Hunters' Helpers

As far back as human knowledge goes, man has been using certain members of the animal kingdom to help him hunt other members. The most familiar example, of course, is the dog, which is used' in many ways: Fox hunting, deer hunting, and so forth. But there are many other examples not quite so familiar, some of which are shown in the accompanying series of photos.

Before the present war, Germans attempted to revive the sport of falconry on a large scale. Photo coner removing the victim (a rabbit) from the talons

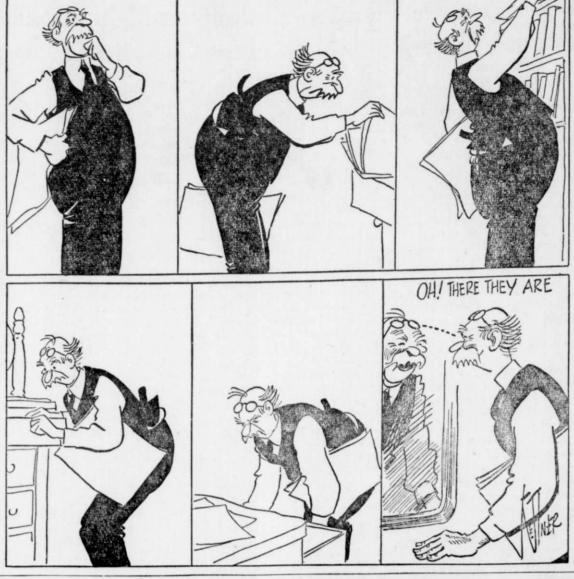

Hold that tiger! The big striped cat is easy to hold now, for he is dead, and is being loaded on a carrier elephant. The hunt was held on the vast jungle estate of the Maharajah of Gwalior, in India, in honor of former British Viceroy Lord Reading.

Right: The end of a cheetah hunt. The animal, streamlined member of the cat family, is trained to hunt deer. Human stalkers "spot" the deer and head it in the direction where the best run will give most entertainment to the hunters. Then a cheetah is turned loose. After that it is but a matter of time.

Dear Mom: The cake and things you sent arrived okay only I did not get none on account of my buddies opened them. The trouble with the army is that you can't keep a separate mailing address. Well, everything is going along good and life in the army ain't so bad once you make up your mind it can't be any too good.

We have movies here but no screeno, so you would not like army life, mom. We have hostesses here, too. I thought a hostess was somebody you found in airplanes, but in the camps a hostess is a lady who has charge of the entertainment side of life and I think we may even get rumba lessons in this war. There are quite a few hostesses here, but do not worry about me, Mom, as they are all pretty old, some even as old as 38 and 40. I don't know who is picking them, but it ain't Billy Rose. At first I thought the Camp Fire Girls were being drafted, too, but I found out the government wants the soldiers to have as much amusement as they can get in the next war, including double features, swing music and Mickey Mouse. They even have cafeteria lunchrooms for visitors so if an outsider gets poisoned they can't blame it on the regular army cook.

More rifles are arriving and I guess maybe by the time war comes almost every soldier will have a gun.

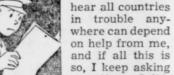

Do not keep sending me heavy underwear as you have my tent full of it already.

Dear Mom:

Love. Oscar. . . .

I am getting so I do not mind being here at all and my morale would be good except I didn't keep getting newspapers and reading the news from Washington. I have got around to the point where I am used to taking orders and to facing a war if there is no way out, but what is all this stuff about going to the aid of China, Greece and all nations everywhere?

In one breath I am told I will not be sent out of the United States and in the next I in trouble anywhere can depend on help from me. and if all this is so, I keep asking myself why I did-

BALKY BALKANS: And an American

PEACEMAKER: An Offer

As Adolf Hitler's advance guard slipped into Bulgaria from Rumania there was none to stay them. Clad in civilian overcoats which they did not remove but from which protruded sleek military boots, members of the German staff took over the principal hotel of Sofia and the main Bulgarian resort town 40 miles away.

Where before anti-Nazi signs had been scribbled on walls and Bulgar national songs were heard, now orchestras turned to Viennese waltzes and raised their right arms, palm Bulgarian army generals open. came to the Sofia hotel with bundles of maps under their arms. All day and all night they and the boot-clad men poured over them.

There was only one show of hostility. But it was a beaut while it lasted, which was about an hour. George H. Earle, American minister to Bulgaria and former governor of Pennsylvania, was in a night club just around the corner from the embassy building. The place was filled with the mysterious boot-clad, civilian-overcoated foreigners. The governor didn't like the tune the orchestra was playing and asked them to switch to "It's a Long Way to Tipperary.

One of the mysterious strangers took offense. Earle said later he was a major of the German general staff. Words were passed and finally Earle said the major threw a bottle at him, which he warded off by covering his head with his arm.

The former governor has never been known to pass up a chance like that. In the World war he commanded a submarine chaser.

Japan offered to be the peacemaker of the world and arbitrate all disputes. The offer came in a statement from Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka. Churchill conferred with U. S. authorities and then called in the Japanese ambassador. His reply was one word: "No."

Meanwhile the Japanese "peacemakers" in Indo-China were mopping up on their job. Having instigated a conflict between Thailand (Siam) and the French rulers of Indo-China, Japan stepped in and "enforced" an armistice, taking for itself the rich port of Saignon. While the terms of the armistice were being developed into a peace treaty, Japanese soldiers extended their influence in Indo-China until the French rulers became mere puppets. Stores were filled with Japanese products and residents who refused to buy them were beaten and jailed.

Just west of the Indo-Chinese sphere of influence is the Philippines and just south are the Dutch East Indies, chief source of United States tin and rubber. The Japanese turned covetous eyes on that spot. If that source of supply would be closed to United States shipping, America's entire defense effort would be threatened.

A veteran army man, Moore is completing his flying course at an army air school in Glendale and Mrs. Moore was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace after a series of attempts to get by the sentries on duty.

PIG BOATS: In the Atlantic

Hitler made another speech. It was more eloquent in what it did not say than in what was said. Der Fuehrer pictured an impressive spring campaign against England's life lines in the Atlantic. None got up and left the meeting, although some, hearkening back to the same speech in January, may have thought to do so with the expression, "Here's where we came in." In reality, the speech made in the Munich beer cellar where Naziism was born, was a tactic admission that Hitler's air power, his original major weapon on which he risked war, had failed to produce decisive results. And between the lines of the speech can be read the admission that British sea power is gripping the Axis countries even tighter than it did last fall.

So Hitler, during the winter months, has been building a new type of U-boat, known as "pig boats" to naval men. In Norway, Denmark, Belgium, The Netherlands and in France all the vast ship building yards have been turning out pocket submarines during the winter months. How many the Germans have on hand is not known, but best estimates are 1,000, with hundreds more ready to be delivered before summer.

No nation has nearly this many undersea craft. The United States has but a few hundred and England even less. Germany last fall was estimated to have almost 500 standard size submarines. But submarines do not fight submarines. To sink them, fast cruisers and destroyers are necessary. Britain, even with the 50 destroyers obtained from the U.S., will have a difficult time to cope with the situation, if even a fraction of that number U-boats begins to prey on the sealanes that bring her food and munitions.

AIR CRASH:

Number Four

Last August the commercial air lines of the country had established a no-accident record of 17 months. but with the midnight crash of an Eastern Airlines sleeper plane near Atlanta, Ga., the number of accidents in the intervening six months was raised to four.

When searchers, near dawn, reached the scene of the crash they found seven persons killed, nine others injured. Among those found dead was a member of congress, Rep. William D. Byron of Maryland, and among the severely injured was the famed World war flying ace, Eddie Rickenbacker, president of the company on whose plane he was riding. Also killed were the pilot, the co-pilot and steward of the plane's crew.

Next day a report from Balboa, Canal Zone, told of the crash of a U. S. army bomber into Panama bay. An immediate search, first reports said, failed to disclose any trace of a crew of seven.

SPAIN:

Ex-Monarch Dies

Spain's former monarch, King Alfonso XIII, died of a heart ailment after an illness of two weeks. He died in his Rome hotel room which had been his exile home for the past 10 years. He reigned as king of the Spanish people for 29 years, during which time at least eight attempts were made to assassinate him. His reign ended in April, 1931, when he left the throne, saying that . "I no longer have the love of my people.'

HARMONY:

An end approached in the dispute on radio music which saw thousands of the nation's most popular tunes barred from the air as the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) accepted a consent decree ending a department of justice monopoly suit.

Under the terms any professional song writer will be eligible for ASCAP membership, broadcasters have the option of paying ASCAP a blanket fee for any music they may or may not use, to paying fees only on the basis of each program.

chief of staff of the army, also had a big stick. Hundreds of army fighting planes left the West coast for our Pacific possessions-Hawaii and the Philippines.

More important, the house voted funds to fortify the islands of Guam and Samoa, the U. S. Gibraltars in the Pacific. The same proposal was defeated in the house two years ago for fear of offending Japan.

MEN AT WORK: Full Speed

While congress spent precious weeks in prolonged debate on the lease-lend bill to send war materials to Great Britain, the defense commission got in some mighty speedy licks. The arming of the nation's forces has entered the third P of the plan, priorities. The other two are procurement and production.

Stettinius' Job

Priorities is the job now. It will do no good to produce 40 airplane engines and no airplane tail assem blies. The defense commission must regulate production so that every item down to the last eraser on a lead pencil arrives just at the moment it can be used.

The task is under the direction of E. R. Stettinius Jr. Aluminum and machine tool industries were first to feel the effects of his order. By authority of the navy speedup law passed last June, Stettinius directed that both industries put aside all other labor and devote their entire energies to filling defense contracts. After defense contracts are under way, commercial production will be rationed. But until such time as the government has sufficient aluminum, for instance for planes and tanks, there will be little or none for streamlined trains, kitchen utensils or even tooth paste tubes.

Meanwhile procurement and production must be stepped up to meet new demands.

How this was being done was reflected in the news of the day. Consider:

A new 8-inch railroad gun capable of hurling a 260-pound shell 18 miles was delivered to the army's proving grounds at Aberdeen, Md. The gun weighs 225,000 pounds. I The three of the army's four mechanized divisions, still not supplied with arms, are receiving scout cars. One was displayed in Washington and two brave congressmen consented to ride in it. The driver took them straight up the Capitol steps.

€ In January, 1,062 airplanes were produced and the year's total is expected to reach 18,000. Next year at this time deliveries are expected to reach 4,800 each month.

I The Martin airplane factory at Baltimore revealed contracts have been awarded to triple their produc tion

C First production of medium tanks, most vital size for American defense, will come off the Chrysler production line at a new plant in May. By next March, 100 will be produced weekly.

Explanation

Mussolini also made a speech. Whereas Hitler seemed scornful of wavering within the German lines, Duce seemed less sure. He blamed discontent on Jews and Masons and dwelt on the indissoluble ties that bind Italy to Germany, which is a nice way of putting it now that German censors are in charge of communications leading from Italy to the outside world.

He had a new explanation for the disasters in Africa. Marshal Graziani earlier blamed failure on lack of mechanical equipment in the Fascist forces. Mussolini said, however, that the British succeeded because they achieved numerical superiority. Since all British reinforcements to Egypt pass within 50 miles of Italian naval and air bases, Il Duce seemed here also to be making an admission of the ineffectiveness of his battle forces.

MISCELLANY:

In the main hall of the Kremlin, in Moscow, a national conference of the Communist party was in progress. Members charged that production in several key industries was delayed due to buck-passing and overwhelming red tape. The Central Committee hinted shake-ups. The dismissals followed quickly. Among those losing their official heads was Maxim Litvinoff, former foreign commissar, and Paulina Shemyonovna Zhemchuzhina, wife of Premier and Foreign Minister Molotoff.

I The annual Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awards for outstanding acting in the films went to Ginger Rogers for her performance in "Kitty Foyle" and to James Stewart for his role in "The Philadelphia Story."

I There was confusion at Mrs. Roosevelt's press conference. The 40 or more women reporters were sitting in the Madison Room at the White House when past the door walked a bathrobe-clad male figure. He heard the female voices and fled. It was Harry Hopkins, presidential guest. Someone closed the door.

I The pinch of food is seeing many extraordinary measures being taken in Europe. None is more extraordinary, however, than an order given by King George VI. As an economy measure he decided that the 100-head deer herd in Windsorpark should be killed off and the venison distributed to the poor. Rabbits in the park also are being snared and shot. In Paris, it was reported that the Bois de Boulogne, once the world's most beautiful park, has been converted on German orders, into a potato and vegetable garden.

is head of the peace-making government, in the language of President Roosevelt. That is not precisely the language which Joseph Kennedy spoke so understandingly to the Englishman he knew best and respected highly, the late Neville Chamberlain. the language of the conservative liberal, the man of property. Winant's language is the language of what he would probably describe "social values"-for he is the New Deal incarnate.

President Has Plan For 'Social Defense'

At a recent White House press conference the President took a lot of time to answer an open letter from an ex-marine, World war veteran. The writer said that when the last war was over he had announced that he'd cheer the boys to the next one and then enjoy a big steak and onions. But when he tried it after seeing some draftees march by, the steak didn't taste. He wanted to know what folks, too old to join the army could do for national defense. The President said he would announce a plan soon. That plan is based on a report submitted ant WPA commissioner here. Later I asked Mrs. Kerr about it. This was her reply:

"There are social defense jobs to be done in every home town in America. From border to border and coast to coast communities need more services in health, welfare, education, recreation, Everywhere there are things to be done to make America a better place in which to live."

Fields of training, says Mrs. Kerr, in which millions of men, women and youth will be engaged for defense on the home front will include: Food training programs, dealing with all subjects related to food, food conservation, food han-

Last August, when wood-gas carburetors were introduced into Finland, the state appointed a committee to find means to finance their purchase. This committee's recommendation, to set up a guarantee company in which the state would take part, was carried out by the establishment in October of a joint stock company, Wood-Gas Generator Credits, Inc., which extends credits, up to a maximum of 70 per cent of the cost, toward the purchase of the

Although the development of wood gas in Finland thus far has been a temporary expediency it may have a future as a fuel in the motor world. In that case, Finland, according to the Finnish experts, with her wealth of forests, would be in the first rank of motor-fuel producing countries. At all events, she would be independent as far as her own auto traffic is concerned.

However, if and when the Finns once again secure their political independence, it is to be hoped they will be part of a world where complete economic independence is not necessary-a world where there is a free flow of all the products of the earth and of industry between na-

House Building.

CORRESPONDENT is planning to build a brick house, and asks a number of questions both about the house and about the filled-in land on which it will stand. The questions about the land can be answered only after an examination, and the possible making of borings. I should not think of putting up a house without the assistance and advice of an architect. I strongly advise my correspondent to engage an architect for the job, not only for the design, but for all the other services that an architect performs for his client. Testing a Chimney. Question: Water sometimes leaks into my house through a fireplace chimney, apparently because the flue tiles are poorly set with cement that crumbles easily. Capping the chimney is suggested, but I am afraid to accept for fear that sparks can get through the crumbled cement to the house timbers. If water can, why not fire?

Answer: You can settle that question by making a smoke test. Start a small but smoky fire of tar paper or something similar, and when the smoke is pouring out of the chimney, cover the top of the flue with a board or a piece of wet carpet. The smoke will then seek another outlet, and will find its way through defects in the masonry. If these show up, and the house fills with smoke, you should rebuild the chimney for safety.

Damp Spots in Plaster.

Question: My house is four years old. The ceilings in the bedrooms and living rooms show damp spots whenever it rains or on a damp day. Can this be patched? Please advise if anything can be done to help these damp streaks.

Answer: Look for the causes of these damp spots. If they are located near the chimney it is possible the roof flashings around the chimney are leaking. Damp spots in the ceiling near windows may indicate the need of caulking between the window frames and outside walls. Leaks in a roof might be a possible cause. After correcting the trouble, the plaster can then be repainted.

KEWASKUM STATESMAN, KEWASKUM, WIS.

The erect carriage of the body means that the shoulders are well back and the chest well forward, giving the lungs plenty of room to expand, and preventing any crowding or pressure on the heart. With the lungs drawing in the pure air and, what is more important breathing out the impure air, the blood, pumped by a heart free from pressure, will carry more nourishment to and more wastes from every cell in the body.

The erect position calls also for a abdomen and the development of the abdominal muscles by keeping the abdomen drawn in or back holds the abdominal organs up in their proper positions, thus aiding digestion and preventing constipation. Dr. Philip Lewin, New York, in Clini-

You'll see a record-breaking number of prints that key beige and brown to tangerine, bittersweet and kindred colors, a strong accent on bizarre South American colors, especially purples and reds and Peruvian pink, a handpaint technique used for flowery party-dress prints-and here we "pause for identification" of some of the newest print fashions as shown in the illustration herewith.

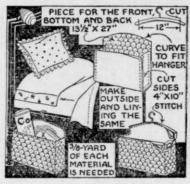

A sure way of being fashion-right in selecting the new print frock for spring is to think in terms of silk shantung, which is exactly what the designer did in creating the neat and attractive dress to the right in the picture. Styled the South American way with its bolero silhouette and general detail, this printed plaid silk shantung dress is the very embodiment of style at a new high.

If You Read in Bed You'll Want This Bag

BV RUTH WYETH SPEARS

THIS bag was planned as a hospital gift for someone who was finding days in bed difficult enough without having books, magazines, writing materials and spectacle case scattered about and forever getting lost. If you like to take an assortment of reading matter to bed, sick or well, you will enjoy, a bag like this. Its hanger hook may be sewed to box springs and there you are with everything at hand.

The bag shown here was made of a remnant of heavy cotton upholstery material in tones of green with a touch of red in the pattern. The red was repeated in the sateen lining. The sketch gives all the dimensions and shows how the lining and the outside part were made. A coat hanger was cut down to measure 12 inches from end to end and was placed between the lining and the outside; these being stitched together around the top, as illustrated.

NOTE: As a service to our readers Mrs. Spears has prepared a series of six book-ets of her original ideas. Each booklet contains 32 home-making projects with il-lustrated directions. Booklets are num-bered from 1 to 6, numbers 3 and 4 con-taining directions for other types of bags and door pockets that will make house-keeping easier. Booklets are 10c each and may be ordered direct from:

Question: My bungalow is now finished with brown stained shingles. I want to change to light gray. My plan is to put on a coat of aluminum paint and then a coat of gray stain. Can I use oil stain over aluminum paint, or must I use ordinary paint?

The federal trade commission of the United States, after an investiga-Answer: The laying of linoleum tion of dandruff, states that there is is a job that requires considerable no proof that dandruff is due to any infection. In Public Health Reports, Washington, D. C., Dr. C. W. Emmons states that while a small veastlike organism is always present in the dry or greasy scales of dandruff.

This little organism is known as the "bottle bacillus" and many investigators have tried in vain to cause it to grow as other tiny organisms are made to grow. Even those research workers who have been successful in growing this organism admit that they have not been able to cause dandruff in any scalps by inoculation with it.

Instead of trying to infect a normal scalp and thus perhaps cause dandruff, it was decided to inoculate an individual who already had dandruff and to measure whether this inoculation caused any increase in the time required to develop dandruff in places where dandruff was extensive as compared with places in which dandruff was absent or scant. The dandruff did not appear any sooner in the inoculated spots than in the other spots.

This proves, that, with our present knowledge at least, dandruff is not likely due to the organism that hitherto has been blamed for it.

The above information does not mean that something should not be done about dandruff. Until the cause is found, the frequent use of soap and water on the scalp, or the use of various proprietary preparations should be continued. The cleansing and rubbing of the scalp in itself is helpful in that it not only loosens and removes scales but stimulates the circulation of the blood in the scalp. . . .

> Considerable emphasis is being placed on cape costumes in the advance spring showings. The cape formula is being worked out in ways most fascinating. For example, a charming costume turned out by a noted designer plays up bright and neutral colors in the latest approved manner. The suit of soft grav wool consists of an all-round box-pleated skirt with a dressmaker-styled jacket that is hiplength and has two huge patch pockets. Now comes the stunning cape that tops this neat suit! It is full length, made of red herringbone weave, lined with lime green silk. A good rule to follow might be "a cape with every costume" so popular is the cape idea growing. One of the newest outcomes of the cape vogue is that many of the early spring print silk frocks are worn with long cloth capes lined with the identical silk of the dress.

Modern Handbags Gain Slick Smooth Efficiency

What handbags have lost in the absence of French models, (which formerly inspired 90 per cent of our handbag styles) they are gaining in improved construction, better materials, and interesting tricks which make them newly efficient. One trick is a slot which feeds a nickle outside the bag. Another is a key clip on a light for inside the handbag-so that keys may be located instantly. Another is the gluv-gard, which anchors one's gloves to one's handbag.

Handbag interiors are gaining a great deal of attention. More and better planned pockets are the rule. And one important new detail in interiors is a special pocket zipper. When you slide your hand into a pocket protected by this fastener, there are no rough teeth to get past -the zipper is kind to nail polish. It slides like a streak and adds ornamentation, as well as safety to American-made handbag interiors.
