The Wisconsin State Conference of Social Work held at Oshkosh, Oct. 13th to 15th, was the largest conference of social workers ever held in the country. There were present one thousand people, five hundred and one being in attendance from outside of the city of Oshkosh. Speakers of national reputation were on the various programs and a wide range of topics was presented. It was a most enthusiastic gathering, and all who attended felt that it was a privilege to hear these noted speakers. There were present at the convention ten representatives from Washington County.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE COSTS $40.00.

That it pays to do your shopping early when it comes to buying automobile licenses was demonstrated in the case of a Washington county man who was recently brought in to court for failure to take out automobile licenses for the operation of each of his several cars. He had resorted to the old steal of shifting number plates, thinking thereby to fool the officials as well as his neighbors and friends who had complied with the law themselves. It is a pretty smart man, if he may be called a man at all, who will try to sneak out of paying his automobile license fee. This money goes to keep the roads in condition, and everyone knows that automobiles are hard on roads. There is some satisfaction in seeing these skippers punished with the maximum fine as was our friend the other day when he paid the $25.00 fine, $5.00 costs and then on top of that $10.00 for his automobile license, making it all $40.00.

We are mentioning no names. It is not necessary to do this, and we wish to remind every good citizen of Washington County that it is not necessary for him to mention his own name in making complaints against anyone that he knows to be operating an automobile illegally or without obtaining a license. Just write a letter to the District Attorney of the County or send your complaint to the Secretary of State at Madison, giving the name and residence of the person who is violating the law. Investigation will be made and the guilty party punished according to the laws of the State. It is up to the people of the State of Wisconsin to help in the enforcement of this law. In fairness to tax payers and in justice to all those, the great majority who comply with the laws of the State, every Skin Flint who tries to dodge this payment should be brought into Court and made to pay at the rate of $40.00 at least instead of $10.00, which is the regular rate.

MAKES A RARE CATCH

During the course of our lives we may have heard and read of many a fish and hunting story, some of which, of course we believed to be true, while others were very much in doubt. But when we learn of the new discovery made by William Eberle, while on a trip upon pulling the line out of the water was surprised to find that the catch proved to be a "hell-diver, who had swallowed hook and minnow which had lodged way down in the bird's gizzard. This certainly is a very rare occurrence and one that has not all huffed, and as far as we know we believe that Mr. Eberle has made a record catch, and will be able to hold the medal for many years to come.

INSTALL NEW BALLOT BOOTHS

The Village Board this week installed new ballot booths in the assembly room of the village hall, which are a credit to the village as well as to the inventor, Dr. E. L. Morgenroth. The booths are constructed of white pine and wall board, nicely and neatly finished, and consist of five booths. The feature of the new booth is that there is not a nail in them, and they can be taken apart and set together in fifteen minutes, and be placed at such places in the assembly room as is most convenient. The new booths are quite an improvement over the old ones, which were unsightly and awkward to handle.

CANNOT HAMPER NEWSPAPER IN GETTING NEWS

A New York supreme court justice has issued a writ of injunction restraining the mayor of Brooklyn from depriving a newspaper reporter of a press seat at meetings of the board of estimate. Criticism of the mayor for a certain action aroused the mayor to bar the reporter from a seat reserved for newspaper men. "The press is the lever that moves the world as no other earthly power could move it," said the justice in his decision. "It should not be hampered while in the lawful pursuit of gathering news, or interfered with while honestly disseminating really important information for its readers."—Inland Printer.

The 1920 tax rolls were delivered to County Clerk Kraemer who will send them to the various clerks of the county in the near future. The new tax rolls will cause considerable extra work for all clerks as the state, county and town, city and village tax will be apportioned separately.

HAS ANOTHER FIRE

At about 1:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, fire of unknown origin completely destroyed the second barn on the Chas. Bleck farm in the town of Auburn. When Art, Eichsteadt, tenant, who was working in the field nearby, noticed smoke coming from the roof of the building, immediately sent an alarm to the local fire department, who responded promptly but arrived on the scene of the fire too late to save the building. Besides the barn about 8 tons of hay, fifty bushels of oats were consumed in the flames. The damage amounts to about $1000, partly covered by insurance. This is the second barn to burn on this farm within two weeks time and the loss to Mr. Bleck is a hard one.

PASSING OF THE PIONEERS

Again we are called upon to chronicle the sad news of the death of one of the oldest and most estimable pioneer settlers of Washington County, Henry Bruessel had been in ill health for the past year and one-half, brought about by old age. Although a man of wonderful physique his condition kept growing worse, without any changes for the better until he finally closed his eyes in eternal sleep at the home of his son Jacob, in the town of Kewaskum, Monday evening Oct. 18, 1920, at 9 o'clock, at the advanced age of 88 years, 3 months and 1 day. Deceased was born on July 17, 1832, in Darmstadt, Germany. When 16 years of age he immigrated to America, settling in Milwaukee where he resided until 1860, when he moved onto a farm about two miles northwest of this village, where he resided until ten years ago when he made his home with his son Jacob, 1 1/2 miles south of this village. In April 1860, he was married to Mary Blum, who preceded him in death about four years ago. Twelve children were born of this union, six of whom survive and whose names are: Mrs. Peter Klumb of the town of Wayne, Adam of Milwaukee, Jacob of the town of Kewaskum, Henry of Medford, Minn., Mrs. Fred Guth of Beaver Dam, Mrs. Wm. Hess of New Fane, and Charles of the town of Kewaskum. Besides his children he leaves 26 grand children and 5 great grand children. Mr. Bruessel was a man of true character, a man who always sought to do what was right and fair in all his dealings. He was a man among men always honored and respected. The greatest joy and pride of his life was in his family and had brought into the world noble sons and daughters. His death marks the closing days of one of the town of Kewaskum's noblest pioneer settlers, who was an honor to the community in which he lived. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at one o'clock, with services in the Ev. Peace church. Rev. Barth officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. The surviving relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, desire to express our sincere thanks to all those who so kindly assisted us in our late bereavement, the illness and death and burial of our beloved father, Henry Bruessel, to the pall bearers, the beautiful floral offerings, to the choir and especially to Rev. Barth for his kind words of consolation, and to all those who assisted at and attended the funeral.

The Surviving Children

Death, on Tuesday morning brought to a conclusion the life of one of the town of Auburn's oldest settlers, namely, John Schultz, after a lingering illness of four years' duration with rheumatism and old age. Mr. Schultz was born on September 15, 1836, in Lexow, Germany, where he grew to manhood. In 1865 he immigrated to America and settled in the town of Milwaukee, coming to his present home in 1882, where he resided up to the time of his death. In 1866, he was married to Miss Mary Dipbert, who together with five children survive. The names of the children are: William J. of Kewaskum; Bertha (Mrs. Alfera Johnson) of Cleveland, Ohio; Annie (Mrs. John Steve) of Augusta, Mich.; and Henry on the homestead. One daughter, Augusta, preceded her father in death several years ago. Besides these, he leaves to mourn his demise eight grand children and six great grand children. Through the death of Mr. Schultz the town of Auburn has lost one of its prominent and venerable citizens, coming to an advanced age, and one who was still a wilderness, but through hard work soon developed his land into an up-to-date farm, one of which not only his family but the citizens of his community can point to with pride. He was a man possessed of wonderful endurance, bearing his four years of severe suffering with patience until he answered the final call. The funeral was held Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the family residence with services in the Ev. Peace church here. Rev. H. L. Barth officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. The Statesman and its many readers extend heartfelt sympathy to the surviving relatives in this their hour of deep affliction.

CARD OF THANKS

Barth for his kind words of consolation, and to all those who assisted at and attended the funeral.

HOUSTON BALKS AT HOLDUP AID

Tells Farmers That Treasury Won't Aid Any Scheme for Artificial Prices.

REFUSES TO REVIVE WAR RULE

Heated Colloquy Develops Between Representatives of Agricultural Interests and Secretary—His Stand Approved by President.

Washington, Oct. 16.—Secretary Houston reiterated to representatives of agricultural interests in conference here that the treasury would not be a party to the withholding of any commodity from the market in order to maintain artificially high prices.

Spokesmen for the delegation were frank in their criticism of Mr. Houston's recent statement that prices had begun to recede, but the secretary told them as frankly that his statement properly represented conditions.

The delegation sought mainly to have the treasury revive the war finance corporation, arguing that through it they would be able to obtain funds to finance exports which they claimed were falling off, creating a stagnant market.

Secretary Houston asked if any members of the delegation would loan directly on German bonds or other securities, explaining that previous appeals of cotton producers were that the government should make available to them the German market. A heated colloquy between the secretary and Senator Smith of South Carolina, followed.

"Germany must live," the senator said. "You know she must live. I see no reason why her bonds should not be accepted. I would reply to your direct question: Yes, a thousand times yes, for, as I said before, Germany must live or the world pays the price."

Senator Smith told the secretary that he was "the one and only one" in the government who could direct the suspension of governmental activities which would relieve the situation complained of by the agricultural interests.

Secretary Houston explained that the treasury was constantly in the market to borrow money for the payment of current bills. He told them that the war finance corporation could obtain money only from the treasury and that if it were to loan it, it meant only that the treasury's borrowing would have to be increased and the government would have to call on the people continuously for more money.

Senator Smith declared that if such were necessary, it were the proper course to pursue. He said he had no objection to another popular loan if the exigency required.

Secretary Houston said the decision of the treasury not to revive the war finance corporation had been approved by the President and "numerous prominent senators and representatives."

All were familiar with the problems with which the corporation would deal if it were revived, the secretary said, adding that the consensus of opinion was that the benefits derived from restoration of the corporation would not counterbalance the evil effects it would have on the general money market and credit conditions.

Prepared to press their demand for a more liberal credit policy they met with the explanation that they would be granted a hearing before the full membership of the federal reserve board and its agents, assembled for the board's regular fall policy conference.

Delegates to the agricultural convention hoped to be able to present their arguments before the board formulates its policy in so far as it affects credits to farmers.

Governor Harding of the reserve board has told a committee which appealed to him for relief that the board was preparing a statement of policy covering all phases of the credit situation.

HANG 3 IN CHICAGO

Italian Sobs on Scaffold and Pleads With Executioners to Let Him Go—Several Murderers Reprieved.

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Frank Campione, a youthful member of the notorious Cardinella bandit gang, and John Henry Reese, a Pullman porter, who killed his wife with a hatchet, were executed on Thursday at one pull of the hangman's lever in the county jail.

The young Italian sobbed as the trap was sprung. The negro was calm.

"I'm going to my rest and I'll find peace," was his only statement. "Almighty God will take care of me."

Campione's shrieks as he was bound aroused the prisoners through the jail. As the trap fell they shouted: "Good-by, Joe!"

Two guards had to support Campione to the gallows. While the equipment of execution was being adjusted he pleaded, "Let me go, let me go," and he was crying as the trap was sprung. The execution was accomplished without delays.

Others of the condemned 13 were granted stays of reprieve in the last few weeks.

Before Frank Zagar, twenty-one-year-old murderer of two, went to the gallows Friday, bitterly cursing society, he said:

"I will get justice when I cross the border to the other world."

He crossed the border at 8:17 o'clock, according to the jailer's watch. He died on the same gallows where the crimes of Frank Campione and John Henry Reese were expiated Thursday.

WAVE RED FLAG IN LONDON RIOT

Fifty Injured When Unemployed and Police Clash; Cheers for Lenin.

MINE STRIKE BRINGS PERIL

Disorder Starts When the Parade Try to Break Through a Heavy Police Guard and Get into Downing Street.

London, Oct. 20.—Disorders occurred in Whitehall during a demonstration by unemployed men who had sent a delegation to Premier Lloyd George in Downing street. Several persons were injured in attempts to break through a police cordon and others were hurt when some stone work from a window on the treasury building fell.

The situation which developed at the entrance to Downing street was an ugly one. There were a thousand unemployed there, awaiting the return of their delegation, and the great thoroughfare in the vicinity was jammed.

The disorder started when the unemployed demonstrators tried to break through the heavy police guard and get into Downing street. It was during this rush that the window stones from the treasury crashed down. Police re-enforcements were rushed up and mounted police were called out to assist the regulars. Finally the crowd began to throw stones. The police finally dispersed the rioters.

The parapet on one side of Downing street also collapsed during the crush. A number of persons were injured when a crowd headed by the red flag of the Tottenham district Socialist and Labor party made a determined rush and tried to break through the police.

Eventually the red flag was captured. The deputation to the premier consisted of 15 heads of London bureaus asking relief for the unemployed. The disorders were still proceeding when the deputation emerged from the premier's office residence in Downing street and tried to quiet the crowd.

At the same time a small party of demonstrators went to the neighboring Trafalgar square, set up a red flag, sang the "Internationale" and cheered Lenin and Trotsky. No trouble developed here, however, the police not interfering.

In connection with the sending of the deputation to the premier, a parade of 10,000 of the unemployed had been planning to march to Downing street as a demonstration. After the disorders had subsided the parade of the unemployed reformed and continued toward Trafalgar square in an orderly manner, escorted by the police.

Fifty injured persons, including two policemen and a woman, received treatment when the trouble ended. Twenty of these were sent to hospitals.

In connection with the character of the demonstration, it was pointed out that the appearance of a red flag does not necessarily have particular significance.

London, Oct. 19.—Whether the great British coal strike, which is on in full in all the coal fields, will trend toward the formation of a soviet will be indicated through the week at the meetings of the executives of the other trade unions to decide their course of action.

Until now the miners stand alone. None of the other great unions have called on the men. In the meantime the government is preparing for the worst. Army and navy leaves of absence have been stopped. In the absence of definite signs of peace the plants chiefly dependent on coal are making plans to close down. Within a week it is certain that, including the miners, more than 2,000,000 men will be idle. The first plants to close will be the metal and pottery. The defense of the realm act passed for the war emergency, is again in full operation. It is unlawful for any family to obtain coal if it now has more than a half ton. Families without coal are permitted a hundred pounds a week. The factories have been limited to the consumption of 50 per cent of their normal quantity.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 19.—The new Mexican government will recognize all legal foreign debts of Mexico and all legal rights of Mexicans and foreigners in Mexico alike, Gen. Alvaron Obregon, president-elect of the southern republic, who assumes office December 1, told an audience at the international banquet here.

The banquet was the main event of General Obregon's visit to the Texas state fair, and he and his personal suite of nearly one hundred were guests.

General Obregon's speech followed the welcoming address of W. P. Hobby, governor of Texas, in which Governor Hobby declared that "so far as Texas is concerned General Obregon already is recognized."

General Obregon said he was sure the United States would recognize the new government of Mexico as soon as the stability and intentions of the government had been established in the public mind and that "Mexico would not become a province of the world or of the United States."

STRIKE SITUATION BEFORE COMMONS

Parliament Begins Move to End Miners' Walkout.

CRITICAL TEST FOR CABINET

Lloyd George Welcomes Suggestions of New Attempts at Negotiations—Firm Stand Against Granting Miners' Demands Urged.

London, Oct. 20.—Parliament reopened with the situation created by the coal strike and the Irish problem combining to draw the members to Westminster in large numbers.

Discussion on the coal strike was opened by Sir Robert Horne, president of the board of trade. He declared the government was open to every form of suggestion by which a peaceful solution of this great question could be obtained. He appealed to the house to keep all bitterness out of the debate, saying the problem was to be solved not by denunciation, but by good will and common sense.

Sir Robert was loudly cheered as he took the floor.

Ovation for Lloyd George.

Premier Lloyd George had entered shortly before and received an ovation.

In his speech Sir Robert reviewed the attempts at a settlement with the miners and drew a gloomy picture of the results if the strike were to be continued.

The factories throughout the country were closing, he said, with each day throwing 10,000 out of employment.

Trade, under these conditions, would be gradually strangled, he pointed out. He called attention to the depreciation of British credit abroad as a result only of the threatened strike, which amounted in the case of imports from America since July, he said, to nearly $500,000 monthly.

Can't Compromise Position.

It had been suggested, continued the speaker, that because the country was in this horrible trouble the miners should be given something. That, he said, might settle the strike, but if it did so others would have to be settled every three months, when once the impression got about that it was only necessary to threaten a strike in order to get something.

Any government acting with responsibility would only give way, he declared, when it was assured that the demands were justified. Any government doing less would be failing in its duty.

Laborite members of the house of commons have been for several days in conference with leaders of the miners' federation and other great labor organizations, and London was hopeful that they had reached some decision which would tend to bring about a solution of questions that caused the walkout of the coal diggers.

Lloyd George Firm.

Braving the warnings from the laborite members of parliament that the railway men and the transport workers, the remaining two elements of England's labor "triple alliance," would shortly quit work and join the striking coal miners and thus bring catastrophe to Britain, Premier Lloyd George, in the house of commons, declared he would not concede the wage demands of the miners unless he is given a guarantee of increased coal output.

Up to the present the miners have refused to give such a guarantee although determinedly struggling for increased pay to meet the mounting cost of living.

The commons battled with the grave strike situation for five full hours. Just before rising for adjournment of the session, which was marked on all sides by a conciliatory debate, the speakers being possessed of the menace to the empire latent in the strike atmosphere, the premier grave and holding himself in restraint, announced that the government could not accept a solution which was not of a permanent nature. Halfway measures, he emphasized, would not solve the situation.

Demands Heavier Production.

The premier then invited the owners and the mine workers to devise a scheme among themselves to bring about the heavier tonnage production which he demanded.

Replying to the laborite suggestions that he summon the owners and the miners for a conference Lloyd George said that it would first be necessary for him to consult the cabinet. He declared that he would call a meeting of the cabinet provided he could be satisfied that the miners would agree to an investigation of the entire question of wages and output.

GREEK KING IS DEAD

RULER'S DEATH THROWS GREECE INTO NEW STRUGGLE.

Monkey Bites Inflicted October 2 Fatal to Alexander—Powers Have Rival Claimants to Throne.

London, Oct. 20.—King Alexander of Greece died Tuesday, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens via Brindisi. Death resulted from the effects of two wounds inflicted by two monkeys on October 2, when the king fought the animals to protect a pet dog.

King Alexander, who ascended the Hellenic throne on June 17, 1917, after his father, King Constantine, had fled the country following a political upheaval, had been ill since the date of the monkey bites and his condition had been daily reported as growing worse. Both animals that bit the king were found to be diseased and were killed.

The death of King Alexander is expected to precipitate a dramatic international struggle in which the most acute old world politicians will name the successor to the Greek throne.

Those who have closely watched the trend of events in the Hellenic kingdom foresee an intense internal crisis which will tax to the uttermost the strength of the political master of Greece, Eleutherios Venizelos, who, while long nursing a hope for the establishment of a republic, believes that the time for the change is not ripe.

On the Thursday chosen the reports are to be submitted to the public.

At the office at the Auditorium hotel of National Republican Chairman Hays, who also is in Chicago, it was stated that Chairman Hays would comply with the senate committee's request.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Assurances have been given the state department by Count Dehearn, French charge here, that the French government has not given authority to anyone to approach Senator Harding with suggestions that the Republican presidential nominee take the lead in forming a new world association.

MADAGASCAR GOLD.

A curiosity preserved at the Philadelphia mint is a small assignment of gold from Madagascar, which is of an extraordinary brightness. It was mined, smelted and put up for shipment by natives, who, for a receptacle, took a piece of bamboo six inches long and two inches in diameter, polished the outside to glasslike smoothness. Then they put a wooden cork in one end, poured in the melted gold and corked up the other end.

The Power of the Hour

MECCHANICAL power is stepping swiftly into the breach that has been formed by restless, dissatisfied labor. This is true in the city and it is true on the farm.

Today Titan 10-20 Tractors are the labor-saving power of the hour on the farms of America. Everywhere, reaching to the farthestmost boundaries of agriculture, you will hear the steady chug-chug of these tireless toilers. They are displacing men and horses and getting more work per day from available farm labor. Soon summer fallowing will be under way in many sections of the country, and there you will find Titan 10-20 Kerosene Tractors working faithfully from sun-up to sun-down, undisturbed by heat or flies, turning the hard-baked ground in the interests of bumper crops.

New Titans are scarce just now, due to unprecedented demand, and the fact that every user of a Titan 10-20 is a Booster is the best of reasons for you to act at once to secure one of the very few available.

Come in and let us show you why you should buy a Titan 10-20 Farm Tractor.

A. G. Koch, Kewaskum, Wis.

CORN IS EASILY PUT INTO SILOS

Almost Any Green Crop Can Successfully Be Made Into Palatable Silage.

MOST NUTRIENTS PRESERVED

Can Be Put Into Silo at an Expense Not Above That of Shocking, Husking, Grinding and Shredding—Less Waste in Feeding.

Almost any green crop can be made into silage successfully. Much care, however, must be taken to expel the air from such hollow-stemmed plants as the small cereal grains by cutting fine and packing firmly. Other crops, of which legumes are examples, are deficient in the fermentable constituents needed for palatable silage. On the other hand, a few crops, such as the saccharine sorghums, have so much sugar that unless cut at a more mature stage they have a tendency to produce sour silage.

Food Material From Corn.
In most parts of the United States more food material can be obtained from an acre of corn as silage than from an acre of any other crop that can be grown. Corn is more easily harvested and put into the silo than crops like rye, clover, cowpeas, or alfalfa, and when cut for silage the maximum quantity of nutrients is preserved. Experiments have shown that corn, when silaged, lost 15.6 per cent of the dry matter, against 23.8 per cent when cut for fodder and cured in the field. Moreover, there is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder, since good silage properly fed is all consumed.

Land Ready.
When corn is cut for silage the land is cleared and left ready for another crop sooner than when the corn is shocked or is husked from the stand.

ing stalk. Corn can be put into the silo at a cost not above that of shocking, husking, grinding and shredding. Farmers' Bulletin 578 on "The Making and Feeding of Silage" may be had by addressing the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SYSTEMS OF FARM ACCOUNTS

Ready-Made Schemes Seldom Bring Out Essential Facts That Farmer Ought to Know.

Farmers, as a rule, are highly individualistic in their methods, and farm business conditions vary widely. Accordingly, ready-made systems of farm accounts seldom bring out all the facts that the farmer ought to know. Systems must be developed to fit each man's requirements, and efforts to shape one's needs according to a prepared system not based primarily on these needs will almost inevitably result in failure.

AVOID BLACKLEG INFECTION

Bodies of Animals Dying of That Disease Should Be Buried or Buried Quite Deeply.

Carcasses of animals dying of blackleg should either be buried or buried deeply. The bodies of such animals constitute the main source of blackleg infection, and it is a dangerous practice to allow a carcass to decay where it falls or merely haul it to some out of the way place. Likewise, skinning or opening a carcass increases the danger of infection.

WATCH OUT FOR POLLUTION

Inspection of Wells and Springs, Sources of Water Supply, Should Be Made.

Purity and abundance are the two essentials of water supply. Wells and springs are the usual sources of farm water, but both may easily be contaminated, and the vicinity should, therefore, be inspected for possible sources of pollution.

MAKING PORK WITH ALFALFA

Without Crop of Legume Producer Is Handicapped—Hogs Do Not Relish Huffy Feeds.

The pork producer without alfalfa is handicapped from the start. Hogs are not designed by nature to consume large quantities of bulky feeds as are cattle and sheep, but there seems to be an exception in the case of alfalfa.

RELATIVE HARDINESS

"It is a mistaken idea that scrubbers are more hardy if only those are kept which are of good constitutional vigor."—United States Department of Agriculture.

WHITE SWEET CLOVER CROP IS PREFERABLE

Breeding Is Much Easier Than With Red Variety.

Interesting Facts Brought Out by Recent Experiments Conducted by Department of Agriculture and Iowa State College.

Red clover, recent investigations have shown, is practically self-sterile; that is, under the influence of its own pollen a very small number of seeds on a given plant will set. In this respect it differs from white sweet clover, which tests have demonstrated will set nearly as many seeds under the influence of its own pollen as it will with the pollen of another plant. This makes the breeding of white sweet clover a much more promising undertaking than the breeding of red clover. These facts have been brought out by recent experiments conducted by the United States department of agriculture in co-operation with Iowa State college. The federal department's investigators plan to follow up these discoveries with the selection and breeding of white sweet clover for increased forage and seed production.

It was also found that sweet clover needs a great deal of moisture to mature the seed properly. This is one of the reasons why the second crop of sweet clover sometimes has a better seed yield than the first. There being a smaller amount of growth on the second crop, the plants do not draw on the water supply so strongly and there is more water left for the maturing of the seed.

DRIED CORN FOR WINTER USE

Sweet Corn Cheap and Easy to Prepare for the Family During Cold Weather—Store in Dry Place.

Dried corn is as old as the early American Indians. Sweet corn is one of the easiest of the vegetables to dry for winter use. If there is enough on the market, the corn can be bought very cheaply, or if you have a surplus in your garden, it will be well worth your while to dry that surplus. As soon as the corn is pulled, husk the ears and boil for five minutes to set the milk. Cut the corn off of the cob, and air place on the dryer in the sun and for a day or until the corn has been dried. Place trays in the oven and finish drying. Store in a dry, cool place until it is desired during the winter.

GOOD SIRES NEEDED

"Breeds of livestock cannot be improved without the constant use of good sires. A good sire so impresses his characteristics upon his offspring that they are more like him than like the common herd."—Missouri State Board of Agriculture.

BLUE GRASS IS DETRIMENTAL

Nothing is more detrimental to the growth of alfalfa than blue grass, and perhaps nothing is harder to get rid of. Some use the springtooth harrow, but it does not do satisfactory work. The Iowa State college says the disk does much better work as it will tear out the blue grass and leave most of the alfalfa unhurt. Naturally, the disk will split some of the crowns of the alfalfa, but this is far better than losing the whole field. The disking should be done right after the first or second cutting.

SERIOUS LOSS BY CUTWORMS

Corn and Other Cereal Crops Suffer Greatly Every Year.—Fall Plowing Is Beneficial.

Cutworms cause serious losses to corn and other cereal crops every year in the United States. These worms are the young of brown or gray moths, or "millers," which lay their eggs on grasses and grains. The young cutworms live in the soil during the winter and attack the grain soon after it sprouts in the spring. Fall plowing is a beneficial measure for control, where practicable.

BUSINESS STEP FOR FARMER

One of Most Practical Things He Can Do Is to Familiarize Himself With Market Ways.

One of the most practical steps the shipper can take to better his condition is to familiarize himself with business practices and to secure a better knowledge of the way his produce is handled on the market.

SKIRTS MADE OF PLAIN CLOTHES

AMONG the great number of plated skirts made of plaid and striped material, an occasional plain skirt and an even more occasional model without plaits, will be sure to seize the attention. And, although the vogue is overwhelmingly for plaits and for plaids, there are some hand-some models that are not acquainted with either of these. Without apologies they present themselves for comparison among their numerous plated sisterhood and usually we perceive that they belong to the aristocracy of skirts.

The skirt at the left is innocent of plaits and is made of taupe colored wool jersey in a fine quality. It could hardly be simpler, being straight and gathered in at the waist line. It has a deep hem headed with a flat fold. Starting at this fold and extending almost to the waist line, large and small buttons covered with mole skin are set at the end of simulated buttonholes. At the right side there

Fashion's Approved Fur Styles

THE usually arbitrary goddess of fashion is inclined to be tolerant so far as styles in fur garments are concerned. For furs are furs these days—as a diamond is a diamond—they are bringing startlingly high prices. It does not appear that they are destined to become cheaper, unless something happens to lessen the demand, and high prices have failed to do that. Therefore a fur piece of any description is a possession to be treasured and everything is worn from the smallest of chokers that fasten close up about the throat to long and ample dolmans and coats whose prices are stated in five figures.

Scarfs hold the lead in the smaller fur garments and they are either straight or shaped and may be long or short. Anyone fortunate enough to own one as generous in size as that shown in the picture can wish for nothing more splendid. It is a handsome koltsky embellished with claws and small tails, lined with crepe-de-chine and provided with pockets at the ends. This scarf is much larger than the average.

After the scarfs come small capes, some of them just falling over the shoulders and others extending below the waist. A fine example of this style of garment is shown at the left of the picture and it is made with a graceful shawl collar. Dark mink skins, natural or dyed squirrel, mole, sealskin and other short-haired pelts are used for making these chic fur pieces that look just what they are—rich and warm, a luxurious detail suited to any sort of costume.

At the right of the picture a handsome fox scarf, made of a single generous-sized pelt, is shown, not because it is new but because it holds its own as a favorite from season to season and is always good style. It is lined with satin and the small head does duty as a fastener. The lower jaw works on a hinge and spring and is made to grasp the fur at any point to adjust it loosely or close up about the throat.

Has Distinguishing Features. A cloth wrap, which has distinguishing features without being or a cut that finds so much popular favor that it soon becomes commonplace is deemed to stand in an extra wrap of worsted a woman likes to find a model that she can wear for more than one season. One of the new square-hanging wraps of blue, black and white checked worsted, is most desirable for the utility coat that fills so many requirements in the wardrobe. It is a perfectly square-cut garment having

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

GAME OF MANNERS.

"I must tell you a story about the game of good manners which they play in a large public school in a big city," said Daddy.

"It doesn't sound like a very pleasant story, for when we have story-telling time we don't want to be preached to or scolded or anything like that."

"But I thought this was such a good idea that you might, Nick and Nancy, tell your teachers about it and also tell the other boys and girls and then you might see how you liked the game. 'And this isn't my own idea,' Daddy said, 'but it is the idea of the principal of the big school I'm telling you about and the teachers follow out the idea with a great deal of success.'"

"In the first place everyone learns the lesson in the form of a story and no one is fooled into hearing a story with a moral without first knowing it. They're all let into the secret that there is to be a good lesson learned by it."

"And I think most boys and girls like to know that, don't you?"

Both children nodded their heads. "I do twice as well when put on my honor," said Nancy, "and when I know I'm being trusted and when I'm told some of the reasons we're supposed to do this and that."

"And I agree," said Nick. "Well," said Daddy, "they thoroughly enjoy this lesson as I said before. They are let into the secret that it's a lesson, though it is a play-time lesson and they have it in connection with their gymnasium and play-time work, though it doesn't take the place of recess."

"And they grow to understand their teachers better, who are teaching them the game of manners and they get on so much better when both teachers and pupils understand each other and really like each other.

"For example they hear a story of a little boy who didn't want to wash his hands or face and who became so dirty that he found himself without any companion except a pig."

"After they have heard such a story they all act it out, one taking the part of the dirty little boy, and the others of the people he met who wouldn't play with him or have anything to do with him, or invite him into their homes, or anything like that."

"And they take turns with having the story about a boy and about a girl. 'They hear a story of a very rude boy or girl and of how he grew up into a cross man or woman, and they hear of his adventures and what horrible times he had making others miserable as well as himself.'"

"Then they act out these stories in their classes where they have dramatics and different ones take the part of the bad child or the unmanly child or the unmanly grown-up, and of all the people whom these met with in their adventures."

"In this way, by story telling and acting, they learn how to be manly, neat, nice, true to themselves and good and courteous to others."

"They are shown by story telling and acting so many things which they hadn't stopped to think about whether they might be rude or mean or disagreeable."

"And they love to practice what they act, and they like to take the parts of the nice characters, and they find themselves actually living these parts and enjoying themselves, too."

"They find that by being neat and cheery and manly they don't become little good-goodies, but simply sensible boys and girls, getting the most out of life and school, teachers and each other."

"For manners is to them a nice game where all want to be the winners."

"And oh, what laughter there is when a boy makes a mistake in acting his part of the teacher and in being very unlike the teacher and more like himself which of course is quite natural. Yes, the game of good manners is a great and successful game in this school where there are three thousand and six hundred boys and girls."

Might Interfere.

Walter and Harry, the twins, were saying their prayers. After they had finished Walter exclaimed: "Mamma, I don't want Harry to say his prayers when I do."

"Why not, Walter?" asked his mother.

"Because," he replied, "how do you 'spec' God can hear us both at the same time?"

Wanted His Butter Soft.

The grocer handed the small boy the pound of butter he asked for. The little boy felt the brick of butter indignantly and failed to make an impression with his thumb. "This is such hard butter," he complained. "Can't you give me a piece that isn't so hard?"

The Reason. "Do you believe in letting people keep their illusions?"

"Sure. What else would become of the professional magicians?"

WAR AGAINST THE BELUGA
French Oceanograph Society Starts Fight on Enemies of the Fishermen.

A campaign against the beluga or white whale was recently started from Douarnenez to Concarneau, in Brittany, by the French Oceanograph society, in which nets and poison tubes were used. The beluga, pest of the fishermen, is generally cream white in color, feeds mainly on marine fish and commits ravages among the shoals. The average length of the adult male is about 18 or 20 feet. To hunt down the white whale a net 1,100 yards long was set up at Douarnenez, while another was placed in a suitable position by the fishermen at Concarneau. Furthermore, the skippers of the sardine boats used 4,000 Yvels deluge poison tubes against the belugas.—Indianapolis News.

Harry Carey, the picture star is about as affable a chap as one would care to meet, but once in awhile he does get peeved and this is most likely to occur when the company is on location and is in a hurry to get the work done and return to the studio.

Not so long ago the Carey company was on location in the north country, but instead of finding sunny weather it was cold and cloudy. This was bad enough, but the explosion came in the tiny restaurant when the chatty waiter remarked: "The rain will be here in a minute or two sir."

"Who'll want rain?" thundered Carey. "I didn't order any. I'm waiting for eggs—sunny side up!"

The "U.S." Walrus

Three reasons why you'll like the new "U.S." Walrus

- 1—Can be cleaned instantly
- 2—Slips on over your leather shoes
- 3—Fleece-lined—warm and dry

NO more dirty, mud-clogged overshoes! Here's an overshoe that you can clean instantly—no matter how dirty it is! Dash a pail of water over it—or hold it right under a faucet—and every trace of mud washes quickly off its smooth rubber surface.

When you have to go out for wood, or to milk, or for any of those dozens of odd jobs around the place—you want an overshoe that you can slip on and off in a hurry. Here it is—buckle it on in a second—unbuckle it and push it off with your toe when you're through.

Ever work on a job all day long with wet, cold feet? If you have, you'll be glad of the soft, fleecy lining in this new overshoe that keeps your feet warm and comfortable. Dry, too—it's absolutely watertight.

Built for the hardest wear

Made by the oldest and largest rubber manufacturer in the world, the U. S. Walrus is built for the roughest wear. Its sole consists of heavy layers of the finest rubber. All other points of strain are specially reinforced.

Ask your dealer to show you the new U. S. line—boots, booties, arctics—whatever you need. Every one is backed by over half a century of experience. The rubber comes from our own plantations—the whole process of manufacture is supervised by experts.

Always look for the U. S. Seal—it means solid wear and long service for your money.

"U.S." Boots—Reinforced where the wear is hardest. Made in all sizes and styles—Bip, Half-hip, and Knee. In red, black, and white.

"THE HOME OF EXCLUSIVE GROCERIES"

KEWASKUM, WISCONSIN

JUST A LITTLE STORY—A TRUE STORY

TWO men met the other day after a separation of many years. One remarked the prosperous appearance of the other as the "other" noted the seedy appearance of his friend. They exchanged experiences. The prosperous one claimed his prosperity due to early thrift and opening a savings account when he was a young man. His savings had started him in business and the habits acquired had guided him in later years.

The "other" had not saved. He had put off from day to day his first deposit and because he had not saved had been forced to watch opportunity pass him by. His watchword was "tomorrow" and tomorrow never comes.

Moral: Don't wait! Come to the bank NOW and make your first deposit—one dollar will open an account.
