BIG ARMISTICE DAY DANCE

Armistice Day is destined to be one of the big happy holidays for the American people and in fact for the people of the world war. It marks the end of the most gigantic war the world ever saw. This occasion probably means more to the American Legion than to the rest of the people, for the Legion is made up of young men and women who were in the service.

On November 11, 1918 the civilian population of America celebrated gloriously. On November 11, 1920 the ex-Servicemen will celebrate with those who did their patriotic duty at home. Everyone is invited to the American Legion Dance at West Park Hall in the city of West Bend on November 11.

PROGRAM

- 8:00 o'clock P. M.—Dancing.
- 10:30 o'clock P. M.—Formal Program.
 - Selections by West Bend Male Quartette.
 - Address Judge (Naval Lieutenant) Mc Gillan of Green Bay.
 - Singing of the National Anthem led by Quartette.
- Grand March.
- Lunch.

The Lieut. Ray Dickop Post with headquarters at West Bend has a membership of 160 from all parts of Washington County. Every ex-Serviceman may join the American Legion. Membership fees are $2.00 and for the $2.00 the ex-Serviceman gets the American Legion magazine in addition to the privileges of membership.

The following will be invited to act as chaperones for the Armistice Day Dance: Messrs. and Mesdames Otto Lay, Dave Rosenheimer, George Schmidt, C. W. Dupe, N. W. Rosenheimer of Kewaskum; Fred Metzner of Kohlsville; Math Stoffel, Joseph Weninger, Dr. Meyer Frye, E. W. Sawyer, Dr. Philip Kautz, Math Weiss, Chas. J. Roth of Schleisingsville; Dr. H. A. Pfeifer, Alfred Froehlich of Jackson; John Schwabach of South German-ton; George Kissel, William Kissel, J. J. Focht, Grover Frye, E. W. Sawyer, Prof. George B. Haverson, Arthur Breitenfeldt, George Burdington of Hartford; Ben Mertes of Newburg; A. J. Kaper, Dr. S. J. Driessel, of Barton; Dr. A. H. Heidner, M. H. Regner, Mr. Robert H. Rolfs, George Poul, E. C. Ziegler, J. P. Buckley, D. E. McLane, H. E. Cooley, Martin Walter, A. G. Langenbach, Michael Gehl, Arthur Klumb, Frank Groom, Walter Ottmer, Ed. Lane of West Bend.

DWELLING HOUSE HAZARDS

An excellent pamphlet, containing the following bulletin among other good features, was prepared and distributed by the Milwaukee Fire Department as part of its Fire Prevention Day doings:

Housekeeping. The attic, cellar and all closets and outbuildings should be cleaned at least once every year, and useless material should be removed therefrom and burned. These unnecessary accumulations are dangerous, and are the cause of many fires. Store all remaining material neatly away so that a clear passage may be had between or around boxes, cases, barrels, etc.

In storing clothing. First remove all matches or other material from the pockets and then carefully fold and neatly place away. Do not hang clothes where they will be near hot chimneys.

Care should be exercised in burning leaves, dead grass or rubbish. Keep these fires a safe distance from buildings, and never light them on windy days.

Lighting Hazards. Before attaching electric irons, vacuum cleaners, cooking utensils or any other electrical device to your lighting circuit or sockets consult an electrician as to the ability of your wiring, and if necessary this additional load. Electric wiring systems are designed to carry only a certain current, and if overloaded may cause fires. Numerous fires have been caused by leaving electric irons with the current on. Disconnect them immediately when through using.

Heating Hazards. At least an eighteen inch clearance is necessary between top and sides of furnace, breeching and flues from ceiling, partitions, and other combustible material. Repair at once any broken plaster in ceiling or partition walls.

Never permit a stove of any kind to be set up without stone, brick, concrete or metal protection underneath, or near a partition without a metal shield and air space.

Every period of extreme cold results in numerous fires due to forcing the heating apparatus. Keep this in mind this winter. Watch your heater. Gasoline and Explosives. Do not use patent cleaners, fluids, polish or chemicals unless you know some thing about them. Many of these contain volatile oils of a hazardous character.

Beware of rags or cloths used in oiling floors or cleaning or polishing furniture. They may ignite spontaneously. Be sure and burn them after using. Leaving them about for only a few hours may mean fire.

Fire Protection. One or more approved chemical fire extinguishers should be placed in every home. They must be protected against freezing.

The Family Garage. When filling the tank, run the auto outside, so that gasoline vapors will dissipate.

A metal waste can should be located at a convenient place outside the garage for all waste and greasy rags. Burn these every week. Never use sawdust or shavings to absorb grease and oil. Scrub floor (if wooden), occasionally with hot water and lye.

In General. Families with the family with the operation of the nearest fire alarm box. After operating a fire alarm, stay near it to direct the firemen to the fire. Every minute is significant.

Call the fire chief's attention to any conditions liable to cause fire.

NOTICE

Anyone caught hunting or trapping on my premises will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

SANITORIUM SITE SELECTED

Although Washington County offered some very favorable sites for the tri-county sanatorium, Fond du Lac county has offered a site on which a final selection was made by the tri-county committee, at a meeting held by the committee at Fond du Lac last week, at which time possession was acquired of a 74-acre farm located six miles south of that city on the Fond du Lac road. The price to be paid is $22,000, payments to be made during the regular session of the county boards in November. The Storck property in the village of Schleisingsville was the second choice of the committee. The site selected is splendidly situated, a short distance from Fond du Lac and near the three county lines. It is of uniformly high altitude, with an excellent building site with a south slope and a heavy wooded area to the north. It is close to a railroad station located on the So-line at Hamilton, and a few miles from the St. Paul road depot branch line going through Iron Ridge and Mayville. Plans for the sanatorium were drawn up by Mr. Hannan of Fond du Lac. Present plans are to build the building in groups; the first unit will be started next spring, and additions are to be added as needed. It is estimated that the building and everything will cost about $400,000.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The High School held its first social event of the year at the Opera House last Friday evening when it gave a Halloween party. The hall was very well decorated; ghosts, witches and fortune tellers were present in spooky corners; games and dancing followed by a very nice lunch made everyone report a pleasant, enjoyable evening.

The teachers are attending the State Teachers' Convention at Milwaukee Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The regular quarterly examinations were given last Tuesday and Wednesday. Those exempt from all examinations of 85 or above in all subjects were: Ada Schultz, Edwin Morgenroth, Isabella Miller, Margaret Hawig, Raymond Quade, and Sylvester Marx. Those exempt in two subjects because of standing of 85 or above in all subjects were: Arnold Boegel, Bernard Brodzeller, Crescence Stoffel, Meta Schultz, Ralph Wollensak and Sylvia Marx.

The High School basketball team will play its first game of the season at the Opera House, Friday evening, November 12, when it meets the fast, strong Lomira High School team. Due to the fact that a large number of last year's team graduated Coach Dupe has had a big problem on hand breaking up new material and getting the players placed in positions to make the strongest team possible. The team is being driven at full speed at every practice and hopes to be in fair, if good shape for the first game.

In order to raise funds and help support the team a box social is being given after the game. Each lady is asked to bring a trimmed box to be sold to the highest bidder. This means that every lady, whether married or single, in school or out of school is asked to bring a basket. This means that anyone, whether old or young, is asked to bid on the baskets. A year ago some seemed to think the social was for high school students only. That is not the case at all. The team needs and appreciates your help. Come out and boost for the boys of tomorrow and the men of tomorrow. The game will be called at 8:15; dancing after the game; baskets will be sold about 10:30.

RAPIDLY DECREASING

The state is gradually clearing itself of bovine tuberculosis from which it is estimated that 25 per cent of tuberculosis among children comes through milk from infected cows. During the month of September the state department of agriculture tested 179 herds containing 4,201 cattle. Ninety-three of these lots passed a negative or clean test. This made a net gain of 30 to the federal-state accredited herd list. The federal government is co-operating with the state in the attempt to stamp out the disease. The total number of state herds absolutely free from tuberculosis is 361, according to Dr. J. S. Healy. During the month 971 herds passed one negative test. There are now under supervision of the department 1,611 herds.

STORES OPEN SATURDAY EVENING

During the winter months, effective immediately, the stores in Kewaskum will be closed on Wednesday evening, and open on Saturday evening only.

TO GIVE BASKET SOCIAL

A basket social will be held in the Sunday School rooms of the Ev. Peace church, on Thursday evening, Nov. 11 under the auspices of the Y. P. A. Club of that congregation. The committee in charge is making every effort to bring this social to a successful climax, and a royal good time is assured all who attend. The public in general is cordially invited to attend.

GRAND FESTIVAL AND BAZAAR

What will mark the most interesting of social affairs of this fall, will be the Autumn Festival and Bazaar given at Boltonville in the M. W. A. hall on November 14 and 15, under the auspices of the St. John of God Catholic congregation. No efforts have been spared to make this social a grand success. Both hall and dining room are most artistically decorated in the autumn effect. Numerous booths are placed in the large assembly hall, such as the ladies and gents booth, candy counters, flower garden, fortune, merry-go-round, etc. Many useful articles will be disposed of. A program consisting of vocal solos, selections by St. Michael's choir, two comedies: "A Slight Misunderstanding" and "Jovial Country Justice" will be given at various intervals. Sunday evening from 4 to 8, a most delicious chicken supper will be served and on Monday evening a soured kraut and wienner luncheon. All roads lead to Boltonville Nov 14 and 15, so head your autos that way and you may be lucky to carry home one of the following prizes which are given with each admission ticket: A $25 rocker, $30 in gold, 10 articles in merchandise, cord of maple wood, a Holstein heifer, a barrel of flour, 50 lbs. of Longhorn cheese, a Victrola and a percolator.

ELECTION LAST TUESDAY RESULTS IN BIG REPUBLICAN LANDSLIDE

Last Tuesday's election brought out the largest vote ever cast in this village and Washington County, 300 votes were cast in the village and about 8000 in the county. A large number of women took advantage of the duty invested upon them by casting their vote. The result of the election shows a complete Republican landslide throughout the nation. Wm. S. Olwin, of this village, after weeks of hard campaigning was elected sheriff by a majority of over 1700 votes. John Klessig was re-elected to the office of Clerk of Court. Both candidates received a hearty endorsement from the village and town of Kewaskum. The straw vote taken to decide whether the village shall install a municipal plant or buy the water from the Kewaskum Electric Light Company, whenever the village shall decide to install water works and sewerage system showed the following results: 56 in favor of purchasing the water from the Kewaskum Electric Light Company; 184 for municipal plant; 28 against both questions, 32 defectives, 15 blanks. The result of the election in the county is as follows:

THE COUNTRY STORE OF TODAY

The country store of yesterday, where our fathers and grandfathers gathered of an evening to toast their toes around the stove and settle the affairs of the nation, finds itself today with some pretty serious problems to face. Good roads and the automobiles have stimulated a tendency on the part of country people to go to the city to trade even for the purchase of small articles that used to be bought only from the nearest crossroads store. And the country store is confronted with the necessity of overcoming this "town-trading" tendency if it is to do a worth-while business.

For one thing the country store has always done a considerable evening business. Because its customers couldn't conveniently get away from their farms during the daytime, or because they liked to meet each other there, it has always been the custom for the rural store to stay open at night, until the last customer was ready to leave. Now it has long been known that one of the first principles of retail merchandising is display,—putting goods where they can be easily and favorably seen. But the old days this was a rather difficult thing, because light at night was furnished only by one or two coal oil lamps hung over the counters.

Today a transformation is taking place. The small electric light and power plants which have come into such general use on farms throughout the country are serving the country store, too. Counters, show cases and show windows are brightly lighted. For the first time goods are really well displayed. This brightening by light has brought brightening by other means, such as new fixtures and freshly painted woodwork. And the result is that the people of the surrounding community are doing the natural thing,—buying well displayed goods at an attractive store near their home.

Where electricity has come to serve the rural store the trade-in-town tendency is not worrying the storekeeper to any great extent. He has found the solution to his trade problem.

DEATH OF WILLIAM DINS SR.

Death on Tuesday, November 2nd, 1920, entered the home of Peter Senn and called away another of the town of Auburn's oldest and most highly respected pioneer settlers, William A. Dins, who after an illness of several months' duration, brought about by old age passed into eternal sleep at the advanced age of 82 years, four months and 29 days. Deceased was born in Pummarn, Germany on June 3rd, 1838, and immigrated to America with his parents when a young man, settling in the town of Auburn where he resided up to the time of his death. He leaves to mourn his loss nine children, namely: Bertha (Mrs. William Reisenweber), Anna (Mrs. William Ahlrad), Lizzie (Mrs. Gust Diekmann) of Campbellsport; Ida (Mrs. Herman Corte) of Lomira; Otto Dins of Lomira; Albert of Brownsville; Mrs. W. J. Jens of Fond du Lac; Amelia (Mrs. Peter Senn) and Willie of Campbellsport. Mr. Dins was a man well liked by all who had the good fortune of making his acquaintance, a kind neighbor and a devoted husband and father. The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with services in the German Reformed church at Campbellsport. Rev. Zenk officiated. Interment was made in the congregation's cemetery. The Statesman joins the many friends of the deceased in extending heartfelt sympathy to the surviving relatives.

DEATH OF CAROLINA KLUG

After an illness of four months' duration with bronchitis, Mrs. Carolina Sophia Klug, passed away at the home of her son John in the town of Kewaskum on Tuesday, November 2, 1920, at 5:30 A. M. Deceased was born on September 23, 1842 in Germany. When a young girl she immigrated with her parents to America, settling in the town of Kewaskum on November 7, 1862, she was married to Ferdinand Klug, who preceded her in death in 1876. Eight children were born of this union, five of whom survive. Mrs. Klug was a kind and loving wife and mother, a true Christian and her true personality won for her many friends by whom she was held in high esteem. The funeral will be held today (Saturday) at 1 o'clock, with services in the St. John's Lutheran church at New Fane. Rev. Gutekunst will officiate. Interment will be made in the congregation's cemetery.

IN MEMORY

RED CROSS MEETING

The annual meeting of the Washington County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be held at West Bend at the Commercial Club Hall on Friday, November 5th, at 3 P. M. At this meeting the Board of Directors, the Executive Committee and the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Plans for the work of the Red Cross in the county will be discussed. It is urged that members of the Chapter attend this meeting.

Constipation.

Most laxative and cathartics afford only temporary relief and should be used only for that purpose. When you want permanent relief take Chamberlain's Tablets and be careful to observe the directions on each package. These tablets not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.

REMODELS BUICK SERVICE STATION

A. A. Perschbacher, who has the sole agency for the Buick and Ford cars, has finished making extensive improvements on his garage building, located on Fond du Lac Ave. The entire front part of the lower story was taken out and four large new plate glass windows have been put in its place. The building which is a two story brick structure was given a coat of stucco of brownish color, while the interior and wood work is painted white. Mr. Perschbacher has a floor space 50 x 40, giving him ample room to store a number of cars at one time. The changes made make the building appear as though it were new. Mr. Perschbacher in addition to the equipment added to his garage places him in a position to do all kinds of repair work on short notice. He certainly is the possessor of a first class modern equipped garage.

GETTING READY FOR THE INTERNATIONAL

Preparations for the World's Greatest Live Stock Exposition at Chicago during the first week of December, are now well under way. Each season this spectacle of animal life is given a new stage setting, involving the labor of hundreds of men for several weeks and an expenditure of many thousands of dollars. Part of this is necessitated by essential convenience for man and beast; part goes to furnish the coloring that has given the Exposition atmospheric brilliancy, intensification of each season. This year an enormous sum is required for light effects, a feature of the "International" that has always been abreast and much of the time in advance of such improvement as electrical ingenuity develops. This year a number of scenic novelties have been introduced, arrangement of exhibits has been perfected and a more elaborate setting given the latest addition to this aggregation of spectacles—the Grain and Hay Show, under the auspices of the Chicago Board of Trade.

HEALTHIEST OF THE MARINES COME FROM WISCONSIN

That the healthiest of the American youth is represented in the state of Wisconsin is shown by the latest statistics given out at the Marine Corps publicity bureau at Milwaukee. Out of each 100 men that apply at the Marine Corps recruiting station of Wisconsin, 27% are accepted. The latest figures from the Headquarters recruiting station of Wisconsin, show that there are 35 men accepted out of each 100 applicants. Wisconsin therefore is above the average and helps some of the weaker states keep up the high physical standard which is higher than any other branch of military or naval service. This does not mean that a man must be a physical giant; but he must be in a perfect state of health.

PHONE COMPANY GRANTED INCREASE

The Theresa Union Telephone Company last week was granted an increase in rate by the Rate Commission. The increase applied for includes the Campbellspport and Theresa exchanges. The rate for the Kewaskum exchange will remain about the same until a final settlement has been made with the East Valley Telephone Company, after which time, in all probability the local rates will automatically be raised. The new rate as given out by the commission is as follows: Village, one party business, $2.50; village one party residence $2.00; village two party business, $2.25; village two party residence, $1.75; village four party business, $2.00; village four party residence, $1.50; rural residence, $1.75; rural business, $2.00; village rural extension sets, .50; village rural extension bells, .15; village rural ex. bells, extra loud .25.

All the above rates are to be net and to be billed on the 1st of month in addition; a reduction of 1c to be allowed if the account is paid at the telephone company's office on or before the 15th day of each month for the current month's charges.

Special trunking service from rural subscribers of one exchange with either of the other exchanges, $3.00 per year net, billed semi-annually January 1st and July 1st, $1.75, gross, subject to an allowance of 25c if paid during January for the first half year and similarly if paid during July for the last half year.

LOCAL MAN HELD UP LAST SUNDAY

One can scarcely pick up a newspaper lately without reading of two or three hold-ups, which are becoming very numerous, in all parts of the state.

An attempted hold-up, last Sunday night, is the experience of a young man residing several miles west of this city. The young man was coming toward Hartford from Fond du Lac, from Schleisingsville, which goes past Pike Lake and just after turning the corner past the farm of George Frank he noticed two red lights in the bushes at the edge of the road, some distance ahead. This road goes through the marsh north of Pike Lake and is a very lonely one, few cars going that way after dark.

When the young man had gone about two rods he came upon an American flag lying in the center of the road and as he had just recently read of the various methods used by hold-up men, and had also seen the red light at the roadside, he speeded up his car. As he did so, two men jumped into the road and endeavored to stop the young man. The latter was unable to do so and fell to the side of the road to avoid being run over.

The young man was alone in the car and came to Hartford as quickly as possible, reporting the matter to Police Chief G. W. Schiltz. The latter went out to investigate but was unable to find any trace of the alleged hold-up men.—Hartford Press.

WIDOW LOSES COMPENSATION

Because it is alleged she was never legally married to Lynn C. Prindle, Mrs. Lilly Markow Prindle may be denied a widow's compensation for the death of Prindle, which occurred at Marlehead, near Fond du Lac, when he was swept from the edge of a cliff by the tongue of a rock drill. It is alleged by the Industrial Commission that Mrs. Prindle married again before she had received a divorce from Markow. It is contended the woman was never legally married to Prindle and is not entitled to a widow's compensation.—West Bend Pilot.

FARMERS AROUSED

Owing to the sugar beet factories being unable to take care of the beet crop a number of farmers surrounding Lomira were ordered to hold their sugar beets a number of days until the supply has been worked up. However, bad weather set in, some of these days and leave them in a lurch. Consequently, a number of them are aroused at the action of the company in stopping shipment. Relief will soon come for the beet factories are working day and night to relieve the congestion.

Don't fail to attend the Autumn Festival and Bazaar which will be held at the M. W. A. hall, Boltonville, under the auspices of the St. John of God church on November 14 and 15.

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS.

A vegetable dish which is well liked and may be prepared with either fresh or canned tomatoes is—Scalloped Tomatoes and Green Pepper.

For a cupful of crumbs, melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, put one or two tablespoonsful of butter in a saucepan, mix the rest of the butter through the bread crumbs.

Russian Salad Dressing.—Mix together one-fourth of a cupful of olive oil, one teaspoonful of vinegar, one-fourth teaspoonful each of mustard and salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika and one-fourth cupful of chili sauce; then gradually, using the egg beater, add one-half cupful of mayonnaise dressing.

Pot-Roasted Pork Chops.—Choose chops with only a medium amount of fat and somewhat thicker than usual. After broiling the chops on each side in a frying pan, add an onion cut fine and pepper and salt.

Pecan Sausages.—Mix together three-fourths of a cupful of hot cooked cream of wheat, one-fourth of a cupful of finely crushed pecan meats, half a teaspoonful each of powdered thyme and sage; mix all thoroughly, then add one egg beaten light and form into shape to resemble link sausages.

Place in a pan well greased, and bake twenty minutes. Serve with bananas cut in halves and then in quarters crosswise, rolled in flour and fried on both sides in hot fat. Serve with a cupful of tomato or cream sauce.

We must fight our way onward. We must be brave. There are obstacles to be met and we must meet and crush them.—David Copperfield.

HOW TO PREPARE RICE.

The black man's recipe to dress rice runs: "Wash him well, much wash in cold water, much wash in cold water, the rice flour make him stick. Water boil already fast. Throw him in; rice can't burn, water shake him too much. Boil quarter of an hour or little more; rub one rice in thumb and finger; if all rub away, him quite done. Put rice in collander, hot water run away; pour cupful of cold water on him, put back rice in saucepan, keep him covered near the fire, then rice all ready. Eat him up!"

Gertrude Morrison, in American Cookery.
Rice may be used as a substitute for vegetables, as a thickening for soup, an addition to bread sponge, a salad, a main dish, a dessert. These are but a few of the many accomplishments of this delectable food.

Wild rice is obtained in abundance in many of our states and those who have been treated to this wholesome cereal like it very much. It is very similar to the tame rice except it is not polished, which leaves the food value (which in the tame rice is polished away) that is so important in the growth and health of the young.

Rice With Meat.—Take two cupfuls of boiled rice, one cupful of chopped fresh meat, browned in a tablespoonful of sweet fat; remove the meat, add a small onion finely minced, a teaspoonful of minced parsley or half of a small green pepper cooked in the same fat. Place a layer of the cooked rice in a baking dish, cover with a layer of the meat, season well, add some of the onion and pepper. Repeat until the rice and meat are used, cover with one cupful of tomato and bake slowly for an hour.

Baked Rice and Codfish.—Take one and one-half cupfuls of well-washed rice, one cupful of water and four cupfuls of milk. Add the water and the milk gradually to the rice while cooking and cook half an hour. Remove from the stove and add one cupful of rich milk, two well-beaten eggs and three cupfuls of shredded codfish, pepper and salt to taste. Bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. Serve with drawn butter sauce.

Baked Rice Pudding.—Take one-quarter of a cupful of well-washed rice, one cupful of milk, sugar and nutmeg or cinnamon to taste, one-half cupful or less of raisins. Bake in a slow oven, stirring occasionally during the first hour of baking, for three hours.

Nellie Maxwell
Ham and Egg Salad.—Take equal quantities of cooked chopped ham and eggs hard cooked; mix with mayonnaise to hold the combination together. Serve in lettuce hearts with a spoonful of the dressing and a dash of paprika for a garnish.

Norwegian Rice.—Cook rice until tender, place on a buttered platter after heating it (the rice) in chicken stock. Put on top of the rice seasoned cooked chicken livers, chopped, scrambled eggs and grated cheese. Serve hot at once.

FOR AFTERNOON OR EVENING WEAR

THERE are a good many women who have no use for more than one or two frocks for formal wear and who are sensible enough to buy only what they can use, no matter how ample their means. These women want conservative styles, equal to serving for both afternoon and evening. They rely on accessories to tone up such gowns to the requirements of any dressy function.

With the return of nets and dyed faces to favor and the perennial black lace and satin dress there are offered two very safe choices. And there are added to these in the new displays, very handsome frocks in silver cloth embroidered with jet, in tulle combined with metallic and other brocades, in veillings draped over satin and, more than all, embroidered frocks in which silk or glittering beads brighten up quiet colors on crepe de chine, satin, charmeuse or wool fabrics.

Two frocks that will prove an enduring joy to their wearers and serve for any sort of formal wear are shown in the picture. At the left a brown net with large dots is made up with satin to match and worn over a satin slip with accordion-plated skirt. Bands of pleated ribbon alternate with rows of dots on it and the skirt is suspended from a yoke of satin corded at the edge to give it a flare. The wide giraffe is of satin, and there is a short, folded vestee of it and folds of satin finish the sleeves.

Black charmeuse and chintilly lace flouncing make the dignified frock at the right of the picture. The lace forms a long overdress extending across the sides and back of the full satin skirt. The sleeves and underbodice are of lace and the satin overhouse affords an example of a new and much admired neckline. Even in evening dresses the low décolletage is being replaced by a straight neckline. The giraffe of this dress is worth noting, for it is very pretty and new. American Beauty in color it is made of wide, soft satin ribbon twisted and wound with a twisted silver ribbon into a rope that encircles the waist and is looped and knotted at the left side.

About the Season's Blouses

EXCEPT for some elaborate, much decorated and sometimes startling models, which might be classed as "exhibition blouses," the fall season has not brought in many designs that can lay claim to originality in these very popular garments. But why should designers strive for new ideas while we are well satisfied with those we have and continue to buy them?

The search for something new does not go entirely unrewarded even when the too-elaborate models are not counted in the finds. Among the tailored blouses there are some in which crepe de chine is used for long-sleeved models that have turned back cuffs of plique and collars of this material that roll high at the back and open in a long "V" at the front. This combination of materials is new and the color unusually becoming and modest looking.

Plaits and points are outstanding features of the handsome new blouse pictured. A soft figured crepe de chine,

Julia Bottoruly
This autumn stiff glazed fabrics, such as taffeta, will be less worn, their place being taken by velvets and thick, soft crepe in silk or wool, more suitable for the wrapped-round effects shown on many models. Soft, shaggy cloths are being used for coats, with finely-avened serges and cashmeres for walking dresses. Reversible materials, which do not require lining, are highly practical and are used to give a combination of their plain and patterned sides. Bead work is seen on every type of garment, some of the evening gowns shown being composed of fringes of crystal tubes almost entirely covering the satin underpinnings of some contrasting color.

Germ Diseases Kill Many.
Germ diseases kill off more people than the deadliest wars, says the United States public health service. In 1917 pneumonia and tuberculosis killed 223,000 Americans, more than seven times the number killed in action in France.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE ELEPHANT'S BATH.

"Steve, the elephant," said daddy, "wanted to take a bath. He was in a big theater when he had this wish, for he did an act every afternoon and every evening on the stage.

"Yes," Steve said to himself, "I feel the need of bathing. I'd like a good plunge in the real water—a river for example, just as I would have if I were free.

"Of course, the first thing I must do," he continued, "is to go out of that side door there and get on the street. Then I will go a-looking for a river.

"I know there are plenty of rivers, for in my five years of circus life I've seen quantities of rivers. Yes, there must be one not far from this theater. It seems to me on one of my marches that I remember seeing it.

"In fact, I feel quite sure I remember seeing a river at the other end of the long street we marched through.

"At any rate, I will go and have a look."

"No Steve started to go through the door at the end of the lower part of the stage where he was staying waiting for his act to go on. There would be other acts first and then he would come.

"I'll be back in time," he said to himself. "But if not I'll be just having a holiday. Of course, usually holidays are given to people and animals, but this time I will take my own holiday, all of my own accord.

"Do You Know Where?"

"Instead of undoing the door or opening it in any usual way Steve walked along pushing the door in front of him and taking it right off its hinges.

"When he got out on the street he looked about him. The children were just coming from school.

"Well, hello, children," he said, as he waved his trunk around. Some of the children had peanuts with them and some of them had pennies so they threw delicacies to Steve and said:

"Oh, aren't you a nice big elephant?"

"But when their mothers saw that the elephant was walking along they called to their children to come right in the houses.

"He is nice," the children called back.

"You can't be sure," said their mothers.

"Now, isn't that annoying," said Steve. "Here I am feeling as friendly as a friendly can be, and the mothers want their children to come away from me and to go into foolish houses."

"I don't want to go into houses. They wouldn't hang their doors so tight shut. Haven't I just left a house and don't I want a bath?"

"I don't take a bath by going in people's houses. I've heard of the size of their bath tubs. They wouldn't do for me.

"A river is what I need. Children, do you know where old Steve can take a bath, where there is a river?"

"But no children answered him for the mothers had called them all indoors. They were looking at him from the windows now though, and the elephant smiled to himself.

"Little faithful dears," he said to himself, as they threw things out of the windows for him to eat.

"Do you know where I can take a bath and where I will find the river?" E. asked, looking up at the windows where he could see so many children's heads.

"But they didn't understand his language very well and all they said was: "Having a good time, elephant?" "Enjoying yourself, Steve?" "How do you like to take a walk, Steve?"

"Do you think the weather is nice today?" "Yes, it is a trifle chilly, but then it's the season of the year when the days are beginning to be chilly."

"So they called down to him, but after waiting for quite a little distance Steve suddenly discovered a river at the end of another few blocks.

"He hurried along, waving his trunk as he went, and oh, what joy it was to him, to take a real swim in a real river. By the time he had finished his keepers had come after him, but he didn't mind going back again to do his tricks in the theater for he had had a bath in a real river."

Parable Johnny Liked.
At Sunday school Johnny was asked if he knew the parables, and he said he did.

"Well, my little man," said the minister, "Which one do you like best." To which Johnny said, "I like the one where somebody loafs and fishes."

Nature's New Role.
Robert, age three, had been put to bed at the usual time, but because of a long afternoon nap the sandman was slow in appearing. At the end of a half-hour of pleading to be permitted to come downstairs and play, his sister came into the room.

"Now, you lie down there and go to sleep," she commanded to her brother.

"Well, sister, nature won't let me." He answered between sobs.—Indianapolis News.

Two country women were arguing about thrift.

"Dye see that purple?" demanded one with a triumphant air. "It's the one I bought when I was married, 20 years ago, and it's as good as new yet."

"That's nothing," sneered her friend. "You know my husband, John?"

"Of course I do. What about him?"

"Well, he's my first husband and you've had three. Don't you preach thrift to me!"—Stray Stories.

MADE THE BREAK COMPLETE
No Possible Question of a Future Reconciliation Between Mabel and Her Former Fiance.

"I am glad I broke my engagement with Tom," Mabel observed indignantly. "He's no real gentleman."

"Why, I have always thought him one," Tess commented in surprise.

"What has he done?"

"Well, I sent him back his presents—that is, all except the diamond ring and a few other things that I thought I was really entitled to, considering how many times he had taken dinner at our house and all, and asked him to return mine."

"Well, did he refuse?"

"He did not. He not only sent back a box of cigars, unopened, and a pen wiper and a knit necktie, but he sent also five boxes of face powder, saying that he estimated that to be about the quantity he had taken away on his coat during the time we were engaged."

No Place for Personalities.
Two doughboys, one white and one black, were hopelessly lost out in No Man's land. After darkness had fallen the white soldier cautiously stuck his head over the edge of the shell hole to take a look.

"Whatcher see, boss?" inquired the other.

"You can't see your hand before your face, it's so dark."

"Look-a-here now, white man," expostulated the negro. "Dis ain't no time for personalities. Ah ain't askin' you what Ah kain't see; Ah'm askin' you what you can see."—American Legion Weekly.

Speakers Would Do Well Indeed If They Matched the Work Credited to the Painters.

John Brookbank, commander-in-chief of the 330 Richmond business men who are soliciting money for the $300,000 endowment of Earlham college, was speaking to the men at the daily noon luncheons held in the basement of the Grace M. E. church. He was congratulating them on their good work and exhorting them to greater efforts in the future. He said:

"To gain success in this enterprise, as in any, we must make it real and lifelike. * * * something that people can see is worth while and vital and living. Why, we must do as good as the painter who drew a picture of a cat so lifelike that ten minutes after he hung it on the wall there were fleas on it."

President Edwards arose and said: "Or we must do as well as the other painter who drew a picture of a hen. This painter threw the drawing of the hen in the waste basket, but it was so life-like that it just lay there."—Indianapolis News.

WON'T BLOCKADE THE BLACK SEA

U. S. Rejects invitation of England and France to Participate.

WRANGEL IN SEVERE STRAITS

Official of State Department Says U. S. Has Never Taken Part in Any Movement Against the Soviet Government.

Washington, Nov. 3.—An invitation from England and France to participate in the blockade of the Black sea ports in the interests of General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leader, has been rejected by the United States. It was announced by the State department.

Not only has the United States declined to permit its ships now at Constantinople to assist, but it has cabled to Admiral Bristol, the American commissioner at Constantinople, desiring to know at whose instance the blockade was ordered, against whom it is directed and for what purpose it was begun. Belief is expressed here that the blockade is to help General Wrangel, who is reported to be in severe straits as a result of a huge offensive now being directed against him by the soviet armies. The State department, however, is without information on that point.

At least one Italian merchant ship has already been held up by a British cruiser. A representative from the Italian embassy called at the State department and gave formal notice that Italy is opposed to the blockade on the ground that it is illegal and contrary to the demands of humanity, and that it is in violation of the inter-allied agreement with regard to trade with Russia.

This position, it is understood, is practically shared by the United States. The State department pointed out that all restrictions brought about by the United States and soviet Russia have been removed and that any American is privileged to conduct trade who cares to do so.

Hence if it should develop that the blockade was instituted for the purpose of shutting off trade between soviet Russia and other countries such as Italy and the United States, it is likely that this country will enter vigorous protest on the side of the Italian government. An official of the State department said:

"The United States has never taken part in a movement against the soviet government; on the contrary, we have opened up trade and any one who wants to trade with them has the privilege of doing so."

$50,000 HOLDUP IN CHICAGO

Daring Auto Bandits Shoot Bank Messenger and Slightly Injure Policeman.

Chicago Nov. 1.—A spectacular and daring robbery in which a bank messenger and policeman were shot, netted three young bandits $50,000 in currency. The robbery occurred under the Ashland avenue viaduct of the C. B. & Q. railroad tracks between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, shortly after three o'clock in the afternoon.

Jacob Yanovitz, the bank messenger, was wounded in the chest and right arm. He is thirty-five years old and lives at 1048 North Oakley avenue. Patrolman John Leonard of Brighton Park station, who was accompanying Yanovitz as a guard, escaped serious injury when a bullet struck a nail file in his pocket and was deflected.

The bandits, described as young, well dressed and about thirty years old, escaped.

The money, in denominations of $5, $10 and $20, was being transported from the Continental and Commercial National bank to the Southern Trust and Savings bank, 3590 Archer avenue. It was in a small black trunk.

BIG MINE STRIKE ENDS

Settlement of Labor Battle in England Announced.

Increase in Wages Granted Miners Will Remain Operative Until Permanent Body is Named.

London, Oct. 30.—The strike of coal miners throughout England and Wales was settled, but the settlement is contingent on a ballot of the miners. The government announced the ballot would be taken immediately.

The terms which the executive body of the miners recommends to the men provide for an advance of two shillings a shift for persons eighteen years old, with a corresponding advance for younger miners. The miners pledge themselves to co-operate to the fullest extent to obtain an increased output.

It is provided that the increased wages shall remain operative until a permanent wage board is established, which will be operative by the end of March.

FINE FOR ADULTERATING OATS

Armour Grain Company Pleads Guilty —Chaff and Feed Barley in Shipments.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The Armour Grain company of Chicago entered a plea of guilty to the charge, under the federal food and drugs act, of adulteration and misbranding 28 carloads of oats and was fined $1,050 and costs by the court, according to a notice of judgment just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

It was alleged in the information filed in the case that the oats were adulterated with feed, barley, dirt and chaff.

New York, Oct. 30.—Judge Julius M. Mayer, in the United States District court here, refused to permit J. Ogden Armour and Edson White, president and vice president, respectively, of the packing concern of Armour & Co., to plead in Chicago to indictments returned here charging them with violation of the Lever act.

Permission was granted them to postpone their pleas a week, but they must appear in the court here, Judge Mayer ruled.

The indictments against the officials and the employees of the company alleged violation of the Lever act to curb profiteering on 137 separate sales made in the company's branch stores in Manhattan and the Bronx.

FOE PROPERTY FOR DEBTS

Great Britain Renounces Right to Confiscate German Holdings in United Kingdom.

Washington, Oct. 30.—State department officials, discussing Great Britain's announcement to the French foreign office that it had renounced the right of confiscation of German property in the United Kingdom, said it was their understanding that any surplus of German seized property over that applied to the German debts would not be confiscated by the British government.

It was explained that the British had adopted the "clearing-house system" of disposing of the German seized property under the terms of the treaty.

By this means German seized property in the United Kingdom would be used to offset the claims of British nationals against Germany, and the remainder applied to war reparations.

Things to blow about: The ostrich population of the U. S. grew to 1,000 during the war.

Because they were uncomfortable since they couldn't smoke or chew, election officials declined to serve in schoolhouse voting booths in Evansville, Ind. There'll be no more schoolhouse voting places, say election board members.

Men shouldn't lose their chivalrous attitude toward women who enter public office, says a woman. Assuredly, here's an opening for an order of the Knights of the Swivel Chair.

Leslie Murray, Seattle bootblack, charged $18.15 for a "shoeshine." Revenue officers arrested him for selling moonshine.

Watch the haughty raisin drop with a thud. Milwaukeeans have been warned there's a storm brewing for the home-brewer.

A farmer in Wales rows he broke even on one purchase. He found an American silver dollar in a can of pickled tongue.

"Store your food now," is front page advice to housewives. Most of us are waiting until Thanksgiving.

DISEASE AMONG HORSES—the answer is Spohn's Distemper Compound
Wherever there is contagious disease among horses SPÖHN'S is the solution of all trouble. SPÖHN'S is invaluable in all cases of DISTEMPER, PINK EYE, INFLUENZA, COUGHS and COLIC. A few drops a day will keep your horse exposed to disease. Regular doses three times a day will act marvelously on your horse actually killing 60 cents and $1.25 per bottle at drug stores. Stock Raising in WESTERN CANADA is as profitable as grain growing. Successes as wonderful as those from growing wheat, oats, barley, and flax have been made in raising Horses, Cattle, Sheep and Hogs. Bright sunny, fertile, nutritious grasses, good water, enormous fodder crops—these spell success to the farmer and stock raiser. And remember, you can buy on easy terms
Farm Land at $15 to $30 An Acre
—land equal to that which through many years has yielded from 20 to 45 bushels of wheat to the acre—grazing land convenient to good grain farms at proportionately low prices. These lands have every rural convenience; good schools, churches, roads, telephones, etc., close to live towns and good markets.
If you want to get back to the farm, or to farm on a larger scale than is possible under your present conditions, investigate what Western Canada has to offer you.

Turning the Luck.
In Yorkshire, country folk cross their thumbs "to turn the luck!" should they meet a single magpie. In Scotland a magpie seen near a dwelling is believed to portend death to one of the inmates.

Important to all Women
Readers of this Paper
Earnestly Praises Eatonio

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.
Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.
You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.
Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.
But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.
Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Shameful!
More than once has comment been offered on the prevailing ignorance of the Bible. Things are credited to the Bible either in idea or in phrasing; and quotations from the holy book are sometimes queerly misplaced. In this relation one is reminded of the lady giving her address at a dry goods counter.
"Ponchontas avenue."
"How do you spell it, m'am?"
"Young man, you ought to know your Bible better. The idea!"

A Lady of Distinction is recognized by the delicate fascinating influence of the perfume she uses. A bath with Cuticura Soap and hot water to thoroughly cleanse the pores, followed by a dusting with Cuticura Talcum powder usually means a clear sweet, healthy skin.—Adv.

Her Best Since Sixteen.
Tactless Lady Friend (to hostess)—By the way, what birthday is this we are celebrating?
Hostess—My thirty-fifth.
Lady Friend—But have we not celebrated that before?
Hostess—Oh, yes, it is one of my favorite birthdays.—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Stop the Pain.
The hurt of a burn or a cut stops when Cole's Carbolic is applied. It heals quickly without scars. 3c and 6c in all drug stores. For free sample write The J. W. Cole Co., Rockford, Ill.—Adv.

Savages Poor Physically.
The natives of the African Jungle, instead of being the lusty savages of imagination, are for the most part physically below par. The majority of them are malnourished and diseased and marked physical defects are common.
"There's one thing I like about the idea of women in politics," remarked Farmer Cortness.
"What is that?"
"They are not likely to encourage any of these fool election bets about people's not shaving until one candidate or another is elected."

Unwanted.
"Is that a pedigreed dog?"
"I thought he was, but I'm beginning to doubt it. Nobody has tried to steal him as yet."

Farmers everywhere are buying them. Warm as an arctic. Absolutely waterproof.

The "U.S." Walrus

Wash them clean—slip them off
The most convenient overshoes you ever wore

CLEANED with a dash of water while they're still on your feet—buckled or unbuckled in an instant—warm and water-tight always—That's why farmers everywhere are buying the U. S. Walrus. You need a pair for dozens of odd jobs around the farm.
You slip the U. S. Walrus on over your leather shoes—and push it off with your toe when you're through. Its warm, fleecy lining keeps your feet comfortable in the coldest weather.
Wherever you go—tramping through snow or splashing through water—the U. S. Walrus gives you perfect protection. And then at your doorstep—no matter how muddy they are—a moment's rise at the pump or faucet washes their smooth rubber surface clean.
Made by the oldest and largest rubber manufacturer in the world, the U. S. Walrus is built to wear. At the very points where ordinary overshoes are weakest the U. S. Walrus has been made strongest. Every point of strain is heavily reinforced. Ask your dealer to show you a pair!

Other types of "U.S." Footwear—built for rough service

U. S. Boots have all the wear and comfort which our 74 years of experience can give them.
U. S. Boots lace on over the sock like a leather shoe. You can wear them all day long in mud and water—your feet will stay dry and comfortable.

The U. S. line of footwear has a type for every need—arctics, rubbers, "overs." Every one is backed by over half a century of experience. The rubber comes from our own plantations—the whole process of manufacture is supervised by experts.

Always look for the U. S. Seal—it means solid wear and long service for your money.

A Word for the Ambitious Boy:

MANY an ambitious farm boy is being tempted to go out into the world to seek his fortune. If you are considering deserting the farm, you are facing a crisis in your life that deserves much earnest thought and study.

Talk the matter over with men who ought to know the right course for you. Don't decide too hastily. Perhaps your father will take you into partnership, give you an interest in a plot of ground or in some livestock that will be the foundation of a fortune. Statistics show that the chances for business success are ten to one in favor of agriculture.

For every ambitious country boy there are a dozen city toilers, sick and tired of the endless grind, struggling desperately to keep abreast of the cost of living, longing for a chance to take their families to God's great out-of-doors. Millions of men of the city are envying you this minute because you are young and on the farm. They know that the four-leaf clover of your good fortune is growing by your home doorstep.

Good, modern, labor-saving machines are taking the drudgery out of farming and putting still more profit into it. We are headquarters for the International Full Line, including Titan tractors, International engines, and manure spreaders, Primrose cream separators, McCormick and Deering harvesting, haying, and corn machines, tillage tools, P.O. plows, etc. Such machines add to the profit and pleasure of daily life.

Only a Cold.

Are you ill? is often answered—"Oh! it's only a cold," as if a cold was a matter of little consequence, but people are beginning to learn that a common cold is a matter not to be trifled with, that some of the most serious diseases start with a cold. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Remember that the sooner you get rid of your cold the less the danger, and this remedy will help you to throw it off.

—Carl and Walter Schaefer, world war vets, received their Victory Medals from the War Department, consisting of five bars, representing five battle fronts, at which the boys fought overseas. Each bar has the inscription of the name of the battle line on which they were stationed, which are as follows: Aisne, Aisne-Marne, St. Mihaels, Meuse-Argonne and Defensive Sectors. This is quite an honor for the boys, and one which they will cherish the rest of their lives.
—Dr. Backus was beginning to believe that his house was a spooky place. Some time strange noises permeated the house and on more than one occasion one got up and made a thorough search of his home for burglars. The noises continued for weeks and were weird, and no clue to anything could be found. The other week, however, the cause was unearthed, when an owl was discovered in the living room. The owl had evidently been in the house for several weeks and was the origin for the strange noises.—Chesham News.
—While Anthony Schwartz of here and his housewife were at Milwaukee on a return home from a visit at Fond du Lac last Sunday evening in a Ford car, they had their car completely demolished by having a head-on collision with another car. When about one and one-half miles south of Fond du Lac they were met by the driver of whom Tony states deliberately ran into their car after they had given him half of the road. Though both cars were badly damaged, the Schwartz car fared the worst. Luckily one of the occupants of both cars was unharmed.
—R. J. Vincent of West Bend was placed under arrest at Minneapolis by Sheriff John Peters on a charge of selling a Maxwell sedan on which he had given a mortgage. Mr. Vincent bought the car at Milwaukee last April for the sum of $500 and gave a partial mortgage on it. On June 30, he sold the car to L. F. Kuester of West Bend for $800 but did not make mention of the mortgage. When the latter became due the Milwaukee party tried to collect his money but could not find Vincent. Mr. Kuester was held responsible for the sum, who in turn swore out a warrant for the arrest of Vincent.

HARDING WINS BY BIG MARGIN; CONGRESS G.O.P.

VOTE FOR REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT BREAKS ALL PLURALITY RECORDS.

DEMOCRATS ADMIT DEFEAT

Republicans Seem Assured of a Majority of 10 in the Next Senate and a Margin of at Least 45 in the Lower House—Cox Carries Only the "Solid South."

By majorities apparently unprecedented in American politics, Warren G. Harding has been elected president and Calvin Coolidge vice-president.

The addition of women to the electorate accounted for some of this increase in Harding's margin over James M. Cox, the democratic candidate.

Roosevelt's margin of 500,000 over Parker in Pennsylvania in 1904 was surpassed at least three times in this election.

New York state went for Harding by 1,000,000. Pennsylvania gave him a plurality almost as large; Illinois gave him 800,000; Ohio, the home state of both candidates, went for Harding by 400,000. Michigan and Wisconsin each gave Harding pluralities of at least 200,000.

Cox held the solid south, and Kentucky and Oklahoma among the border states, but West Virginia and Missouri have apparently gone for Harding, as they went for Roosevelt in 1904. If Maryland had gone for Harding, too, the landslide of 1904 has been duplicated.

Pluralities Break Records.

All over the country the Harding pluralities broke records. Maine, which surprised all prophets by going 70,000 republican at the gubernatorial election in September, passed that mark by several thousand. California, which Wilson carried by so narrow a margin in 1916, went for Harding by what early reports described as a landslide.

Indiana and Kansas seem to have rolled up more than 200,000 plurality for Harding.

Harding carried his home precinct, 373 to 76. It was democratic four

HARDING IS PLEASED; BUT NOT EXULTANT

Marion, Ohio.—Upon being convinced of his election to the presidency, Warren G. Harding issued a statement in which he said: "I do not hesitate to say that I am pleased, of course; I am happy to utter my gratitude; but I am not exultant. It is not a personal victory. It is a renewed expression of confidence in Americanism and a national call to the republican party. It is all so serious, the obligations are so solemn that instead of exulting, I am more given to prayer to God to make me capable of playing my part and that all these calls of responsibility may meet the aspirations and expectations of America and the world."

The senator and Mrs. Harding will leave Marion this week on a vacation trip, taking them for a rest of a fortnight in Texas, and after that for an ocean voyage to the Panama canal zone. They will return to Marion during early December.

years ago, but there was a reappointment since. He seems to have carried Cox's home town of Dayton. He carried Hyde Park, N. Y., residence of Franklin D. Roosevelt, the democratic nominee for vice-president, by 279 votes to 194; and he carried President Wilson's home district at Princeton by a margin of 5 to 1.

Democrats Admit Defeat.

The election of Senator Harding was conceded by George W. White, democratic national chairman, in a statement issued from New York headquarters. Mr. White sent a telegram of congratulation to Senator Harding reading as follows: "The American people have overwhelmingly chosen you. Accept my congratulations and best wishes for a successful leadership of this great nation in its critical hour."

It seems quite certain that Harding will have 313 electoral votes against 179 for Cox.

Vermont gave Harding the largest plurality ever received by a presidential candidate in that state, which has always gone republican. His margin of 44,041 over Cox smashed the record made in 1896 when McKinley carried the state by a plurality of 40,384 over

NATION'S CHOICE FOR PRESIDENT

WARREN G. HARDING

Bryan. The vote of the state complete was: Harding, 64,888; Cox, 20,587.

Republicans Gain in Congress.

President Harding will have a republican congress to support his policies in the first two years at least of his administration. Returns indicate that the republicans will have increased majorities in both houses.

Early returns in the elections for senators and representatives were meager from a number of important states, but the trend of voting in those states in the presidential and gubernatorial contests indicated the probable result as far as the senate is concerned. The two houses in the next congress will probably stand as follows:

Senate—Republicans, 53; democrats, 42.

House—Republicans, 247; democrats, 185; independents, 2; prohibitionist, 1. This would give the republicans a majority of fifty-nine in the house. The present republican majority in the senate is two and in the house thirty-nine.

Samuel Shortridge, republican, of California, who supported Senator Hiram Johnson's irreconcilable opposition to the league of nations, appears to have been elected to the senate, defeating Senator James D. Phelan, a firm friend of the Wilson administration.

Senator James E. Watson, republican, has been re-elected from Indiana, defeating Thomas Taggart.

Senator Albert B. Cummins, republican, of Iowa, who fathered the Esch-Cummins railroad transportation bill, has been re-elected. Bitter contests were waged in Indiana and Iowa, and both states were claimed for senators by the democrats.

Four Democrats Are Victors.

Two democratic senators, Beckham, of Kentucky, and Senator John Walter Smith, of Maryland, appear to have won victories. Other democrats apparently elected to the senate in close states are Senator Charles B. Henderson, Nevada, and Senator George N. Chamberlain, Oregon.

In Illinois, William B. McKinley, republican candidate for the senate, has been elected by a large majority over Waller, his democratic opponent. Len Small, republican candidate for governor, is elected over James Hamilton Lewis, the democratic nominee.

Senator Moses, New Hampshire, and Senator Brandegee, Connecticut, both republicans, appear to have carried their states by substantial majorities. Senator Brandegee had the opposition of many women on account of his effort to prevent the ratification of the suffrage amendment.

In Colorado, S. D. Nicholson, republican, has been elected to the senate to succeed Senator Thomas, democrat. Thomas ran as an independent with irreconcilable opposition to the league of nations as the principal plank in his platform.

Willis to Succeed Harding.

Senator Harding will be succeeded in the senate by former Gov. Frank B. Willis, republican.

Among democratic senators who were re-elected without effective oppo-

BLAINE CHOSEN FOR GOVERNOR

ENTIRE STATE G. O. P. TICKET APPARENTLY ELECTED IN WISCONSIN.

LENROOT LEADS THOMPSON

Victor L. Berger, Socialist, and W. H. Stafford, Republican, in Close Race for Congress—Other Republican Congressional Candidates Seem to Be Winners.

Milwaukee.—Scattering returns from the election in Wisconsin assured the election of John J. Blaine as governor over Robert B. McCoy, the democratic candidate, and also indicated that United States Senator Lenroot, republican, had been re-elected. The entire republican state ticket appears to have been swept into power by a heavy vote.

Col. McCoy showed real speed in the race for governor early Tuesday evening, but before midnight Blaine was out in front and his election seemed certain. Early Wednesday morning Blaine was leading McCoy by 37,550 on the returns from 814 out of 2,425 precincts in the state. The totals were: Blaine, 94,770; McCoy, 57,218; Coleman, socialist, 6,843.

Senator Lenroot had a lead of 18,076 votes over James Thompson, independent LaFollette candidate early Wednesday on the basis of returns received from 789 precincts. The vote stood: Lenroot, 67,797; Thompson, 49,721; Reinsch, democrat, 14,358; Weber, socialist, 7,062. Lenroot and Thompson ran neck and neck in the early returns, but after Thompson's big majority in Dane county had been overcome the gain of Lenroot was steady.

Alvin B. Peterson, chairman of the republican state central committee, in a statement Tuesday night, predicted Lenroot's re-election by 75,000.

Great Majority for Harding.

Wisconsin gave Warren G. Harding the greatest majority it ever rolled up for a presidential candidate.

Indications from incomplete returns representing every section of the state position were: Underwood in Alabama, Fletcher in Florida, Broussard in Louisiana, Overman in North Carolina, Smith in South Carolina, and Glass in Virginia.

In Oklahoma, Senator Gore has apparently been succeeded by Congressman Scott Ferris, a democrat.

Senators Penrose of Pennsylvania and Dillingham of Vermont, both republicans, were returned to their seats by heavy majorities.

J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama, Thaddeus H. Caraway of Arkansas, and Thomas Watson of Georgia, all democrats, were chosen to seats vacated by other democrats.

Two republican candidates, endorsed by the nonpartisan league, have been elected to the senate; E. F. Ladd in North Dakota and Peter Norbeck in South Dakota.

In Michigan the election of Groesbeck, republican, is claimed by 75,000 majority. Former Gov. Ferris, democrat, is running far ahead of his ticket, however. The election of at least eight republican congressmen is assured.

COX'S NEWSPAPER ADMITS HARDING VICTORY EARLY

Dayton, Ohio.—The Dayton Daily News, owned by Gov. James M. Cox, the democratic presidential candidate, at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday night went to press with an extra edition conceding the election of Senator Warren G. Harding, the republican nominee. Gov. Cox received returns in the Daily News office. The governor himself said he would make no statement. Reporters who called found the governor smiling, and smoking a cigar.

Wilson Ballots Mailed.

Princeton, N. J.—The ballots on President and Mrs. Wilson arrived here by mail and were cast in the seventh election district. They had been sent from Washington early election day.

are that Harding has a plurality of more than 200,000 votes over James M. Cox, the democratic nominee.

Returns from 876 precincts in the state: Harding, 164,147; Cox, 32,668; and Debs, 14,700.

Harding's large majority is being piled up both in the city and in the rural districts. In Milwaukee county, on the face of incomplete returns, Harding is carrying the county 5 to 1.

In Dane county, four precincts gave Harding 869 and Cox 53. Fond du Lac, seven precincts, Harding 2,264 and Cox 417; Sheboygan, five precincts, Harding 1,077, Cox 161; La Crosse, six precincts, Harding 2,525, Cox 717.

Congressman Kleczka Wins.

Robert Burch, socialist candidate for congress in the Fourth district, concedes the election of his republican opponent, John C. Kleczka.

The contest in the Fifth district between W. H. Stafford, republican, and Victor L. Berger, socialist, is very close. Fifty-three precincts gave Stafford 14,210, Berger 14,548.

Scattered returns indicated that H. A. Cooper in the First, E. E. Browne in the Eighth, and J. D. Beck in the Seventh to have been elected.

Reports from various parts of the Eleventh congressional district indicate that A. J. Nelson, republican candidate, will be elected to the house of representatives by a comfortable margin.

Gasoline.

Gasoline gives off a very explosive vapor, even at ordinary temperature. This vapor is heavier than air and may be present near the roof of a room in which the odor of gasoline is scarcely noticeable to a person standing.

Is Handicapped.

Plodding Pete says the reason he hates to look for a job is that he hasn't the heart either to cut rates or charge the regular price for a day's work.

Good Thing They Weren't.

Buffon calculated that if a pair of herring could be left to breed and multiply undisturbed for a period of 20 years, they would yield an amount of fish equal in bulk to the globe on which we live.

Living Ex-Presidents.

At the time of the first inauguration of President Lincoln there were five former presidents living—more than at any other period in the history of the nation.

U. S. STAFF IN MEXICO TO QUIT

Decision of Government to Recognize De La Huerta Government Cause.

SUMMERLIN SUMMONED HOME

State Department Accepts Creel's Report on Conditions in Preference to the Regularly Constituted Diplomatic Staff Recommendations.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The decision by the State department to recognize the De La Huerta government is likely to result in a complete revision of the American diplomatic staff to Mexico, according to official opinion obtained here.

George Summerlin, who has been charge d'affaires in Mexico City for several years, is expected to resign. Other resignations, it is said, are almost certain to follow.

The activity of George Creel in effecting recognition and his apparent ascendancy over the regularly constituted diplomatic staff in charge of the Mexican affairs is given as the reason.

Summerlin was summoned to Washington to report on conditions in Mexico a month ago. He is understood to have advised strongly against recognition. Immediately thereafter George Creel visited the president and Secretary Colby and started for Mexico City. He came back, reported and the decision to recognize the government followed within a week. There is every reason to believe that Creel favored quick recognition.

The conflict in the rival reports made by Summerlin and Creel and the readiness with which Creel's report was accepted have, it is understood, convinced Summerlin that his resignation would be acceptable.

Further evidence of the extreme readiness of the State department to accept Creel's report in preference to those submitted by its regular diplomatic officials is found in the statement made at the department that this government will insist upon specific acts of legislation being passed by the Mexican congress before recognition is formally extended.

WANDERER IS FOUND GUILTY

Punishment for Man Who Murdered Wife and "Ragged Stranger" Fixed at 25 Years.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Carl Wanderer was found guilty of murder by a jury here. His punishment was fixed at 25 years in the penitentiary. Wanderer was convicted of slaying his wife and unborn child and a "ragged stranger" whom he used to stage a pretended holdup to give an excuse for the exchange of shots that ended three lives.

The jury deliberated 24 hours. Ten men on the first ballot voted guilty, two voted insane. There was no change in succeeding ballots until the two were won over and voted guilty. But it was a compromise verdict for the jury recommended 25 years in the penitentiary. Under the Illinois law the judge in passing sentence is governed by the jury's recommendations.

12 DIE WHEN FLYER WRECKED

Los Angeles Limited of the Salt Lake Road Leaves the Rails on the Desert.

San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 2.—Six bodies have been removed from the wreck of the Los Angeles limited of the Salt Lake railroad, which left the rails on the desert.

Efforts are being made to find other bodies in the wreck. It is believed at least twelve were killed. All but two coaches left the track.

Thomas Bell, train electrician and baggage man, was the only name among the dead received here. James I. White, conductor, was said to have been seriously injured. Most of the deaths occurred in the dining car.

13 BALL INDICTMENTS

Players and Gamblers Are Named in Double Counts.

Eight White Sox Players Are Included

Charges Hinge on the 1919 World's Series.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Two indictments each against 13 players, eight of whom were members of this year's White Sox club, were returned before Chief Justice Charles McDonald of the criminal court, by the special grand jury that has probed big league corruption charges.

Double indictments were also returned.

The White Sox players named are Edward Cicotte, Claude Williams, Joe Jackson, Fred McMullin, Arnold Gamble, George "Buck" Weaver, Oscar Felsch and Charles Ritsberg.

"Bill" Burns, former player with the Detroit Tigers; Hal Chase, one-time member of the New York Giants in the National league; Joseph J. (Sport) Sullivan, Boston plunger; Rachel Brown, said to be a gambler, and Abe Atell, former featherweight champion, were also indicted.

The two charges under which the indictments returned are operating a confidence game and entering into a conspiracy to defraud.

Bonds of each of the defendants were fixed at $10,000.

The charges hinge principally on the alleged "throwing" of the 1919 world's series with the Cincinnati club.

Sailors Fight Dry.

Boston, Nov. 3.—Customs officers who made a raid on the White Star liner Cretic at Commonwealth pier for contraband liquor were set upon by members of the crew and beaten back with crowbars.

Peasant Uprising Reported.

Constantinople, Nov. 3.—Reports of serious peasant risings in the district surrounding Odessa were received here. The risings, say the reports, were accompanied by the slaughter of many Jews.

$700,000 Fire at Charleston, W. Va.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 2.—Two large buildings in the business district of this city were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin. The loss was estimated by fire department officials at $700,000.

U. S. Mail at 135 Miles an Hour.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 2.—Averaging 135 miles an hour, John Sharpnack, air mail pilot, Thursday made a record flight from Elko, Nev., to this city with mail, according to announcement here.

FAINTING AND DIZZY SPELLS

The Cause of such Symptoms and Remedy Told in This Letter.

Syracuse, N. Y.—"When I commenced the Change of Life I was poorly, had no appetite and had fainting spells. I suffered for two or three years before I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Liver Pills which I saw advertised in the papers and in your little books. I took about twelve bottles of your Vegetable Compound and found it a wonderful remedy. I commenced to pick up at once and my suffering was relieved. I have told others about your medicine and know of some who have taken it. I am glad to help others all I can."—Mrs. R. E. DEMING, 437 W. Lafayette Ave., Syracuse, N. Y.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Moreover, this reliable remedy contains no narcotics or harmful drugs and owes its efficiency to the medicinal extracts of the native roots and herbs which it contains.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all drugstores for 3c a large box."

"I was an untold sufferer from old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of this fine ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not let me before in years, and after using just nine dollars' worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was inches by 2 1/2 inches, is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again."

"You may use this to recommend your ointment, if you wish. I can only praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

One Way of Relief.

That some grown-ups find it hard to understand a healthy child's need for constant physical activity is shown by a story that comes from New England.

In the midst of the "long prayer" at Sunday service a lad of seven or eight leaned over to his mother and whispered:

"Mother, do you think they would care if I went through my setting-up exercises while the minister prays?" An awful trial of sitting still!—Harper's Magazine.

President-Elect Harding Was Farmer Boy, Teacher and "Printer's Devil"

Warren Gamaliel Harding, the nation's choice for president, was in turn a farmer boy, member of a railroad construction gang, country school teacher, printer's devil, linotype operator, publisher, business man and banker before he became a commanding figure in the political life of the nation.

He is descended from two pioneer American families, hardy Holland Dutch on the one side and liberty-loving Scotch on the other. He was

Some Outstanding Facts of the National Election

The national and state elections were notable for the number of women nominees and the large number of parties which nominated candidates. Six parties had national tickets for president and vice-president, though by no means in all the states. These tickets were republican, democratic, socialist, prohibitionist, farmer-labor, and single tax.

In the presidential election there have been chosen 531 members of the electoral college of which 266 will be born on his grandfather's farm just outside of the village of Blooming Grove in Morrow county, Ohio, on Nov. 2, 1865. His father, Dr. George T. Harding, still a practicing physician in Marion, O., despite his advanced age—76 years—was then a struggling country doctor.

Young Harding attended the village school until he was 14, when he entered the Ohio Central college at Iberia. Upon his graduation from college he went to work in the village printing office. When he was 19 his father moved to Marion and aided him in acquiring control of the Marion Star, of which he is still publisher. The senator frequently set type by hand and "made up" the paper, and when the linotype machine was introduced learned to operate that.

Mr. Harding was elected to the United States senate in 1914. He was a member of the Ohio general assembly from 1899 to 1903 and lieutenant governor of Ohio in 1904 and 1905.

The Blue Moon

A Tale of the Flatwoods

WILD ROSE AGAIN.

Synopsis—Never having known his father, and living with his mother on a houseboat on the Washish river, Pearlhunter—the only name he has learned from her a part of the story of her sad life. The recital is interrupted by a fearful fit of coughing and he hurries ashore to seek a root that affords relief. He meets a young girl whom he mentally christens the Wild Rose. She slides him before he can make her acquaintance. A vacant cabin on the shore has attracted the attention of the ailing woman, and they move into it. Their first meal is interrupted by the Man-in-the-Fancy-Vest. Pearlhunter strikes him. Gumply threatens. The mother dramatically drives the intruder away. She says he is the "Other Man," whom she has not seen for 20 years. They find a red mask dropped by the Other Man. That night Pearlhunter finds the Blue Moon, a great freshwater pearl. His mother dies without revealing his father's name. Pearlhunter and the Other Man meet in the village, a pistol fight is narrowly averted.

CHAPTER IV.

The Girl With a Basket.

It was June outside. June—it slipped down out of the cool dells and dingles of the woods and soothed the Pearlhunter's face, red with the stifled and reek he had just left. He filled his lungs with it—June—he tasted it with his lips.

With half an eye on the door of the Mud Hen, half an ear over his shoulder, he crossed to the bank.

"What name?" inquired the old banker, making out the receipt, after having placed the pearl away in the vault.

The color set the tan on the young man's face after. It was something he had not foreseen—that a name would be required; and he had none.

"What name?" repeated the banker, looking over his glasses out through the window.

"Pearl-hunter!" the other stammered.

"Pearlhunter—what?"

"Just—Pearlhunter—"

"Pearlhunter! Why, that's no name."

"It's—it's all I have."

"Pearlhunter—well—"

The banker had his mouth already set to say something more—but he didn't. Instead, he took a better look at the tall young fellow on the other side of the window. Dipping his pen into the ink well a second time, although it was already overloaded to the dripping point, he went on filling out the receipt.

"Just bring this with you when you want your pearl, Mr.—Pearlhunter."

"And if I lose it?"

"Then—well—just bring your face. Yes, that will be your face. I reckon you won't lose it!"

The old fellow chuckled as if he had surprised himself making a joke. It usually puts a man in a good humor to discover that he has made a joke. The banker stood rubbing his bony hands together while the Pearlhunter walked out.

What next? The Pearlhunter stood on the sidewalk outside of the bank door and debated that very question: a question in two parts; first, whether to go back to Fallen Rock; second, whether to make another try after the Boss. He finally decided in favor of the Boss. The thought drew his eyes toward the Mud Hen across the street. The Man-in-the-Fancy-Vest was standing just inside the door.

At the moment, a young woman with a basket on her arm came out of a grocery a block up the street and walked rapidly toward the saloon. The man just inside the door apparently was watching for her. She seemed to know that he would be there—to dread that he would be—to judge by the way she hurried past. The man stepped out on the sidewalk as the girl came opposite, and tried to stop her. He even stepped in front of her. She turned out around him and, with a bare word or two in response to his efforts to engage her in talk, hurried rapidly on.

He stood looking after her till she was a block or more down the street—road would be the better word, since the river road formed the one street of the village—and then deliberately followed.

All thoughts of the cabin at Fallen Rock, of the Boss sprawled over a table at the Mud Hen, instantly fled the mind of the Pearlhunter. His somewhat passive face lived; into his slow eyes came a quickened interest. He hardly knew why he followed. He simply found himself walking after her.

The river road, as it follows along under the brow of the cliffs below Buckeye, makes many turns. The girl and her pursuer were walking fast when the Pearlhunter peeped out around a turn and looked after them. By running at such times as the windings of the road hid him, he had caught up with them as near as was prudent. The girl was walking very rapidly. It was plain that she knew she was being followed. It was equally plain that she did not want her pursuer to know that she knew it. But walk as fast as she would, the man following her walked just a bit faster.

Nearly a mile below the village, and half that distance above Fallen Rock, the river road angles abruptly to the north through a cut in the cliff and leads back into the level highlands. Just where the road turns a path leaves it, crosses a dilapidated rail the Warbrinton lands, and enters the woods. The girl took this path. She was in the act of climbing the fence—low and broken where the path crossed it—when, with a prodigious step or two, the man following caught up with her and took hold of the basket.

"Allow me to assist you," he said. The Pearlhunter, from where he had darted behind a clump of hazel growing rank along the side of the road, could just distinguish the words.

Without answering, the girl sprang to the ground on the opposite side of the fence, but without letting go of the basket. Neither did the other let go. Placing his disengaged hand upon the top rail of the fence, he vaulted lightly over. The Pearlhunter seized the favorable instant to steal near. The sunbonnet hid the girl's face so that he could not see it, but he fancied the plump brown hand on the basket handle was trembling.

The smile on the face of the man clinging persistently to the other side of the basket meant things that a smile has no business to mean.

"Why do you always avoid me?" His voice was low, soft, musical—too musical. "Surely it's no crime for a man to admire a pretty girl. The cat may look at the queen, you know."

He laughed. Something altogether different from mirth in that laugh—something altogether different from mirth behind it. The girl made no reply—if the heaving of her bosom gave any index to her feelings, she probably could not reply. She did not even raise her eyes.

"You ignore me there in the village," he pursued. "But out here in the woods—well, it's out here in the woods. You've got to—H—!"

The exclamation was surprised out of him. The girl had suddenly dropped her side of the basket and whirled. But quick as she was, he was quicker. As the basket clattered to the ground he seized her arm. There followed some muttered words, and a smothered cry that the Pearlhunter was too busy just then to understand.

The girl was still struggling, her assailant muttering, and trying to detain her without too great a show of violence, when a grim face scowled up from behind the fence, a long arm shot over, the fingers of a calloused hand twisted themselves into the collar of the assailant and slammed him back against the rail with a force that took the breath out of him in a grunt. Nor was that all. The same long arm dragged him backward over the fence and chucked him head first down into the path on the other side, where for a moment he lay half stunned, gasping for the breath that had as good as gone, and gazing half foolishly up at the man who stood over him.

But it was only for a moment. With a face like the flames of hell he sprang up. The body of the Pearlhunter crouched, tightened.

There is just one thing to expect in such a situation; but the expected failed to happen. For the second time that day the Man-in-the-Fancy-Vest treated the Pearlhunter to a very genuine surprise. The flame of anger in his eyes slowly changed to a haughty contempt, infinitely rankling. He turned, and, without a backward glance, stalked down the road toward the village.

The Pearlhunter stood gazing after him. The Red Mask—and he hadn't struck! Three times affronted, and he hadn't struck. Each time there had been death in his eyes. What was holding his hand? Was he biding his time? It was not a pleasant thing to contemplate, for any man can kill another if he waits his opportunity, and takes him at a disadvantage.

Why hadn't he struck? Always the question came back to that. And what was holding him to the Flatwoods? The Pearlhunter whirled with the thought, and looked back over the fence.

The girl was gone. The basket and bundles were still scattered about the path. He climbed the fence and began gathering them up. He had them all back in the basket, and was leaning against the fence, wondering how to get them to their proper owner, when a slight rustle among the bushes reached his ear. He glanced up; the girl stood before him.

Slammed Him Back Against the Rail.

It was the girl of the pool—the Wild Rose.

The woods had hid them; the woods had nursed them; the woods had set them face to face—the Pearlhunter; the Wild Rose—a man; a woman. Strip away from life every nonessential; bare it of every husk of sham and convention; pare it right down to the red, quick core, beyond which it is not possible to reduce it further, and you come at last to a man and a woman. Six million years the Almighty Artist practiced on such secondary studies as stars and suns, and peopling them with inconceivably diverse and curious forms of life, before trusting his hand on his final masterpiece—a man; a woman.

They stood staring, as at that other meeting at the pool. And that was the thought uppermost in the mind of the Pearlhunter—that other meeting. And he had looked! Somehow he wished he hadn't; and yet he wasn't sorry that he had. The thought drew his eyes to her feet. Shifting the basket, his hand slowly stole up and dragged off his battered hat.

The blue eyes under the sunbonnet lived. The girl drew a step nearer. The bushes she had been bending aside sprang back into place. She drew another step nearer. As she moved, an overhanging limb caught the sunbonnet and dragged it off, displaying a very soft and glossy mass of yellow curls. She turned, disengaged the bonnet from the limb, and was shaking the curls into shape to replace it when the Pearlhunter made a quick step toward her with hand upraised.

"Don't!" he cried. "Don't!"

A man of slow speech, with eyes hard to wake, he wouldn't have believed such words were in him.

The girl stood fumbling the bonnet. He watched one stray curl lose its place and come slowly tumbling down, little by little, till it fell over her shoulder and lay upon the softly rising and falling bosom. From the curl, he raised his eyes to her face. He saw a smile steal across it. It was only a little smile, but it grew under his gaze till it reached up to her eyes, and plucked the lids together, and squeezed out a tiny ripple of merriment that ran out over her face and settled in two round dimples that teasingly uplited the corners of her mouth—a good, winsome mouth, fringed with full red lips and set with wholesome teeth. The smile grew until it quite passed beyond her control. She threw up her head; the smile became a laugh.

It was the only thing that could have broken the restraint. The laugh; the slow smile that answered it—their introduction. She tied the bonnet strings, while he watched her fingers as they formed the knot.

"That song—" he said. "It was the most wonderful thing I ever heard."

The girl laughed again—a laugh like water tinkling over pebbles.

"The birds are my playmates," she answered simply. "They fly down all over me. I had to learn their language."

"You live in these woods?"

The Pearlhunter was a long time asking that question.

"Not far from the pool."

"And you're not afraid?"

He glanced up the road toward the village.

"Oh, I live with Daddy." A shade crossed her face. "Never before," she added, as if the first statement had not quite satisfied his question.

"Daddy is not very well and I have to go to the store. Every time I've gone in the last few days that man has tried to talk to me. I was frightened to death today when he followed me. He never did that before. I'm so glad you happened along; and I thank you over and over!"

"It was nothing," he said simply, twisting his hat in his hand. He didn't tell her it wasn't a matter of happening.

She shook the curl off her bosom and back over her shoulder. He was sorry for that.

"He is a gambler; at least so the grocery man told me today—and a—man killer."

The Pearlhunter could have added quite startlingly to the information imparted by the grocery man, but he only said:

"He's all that—and more."

She glanced across the fence and up the road. He fancied a slight shiver lifted her shoulders.

"Miss—Miss—I don't know your name!"

Two rough little points plucked up the girl's eyes. The two dimples played hide-and-seek with the corners of her mouth—artless as the flicking wings of a Lady Cardinal.

"A little bit ago you called me—"

"The Wild Rose," he finished.

"I like—that!" she stammered, "ever so much better than any—other name."

Again that slow smile broke across the face of the Pearlhunter. He knew he ought to say something—but what?

"Well, Miss—Wild Rose—" he finally ventured, with no idea of what else he was going to say.

"Leave off the Miss, please." It was a timely remark. "Miss seems well—so dignified for the woods. And you are—"

He shifted the basket to the other arm and stood gazing up and down the ragged fence row.

"They call me the—Pearlhunter," he stammered after a time.

The girl seemed to ponder the word. She was fast losing her first distrust. Just as any other creature of the woods loses it when convinced no danger threatens.

"I knew—that," she answered.

"The storekeeper pointed you out to me when you went to the bank. I mean your—other name."

Wonderful Balances.

It was the Italian physician Salvioni who devised a microbalance of extreme delicacy that clearly demonstrates the loss of weight of musk by volatilization. Thus the invisible perfume floating off in the air is indirectly weighed. The essential part of the apparatus is a very thin thread of glass fixed at one end and extended horizontally. The microscopic objects to be weighed are placed on the glass thread near its free end and the amount of flexure produced is observed with the microscope magnifying 100 diameters. A mote weighing one one-thousandth of a milligram perceptibly bends the thread.

No-Burn Linoleum.

Non-combustible linoleum of European invention includes in its composition a chemical which gives off a flame-quenching gas should it be ignited.

The blood leaped to his face. The innocent question staggered him. He stared past her into the trees. "It's all the same I have!" She saw instantly that she had hurt him. The pain that subdued the smile in her eyes was worth the hurt. She drew a step nearer.

"The storekeeper told me the wonderful story about your—Blue Moon," she went on hastily, in her voice a curious eagerness, doubtless due to a desire to turn his thoughts from a subject that quite evidently distressed him.

He seemed not to know how to meet her eagerness—her desire to undo the mischief of her question. The girl could not know the ghosts her words had waked—the mystery of the half-covered track; that crimson scrawl on the tablecloth.

"And is it like the moon—round—and is it blue?"

"Round as a marble; and blue—a faint little mite blue—like the faint moon in a cold sky."

The Pearlhunter could talk, when he didn't have to feel his way—when he spoke of things he knew. And he did know fresh-water pearls.

"The storekeeper said it was worth five thousand—dollars."

She ventured the word—a statement in form; a question in intent—as if half suspecting that the storekeeper had exaggerated; anxious to hope the story might be true, yet fearing it might not.

"The Storekeeper Said It Was Worth Five Thousand Dollars."

"The storekeeper was right."

She unlaced her fingers, clasped her hands together softly.

"Isn't it wonderful?" she cried. "Why, you could buy the Flatwoods! And Wolf Run; and Fallen Rock; and every tree; and every bird's nest would be yours! And you could keep the woodchoppers away forever."

"Hardly that," he answered, suddenly thoughtful. "But I know what I shall do."

"Something splendid, I know."

Another statement with the intent of a question. He seemed to feel it called for a reply.

La Crosse—Elaborate plans are being made for the celebration of Armistice day in La Crosse. A mass decoration ceremony of La Crosse county service men with the Victory medal will be held in Riverside park to feature the event. A big parade in which various societies and organizations will participate, will precede the decoration ceremonies.

Madison—Towns, villages and cities of the state must keep streets, highways and alleys open for travel during the winter. This is the law which the Wisconsin highway commission is directed to enforce. J. T. Donaghy, maintenance engineer, is instructing the board of supervisors of every county of the need for its observance.

Green Bay—This city is after the 1921 Wisconsin grain show. County Agent Kavanaugh and prominent farmers met with the Association of commerce and plans were discussed for financing such an undertaking. Brown county last year carried off high honors at the show at La Crosse and will be entered again this year.

Neillsville—The Deutsch-Americaner, the only German paper in Clark county, has suspended publication, after an existence of 30 years. The subscription list is taken over by a Winona concern. The paper is owned by Carl Rabenstein, who conducted it until a year ago, when he leased it to Miss Emma Rosier, who had been in charge of it since.

Megasha—The Rev. S. G. Ruegg has resigned from the pastorate of the Congregational church, where he has served for six years. He has had a call to the east.

Madison—Plans and specifications for dormitory buildings and the rectorate at the southern home for feeble-minded at Union Grove are completed and will be advertised for bids shortly, according to the state architect.

Madison—The general attitude of the state legislators points to a short session this year, Charles McCarty, legislative librarian, said. Assemblymen and senators are preparing their bills now in order to expedite business during the session.

Superior—Horses and field equipment valued at $75,000 was received for Troop M, Wisconsin National Guard. The new equipment will be issued to the members of the troop at once. Stables at the Tri-State Fair grounds will be used as quarters for horses.

Racine—The assessed valuation of all property in Racine is given at $78,840,388, an increase of $11,865,882 over 1920, according to the report of the assessors.

NEWS OF THE BADGER STATE

Birchwood—Definite plans are under way for the observance of Armistice day, Nov. 11, by Edgar Eubanks post, American Legion, at Rice Lake, near here. Invitations have been extended to every organization of any kind, whether business, social, or fraternal, to furnish parade delegations. The Legion post will make official presentation of Victory medals to all former service men who served in the World war.

Madison—Plumbing conditions in Wisconsin are gradually assuming a normal aspect, the quarterly report of the state board of health says. An adequate supply of plumbers and ability to obtain materials with regularity for the first time in three years are given as causes for the change. It appears that there will be a general reduction in costs, it was said. Extended activities in the plumbing industry also are looked for.

Eau Claire—Norden lodge, No. 1, of the Scandinavian American fraternity, has a membership of 850 here and hopes to obtain 1,000 before next June in friendly rivalry with Lodge 98, of Minneapolis, which has 700 members. P. J. Smith, Grand Lodge secretary, says that the society has issued 1,239 new certificates since January and invested in bonds out of surplus money $57,000. There is now $262,572 invested in city and federal bonds.

Racine—The city water commission proposes to spend $1,936,000 in improvement and extension of the water plant in order that the service may be brought up to full efficiency and adequate for the present and future needs of the city. With such an expenditure the city would have an investment of $3,158,000, the purchase price of the property, a year ago, being $1,222,000.

Ashland—According to one of the fathers of the Bad River tribe of Chippewas, of the Bad River Indian reservation, we are in for a long and cold winter. According to this man, who is an adept at weather signs, a long winter may be expected, because, he has observed, that white men are hustling in an unusually heavy supply of coal and firewood.

Kenosha—Morris Rostker rescued the two children of Frank Paleski from burning to death when he rushed into a smoke filled room and carried them out of the flames. The children, 3 and 5 years old, had been left in the Paleski apartment while the mother went to the grocery store. It is believed that the children were playing with matches and started a fire.

Appleton—Classes in citizenship and English for foreigners are being organized in more than a dozen Outagamie county rural schools. Volunteer instructors are to have charge of the classes until other provisions are made. It is planned to hold classes each week. Special efforts will be made to have every foreign-born citizen become a regular attendant.

La Crosse—Elaborate plans are being made for the celebration of Armistice day in La Crosse. A mass decoration ceremony of La Crosse county service men with the Victory medal will be held in Riverside park to feature the event. Fond du Lac—The local police department is waging war upon speeders this season, there being already 81 violators of the city speed laws haled into court from the middle of May until Oct. 23. Allowing that the minimum fine of $10 was paid by each offender, the city received $810 for speeding fines alone, which, together with court costs, would mean that speeders paid a minimum total of $1,210.95. The war upon the speeders and reckless automobile drivers will be continued next season and will be even more forcefully enforced.

Merrill—John McLoughlin, farmer near Merrill, was paroled for one year in the care of a state probation officer, by Judge A. H. Reid, in circuit court here. McLoughlin chased some boys from his land with a shotgun, firing a charge in their direction. One of the fine shot struck one of the boys, although McLoughlin claims he did not intend to shoot at them. In addition to being placed under parole, McLoughlin was ordered to pay all charges and medical fees in the case.

Marinette—Eric Mikelson, Pembine, Marinette county, reports a remarkable yield from five acres of Triumph pure bred, certified potatoes. He harvested at the rate of 330 bushels to the acre. The figures have been checked by County Agent Sibole and by State Potato Inspector Brand, and the latter believes they constitute a state record for yield an acre of pure bred seed. He says he would not be astonished to learn when reports are compiled from all states that the Mikelson yield will constitute a national record.

Merrill—Farmers residing in the vicinity of Spirit Falls complain about the high cost of car haulage from that point to Tomahawk via the Tomahawk, Marinette and Western railroad, and will make an effort to have the Milwaukee road extend its Newwood branch of the Wisconsin Valley division to Spirit Falls. They are willing to contribute part of the right of way provided the right of way does not cut their farms in two.

Madison—During the two years ending June 30, 1920, the industrial commission issued 54,822 orders upon employers relating to safety and sanitation. More than half of these orders were on transmission apparatus. There were also more than 1,000 orders in each of the following groups: Elevators, machinery, sanitation, electrical safety and fire prevention.

Madison—Church membership was declared by the majority of the new students who entered the University of Wisconsin this fall, according to a church census which was taken by the Campus Religious council during registration. Of the 2,97 new students, 2,313 reported church affiliation, and the majority of these are church members.

Superior—The Superior division of the Duluth Street Railway Co. has made only $425 over all expenses, including interest, sinking fund and taxes, in the first nine months of this year, according to Herbert Warren, vice president and general manager of the company, who testified before C. D. Jackson of the Wisconsin railroad commission at the city hall.

Madison—A labor shortage existed during September in all cities of the state with public employment offices except at Racine, Sheboygan and Wausau, according to figures just compiled by the industrial commission. Total applications for work in the state amounted to 14,423 with registered requests for help running up to 18,072.

Sheboygan—The Holstein dispersal sale of the Henry Siemens and Joe Silberagel herds with the consignment of 15 well bred animals of Wippermann Brothers at the Lake Park farm on the Lake Shore road four miles north of the city, brought in $10,735. Bidding was comparatively active throughout the auction and some animals sold as high as $525.

Marinette—Because of the change in dates of the Wisconsin state potato show at Milwaukee, a similar change is made in the plan of the Wisconsin Seed Potato association. The latter organization announced it would meet at Pembine, Marinette county, Dec. 1. The state show is now to be held Nov. 20 to December 4 and the Certified Seed association has changed its date to Dec. 15, at Pembine.

Birchwood—Carl A. Gilbertson, Spooner, is dead following an automobile accident near that city from which he sustained a broken skull, causing concussion of the brain. Mr. Gilbertson was a Spanish-American war veteran and served in Porto Rico under Gen. Miles, with the Third Wisconsin Volunteer infantry.

Stevens Point—Three hundred farmers of Portage and Waupaca county attended a tractor demonstration at the Matt Domaszek farm in the town of New Hope, where practical demonstrations were given under the direction of County Agent W. W. Clark.

Green Bay—One-man street cars will be used exclusively on Green Bay's traction lines. The cars now in use have proved so satisfactory that all other cars will be made over in the Green Bay shops. The one man system, however, will not be used on the interurban routes.

Menomonee Falls—John Prisk, 9, son of George Fusik, residing on a farm near here, was fatally shot by his brother, Frank, 14, while the two boys were shooting at a target with a small rifle.

Madison—Permission to increase its rate was granted to the Theresa Union Telephone Co., Theresa. The single party business phone rate is $2.50 and the residence rate $2. The rural rate will be $1.75. The new rates will go into effect at once.

Green Bay—Increased salaries for teachers and janitors have boosted the operating expenses of Green Bay schools $74,000 this year. The 1920-'21 budget calls for expenditures of $233,199.

"LOOK OUT FOR THE CARS"
DO YOU know of anyone who is old enough to read, who has not seen that sign at a railroad crossing?
If everyone has seen it at some time or other, then why doesn't the railroad let the sign rot away? Why does the railroad company continue to keep those signs at every crossing? Maybe you think, Mr. Merchant, "Most everybody knows my store, I don't have to advertise." Your store and your goods need more advertising than the railroads need to warn people to "Look Out for the Cars." Nothing is ever completed in the advertising world. The Department Stores are a very good example—they are continually advertising—and they are continually doing a good business. If it pays to run a few ads 'round about Christmas time, it certainly will pay you to run advertisements about all the time. It's just business, that's all, to ADVERTISE in THIS PAPER

JUST A LITTLE STORY—A TRUE STORY

TWO men met the other day after a separation of many years. One remarked the prosperous appearance of the other as the "other" noted the seedy appearance of his friend. They exchanged experiences. The prosperous one claimed his prosperity due to early thrift and opening a savings account when he was a young man. His savings had started him in business and the habits acquired had guided him in later years.

The "other" had not saved. He had put off from day to day his first deposit and because he had not saved had been forced to watch opportunity pass him by. His watchword was "tomorrow" and tomorrow never comes.

Moral: Don't wait! Come to the bank NOW and make your first deposit—one dollar will open an account.

West Bend Aluminum Company

(A Wisconsin Corporation)

WEST BEND, WISCONSIN

7% Cumulative, Redemption Fund, First Preferred Stock

A "CLASS A" SECURITY IN WISCONSIN

Preferred as to Assets and Dividends

PAR VALUE $100

Dividends payable January 1, April 1, July 1, and October 1. Redeemable as a whole or in part at the option of the Company at any dividend payment date after July 1, 1922, at 105 and accrued dividends.

Sinking fund provides for the retirement each year beginning July 1, 1922, of 5 per cent of the greatest amount of referred Stock at any time outstanding at par and accrued dividends.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF WEST BEND, WISCONSIN, REGISTRAR.

CAPITALIZATION

After applying the proceeds of the sale of $400,000 Cumulative Preferred Stock the Capitalization of the West Bend Aluminum Company will be as follows:

	Authorized	Outstanding
First Preferred Stock - 7 per cent	$700,000	$400,000.00
Common Stock	300,000	300,000.00
Surplus		142,155.54

From the accompanying letter of B. C. Ziegler, Sec'y-Treasurer and General Manager of the Company we summarize as follows:

BUSINESS: The West Bend Aluminum Company began the manufacture of aluminum cooking utensils in 1911 with a small plant and capital of $14,000. Today the West Bend "Quality" aluminum ware is used in the entire United States and in foreign countries; aluminum ware is becoming more popular. Sales for 1920 will be 1 1/4 times 1919 sales and it is estimated that 1921 sales will be 1 1/2 times those of 1920.

PROPERTY: The Company is operating in a large, modern, fire proof factory and has an abutment completed upon which a new and larger building can be erected in a short time when conditions warrant. The property includes 23 acres of land between the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and the Milwaukee River in the City of West Bend, Wisconsin.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: The proceeds from the sale of Preferred Stock will be used to take care of the rapid growth of business and thus at all times will be invested largely in current assets, that is, assets that can be quickly turned into cash.

EARNINGS: The average annual net earnings for the two years ending June 30, 1920, before taxes amount to over six (6) times the annual dividend charges on the First Preferred Stock and it is estimated that for the year 1920 the net earnings before taxes will be about nine (9) times the amount required to pay the Preferred Stock dividend.

NET TANGIBLE ASSETS: The net tangible assets after giving effect to the Preferred Stock are $842,155.54 or $210.54 per share and must be maintained at $200 per share outstanding.

NET QUICK ASSETS: Net Current Assets are $723,228.55 or $180.75 per share and must be maintained at $120 per share outstanding.

FEATURES, PROTECTING PREFERRED STOCK: No mortgage may be put on the plant or adjacent real estate nor notes issued maturing later than one year without the consent of the holders of 3/4 of the Preferred Stock. The Company agrees to keep net tangible assets of 200 per cent (twice) and net current assets of 120 per cent of the Preferred Stock outstanding at any time.

ADDITIONAL STOCK RESTRICTIONS: No Preferred Stock in excess of the $400,000 now issued shall be issued unless the net tangible assets amount to 200 per cent and the net quick assets 120 per cent of the total Preferred Stock outstanding plus that proposed to be issued and unless the net profits for the twelve months preceding shall be three times the total dividend charges on the Preferred Stock outstanding and that to be issued.

REDEMPTION AND SINKING FUND: Each year beginning January 1, 1922, the Company must set up out of profits a Sinking Fund equal to 5 per cent of the greatest amount of Preferred Stock at any time outstanding, which fund must be used beginning July 1, 1922, to redeem at par each year 5 per cent of the greatest amount of Preferred Stock at any time outstanding.

All legal details in connection with the issue of this Preferred Stock have been passed upon by Messrs. J. Miller, Mack, and Fairchild, Milwaukee, and Messrs. O'Meara and O'Meara, West Bend. The accounts of the Company have been audited by Marwick, Mitchell & Co., Public Accountants, Milwaukee.

The above Preferred Stock is offered when, as and if issued and received by us

AT $100 PER SHARE AND ACCRUED DIVIDEND.

And get more genuine chewing satisfaction, when you use this class of tobacco.

This is because the full, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often.

And a small chew gives more real satisfaction than a big chew of the ordinary kind ever did.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.
