NEW ROAD SIGNS PUT AT CORNERS

County Highway Commissioner Johnson was in the village on Tuesday putting up new guide signs, at the intersection of Fond du Lac Avenue and Main Street and at the intersection of Highways "55" and "267," on North Fond du Lac Avenue. The new signs are painted white with black letters and are placed on a standard and are quite an improvement over the old signs, which were misleading and frequently caused tourists traveling in a northern and southern direction to turn off onto Highway 26, and after learning of their mistake were forced to turn back, which resulted in loss of time and annoyance to them. The sign at the intersection of Main street and Fond du Lac Avenue faces north and south with an arrow pointing toward the east and "Trunk Highway 267" painted above and the following below it: "Beechwood 9 miles," "Plymouth 24 miles" and "Sheboygan 35 miles." At the intersection of Highways "55" and "267" on North Fond du Lac Avenue one large sign, divided into three sections is placed on the east side of the road on Highway 55, facing west with the following painted upon it. First section on top: An arrow pointing toward the south with "Trunk Highway 55" painted above it and the following named places below it: "Kewaskum 1/2 mile," "West Bend 8 miles," "Milwaukee 42 miles." Second section arrow pointing toward the north with "Trunk Highway 267" above it and the following named places below it: "Campbellsport 7 miles," "Eden 17 miles" and "Fond du Lac 26 miles." Third section arrow pointing toward the south, with "Trunk Highway 267" above it and the following named places mentioned below it: "Kewaskum 1/2 mile," "Plymouth 25 miles" and "Sheboygan 35 miles." Another sign has been placed on the opposite side of the road on Highway 26, facing north and south, with the following signs painted upon it: "Trunk Highway 267" painted above it and the following places below it: "Theresa 13 miles," "Mayville 18 miles" and "Janesville 87 miles." Careful reading of these signs by tourists can not misconstrue the meaning and it will be of great assistance to them.

HARTFORD MAN INVENTS CUT-OUT

Julius F. Goetz of this city, manufacturer of lightning rods and fixtures, which he has patented, has this week again demonstrated his inventive genius, when he applied for a patent on an automobile muffler cut-out on Tuesday. This cut-out is the newest thing so far invented in the shape of a cut-out. It fits inside of any of the mufflers that are now on the market and is fitted at the front end of the muffler and when opened all of the exhaust gas from the engine goes through the cut-out and when it is closed there is no escape and one would not know by looking at the muffler that there was a cut-out there. It is made with a lever that can be changed from one side to the other so it makes no difference which side of the car the muffler is on. We believe that this invention of Mr. Goetz will revolutionize the cut-outs of automobiles and that he will have no trouble in either disposing of the patent or the manufactured article should he decide to manufacture them himself. Mr. Goetz has patented many articles in lightning rod fixtures and is now working on another auto accessory which will be a great thing in saving gas for auto owners.—Hartford Press.

Mrs. Keach Tells How She Got to Know Rat-Snap
"Have always feared rats. Lately noticed many on my farm. A neighbor said he just got rid of droves with RAT-SNAP. This started me thinking. Tried RAT-SNAP myself. It killed 17 and scared the rest away. RAT-SNAP comes in three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Edw. C. Miller and Henry B. Ramthun.—Adv.

MURDER MYSTERY AT THERESA

Refusing to give his name, his home, or who shot him, a stranger was found in the tonneau of a large Cadillac car at Theresa at about 1 o'clock Sunday morning shot through the stomach. The man called for help by reaching over the seat with his leg coming in contact with the horn with his foot. When citizens of Theresa approached him he moaned, "I am shot," give me some water." Physicians were immediately summoned but the man's condition was beyond medical aid and he died twenty minutes later. When asked for his identity he replied, "God help me I am dying." Upon investigation several suits of clothes and $10 in change were found with the man in the car which had been stolen the same night from a store, owned by Felenz and Bartel. A few minutes after the man found in the car had died, a man telephoned from a farmhouse, two miles south of Theresa and inquired about a comparison who he said had been seized together with himself by some men who were trying to rob the Theresa bank. He decided that he would return to Theresa but failed to do so. It was later learned that the telephone call had come from the farm home of Edward Bowers who stated that a strange man was covered with blood, his hands and face were badly lacerated. The stranger refused all offers of assistance, saying that he would manage to get back to Theresa some how or other. Upon further investigation it was learned that the car in which the dying man was found was stolen from L. G. Roesser, manager of the Colonial Theater at Winona, Minn., last week Friday. It bore a Wisconsin license number. Still further investigation shows that the dead man had been arrested at Theresa three weeks ago for speeding, at the time driving a car with a Michigan number. On Monday J. E. Kinkor of Friendship identified the body of the man as being the other of a pair who held up the Kinkler place on the night of Sept. 3. On Tuesday, A. H. Bruhm of the firm of Bruhm and Pries at Auroraville, Wisconsin, located by the police, identified the dead man as being one of the two who held up and robbed the Bruhm and Pries general store at Auroraville last Saturday night. According to the report of the two men, they went up to the store and entering pulled their guns on Bruhm. Pries and his wife who were alone in the store at that time. Mrs. Pries quickly grabbed an implement and hit the smaller man, hitting him over the head, cutting a deep gash from which the blood flowed in a stream. Authorities are under the impression that the man who telephoned from the farm house, is the one hit by Mrs. Pries. It is also the general belief that the two men while at Theresa got into a quarrel, which finally resulted in a shooting affray. The dead man is described as being about 30 years old, feet tall, slender, clean shaven, with notably high cheek bones. He was well dressed, a $50 bill about $7 in cash and a watch of an expensive make were found in his pocket. The man who telephoned from the farm house is about 40 years old, 5 feet tall, heavy set and wears a closely cropped mustache. He was well dressed in a dark suit, a cap and an army sweater.

MISS BOWSER AND H. E. UELMEN WED

Miss Clair Bowser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bowser, 2104 S. Eighth street and Henry Edmund Uelmen, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Uelmen, Campbellsport, were united in marriage at 8 o'clock on Tuesday at the St. Clement's church, by the Rev. Francis Murphy. Charles Balzer, organist at the church played the wedding march from Lohengrin and the couple was attended by Miss Bowser, sister of the bride, and Leo Uelmen, the groom's brother. The bride was attired in a becoming suit of navy blue tulle. She wore a chic black panne-velvet hat and a corsage bouquet of American beauty roses and swansonia, and carried a hand made real pearl lace handkerchief brought here by her grandmother from Ireland about seventy years ago. The three sisters of the bride carried this same treasured bit of lace and linen on their wedding day. The bridegroom wore a navy blue dress of tulle and panne-velvet hat and a corsage bouquet of tea roses and swansonia. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a reception was held. At noon a six course wedding dinner was served at which members of the bride's club served. The guests were the immediate relatives of the couple. Decorations were in a color scheme of pale pink and blue and cut flowers were used profusely. Mr. and Mrs. Uelmen left in the afternoon for a week's honeymoon trip after which they will return to this city, and take up their residence for a time at the Falls Motor Corporation, which position he resigned about a month ago. He is a machinist. Out-of-town guests here for the nuptials were: Mr. and Mrs. John Uelmen, Green Bay, Wis.; Mrs. George Schneider, Oshkosh; Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Uelmen, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Uelmen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. J. Uelmen, Campbellsport; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Connor, Oshkosh; Mr. and Mrs. John Bousser, Lomira; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lindsay, Mitchell.—Sheboygan Press.

SUMMER IRONING

Summer is the season when the housewife looks forward with dread to the week's ironing. It has always meant hours in a very hot kitchen, changing irons continually on a stove that seems as hot as a blast furnace. In this respect the electric iron is one of the greatest comforts the housewife can have. During the winter the housewife doesn't mind the heat of the stove in the room where she's ironing, but when summer comes and every breath of air is hot enough when she has to stand over a hot stove any more than is absolutely necessary. When the electric iron first came into use, electricity was available only in the city, and for a long time the electric iron has been very common article in the city home. But the last few years small electric light and power plants for the farm home have been developed to a high standard of efficiency and dependability, and the many home uses for electricity are now at the service of the farmer and his whole family. So the farm wife of today meets her ironing with the knowledge that ironing day no longer holds the terror it used to. She attaches the cord of her electric iron to a wall socket in a minute or so she has an iron as hot as she wants. There's no watching of the fire in the stove, there's no changing of irons every few minutes, all the heat goes where it belongs, to the bottom of the iron. There's a great saving in time, comfort and efficiency. Of course the providing of current for an iron is just one of the services rendered to the farm home by the electric plant. In addition there's light, the brightest, cleanest and safest in the world, all over the house and barns, and plenty of smooth, quiet power for the pumping, churning, separating and many other farm tasks.

COUNTY AGENT NOTES

The Hartford-Erin Cow Testing Association commenced work Sept. 1 with Jesse C. Wolf in charge as association tester. Twenty-six of the most progressive farmers of this section of the county owning approximately 400 cows have co-operated to find out which of their cows are keeping them and which cows have to be kept by them for the pleasure of their company. At present high prices of feed and comparatively low price of milk only very good cows are capable of producing a profit above their cost of feed and labor. The work of a cow testing association is also intended to improve the herd by proper feeding, careful breeding and the right kind of care, and in this direction the members of the Hartford-Erin association are to be complimented for they have started on the right path. Every member has a pure bred bull at the head of their herd and among them we have such high bred stock as a son of Sir Pieterje Ormsby Mercedes 37th, A grandson of K. P. Lass the breeds first 41 cow and many more bred along the same lines. With such good stock to breed on the Hartford-Erin association should make a name for itself in Holstein history. Jesse C. Wolf.

RECEIVES VICTORY MEDAL

Arthur F. Martin has received a Victory Medal from the United States government, one of the first to be received by veterans in the world war from the Bloomer vicinity. It is a very pretty bronze medal suspended from a silk ribbon, the ribbon bearing two bars showing that Mr. Martin served in two of the fronts in France during the war—the Meuse-Argonne and the defensive sector. The Victory Medal is given to any ex-service man who has been honorably discharged. He must send his discharge in to Washington and make proper application and his application must go through the usual "red tape" course. Mr. Martin served with Co. B, Motor supply Train, 6th division.—The Bloomer Advance. Arthur is a son of Andrew Martin of this village. He left here a year ago for Bloomer, Wis., where he is employed in the furniture and undertaking business. The best advertisement any merchant can have is a satisfied customer. No greater recommendation can be given an article than the following by E. B. Milburn, Prop., Guion Drug Store, Guion, Ark. "We have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and have always found that it gives perfect satisfaction."—Adv.

WILL GIVE BIG DEMONSTRATION

County Agricultural Agent Milton H. Button of West Bend will hold a big soy bean, corn and alfalfa demonstration at the county farm at West Bend on Sunday, September 19, 1920, at two o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Button who is doing everything in his power to faithfully perform his duties as county agent for the benefit and welfare of the farmers in Washington county, is certainly working hard to bring this demonstration to a successful conclusion and has engaged three of the best speakers of the University of Wisconsin, men who most thoroughly understand their line of work, namely Edward Nordman, director of the Wisconsin division of markets, who will discuss the farmer's marketing problem. George Briggs, will discuss soy bean problems and demonstrate the best varieties for Wisconsin. There are now several varieties grown at the county farm. L. F. Graber, an alfalfa specialist of national renown, will also be present at the demonstration plot. There are 21 plots of different varieties of alfalfa. Mr. Graber will point out the peculiarities and advantages of each. Here is an opportunity to take advantage of the biggest demonstration of soy bean, corn and alfalfa ever held in Washington county. The meeting has been set for Sunday, so that it will not interfere with the work of the farmers. Mr. Button extends a special invitation to all and all are invited to take advantage of the benefits that can be derived from this big demonstration.

PROMINENT MEN PASS AWAY

Ralph J. Romaine, a resident of New Prospect all his life and well known throughout the county, died at 9:15 Thursday morning after six days' illness. Mr. Romaine was stricken with paralysis last Friday morning, the stroke paralyzing his right side. He had been unconscious since the hour of the stroke. Mr. Romaine attended the county fair on Thursday of last week and was in his usual health when he said goodbye to his brother, G. A. Romaine, of Fond du Lac, at 10:30 Thursday night. On Friday morning he attended to his usual duties of the morning but at the breakfast table his family noticed that something was the matter. Mr. Romaine appearing to be very forgetful. After breakfast he hurried up one of the horses and then returned to the house and went to bed. Immediately after that he became paralyzed and unconscious. Mr. Romaine who was fifty-one years old, died on the same farm where he was born. He leaves his wife; three daughters, Eva, of Fond du Lac, Vera and Mae, at home; one son, Roland, at home; four brothers, George, Paul, Benjamin, New Prospect, Charles E. and Garret E., of Fond du Lac and three sisters, Mrs. Lydia Henning and Mrs. Mike Calvey, Dundee and Mrs. F. Garrety of Knowles. Mr. Romaine was born in 1869 at New Prospect. In February, 1895 he was united in marriage to Miss Aurilla Haskins. The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock with services at the house. Rev. Carr will officiate. Interment will take place in the Union cemetery at Campbellsport.

LABUWI IS FINED $1,000

E. J. Labuwi of Neosho, who was arrested three years ago, following a Fourth of July celebration at Neosho, which was given for the benefit of the Red Cross fund, which case resulted in one of the hardest legal fights in the history of Dodge County, came to a close on Saturday, Sept. 4th, when Judge Martin Lueck of Juneau imposed a fine of $1,000 and costs amounting to $1,600. It was alleged after the celebration at Neosho, Labuwi failed to turn over the receipts of the day's events. A warrant was issued charging Labuwi with obtaining money under false pretenses. The case was tried in the Dodge County circuit court at Juneau and Labuwi was found guilty. The case was then carried to the supreme court of the state and then sent back to the circuit court for the rendition of a sentence by Judge Lueck. The fine and costs imposed by the court were paid by Mr. Labuwi.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my gratitude to the high and worthy citizens of Dodge County for their vote of confidence in me as their candidate for Sheriff. The only return I can make for this vote of confidence is if elected to endeavor to be the Sheriff for all the people of our County. To those especially of Dodge County who gave me such a hearty endorsement I tender my heartfelt thanks. Wm. S. Olwin.

LOCALS LOSE TO NEWBURG

In a close and interesting game of base ball, the local team lost the second game of a series, to Newburg last Sunday by a score of 11 to 12. Unlucky errors made by the locals on both sides were the main cause of the local defeat. After the game a third game was arranged to be played on the home grounds on Sunday September 26. This game will be the deciding game of the two teams as each have won a game.

Ballot and election clerks at Hartford believe that they are underpaid.

Ballot clerks are getting $3.00 a day and election clerks $5.00. They claim that from 9 o'clock in the morning until a late hour at night constitutes more than a day's work. The raise asked for is $5.00 for ballot clerks and $8.00 for inspector at election.

MUTUAL CELEBRATES 25th ANNIVERSARY

The Campbellsport Mutual Fire Insurance Company was organized July 30, 1895. It has since then accomplished many things on Sept. 18th, 1895 on which date $105,500.00 insurance took effect. On Sept. 18th, 1920, the company completed 25 years of a successful business record. Since organization the company has written over 62,575 policies, aggregating over $55,250,000.00 insurance, and gross premiums have amounted to over $486,000.00, and as the company charges only 75% of the board rates, the members or policy-holders have been saved in premiums about $350,000.00. The company has paid 1448 losses amounting to nearly $240,000.00, but has gross assets of about $65,000.00. It has a reserve of $28,000.00, and surplus of about $30,000.00, or total admitted net assets of about $60,000.00. The interest and discount earnings have amounted to over $19,000.00, and the company has a commodious, fire proof office building, erected in 1913, valued at $5,000.00. Over 3150 policies have been issued the present year, amounting to over $3,350,000.00, and there are at present over 4200 policies in force aggregating about $2,250,000.00 insurance on the company's books. Substantial gains were made each month during the present year, both in premiums and in insurance written, and 1920 is proving the biggest year the company has ever had. Less than $75.00 has been charged off the books, as bad accounts, in 25 years, a total of over $486,000.00 of gross premiums. The original officers and directors were: Ignatius Klotz, H. A. Wucke, Hendricks, Vice-Pres., H. A. Wucke, Secretary, John H. Paas, Treasurer, L. C. Kohler, E. F. Martin, Wm. Wed. C. R. Van de Zande and E. J. Orvis. Other directors, Jacob Arjmond, died 1899; B. D. Romaine and M. L. McCullough, both deceased; John Wenzel, Sr. died 1917; Samuel Grossen moved away. Ignatius Klotz was president until his death in 1911, since which time G. G. Hendricks has been president and L. C. Kohler, vice-president. John H. Paas has been treasurer since organization, and H. A. Wucke, the prime mover in organizing the company, has been secretary and general manager since organization. The present officers and directors are: G. G. Hendricks, Pres., L. C. Kohler, Vice-Pres., H. A. Wucke, Secretary, Leo H. Paas, Treasurer, E. F. Martin, John R. Rosenbaum, C. R. Van de Zande, Wm. Wed. The company has been in business 25 years, and is one of the leading mutuals of Wisconsin, writing business in the entire state, at 75 per cent of the tariff rates, thus saving the insured 25 per cent when writing the insurance. The company has established an enviable record for efficient service and prompt payment of losses.

REAL ESTATE DEALS

After several dull months, the real estate business in this community is again taking a boom. The past week Rosenheimer & Day, local real estate dealers sold the former Henry Coulter 120-acre farm, located in the town of Wayne to Jacob Haasinger of the town of Ashford, taking in exchange the latter's 80-acre farm, which they sold to Edward Scheidt of the town of Eden. Possession will be given the new owners immediately. The exchange does not include any of the personal property, Rosenheimer & Day will sell the real estate stock, machinery, etc., at public auction on Monday, Sept. 20. Watch for auction posters. This auction promises to be a large one, as a considerable amount of personal property has been purchased through the exchanges.

M. A. C. W. TO HOLD CARD PARTY

The local branch of the M. A. C. W. will hold their second card party at the Holy Trinity school hall on Tuesday evening, September 21st, at 8:15 o'clock. Cinch, "500", skat, schafkopf, bunco, "rummy", etc., will be played and a general good time may be expected. The proceeds of this party will go into the fund for home and foreign missions. Prizes will be given. A special prize will be given to the person receiving the lucky number at the door. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Admission 25 cents.

LABUWI IS FINED $1,000

E. J. Labuwi of Neosho, who was arrested three years ago, following a Fourth of July celebration at Neosho, which was given for the benefit of the Red Cross fund, which case resulted in one of the hardest legal fights in the history of Dodge County, came to a close on Saturday, Sept. 4th, when Judge Martin Lueck of Juneau imposed a fine of $1,000 and costs amounting to $1,600. It was alleged after the celebration at Neosho, Labuwi failed to turn over the receipts of the day's events. A warrant was issued charging Labuwi with obtaining money under false pretenses. The case was tried in the Dodge County circuit court at Juneau and Labuwi was found guilty. The case was then carried to the supreme court of the state and then sent back to the circuit court for the rendition of a sentence by Judge Lueck. The fine and costs imposed by the court were paid by Mr. Labuwi.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my gratitude to the high and worthy citizens of Dodge County for their vote of confidence in me as their candidate for Sheriff. The only return I can make for this vote of confidence is if elected to endeavor to be the Sheriff for all the people of our County. To those especially of Dodge County who gave me such a hearty endorsement I tender my heartfelt thanks. Wm. S. Olwin.

REAL ESTATE DEALS

After several dull months, the real estate business in this community is again taking a boom. The past week Rosenheimer & Day, local real estate dealers sold the former Henry Coulter 120-acre farm, located in the town of Wayne to Jacob Haasinger of the town of Ashford, taking in exchange the latter's 80-acre farm, which they sold to Edward Scheidt of the town of Eden. Possession will be given the new owners immediately. The exchange does not include any of the personal property, Rosenheimer & Day will sell the real estate stock, machinery, etc., at public auction on Monday, Sept. 20. Watch for auction posters. This auction promises to be a large one, as a considerable amount of personal property has been purchased through the exchanges.

M. A. C. W. TO HOLD CARD PARTY

The local branch of the M. A. C. W. will hold their second card party at the Holy Trinity school hall on Tuesday evening, September 21st, at 8:15 o'clock. Cinch, "500", skat, schafkopf, bunco, "rummy", etc., will be played and a general good time may be expected. The proceeds of this party will go into the fund for home and foreign missions. Prizes will be given. A special prize will be given to the person receiving the lucky number at the door. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Admission 25 cents.

LOCALS LOSE TO NEWBURG

In a close and interesting game of base ball, the local team lost the second game of a series, to Newburg last Sunday by a score of 11 to 12. Unlucky errors made by the locals on both sides were the main cause of the local defeat. After the game a third game was arranged to be played on the home grounds on Sunday September 26. This game will be the deciding game of the two teams as each have won a game.

BLAINE TAKES CLOSE RACE IN G. O. P. PRIMARY

NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR GOES TO LA FOLLETTE CANDIDATE.

LENROOT WINS FOR SENATOR

Defeats James Thompson by Plurality of 25,000 to 30,000 - Congressman Esch Meets With Defeat - Cooper Comes Back in First District.

Milwaukee - John J. Blaine of Escobedo, at present attorney general of Wisconsin, was nominated as the republican candidate for governor at the primary election.

The same returns gave 55,651 votes to Gilbert E. Seaman, who ran third in the race.

The race was exceedingly close until sixty-eight out of sixty-nine precincts in Dane county reported their count.

Wilcox showed the greatest strength in Milwaukee county, where he received a plurality of more than 7,000 over Blaine and in the First congressional district, which embraces Kenosha, Racine, Walworth, Rock and Waukesha counties.

He was a joint author of the Esch-Townsend bill and the Esch-Cummings bill, which last entered into the senatorial campaign in this state through a controversy between the Wisconsin United States senators.

Joseph D. Beck was deputy labor commissioner of Wisconsin under Commissioner Halford Erickson and when the latter was transferred to the railroad commission Mr. Beck became commissioner and later a member of the newly organized industrial commission of Wisconsin.

In the First district, former Congressman Harry Albert Cooper has again come to his own after a lapse of two years, following his defeat in 1918 by Congressman Clifford E. Randall of Kenosha, whom he defeated in the primary for re-nomination.

Mr. Cooper was elected to the Fifty-third congress in 1892 and served continuously until displaced in the primary of two years ago on the charge that he had been lukewarm in his war views in congress.

Another sitting congressman who met the defeat at the primary when he administered two years ago to the victor in this contest is James G. Monahan of Darlington, defeated by former Congressman John M. Nelson of Madison in the Third district by a plurality of about 4,000.

After a close race in the Eighth district, Congressman Edward E. Browne of Waupaca has emerged the winner by a safe plurality and the same is true of Congressman A. P. Nelson in the Eleventh, where for a time Theodore M. Thomas, former assemblyman, was in the lead.

Congressman Florian Aspelmyer appears to be an easy winner for re-nomination in the Sixth district. Returns from 49 out of 174 precincts gave him 7,796 votes and J. H. Dennhardt, 3,311.

Former Congressman W. H. Stafford, republican, will fight it out against Victor L. Berger, socialist candidate for congress, in the Fifth (Milwaukee) district at the November election.

Edward Voltz, Nonpartisan League Indorsee, Second district; John C. Kleczka, Fourth; D. G. Classon, Ninth, and James A. Frear, Tenth, were named without contests.

No Contests Among Democrats. Complete tickets for United States senator, state officers and congressmen were placed on the primary ballot by the democratic and socialist parties, but as there were no contests for these nominations the primary vote was naturally light.

The following democratic ticket will make the race at the November election: U. S. Senator, P. S. Reinsch; governor, R. B. McCoy; secretary of state, Willis V. Silverthorn; state treasurer, F. J. Egerer; attorney general, A. C. Larson.

gave Lenroot 3,421 votes, against 2,036 for Thompson.

Complete returns for Milwaukee county gave the senator a lead of 7,781 over Thompson. This was the big upset of the contest for the Thompson camp, the leaders of which practically gave up when they heard the returns from here.

McHenry, the "wet" candidate, ran second to Lenroot in both Kenosha and Racine counties. The final vote in Kenosha county was: Lenroot, 2,617;

U. S. Senator Lenroot.

Thompson, 1,510; McHenry, 1,986. In Racine county the final vote stood: Lenroot, 5,884; Thompson, 2,284; McHenry, 3,133.

Thompson's home county of La Crosse turned in a big vote for him, his total being 6,512, against 2,967 for Lenroot.

Congressman Esch Loses. John Jacob Esch of La Crosse, oldest member of congress in the Wisconsin delegation in point of service, went down to defeat in the primary before Joseph D. Beck, running with the La Follette and Nonpartisan endorsement.

Congressman Esch was first elected to the Fifty-sixth congress and for twenty years has been returned from the Seventh congressional district by large majorities.

He was a joint author of the Esch-Townsend bill and the Esch-Cummings bill, which last entered into the senatorial campaign in this state through a controversy between the Wisconsin United States senators.

Joseph D. Beck was deputy labor commissioner of Wisconsin under Commissioner Halford Erickson and when the latter was transferred to the railroad commission Mr. Beck became commissioner and later a member of the newly organized industrial commission of Wisconsin.

U. S. STILL WET, ADMITS KRAMER

Federal Prohibition Commissioner Tells of Conciliations Under Dry Law.

BIG CITIES ARE "WIDE OPEN"

Finds It Almost Impossible to Punish For Violation of Volstead Act - Many Arrests, Few Convictions, He Declares.

Washington, Sept. 13. - Any initiated person can obtain a drink more or less openly in any of a thousand places in New York. Approximately one-tenth of the drinking places in the ten biggest cities are doing business.

New York, Chicago, Baltimore and Philadelphia are wet cities. Accusations of bribery, graft and general dishonesty have been so general that not a government agent is free from suspicion, although by far the vast majority are innocent.

The most puzzling problem we face is punishment of violation of the Volstead law. We have made more than three thousand arrests in New York alone, and I am sure that practically everyone arrested is guilty.

Another report says Miss Thomas swallowed poison after a quarrel with her husband. To see "real old-time Paris," Olive Sunday night, accompanied by several of these friends, visited "Dead Rat," the most famous of the Montmartre resorts.

She remained at the "Dead Rat" until the closing hour, 1 a. m., and then started on a taxicab round of other resorts always open to the American spender.

At 4 a. m. she returned to the Ritz, where she found her husband bitterly resentful. After listening to her husband's remonstrances and apparently taken with a fit of despondency, Olive drank three-quarters of a bottle of bichloride solution prescribed for external use.

MRS. J. PICKFORD DIES

Physician Says Olive Thomas Took Poison by Error.

Movie Actress Drank Deadly Potion Following Quarrel With Husband.

Paris, Sept. 13. - Olive Thomas, American moving picture actress and wife of Jack Pickford, died at the American hospital at Neuilly this morning.

Dr. Joseph Choate, an American physician in charge of the case, said that the actress had swallowed a solution of alcohol preparation containing 12 grams of bichloride of mercury, sufficient to kill 25 men, but he added that she had taken it through error.

Recently, it is said, Miss Thomas had been suffering from nervous depression and had expressed fear of the safety of her husband. According to Doctor Choate, it was only through the prompt first aid given by Pickford on his return to the hotel, where they were staying, that Miss Thomas was kept from dying at once.

Another report says Miss Thomas swallowed poison after a quarrel with her husband. To see "real old-time Paris," Olive Sunday night, accompanied by several of these friends, visited "Dead Rat," the most famous of the Montmartre resorts.

DR. PAUL B. ALTENDORF

Dr. Paul B. Altendorf, claiming to have been in the service of the United States intelligence department, was recently ordered deported by the Mexican government, which claimed he was an agitator and a menace to the present government.

He was taken to Juarez, Mexico, for the purpose of being deported into the United States, but escaped from the Mexicans guarding him, swam the Rio Grande, and joined his bride of a month at her hotel in El Paso.

The United States authorities surrounded his hotel until they could get further instructions from Washington. Early the next night after his arrival he disguised himself as an old man, and again made his escape.

LOOT RELIEF SUPPLIES

Goods Valued at Hundreds of Thousands Are Stolen.

American Organization in the Near East Robbed by Dishonest Employees and Others.

Constantinople, Sept. 14. - Supplies valued at many hundreds of thousands of dollars have been stolen from the American organization for relief in the Near East recently, according to evidence placed before Charles Allen, American consul here.

These losses have been partly due to the work of dishonest employees in Asia Minor and Armenia, but there are also indications that while the goods were in transit from the United States they were subjected to theft.

Cases of condensed milk taken over from army contracted supplies in the United States have been found to contain only three-quarters of the number of cans called for in the bill of lading.

The spaces in these newspapers have been filled with American newspapers of recent date.

It is related that on the body of an Armenian chauffeur who had been shot by bandits was found a letter from a relief worker to a superior officer, stating that in one shipment of supplies there was a shortage of goods valued at $40,000.

ILLINOIS BANDITS SHOOT COMRADE

Leave Shot-Riddled Body at Leiland Auto Shop.

GANG VENGEANCE IS CLEW

Victim, Supposed to Have Been George L. Miller of Chicago, Shot Twice at Close Range - Had $1,100 Cash in Pocket.

Aurora, Ill., Sept. 15. - Gang vengeance left a gruesome clue to the identity of bandits who attempted to raid the Franklin Grove State bank at Franklin Grove, Ill.

The clew was the body of a young well-dressed man, found behind an automobile repair shop which the bandits raided at Leiland, Ill. In the pockets was a letter addressed to George L. Miller, 1531 Park avenue, Chicago, and $1,100 in cash. The victim had been shot twice at close range, apparently by his companions.

Leiland is 30 miles from Franklin Grove on the Lincoln highway. It was the road which the bank bandits took when, pursued by a rifle fusillade, they fled from the other town. They were headed toward Chicago, a circumstance confirming the police in the belief that all concerned were from the gunman circles of that city.

Use Too Much Dynamite. The dynamite in the Franklin Grove bank took a little after midnight. The bandits, who evidently were inexperienced, loaded the safe with enough nitroglycerin to blow up a battleship. As a result the explosion rocked every building in the little village and set the residents running toward the bank with rifles ready for action.

The bandits reached their automobile just as the vanguard of the citizens arrived, and sped away in a rain of bullets.

The bandits secured nothing. Seemingly determined not to be entirely talked, however, they robbed a store at Channah on the way to Leiland. Then came the descent on the automobile repair shop. Here there was evidently a quarrel between the bandits which halted the robbery before they had taken anything, and ended in the shooting of one of the members.

Landlord Identifies Body. Chicago, Sept. 15. - The Park avenue address is a rooming house, Mrs. Frances Barney, the proprietor, identified the dead man as a former lodger, and told the start of the automobile ride. Miller, she said, kept an automobile in a garage behind the rooming house.

"At five o'clock Monday afternoon," she said, "he took the automobile out, saying he would not be back until late. I did not notice whether he had any friends with him."

Mr. Barney thought it possible that Miller had been hired by the bandits as a chauffeur, and that they had shot him when he refused to implicate himself further in their operations.

The man, she said, had lived at the rooming house with his wife, a nephew and a niece for several months. He left early in July, she said, and moved to 17 North Lincoln street, leaving his automobile, however, at the Park avenue place.

Factory Foreman Murdered. Another killing bearing the marks of robbers was discovered in the factory of the William H. Jackson Company at 1529 South State street. The victim was John Kolkoski, a manager for the company. His body was found in the washroom, the skull crushed by repeated blows and the pockets rifled.

Yellow Men Sleep

Con went up with the sailor, and from the mouth of the pit they saw three score horsemen strung across the plain. They were like a sword cutting into the desert surface, all ready far on their way to retrieve their ill-starred prince. Away to the south, as if driven by invisible gods, Yukifoto's horse was running. Levington grew conscious of many bodies pressing about his own. The little men were creeping up to peer out at their fate. The riders had but one meaning to them.

Helen had lied candidly and well. In the wind, a screen of blue and rose behind the flight of horsemen.

The miners were heartened by their first favorable turn in their history. The Arab seized the opportunity to inflame them further. They began to moan with anger, sensing vaguely the opportunity that had come. The city was open and without protection.

Like the rush of a subterranean river, their voices came up, a choking rumble. Insectlike they surged up out of the shaft. In the blinding daylight the Arab fell back, and Levington had no choice but to captain them. He got a joy from it all, a flash of power. They were coming behind him, across upon score, the honeycombed earth giving up her strangest.

Their faces were hairless and flushed, grimy. Each man had a weapon. They were a terrifying rabble. Strong arms carried earth clumps that had yesterday combed the unmemorial clay for the seeds of koreth. There were also daggers and pointed horns and a number of dull swords.

From the houses beneath the city wall, the women and old men ran to the gates and swung them shut; but they could not hold back the ugly swarm of workers. There was strength in the arms that had toiled so long underground; new, fierce power in the twisted spines. It was a mad holiday of revolt. The big gates were pressed in.

Wives and maidens of the monzoul ran across the lawn, Knika, Turkish, and Arabian; delicate feet were nimble beyond the fountain, and the feminine cries were forbidden music to the invaders. But there was first a matter of work to be done. The miners hurried, on, resistless as lava.

Black faces, and gray and brown, whined and crouched upon the rugs. It was early, and the palace was but half awake. In the throne room, filled now with golden light, a woman fled, screaming. Beyond were the monzoul's apartments. This soft and ancient lord reclined among his feathers and silks and fans, like a precious grub. His doorway darkened, his slaves went down, but he gave small heed to the mob that profaned his chamber. He was dreaming, perhaps of dainty white ankles and the tinkle of wind-bells. The wrinkles of his countenance sagged with fat and drug. Now the brazen teeth of an earth-hook gave him a final caress.

Here, on the walls, hanging amid the most prized trophies—scimitars of Persia, antique firearms of Cathay, and jeweled knives of Hindu hill princes—were the weapons recently taken from Andrew March, and also the carbine Levington had once bought for better luck. He repossessed himself.

Down a corridor that thundered with the lust of blighted men, Levington went to Helen's door, and bade the nearest of his followers remain outside. They clamored and contented themselves with exploring passages and winding stairs, and halls and secret rooms from which their lords had sent only cruelty and constant oppression. Levington entered and closed the door behind him, and narrowly missed the slash of a sword in the hands of the familiar Chinese servant. Con took the weapon from Fu Ah, and commended him for his zeal.

"Where is my father?" asked the princess.

"He is with another division of the men. We will go to him directly. You told your story very well."

"Your story," she corrected him. "I

These two volumes were placed on top of the firebricks of all Asia. Chee Ming had turned to the white man. Levington said, "I am setting free your prisoners."

Helen added: "Mother once tried to do the same."

"My riders return," said the vizir steadily.

"Not yet," said Levington.

He saw a thin brass tube in the yellow hands. In a dash he was upon the old man, before the blower could be raised to the narrow lips. It was no task to subdue the vizir with physical force, for the Chinese had lost courage, his lethargy sinews slackened. The darts fell to the floor. Helen lifted the tube and placed it in the bosom of her dress. She was not smiling.

Upon the windowledge rested the yellow bowl. Con picked up the vizir and carried him across to it. He forced back Chee Ming's arm, and drew up his chin rather inconveniently. No sound came from the Chinese, to whom such a defeat must have been thrice bitter and unbearable. The koreth in the bowl was cool to Con's fingers, the scent that arose was spice and brandy. He applied the bluish oil thoroughly to the eyelids and temples of the vizir.

"He has been my father," said a soft voice.

"I will not hurt him. This seems wonderfully new to him; he has had the world try it first."

Word came that the camels were ready at the gate. The bamboo chest was carried out. Con left his strange enemy lying upon the rug, deep in ghostly slumber.

The miners were finding their own voices, roaring in new freedom, like unquarreling children, before the monzoul was cold in his blood. From the higher windows and balconies of the palace came shrill screams. Twenty camels were laden.

SOME GOOD SALADS.

A salad is always a welcome dish, and if well prepared and garnished is a joy to the eye, as well as to the palate.

Tomato and Pine-apple Salad.
Take one dozen tomatoes, two cupsful of pineapple cut in cubes, one cupful of English walnut meats, three teaspoonfuls of salt. Mix well and cover with the following dressing: Two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half teaspoonful of pepper, one-quarter of a cupful of vinegar, or lemon juice, and one cupful of olive oil. Beat with an egg beater until smooth and thick.

Lamb Salad.
An excellent salad for a hot day is this: Line a salad bowl with the Loyal leaves of lettuce, arrange dainty pieces of cold roast lamb, a few capers and cooked peas; salt, pepper and cover with a good salad dressing.

Luncheon Salad.
Take equal quantities of chopped hard-cooked eggs and diced celery, mix with a good highly seasoned salad dressing and serve on lettuce.

Anchovy Salad.
Wash, skin and cut in two, lengthwise, six anchovies. Cut into neat pieces two boiled potatoes; chop fine one pickled beet and one sour cucumber pickle. Put into a salad bowl one head of lettuce; add the potato and a dash of cayenne, then the anchovies, the chopped pickle and spread over all three tablespoonfuls of boiled dressing. Garnish with a mound of chopped pickled beet placed in the center.

Shrimp Salad.
When shrimps are used, wash thoroughly and dry on a cloth. Add to the shrimps tomatoes, hard-cooked eggs and serve on a bed of water cress, with any desired dressing. Tripe, boiled, cut into strips and served with potato, endive, celery and a few chopped capers, makes a most appetizing salad.

For still in mutual suffrance lies The secret of true living: Love scarce is love that never knows The sweetness of forgiving. —Whittier.

STAIN REMOVERS.

A fresh blood stain on wool or any garment may be removed if quickly rubbed with starch, which will absorb the blood and leave the garment unstained.

To remove obstinate mud stains, dissolve a little baking soda in warm water; apply in a circle outside of the spot and work inward, rubbing the stain until it disappears, then press with a hot iron. A mixture of salt and flour will remove some mud stains.

To successfully remove tea and coffee stains, first sprinkle with borax and soak in cold water, then stretch the linen over a bowl and pour boiling water from a height directly upon the stained places.

Peach stains are the most objectionable of all fruit stains; remove them with the sulphur treatment. Place a little sulphur on an old earthen plate, moisten with a bit of alcohol, cover with a funnel after lighting it and hold the cloth moistened with water over the funnel so that the fumes will strike the stain directly through the small end of the funnel. Rinse in a weak solution of ammonia. Rinse in clear water and dry.

Remove Ink From Rugs or Carpet.
Pour a little turpentine in a saucer and in it share some good white soap, stir until the soap is thoroughly dissolved. Keep this on hand to apply as a cleansing agent for spilled ink. If applied at once before the ink dries, the spots will disappear immediately.

Cleaning White Spots.
Wash in a basin of white soap and warm water, rinse but do not wring, hang them up dripping wet over night and in the morning they will be smooth and ready to wear.

LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS

Do you know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?

If everyone has seen it some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing?

Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise."

Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroad needs to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars."

Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world.

The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business.

If it pays to run a few ads now and then, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time.

It's just business, that's all, to

Con Left His Strange Enemy Lying Upon the Rug.

PURPOSE IN SELF-TORTURE

People of Northern New Mexico Have High Object in Infliction of Bodily Punishment.

A passion play takes place yearly in the Raton and Sandia mountains of northern New Mexico. A group of people living in this district have for centuries each Lenten season gone through a series of self-inflicted bodily tortures, enduring their agonies in the belief that these barbarities will absolve them from past and future sins. The passion play is said to be so savagely realistic that at times performers have died as a result of injuries received while taking part in it.

These people are known as Los Hermanos Penitentes, or the Penitent Brotherhood. The Penitentes are of Mexican origin, with a marked strain of Indian blood. They are densely ignorant, not many being able to read Spanish, and only a very few are familiar with English. Hardly one in ten has ever been a hundred miles away from the isolated mountain settlements where they make their homes. They keep small flocks of cattle and sheep and some are mine for gold and silver. They live in mud and crude stone houses, as did their ancestors two and three hundred years ago.

Job's Air of the "bottles" of heaven, and St. Augustine and others thought there were windows in heaven, and as these were closed or closed so the rain began and ended. But that was long ago. Even as late as the middle of the eighteenth century the chemical nature of the air was not known. If the density of the atmosphere remained constant it could all be compressed into a layer about five miles thick. In that case the highest mountain peaks would stand out in space piercing the so-called homogeneous atmosphere. But the density decreases with elevation, and when the air reaches an elevation of 10,000 meters he is in a medium which is only about one-third as dense as at the ground. There are no clouds above this level.

Pitcher Plant's Curious Leaves.

In the swamp regions of India and China a herbaceous plant is found which has very curious leaves. Each leaf has the mid-rib prolonged to a great extent, far beyond the leaf proper, forming in a very singular pincer, from which the plant gets its common name of "pitcher plant." This again terminates in a lid which is regarded by botanists as the true blade of the leaf.

In this pitcher a fluid is found which comes from the plant itself and is probably necessary for its nourishment. This fluid, which contains some potash, varies much in quantity, sometimes only a drop or two, but often there is enough to drown any inquisitive insect which may venture inside, and such insects are frequently found in the pitcher.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Standard Yard.

The standard yard consists of a metal bar held in a secure fireproof vault in a Washington government building.

Possibly no one is contented, but may have learned not to make a fuss.

Rubbing It In.

Patent—Doctor, the only thing that did my rheumatism any good was that spirit of turpentine, which my daughter rubbed on my neck. A friend told me about it and it gave me so much relief that I began to read up about it to see what it was. First, I found that it was good for pains in the back, then for sprains, and finally I came to the conclusion that it was good for almost anything. And then I understood why most doctors make a living.—London Ideas.

Preferred Stock

Investment Lesson No. I

WHAT IS PREFERRED STOCK?

Definition: Preferred Stock represents an interest in a corporation, which interest is preferred over that of the Common Stockholders. By that we mean:

1. Preferred Stock holders get their stated dividend (6%, 7%, or 8%) first and the Common Stockholders get what profit is left AND ALSO
2. Preferred Stock is to be secured by the interest of the Common Stockholders; that is, in case of insolvency the Preferred Stock holders get the full value of their stock if the company has sufficient assets and the Common Stockholders get what is left, if any.

THAT IS TO SAY

- If the Common Stock is not backed by real money the Preferred Stockholders have no security and their stock is really not "preferred" at all.
3. Preferred Stock usually has no voting rights.
 4. Preferred Stock usually provides for a definite dividend of about 6% to 8%, no matter how much profit the Company makes. The Common Stock gets what is left after the Preferred Stock Dividend is paid if anything, so may make a profit of several hundred per cent or make nothing.

Investment Lesson No. II

WHAT PREFERRED STOCKS ARE GOOD?

WHAT IS A "SECURED" PREFERRED STOCKS?

I—Security:

1. A Preferred Stock should be backed by or secured by a real investment by the Common Stockholders. The net assets of the Company should be at least twice the amount of the Preferred Stock.
2. The net current assets of the Company should amount to at least 125% of the Preferred Stock.
3. The Company should have been successful over a period of years and should make an annual net profit of at least twice the total interest or dividend charges on the Preferred Stock.
4. The Investor should be able to sell his stock at any time for face value. There must be a market for Preferred Stock to make it a good investment.
5. The Preferred Stock should be a "Class A" Security authorized by the Railroad Commission.

II—Safety Provisions:

1. The Company should retire or redeem (pay off) a certain amount of Preferred Stock each year.
2. The Company should not be allowed to mortgage its property or in any way impair the security of the Preferred Stock without the consent of 75% of the Preferred Stockholders.
3. The Preferred Stockholders should have the right to vote in case of any continued failure to pay dividends or failure to comply with other provisions.

Investment Lesson No. III

WHAT DIVIDEND (INTEREST) SHOULD PREFERRED STOCK PAY?

I—Secured "Class A" Preferred Stocks should pay 7% quarterly Dividend. The Company should be able to back up its promise.

1. The best Preferred Stocks on the market usually pay 7%. For example: Palm Olive, Hummel-Downing, Fiske Tire and Rubber, Goodyear Tire, T. L. Smith, Steel and Tube, Robert A. Johnson, etc.

II—Unsecured or "Class B" Preferred Stocks have generally paid 8% or 9%. This is to be expected for an investor must have a higher rate when the security is not known. Usually those who buy "Class B" Preferred Stocks find it difficult to "cash up" or sell their stock and in doing so lose more than they can possibly make, no matter how high the rate.

Despondency—Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they desire. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.—Adv.

The Power of the Hour

MECHANICAL power is stepping swiftly into the breach that has been formed by restless, dissatisfied labor. This is true in the city and it is true on the farm.

Today Titan 10-20 Tractors are the labor-saving power of the hour on the farms of America. Everywhere, reaching to the farthest boundaries of agriculture, you will hear the steady chug-chug of these tireless toilers. They are displacing men and horses and getting more work per day from available farm labor. Soon summer fallowing will be under way in many sections of the country, and there you will find Titan 10-20 Kerosene Tractors working faithfully from sun-up to sun-down, undisturbed by heat or flies, turning the hard-baked ground in the interests of bumper crops.

New Titans are scarce just now, due to unprecedented demand, and the fact that every user of a Titan 10-20 is a Booster is the best of reasons for you to act at once to secure one of the very few available.

Come in and let us show you why you should buy a Titan 10-20 Farm Tractor.

CHRIST TISCHHAUSER WRITES

The Statesman office is in receipt of the following letter from Christ Tischhauser from Madison, South Dakota, which we know will be of interest to many of our readers and which is as follows:

Madison, Sept. 8, 1929
Statesman Publishers,
Dear Friends:

I passed my 69th year on the 7th of this month and let it sink into oblivion and am now trying to hang onto the seventies as long as the Lord gives me grace. I am satisfied that all my Wisconsin friends are wishing me a number of years on life's journey more. We have plenty of rain this season, and our crops are good, except wheat, which is very poor. The hay crop was a very heavy one and corn and potatoes will be likewise. Reports on crops coming from the West are favorable. Not much property is being sold here at present. The new Lutheran and Baptist churches are nearing completion. The new hospital has been in full swing for over a month. The building formerly used as a hospital has been changed into a movie house. Five bungalows on one block west on 30th Ave. three of them completed and two about halfway, and on East First street five cottages, two of which have already been sold, and the rest soon to be completed, together with the new electric light plant which will soon be ready for operation are some of the construction work that took place at Madison this year. Besides this Center street will be paved to the west end of the city limits, and about four blocks on Egan Ave. will also be paved. Our schools have re-opened, and a new plan is being worked out whereby children attending school from out of town can ride to school in a bus, and instead of eating a cold lunch, they will be able to enjoy a nice warm dinner. Farmers in this vicinity raising full blooded stock have built their own sale pavilion close to the railroad tracks, and will in the future not have to make use of the fair grounds, as was formerly the case. On August 26, 27, 28 we had the largest crowd in town seen here in many years, when we held our western round-up show, instead of county fairs. Wishing you many more prosperous years, I remain yours truly,
Christ Tischhauser.

We are very glad to chronicle the event of Mr. Tischhauser's 69th anniversary and cannot help but wish him many more years of health and prosperity.—Editor.

Dairy Market

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth, Wis., Sept. 13.—On the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange today, 22 factories offered 2445 boxes of cheese and all sold as follows: 100 lbs. at 25¢, 600 lbs. at 26¢, 300 at 26¢, 550 double dairies at 26¢, 100 cases young Americas at 26¢, 520 cases longhorns at 26¢, 50 at 27¢, 40 at 27¢ and 150 boxes square prints at 27¢.

These prices in comparison with last week show an advance of one cent on dairies and double dairies, two on young Americas and squares and one on young Americas.

CANADA'S HARVEST IS OVER

Threshing Shows Increase Over Expected Yields.

The Winnipeg Free Press of a few days ago contained a cartoon of which the following is a copy:

This probably as much as anything else will give some idea of the state of mind of the Western Canada farmer, as he watches the tally from the thrashing machine while his wheat is being carried to the elevator.

From all sections of the country, the most optimistic reports are received, the local and city papers are filled with reports from twenty to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre, while in some places oats are showing a record of as high as 120 bushels to the acre.

Referring to Saskatchewan, it is confidently expected that the wheat yield will be nearly 125 million bushels. Heavy rains which fell in districts that did not promise so well in July, had greatly improved the prospects there, and there is no question that paying yields will be produced. The yields in the eastern part of the province may not show to the advantage that will those of the western part, but too much cannot be said of this, for it is the results as they come from the machine, and often these prove happily deceptive.

There is now every reason to believe that the wheat crop of the three prairie provinces will approach 250 million bushels.

Alberta will exceed the 70 million bushels that had been looked for. The average yield will be considerably higher than it has been in the province in any of the last four years. The Department of Agriculture in a recent report gave the opinion that it cannot fall below twenty-two bushels to the acre, and that it might easily pass the twenty-five bushel mark.

Most of the wheat in the province when the report was written, stood well up to three feet high, and on some fields was still higher. The report goes on that in parts of Southern Alberta forty and fifty bushels to the acre yields will not be uncommon, while there will be a good many yields of from thirty to thirty-five bushels to the acre.

In the northwest part of the province, in the country surrounding Battleford and adjacent to the Canadian National Railway line to Lloydminster, and south the crops are excellent and the yield will be heavy.

A larger than average wheat crop is being thrashed in Manitoba. It has been estimated that the total yield of the three provinces will not be less than 225,000,000 bushels, and it may be that somewhere between 250,000,000 and 300,000,000 bushels will be the final figure.

Oats is a good crop in all three provinces. This crop has also grown rapidly during the last two or three weeks. Excepting from those fields which were sown late for green feed, the yield will be heavy and the grain excellent. Barley and rye are above the average. There was sufficient help to harvest the crop.—Advertisement.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By Mary Graham, Donner & Co.

ONE-HORNED RHINOCEROS.

"I am a great beast," said the one-horned rhinoceros, "and I hope that all know it."

"If you talk so loud all will know it," said the African two-horned rhinoceros. "Well, I have two horns and you only have one. And I am from Africa and you are from India. I am a Miss Rhinoceros and you're a Mr. Rhinoceros. My real name is Victoria. A very beautiful name, I consider."

"Oh, what do I care about a name?" said the one-horned rhinoceros. "A name means so little."

"But you wouldn't like to be called Two-Horned Rhinoceros, would you?" asked the African two-horned rhinoceros.

"Good gracious, no," said the one-horned rhinoceros.

"Well, you aren't very polite," said the African two-horned rhinoceros.

"But no matter," she continued. "I've caught you in the trap I laid for you."

"Trap, trap," said the one-horned rhinoceros. "What trap? Is there a trap around me or will I fall into one? Tell me what you have done?"

"Be calm, be calm," said the two-horned rhinoceros. "I have not set a trap where your body will be caught, but I set a trap where you would say something one moment and another the next."

"Sounds rather queer," said the one-horned rhinoceros, who was greatly relieved that the trap was merely that sort.

"What did you say or what did I say so that you consider I'm in a trap?"

"I said that I had a very beautiful name, and that Victoria was what I was called, and you said you didn't care for names, that they meant so little. And yet you said that you wouldn't want to be called an African two-horned rhinoceros. So you do care for names, you see, and I caught you in my trap. I knew I would get you to admit you cared for names. I knew I would."

"Ah," said the one-horned rhinoceros, "but I do not care about names such as Victoria or Angelica or Veronica or Violet or Sarah or Sally. But I like to be known for the creature I am. I'm not an African two-horned rhinoceros, and so I don't want to be known as such. I am an Indian one-horned rhinoceros, and so I like to be called that. Otherwise folks wouldn't know who I am. I am like a person might be—say a boy, for example. He might be called Billy, or Johnny, or Jimmy, but he wouldn't want to be called a girl or a little baby when he was a boy. And a little girl wouldn't want to be called a boy or an old gentleman when she was a little girl."

"So I don't care what creatures call me, as far as a first name is concerned, but I do care to be called an Indian one-horned rhinoceros, when I am one. I am the largest of all rhinoceroses. I belong to a big and noble, large-sized family."

"You don't have to be large-sized in order to be noble," said the two-horned rhinoceros.

"Maybe not in some cases, but it all goes together in mine," said the Indian one-horned rhinoceros. "I am five feet six inches in shoulder height, and ten feet six inches from the end of my nose to the tip of my tail. My one beautiful horn is twelve inches long. And my skin is gloriously thick and is divided into large sections by thinner portions of skin. You're much the same all over."

"Yes, and my disposition is always much the same," said the two-horned rhinoceros. "I am very good tempered. I take to the life of the zoo with great ease. In fact, I'm happy and enjoy myself. I like my keeper and my keeper likes me. And I'm quite pleased with being a two-horned rhinoceros."

"Just as I am with being a one-horned rhinoceros," said the other. "Ah, it is well we all like to be different, for if everyone felt as I do, the whole world would be made up of Indian one-horned rhinoceroses, and I suppose that would never do."

Putting Him to Sleep.
Bacon—I understand he is very patriotic.
Egbert—I heard so.
"Why, do you know, when he has to put the baby to sleep he never sings to him."
"How does he manage it, then?"
"Why, he recites the Declaration of Independence to the little dear."

Moonshine Money.
"I understand there's an old moonshine still in the neighborhood."
"There is," answered Farmer Corn-tassel. "My boy Josh is the guide to it. And I want to say it brings in more money as an exhibit than it ever did as a liquor factory."

All Like to Be Different.
All rhinoceroses are different. Some are large, some are small. Some are one-horned, some are two-horned. Some are Indian, some are African. Some are noble, some are not. Some are good tempered, some are not. Some are happy, some are not. Some like their keepers, some don't. Some are pleased with being rhinoceroses, some are not. All rhinoceroses are different. All rhinoceroses like to be different.

An Attractive Gown.
A lovely gown which was built for the purpose of employing two bouffants of old lace in that rather unmanageable width six inches, was of georgette, dash tint. The skirt was made in medium width and the two bouffants were sewed to a narrow piece of georgette, which made the ruffles about eight inches deep. These ruffles were sewed one above the other around the hips on the skirt. The sleeves were turned back and finished with a piping and a French fold set

UTILITY SKIRTS AND BLOUSES

THE most important of our clothes are those we wear oftenest and are least conscious of. Unobtrusive things that are made for daily service have a character and charm of their own that are lasting (like the steadfastness of a sincere and dependable friend), and better than all else. The creators of utility skirts and blouses have kept all the requirements of these clothes in mind for the coming season, and after disposing of such essentials as good materials, irremovable workmanship and smart style, have added little graces—as ingenious combinations of materials, novel finishing touches and fine management of colors and patterns in material.

Holding first place in the procession of blouses come the strong, fine white voiles, made with long sleeves and trimmed with tucks and lace, or hand needle work. These blouses, and the skirts to be worn with them, command themselves to the home seamstress. Good voile blouses wear like iron and come from the laundry looking like new. The abiding charm of neatness belongs to them even though they had no other, but draw work, fine tucks, hemstitching and other siterbery is more effective on voile than on any other blouse material.

Two of the new utility skirts in the group above show one made of a combination of plain and plaid materials. Panels at each side and a wide border of plaid goods, applied at the back and front of the first skirt, leave a narrow space at each side that accommodates a small mannish slit pocket, set in with a narrow binding of the plaid material. This model is easy sailing for the home dressmaker, for it is gathered at the waistband and has a plain belt of the material fastened with a button at the front.

The second skirt is plaited at each side of the front and across the back. The most interesting feature appears in three small pointed tabs set on with a large button at each side; the buttons having a light center and dark rims corresponding with the stripes in the material.

PALMS OR APPLE

By MYRTLE ALICE LITTLE.

(© 1920, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"So you think you're tired of the East and us Easterners, and you're leaving us for the foggy Pacific?"

Molly heaved her blue-black curls away from her saucy little face, pouted Len's rough gray sleeve and sniped up into his eyes.

"You think I'm funny, don't you, Len, to want to go? Why, it's the chance of a life time. I've always read about the palms and miles of roses and—"

"And earthquakes and desert summers," muttered Leonard Ray, uneasily.

"Now uncle's got me that candy store place with the nice manager there isn't any reason why I shouldn't go. And he's even sent my fare both ways," Molly went on as if Len hadn't thrown the cold water over her dream.

"I'm a reason why," Len protested solemnly. "Nice managers aren't in it! The nifty brown bungalow in the apple orchard is waiting, Molly. Your starting off is going to mean we can't be married before fall and—"

"I never promised, Len. I always wanted to see something of the world first, anyway. You said the bungalow was a good investment."

"You know what kind of an investment I meant, Moll," Leonard told her. "Wait and maybe we can go West together some time. You'll find things different out there. You'll get homesick for the apple trees."

"I will not!" Molly laughed. "I want to find things different." Then she added without the least malice in the world, "I want to find folks different, too."

"They are, I've heard," Len remarked briefly. "If you want the fun they'll give you, and that's all. I'm sorry, Moll. You needn't think you're going to find a man out there that likes you better than I do. It can't be done, girl. Nice manager! Umph!"

"You funny boy!" Molly laughed, but she was thinking right hard.

The next week Molly Saunders started on the journey of her life, waving cheery good-bys to the family, but seeing long under the cindersy station roof the sober face of Leonard Ray as it still pleaded for her not to go.

As she neared her journey's end Molly began to grow actually frightened, but she didn't know why.

"I wanted it to be different," Molly told herself bravely. "But I didn't know it was going to be lonely different."

Uncle and aunt met her at the station and hardly gave her a chance to get the awful sticky black washed off and a fresh blouse on before they took her to the candy store. "They're short of help, and the manager, Norton Frost, is keeping the place open for you. You've got to pitch right in," said aunt.

And Molly pitched in bravely, learning candy prices, candy smiles and sweetening in the new kind of heat that seemed to be wilting her to a frazzle. What a stuffy place the city was. And foggy; and then it never rained. Umbrellas were only needed for Molly's tears nights after she went to bed—funny tears; almost as if their owner were homesick. And wasn't the city packed! No extra room, like Len's fields and meadows. But Norton Frost, manager, was nice and jolly and Western. There was that to be thankful for.

The second week he asked Molly to go to the show with him. She went, and cried softly all through the big picture because it had soft, pretty hills and farmers in it that reminded her—well, hills and all—of Leonard Ray, whose letter had just about broken her heart that morning. It had been so lonesome sounding.

She had the desert heat Len had warned her about; she had all the candy she could eat; the homey life at her aunt's, besides the attention of Norton Frost. But with all this Molly's throat got lumpier and lumpier.

"It's what I've always dreamed about," sighed Molly. "All those things and a real son of the Golden West for a husband!"

Norton laughed. "Then it's settled, little Molly, and we can be married in the fall!"

Then suddenly Molly dashed away so fast that she stepped on the prickliest cactus in the park.

"You mustn't kiss me, ever, Mr. Frost," she stammered. "You see—I—" Molly got on the other side of the cactus. "I've dreamed about all these things, but they were sort of a nightmare, I guess. I'm homesick. I want Leonard Ray and the apple trees. We want to come here some time together, you see. I shouldn't have let you take me places, because all the time I've been imagining you were Len—and—"

"I'm from Boston, anyway, Molly," laughed Norton Frost easily. "You're not losing much of a Westerner. Might call on you some time when I'm East. Len Ray is an old friend of mine. He told me to keep an eye on you and give you a good time; but he's been missing you lately pretty bad, so I thought I'd better make you—see how you really felt about things."

Molly recovered from the amazing deluge with remarkable calm, and in a ridiculously short time took the fastest cross-continent train to Leonard Ray and that brown bungalow in the apple orchard and the best little town in the world.

THREE YEARS WITHOUT HOPE

A Story of Sickness and Suffering with Final Return to Health

It will do you good to read it

No matter how long nor how much you have suffered, do not give up hope. Do not decide there is no help for you. There is. Make up your mind to get well. You can. There is a remedy in which you may place full reliance as did Mrs. Rosalia Kanis of 39 Silver Street, New Britain, Conn. This is what she says: "I had cramps for three years and thought I would never be any better. I could not eat without distress. Slept with my mouth open and could hardly breathe. No medicine helped me. I had catarrh of the stomach. Now I have no cramps and am feeling well and healthy. I wish every suffering person would take PE-RU-NA."

Catarrh effects the mucous membranes in any organ or part. PE-RU-NA, by regulating the digestion and aiding elimination, sends a rich, pure supply of blood and nourishment to the sick and inflamed membranes and health returns.

For coughs, colds, catarrh and catarrhal conditions generally, PE-RU-NA is recommended. If you are sick, do not wait and suffer. The sooner you begin using Dr. Hartman's well-known PE-RU-NA, the sooner you may expect to be well and strong and in full possession of your health. A bottle of PE-RU-NA is the finest emergency, ready-to-take remedy to have in the house. It is fourteen ounces of prevention and protection.

Sold everywhere in tablet or liquid form.

How About Your Catarrh? Do You Want Real Relief?

Then Throw Away Your Sprays and Other Makeshift Treatment.

Why? Simply because you have overlooked the cause of your ailment, and all of your treatment has been misdirected. Remove the cause of the clogged-up accumulations that choke up your air passages, and they will naturally disappear for good. But no matter how many local applications you use to temporarily clear them away, they will promptly re-appear until their cause is removed.

S. S. S. is an antidote to the millions of tiny Catarrh germs with which your blood is infested. A thorough course of this remedy will cleanse and purify your blood, and remove the disease germs which cause Catarrh.

Watch Your Kidneys!

That "bad back" is probably due to weak kidneys. It shows in a dull, throbbing backache, or sharp twinges when stooping. You have headaches, too, dizzy spells, a tired nervous feeling and irregular kidney action. Don't neglect it—there is danger of dropsy, gravel or Bright's disease! Use Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands have saved themselves from serious ailments by the timely use of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

CATS DISRUPTED THE ZOO SEEMED LIKE AN IMPOSITION

Released to Clean Up Despised Rats, They Terrorized Lions, Leopards and Tigers Alike.

An army of cats, turned loose in the zoo at Highland park, Pittsburgh, Pa., to clean out the rats, has shown the fallacy of many tales of ferocity told of wild denizens of the jungle.

Rats had become so numerous at the big zoo that it was found necessary to take some means of ridding the building of the pests, and the head keeper decided on cats—just the plain alley breed.

Other animals including the elephants, were not so timorous, but hippo and rhino were only a few seconds in making up their minds that discretion was the better part of valor.

Parvenu Couldn't Understand Why Musicians Hadn't Come With Instruments Tuned.

Herman Flink, the noted English composer, tells the following amusing story of a somewhat ambitious attempt of a member of the newly rich to grasp matters musical.

"My grandfather used to direct a small orchestra of about half a dozen, which could be hired for dances, parties and weddings, and even on one occasion only for funerals, but that's another yarn. Well, the orchestra one night made its appearance at the house of the type of parvenu we should call nowadays a war profiteer.

"Whatever's this horrible noise you're making?" he said. "Rotten piece, I call it!" "This isn't a piece," replied my grandfather; "we're tuning up, that's all."

"Tuning up? I engaged you over two months ago, and you're tuning up now?"

What is probably the oldest producing oil well in the world is located at McClintockville, near here, and is owned by Joseph E. Robinson, this city.

The well was completed in 1861, and had an initial production of 175 barrels a day. It is still producing at the rate of one-quarter of a barrel a day, which at the present price of Pennsylvania crude, $6.10, makes it still a paying proposition.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS

Appleton—A movement to eradicate tuberculosis from Outagamie county herds was started by 18 farmer patrons of Gopher Hill Cheese factory, who have petitioned the Wisconsin livestock sanitary board to test their 250 cattle. This action was taken after Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent employed by an Appleton bank, presented statistics showing that one out of every five of the county contained one or more head afflicted with the disease.

Madison—The University of Wisconsin will open Sept. 23 with one of the most thorough military courses of any university in the country. With additional field artillery and the annexation of a signal unit, the military authorities at the university are planning no relaxation in training.

Edgar—Two persons were killed and three slightly injured when their automobile hit a baggage car of the Northwestern passenger train at a bad crossing at West Edgar. The dead are Irma Zillman, 19 years old, and her grandfather, Gustave Herman, 76 years old.

Oconto—Oconto county is one of the 48 counties in the state to apply for the state aid of $50 given to first-class rural schools subject to the state superintendent's approval.

New Glarus—A shipment of 22 head of Holstein cattle from Arden, Wis., in the vicinity of Albany were sent to Frick & Hoelsy of this town.

OUTLAW RAIL MEN RETURN TO WORK

Thousands of Workmen Ordered Back by the Union.

AFFECTS 250,000 SWITCHMEN

Head of "Rebels" Says Industrial Condition of Country Is Responsible for Ending of the Strike—Men Need Money.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Deserted by the Chicago district, generally conceded to be a barometer of railroading conditions in the United States, the board of directors of the United Association of Railroad Employees, national union that grew out of the "rebel" Chicago Yardmen's association, met to order 250,000 switchmen back to their jobs in all parts of the United States.

John Grunau, head of the "outlaws" and director of the strike, said 10,000 men would return to work in Chicago at once.

The "bolt" of the Chicago locals after a vote purporting to show a majority in favor of continuing the strike was sudden and effective.

Men Flock Back to Work. The Chicago & Northwestern group, several hundred men, met and about 300 immediately returned to work. Striking employees of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad took similar action at another meeting.

"The industrial condition of the country is responsible for the ending of the strike," said Grunau. "The men have been wanting to go back to work for some time, but have held out loyally. So long as they could get work in other lines their condition was not so bad. But recently the labor market slumped. One factory that has employed scores of switchmen in emergency work recently laid off nearly all its extra forces."

"Men Need Money. Inability to find other work broke their morale. It is safe to say that conditions here are the same as elsewhere. Hence the action of the directorate in calling off the strike all over the country."

"There was no malice shown against the officers of the union in the action of the men. In my own local when I saw that the discontented men wanted to go back to work, I urged them to do so. They showed no malice. They tendered me a vote of thanks and shook hands with me at the close of the meeting."

Explains Extra Votes. "The extra 20,000 votes brought up by those who have attempted to circulate charges of stuffed ballot boxes in the vote on the referendum, represented returns from districts in northern Indiana and Ohio not generally considered as part of the Chicago district. Inasmuch as the vote on the proposition was national there was no reason why all these votes should not have been considered at once."

"I have counseled an end to the strike to preserve the organization. The men were deserting in large numbers and I believed it better to urge them to return as a unit and strike some sort of bargain with the railroads rather than struggle back as individuals and get nothing."

"The men will work loyally to repair any of the maddling of the national transportation system that has resulted from the strike."

TROTZKY ARRIVES ON FRONT Takes Personal Command of Fighting Against Poles—Reds Continue to Advance.

Paris, Sept. 15.—The Russian troops on the Polish frontier are continuing to advance, according to the official wireless statement from Moscow. It is claimed that several localities to the west of Grodno have been occupied and that the red forces are going ahead in the Brest-Litovsk area.

According to the Copenhagen Tiden, Leon Trotzky, the Russian war minister, arrived at the front to take personal command of the fighting. The reds, it is asserted, are preparing a winter campaign.

An unconfirmed report reached here saying that there had been a serious anti-bolshevik uprising at Petrograd and that the personnel of the fleet joined in the affair and bombarded Cronstadt.

DROWN 6 BOLSHEVIK HEADS Commissioners Thrown Into the Neva River During Anti-Bolshevik Uprising—Others Flee.

London, Sept. 15.—Six of the bolshevik commissioners, it is asserted in advices from Berlin, have been drowned in the Neva in the anti-bolshevik uprising, while the others have been compelled to seek places of refuge.

Union Fire Fighters. St. Louis, Sept. 15.—Plans for spreading the unionization movement among the members of the municipal fire department were considered at the third annual convention of the International Association of Fire Fighters in session here.

"There!" he exclaimed to his spouse, "is that fine? But," he added, reflectively, "I shall not be happy till my boy attains the proud position that lends 'em all." And he pointed in rapid admiration to the drum-major.

"Cold in the Head"

As an acute attack of Nasal Catarrh he is subject to frequent "colds in the head" will find that the use of HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE will build up the system, cleanse the blood and render them less liable to colds. Repeated attacks of Acute Catarrh may lead to Chronic Catarrh.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

Sign of Prosperity. "So you regard the advance in rail-road rates as a sign of prosperity?" "Assuredly," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "A public that can afford to meet the new charges cannot possibly be other than prosperous."

EATONIC Users Do This—Get the Greatest Benefits

Chicago, Ill.—Thousands of reports from people all over the U. S. who have tested eatonic, show the greatest benefits are obtained by using it for a few weeks, taking one or two tablets after each meal.

Eatonic users know that it stops Belching, Bloating, Heartburn, and Stomach Distress quickly, but the really lasting benefits are obtained by using eatonic long enough to take the harmful excess acids and gases entirely out of the system.

Unvarying Disapproval. "You say you have always objected to the use of money in politics?" "Always," answered Senator Sorghum; "especially when a fellow has more of it to use than I have."

SICK WOMEN HEAR ME

You Can Be Free from Pain as I Am, if You Do as I Did.

Harrington, Me.—"I suffered with backache pains through my hips and a bad cold bearing down on me that I could not stand on my feet. I also had other distressing symptoms. At times I had to give up work. I tried a number of remedies but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me more good than anything else. I am regular, do not suffer the pains I used to keep house and do all my work. I recommend your medicine to all who suffer as I did and you may use my letter as you like."

There are many women who suffer as Mrs. Mitchell did and who are being benefited by this great medicine every day. It has helped thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains no narcotics or harmful drugs. It is made from extracts of roots and herbs and is a safe medium for women. If you need special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

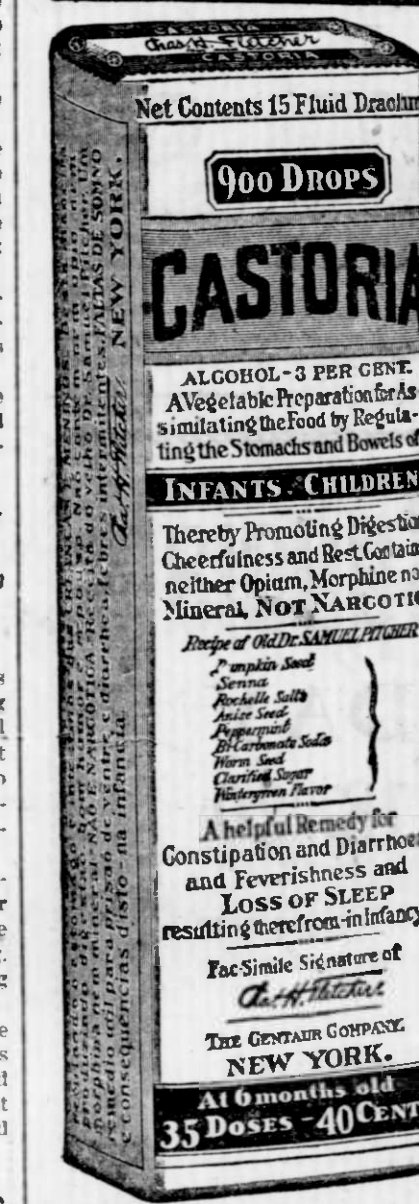

TO EVERY READER There is no pure herb family medicine in the world today that can equal the power and give such grand results in regulating the bowels, stimulating the liver, flushing and cleansing the kidneys, sweetening the stomach, or purifying and enriching the blood—than BULGARIAN BLOOD TEA Those who suffer with stomach, liver, kidney, rheumatism or blood troubles will find Bulgarian Blood Tea as the best medicine to relieve and correct these ailments. It is wonderful how quick you will begin to pick up and be your old-time self again.

During the 1918-20 influenza epidemic Bulgarian Blood Tea was used by countless thousands of sufferers with marvelous success and millions of people took it steaming hot to prevent and ward off the disease.

As a general first aid family medicine it has no equal and every person should have a box constantly on hand for any emergency—to kill colds, allay fevers and guard against influenza, pneumonia or other serious sickness.

HEATING PLANT AND CHIMNEY FIRES

Is every part of your heating plant in safe condition?
 Last year nearly 35% of the total number of Wisconsin fires and about 26% of the total fire losses were due to heating plant hazards.
 During 1919, in Wisconsin, 73 persons died, and 147 were injured through fire. In one case a whole family was wiped out. Think of it, 73 precious lives and one million and a half of property sacrificed largely because of carelessness.
 The discovery and remedy of heating plant hazards is not particularly technical, and only call for the exercise of ordinary care and good common sense.
 You believe in protecting the lives of those dear to you, your home, your shop and your accumulated savings of a lifetime; then profit by the lessons of the past, as taught by these statistics, and answer fully and conscientiously the questions below before starting the season's fires.
Causes of Fires
 Defective chimneys.....$461,375
 Sparks from chimneys.....338,950
 Defective boilers and furnaces.....330,895
 Defective fireplaces.....2,775
 Hot air pipes set fire.....570
 Smokepipes near wood.....55,725
 Defective smokepipes.....12,220
 Stoves near woodwork.....227,450
 Sparks from smokestacks.....26,065
 Ashes against wood.....74,005
 $1,529,970

QUESTIONS.

Is the chimney free from cracks, loose brick and other defects, and is it clean?
 Is any woodwork in direct contact with the chimney?
 Are boilers or furnaces set on brick or concrete base?
 Is the floor under stoves protected by a stove board?
 Are ceilings, partitions and walls within two feet of the stove, furnace or boiler protected with metal over asbestos?
 Is the ceiling within a distance of one and one-half times the diameter, and the wall or partition within a distance of the diameter of the smokepipe so protected?
 Is there a ventilated, double thimble and asbestos around the smokepipes in partitions?
 Is any smokepipe running through an attic or other concealed space?
 Is the smokepipe sound, well joined and wired, properly fitted into the chimney, and is it clean?
 Does the wall paper come up against any smokepipe?
 Are any flue holes stuffed up with rags or covered with wall paper or wood?
 Is your shingle roof moss covered and defective so as to become readily ignited by chimney sparks?
 Is the stove, boiler or furnace sound?
 Is the woodwork around hot air registers and pipes protected?
 Do you store ashes in wooden receptacles, on wood floors, or against walls, partitions and fences?
 Is your boiler room clean, and kept so?
 Do you overheat the stove or furnace, or leave drafts wide open?
 Timely repairs and care along these lines may save you "dough" and woe.
