Appolina Klapoetke, 90, Other Community Pioneers Die

Appolina Klapoetke, 90, a pioneer of this community, died at 10:05 a. m. Monday, Jan. 27, after an illness of several weeks. She was born in the village of Appolina, Prussia, and came to this country in 1848, settling in the town of Kewaskum, Marquette county. She was the wife of the late John Klapoetke, who died in 1885. She is survived by her son, John Klapoetke, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Klapoetke. Her funeral was held at 10:30 a. m. Monday at St. Michael's church, Kewaskum. Burial was in the cemetery at Kewaskum.

Other community pioneers who have died recently include Mrs. Elizabeth Klapp, 88, who died at 10:30 a. m. Monday at her home in Kewaskum. She was the wife of the late John Klapp and is survived by her son, John Klapp, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Klapp. Her funeral was held at 10:30 a. m. Monday at St. Michael's church. Burial was in the cemetery at Kewaskum.

Man Dies of Injuries Gotten in Crash Here

Benjamin Franklin Buckley, 60, of Fond du Lac, a salesman for Boulay Brothers of that city, died at 9:30 a. m. Thursday, Jan. 23, at St. Agnes hospital after being injured in an auto accident on Highway 55 at the intersection of the highway and the south of the village. His death was the first traffic fatality in Washington county in 1941. Last year the county had 19 fatalities resulting from auto accidents.

Buckley was injured at 3 p. m. Wednesday, Jan. 15, when his car skidded on the slippery highway in front of the Klein farm and smashed into an electric power pole, badly damaging the car. He was thrown against the windshield and dashboard of his car, shattering the windshield glass. However, his only injuries discovered at the time were a broken ankle and slight injuries to the head. The broken bone protruded through the fleshy part of the leg and it is possible something may have set in on the limb. However, the cause of his death was not learned.

Funeral services for Mr. Buckley were held at 11 a. m. Sunday, Jan. 26, from St. Michael's church, Fond du Lac, with the Rev. J. J. Hoenck officiating. Burial was at Clinton Junction.

Mr. Buckley was born at Dunlap, Ia. and prior to coming to Fond du Lac in 1923 he and his wife resided at Elgin, Ill., Janesville, Saginaw, Mich., Sioux City, Ia., Custer, Mont. and Madison, Wis. He was formerly a store manager for the Atlantic and Pacific Tea company for 12 years. He is survived by three daughters and three sons, one grandchild, two brothers and a sister.

Group of Local Hunters Has Bagged Five Foxes

A group of local fox hunters, consisting of Joe Eberle, K. A. Honeck, Lester Dreher, Fred Andrae, Pete Bies, Norbert Dogs, Louis Bunkelmann, Tommy Quandt and William Windorf, has bagged a total of five foxes shot in the territory surrounding Kewaskum in the past two or three weeks. The animals were shot one each by Messrs. Bunkelmann, Quandt, Bies, Honeck and Windorf.

The foxes were fine specimens. They weren't strictly red or gray foxes but seemed to be a cross between the two breeds. The fresh snow recently has made conditions favorable for tracking the foxes. The hunters then station themselves around the area in which they believe the animal to be located and when the dogs drive Mr. Fox out—bang! Although fox pelts do not bring a good price now they are a menace to other smaller game birds and animals and their eradication is a worthwhile undertaking to improve hunting conditions.

While on their way to work recently Jerry Riley and Phillip Bohn, both of R. 1, Kewaskum, spied a silver fox north of Waubesa. They returned home for their guns, picked up the trail, followed it and finally shot the fox south-west of Waubesa. The animal had escaped from the Nieman fox farm at Cedarburg and the young men were rewarded for returning the pet.

Mrs. Catherine Harter Observes 92nd Birthday

Mrs. Catherine Harter, a resident of this village many years, had the rare distinction of observing her 92nd birthday anniversary on Monday, Jan. 27, at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, where she is confined.

Mrs. Harter was a resident of Kewaskum until a few years ago when she went to Fond du Lac to make her home at the Henry Boyle Home for the Aged. Soon after going to that city Mrs. Harter had the misfortune to fracture her hip and has been confined at the hospital ever since that time.

Mrs. Harter, more familiarly known as Aunt Kate Harter, has numerous relatives and friends in Kewaskum and vicinity who will join in offering birthday greetings and best wishes to the aged lady on her birthday with the hope for improved health for the well-known woman in the future despite her age. It is regretted that Mrs. Harter was unable to be up and around to enjoy her anniversary.

TOWN OF AUBURN TEACHER HURT WHILE TOBOGGANING

Miss Margaret Pesch, of Campbellsport, teacher in the Virgin Creek school in the town of Auburn, sustained a fractured right leg when the toboggan on which she was riding struck a gully and cartwheeled Sunday afternoon. Miss Pesch was tobogganing with her brother, John, and sister, Bernadine, and several friends near Long Lake when the accident occurred. Other members of the party were unharmed.

Automobile dealers number upwards of 10,000 in 17 southern states, according to a total employment of 60,000 persons.

Local Firemen at Meet of Badger Association

The annual mid-winter meeting and banquet of the Badger Firemen's association were held in the town hall at Mequon last Thursday afternoon and evening. Delegates of the local department of the afternoon meeting were Chief Harry Schaefer, Arnold Martin and Bernard Seil, accompanied by Wm. Schaub. They were joined by the following members of the Kewaskum department at the banquet in the evening: Norbert Dogs, Clifford Stantz, A. P. Schaefer, Clarence Mertes, J. H. Martin, Lee Honeck and Fred Miller.

In the afternoon there was a business meeting at which matters pertaining to the welfare of the association were discussed, including demonstrations. The big feature was the banquet at 7:30 p. m., at which nearly all of the departments were represented, covers being laid for about 500 persons. Music was furnished and there was community singing and several vocal selections. Several prominent guest speakers talked. Others were called on for short responses.

John Feitz, Slinger, association president, acted as toastmaster. Cedarburg representatives announced that the annual firemen's tournament would be held at the fair grounds in Cedarburg this year in connection with the 75th anniversary of that department. Dates selected are June 28 and 29.

Tri-County Coaches Adopt Grid Schedule

Coaches in the Tri-County conference approved a 15-game football schedule for the 1941 season at their recent annual dinner meeting with the principals at the Hotel Kettaw in Fond du Lac.

The six schools will start 6-man grid action on the first Friday in October and complete play on the last Friday in the same month. Most of the schools will play two more non-conference games in September.

The conference also decided to compile individual scoring lists for the remainder of the 1940-41 basketball season. The coaches will forward results of each game to Glen Dahl, conference secretary, Brandon, who keeps the scores.

Mr. James A. Jones, former principal of North Fond du Lac High school who is in active duty with the United States army, gave a short address. Other talks were given by Adolph Klatt, North Fond du Lac, D. J. Huenink, principal at Campbellsport, and B. Jackson, Fond du Lac.

Representatives from the schools at the meeting included: Oakfield, Principal H. R. Heimerl, Coach James Van-dehey; North Fond du Lac, Coach A. H. Humphrey, Adolph Klatt, W. F. Fook; Campbellsport, Principal D. J. Huenink, Coach Lyle Viney; Kewaskum, Principal Clifford M. Rose, Coach Lyle Gibson; Brandon, Principal Glen Dahl, Coach Lewin, J. H. Van Doren; Lomira, Principal E. E. Packard, Coach E. W. Zuehlke, Walter Beck; Rosendale, Principal C. E. Kopp, Coach Ferd Mossberg.

The football schedule follows:
Oct. 3—Kewaskum at Brandon; Oakfield at North Fond du Lac; Campbellsport at Lomira.

Oct. 10—Lomira at Kewaskum; Oakfield at Campbellsport; Brandon at North Fond du Lac.

Oct. 17—Brandon at Lomira; North Fond du Lac at Campbellsport; Kewaskum at Oakfield.

Oct. 24—Lomira at North Fond du Lac; Oakfield at Brandon; Campbellsport at Kewaskum.

Oct. 31—Brandon at Campbellsport; North Fond du Lac at Kewaskum; Lomira at Oakfield.

Large Number at Kettle Moraine Ski Bowl Sunday

The Forest Lake ski bowl, located on Cranberry Hill in the Kettle Moraine State forest northeast of Kewaskum, attracted another large number of skiing and tobogganing enthusiasts over the weekend. About 30 skiers came by special train from Chicago and Evanston, Ill. and numerous others from Milwaukee and other neighboring cities came by car. Autos loaded with skis passed through this village all day Saturday enroute to the state forest.

Sunday was ideal for the winter sports when an all day snow fell and added a couple of inches to the snow already blanketing the ground. The weather was mild and all had an enjoyable day. Weather and snow reports were announced over Chicago and Milwaukee radio stations for the Kettle Moraine. The postponed opening of the ski bowl was held Sunday before last when over 100 winter sports enthusiasts were on hand. The bowl also attracts many people to Kewaskum, "The Gateway to the Kettle Moraine."

BREAKS LEG IN GAME

Many Minor Accidents in Swamp Near Here

A very large number of minor traffic accidents were reported as taking place in the Kewaskum swamp south of the village on Highway 55 during the past week. The road through the swamp was very slippery for several days over the week end, being covered with a glazy coating of ice which made driving extremely hazardous. Just about every day several cars skidded off the highway and careened into the long rows of guard rails, knocking them off like tenpins in a bowling alley. Many of the cars ran into other machines while others headed into the deep ditch beside the highway. At least a dozen cars were damaged, fortunately though, the damage was slight on most of them and no injuries were reported. The accidents occurred faster than one could keep up a list of them so no attempt was made to obtain the names of all those involved.

This treacherous stretch of highway was reported to the county highway commission but nothing seemed to be done about it. The commission claimed it was against some state law to spread sand on the road there. Why we do not know. We should think something could have been done to eliminate this hazard and it costs money to replace guard rails. After all the state is trying to cut down accidents and loss of life, not increase them.

Married Ladies' Card Party a Fine Success

The card party sponsored by the Married Ladies' sodality of Holy Trinity congregation in the parish school hall on Monday evening was a fine success and an enjoyable time was had by the large crowd participating in the various games. Lunch was served and prizes were awarded. The sodality thanks all who helped make the affair a success.

The prize winners were as follows: DOOR PRIZE—Rev. Philip J. Vogt. SHEEPSHEAD—1st, Alex Geier, 44; 2nd, Benedict Fellenz, 42; 3rd, Ed. Schladweiler, 40; 4th, Mrs. Jacob Theusch, 32; 5th, Alex Kudek, 32; 6th, Dr. R. G. Edwards, 30; 7th, Fred Zimmerman, 28. FIVE HUNDRED—1st, Miss Dorothy Smith, 40; 2nd, Mrs. Ed. Schladweiler, 35; 3rd, Lawrence Klein, 32; 4th, Miss Tillie Mayer, 30; 5th, Mrs. Jac. Harter, 30. AUCTION BRIDGE—1st, Mrs. August Bartel, 22; 2nd, John Weykum, 21; 3rd, Mrs. Olive Haase, 20. SKAT—1st, Roland Heberer, 2nd, Norbert Becker, 3rd, Leonard Theusch. BUNCO—1st, Gerald Stoffel, 22; 2nd, Robert Schmidt, 21. CONTRACT BRIDGE—1st, Mrs. Al Wieter, 50; 2nd, Mrs. R. G. Edwards, 50.

Miss Dorothy Horn and Raymond Sohre Married

Miss Dorothy Horn, daughter of Mrs. William Horn, 1913 North Twelfth street, Sheboygan, became the bride of Raymond Sohre, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sohre of Elmora in a nuptial ceremony performed by Msgr. Phillip Dreis in Holy Name church at Sheboygan at 9 a. m. Saturday, Jan. 25. Carrying a large bouquet of white roses, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown with a train and a long veil held with a rhinestone tiara. Her sister, Miss Gertrude Horn, attended as maid of honor and Mrs. Helen Casper, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Virginia Sohre, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. The maid of honor was attired in a floor length gown of pink silk taffeta brocaded in silver and carried mixed flowers. The bridesmaids wore blue and peach floor length gowns of silver brocaded taffeta. They carried bouquets of mixed flowers and wore head bands of flowers to match their gowns.

Peter Horn, brother of the bride, was best man and groomsmen were Herbert Horn, brother of the bride, and Edward Sohre, Jr., brother of the bridegroom. The ring bearer, David Casper, nephew of the groom, was dressed in white and carried the rings in a calla lily.

A reception for 30 immediate relatives was held at the home of the bride's mother where dinner and supper were served. The home was decorated with festoons of blue, white and pink. A dance attended by 250 guests was held in the evening in the National hall at Sheboygan.

Mr. and Mrs. Sohre will be at home upon Feb. 1 at Michigan and North Seventeenth streets in Sheboygan. The bridegroom is employed at the Sheboygan Spritz factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sohre of Elmora attended the wedding.

CHICKEN LUNCH AT DREHER'S

Delicious roast spring chicken with the trimmings will be served at Lester Dreher's tavern Saturday evening, Feb. 1. Stop in for yours.

Locals Tip West Bend Schachts in Hot Game

Memomonee Falls Here Sunday to Play Leading Kewaskum, Winners of 8 Straight

The village basketball team showed their strength and sprung an unexpected surprise on the Schachts of West Bend, one of the leading teams in the Ozaukee County league, by handing them a decisive 47 to 34 beating in an exhibition tilt on the local floor Sunday night. The defeat was the worst one administered to the Schachts this season against strong competition. The victory was Kewaskum's eighth in a row.

The exhibition showed a comparison between the Rivers and Ozaukee circuits. The game was hard fought from beginning to end and thrilling to witness. It also was rough as players on both teams dug in and battled. Several arguments broke out on the floor and even after the contest in the dressing room the players almost tangled as the argument continued. Ralph Moeller, former University of Wisconsin football star, was ejected from the game on fouls in the third quarter.

Lacking in height, it looked bad for Kewaskum as the very big Bender team with four of the five starters well over six feet took the floor. Besides big Will Potter, six foot, five inch forward, the visitors' lineup contained Moeller, Weinert and Baechler, all over six feet and hefty. The locals have the fight no matter how big the opposition and held their own all the way. Although the team is short the players have the ability to go high off the floor for the ball. Led by Willard Bartel, playing manager, who went wild offensively against the Schachts, Kewaskum led throughout the game. Bartel, one of the shortest men on the floor, sneaked in underneath the Benders to dump in nine field goals and pace all scorers with 18 points. Paul Kral was next in line with 13 points, followed by Dreher with nine. Wee Willie Potter led the losers with 10 points while Moeller made eight. Kewaskum led 15-9 at the quarter and possessed a ten point advantage, 26-16, at half time. The Schachts played their best ball of the night in the third period, scoring 13 points to the locals' five, and trailed by a slim 30-29 margin when the quarter ended. Kewaskum's players got mad in the final quarter and really went wild. There was no holding them as they dumped in 16 points and at the same time held the Schachts to five, bringing the final score to 47-34.

WEST BEND 7-UPS BEAT B'S

In the preliminary Sunday the West Bend 7-Ups trounced the Kewaskum B's by a 28 to 18 score. The 7-Ups led all through the game but only by a few points until the final quarter when they built up a lead while holding the B's to two points. Rehm paced the winners' attack with 12 points. Werner, R. Marx and Carlson scored all of Kewaskum's points, each getting six. The lineups and points scored were:

PLAY ALUMINUMS, OAKFIELD

Besides the games Sunday Kewaskum teams also played Monday and Tuesday evenings. On Monday a mixture of the regular village and B teams

Local Draft Volunteer Hurt at Ft. Sheridan

According to a news item appearing in last Sunday's Chicago Tribune, Alonius Muckerhede, 27, of Kewaskum, and Henry Quas, 24, of West Bend, were two of six military selective service volunteers who were injured while they were marching into Fort Sheridan, Ill. The Tribune did not state the nature of the injuries although it is reported here that Muckerhede is confined to a hospital. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muckerhede of the town. The injuries were sustained when a motorist drove his car into a group of draftees from Wisconsin. The accident took place near the main gate of the camp.

Both Muckerhede and Quas were among the 13 Washington county volunteer draftees who were inducted into service in the last call. They left just last Friday for the induction center at Milwaukee, from where they were sent right to Fort Sheridan. A farewell program was held at West Bend in their honor last Thursday.

FIRE AT NEBELSICK HOME

The local firemen were called to the Albert Nebelsick home on Main street at 6 p. m. Monday when coal piled around the furnace in the basement of the home caught fire. The clean out hole in the chimney had been left open. Sparks flew out of the hole and onto the coal, which started burning. The home is only two doors away from the fire station and one of the firemen, Joe Kohler, had already extinguished the flames with water before the fire engines were taken out of the station. No damage was done.

MARRIAGE BANNS ANNOUNCED

Banns of marriage were announced for the first time last Sunday morning in Holy Trinity church for Alex Pesch of St. Michaels and Miss Florence Bath of the town of Kewaskum and John Lecher of the town of Kewaskum and Miss Lucinda Daniels of West Bend.

played a practice game with the West Bend Aluminum Co. five in the local gym and were victorious by a 20 to 10 points. Bath was high scorer with 20 points while Stan. Hodge and Stenschke led the Aluminums.

Tuesday the B team traveled to Oakfield for a return game with that squad. Previously the B's had beaten the Oaks in a preliminary game here and on Tuesday the Kewaskum seconds were upset by Oakfield to even the series.

PLAY FALLS HERE SUNDAY

The long awaited game will be played in the local gym Sunday night, Feb. 3, when Memomonee Falls comes to fight it out with Kewaskum. Falls led the league all season until being bumped off recently and Kewaskum replaced them in the top spot. This game and the one Thursday with Falls are important as they practically decide the outcome of the championship race. Winning both would give Kewaskum a comfortable lead for the present but they still have a hard schedule to play. Falls is speedy and tricky and has the experience of veteran cage stars. They are led by Fred Berg, former University of Wisconsin football and basketball star. But remember Kewaskum has stars of its own and can give Falls all it is looking for. Falls is the only team that beat Kewaskum this season.

You'll see basketball at its best in this big game Sunday so let's have the old gym packed. Help the boys win and show them you are proud of their great record for the year. Come early as there will be a bangup preliminary between the local B's and the Gehl Mfg. Co. team of West Bend at 7:30 sharp. Admission only 20c and 10c. Don't miss Sunday's game and let's hear you yell for Kewaskum's best team in years and possibly the Rivers championship.

PLAY AT HARTFORD, MAYVILLE

Next week Kewaskum has two hard games on tap, both away from home. They will play two nights in a row against. Next Thursday they travel to Hartford for their final game with that team this season. Hartford is laying for the locals and there is keen rivalry between the two since they were beaten in a rough, hard fought battle here a few weeks ago. They probably will shoot the works on Kewaskum to get even. Then, the next night, Friday, Kewaskum goes to Mayville, which is also a tough assignment. Mayville has been going strong of late and is hard to take on their home floor. Kewaskum beat them twice this season but looks for a close game in this last meeting.

NOTE—The above standings are of Sunday, Jan. 26, and do not include games of this week in which Memomonee Falls lost to Kewaskum and reportedly to Hartford and Mayville.

So This Is Jail!

The occupational therapy department of the penitentiary of the City of New York on Riker's island is more like an art school than a prison. The materials used are prison waste, much of it from the junk-pile. These photos show you the behind-the-bars artists at work.

Good "badmen." Two inmates are working on a textile print here. The cloth is salvaged from wornout bed sheets, and the cuts were made from scrap pieces of linoleum.

Picture Parade

Above: There are 6,000 burnt matches in this house, which is completely furnished. Windows are "glazed" with cellophane from cigarette packs. The patience and industry displayed by this man indicate a change of heart.

Right: This man not only does the actual manual work of making hooked rugs, but also creates the designs and color schemes. His materials are burlap from old sacks and wool unraveled from old socks. He dyes his materials to the tint needed.

General view of one of the classrooms of the occupational therapy department. It looks like a typical classroom in a typical art school. Solomon S. Dameshek, WPA artist who supervises the work, looks over the project of one of his pupils who is making a hooked rug. Other students are plaster casting or working on leather.

Caution Urged for Pedestrians

Autoists would fare badly if they attempted to drive their cars down public sidewalks, jeopardizing those walking, yet many pedestrians, while claiming all sidewalk rights, assume they are entitled to the streets as well. "Jaywalking" is the most common fault of pedestrians, according to the Detroit Automobile club. Caution when walking or driving is the surest means of avoiding accidents.

Always in Last Place

A mother in a hurry to get away to town on a shopping trip had mislaid her purse and was searching for it high and low. She was assisted by her little daughter, aged five. "At last, here it is!" exclaimed the owner. "I wonder why it is that one always finds a thing in the last place in which one hunts?" "I expect, mother, it's because when we find a thing we stop hunting for it," remarked the child.

Defective Chimney.
QUESTION: The chimney in my house has a defect no roofer has been able to correct. Three different roofers and chimney expert state there is nothing wrong. The paper over the fireplace is water-stained. The house is clapboard, the roof slate, and with heavy rains or melting snows, the wall in one corner is saturated. Do you know of a remedy?

ANSWER: If it is an outside chimney, look for cracks or open spaces between the chimney and the outside wall. All such cracks or openings should be filled in with a caulking compound. Porous stone or brick in the chimney is also a possibility. It can be made waterproof. It is also possible leakage occurs some distance from the chimney and may run along a joist until it is diverted toward the plaster, which absorbs the water. A minute examination for all cracks and crevices is necessary.

Spotty Paint Surface.
QUESTION: I am painting the walls for the first time. Each coat of paint shows spots right through and has the appearance of being put on in a light streak and a dark one. This happened to the walls in every room. I shellacked and sized one wall but the spots came through. What is the answer?

ANSWER: The plaster surface absorbs a great deal of oil. Due to the uneven density of plaster, the fault may be in the quality of the priming coat or an insufficient coat of paint. New plaster is usually given three coats of paint. The first or priming coat should be thinned with a pint of raw linseed oil, to the gallon of paint. Where the spotting has occurred, try applying another coat of paint over a small area. If this does not correct the condition, you may need to give the walls a coat of aluminum paint to seal the porous surface.

Knotty Pine Finish.
QUESTION: My basement game-room is finished with knotty pine, and I would like to retain its light natural color. Waxing has been advised, but an experiment shows it would be a long, tedious job. What would be the best treatment, one that is simple and would not take too long?

ANSWER: One very useful finish for knotty pine is to brush liberally with a half-and-half mixture of linseed oil and turpentine. After an hour or two for soaking in, the excess is wiped off. A second treatment is applied in two or three days. This will not interfere with the natural mellowing of the wood with age. Another popular treatment is a coat or two of clear, penetrating wax applied with a brush or a cloth.

Sound-proofing.
QUESTION: A door between my kitchen and the one in the next apartment was taken out and the opening closed with a wall of small-grooved boards. What can I do to keep sound and odors from coming through?

ANSWER: First, at a 5-and-10, get a roll or two of felt intended for weatherstripping, and plug up all spaces around the board wall. Then cover the boards with carpeting or other heavy cloth hung loosely. Finally, fill your side of the opening with a sheet of stiff insulating board, nailed to the door frame and not through to the board wall. Sound-proofing is always difficult, and while this may not give you complete silence, it will go a long way toward overcoming the trouble.

Gray Tile.
QUESTION: In a remodeled bathroom the tile floor was patched in places from which old fixtures were removed. The floor was originally white hexagonal tile, but is dark in contrast to tile that was used for patching. How can I bleach the old tile to make the floor more uniform?

ANSWER: You can make a try with Javelle water or other bleaching liquid. Rub on with steel wool. If this does not do the trick, it is because the old tile are of a lower grade than the new, and are naturally much more off white. In that case the old tile cannot be whitened.

Smoke-stained Tiles.
QUESTION: We have recently moved into a new house. The tile hearth of the living-room fireplace has been almost ruined by painters burning wood, which lay partly on the tiles and left burned places. Is there anything I can do to clean the tiles?

ANSWER: The tiles can be cleaned by rubbing with a paste made of a scratchless scouring powder and water. Another satisfactory cleaner for the purpose is the kind of soap that mechanics use for cleaning their hands. After using either of the above cleaners, rinse the surface with clear water.

White Sand for Mortar.
QUESTION: Kindly let me know if I can use fine white sand for pointing my inside cellar brick foundation walls. What are the proportions? Must I remove the lime on walls before cementing? The bricks are close together and I need a fine pointing cement.

ANSWER: Fine white sand can be used for mortar, but a sand of variegated size, from fine to coarse, is preferred. Be sure the sand is clean. One part of portland cement to three parts of sand will make a good mixture for mortar.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

NEW YORK.—In Goldfield, Nev., when the camp was going strong we staged a "battle royal," with 10 men slugging each other, the victory going to the last man to stay on his feet. The referee was an old desert rat, who didn't like to stay out of a good fight. Somehow he got mixed up in the milling and flattened the three remaining contenders.

One wonders at the self-control of George V. Denny Jr., under similar provocation. With no holds barred and no punches pulled, America's Town Meeting of the Air is getting more like the battle royal and less like its antecedent chautauqua meeting. In the melee over aid to Britain, in which Verne Marshall was the storm center, it looked as though Mr. Denny might be pulled in any minute. But he wasn't, and with rising popular blood pressure and tensing vocal chords, he gives a marvelous weekly exhibition of keeping cool and watchful, and giving everybody a break. That was the main idea of the town meeting, which he organized, and now directs.

He began his New York career as an actor in Paul Green's "Pulitzer prize-winning" play, "In Abraham's bosom." In the University of North Carolina, he became a member of the "Carolina Playmakers." After his graduation, he was instructor for dramatic productions at Chapel Hill, which experience may have contributed to the uniformly good showmanship of the town meeting.

Mr. Denny was worried about the rising power of pressure groups, industrial strife, intolerance and other such matters, and these concerns directed him to an association with the League for Political Education, of which he later became director. The Town Hall of the Air was a natural extension of the work of the league, founded by Dr. Denny in 1935.

IT MAY sound far-fetched to link the Monday morning hangover with Britain's chances for victory, but such things can be, the way one thing leads to another these days. In the waning days of the prohibition era, Dr. Norman Jolliffe, an up-and-coming young New York medic, made a timely study of the bodily and psychological aftermath of bathtub gin. In translating "hangover" into "polyneuritis," he discovered that he was studying not necessarily alcoholism, but imperfect diet which lessened a man's capacity to stand up to his liquor.

These imperfections or inadequacies of modern diet led to studies of vitamins as possible correctives, with Dr. Jolliffe's later conclusion that plenty of B-1 would restore caloric unbalance caused by alcohol. He urged liquor manufacturers to slip a small jolt of crystalline B-1 in every bottle. It wasn't that he was trying to help citizens keep up with their drinking. He was just taking homo sapiens as he is and trying to give him a hand.

Moving on with their vitamin studies, Dr. Jolliffe and his colleagues find Mars just as durable as barleycorn, and an even tougher antagonist, with vitamins, again useful to buttress resistance. So here's the "Vitamins for Britain" committee, with Dr. Jolliffe participating in its effort to get "millions of vitamin tablets" over there to bolster the "Sceptered Isle" against the effects of narrowed and undiversified diet, nervous tension and heebie-jeebies. Is it possible that prohibition was a laboratory to turn up a trick to save democracy?

Dr. Jolliffe, a New Yorker, was graduated from the New York university medical college in 1926. His vitamin researches gained him membership in learned societies and the American Association for the Advancement of Science. He is chief of medical service of the psychiatric division of Bellevue hospital, and associate professor of medicine at New York university.

WHEN John D. Biggers was appointed to organize and manage the unemployment census in 1937, he invited criticism. "The more stones thrown the better," he said. He now has a job both more important and more vulnerable, as director of the production division in the new national defense office of production management. Mr. Biggers thinks the critical impulse is a sign of healthful public interest. Since 1930, he has been president of the Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company.

He is also a director of several other large corporations, an ardent church worker and social meliorist. He has long been an apostle of co-operation between government and business. Mr. Biggers is a native of St. Louis, educated at George Washington university and the University of Michigan. He is stubbornly optimistic about America's destiny and is spotlighted in the defense line-up as a fervent worker for national unity and co-operation. Mr. Biggers was calm under the previous barrage, and he no doubt will be again.

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

J. WALTER RUBEN, Metro J. producer, took all of two weeks off recently; with three pictures ready to be released he'd earned it! The three are "Bad Man," with Wallace Beery, "Maisie Was a Lady," and "Flight Command," a navy picture, with Robert Taylor and the talented and beautiful Ruth Hussey.

It was a busman's holiday, in a way, as Mr. Ruben had to see all the new plays. Mrs. Ruben (Virginia Bruce) was with him, but wasn't on exhibition as so many Hollywood stars are when they visit New York.

He was enthusiastic about the co-operation given him by the navy during the making of "Flight Command," and also about Robert Taylor and the tremendous handicap he had to overcome because he was launched as a handsome and romantic lad who bowled women over on sight. When somebody mentioned the possible effect on Hollywood of this country's entering the war he predicted that men would join up in droves. Ruben himself formerly held a reserve commission in the army, and has been offered one in the navy.

Just as Cary Grant seems to bob up in practically every picture lately, so James Hilton seems to be the author of the moment. Columbia will film his "And Now Goodbye," co-starring Joan Fontaine and Brian Aherne for the first time; it is her first screen appearance since "Rebecca." And Metro is doing his "Rage in Heaven," with Ingrid Bergman and Robert Montgomery.

This is said to be one of the most exciting "perfect crime" stories to be brought to the screen. So Miss Bergman is in for a lot of horror; she has "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" as her next assignment, with Spencer Tracy.

George Raft, poker-faced as usual, almost lost his aloofness when he saw "Pal Joey" recently. "Pal Joey" is a musical show with a real plot, and is currently one of the hits of the New York theatrical season. The hero is a master of ceremonies who dances superbly, and the role is right up Raft's alley.

It's said that the next day he implemented Warner Brothers to buy the screen rights for him. Certainly it seems a natural. The only difficulty is that, to get by the Hays office, the plot and the hit songs would have to be discarded; in fact, there wouldn't be much left but the title.

Remember Billy Lee, the appealing boy actor who scored such a hit in "The Biscuit Eater"? You'll see him in "Power Dive," an aviation picture; Jean Parker and Richard Arlen star in it, supported by Roger Pryor and Don Castle, a young Paramount contract player who's on his way up fast. Paramount gives its younger players featured roles as stepping stones to stardom, so Castle was given the second lead, playing Arlen's younger brother, in "Power Dive."

Vivian Leigh and Laurence Olivier finally set off for England, and possibly for more movies; Paramount would like to have them as stars of J. M. Barrie's famous play, "The Admirable Crichton," screened many years ago with Gloria Swanson and Thomas Meighan.

ODDS AND ENDS
Warner Brothers will give "Flights From Destiny," a typical Hollywood opening in Buenos Aires, with Mona Maris presiding.
Rudy Vallee makes his debut as a ventriloquist in Pathe's "Picture People."
Parents Magazine chose Virginia Fielder as 1940's outstanding screen juvenile—Mickey Rooney was the winner for 1939.
Clocked for laughs at a "sneak" preview, Preston Sturges' latest for Paramount, "The Lady Eve," recorded an average of two laughs a minute... It co-stars Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda.

Horace Braham, who plays "Ernest Banning" in "Big Sister," tells a story of a trip he took years ago to South Africa. Noticing a Zulu tribesman wearing a handsome blue necklace, Braham decided to buy it, but figured that he'd have to dicker in sign language, since he didn't speak Zulu. So he held up five fingers, then 10, but the chief just shook his head. Exasperated, Braham exclaimed, "Why in time won't you sell that necklace?" The Zulu replied, in perfect English, "Because my best girl gave it to me."

A LETTER TO MR. DISNEY

Dear Walter Disney: I have just read in the papers that you do not think a child could possibly be scared by any of the weird effects in your new picture, "Fantasia," particularly by the episodes in "Night on Bald Mountain," and while you may be right, what about the grownups? I give you my word, Walt, that the scenes in that episode had me creepy for days and I still ain't sleeping well. If that comes under the head of entertainment, then a great idea for the Follies would be a night in a morgue.

You are a genius in my book, Walter, and nobody is even a close second to you in movie entertainment, but it would be okay by me and, I think, most movie fans, if you would cut out a tendency to go in for the creepy stuff. You could throw out the entire night on Bald Mountain and do the nerve doctors and psychopathic ward attendants a great favor.

I know this is supposed to interpret a musical composition for drums, bass fiddles, cymbals, horse pistols, dynamite caps and saxophonists with the D.T.'s, but if it does so, then Moussorgsky should have stayed in bed where he could never make the hair of a movie fan stand on end, man or boy.

"Fantasia" is a beautiful thing full of what the critics call enchantment, but a smart spectator will grab his hat and make for the nearest exit when the Bald Mountain stuff starts. It is nothing but 20 minutes of skeletons, ghosts, fliberty-gibbets and assorted apparitions flying across the screen like they was fugitives from Hades, and I mean the basement not the mezzanine floor. A skeleton rates at the bottom of the list for purposes of public entertainment, anyhow, even if it is a quiet, dignified unassuming skeleton. And when a skeleton turns out to be a jitterbug acting as if it was being auditioned for a ballet it is no good to nobody now, even with the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra as sponsor.

The episode should be retitled "Heebie-Jeebies in Technicolor."

Give them skeletons two weeks' notice, Walt, and give Bald Mountain back to Hitler, where it must have come from.

Yours for fewer goose pimples, with sound.

Elmer Twitchell.

Blood Tests For Cause and Cure of Cancer

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BECAUSE the cause of cancer has not yet been found, many may wonder if all the time and effort that is being spent on cancer is worth while. As a matter of fact, the number of "supposed" causes that have been proved not to be causes is very large and that it will not be necessary to investigate them further is a great step forward.

Dr. W. E. Ogden of Toronto, and his associates, by an examination of the blood were able to discover those who were likely to develop tuberculosis. That an examination of the blood might show those with cancer or likely to develop cancer is reported by Dr. O. S. Gruner, Montreal, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal. He describes the pattern characteristic of cancer, in detail, and points out that the more numerous and better the grouping of the lines, the more advanced is the cancer considered to be. "The fact that cancerous blood really produces differences which are uniform in kind is readily established even with a few dozen tests."

Dr. Gruner performed the crystallization on 122 patients in whom the existence of cancer had been proved, on 20 cancer patients who had been treated, on 33 patients without cancer, and on a considerable number of normal and cancer bearing animals.

Results of Test. What were the results obtained by this examination? The results obtained on patients at Royal Victoria hospital, Montreal, gave positive results in 110 of the 122 proved cases of cancer; that is, the readings were correct in 90 per cent of the cases.

In 33 cases without cancer (apparently) one positive reading was obtained.

Of the 20 cases of cancer that had been treated, 11 were negative, that is, no cancer was then present.

Dr. Gruner states that if blood shows cancer present and yet it cannot be found, cancer may still be present. On the other hand, if the test is repeatedly positive, the patient should be watched carefully.

Iodine Powder For Running Ear

A "RUNNING" ear may not be regarded as a serious matter because as long as it continues to run—no backing up of pus or discharge—the condition may be considered "safe" and not likely to require a mastoid operation.

However, this continuous discharge from the ear often means a run down condition, and the discharge itself means that the body, in addition to its other work, is manufacturing a useless substance. To clear up this chronic discharge and so build up the patient's health is often a difficult matter.

Dr. M. D. Lederman and others blow a 1 to 2 per cent of iodine powder into the middle ear to clean up and dry up the discharge. Dr. Lederman in Laryngoscope now reviews his 20 years' experience with iodine powder (Sulzberger).

"The powder is made by mixing a solution of tincture of iodine with dry powdered boric acid and evaporating the solvent or liquid part. This leaves a brownish-colored powder which contains 1 or 2 per cent iodine, depending on the proportions used. The 1 per cent is first used in chronic suppuration (pus condition) of the ear. The cleansing is best done by absorbent cotton on tips of the applicators (instruments). After all the pus and liquid is removed, the middle ear cavity is wiped out with 95 per cent alcohol, then dried, after which the powder is blown in. This is repeated once a day to twice a week—depending on the quantity of the discharge—until the ear is dry. Irrigation or washing of the ear by the patient should be avoided, but if the patient must be away for a time, he may use drops of alcohol containing the powder. If the ear does not clear up with the weak (1 per cent) powder, the strong 2 per cent preparation should be used."

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Has any treatment similar to the nerve root injections for asthma been developed to relieve nasal stoppage?

A.—The injections for asthma are to deaden or anesthetize the nerves supplying the little tubes so that tubes will not tighten or close. These injections would not be of help for enlarged turbinates. Treatment for enlarged turbinates is a "shrinking" solution like salt or adrenalin, use of cautery to burn turbinate bones, or operation.

The Dark Ages

Most historians place the period of the Dark ages between the time the western Roman empire fell in 475 A. D. and the discovery of the pandects—a systematically arranged collection of Roman laws—at Amalfi, Italy, in 1150, or a period of about seven centuries. The discovery of these laws led to a general study of Roman and Greek literature which overcame much of the intellectual darkness which had come with the barbarians who had spread over the continent from northern Europe.

BARLEY GROWERS PLAN TO VISIT MILWAUKEE GRAIN MARKET

At a barley improvement meeting held at Slinger on Jan. 7th, about twenty or more farmers expressed a wish to organize a tour and visit the grain exchange department in Milwaukee. This would enable them to see how barley is inspected, bought and sold on the terminal markets.

In order that I may know if there is sufficient interest on the part of the farmers to justify going ahead with this tour, I am asking that anyone wishing to go contact the county agricultural agent's office by Feb. 10th. The tour would be held during the last week in February or the first week in March.

DAIRY BREEDERS FORM NEW ASSOCIATION

County agricultural agents and representative livestock farmers from Dodge, Fond du Lac, Green Lake and Washington counties met in Waupun on Monday, Jan. 27th, to complete organization plans for a dairy cattle breeding association serving the interests of dairymen in the four counties mentioned.

EGGS—A GOOD HEALTH FOOD

From the standpoint of health and economy, the importance of eggs in the diet assumes prominence these days when grade A eggs are abundant at reasonable prices.

Furnishing needed sunshine vitamins, eggs are among our best protective foods during the winter months when sunshine is scarce, because of their generous content of the sunshine vitamin D.

Eggs rate a place near the top in the list of foods considered as body builders.

Often referred to as "Nature's Own Sealed Packages of Sunshine," eggs contain virtually all of the vitamins needed for normal health and good body growth.

Plan County Council of National Defense

It has been proposed by the Wisconsin State Council of National Defense to organize a Council of National Defense in every county in the state. The county chairman in each county has been requested to take the initiative in the organization of this county council. Guido Schroeder, chairman of the Washington county board, took the initial steps in the organization in this county on Thursday evening, Jan. 23, at the Moose hall in West Bend, when he conferred with twenty representative key men of the county. This group of men included the mayors of Hartford and West Bend and representatives of key organizations in the county.

It is the plan of County Chairman Schroeder to provide the nucleus of the Washington County Council of National Defense by nominating in the near future a representative executive committee. Moreover, it is contemplated that a broader advisory group will be organized later.

The general purposes of the Washington County Council of National Defense will be to awaken public interest in the problem of national defense; to determine how Washington county's facilities can best be used in the interest of national defense; to provide a clearing house for the dissemination of information, and to have an organization ready to render such service as our community will be called upon to render.

Vote in Senate Holds Key to Decision On Extent of U. S. Plans to Aid British; Auto Industry Adopts 'All-Out' Schedule In Drive to Boost Defense Production

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

NATIONAL DEBATE: America's Role

A state which, in the epoch of race poisoning, dedicates itself to cherishing its best racial elements must some day be master of the world. Let the adherents of our movement never forget this.—Closing words of Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf."

In the historic halls where Clay and Webster debated, where an empire was planned by the winning of the West, where Woodrow Wilson pledged "our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor" in the cause of democracy, another crisis of America is being weighed in the balance.

Congress is considering what will be the results of a policy of unrestricted help to Great Britain in her moment of travail with German might.

President Roosevelt asked for unprecedented powers to deal with the situation, powers which will make this nation an economic ally, if not a belligerent one, with the last outpost against authoritative government in Europe. His bill would permit him to lease or lend England, without further congressional consultation, all material aid in the way of munitions and supplies. It is admitted generally that these supplies, if they can be manufactured and arrive in time, will be the only way in which Britain can hold out. Even with them, Britain is given but a 50-50 chance.

Even the inaugural ceremonies which placed Mr. Roosevelt in office for the third term lacked the usual gaiety due to the somber effects of the hour. The battle already had begun in the house. Cabinet members told legislators that a crushing blow will be started by the Axis powers within 60 or 90 days. As an echo, came word from Berlin and Rome confirming this prediction.

REP. TINKHAM AND REP. FISH They "bellowed" opposition.

Opposition

But there was no sign of quick agreement. Isolationists, including Representative Fish (R., N. Y.) and Tinkham (R., Mass.) bellowed their opposition. The bearded Massachusetts congressman shook his finger at Secretaries Knox, Stimson and Morgenthau and challenged them to prove that if Britain falls the United States will be attacked.

Isolationist views are that an America of 130,000,000 people can stand alone; that Hitler and Japan would be ready to do business on just as good terms with us as would a victorious Britain; that all-out aid to Britain will only create vast taxes and vast debt. They feel the United States should mind its own business.

The President's view, and apparently the view of a majority in both houses, is that the United States already stands warned by both Japan and Hitler that in an Axis-controlled world a democracy cannot hope to exist; that if England goes down unaided she will line up with America's enemies to add to its confusion.

With combined powers of 800,000,000 people opposing our 130,000,000, Germany would control export that would jeopardize the living power of 3,000,000 U. S. cotton growers and 1,000,000 U. S. wheat exporters. The combined navies of a defeated England and the Axis powers would exceed ours by three times, and the ship building capacity would be six times that of the United States.

Senate Is Key

Administration defense leaders say the power is needed at once, that every day lost is an opportunity lost. But they despair of having the bill passed before March 1, if then. They recall that conscription, for America's own defense, was debated almost six months and the program delayed a year, due to the approach of winter and inability to send men to camp because barracks were delayed until selective service was voted.

The President's cabinet backed his stand in testimony on the bill. "Won't we have an army of 1,460,000 men by July 1?" Representative Fish thundered at War Secretary Stimson.

The secretary cast sad eyes upon the representative from his home state, with whom he served in France in 1918.

"We will have that number of men," said the secretary, shaking his head wearily. "But we won't have an army. You played football. You should know the difference between 11 men and a football team."

TRENDS . . .

President Roosevelt is reported interested in a plan for pooling state reserves of the unemployment insurance system. Some states are building reserves far above needs, while others have inadequate funds.

Surveying the municipal bond market for the past 12 months, Barcus, Kindred & Co., Chicago, found an increase of $70,245,400 in the volume of state and municipal financing last year compared with the year before. The 1940 total was $1,168,849,865, compared with $1,098,604,265 the year before. The rising trend was most pronounced in the closing months of the year.

Farm groups are suggesting that the United States demand of Great Britain a statement of its coming food needs, and that the administration propose a good quota of these be filled by American orders in proportion to the amount of defense materials allowed.

IN THE ARMY: Yard Birds

Slang changes in the army as well as in civil life. Many veterans of the World War getting back into camp today would hardly know what some of the men were talking about. For instance, in 1917 a new recruit was a "rookie," today he is a "yard bird."

The army is anticipating many new "yard birds." Some of them bear names widely known in civil life. Others drew attention due to the methods of their arrival.

In the first class was Daniel R. Topping, millionaire owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers and husband of skater-actress Sonja Henie. He has a low draft number and was classified for immediate duty, although married. Said Topping: "My wife is scarcely dependent upon my income."

In somewhat the same situation was Yehudi Menuhin, world famous violinist, also married. A California board ruled his wife, the former Nola Nicholas of Austria, has an independent income and Menuhin had acquired wealth through his musical genius which would provide for her. He asked for no exemption and received none. But he was given a 90-day leave in order to complete a planned South American tour.

Arthur Victory Christmas, 22, was a "yard bird." He was born at 11 a. m. November 11, 1918, in New York. A draft board in New Jersey sent him to camp.

Wendell Grove, 26, a baritone horn player, read that the Third Infantry band at Fort Snelling needed his type of musician. He tried enlistment and was turned down because he is married. The next day he appeared at the recruiting office with a note which read: "I hereby certify that I have no objection to my husband entering the army for a year. Signed Mrs. Wendell Grove." He's a "yard bird" now.

Frank B. Thompson, 45, president of the $5,000,000 Glenmore Distilleries, got a leave of absence and joined the Kentucky National Guard as a private, although he served in the World War as a lieutenant. The following day he was taken out of the ranks and made captain of the company in which he enlisted.

Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra and movie producer, is a special kind of "yard bird." He will devote three days a week to directing the Third Coast Artillery band at San Pedro, Calif.

MISCELLANY:

How the army has grown! Now there are more civilians employed by the army than there were soldiers in the entire military establishment a year ago. The war department announced that use of civilians in non-military work is a definite policy and that 180,000 are now so employed.

Declaration that a radio station "cannot be an advocate" but must represent all sides of public information "without bias" was made by the Federal Communications commission. The commission rebuked station WAAB of Boston for deviating from this policy, but renewed its license because it said the owner had pledged "not to color or editorialize" news in the future.

In the midst of the inaugural excitement, a daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corcoran, once high on the staff of New Deal advisers.

Two brothers of Italian descent who have long records for crime attempted to rob a payroll carrier in a Fifth avenue, New York, building. The man resisted and was shot dead. As the pair attempted to escape, police took up the chase. One policeman was killed, two other men wounded and both bandits sent to the hospital, one slightly wounded and the other, badly beaten by crowds. Anthony Esposito, 35, the older of the brothers, was deported from the United States in 1930. There is no record of his legal return.

America May Face Loss Of Farm Export Market

Wickard Finds Less Production No Solution; Army Undertakes to Build 'Morale' Among New Recruits.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1395 National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—Few people realized how much dynamite there was in that speech on agricultural preparedness which Secretary of Agriculture Wickard delivered at his alma mater, Purdue university, the other day.

While he didn't come right out and say so in so many words, the secretary sounded the knell of hope for a foreign market for farm surpluses. That speech marked the beginning of a new farm policy in the United States based on what is believed by officials here to be a permanent and not a temporary loss of export trade.

"The facts are," said the secretary, "that the trend of American farm exports has been downward since the turn of the century. Now I don't mean to say that the decline has been constant. You know better than that. It has been by fits and starts. Exports shot up for 15 years. Exports fell off like a stone dropped from a tower after the Smoot-Hawley Tariff act of 1930."

In that paragraph is the secretary's hypothesis from which he draws his conclusions.

SURPLUS STATISTICS

According to the best statistics available here "there are two bales of cotton on hand in the world today for every bale that will probably be used in the current marketing year" and "there are at least 2,000,000,000 bushels of wheat in the world today for which no market exists" and "a similar situation exists in the lard and tobacco markets."

The secretary says that the answer to this problem of farm surpluses cannot be solved with the two words "reduce production" because we "can't reduce the number of people who live on cotton farms, or wheat farms, or tobacco farms, in the same proportions which we can reduce the acreages of these commodities."

Those are the secretary's words but folks with a good pair of glasses have been busy reading between the lines and this is what they say he means:

"When the war is over our exports of farm products, even if they increase for a while, are going to decrease in the long run and we've got to take steps right now to make adjustments in the country."

OTHER 'PAINFUL' POINTS

More reading between the lines reveals a number of interesting, if somewhat painful, points:

One: Not only must the amount of farm products be cut down, but the number of people on farms has to be cut down (i. e. other means of income found for them).

Two: Not only must the unsuccessful farmer adjust himself to this situation by raising stuff that he can eat himself or by getting some other work, but the successful farmer will have to make some adjustments.

For instance, he will have to expect a certain amount of international competition. Concretely that means that the cotton farmer will be raising more of his own meat, poultry, and corn. Some of this will spill over and compete with the corn-belt and dairy farmer.

It also means that in self-defense the successful farmer will have to co-operate in supporting economic and political effort toward raising the income of the unsuccessful farmer and the whole low-income group.

This will mean that the big farm organizations which hitherto have used most of their influence in Washington to get better prices for farm products will have to use some of their influence to raise these low incomes so there will be a bigger home market for the farmers' products. At least, that's the way Washington officials look at the farm situation today.

Army Is Busy Building 'Morale'

Napoleon said an army moves on its stomach. He was right and it can't be otherwise. That's why in Uncle Sam's new army a cook is a cook and not just somebody who says he is because

SOIL EROSION

Soil erosion is costing the United States more than $3,800,000,000 a year, according to H. H. Bennett, chief of the U. S. soil conservation service. Half our land has been damaged. But farmers are working on soil conservation on 250,000,000 acres today and Bennett says that in the next 10 years, it will be possible for conservation forces to balance land-waste forces in the country.

PROBLEM IN COTTON

One of the first steps taken in carrying out Secretary Wickard's policy is the supplemental cotton program under which farmers who reduce their acreage below the 1941 level are compensated with stamps which are good for manufactured cotton goods.

This attacks the problem of the cotton surplus from both ends—cuts down production and uses up the stock by increasing the demand for the finished product.

Government Investigates Plastics to Replace Metals

The farmer may benefit from the defense program if it is found that plastics can be used economically to replace certain essential metals, Baukhage predicts. In other words, if airplanes take so much aluminum that there is not enough left for the pots and pans and if plastics made out of certain farm products can take their place, the farmer may benefit. But there are a lot of "ifs" in that situation however promising he thinks it's easier to be a doughboy than a doughboy.

But a full stomach is not all it takes to make a fighting man. It takes morale, and this time the government has done two things to build that highly necessary factor. It has begun early, before there is a war. It has taken over the whole job to itself instead of farming it out, as it did in the last war, to civilian organizations like the Y.M.C.A.

And it's a big job, under the office of the adjutant general. The division in the long west wing of the Munitions building in Washington has 50 clerks and 15 officers just to take care of the Washington end. In the various camps and posts are the many morale services all under this division—the Army Motion Picture Service, the Camp Publications, Post Exchanges, Service Clubs, Guest Houses, and even entertainment for soldiers in towns near the training areas.

In the last war it was learned what a valuable factor dramatics played in camp life and they will be encouraged. The Moving Picture Service will offer regular commercial films, but it will also show educational films, and much military instruction will be given by means of the moving picture. Top flight moving picture executives are serving on a committee assisting in the production of these pictures.

Athletics, of course, are a part of morale and are considered important also both from the standpoint of physical training and the building of an aggressive spirit which the modern soldier must possess.

As Major General Bell said in the last war, "A singing army is a fighting army," and singing will be a part of the show. The army has its own song book and mass singing will be encouraged.

The Post Exchange, which is sort of an army general store, is a business in itself. To get an idea of how much of a business a Post Exchange can be, the one at Chantauque field, Rantoul, Ill., took in nearly $100,000 in one month last fall.

Already a number of camp publications have started. I looked over several of them at Morale Headquarters and some are exceedingly businesslike looking sheets. I noticed in the office was a file of the "Stars & Stripes," the famous newspaper of the American Expeditionary Force in France. Harold Ross, who edited it in Paris, is now the highly successful head of the New Yorker magazine; Alexander Woollcott, who was on the staff, is one of America's best-known writers and story tellers. It was my privilege to serve on that paper after the Armistice and I covered the Peace conference under the able direction of John Winterich, then a rear-rank private but news editor of the paper. He is now Major Winterich, attached to the office of the assistant secretary of war. Probably many famous journalists of coming generations will get their training on some of these newspapers run under the auspices of the New Morale Division.

Another highly publicized group of this new division are the hostesses. But their job has been largely misunderstood. Let me quote from Lieut. Col. Harry Terry, writing in the Commerce magazine: "The term 'hostess' for these business women is a misnomer—they might more properly be called 'secretaries,' which in fact they are. They are the assistants of the Division Commander and carry out his wishes in conducting their various duties.

"Providing social entertainment, running dances and other entertainment for thousands of men is no night club job. It will require a high degree of organization ability and no mean attainment in social arts and graces. Operating in a manner to meet the requirements of both visitors and troops in such a manner as to build the morale of troops and convince the mothers, sisters and sweethearts that their men are being adequately cared for requires a high degree of technical knowledge and immense tact. Finally, to supervise all these activities as well as the buying of food and supplies will need a person of more than good looks and a pleasant smile."

Badger State Happenings

Last War Veteran Dies—Charles Gosha, the senior resident of Appleton and its only remaining veteran of the Grand Army of the Republic, is dead. He was 101 years old. He lived in this community for 70 years.

Third Draft Quota 1,080—Wisconsin will provide 1,080 men for military training under the third draft call, Walter J. Wilde, state selective service director, announced. The draftees will be inducted at Milwaukee in February.

Aid Cases Decrease—The number of families and individuals receiving various public assistances in Wisconsin dropped by 5,688, or 4.2 per cent, between last July and September, the state department of public welfare reported at Madison.

Seek Short Course for Girls—Officials of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture are considering a plan to provide for Wisconsin farm girls an annual period of short course instruction similar to that now conducted for young men.

Kreiser Writes U. W. Song—Fritz Kreiser, widely known violinist, has written music for a new University of Wisconsin song. Prof. Ray Dvorak, university band master, has announced. The words will be written by a professional lyric writer.

Lumberjack Day Feb. 8—Shawano's fourth annual lumberjack day will be held on Feb. 8. Logging contests, ski jumping, skating races and hockey and dog sled exhibitions will feature the program. Last year the fete attracted an estimated 10,000 visitors.

Life Insurance Sales Rise—Wisconsin life insurance sales in December showed an increase of two per cent over December, 1939, while the increase for the year was three per cent over 1939, it was reported by the life insurance research bureau of Hartford, Conn.

Co-Operation Urged by Heil—A proclamation by Gov. Heil urged the people of the state to consider ways and means of working together during the current world crisis, and designating Feb. 17-21, inclusive, as Wisconsin co-operative week, was issued at the governor's office in Madison.

Assembly Bars Lobbyists—The assembly by a voice vote adopted a resolution to bar all lobbyists from the assembly chamber for the remainder of the legislative session. The ban, which was sponsored by Dela. Hunt, Milwaukee, will be in effect whether the house is in session or not.

State Milk to Help Europe—Two carloads of powdered milk, consisting of 408 barrels, manufactured and packed by the Barron Co-operative Creamery at its drying plant in Barron, is now on its way to Europe for relief purposes. It was purchased by the Red Cross through the Bowman Dairies of Chicago.

Asks Cheaper Auto Licenses—Reduction of Wisconsin automobile license fees is proposed in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Fehlhaber, Wausau. Under his bill, licenses for cars weighing less than 3,399 pounds would cost $5 and for cars weighing more than that would cost $10. Present license fees range from $10 to $48.

Urges Drivers to Get Plates—Apply early and avoid the "license plate rush" was the suggestion of Hugh M. Jones, deputy commissioner of the motor vehicle department. With approximately 650,000 passenger automobiles to be registered in Wisconsin before April 1, the dead line, a rush for plates is anticipated in February and March, Jones explained.

Ashland Man Oldest U Grad—Title of oldest living alumnus of the University of Wisconsin fell to George F. Merrill, 93, of Ashland, following the death of William W. Church in Los Angeles. Merrill graduated in 1872. He is a former state senator and from 1896 to 1905 was a regent of the university. Church was 100 years old when he died and was a graduate of the class of 1861.

Defense Cost Comes High—Wisconsin's share of the national defense costs for the three years beginning in 1941 will total $575,000,000 or $740.37 for every family in the state, the Wisconsin Citizens Public Expenditure Survey estimated. Pointing out that on the basis of this estimate every man, woman and child in the state will have to pay $183.26 for defense in the three-year period.

State Slips in Typhoid Rank—Wisconsin slipped into second place behind Rhode Island in its fight against typhoid fever during 1939, provisional federal figures released by the state board of health show, however typhoid fever cases continue to decline in the state. There were 63 reported cases in 1938, 53 in 1939, and the provisional 1940 count showed but 40 cases. In 1910 the disease took 558 deaths in Wisconsin.

Wants Diversion Stopped—Wisconsin should stop diverting highway funds or go back to the 2c gasoline tax—the present state gas tax is 4c—William E. O'Brien, chairman of the state highway commission, told the closing session of the state road school at Milwaukee. The school adopted an anti-diversion resolution and will ask the state senate and assembly for a joint public hearing on the proposed constitutional amendment for the segregation of highway funds to end diversion.

Would Create Defense Group—Creation of a Wisconsin home defense committee to promote defense orders for Wisconsin industry and farm products was proposed in the legislature by Sen. James A. Carroll. The bill carries a $25,000 appropriation for administrative expense.

Airport Planned for Point—The Stevens Point common council approved a $150,000 WPA project for construction of a Class 3 airport and hangar two miles north of the city. The city's estimated share of the cost is more than $50,000.

PRODUCTION: All-Out Schedule

The National Automobile Manufacturers association has decided it will not hold its national show in New York this year. The industry is too busy with defense production. New models will come off the assembly lines as usual, but the yearly exhibits at the Grand Central Palace won't be held and neither will exhibits elsewhere, except in distributors' own show rooms.

Strikes in isolated sections cut somewhat into production, although the department of labor said that such stoppages were only a fraction

THE FACILITIES OF THIS PLANT ARE REGISTERED FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE PURPOSES

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Here is the new defense poster, printed in patriotic colors, which will be displayed by manufacturers after they have complied with instructions in connection with "Preparedness Through Production" week. Governors of more than a score of industrial states have proclaimed their willingness to co-operate with the defense commission and the National Association of Manufacturers by urging all manufacturers to register their facilities for defense production.

as compared to those during the war effort in 1917. One stoppage was at the Saginaw, Mich., plant of the Eaton Manufacturing company, where airplane parts are being made. It was called by the C.I.O. Automobile Workers who charged the firm refused to hire 300 men under an agreement signed last December after another strike. James F. Dewey, federal labor mediator, speeded to the scene in a hurry. He said he would take drastic steps if the plant was not in operation within 24 hours. The strike ended within that period.

In San Diego, Calif., a strike was threatened at the plant of the Ryan Aeronautical company. State draft headquarters issued a statement that men who went on strike would be considered by draft boards to have no employment and therefore no longer exempted from the selective service act as defense workers. The ruling stood less than 24 hours. Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, acting federal director of the law, revoked it.

Meanwhile Sidney Hillman, C.I.O. vice president and assistant director of the Office of Production Management, was ill in a Baltimore hospital. It is Mr. Hillman's job to handle labor problems in the defense effort and Washington was anxious for his speedy return.

CONFERENCES: Miles Apart

Miles apart in spirit and purpose were two conferences. In Washington met President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie, who opposed him as the 1940 Republican candidate. They came together, agreed in advance that all aid must be given Britain to defeat Germany. They sought a formula to battle for that objective.

In Germany, Hitler and Mussolini met. The place of their conferences was kept a secret except that it was in Germany, and all telephones out of the Reich were closed down to prevent the knowledge getting abroad.

It was a subtle compliment to the British air force.

Previously when the two Axis partners met to discuss war plans, it was at Brenner pass, on the border of the two countries. This time Mussolini went to Hitler. There also was a subtle difference there. Il Duce had started out on a war of his own, took a licking on several fronts and required help to extract him from the situation which resulted.

Hitler was giving Italy such help, probably more than was desired. Not only did Hitler send troops, airplanes, tanks and soldiers. He also sent economic experts, another subtle point since economic experts always follow the German army into occupied territory to take over its economic life.

What transpired at the conference wasn't made public in detail. Announcements merely said the two leaders had made plans for the 1941 push on England. It was anyone's guess who made the plans and who gave the orders.

Otherwise on the war front: The Germans announced that the French Maginot line was being dismantled.

The British in Egypt bore down on Tobruk, Mussolini's last base in eastern Libya. Twenty thousand Italians were expected to be added to the 80,000 prisoners already in British hands.

British air experts tested new American planes and announced that their speed is not up to that of new German planes. They called on U. S. designers to build more speed and altitude into the aircraft.

WINTHROP ROCKEFELLER, son of John D. Rockefeller Jr., oil tycoon, is pictured here as he was inducted into the army by a Selective Service board in New York city. He's a "yard bird" now.

joined the Kentucky National Guard as a private, although he served in the World War as a lieutenant. The following day he was taken out of the ranks and made captain of the company in which he enlisted.

Leopold Stokowski, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra and movie producer, is a special kind of "yard bird." He will devote three days a week to directing the Third Coast Artillery band at San Pedro, Calif.

"I'm not going to talk about Morgan trees," she said. "I want to talk about yours. Do you know anything about that property of yours over the ridge—that hardwood tract? What shape is it in?"

Tom frowned at her nervously. "I sold it. Way back in '26. You knew about that I reckon. I sold it to that Phillips' outfit. They ain't never paid for their payment. They ain't never paid any more."

"What sort of papers did you get? Have you got a lien?" "They're all in the safe. Dave put 'em away for me. Dave told me I'd ought to foreclose—then he got down and you know how we been ever since—we ain't had time to think of nothing but keeping this here mill running."

Virgie sighed. "It's my fault, I suppose. I've got to take care of you—just like I've got to take care of Lottie and Lucy out yonder and never more helpless people."

"I got a good piece of money out of that land," Tom defended. "They defaulted on the contract, didn't they? The company's out of existence. I will take a lawsuit, probably, to repossess it—but somebody's interested in it. I met a couple of men—bankers, they looked like—up on the ridge. They were asking the way to that piece you've got over there—that strip down Hazel Fork with the big poplar on it. You got those papers out, Tom, and let me look into them."

Tom lumbered out of his chair. There was one kind of action he could understand, and indorse, and follow. Strange men had been on his land—land that Virgie said was his. "I low them fellers better keep off yonder," he boomed, his eyes dour. "I don't know no law, but if that's my poplar them bankers better keep off my place."

"Well, you've got to have the papers first. I'll have Lucy open the safe for you."

all the new places, killing off the Injuns, and then along came your Scotchman with a wagonload of goods, for sale, and he took up all the good half-sections. Then they married all the good-looking daughters of the Irish and tamed them down to raise sons to fit this country."

"Maybe they married the Irish girls because, secretly, they wanted to hear somebody laugh," Daniels contributed with a grin. "Maybe so. Maybe that's why Dave Morgan married Virgie. Virgie was a handsome woman when she was young. She's not bad looking now."

"Rather a fine-looking woman now," agreed young Daniels. "But darned impractical," declared his host. "Business is getting better fast—but she ain't got to catch up with it."

"Because she turns out a hand-crafted product in a machine age," stated Stanley Daniels, much pleased with himself. "You're kind of smart, ain't you?" Wallace Withers relaxed his long jaw. "I reckon you must have collected some ideas about making pulp at a profit?" He sat down, laid his long yellow fingers together, ing him somehow. What made him hasten to be out in the wholesome air again was the awareness that he had been ready to hear Withers' schemes. He had no inner hypocrisy. He knew that no loyalty would ever blind him to his own advantage. But he did not like being maneuvered, so he sat a little stiffly and replied in polite monosyllables to Withers' remarks, as they drove the rutty road to the highway.

He walked rapidly till he reached the outskirts of the village, his nostrils stinging in the frosty air. The town lay on a slope where the river widened, and as Daniels approached it the linked lights made it look like some jeweled ornament on the breast of the mountain.

FEBRUARY HOSTESS? TREAT GUESTS TO A PATRIOTIC TEA

(See Recipes Below.)

February is a party month; every hostess calendar should have the twelfth, the fourteenth, and the twenty-second ringed in red!

No holiday in February lends itself to a tea quite like Washington's birthday. But instead of tea, serve coffee with squares of hot, fragrant gingerbread as you see it in the picture above. The spicy squares are much in keeping with the day, for Washington's mother was said to have been famous for her gingerbread. Make it by your own special recipe or use one of the packaged gingerbread mixes.

Chocolate Cream Filling. (Makes 2 1/2 cups) 3 squares unsweetened chocolate (3 ounces) (grated) 1 1/2 cups milk 3/4 cup sugar 4 tablespoons cake flour 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 egg (slightly beaten) 1 tablespoon butter 1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend cream cheese with milk until softened, then add lemon and onion juice. Combine with ground beef and chopped nuts. Remove sliced bread from refrigerator, unwrap, and spread with softened butter, then with filling. Roll tightly into long rolls. Wrap each roll in waxed paper and place in refrigerator. When ready to serve, insert a small flag into end of each rolled sandwich. Stand them up around sides of a shallow bowl or basket so that flags hang over edge. Fill center of bowl or basket with star-shaped sandwiches. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Patriotic Sandwich Plate. (25 star sandwiches) 40 rolled sandwiches 2 1 1/2-pound loaves sandwich bread Softened butter 2 17-ounce cans jellied cranberry sauce 1 cup dried beef (ground) 4 3-ounce packages cream cheese 4 tablespoons milk 4 teaspoons lemon juice 1/2 teaspoon onion juice

Trim crusts from 1 loaf with sharp knife. Slice, lengthwise into 1/4-inch slices. If very long knife is not available, loaf will be easier to handle if cut in half crosswise before slicing. Wrap slices in damp towel and place in refrigerator for 30 minutes to 1 hour. Meanwhile slice second loaf lengthwise into 1/4-inch slices. Cut out sandwiches with star-shaped cutter, then spread with softened butter. Slice jellied cranberry sauce into thin slices and cut into stars with same cutter. Place each slice of cranberry between two slices buttered bread.

Blend cream cheese with milk until softened, then add lemon and onion juice. Combine with ground beef and chopped nuts. Remove sliced bread from refrigerator, unwrap, and spread with softened butter, then with filling. Roll tightly into long rolls. Wrap each roll in waxed paper and place in refrigerator. Sugar Heart Cake. (Makes 2 9-inch layers) 4 cups cake flour 4 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 teaspoon salt 3/4 cup butter or other shortening 2 cups sugar 2 eggs (unbeaten) 1 1/2 cups milk 2 teaspoons vanilla

Sift cake flour once before measuring, then add baking powder and salt and sift 3 times. Cream butter until soft, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat until smooth after each addition. Then add vanilla.

Pour batter into 2 well-greased 9-inch square pans (2 inches deep). Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) for 35 to 40 minutes. Put together as layer cake, spreading chocolate cream filling between layers. Place lace doily made with heart motif over top of cake. Fasten securely to top of cake with toothpicks. Sprinkle surface generously and evenly with confectioners' sugar. Brush off excess with pastry brush, then remove picks and carefully lift off pattern. The design should be neatly etched in confectioners' sugar.

ter until soft, add sugar gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat until smooth after each addition. Then add vanilla.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Moderns with their busy and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—their risk of exposure and infection—shows heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

Your Child Naughty?

By ELIZABETH MACRAE BOYKIN
A woman doctor, specialist in work with children, was reassuring us about the trend toward extremes in modern or so-called progressive systems of education. She believes the swing now is toward a common sense middle course where the best of both the old and the new systems are included, with emphasis on discipline and manners and concentration and other old-fashioned virtues.

How One Woman Lost 20 Pounds of FAT

Lost Her Prominent Hips
Lost Her Double Chin
Lost Her Sluggishness Gained a More Shapely Figure and the Increase in Physical Vigor and Vivaciousness Which So Often Comes With Excess Fat Reduction.

Thousands of women are getting fat and losing their appeal just because they do not know what to do.
Why not be smart — do what thousands of women have done to get off pounds of unwanted fat.
Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water first thing every morning to gently activate liver, bowels and kidneys—cut down your caloric intake—eat wisely and satisfyingly—there need never be a hungry moment!

Keep this plan up for 30 days.
Then weigh yourself and see if you haven't lost pounds of ugly fat.
Just see if this doesn't prove to be the surprise of your life and make you feel like shouting the good news to other fat people. And best of all a jar of Kruschen that will last you for 4 weeks costs but little. If not joyfully satisfied—money back.

GRADE SCHOOL NEWS GRAMMAR ROOM

The following people in our room had a perfect attendance record the first semester: Lois Koch, Lloyd Bruessel, John Geidel, Betty Jane Krueger, Lylic
Manthei, Jerome Stautz, Lois Vorpahl,
August Bilgo, James Keller, Gerhard
Kaniess, Ruth Manthei.

The seventh graders are making airplanes and cruizers. They plan to visit countries in Europe and Asia in them this semester in social science.

INTERMEDIATE ROOM

Mr. McCarty turned us into Indians this week during the Let's Draw program. He had all of us making Indian tom-toms. It's been a great deal of fun, but we have had paint and old inner tubes all over our room.

The third grade is making a study of deserts. They found out there were many kinds of deserts such as sand, ice and rock deserts. First they are traveling to a sand desert in Arabia.
They are making a desert scene in the back of the room showing an oasis and a camel caravan. They are also making poems and booklets on desert life.

Our room has been working on stories and poems for our part of the "Papoose" which is a grade school annual published by the high school commercial department.

The fifth grade has been studying descriptions in English in connection with their pioneer unit. This is a description written by Audrey Bruessel:

A PIONEER GENERAL STORE
Imagine yourself in a pioneer general store with shelves practically overflowing with bright colored calicoes.

On one shelf were high beaver skin hats for the men and beautiful bright colored "go away" Sunday bonnets for the women. On another shelf there were jack knives, dishes and kettles.

On still another shelf there were can-die molds. The log made counter was plaid high with guns, axes, axe heads and more knives.

All over the wall were hanging rugs made of bear skins, wolf skins and other skins.

On the floor were barrels, kegs and boxes. There were butter churns and barrels of nails; salt in this barrel, coffee beans in that; candy in this pail, shots in that.

Right in the middle of the floor was a big round stove where the people of the village met to plan a wolf hunt or something like that.

When a meeting like that was held,
a ring of chairs was placed around the stove.

This then finishes my description of a pioneer general store.

NEW SEMESTER

With the first semester tests over and none coming up until spring, we're all sighing with relief.

In English the seniors are starting off with the study of the essay and are hoping we won't be made to write any.

Economics now takes the place of social problems and we're all wondering just what it's going to be like.

The home economics classes are beginning a study on child care. The state dept. of health sent us a baby doll and all the equipment, so we'll know just how to handle and take care of small children.

The freshmen are finishing humor-

GAMES FRIDAY NIGHT
Oakfield at Kewaskum
Campbellsport at Brandon
Rosendale at North Fond du Lac

NEXT WEEK
Friday—Kewaskum at Campbellsport

Kewaskum played one of its finest games of the season at Rosendale Friday night, winning 24-14, although the team did not have two of their men, Bilgo and Smith, who quit the team.
Stahl and Strupp did very well in their place.

In other games Campbellsport clinched at least a tie for the championship by walloping North Fondy, and needs only a single victory to gain sole possession of the title. Oakfield provided the other big news Friday by tipping Lomira for their first loop win.

Bilgo and Smith, regular center and guard on the Kewaskum team up until the last couple of games, handed in their uniforms before the Rosendale encounter. Coach Gibson benched them recently because of lack of harmony on the team, which lost three in a row prior to the Rosendale affair. Neither was missed as the "Kims played heads up ball and showed renewed spirit. Against the Dales. Both Bilgo and Smith, seniors, were subs on last year's Kewaskum championship outfit.

The new combination of Bunkelman to Tassar to Stahl clicked for a basket nearly every time against Rosendale.
Tassar and Stahl, since being promoted to the first five, have shown much improvement in each game and give the squad needed zip. Both will be back again next season.

The team shot 85 times and made 10 of their shots for an average of .28. The rebound work of the fellows was very effective. Stahl paced the winners with 10 points, followed by Tassar and Brauchle with six. Kenas was high for the Dales with four points.

To-night Kewaskum is playing its last home game against Oakfield. The Belles, with nine straight, play at Brandon. North Fondy must win all its last three games to stay in the mathematical running. With the Belles "in," the Ralls, Kewaskum, Brandon and Rosen-dale will forget about the crown and fight for the no. 2 spot.

LIST FOOD STAMP ITEMS AVAILABLE IN FEBRUARY

Eighteen surplus commodity food items will be available for food stamps through the month of February, 1941.
John H. Wilz, local representative for the Surplus Marketing Administration in this area, announced today. The only change between the new list and the list of January is the elimination of cabbage. All other items are the same.
The complete list for February follows:

Butter, raisins, rice, pork lard, pork, corn meal, shell eggs, wheat flour, and whole wheat (graham) flour, dried peas, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, Irish potatoes, fresh oranges, fresh apples, fresh pears, fresh grapefruit, onions (except green onions).

ATTENTION ALIENS

All persons who wish to be naturalized on June 2nd, 1941, must have filed their final paper (petition) before March 2nd, 1941. This notice is in compliance with Sec. 6 of the Naturalization Law of 1906 which states: "final action thereon shall be had only on stated days, to be fixed by rule of the court, and in no case shall final action be had upon a petition until at least NINETY days have elapsed since filing of such petition." This concerns also all applicants who have waited the required two years after making out their first papers (declaration of intention).

Lawrence Berend,
Clerk of Circuit Court, were played, honors going to Mrs. Peter Wiesner, Mrs. Reinhold Boegel, Ervin Boniender and Joseph Boniender.

Legislative News

Letter

—By—
Assemlbyman
Jos. A. Schmitz
Washington County

Wisconsin state law prescribes that the speaker of the assembly and the president of the senate shall appoint three members of their respective houses to serve as a commission on interstate co-operation and that this commission shall attend the biennial sessions of the council of state governments.

The council of state governments is a joint governmental agency established by the states to study, discuss and correlate their mutual problems with the object of ultimately bringing about uniform legislation on all interstate problems throughout the nation.

This year's meeting of the council was held last week at Washington, D.
C., and your assemblyman, having been chosen as one of the members of the commission to represent Wisconsin, attended the conference and is pleased to report the progress made.

Although taxation, relief and interstate trade barriers were considered, it was the problem of national defense which received the greatest amount of attention.

KNUDSEN SPEAKS

Among the principal speakers who addressed the assembly on this subject was Wm. S. Knudsen, chief of production of the council on national defense.

Mr. Knudsen stressed the need of "farming out" to small firms as much as possible to the defense orders from principal contractors, and the maintenance of public morale together with the lining up of our resources, as the three most vital needs in the present stage of the defense program. He urged the members of the council to work diligently towards this end with their people back home.

SECY KNOX NEXT

Frank Knox, secretary of the navy, told of the need of a great two ocean navy and of air and naval bases on our newly acquired island leaseholds, in order to better be able to keep any in-vader from America's shores.

PAUL V. McNUTT

Paul V. McNutt, Federal Social Security administrator, told of the need of preventing social decay, as in the cases of France, and of duty of protecting public health against outbreaks of epidemics as well as caring for the health of thousands of our young men in the camps of the nation.

SEVEN GOVERNORS SPEAK

The governors of New York, Minnesota, Massachusetts, South Carolina, Alabama, Michigan and Tennessee, as well as a member of U. S. senators and members of congress, also addressed the assembly and contributed their ideas on the interstate problems of relief, taxation, trade barriers, etc.

This was followed by a prolonged period of open discussion by state legislators and other public officials over a three day period; after which committees were appointed to further discuss, consider and draft into proposed legislation, for national adoption by the states, the best recommendations made on these subjects.

UNIFORM LAWS SOME DAY

These proposed laws are the product of the combined minds of the representatives of 44 of our 48 states and may be considered as model legislation which, if nationally adopted, would give us uniform legislation on interstate matters from coast to coast.

Although the council of state governments has been in existence only 10 years a great deal of good has already been accomplished. Slowly but surely state after state is adopting, if not in its entirety, at least the best portions of many of these model laws and much has been done in establishing better relationship between the states and in doing away with troublesome trade barriers. Great hope, however, is held out for future accomplishments.

Miss Olive Bath and Margaret Weber.

The editor is in receipt of a letter from Chas. E. Krahn of here, who is enjoying an extended trip to the Pan-American exposition at San Francisco, Calif., and other western cities. Mr.
Krahn visited a large saw mill which saws logs 50 feet in length into lumber enough to build a good sized house in Kewaskum. He writes that he also experienced an earthquake there. There were two shocks, rocking the buildings.
While in Portland, Oregon, he visited the largest manufacturing plant there, namely the Doernbacher Furniture Mfg. Co., owned solely by a man born and bred in Kewaskum.
