cupful of freshly mashed potato, one-fourth of a cupful of milk, two and one-half cups of flour, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, cream the butter, add the sugar, then the eggs. Stir the potato and milk. Add the flour gradually and use more if necessary. The less flour the better cakes. Fry in deep fat. These cakes will keep moist much longer than those prepared without potato.

Sandwiches are always well liked and there is such a variety that everybody may enjoy the kind he likes. The following are a few of the many: Mince hard boiled eggs, grated cheese, seasoned with mustard. Sardines made to a paste with lemon juice. Thin slices of roast veal covered with chopped pickles. Equal parts of chicken and cold cooked ham, finely minced and seasoned with curry powder. Prunes chopped with half the quantity of walnut meats, seasoned with lemon juice and powdered sugar. Cucumbers, grated onion and mayonnaise. Cottage cheese, jam or marmalade. Chopped figs and peanuts seasoned with lemon juice. Lettuce with mayonnaise. Chopped onion and salad dressing with slices of radish.

Oh! Home Folks! You're the best of all! At ranges this terrestrial ball—But north or south, or east or west It's home is where you're at your best. —Riley.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS. A very good pie may be made using a combination of prunes and rhubarb. Stew the prunes, using a cupful of prunes to two cupfuls of rhubarb. If both are cooked the combination may be put into a baked shell and covered with a meringue, otherwise the mixture is sweetened and covered with a crust. A few jars of canned vegetables put up for the very little people is a good investment. The mixture especially recommended is spinach, carrots, a stalk of celery and an onion, all processed together and sealed. In the winter this may be served as a vegetable or put through a sieve and served as a puree. Chicken Soup With Vegetables.—Peel a quart of small onions and boil until tender, changing the water three times. Line a soup tureen with thin slices of toast, covered with onion, add one pint of cooked peas and two quarts of boiling chicken stock. Serve immediately. Coffee Blanc Mince.—Take two cupfuls each of coffee and milk. Add four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch to four tablespoonfuls of sugar. Cook until it thickens, then pour into a wet mold to chill. Serve with cream and sugar; cream may be either plain or whipped. Flap Jacks.—Use any good griddle cake butter and cook the cakes the size of a tea plate. Spread with butter, sprinkle with brown sugar, or, better, maple sugar, and, lacking either, jelly or jam; pile in layers of six; cut and serve like pie. Tuna Fish Salad.—Soak one-half envelope of gelatin in one-fourth cupful of cold water, add three-fourths of a cupful of hot salad dressing or dissolve over hot water; add one-half cupful of chopped celery, one green pepper, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika, mix and turn into individual molds rinsed in cold water. Turn out on crisp lettuce and garnish with minced parsley or a spray of parsley on top.

The Lord Needed No Help. The cook in a southern family, a "mammy" of the type now passing, was assured by two surgeons whose services had been enlisted by her employer that her condition was such that an immediate operation was necessary. Mammy listened respectfully but declined their service in the following terms: "I's jest as much obliged to you gentlemen as I kin be, but ef de deah Lawd has done made up his mind to call me home, I reckon he kin translate me without no assistance."

FAMOUS OLD BOSTON ABODE

Province House, Once One of the Most Famous Colonial Mansions, Has Been Partially Preserved.

There stands today on Bowdoin court in Boston but a portion of the old Province house, a most interesting relic of Colonial days; and the rest of the court is lined with modern office buildings. But in 1820 it was considered a very genteel part of town. Oliver Wendell Holmes lived in the old Province house for 18 years.

At the farther end of the court stands an iron-wrought archway, decorative of design, which was used in the early part of the nineteenth century as an entrance to the governor's garden, a part of the Province house grounds. This has been carefully preserved, as have the stone steps which lead to the lower level. The Province house was immortalized by Hawthorne in his "Twice-Told Tales."

The historic staircase now is gone, and only a portion of the exterior of the house is left. It was built in 1697 by Peter Sargent, a wealthy London merchant, and was considered one of the handsomest residences in town. During the days of its popularity the governor gave many balls there.

After Using. The woman was the author of a cookery book that had been published at her request with wide margins and occasional blank pages for notes and additional recipes.

Often she had expressed a wish to see an old copy of the book and find out what use the blank spaces had been put. One day in a second-hand book store her husband unearthed an old volume. Noticing that it had been annotated freely, he bought it. After a day or two he said: "How about the notes in that cookery book? Were they interesting?" "No," she said curtly; "they didn't amount to anything."

When he got a chance he looked through the book himself. Every note the book contained was a remedy for dyspepsia and kindred ailments.—Dallas News.

Appropriate Material. "What are you going to wear to the garden party?" "What else should I wear but a lawn dress?"

The High Price of Sugar makes one welcome foods which are rich in natural sweetness. Grape-Nuts —the ready-cooked cereal—requires no added sweetening, for it contains its own pure grain sugar, developed from wheat and barley by twenty hours' baking. Sprinkle Grape-Nuts over ripe fruit or berries and you'll save sugar.

MISTAKEN IN HIS SURMISE

Mr. Brown Somewhat Hasty in Blaming the Gramophone for Those Unearthly Sounds.

Perfect peace reigned in the Brown household. The head of the family, his day's work over, was reading, in blissful anticipation of the evening meal which Mrs. Brown was busy preparing in the kitchen.

The gentle stillness was suddenly broken by eerie sounds, apparently coming from the next house—a weird moaning, developing into heart-rending wails and harrowing shrieks. Mr. Brown jumped up.

"It's Mrs. Wood's confounded gramophone playing Tosti's 'Goodbye,'" he cried. "Lizzie!—to his oldest daughter—'go and implore her to stop it! Tell her I'll tell her we're all ill, anything you like, only make her leave off!"

The child obediently hurried out, and two minutes later came rushing back.

"It's not Mrs. Wood's gramophone, dad," she said. "It's the Marphys down the street opening a tin of corned beef!"

AND THAT WOULD BE ENOUGH!

Surgeon Knew Just Exactly How Much Talkative Convalescing Patient Would Suffer.

She is a talkative young school teacher and he a surgeon, who is not much given to speech. Recently when he operated on her, her chattering during the operation almost drove him mad. After the operation, though, he forgot all about that and did all he could to alleviate her suffering.

The fourth day he dressed her wounds and made her comfortable in every way he could. Then she began to chatter and asked him question after question, the last one being, "Doctor, how am I really now?"

He remembered his experience with her talkative little tongue before the operation. "Oh, you're getting along splendidly," he retorted. "In fact all the suffering you will now have to endure is just to keep quiet."

FIRE TRAGEDIES

With sympathy for the bereaved and the injured and as a warning to the living we give a few of the fire tragedies in Wisconsin during the first half of this year.
 Forty-seven died and seventy-three were injured during that period through fire. Mr. Burleton poured kerosene on kindling. Miss Moesch used gasoline to start a fire. Mrs. Lowar poured kerosene on a sluggish fire. Baby Hamer set the ravelings of his overalls on fire with a match. Children built a fire in the basement in the mother's absence and two year old Olaf Boese suffocated. Four year old Mary Gajdous played around the kitchen fire with paper. Little Esther Lang's clothes caught fire from the kitchen stove. Six year old Louise Sanders clothing caught fire while she was alone in the house. Children set fire to the clothing of the two year old Malkin Child. Evelyn Hoff's dress ignited from a bonfire. Mrs. Alexander stepped backward into a bonfire. Mrs. Johnson went too close to a brush fire. Rose Tochowick used benzine stove polish on a hot stove. Archie Stewart carried a lighted kerosene stove. Mrs. Rodgers clothing caught fire from a pan of live coals she was carrying. Mr. Legaiso lighted a match while repairing an auto tank. Mr. Ide drew gasoline from his auto tank, an explosion occurred. Steve Miner used gasoline to thaw up the ground, the can exploded. The son left some gasoline in a pail and Mrs. Spaeth poured it into the kitchen stove reservoir. On his hospital bed a boy told how he started a fire:
 "You takes de waste, den you takes de gasoline and slops it over de waste, and den you lights de match—bang."
 Mr. Irish fainted while carrying a lighted lamp. Mrs. Suenmich's dress caught fire from embers under the soap kettle. Mrs. Tutthill was burned when overheated lard caught fire. Francis Crooks raked some rubbish into a fire, when an explosion occurred. Hot ashes in a wooden box set Anthony Pluta's house on fire during the night. Mr. Girtzdorf built a good fire and went back to bed. Fire awakened him. An aluminum dust explosion at Manitowoc caused six deaths and five injuries. Helen cleaned a pair of gloves with gasoline near a kitchen stove. Avoid carelessness and protect life, limb and property.

ORDER THE STATESMAN TODAY

The Power of the Hour

MECHANICAL power is stepping swiftly into the breach that has been formed by restless, dissatisfied labor. This is true in the city and it is true on the farm.

Today Titan 10-20 Tractors are the labor-saving power of the hour on the farms of America. Everywhere, reaching to the farthest boundaries of agriculture, you will hear the steady chug-chug of these tireless toilers. They are displacing men and horses and getting more work per day from available farm labor. Soon summer following will be under way in many sections of the country, and there you will find Titan 10-20 Kerosene Tractors working faithfully from sun-up to sun-down, undisturbed by heat or flies, turning the hard-baked ground in the interests of bumper crops.

New Titans are scarce just now, due to unprecedented demand, and the fact that every user of a Titan 10-20 is a Booster is the best of reasons for you to act at once to secure one of the very few available.

Come in and let us show you why you should buy a Titan 10-20 Farm Tractor.

The Samson Model "M" tractor will pull two 14-inch plows at all times and three 14-inch plows under favorable conditions.

SAMSON Model "M" Tractor

THE Samson Tractor is the last word in modern tractor construction. It is not like the average heavy tractor, that weighs so much it takes a large per cent of its own power for self propulsion—it is a close-coupled power unit protected against dust, mud or rain. The Model "M" is capable of pulling two 14-inch plows at all times and three 14-inch plows under favorable conditions. It must be seen—for then only can you appreciate it. Compare it weight for weight—point for point—price for price—field and belt performance, with any other tractor made and the Samson will be your choice.

75,000 RUSSIANS TAKEN BY POLES

Soviet Armies Which Invaded Poland Are on the Eve of Great Disaster.

MOSCOW ADMITS BIG LOSS

Polish Forces Capture Town of Grudsk and Cut Off Retreat of Bolsheviki Troops—German Found Among Prisoners.

Copenhagen, Aug. 24.—The Poles have recaptured Bialystok after desperate resistance by the bolsheviki, says a dispatch to the Berlingske Tidende from Warsaw.

Koenigsberg, East Prussia, Aug. 24.—Seven thousand Russian soviet soldiers with their equipment have crossed the German frontier in the region of Willenberg, East Prussia. They were disarmed and interned.

Warsaw, Aug. 24.—The process of bottling up the Russian troops on the northern front between Prussia and the Vistula has been completed, according to an official statement. The Poles have closed the gateway of escape, taking prisoners and material in such quantities it is impossible to count them.

One Polish infantry division alone took 5,000 prisoners and 16 guns.

The soviet forces which have been menacing Lemberg from the east and south have commenced to retreat under pressure, due, the statement says, to the continued Polish advance along the entire central and northern fronts.

At one time General Budenny, the soviet cavalry leader, was within nine miles of Lemberg, but has been thrown back in a southwesterly direction. All the Russians in this region are in full retreat.

Twenty-two cannon were taken during the advance on the central front under the personal command of President Pilsudski, the Poles occupying Zambrow and Mazowieck, southeast of Louza, and crossing the line of the Narw south of Bialystok, 120 miles northeast of Warsaw.

The Russian retreat continues in the general direction of Grodno and eastward.

Polish forces were endeavoring to cut off the retreat of four Russian soviet armies or force them into German territory. On the extreme Polish left the soviet cavalry was defeated and driven out of Soldau and the regions occupied by the Russians in the north. Vistula area between Thorn and Plock.

Paris, Aug. 24.—The number of Russian soviet prisoners captured in the Polish counteroffensive will amount to 75,000, according to Warsaw advices to the French foreign office.

Soviet Russian armies which invaded Poland and threatened to capture Warsaw appear to be on the eve of complete disaster, says the Warsaw correspondent of the Matin. He quotes Gen. Weygand as saying Poland will be the "grave of three-fourths of the bolshevik army."

Two Polish cavalry divisions are advancing toward Bialystok for the evident purpose of cutting off the retreat of soviet troops operating to the north of Warsaw.

Retirement of Russian forces from the city of Brest-Litovsk was officially admitted in a statement issued in Moscow and received by wireless.

Warsaw, Aug. 24.—Polish forces have taken the town of Grudsk, about twelve miles north of Ciechanow and have cut off retreat of the bolshevik forces northwest and north of this city by the way of Minwa and Przasnysz.

The Eighteenth Polish division, which has been attacking Ciechanow, has been met by desperate resistance on the part of enemy detachments covering the retreat of the Fourth soviet army, which last week advanced along the Prussian frontier until it threatened the Polish defenses along the Vistula river.

After capturing Ciechanow the Poles advanced rapidly northward and succeeded in cutting the only direct line railway running eastward from the soviet positions.

Volunteer Polish divisions are now attacking Przasnysz.

Authorities announced that the Poles captured 35,000 prisoners today in their counterattack against the bolshevik. Many guns, thousands of rifles, hundreds of machine guns and munitions carts and a great number of horses also have fallen into their hands.

Thousands are thought to be cut off in the forests awaiting an opportunity to surrender.

Among the 300 bolshevik soldiers killed in the fighting at Minwa were found, it is claimed, a German officer and several German soldiers.

OLYMPIC GAMES END IN STADIUM

American Athletes Carry Off Highest Honors at Antwerp, Belgium.

YANKS JEER FIGHT JUDGES

American Spectators at Olympic Ring-side Walk Out After Protesting Against Decisions Made During Bout.

Antwerp, Aug. 23.—The Olympic athletic events in the stadium closed with the American athletes so far in the lead in the point scoring that they were the winners by a large margin.

The closing contest was held in the rain, with only a handful of spectators present.

Following are the final unofficial scores of the stadium athletics, the field and track events: America, 210 points; Finland, 103; Sweden, 95; England, 92; France, 35; Italy, 28; South Africa, 24; Canada, 10; Norway, 10; Denmark, 9; Estonia, 8; New Zealand, 5; Belgium, 5; Australia, 3; Czechoslovakia, 3; Holland, 2; and Luxembourg, 1.

The 1,600-meter steeplechase, next to the last stadium event, was won by England, with South Africa second, France third, America fourth and Sweden fifth.

Sweden protested the race, claiming it was started from a wrong point of the track. The Olympic committee is considering the protest.

The American team consisted of George S. Schiller, Los Angeles, A. C.; J. E. Meredith, New York, A. C.; George S. Brettnal, Cornell college, Ithaca, N. Y.; Frank J. Shen, United States navy; and the time of the winning team was 3 minutes, 22.15 seconds.

The final heat of the individual cross-country run of nearly ten kilometers was won by Nurni, Finland, in 27:15; Backman, Sweden, second; Lumtainen, Finland, third; J. Wilson, England, fourth; A. Hegarty, England, fifth, and Conquiereur, Italy, sixth.

In the final of the discus throw Niklander of Finland was placed first with a cast of 44.685 meters, with Taipale, Finland, second, with 44.19 meters and A. R. Pope, University of Washington, third with 42.13 meters.

Antwerp, Aug. 23.—Two decisions in the Olympic boxing preliminaries, which ended after midnight, evoked loud jeers and dissenting cries from the Americans present, which others among the spectators sought to drown with hisses and booms.

The uproar continued for several minutes and culminated in virtually all the Americans present walking out. Most of the American spectators were army and navy officers.

The objections of the Americans were first voiced over the decision in the bout between E. Hartman, American, and Walker, South African. During the first three rounds Walker was floored twice, but the Americans evinced surprise when the bout was declared a draw and an extra round was ordered, at the close of which Walker was declared the winner.

This decision drew from the Americans shouts of dissatisfaction, but a Belgian was awarded the decision over S. Vogel, Pastime A. C.

The second, which for a time was threatening, was calmed, and the program was concluded with F. de Genor, Paulist A. C., American, outpointing a Frenchman in a neat and speedy bout, which made the thirteenth American victory out of seventeen bouts in the preliminaries.

THIEVES GET $100,000

Grab Pouch of Payroll Cash at Pullman, Ill.

Bag Is Snatched From the Hand of a 13-Year-Old Helper at Station.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A mail pouch, containing $100,000 in currency, was stolen from the platform of the Illinois Central railroad station at Pullman.

The money was being sent by a bank to Pullman, to be used for payroll in plants there.

The bag was ripped from the hands of a thirteen-year-old helper about the station as he was lugging it from the station mail chute to the post office delivery cart.

It had been dropped off the suburban mail train, which arrived in Pullman from Chicago at 2:02 in the afternoon.

The boy was Leo Wilgus, 11316 Langley avenue. The janitor of the station was nearby, and on the platform a crowd of station followers and passengers waiting for suburban trains.

As the lad attempted to lift the pouch into the post office cart, an elderly man, gray-haired, his eyes shielded behind horn-rimmed spectacles, appeared beside him and said: "Here boy I'll give you a hand with that."

Seizing the bag, the stranger tossed it into a black Marmon car parked five feet away.

Chicago's young Wilgus could cry out, a runaway man, sitting at the steering wheel of the car, had turned on the gas and the automobile sped north in Cottage Grove avenue. There was a third companion in the car.

FIGHT FOR VOTES IS WON BY WOMEN

Thirty-Six States Have Ratified Amendment.

TENNESSEE FALLS INTO LINE

Washington Is the Thirty-Fifth—Seventy Years of Struggle for Equal Suffrage—Features and Some Immortal Names.

Washington.—American women have won their fight for votes. Washington and Tennessee have ratified the constitutional amendment, making 36 states out of 48.

Upon the opening March 22 of the special sessions of the legislatures of Washington and Delaware, the woman suffrage situation in the United States was briefly this:

Amendment to the Constitution passed by congress June 4, 1919, as drafted in 1875 by Susan B. Anthony: "The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." Ratification necessary by legislatures of three-fourths of the 48 states of the Union.

Amendment ratified by 34 states, beginning with Wisconsin, June 4, 1919, and ending with West Virginia March 30, 1920. Constitutionality of Ohio ratification before the United States Supreme court.

Amendment defeated by six states between September 12, 1919, and February 17, 1920, as follows, in the order named: Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland.

Connecticut and Vermont—No regular sessions until 1921. Governors had refused to call special sessions. Florida and Tennessee—Cannot vote in 1920 because of constitutional provision requiring election to intervene between submission of amendment and action on it.

Louisiana—Legislature to meet in June; small hope of ratification. North Carolina—Legislature to meet in special session in August. Gov. Thomas W. Bickett had declared his intention to ask for ratification.

Washington promptly ratified. Delaware and Louisiana refused. The governors of Connecticut, Florida and Vermont refused to call special sessions. The United States Supreme court upheld the Ohio ratification on the ground that no state constitution had the authority to change in any detail the method which the United States Constitution itself provides for its amendment.

This decision cleared the way for the special session in Tennessee, which began August 9.

It is seventy years since the organized movement for woman suffrage was begun in the United States. In 1848 Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton called the first Woman's Rights convention at Seneca Falls, N. Y.

Susan B. Anthony.

Y., which launched a "Declaration of Sentiments" and passed a resolution demanding equal suffrage. These are two immortal names in American history. Lucretia Mott (1793-1880) was born in Nantucket, Mass., of Quaker parents. After teaching, she became an "acknowledged minister" of the Friends. She married James Mott, who worked with his wife against slavery.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton (1815-1902) was born in Johnstown, N. Y. She married in 1840 Henry B. Stanton, a journalist and anti-slavery speaker.

CULTIVATED CHESTNUTS.

Southern Californians are wondering whether the growing of the sweet chestnut is not destined to be one of the coming industries of the state. The appearance of a fine row of chestnut trees on the outskirts of the city of Santa Ana, in Orange county, California, suggested to a recent eastern visitor the fact that the chestnut as a future crop for California may rival before many years the enormous walnut output.

From 1860 to 1863 she was president of the National Woman Suffrage association. She was the joint author of "History of Woman Suffrage" (1875-8) and "Eighty Years of More" (1885) is her autobiography.

A third name is that of Susan B. Anthony (1820-1906). She joined with Lucretia Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton in organizing the woman suffrage movement. She became in time the real leader of the movement; certainly she was its first militant suffragist. Born in Adams, Mass., she came of Quaker stock, and early devoted herself to "temperance" (the prohibition of those days) and to the abolition of slavery.

In 1875 Miss Anthony drafted the amendment to the Constitution which has now been ratified. In 1878 the amendment was introduced in the senate by Senator Sargent of California. It was defeated in 1887 and thereafter was not even debated in congress until 1914.

During the years the Constitutional amendment campaign was making no progress the women won many victories in the states, securing full suffrage in 15; presidential suffrage in 12 and partial suffrage in several others.

The National American Woman Suffrage association in 1912 opened headquarters in Washington and began an active campaign for the passage of the amendment. In 1916 it established branch headquarters there which were devoted entirely to the amendment campaign. The campaign was educational and social as well as political and attracted world-wide attention.

The National Woman's party, organized in 1910 by Alice Paul, established Washington headquarters in 1913 and introduced the militant into the campaign.

Alice Paul—the third Quakeress to immortalize herself—is the spectacular figure of the struggle. She developed the deadliest card index on members of congress that practical politics has ever seen. She served notice through the White House pickets that the president was the "man higher up." The arrest of nearly 500 of these pickets and the imposition of jail sentences followed. Incidentally Miss Paul herself served seven terms in jail.

The amendment was beaten three times in the senate and once in the house before it was finally passed by the Sixty-sixth congress June 4, 1919, by the necessary two-thirds majority.

The year 1899 saw the formation of two national organizations: National Woman Suffrage association, with Mrs.

Stanton and Miss Anthony leaders and headquarters in New York; American Woman Suffrage association, with Mary A. Livermore, Julia Ward Howe and Lucy Stone leaders and headquarters in Boston. The line of division was this: The former wished to concentrate on the passage of a constitutional amendment; the latter was in favor of obtaining the suffrage through amendments to state constitutions. In 1890 the two organizations were united under the name of National American Woman Suffrage Association, and work was pushed along both lines of endeavor.

Mrs. Stanton was president until 1890, resigning at the age of eighty. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt was its head, 1900-1904. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, recently deceased and possibly best loved of all the leaders—a woman of transcendent gifts and eloquence—was president until 1915. Mrs. Catt was then again chosen. Mrs. Frank Leslie left a large legacy to Mrs. Catt to be used in the work.

The National association made arrangements at the St. Louis convention of 1910 to dissolve its organization and become the League of Women Voters. These arrangements became effective at the Chicago convention in February last. So the League of Women Voters now holds sway over something like 27,000,000 potential American women voters.

Mrs. Catt, who is also the head of the International Woman Suffrage alliance, which she founded in 1904, is honorary chairman; Mrs. Maud Wood Park is chairman; Mrs. Richard Edwards of Indiana, treasurer; Mrs. Solon Jacobs of Alabama, secretary, and there is a board of regional directors.

Men fear thought as they fear nothing else on earth—more than ruin, more even than death. Thought is subversive and revolutionary, destructive and terrible; thought is merciless to privilege, established institutions and comfortable habits; thought is anarchic and lawless, indifferent to authority, careless of the well-tried wisdom of the ages. Thought looks into the pit of hell and is not afraid.—Bertrand Russell.

Net a Bit Curious.

Mrs. Smith was all dressed up, and that piqued Mrs. Rogers' curiosity as she met her on the road.

"Going to town, I suppose?" asked Mrs. Rogers.

"No," answered Mrs. Smith.

"Oh to see your sister at Blagoville."

"No," was the sententious answer.

"Going to see Cy's sister at the Corners, perhaps?"

"No, I'm not," came the positive answer.

"Well, my gracious!" exclaimed Mrs. Rogers impatiently. "Do you think I care a rap where you are going?"

Get Relief by Eatonic

R. J. Powell, Sweetwater, Texas, says, "Eatonic helped me out of the most marvelous benefits. She got not even take a drink of water without awful misery, but it relieved her; she is feeling much better. All this from one box, so send me four more at once."

Hundreds of people now take Eatonic; one or two tablets after each meal keeps them in good health, feeling fine, full of pep. Eatonic simply takes up the excess acidity and poisons and carries them right out of the system. Of course, when the cause of the misery is removed, the sufferer cannot help but get well.

You will find it a quick, sure relief for heartburn, indigestion, sour acid, gassy, bloated stomach. It costs but a trifle and your druggist will supply you. If you don't feel well, you give Eatonic a test. Adv.

Yellow Men Sleep

By Jeremy Lane

Illustrated by IRWIN MYERS

"Do you dream often?" "Often. I do not care for sleep, but it is pleasant to dream. Have you found it so?"

He thought carefully. "Yes, I've always dreamed. It runs in your family, and in mine."

"I had arranged with Chee Ming," said Helen. "I come here every day," said Helen.

"The sun must be very hot." "I am accustomed to it. I do not resist it. There is great life in it."

"It has made you lovely," she said. "But it was unkind to you," she replied. And a faint, rosy smile touched her lips.

Innocence or utter sophistication— from an ultimate degree of one of these opposites she was regarding him. It was a helpless moment for the young man behind the rock. He gazed out for relief over the stinging white sand, where all of yesterday is sacrificed in the drift of today.

One horseman dotted out there, not far from the city, a pair of keen eyes that might be able to see through stone.

"I wish I could tell you. I have nothing of my own to offer, except America, and I can give that to you. There are books that have been kept from you. The white blood in your veins has been carefully shadowed. Your heart is American. I marvel how well they have made you forget that. You long for your own birthright; that is why you look into the west, and are filled with a desire you do not comprehend."

I never knew what my country meant to me until I got away from it, working under its orders in faraway places like this. You are longing for home and your own people. Your soul is sick of yellow faces, your mind is weary with Oriental contact."

He checked himself, for she did not seem to be following well. The distant rider had changed his position, coming nearer. The rock seemed smaller than at first, the sun hotter.

Silence between them. From the saddle the princess looked afar over the yellow earth. The palace walls were indistinct in the trembling heat. She seemed lost in a cloud of dreams. It was maddening to Levinston, until a great light broke within him. She said simply, without looking at him: "You are making me unhappy."

Even before the full joy of this utterance was clear to him, he was up beside her, forceful of the sentinel, the sun, the whole world but this. A honeyed fragrance came to him from her nostrils. The words that burned his heart stopped in his throat, but his eyes held hers an instant, and tragically her unhappiness deepened; yet it made him glad.

Without speaking, she spurred her mount, wheeled, covering the man who loved her, and then rode for the city gate.

CHAPTER XII. The Yellow Bowl. As he returned to the mouth of the shaft, with no thought of caution, even the Gobi seemed familiar and right to Levinston, its purple band of horizon, its scarlet rocks, the mighty pour of the sun no longer inimical, for his head was filled with her floral words. They brought hope and hurt together. When once more in a normal state, Con was frightened at the freeness of his speech, the fire he had sent out to her. Earth held no other fear than that he had said too much, that he had stumbled over the fealty in her nature.

flashing light. Having small choice, Con nodded his thanks and stride past them. Again the soft crackle of their voices. He turned. They were going on with the torch. Darkness closed about him once more.

His reverie was spoiled for the moment. A touch of the horror of numberless generations was upon him, the burial-fear. He could touch the earth over his head, as in a tomb, and spun the walls from side to side. Then he laughed at himself. It was a relief, a necessity. He came back to himself; identity was renewed, another necessity, new worlds had been flitting through him and he had forgotten much.

Confident of locating his friend or the brown-skinned soldier who had gone from Aton to Buffalo in his time, Levinston pushed onward down the tunnel.

He thought of Helen's face—oval, calm, day-kissed, unawakened. Yet each moment she seemed different, for now she was fully awakened, a princess of evening lights and clear white and music, subtle eastern wisdom—a princess only, a mottled flower. This latter was a form of torture to him whose heart had opened. But always there was the same pale light in her eyes, whether she were learned of kings and princes, or quite innocent. It further troubled him to find that he could not be certain as to the color, if they were lit with the green of the sea at daybreak or the blue of sky at sunset. They could be as steady as jade, pure in their gaze, and their loveliness sent him out upon a tide of yearning. A warm flood seemed to rise when he remembered her slim throat, and it startled him to recall the manner of her breathing. At moments now, with the earthen blackness beating in upon him, Con was almost ready to believe that she was a phantom; that the Gobi had done something to him; that possibly there was no Sha Mo at all, and he was merely coming to the surface after a plunge deeper and darker than usual, to find himself ill with life, in a room at the old club; that this Helen was the shadow of his unrealized desires, of all his postponed aspirations, and nothing more. Yet he could hear her voice as if she were just ahead in the darkness, and he had sometimes sucked her hand. The delicacy of that moment was still upon him. He shook it off and tried to laugh again, to clear his mind, but this time the happy effect was more elusive.

Direction was an impossible subject and depth another. He reached an intersection, a trying moment for the nerves as his hands went out into soft nothing. He waited, in a tension, and heard a slow thudding, like the tread of giants within the earth. The air of the passages was narcotic. In thinking of the fierce evaporation of the desert this difference was grateful.

Well aware that he was lost, he thought of many things old and new, dwelling strangely upon the potentialities of his own spirit. The well-rubbed coinage of life had enriched him and he longed to spend. Leaning against the rough walls, scarcely able to see his hands before his face, Levinston discovered the innermost door of himself. Soul-currents that he had touched in boyhood seemed close about him again. Heart's dusk cried softly within, a lonely twilight in spring. The air was figured with the memory of the Bill the yellow cook, of those tales in a magic tongue, told in the thick evenings to the sway of the ship. Probably Bill's stories had been of Tau Kuan, its piled-up curving roofs; of close-guarded maidens in their misty silks; of the diamonds that spatter from the shaken plumage of a cockatoo at the fountain down upon white and ivory limbs; or perhaps of some choking tunnels where tiny flared nerve would set the luckless a-tearing off his nails in frenzy against sandstone walls, the source of the fragrant web of koresch. Levinston smiled a mad, faint welcome to the shade of the murdered Chinese, and drove himself erect, onward.

So gradual was the soul-dark in its claiming of him that his will was relieved of the struggle. Brushing forward along the walls, he knew the delicate work of his hands, the pleasure him—and covers it all over with a thick layer or coat of the pulp. This is then put aside to set a bit, and when hard rule devices are stamped round the neck and shoulders of the article, which is then set aside to dry. When entirely hard, the gharra inside is broken and the pieces removed. These vegetable pots are sold according to size from four to eight annas each.

There is a peculiar ware that is made by the Banjaras in the central provinces of India from the fruit of the aonla. The fruit is collected and dried. It is then boiled in water until quite soft and pounded, the stones removed and the pulp beaten up and worked with the hands into a thick, brown, sticky mass. When this is quite ready the manufacturer takes an earthen vessel—any shape that pleases him—and covers it all over with a thick layer or coat of the pulp. This is then put aside to set a bit, and when hard rule devices are stamped round the neck and shoulders of the article, which is then set aside to dry. When entirely hard, the gharra inside is broken and the pieces removed. These vegetable pots are sold according to size from four to eight annas each.

The aonla tree is abundant throughout the forests of tropical India and Burma, and the fruits are frequently employed in medicinal and for toning. Another material used for making jars is the root of the great asphodel. The fleshy root of this plant, by drying in a sand oven and grinding, is prepared into a flour, which, when mixed with hot water, yields a most tenacious vegetable glue with which the Persians make great vessels for holding oil and clarifying butter. The native cobblers employ it in preference to animal glue in their work.

Old and New Books. There is no stiller affectionate that of old worldism. To read about Sir Robert Browne and know nothing of William Cobbett is foolish. To turn your back upon your own time is simply to provoke living wags, with rudimentary but effective humor, to chalk opprobrious epithets upon your person. But, on the other hand, to depend upon your contemporaries for literary sustenance, to be reduced to scan the lists of "Forthcoming Works" with a hungry eye, to complain of a dearth of new poems, and new novels and new sermons, is worse than affectation; it is stupidity.—Augustine Birrell.

Didn't Want to Miss Anything. Moudy a peddler came to our door and was demonstrating some of his wares to my mother. My mother bought a few articles from him and he started to put his suitcase in order. He finished and was just leaving when Joseph, who is four years old, rushed in and asked: "Oh, mamma, what did the man say while I wasn't here?" —Chicago American.

RUSSIAN ARMIES ARE DESTROYED

Reds Quit Fight and Flee Into Prussia in Panic.

CHIEF OF STAFF GIVES UP

German Frontier Guard Unable to Control Increasing Tides of Soviet Soldiers—Most of Poland Clear of Enemy.

Washington, Aug. 25.—A cablegram received by the Polish embassy from the minister of foreign affairs in Warsaw says: "The bolshevik army is completely defeated and cannot resist the attacks of our troops. Every day thousands of prisoners are being taken, until now there are 70,000 prisoners. The peasants, armed with scythes, are bringing in prisoners. The military spoils are great. Bialystok is taken, which cuts off the rest of the bolshevik army."

Warsaw, Aug. 25.—The capture of Przasnysz, 60 miles north of Warsaw, and Mlawa, on the East Prussian frontier 75 miles northwest of the capital, Lomza, 75 miles northeast of Warsaw, and Bialystok, 50 miles east of Lomza, is reported in the Polish official statement. The bulk of the Fourth Russian soviet army and the entire Third cavalry corps have been surrounded by the Poles, the statement says. The capture of Soldat, Zambrow and Mazowiek (to the southeast of Lomza) also is reported. The Poles have captured 62,000 prisoners, 200 guns and 1,000 machine guns.

Danzig Open to Poles. Paris, Aug. 25.—Premier Millerand of France, acting as president of the supreme court, has telegraphed Sir Reginald Tower, allied high commissioner at Danzig, inviting him to assure to Poland complete liberty in the importation of war material through Danzig, as provided in the Versailles treaty.

Red Refugees Swarm Germans. Berlin, Aug. 25.—The German border troops are calling for reinforcements, as they are unable to control the increasing tide of Russian soviet soldiers who are crossing the frontier and expressing the desire to be interned, according to a dispatch from Allenstein, East Prussia. Twelve thousand have already crossed the German frontier under pressure of the Polish pursuit.

Among the troops escaping into Germany are many Chinese and Circassians, the dispatch says. The commander of the Fifty-fourth Russian brigade, accompanied by the chief of staff and the staff members, crossed the German frontier at Kameran, where troops of the Russian Eighteenth division also are arriving. The Russian officers took the train to Neidenburg, 24 miles south of Koenigsberg, where they were taken in charge by reichwehr troops.

Retreat Turns to Panic. The Lokai Anzeiger correspondent on the Russian front reports that the Russian retreat along the East Prussian border has developed into a panic under pressure of the Polish cavalry. Herds of cattle, cavalry and infantry are intermingled in the flight. Officers and commissaries are trying to restore order with their pistols. Some of the regiments have thrown away their weapons.

The correspondent says that the reds declare they could not stand the fire of the Polish and French aviators, who attacked them from short distances and whose bombs worked havoc. They evidently were unaccustomed to western fighting methods.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS

DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think Mr. Merchant. "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroad needs to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who has no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. TOWN VOTING PLACES KEPT OPEN LATER

Farmers will not have to beat out the arrival of 5 o'clock in order to vote at the coming primary or general election in this state. One of the farmer measures passed at the last session of the legislature was that amending the election laws as to the Cities—6 a. m. to 8 p. m. Villages—9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Towns—9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Under the former law, closing the polls at 5 p. m. many farmers found it difficult to reach the booths in time to cast their ballots. Under the conditions the so called "stay at home" vote was large in certain rural sections. The change was made expressly for the farmer, who may now vote after supper.

"Overalls and men are trusted if they keep their promises."

I promise you that my overalls are made honestly right, that they are of solid, heavy, honest material and that they will wear long, because they are built right.

I keep my promises. Fellow workmen buy and keep my brand of overalls.

They are carefully stitched with corners double stitched and solid, firmly fastened buckles and buttons."
