EBERLE'S BEAGLE BEST OF WINNERS IN TOLEDO SHOW

Like many other beagle hounds owned by Joe Eberle of this village, Eberle's Princess, young 15-inch female, is gaining wide recognition and points toward its championship rating in rapid style. Entered in the fourth show in two weeks at Toledo, Ohio, Sunday the dog was awarded a large trophy and ribbons as the best of winners in the show. This also gave the little heagle two more points toward its championship. The dog now has 10 of the 15 points necessary to be rated as a full-fledged champion, which advance dogs beyond further competition. On March 30 Eberle's Princess was in the show at St. Paul, Minn. The dog was returned here this week by the Here are the danger signals. 1. A professional handler who had charge of

A Traffic Cop Goes to College

Each year a 9-month course is offered to a carefully selected group of traffic policemen from all parts of the country by the Northwestern University Traffic Institute in Evanston, Ill. The school was created in 1936 by a grant from the Automotive Safety Foundation. A trained staff under Lieut. F. M. Paint Is Economical

It is the poorest sort of economy to let equipment and buildings run down for the purpose of saving on paint bills, according to paint authorities. Paint not only adds many years to the life of the property, they say, but newly applied paint in the proper colors increases natural illumination. This, in turn, eliminates eyestrain, speeds up production and adds to the physical safety of the employees.

New Device Finds Nails

Nails, nemesis of saws, will be found out and removed if the type X metal locator, a device based on a radio unit, fulfills the hopes of officials of the Northeastern Timber Salvage administration. This device is described by officials as an oscillator and amplifier functioning as a tone source. As the equipment passes over a piece of metal it sets up a howl. The larger the piece of metal-the louder the howl.

Anyhow I get enough sleep even don't bother me.

I gess it aint so bad being in a army today because a mess sergeant up hear who was in the last war says they had insects called cooties in it and he made me itch all over by just describing 'em. He says they were a cross between a soft shell crab and a bedbug but we never had no soft shell crabs in our house, ma, so the descripshun is lost on me partly. He says these camps are so sanertarry that a soldier cant even get dirty if he wants to and he says no man can say he is a war hero until he has had cooties.

The soup in a army always tastes like the cook wuzzent sure if he was making a soup a chowder or a stew.

I know how to oil a gun now, ma. I always thought a gun was self oiling. All I knew about guns was what I seen in the moving pitchers and I never saw nobody oil a gun even Jimmy Cagney. But I learnt here that a gun has to be loobercated and it is quite a job. The captain says oil is the life of a gun and I give mine plenty of oil as I want it to live to reach a ripe old age. I am glad you liked the snapshot I sent. It was taken after inspeckshun. We get inspected every few minutes and they are very fussy if they find a little thing like a thread on my shoulder or a button off. Prevention of Pneumonia by Food and Rest

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

CO STARTLING has been the S drop in the death rate in pneumonia due to sulphanilimide and similar drugs that a movie shows two physicians trying

TODAY'S to reduce the death rate to nothing as they feel | COLUMN that there should now be no deaths in pneumonia. Despite this new and effective drug, the number of cases of pneumonia is not decreasing, in fact it is increasing, because one attack of pneumonia in an individual does not prevent further attacks, as it does in some ailments, but actually predisposes the patient to further attacks. In one country where there has been stress, strain, overwork and undernutrition for some Dr. Barton years, one of the reports from the physicians of that country shows a great increase in the number of cases of pneumonia. It was found that the number of cases increased greatly during the cold months. This was thought to be due to there being less sunshine during the winter months, but further investigation showed that coldness and dampness were equally, if not more, to blame.

Most of us are aware of the chill experienced after being heated by exercise or after having a hot bath. The chilliness or coldness of the air seems to stiffen or tighten the muscles. This is well known to baseball pitchers, who often on a warm day put on a sweater or put their pitching arm in the sleeve of their sweater while their team is at bat.

Blood Chilled. Cold air striking the warm body means that the blood going back to the lungs is chilled and not able to take on oxygen or throw off wastes as well. This blood is therefore not able to throw off, or prevent, the organisms of pneumonia or other diseases from starting trouble.

Heat is life to the body and its defenses and cold has the opposite effect, particularly in those who are rundown and undernourished.

To avoid pneumonia then, we should eat well, get plenty of sleep, and avoid draughts, dampness and cold when we are heated.

Insulin and Its Effect on Weight

ing stories of the South Sea islands and the savage tribes which inhabited them. I always laughed to myself as I read of the "medicine" men and of how they would boil the organs of animals and give the "soup" to sick natives.

Today we know that the soup of organs such as the pancreas, liver and stomach, extracted by refined scientific methods, saves the lives of hundreds of thousands yearly by preventing death in diabetes and pernicious anaemia.

Some months ago I recorded the experience of several physicians who had found insulin of great help in building up underweight children. Just how the insulin increased weight was still unknown, but that it increased the appetite was one noticeable result. An editorial in the Journal of the American Medical association suggests that the insulin stimulates the nerve which causes the stomach walls to contract and so set up hunger pains, and increase the amount of stomach and other digestive juices, so that more of the food that is eaten would be absorbed into the blood, thus giving more strength and increasing the weight. The fact also that insulin reduces the amount of sugar in the blood by enabling the body to use more sugar (instead of letting it be thrown out in the urine) also increases the hunger pains in the stomach.

One of the methods of stimulating appetite, particularly in nervous or mental cases, is the use of histamine. That insulin is more effective in these cases is recorded by Dr. P. Horstmann, Finland, who tested out both histamine and insulin in six such cases, one of which had the normal quantity and quality of stomach digestive juice and five did not. In all cases insulin was more effective than histamine.

QUESTION BOX Q.-Please list the alkaline and acid-forming foods. A .- Acid-forming foods are: Eggs, meat, fish, poultry, breads of all kinds (both white and whole wheat), cereals, pastries, puddings. Baseforming foods are: Milk, nuts, fruits (except cranberries, plums, prunes and rhubarb), vegetables.

Q.—Is there a cure for Parkinson's A. Parkinson's disease, or shaking palsy, has no known cure. Quieting medicines are helpful. Q.-1. What is normal blood pressure for a woman of 60? 2. What are the effects of low blood pressure? 3. What makes large veins across the upper chest very dark and noticeable? A.-1. Normal blood pressure for a woman of 60 is about 132 systolic and 86 diastolic. 2. Low blood pressure gives a feeling of weakness or tiredness. 3. The skin may be thin with not much fat under it, which would make vein stand out. If vein is knotted or twisted it may be varicosed due to pressure.

Preparing the Farm Garden

In the matter of fertility, 'the best is none too good" for the garden plot. If any choice may be had in the matter of slope, it is well to choose a plot having a southern or southeastern exposure, on comparatively elevated ground. Low ground must be avoided, since it will be subject to flooding and wet soils are not only unproductive, but can not be worked early in the spring. Good drainage is important.

SOIL TYPES Sandy loam or light clay loam will produce fine vegetables, but even a heavy clay soil may be made productive by the addition of manure or some other organic matter. Composts of leaves, straw, and other wastes are excellent sources of humus. For a half-acre garden plot, as much as 10 tons of manure should be applied at the start; this should be supplemented by yearly dressings of four or five loads. If a cow or a flock of poultry is kept on the place the manure may be used to good advantage on the garden plot. If no manure is to be had, clover, cow-peas, soy beans, or some other leguminous crop may be grown and plowed under to enrich the soil. Commercial fertilizers are also good, but their value depends upon their essential ingredients, hence the composition of the fertilizer should be ascertained before it is bought. When such is used, part of it may be plowed in at the beginning and the remainder used as top dressing during the growing

PREPARING FOR PLANTING If your garden plot is blessed with a rich topsoil 8 or 10 inches deep, work it to that depth-and be thankful. If the topsoil is thin (less than 6 inches) be careful in working it not to bring the subsoil to the surface. However, it is highly desirable to loosen such a subsoil for a distance of 6 or 8 inches below the topsoil but this is a matter of some labor and trouble. It may be done by working the garden in strips, as follows: Take off the topsoil from strip No. 1, which should be about 21/2 feet wide. Rake it to one side; break up the subsoil as deeply as possible; work into this broken subsoil a quantity of coarse manure, poultry droppings, or compost; then cover it with the topsoil from strip No. 2, which is thus uncovered for working: Proceed in this manner until the entire garden plot has been worked, and, when the last strip of subsoil has been thus loosened and fertilized, cart the topsoil from strip

No. 1 to the final strip. These instructions are for a plot with thin or poor soil. If the garden plot is of reasonable fertility A S A youngster, and even well up and tilth to begin with, it will be necessary only to plow or spade it thoroughly, and-which is very important-pulverize it thoroughly to the depth to which it has been plowed or spaded. If the garden plot is plowed, harrow it very soon after plowing so that the soil will not harden into lumps: if it is spaded, when you have turned a strip six or eight feet wide, go over it at once breaking with the spade and raking, to pulverize all lumps. Do not plow or spade a very wet soil; if it remains together in a ball when a quantity is squeezed in the palm of the hand, it is too wet to handle.

SEEDS FOR THE GARDEN Buy your seeds from a reputable dealer and buy only the best. When the seeds are received, unpack them, check to see that you have received exactly what you ordered, and store where they will be dry, and free from rats or mice. They should be kept at about living-room temperature. If any seeds are left after the garden is planted, save them with care. You will doubtless wish to make two or three successive plantings of some varieties, and besides, some of the seeds will keep for use the next season. As your vegetables mature, save the seeds of beans, peas, cucumbers, squashes, melons and tomatoes. These are easily saved and can safely be used the following season. Keep them in a dry place where they will not be attacked by Measure either cold or warm water into a bowl. sprinkle the powdered milk over the surface and beat until the powder dissolves (or shake in a tightly closed jar or bottle). This liquid mixture of dry skim milk and water will sour just as fresh milk does, and may be used for cottage cheese after it is clabbered.

SOUTH AMERICAN OSTRICH

The Rhea or South American ostrich-sometimes called the Nandu -has a trick of using his wings as sails. If pursued, and if a breeze is blowing, he raises one wing and literally sails along at a speed which no horse or dog can match.

THE SHREW FAMILY

The shrews are among the smallest of the mammals. They are nevertheless, very hardy and some of the northern species remain abroad even during the bitter Arctic winter

THE pink and green chintz covered boxes on these closet shelves are lined with plain green cambric and they are hinged so that the front may be opened without taking off the lid. Any box of good stiff cardboard may be hinged and covered in this way. Library paste may be used or wall paper paste mixed with as little water as possible to make it spread smoothly with a paint brush. Adhesive tape or other strong gummed fabric tape will be needed to hinge the boxes. Cut the box lid straight across in from the front edge. Cut out the front of the box and hinge the pieces in place. Now, cut and paste the covering pieces, as directed in the sketch. Apply the paste on both the back of the fabric and the box and smooth the material in place with a dry, clean cloth. Cover sides first with fabric straight around and about 1/2 inch over edges; then cover top and bottom; then the inner sides with the plain fabric 1/4 inch below the edges and 1/2 inch over the top and bottom; then cover the top and bottom inside.

NOTE: Complete directions for making a zipper garment bag similar to the one illustrated will be found in Book 6. You may also want to make a matching door pocket. Complete directions for cutting and making are in Book 4. If you do not have these useful booklets, send order to:

Hitler's Spring Drive Into Balkans Follows Usual Pattern of Nazi 'Blitz' As Greeks and Jugoslavs Fall Back; Axis Powers Register African Gains

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

EL AGHEILA, LIBYA.—Beyond this Nazi armored tank waves a swastika from a building in this Libyan coastal town. Since the Nazis joined the Italian troops in the Libyan sector previous sensational successes by the British have been wiped out and much territory formerly won is now in

BALKANS:

Nazi Power

The sudden onslaught of the Nazi troops on five fronts against Jugoslavia and Greece came with terrifying swiftness and in the early days of the conflict it was evident that a delaying action was the most that the Greeks could offer, and that the Jugoslavs, prepared mentally, but unprepared physically to resist, could do little but harass the advance of the invader.

Hungarian troops were also ordered to enter Jugoslavian territory separated from Hungary after the Events moved swiftly in those first few days. Immediately the city of Belgrade, perilously close to the border, and in the center of a plain, was declared an "open city" and that the Jugoslavs would not defend

However, the first act of the Nazi bombers was to deliver a series of assaults on Belgrade, closely followed by similar attacks on Sarajevo, Nis, Zagreb and other points of military importance to the invading

The attack on Belgrade may or may not have put the city entirely hors du combat, but the immediate effect was to shut off all communication with the outside world, and that caused the reports of the early phases of the new war to be fragmentary and conflicting to the ut-railroad lines Only the British reports seemed to carry conviction, together with those from Athens. The former predicted a general withdrawal, and the latter told how that withdrawal was being carried out. But from the start it had been expected by this country that Salonika would be defended, and that the British had 150,000 to 200,000 troops in that general neighborhood, and were prepared to make a serious defense of the port. Then the British announced that Salonika might fall, and gave rise to the general belief that perhaps the British forces were not so numerous or so strong as at first stated. Suddenly came the word that the British had only 60,000 to 90,000 troops on the scene, and that they were in the second line of defense, "ready to veer to east or west as the situation demanded." This was the answer to the disdid not reveal the British in contact with the enemy at any point. They were, in this report, placed in the vicinity of Katerine, which put them somewhat in the center, between two main forces of Greeks.

ing virtual evacuation of the port by Greek troops. British troops have not yet gone into action."

One of the five fronts on which the Germans attacked was around Skoplje, in southwestern Jugoslavia, a vital railroad link between the Greeco-British and Jugoslav forces. Early in the conflict German panzer divisions captured Skoplje, and drove a wedge through the Vardar valley. The Germans reported taking more than 20,000 prisoners in this action, and radioed photographs showing long lines of truckloads of Serb and Crotian prisoners going along mountain roads, passing forward-moving Nazi divisions on the

While the United States, led by President Roosevelt's promises of sympathy and aid to Jugoslavia and Greece during this invasion, was watching with anxiety and hope for some more favorable news, the general tone of opinion was that the story of Poland and Finland was being rewritten before their eyes.

Americans interested in seeing something like this happen again scanned the news dispatches in vain for signs that the Nazi putsch was bogging down.

The shock of the fall of Salonika was matched by the shock to learn that the British forces were relatively small, but the fact that they were in a reported "second line" gave some measure of hope to those anxiously watching the defense that 'something might happen' when the second line was reached and went

FASCISTS:

Move in Africa

The war was not only taking a Nazi turn in Jugoslavia and Greece, but in northern Africa as well with combined Fascist-Nazi troops definitely on the forward move again.

sent to Greece. Whether this was true or not could not be learned, but if so, it was an interesting coincidence that the backward movement of the British in Libya tallied in time with the rumor that Wavell was gone to another

The British, in their forward drive, had gone past Sidi Barrani to patches of the first few days, which Derna, and thence to Bengasi, the Libyan capital. STRIKES:

New Turn

Strike news continued sensational, but took somewhat a turn for the better, with the Dykstra Mediation board settling the Allis-Chalmers strike and making headway both on the threatened walkout against U.S. Steel and the big Ford strike at River Rouge.

But the news, while somewhat better from the standpoint of the national defense, was still disquieting enough. Most sensational of the stories was the claim that C.I.O. chieftains had been canvassing local unions throughout the United States seeking to find what sentiment, if any, there was for a general strike if the Bridges deportation move should be carried out.

The Bridges case was in the hearing stage when this move was uncovered in Washington when Sidney Hillman of OPM was asked by a house committee investigating the national defense program to investigate the report.

Mr. Hillman expressed surprise at the question and said he did not believe that any such move was being carried out. Mr. Hillman said that Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O. and chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing committee, would not tolerate a strike against the defense program. This report by Mr. Hillman came just one day after Mr. Murray had made a surprise visit to the White House at the invitation of President Roosevelt, and then had made a flying trip to Detroit, and later had announced that the projected strike against U. S. Steel would be held in bevance for a time, ostensibly to permit work by mediators and conciliators to avert the strike entirely.

The report came from a mediator n New York that part of the coal strike difficulties had been settled. He said that the reopening of other mines had been delayed, and apparently the main difficulty was a difference in attitude between Northern and Southern Appalachian mine op-the United Mine Workers. The mediator said: 'We are trying desperately to effect a complete accord and to stabilize this backbone industry for a period of two years." He also said that the schism between the two geographical portions of the operators group was causing the chief difficulty. In the meantime there were signs that the mediation efforts in the Ford strike were bearing fruit, when Governor Van Wagoner of Michigan wired President Roosevelt as fol-

"Please do not approve certification of the Ford strike to the Defense Mediation Board before I have talked with you. I am in conference now with Philip Murray and James Dewey (the conciliator).

This made it look, at least for the moment, as though some settlement of the dispute, which has tied up $155,000,000 in defense material, might be at hand.

SHIP AID:

On Move

The ships-for-Britain end of the aid law was well on the move, with the President formally seeking from congress the right to take possesnow in American waters. Mr. Roosevelt said his advisers were convinced they had every right to take over the German and Italian ships, regardless of the protests of the two Axis governments. It was plain from the White House comment that the government proposed to combine the three groups of ships into one fleet, and in time to use the whole fleet in defense transport. The government will go far, it was believed, to keep this line of transport open and under way until deliveries begin on the 950 new merchant ships now being constructed. In addition, at the same time, the British announced that this country is turning over to them 10 United States coast guard cutters for aid in the war against Nazi subs.

DEATH:

The sudden death of Sen. Morris Sheppard of Texas, dean of the senate, at the age of 65, showed again what a toll of the legislative body the pressure of war was taking.

Senator Sheppard had been chairman of the vital senate military affairs committee, and in this post had been working day and night on matters vital to the national defense.

This work included the "pesky" selective service act.

Washington, D. C. WASHINGTON .- Millions for defense but not enough sense to contribute sufficient funds to the District of Columbia budget. That is the Washington city government's present charge against congress. The other day I sat in the office of one of the district commissioners and an army officer who had been drafted to help work out the city's housing problems, and they seemed pretty helpless.

"We haven't got the money to marked on what a misapprehension marked on the misappreh most city people have concerning meet the emergency situation that is growing in the district as a re- the modern farm woman. The author told how a companion in a Pullsult of the defense program," was the burden of their song.

Washington is run by a commission—three men—our three "may- was hoeing in a garden. Miss Carors," if you will, appointed by the President. Our board of aldermen are the district committees of the house of representatives and the senate. The federal government bears share of the expense of running the city—but not enough, say the citizens of the district. All they can do is "say," for they have no vote, either locally or nationally.

The emergency is bringing thousands of new workers here. From June, 1930, to January of this year nearly 25,000 new government emyees moved in. The figures for February, due to be released in a few days, are expected to show a big increase. The Washington Board of Trade estimates that 55,000 new residents have moved into the District of Columbia in the last year.

Question of Schools.

In addition to these extra beds and baths that must be provided, there is the question of schools. The commissioner with whom I was discussing the situation, cited one ex-

"Down there between Bolling field which will soon be the center of American aviation and the naval research laboratory," he said, "the federal government has built 600 family units. It will probably be increased to 1,000. These are just for the navy yard workers. Right there will probably be enough chil-dren to fill one schoolhouse alone."

A million and a quarter dollars, it is estimated, should be spent on schools alone in Washington as a result of the influx of residents. This is to say nothing of the next most pressing need-facilities to increase the water supply. The Canal Zone is not much hotter than Washing ton in the summer. People take a lot of showers. We have a Potomacful of water but we need more pipes and pumps.

The greatest portion of the city's expense, however, goes to taking care of the homes and the offices and people which make up the federal government.

Anyone who thinks the life of a government worker is all roses, frankincense and myrrh in these days needs only to listen to the local director of the Housing association

'Doubling Up' Complaints.

"Frequent complaints of doubling up in apartments and rooming houses come to us. One bath for 15 to 20 persons is a common grievance. Three to six unrelated roomers in the parlor of a once fine private residence is not uncom-

Very bad, say the health authorities, for sanitation. Very bad for morale, too.

And then Washington has on its periphery a number of army camps, cantonments and forts. By July the boys on leave will be flocking in from an army of nearly a hundred thousand men. Their welfare and amusement have to be taken care

The district government, therefore, is struggling with the congressional committees, attempting to convince them of Washington's needs. A bill is now being considered which would increase the proportion which the federal government contributes to the federal city, but the officials cannot bank on the money until it is in hand.

project to restore the marsh. State's Navy Output High-Materials manufactured by Wisconsin plants for the United States navy in March were valued at $2,546,000, Lieut. Henry Marshall, resident inspector of naval material, announced in Milwaukee. The production in February totaled $1,750,000 and in January $1,200,000. A year ago the total was $600,000. Note Employment Increase - The March report of the Wisconsin state employment service office in Milwaukee showed sizable gains in industrial employment in the Milwaukee area. The active file of applicants for jobs decreased nearly 3,000, and nearly all divisions of labor were reported to be offering new opportunities for employment.

Average Farm Income $1,680 -Wisconsin's per capita farm income amounted to $1,680 in 1940, or $117 per farm above the 1939 average, according to a statement made public in Madison by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. The statement points out that total farm income for the state last year was $315,000,000, this was an increase of $23,000,000 compared with 1939.

Property Tax Levies Cut-For the second successive year city property taxpayers in Wisconsin in 1940 received a reduction in property taxes, according to an analysis of city tax levies released by the Wisconsin Taxpayers alliance. The 1940 levy against property in Wisconsin cities was $75,029,000, the 1939 levy was $75,-147,000 and the 1938 levy was $75, 707,000, according to alliance figures.

Fair Dates Are Set-Dates of 74 county and district fairs in Wisconsin were announced by Ralph E. Ammon, director of the state department of agriculture. Forty-five of the fairs will be held in August, 14 in September, 11 late in August and extending into September, three in July and one in November. The first fair of the year was held in Waukesha, March 11-14. Earliest fairs of the summer will be held at Platteville, July 18-21; Darlington, July 24-27, and Monroe July 31-Aug. 4.

To Dam Clam River-The Clam River Dam Co. has been authorized by the public service commission to construct a dam in the Clam river near Danbury in Burnett county. The commission said the plans call for raising the water level at the dam to 30 feet and construction of an $87,-100 powerhouse.

Henry Bank Commissioner-Robert K. Henry, Jefferson, former democratic state treasurer, was confirmed unanimously by the senate for a six year term on the Wisconsin banking commission ending April 1, 1947.

"You're a meddling young fool!" stormed Withers. "What do you know about it?" "Perhaps," suggested the lawyer uneasily, "it might be well to look into this matter, gentlemen." "We'll look into it. And we'll look into that stock transaction, too. It has a fishy sound to me."

"By all means investigate thoroughly. You'll find-as I found, gentlemen-that that area of land up there is included in the boundaries of the National Park. Probably the condemnation suits to establish ownership are lost somewhere in the maze of other lawsuits and claims that have been filed on the property. But I wouldn't advise you to cut any timber there till you have satisfied yourself where the boundary It's easy to take timber away lies. from old men-and to rob womenbut don't try it on the Government of the United States, gentlemen. That will be all. Good afternoon."

Lucy let her breath out slowly as the procession filed out the door. "It's like the movies!" she gasped. Wills was standing still, tall and lean and purposeful, in the middle of the room.

"There are some things to be settled," he said. "We may as well finish it. Withers planned all this sabotage to force you to sell. But he had help. Men inside the mill. Brains inside the mill. He had Mr. Stanley Daniels."

The choky cry came from "No! Lucy. "No-it isn't true." "I'm sorry-it's true. I've been doing some investigating, Mrs. Morgan."

"They framed him," wailed Lucy. "Old Wallace Withers asked him-Stanley, I mean-if there was any chemical that would destroy puip and Stanley told him. And then the pulp was ruined—and Wallace Withers threatened to tell Mrs. Morgan that Stanley did it unless he gave up his job."

'Why doesn't he come here to speak for himself, if that's true?" Wills asked. "Because," said Lucy faintly, was a fool-but he isn't crooked. I locked him up. Shall I let him out, Mrs. Morgan?' Virgie's smile crinkled her face and she burst into a sudden laugh. "No-don't let him out, Lucy. Keep him there till he realizes what a grand girl you are. Keep him there till he melts."

Lucy smiled and it was as though a candle had been lighted behind her

"I think he's-melting, Mrs. Morgan!"

"It's raining," Marian said sud-denly aloud. "Rain and sleet. I'd better take you home, Mother-it's Virgie barked, "What did you say, now? Who came there? You say he took your gun?" She hung up slowly, sitting rigid and aghast.

"Tom has escaped!" "When? How? How could he?" "Lon says he got away thirty minutes ago. They don't know how.

He took Lon's gun." "But-he'll freeze-on a night like this! We'll have to find him, Mother-'

"Yes-we'll have to find him." Virgie looked at Wills. "Lon says that Wallace Withers was over there today. Tom has found out who it is that has been plotting to ruin us. He's a mountain man-' "We'll go," Wills said. "They'll look for him, of course?" "Lon said he was sending some of the boys out. They won't know where to go. I know where Tom will go." Virgie's face was heavy with trouble as she twisted into her heavy coat. "I'm going, too," Marian said abruptly. "It's going to be an ugly night," Virgie objected. "You'd better go home before it freezes." "Mother—I'm going. Tell Frank to put the chains on."

"Wrap yourself up then. Lucy, you stay here by the 'phone. If Lon calls tell him we're out on a huntif we find Tom we'll bring him in." Wills drove and Marian huddled in the middle of the single seat of Virgie's old car. Freezing rain spatted on the roof, coated the windshield. The light failed with the completeness of mountain night. Wills got out to scrub the wind-shield clean. The wheels slewed on the curves in spite of the chains and Virgie's profile, against the dim light, was granite and grim.

"Drive on," she said. "I'll tell you when to turn."

"He wouldn't take the road, Mother," Marian worried. "And even if we met him we couldn't see him." "Drive on," said Virgie, flatly.

They passed a looming mill and curve where a waterfall came down, roaring and splashing under a high bridge

"Left-at the next road," said "Mother-" an edge of panic was in Marian's voice. "You don't think-' "I know!" said Virgie, soberly. They were over there-Wallace and the others. Tom didn't know before who was working against us -but now he knows. Take it slow, Wills-this road is dirt and it'll be slippery." "It's freezing a little. The chains hold. I can go faster if it won't make you nervous."

Marian huddled, small and frightened, under Branford Wills' elbow, her head in a snug beret, scarcely reaching his shoulder. Once he looked around and gave her a scrap of smile, in the dim light from the dash, but she was looking solemnly and searchingly ahead.

"How awful-to be wandering around in the hills on a night like this!" she said. "Poor old Tom!" "I know how awful it can be." Wills agreed. "I had two nights of it. There's so much sky and black air and empty wind and savage dark around you-and you feel a sort of hatred in it-as though it would kill you if it could. And the branches reach out and snatch and almost snarl-and boulders and roots trip you up-and the wind gathers up handfuls of ice and flings them in your face."

"And you were lost!" said Marian in a small, frail voice. He looked down at her. "I'm still lost," he said, levelly. Virgie cleared her throat. "I'm here," she reminded them, "but I'm old and my hearing isn't what it used to be. "Tom wouldn't be lost." Marian essayed the commonplace again. "He knows his way anywhere in these mountains-no matter how dark it might be." The river was alongside now, dark and noisy and hidden by the whirling dash of sleety rain. Trees hung low, and the darkness grew thicker: it brooded and was hostile and fear-Marian clutched a sleeve some. and laid her face against it. Wind shook the old car fiercely, but the wheels dug and spun and plowed on. Once a frightened rabbit leaped through the darting steel rods of the rain, its eyes green and terrified. Ice was glassy on the hood, the wind-shield wiper gouged a feeble arc and then failed.

EW YORK.—If Lord Halifax has been homesick for England, he no doubt feels better after his weekend at Unionville, Chester County, Halifax Heard No has been Pa. There

American Accent saved for In Pack's Baying him, as a gesture of gracious hospitality it would seem, a tiny spot of old England as authentic as diligent effort could possibly make it. Chester county comprises the fox-hunting domain of Lord Halifax's host, W. Plunket Stewart, and so faithfully has Mr. Stewart adhered to the British tradition that Chester county is often called the Leicestershire county of America, with its hunts comparable only to the Melton, the Mowbray and the Quoin of Leicestershire-the same comprising all the superlatives of fox-hunting in England.

In 1911 Mr. Plunket-a banker when he isn't riding to houndsbegan searching for the perfect hunting domain. He found it in Chester county. The terrain was sufficiently broken to give the fox a break, but open enough for some slam-bang, tallyho riding, with woods, streams, stone walls and all the required hazards and lures, without too many people to get in the way. Mr. Plunket bought a large tract and thereafter, it appeared, banking was somewhat of a sideline.

He and his brother Redmond had bred a pack of hounds and built the famous Green Spring Valley hunt, of Glyndon, Md. Hence, knowing all the ins and outs of fox-hunting, he proceeded rapidly to recreate the Leicestershire of the Eighteenth century. Gilbert E. Mather, already established in Chester county as a fox-hunter, was moving eastward in search of new territory. Mr. Stewart bought his English foxhounds and began importing others from England, along with hunters of ancient pedigree.

There is in Mr. Stewart's hunt the most careful observance of all ancient traditions of British fox - hunting, particularly in dress. The master and his staff wear scarlet, with crimson collars and the every-day dress is scarlet with crimson facings and scarlet velvet collar.

Mr. Stewart is a native of Maryland, related to European royalty. He was in the army remount service in the World war. Incidentally, the natives of Chester county have co-operated enthusiastically in the fox-hunting, and real estate values have risen.

is historic precedent for his finding a hole in the line, weaving through a broken field and planting the ball on the other side of the goal posts. That was in the famous "crap game" session between the Army and Navy in 1900. With less than a minute to play, "Jerry" Land, as his shipmates always called him, in the backfield for the Navy, blocked a kick and made one of those Frank Merriwell zig-zags down the field, winning, 11 to 7 for the Navy, just a few seconds before the whistle blew for the finish. Such doings are pretty much in his horoscope.

In the World war he was in the navy bureau of construction and repair and got the Navy cross for building submarines and for his work in the war zone. In 1919 he turned in the most comprehensive and searching technical study of German submarines the navy ever got, along with a study of what they might do or try to do in the next war. He retired in March, 1937, but got only a month's layoff, as President Roosevelt got him back on the job as a member of the maritime commission. When Joseph P. Kennedy retired to become ambassador to Great Britain, Land became chairman of the commission, and within two weeks the same was shaking a leg as never before.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE By ROGER B. WHITMAN

(@ Roger B. Whitman-WNU Service.)

Effects of Condensation. QUESTION: A house that we bought last year was freshly painted, but within two months the outside paint blistered, except on porches and other places that did not touch the inside walls. In winter, windows steam so badly that water runs down and has rotted the window casings and spoiled the paper below. Upstairs is not finished, and paint outside of upstairs does not blister. We have hot air heat and a cistern trouble? Answer: That trouble all comes from too much dampness in the air of the house. This may be from over use of the humidifier in your furnace. Another cause may be the burning of natural gas in open burners; every gas burner should be connected to a flue to carry the vapors outdoors. The cistern may also be responsible; it should have a tight cover. You can check the steaming on your windows by applying storm sash and tight weatherstrips. You should also fill the joints between window frames and outside walls with caulking compound. Banging Steam Pipes.

Question: We are annoyed by a loud banging in the steam pipes to the second floor. This occurs mainly at night when the radiators are cold, and automatic heat goes on. The house is five years old, and the owner says the noise has been present from the first. One plumber tells us that nothing can be done about it. Can you make any sugges-

Answer: That banging is due to a section of the pipe that is level, or on a bank slant, instead of being slanted toward the boiler. As a result, water collects in it, and interferes with the passage of steam to the radiator. Very often raising the radiator on blocks of wood one-half inch thick, or even more, will end the trouble. Otherwise, the watertrap in the pipe must be located and straightened out.

Basement Finish.

Question: My house has now been built about six months, and condensation that troubled me has now disappeared. In finishing a basement room, what can I use for the floor and walls?

Answer: For the walls, use cement paint of a kind intended for masonry. For the floor, the kind of dye that you name should be excellent. This will give color, but you will not be able to use rugs or mats on the floor. You should look forward to laying asphalt tiles, or a new kind of linoleum that is proof marks." against rotting when laid on the concrete floor of a basement.

Mice in a Car.

Question: How can mice be kept from gnawing holes in the upholstery of a car stored for the winter in a country garage?

Scatter quantities of Answer: moth balls all over the inside of the car. If the car is of the closed type, and the doors and windows are shut, the odor inside will keep any small animals from entering. If the car is open, it should be covered with canvas, building paper, or in some other way, so that the vapor of the moth balls cannot escape. It may be necessary to replenish the moth balls some time during the winter. Poison Ivy.

Question: My backyard is in a natural state, with a rocky ledge and trees. Poison ivy is growing there. How can I get rid of it?

Answer: In every locality you can find someone who is immune to ivy poisoning, and who can grub up the plants and get rid of them once and for all. Sprinkling the leaves with a solution of rock salt and water, with a little soap added, will make them shrivel. If this is continued, as new leaves and shoots show the roots will eventually die. Do not let this solution get on the ground, for it will kill all vegetation.

White Cast on Doors. Question: Can anything be done to restore stained doors that have a whitish cast from being wiped with a wet cloth?

Answer: The whitish misty cast can be removed by wiping with a mixture of 1 tablespoon of cider vinegar in a quart of water; rub this on with a soft cloth in the direction of the grain, and wipe dry. A thin coat of wax well rubbed in will protect the finish. Hollow Sound.

Question: The eight steps to my stoop are against brick walls, with one side open. When entering or leaving there is a hollow sound. How can I overcome it?

Answer: The space underneath is empty, so that you get the effect of a drum. If the hollow sound is a the successful conciliator in that recent development, it may be because the under parts are rotting. You should investigate. Wood Cellar Floor.

Question: Can a wood floor be laid on a cement cellar floor, provided no dampness arises?

Answer: A concrete floor may be dry on the surface, and yet be continually passing moisture to the celconcrete underneath is damp, a wa-

WHEREAS, it now appears that due to the demand made by the administration to reduce expenditures for highway use in Wisconsin this money, due us on the above dates, is not scheduled for release to us on the above projects but it appears that counties having bonds to redeem are receiving their money and likewise counties who have passed bond issues substantially increasing the amount of work done with such allotments and such counties as are meeting Federal Aid allomtents are receiving theirs. It also appears that Milwaukee County's allotment which by special legislation is being turned over to Milwaukee City by their County Government has been released, and

WHEREAS, such funds are definitely set aside for our use by specific statute as above stated in such way that apparently no order except legislation by the Wisconsin Legislature in session can deny the use of it for the purposes above stated.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that this Washington County Board does hereby request that the above money be released for the above stated purpose and that copies of this resolution be given to the Honorable Julius P. DENTAL HYGIENE lea's greatest medical authorities makes the statement ntage of the diseases that affect the human system bouth. People suffer much unnecessary pain from rders because of bad teeth, The difference between both and an unhealthy one is ten years of life." Whats good health tends to promote good, sound, healthy teeth. hine, well-chewed nutritious food, hygienic surroundings, Sep, good habits are all essential to good teeth.

To stimulate the children to visit their dentist every year, dental Date cards are given to each school child. This entitles them to a free in spection of their teeth by their dentist. When this visit is completed, the dentist gives the child a card with the recommendations to take home to his parents to certify that such an examination has been completed. The parent thereby knowing the defects, will have them cor rected. The percentage of corrections is increasing every year.

A great deal of this correction work is due to the teachers who are stressing healthy teeth in their curriculum. In one of the local schools with an enrollment of 350, every child in that school visited their dentist last year. Although the corrections were not 100% (due largely to lack of funds from the parents) the children were exposed to establishing the proper habit of visiting their dentist. They also received more education regarding care of their teeth by the necessity of such a visit. "A stitch in time saves nine" applies to teeth as well

During the 1939 dental program there were 1,220 examinations and 590 corrections.

MATERNAL AND INFANT HYGIENE "The health of the child is the power of the nation."

Although we can't improve our ancestors, we can do something about the future generation. Hoover stated, "Human progress marches only when the child excells the parent."

The care of these new individuals begins before their birth. So as to insure the health of this new individual care of the mother is most important before the baby is born. In order to insure proper care for the expectant mother, home calls are made to assist in carrying out the doctor's instructions and sometimes interpreting them for the mother. Often times when she has neglected visiting her doctor, the neces sity of such a visit is explained and urged. Instructions are also given the mother for preparation for delivery in the home. Fifty-seven per Feb. 19 cent of the babies in this county are born at home. This necessitates better home supervision for better babies.

It isn't an instinct that tells the mother the way to care for the children properly. Scientific knowledge on the care of the child has improved as has everything else. It is therefore necessary for the mother to be taught and to be taught properly how to care for the baby. It is in this capacity that these home calls are made. A home call is made soon after the baby is born so that proper instructions can be given at the onset before any bad habits are formed. Habit training begins at the time of birth and not at the time the child enters school as so many parents believe. Then another visit is planned at the end of the baby's first year. "As a twig bends so the tree inclines." Laxness at any time means time wasted.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE PREVENTION

Over a century ago (141 years to be exact) mankind learned that smallpox was an absolutely preventable disease and could be banished entirely. The fact that this has not been done is due to carelessness. Every person who is not protected against smallpox by vaccination is guilty of this carelessness. This unvaccinated person is not playing his part in making the world a safe place in which to live.

Smallpox is one of the diseases that it is a disgrace to have. Yet, in 1939 Wisconsin had 162 cases of smallpox.

The presence of the disease in this county stimulated a vaccina tion program in the spring. There were 824 vaccinated at that time. Vaccination should be repeated every six years for every individual to make sure the immunity is still present. Every child should be protected against diphtheria and smallpox before one year of age. If this were carried out, these two diseases would be a thing of the past.

In 1939 there were 44 cases of diphtheria with four deaths in Wis consin. This disease may also be prevented by immunization. Although May 10 we have progressed far in eradicating this disease from 2,202 deaths from diphtheria in 1881 to four deaths in 1939—we must continue the fight. If we slacken the disease will again reach epidemic force.

TUBERCULOSIS

A continuous campaign against tuberculosis shows results. The deaths from tuberculosis in Wisconsin have dropped from 931 in 1938 to 858 in 1939. Even with this great decline, we find tuberculosis one of the great disease causes of death during the most important years of life-ages 15 to 45. Tuberculosis is also first among the most easily preventable diseases

The conquest of tuberculosis is not as easy as the conquest of smallpox because the vaccination for tuberculosis has not been discovered. The cause of tuberculosis has been discovered. We also know how to prevent it and how to cure it if it is found and properly treated in time. It is this knowledge that we impart to the public. Early discovery means early recovery.' "Tuberculosis is generally contracted during childhood. Childhood is the seeding time and the harvest comes later." These bacillus may remain dormant within the body for several years or until something in the body weakens the resistance causing a Jun breakdown. Tuberculin testing eliminated tuberculosis among cattle. It can do the same for man.

Every year we give the children of Washington county the opportunity of having the tuberculin test, thereby finding out if they have been exposed to the disease. If the reaction is positive an X-ray is ronment, in the curriculum, and in the home recommended. Home visits were made on those having positive reactions to seek the source of the infection, for tuberculosis is spread by the tuberculous. This year through a grant of the federal government we had 99 X-rays taken at the Oak Sanatorium for those of limited

So that all may have an opportunity of a chest examination and the tuberculin test, free chest clinics are held at West Bend and Hartford alternately. These are conducted by Dr. K. P. Hoel, Superintendent of the Oak Sanatorium. There were eight chest clinics held this year.

With these funds 1,228 colonies of bees were inspected in 51 apiaries. Three colonies of bees in two apiaries were found infected with American foulbrood. These were burned and the equipment was sterilized. In addition to the above six places were visited where bees were no longer kept but where old used equipment was present. Such of this as showed evidence of disease was sterilized or destroyed. About 90 per cent of the county was covered. For 1941 we recom- Carnival Concessions mend a county appropriation of $100.00. REPORT OF THE WASHINGTON CON 4-H CLUB FAIR, 1940

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Washington County, Wisconsin.

Gentlemen:

The 1940 Washington County 4-H Club Fair came August 18, with a record increase in the number of e tendance, because of the rainy and unfavorable siderable below par as the revenues taken in at the cessions, shows, and rides will indicate.

The 4-H youth of the county are deserving of the ments for their enthusiasm in behalf of the fair and the fair as shown by their increase in the number of will be discussed more fully later in this report.

The three new barns completed during the past year tions made possible by your honorable body were filled 4-H livestock of the county. In addition a large is rows of livestock, each row 80 feet long, was needed quarters for all of the livestock exhibited. With th the near future of a fourth barn the need for a tent for stock should be eliminated. I believe, however, that available will be taxed to the limit to provide shelter fr increasing amount of livestock shown at the fair,

The Washington County 4-H Fair has provisions for exhibitors. These are:

(1) Open Class

(2) Junior Farmers and Junior Homemak (3) 4-H Club Members

Last year in my report to your honorable body I pre show the growth made by the various departments of the years 1937, 1938 and 1939. It would be interesting know approximately how the exhibits at the fair were among the above mentioned three types of exhibitors at

Report No. 19 REPORT OF COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors, Washington County, Wisconsin. Gentlemen:

For purposes of brevity I will mention only a few of the more major during the past year. Neither time nor space permits of much detail in this report.

The first major project carried out was the Land Use Planning report completed about July 1st. A copy of this report has already been sent you, hence only a brief reference of it will be made here. For the purpose of carrying on the Land Use Study the county was divided into five areas. This division was based on several factors chiefly among which are: (1) present land use, (2) marketing practices,

(3) soil topography, (4) soil type. In each of these areas a local committee of six to ten members was appointed and consisted of the town chairman, the assessor, one heavily infested with certain bad noxious weeds such as Canada or more members of the township AAA committee and other local men | Thistle, Quack Grass, Wild Mustard, and other weeds. In the past and women who it was felt were quite well informed as regards the advantages and problems of a given area of the county.

Washington County has been farmed about 100 years. Its settlers largely of German descent, have been hard working and conservative has slowly been making serious inroads on Washington County farms. people. The county has witnessed the change from a wheat growing area to one of diversified farming with the main source of income being derived from dairying. The thought of classifying the land according to its best possible future uses was new to the people of the county. However, upon an analysis and study of the factors influencing the cost and mode of living of the people in the rural areas, problems soon presented themselves which must be studied and planned for collectively in order to secure the most economical long time use of the resources of the county. The findings and the recommendations of the local committees were evaluated and approved or rejected by a county I believe that the time is at hand when Washington County through committee of about thirty members. In the Land Use Planning study the total land of the county was classified into three main areas as follows: (1) Land not now in farms and which should not be put into farms-1.200 acres.

(2) Land now in farms and which is at best poorly suited for farming-11.800 acres. (3) Land that should be continued in agriculture-244,360

farmed. It was the judgment of the Community Committees and of ing the number of milk cows. the County Committee that farming was not the best use that can be made of the majority of this land. The soil consists of a shallow covering of loam with a gravelly sub-soil. Its productivity is relatively low. A goodly portion of the land is in permanent pasture. In poor crop years those who farm in this area are among the first to suffer crop

One area comprises 4.63% of the total land of the county. Yet farmers in this area represent 6.45% of the tax delinquency of the county. It also represents 5.43% of the Production Credit Loans, and 5.26% of the Federal Land Bank Loans. While these percentages are not excessively out of proportion to the remainder of the county, they do show that farmers in this area find it more difficult, as compared to farmers in other parts of the county, to meet their anancial obligations. It was the opinion that these problems may become even more acute in future years because of decreased farm incom It was the opinion that future tax delinquency and relief problems for the county may be eliminated if the necessary steps be taken in the near future to acquire land in this area for park and recreational

One of these two areas comprises 6,320 acres. Fifty-two per cent or 3,320 acres are wooded or in permanent pasture. Since this area is located within one hour's driving distance of a metropolitan center representing three-quarters of a million people, it was considered desirable that this land be included in a State owned public park and used for recreational purposes for greater Milwaukee and surrounding

There are no State or Federal recreational centers or parks in Washington County. City Parks within the county are frequently overcrowded with visitors from the metropolitan area. More recreational space is needed. The several lakes including Cedar Lake which has more than 15 miles of shore line, the scenic morainic hills, and the many wooded knolls make this area ideally adapted for year round recreational use. The Community Planning Committees felt that the County Park Board, the Wisconsin Conservation Department, the State Board, and other State and Federal Agencies and Departments concerned should give this area further study with the view of including it as a recreational center for Southeastern Wisconsin.

The other area totalling approximately 5,600 acres is made up of very hilly and rough, gravelly soils with one small natural lake in the southern part. In addition the Milwaukee River runs along its southwestern boundary for about half of its length.

The radios in the wards supply entertainment. During the winter or 37 per cent of the area is adapted for crop land. Approximately months the patients are taken to the recreation assembly hall, which 1,792 acres or 32 per cent of the area is now in permanent pasture with is connected to the main buildings by a tunnel. This improves the a good part of it wooded. The remaining land, 31 per cent or 1,736 acres, is now farmed but is of such nature that it is questionable for Most of the men brought to the County Home who were sick but agricultural use according to the opinions of the Community Commit-

Because of its proximity to the Mauthe Lake State Park, located in the adjoining county immediately to the north of this sub-area, Land Use Planning Committees feel that this area should be considered by the State Park Board as a possible addition to the Mauthe Lake State Park and that appropriate action be taken towards such a development.

Other agricultural problems of grave interest to Washington County farmers are ones concerning the soil and its management.

Soil Management.

In the formation of the soils of Washington County the Miami and the Clyde clay loams predominate. The early settlers were largely subsistence and cash crop farmers. Wheat was the cash crop most extensively grown during the middle years of the nineteenth century. At about this time it was noticed that the fertility of the soil was de creasing. This and other factors such as insect problems caused the type of agriculture to change to dairying. This system of farming helped maintain a more stable soil fertility and proved more profitable

Up to about five years ago little if any commercial fertilizer was used by Washington County farmers. The farm management practices of dairy farming were depended upon to maintain the soil fertility. The purchase of commercial feeds to supplement those grown upon the farm was expected to help maintain a fairly good equilibrium between the fertility taken from the soil in the crops harvested and sold for cash and that returned to the soil. Even the system of dairy farming failed to return as much fertility to the soil as was taken from it by growing crops and a gradual lowering of the fertility manifested itself in decreased crop yields. Threshermen were among the first to notice this. Some of these say that the soil of today produces from ten to twenty less bushels of oats and from seven to fifteen less mission to the board and upon the motion of Mr. H. C. Schloemer bushels of barley per acre than did crops thirty to forty years ago.

More than 3,500 samples of soil, taken from 540 farms, from every township of Washington County have been tested during the past eighteen months by our W. P. A. soil testing service. The average of these tests show that 37 per cent of the soils of Washington County are acid, and that 79 per cent is deficient in available phosphorus. An additional 32 per cent of the samples tested were below the minimum available potash requirement as set forth by the Department of Soils of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture for good crop produc-

To restore the fertility that the soils of the county once had and to retain maximum crop production, it is recommended that five soil management practices be followed. These practices are:

(1) to use commercial fertilizers judiciously, particularly on cash crops such as barley, peas, beets and carrots. (2) to incorporate more WHEREAS, it appears that there is a shortage in the accounts of organic matter into the soil by the growing of sweet clover, winter rye, strip cropping and contour farming in the more hilly areas and pre-NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, by the County Board of vent the erosion and washing away of fertile land. (4) to increase the Washington County, that the Wisconsin Tax Commission make an acreage of conserving crops as compared to the acreage of depleting audit of the books and records of said Albert L. Bandle, Clerk of the crops. This ratio of conserving and depleting crops to depend upon the fertility and quality of the land of the area in question. (5) the wise use of commercial fertilizer and lime in the preparation of the

Soil Erosion Problem

It was estimated by County and Community Committee members that 60,000 acres or about 25 per cent of the crop land in Washington County is subject to erosion in varying degrees. Severe erosion problems are present in 20,000 acres or one-third of the roughest land of the county. These acres should receive erosion control management. The extent of such management to depend upon the extent of the erosion problem present.

There are five factors which largely determine the amount of erosion losses which may take place on a given soil. These are:

(1) The type of vegetative covering on the land. Soil protected by thick growing cover crops is much less subject to erosion than soil planted to intertilled crops. (2) The amount of erosion from a given field varies directly with the length of the slope. Other things being equal, longer slopes suffer greater erosion damage per unit area than do shorter slopes. (3) Just as the length of the slope increases soil erosion, slope, the more washing takes place. (4) The soil type influences the amount of erosion. Silt loams erode more easily than do clay loams.

so does the steepness of the slope. The steeper the Intense rains cause more soil erosion than do more gentle rains.

The County Agricultural Agent with Mr. O. R. Zeasman, Soil Erosion Specialist, Wisconsin College of Agriculture, have made a preliminary survey of the more hilly regions of Washington County for the purpose of determining the need and the extent of soil erosion management.

This survey showed that on many of the hillsides which have been farmed over a period of years from 8 to 12 inches of the fertile top soil have been lost to those fields by erosion in its different forms. problems with which the county agricultural agent's office has worked | Expressed as pounds per acre this loss would range from one thousand to two thousand tons of soil per acre.

To get farmers to realize the extent of their soil erosion losses is going to require much effort, as it will mean a change from their present soil management method. To go about this in a practical way contour cropping systems will be established on several farms which will serve as demonstrations.

Weed Control.

Noxious weed infestation lowers the value of agricultural land. Farm lands in southeastern Wisconsin have for many years been few years, with the aid of the farm tractor and modern machinery the fight against the spread of these and other weeds has reduced their number on many farms. There is, however, another weed which This weed is the Field Bindweed, or sometimes called Creeping Jenny The use of chemical appears to be about the most satisfactory method of eradication, especially so if the infestation covers but a small area. Sodium Chlorate, the chemical used, costs about 45c per square rod This is more than many farmers feel they can afford. A number of counties are giving some financial help to farmers using chemicals for weed control purposes. In some counties one-half of the cost of the chemical is paid for by the county. In others the cost is equally divided between the farmer and the town and county governments action by the County Board should give some subsidy for field bindweed control.

Dairy Improvement.

Washington County is an intensive dairy county. It has more silos per farm than any other county in the State except one. It has in round number, 127 milk cows per one thousand acres of land. It ranks sixth in Wisconsin in the percentage of gross farm income from dairying. There are four active Dairy Herd Improvement Asso-Two areas were designated as land which is questionable for ciations within the county. It is thought, however, that there is agriculture. Most of the land at the present time in these areas is further opportunity for improving the dairy industry without increas-

> It is recommended by local dairymen that such improvement be accomplished by:

a. The use of registered sires from dams producing 300 or more pounds of butterfat per year.

b. Through dairy herd production and butterfat records carried out on an extensive scale with the assistance of trained WPA labor at a cost of about $1.00 per month per average farm.

Through the maintenance of active breed association of the predominating dairy breeds within the county. Such breed associations to encourage and foster the selection of dairy calves as 4-H projects.

d. By careful adherence to dairy sanitation and disease control programs as recommended by the Wisconsin College of Agriculture and the State Veterinarian's office.

Other Extension Activities.

Activities other than those listed in the foregoing narrative which were carried out by the county agricultural agent's office during the year include the following: 1. The distribution of 34,500 forest transplants and seed-

Resignation of Chas. W. Walter

November 14, 1940. To the Honorable Board of Trustees of Washington County. Gentlemen:

Due to the fact that my business demands more and more of my time, I herewith tender my resignation as member of Board of Trustees of the Washington County Asylum and Home effective as of December 31, 1940.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank each and every member of the board for their kind consideration and cooperation during the time I served as Trustee.

Very truly yours, CHAS. W. WALTER.

On the strength of the board's acceptance of the resignation of the trustee of the Asylum and Home, the chairman of the County Board declared a vacancy to be filled at the election to be held on Monday, November 18, 1940, namely, a trustee to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Charles Walter.

The report of the County Board Fair Committee on The Slinger Highway Grounds Addition was read to the board and upon the motion of Mr. Gonring and Mr. Kuhn, said report was adopted and filed.

It is very gratifying to report that in the face of applications, it has been possible to keep the expendi than was estimated. This was due to the fact that year veterans applying for assistance were immed WPA. Within the past six months, three veterans have employment. The cost of Soldiers' and Sailors' relief was kept due to the fine cooperation of all the welfare units of County and your Honorable Body.

The Commission believes it has on hand a sufficient in on for the next year, and therefore no appropriation is this time.

One of the major projects selected by home demonstration clubs $ 9,999.84 this year was the Home Furnishing project. Twenty-four reupholstery demonstrations were given to local clubs by the home agent. Six were given by local leaders. (The upholstery lesson required two meetings per club). The principals of reupholstery were taught by beginning on footstools. One hundred and twenty-five of these were upholstered by the women. As a result they later upholstered many old pieces of furniture which would not have been repaired if they couldn't do it. Most of the homemakers felt that this has been a most worthwhile project. In many homes it has been impossible to replace worn out furniture the last few years. The upholstery project was useful in making these homes more attractive and comfortable. This fall a series of meetings on, 'Slip Covers' and "Refinishing Furniture" have been started.

Clothing Project A meeting which was greeted with enthusiasm by the women was that on, "Achieving the Made to Order Effect." Women who had done a good deal of sewing felt that they had learned much which would make their sewing look more "tailor made." The demonstration was given in twelve communities by the home agent and in six by local leaders.

A request was made by the clubs that were new this year that the dry cleaning meeting be given them since it had been to the old clubs last year. For this reason this demonstration was repeated in and approved. six new communities.

ANNUAL REPORT OF WASHINGTON COUNTY SUPT. OF SCHOOLS, M. T. BUCKLEY To the Honorable Board of Supervisors.

Washington County, Wisconsin

In my previous reports to the county board I have described in detail the administrative and supervisory activities of my office. Occasionally it is well to take a backward view to determine progress. Since the American schools are largely reading schools, the best made in the understanding of reading in all fields.

The first test to measure comprehension in reading in Washington County was given in 1921. The results of that test presented a serious problem. The pupils of all grades were from one to four years below their grade. To illustrate, the pupils of the eighth grade had an the standings of rural pupils in the high schools. The report made to my office by Prin. Arthur Schubert of Hartford and Prin. D. E. McLane of West Bend verifies this statement. Mr. McLane reported that the average standing of the pupils of the rural schools was much of these failures were contributed by the rural schools. This record was none too flattering. Naturally the question in your minds, county board members, is, "What are the standards of the pupils today?" That is a reasonable question and I should like to answer it.

For twenty years a continuous and scientific evaluation of pupil ability has been in vogue. The most recent test was given on May 18, The meeting was called to order. Mr. Woldt was present for 1940 to the seventh grade of the rural and state graded school pupils. It was the Metropolitan Achievement Test, one of the best tests now on the market. It included tests in reading, word study, arithmetic ents made. Sixty-nine took part this year—an ceeded to cast an informal ballot to elect an officer for the unexpired fundamentals and problems, language usage, punctuation, capitals and term of Charles Walter as trustee of the Asylum and Home. The grammar, history, civics and literature, geography and spelling. The

The average score in history was 8.1, language 8.6, arithmetic 8.5, geography 8.5, literature 7.6, spelling 7.6, and reading 7.9. Compare the reading attainments of 1921 with those of 1940. The result is most satisfying. In 1921 the seventh grade had a grade median of 4.2. In 1940 the seventh grade had a grade placement of 7.9, an improvement in anded and were inspired to go home and Knippel 7; Erler 3; Seefeldt 2. Mr. Edward Gettelman was duly reading ability of 3.7 years. To translate these findings into understandable terms, the abilities of the seventh grade of 1921 in reading best efforts. The result of the informal ballot for trustee of the Asylum and was about fourth grade level, while the abilities of the seventh grade reading ability on the work of rural pupils? In the first place our own in most of the content subjects. His ability to do high school work has definitely improved. In 1940, Prin. R. E. Brasure of the Hartford posal. The motion was made by Mr. Gonring and Mr. O'Reilly to refer result of the first six weeks tests. Principal W. A. Schuman reported no rural failures in the Slinger High School. In 1939 there were no failures in the freshman class of the high schools of Hartford, Slinger The motion was made by Mr. Romaine and seconded by Mr. Koller and Kewaskum. There are ninety-six outside pupils of the freshman to elect a member of the pension board. yet definitely kind to me personally. Your support of education always was an inspiration. Thirdly, the educational influences of the church, home, community, 4-H Clubs, movies and radio have played an important part in this advancement. Then, too, your board recently took two distinctive forward steps which should be emphasized because of their contributions to the efficiency of teaching spoken of above, the appreciation of library facilities. Library resources are especially fundamental to efficiency in instruction. You have shown sympathy in providing those resources. However, library resources may be provided and unless the teachers have a clear vision of the important role a library can play in the lives of boys and girls and unless she has the patience and persistence to make her vision a reality, the library is useless. That fact brings up this question, "Are our teachers using the library in a way that will make that vision a reality?" That question is of vital concern to you. Let a summary of the use of the county library by towns answer the question. The following withdrawals of books were made during the school year ending June 30, 1940.

Addison 197 Jackson Jackson Village Barton 637 219 Barton Village 606 Kewaskum 340 Erin 491 Polk 1578 Richfield (incl. 2 st. gr. sch.) 1110 Farmington (2 st. gr. schools) 1047 Germantown 1108 Trenton 919 Germantown Village 520 Wayne 1207 Hartford 381 West Bend 713 It will interest you to know that my report on the use of the county library to the county board of last year was published in its entirety in the Wisconsin Supervisors' Yearbook for 1940.

The other contribution made by your board had to do with adult citizenship training. This trend in education will be stressed more and more in the coming years if we are to maintain the democratic vision of the fathers of our government. They had to fight to establish their government. We have to work to retain ours. If we are to have faith in democracy we must have faith in the education that will make democracy understandable and appreciated by all our people.

For our citizens there is nothing more important that the planning of facilities of education for youth and adults so that all citizens shall have access to a clear understanding of the vital social, political and economic alternatives from which they may choose our democratic society. For us teachers it is easier to keep students busy studying the mechanics of government than to employ their time with vital study of the current problems of social welfare. While this policy might be safer for us, the side-stepping of this responsibility is decidedly dangerous to the well-being of America. It is imperative at all times to exsubmit to your honorable body the report of Washington county jail amine our educational processes to determine if they continue to contain democracy as the point of reference.

As I said in my report last year, elementary schools must use time 196 prisoners. 81 paid fines and costs, 39 served full term of democratic processes if we hope to train the youth of our land for sentences from 5 days to 6 months, 4 were taken to the Northern a democracy. In many rural schools teacher-pupil planning is evident. Hospital, Winnebago, 6 were taken to the State Prison at Waupun, There is definite improvement on the part of many teachers along this 2 to the Green Bay Reformatory, one to the Soldiers' Home, Milwau- line. Much is yet to be accomplished before the old formal type of

A forward step was taken by this board at your last session when by order of the court or cases settled, 4 still in jail, cases not disposed you made possible a beginning in the training of adults in citizenship. The objectives of that program and the procedure by which it was carried out is known to all of you through the press of the county or by your active participation in the work. It behooves me in this report to answer two questions to your satisfaction. The first, was it successful and the second, did it do any good?

Yes, it was very successful in many ways. There were four hundred and fifty-four youths reported from various sources to the executive secretary. Of these four hundred and fifty-four, about thirty-five were at the various colleges, ten who were married were unable to attend, the twenty-five were engaged in activities which prevented their attending instructional work. Omitting those from the list, there were three hundred and eighty-four available candidates for instruction. Of this number, two hundred and twenty-nine took sufficient instruction to be approved by the executive committee to receive a citizenship certificate. This gives a county rating of sixty per cent. For the first year of the citizenship training that achievement is a success.

The county convention was attended by one hundred and sixty-one 21'ers, attaining an attendance record of 42 per cent. Four hundred adults contributed to the zest of the convention by being present. The convention was successful. Citizenship Day brought thousands to the final program to view the pageant and the elementary grade auditorium was filled to its capacity to listen to the induction program. It had an appeal to the people's interest that marked it a success. If the weather had been more favorable the city might have been submerged with guests.

Statistics are lifeless things. They don't get anywhere when they are cited in the field of appreciative outcomes. The significant question you are concerned with is, "Did it do any good?"

Well, who knows, definitely? History is a patternless tangle. The peoples of the past felt at times that a better and fairer world was within their grasps only to be deceived. What hopes the youth of the nineteenth century indulged themselves with! Our fathers willed us a world in which wars, poverty and gross injustices were about at an new lands, unfolding democracies and marvelous inventions! With what shining faces and hopeful souls youth looked forward to God's Mr. M. T. Buckley gave his report to the board and upon the motion dominion among men only to be deceived. Economic greed, political blundering, blasphemous philosophies, educational confusion and sordid human and national ambitions have made a shamble of our world and postponed for another thousand years the brotherhood of man. Who can evaluate any program of citizenship as good in the light of the past? Yet, we must build.

America still offers hope. We have our freedoms and any program designed to maintain them is good. The climax of the six month's experience was that sacred moment when Justice Fritz of the State supreme court asked the two hundred and twenty-nine young voters to raise their right hand and repeat after him the official oath of citizenship. When the final words of that oath, "So help me God" were repeated by the young citizens, it was evident that a deep devotion to standard to measure improvement over a period of time is the growth | the democracy in which they lived filled their hearts. The sacredness of the moment was contagious. The whole audience was one with those who were vowing allegiance to a great country. When the chairman adjourned the meeting the audience left under the spell fo a distinctive emotional experience. Most surely, the citizenship training program is good. There is no question but that two hundred and twenty-nine average standing of fifth graders and pupils of the sixth grade had an young people have a better understanding of government than they average of fourth graders. The pupils in those days were definitely had previously. Greater interest in government comes from enrichment low in reading ability. This lack of ability to read was reflected in of meaning and the development of a competent sense of values. Then, too, the togetherness of the workers is democracy in action. The discussion method of presenting facts built habits of getting enough information before formulating judgments. "The town of X spends too much money" was a statement made by a 21'er at a public meeting. lower than the pupils of the city grade schools. Mr. Schubert reported The town chairman was present. The young man with the positive that of thirty-six unit failures in the Hartford High School, twenty-six conviction was asked by the chairman, "What does the town spend?" "Thirty-eight thousand dollars," came his ready reply. The discussion continued for the remainder of the evening to the enlightenment of twelve young citizens. They learned that the town in many cases acts as the collection agency for the school district, county and other governmental divisions. Much of the money collected by it is not for its use. The young positive inquisitor concluded the discussion which he had brougt on with this statement, "I think I talked out of turn." That's it. Americans do much talking without objective evidence. One of the assets of citizenship training is added experience in straight thinking. By and large, the young people got together, thought together, achieved together. That's democracy, and democracy is the goodness that comes by each doing his part well for the good of the whole. The young learned to do their parts better. The evidence of growth given in this report is encouraging to all who are engaged in rural school work. Much has been done by teachers, supervisors and administrators of the educational activities of the rural schools. Much remains to be done and I assure you that all concerned with this work will continue to give Washington County schools their

Transferred from Graves Fund

Your Service Officer charged with the duties of care of graves of veterans, begs to report as follows: $231.41 Balance on hand November 1, 1939. 150.00 Appropriation January 1, 1940. $381.41 $ 88.00 Care of Soldiers' Graves 71.99 Labor and Materials Flags for Memorial Day. 53.00 G. A. R. Grave Markers 260.89 $120.52

At the present time there have been 44 headstones permanently placed at the graves of veterans in Washington County. No cash was expended for this purpose. Unemployed veterans were secured to do this work and the amounts earned by them were furnished to them in kind. You will note that a considerable sum was expended for grave markers which expenditures will not be repeated for several years.

A considerable amount of this work is still necessary, and it is estimated that a sum of $100.00 will be sufficient, in addition to the above balance, to cover the expenditures for the coming year, 1941. Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE A. KOLB. The report on the Special State Charges to be included in the Washington County Budget was read and upon the motion of Mr. Gon- Schloemer and the second of Mr. Mayer, said communication concernring and Mr. Mayer said report was adopted and filed.

Exhibit A Washington County Unemployment Compensation Plan

An Unemployment Benefit Reserve, (hereafter called the "Fund") shall be created and financed by Washington County, (hereafter called the "Employer") for the employees of the Washington County Highway Department, (hereafter called the "employees").

The employer's contribution to such fund shall be 1% of the total payroll of such employees until the fund shall be $3,000.00, and thereafter such contribution shall be in an amount to maintain the balance in the fund at $3,000.00, but the contribution shall in no event exceed

Employees shall be eligible to benefits paid from said fund after they have worked ten weeks on an hourly basis or if they have worked three months on a monthly basis when the salary for one year does not exceed $1,500.00. No total or partial benefits shall be payable if the wage earner has received more than $1,500.00 during the twelve calendar months preceding the close of the most recent week of unemployment. The employee shall become eligible to receive benefit payments for partial or total or a combination of partial and total unemployment only after a waiting period of two weeks of such unemployment next following employment for which wages are payable. No employee shall be required to wait more than three weeks for the payment of benefits at the close of any calendar year. Thereafter an employee shall be eligible to receive total unemployment benefits computed by dividing his total wages during the year by the number of weeks worked. The weekly benefit is based on the average weekly wage of such employee for the previous year as follows:

Average Weekly Wage	Benefit
$30.00 or more	$15.00	$18.01 t	to $21.99	10
28.00 to 29.99	14.00	16.01 t	to 18.00	9

The employee shall b	o note not be paid not over ten weeks of benefits in any one year for total unemployment or more than the equivalent total amount for partial; or total and partial combined. An employee shall be totally unemployed if he earns nothing whatever during any week when the employee is physically able and available for work. He shall be partially employed when in any one week he earns less than his benefit rate as above figured, due to lack of work. An employee shall be ineligible for benefits from the employer for any week for which he is with due notice called on by such employer to report for work actually available within such week and is unavailable for work or physically unable to do his work.

Partial benefits shall be computed and paid on the basis of the full difference between his earned wage for that week and his benefit as figured, except that the minimum payments shall be $1.00. Each employee shall be notified of his benefit rate figure at the beginning of each year.

An employee shall be barred from Unemployment Compensation: 1. When he has lost employment for misconduct.

2. When he has voluntarily left his employment without good cause attributable to the Employer.

3. When he is ordinarily self employed and has not been employed over five months and can return to self employment. 4. If he works only during the ordinary and customary school vacation. 5. If he refuses suitable employment subject to ordinary wage and labor standards.

Benefits shall be suspended:

1. During a trade dispute. 2. By an act of God, fire, or other catastrophe, or act of civil, or military authorities 3. By failure to register for or try to get other work suitable. 4. If he fails to report for work to his employer upon ordinary and reasonable request to so report. Benefits shall be terminated:

1. When the employee without good cause refused to accept suitable work offered, except if such work would not protect labor standards, such as tend to depress wages and working condi-

The Employer does not guarantee full payment of all Unemploy-The motion was made by Mr. Romaine and seconded by Mr. Snyder ment Benefits if the Unemployment Benefits fund becomes inadequate. The Benefits payable shall then become reduced as follows:

1. When the reserve fund shall equal $50.00 per employee all benefits herein provided shall be paid in full. 2. When the reserve drops below $50.00 per employee the benefit payment shall be reduced by $1.00 for each $5.00 reduction in each employee's reserve and no one shall be entitled to over $9.00 weekly total benefits. 3. No one shall be eligible to unemployment benefits if he is physically unable to assume the duties of an employee. 4. All benefits, waiting periods, etc., shall be applicable only under experience gained through employment with Washington County.

5. No Liability shall be honored after an employee has left the employ of Washington County and accepted other employment. The above and foregoing plan shall be administered by the Washington County Highway Commissioner and the Washington County Highway Committee.

Resolutions No. 66, 67, 68, 69, 70 and 71 were given first reading and laid over for second reading. The motion was made by Mr. Woldt and seconded by Mr. Romaine to adjourn to ten o'clock Tuesday morning, January 28, 1941. Motion

MINUTES OF JANUARY 28, 1941

The meeting was called to order. All members were present. The minutes of January 27, were read and approved Resolution No. 72 concerning the diversion of State Highway Funds was given first reading. Report No. 38 concerning the placing of Town Roads on the County System was read and upon the motion of Mr. O'Reilly and Mr. Mayer, said report was adopted and filed.

Report No. 38 REPORT OF HIGHWAY COMMITTEE on Placing of Town Roads on the County System

To the Honorable County Board of Supervisors,

Washington County, Wisconsin. Gentlemen

At the November session of the Board, in 1940, the following peti tions regarding additions to the County Highway System were read and referred to the Highway Committee.

They hereby recommend that action be deferred on these petitions for placing 4 miles of town roads in the Town of Richfield and 51/2 miles of town roads in the Town of Germantown and 6 miles of town roads in the Towns of Barton, Farmington and Trenton on the county trunk system until such time that the program on the present county trunk system is completed, and the County Board feels that money may be conveniently made available to properly improve and maintain this additional mileage and that this report be made supplementary to Report No. 4, dated May 4, 1939, providing for deferred action on similar petitions from the Towns of West Bend, Polk, Hartford and Jackson. Dated this 27th day of January, 1941.

GEO. SELL JOHN VAN BEEK DAN W. SCHLOEMER.

Mr. Snoeyenbos presented his report to the County Board and upon the motion of Mr. Henry Schloemer and Mr. Raebel, said report was adopted and filed.

FOOD STAMP PLAN

West Bend, Wisconsin, January 25, 1941. To the Honorable Chairman and Members Washington County Board of Supervisors.

We present herewith a brief report on Food Stamp sales and participation in Washington County from the inception of the Stamp Plan here November 1, 1940, to the present date. A further report will be submitted to you at your May session.

Our experience with the Food Stamp Plan has been far too short to enable us to properly evaluate its benefits. We do know, however, that our experience to date compares favorably with that of other counties during their opening months. Even though participation in the plan is not as complete as we should like to have it, we are encouraged by representatives of the Surplus Marketing Administration who are well satisfied with the results so far.

Consulting our own records we find that commodity distribution values under the stamp plan are already equal to those under our former direct distribution method in point of dollars and cents. During 1939 the average monthly value of commodities distributed in the county was $1,012.58 and during the first nine months of 1940 the average monthly value was $1,100.22. During December, 1940, the value of Blue Stamps distributed totaled to $1,100.50 and so far in January they have totaled to $1,187.00.

It will, of course, be necessary to carry on an extended program f education among the needy families of the county to bring particiation in the plan to a truly satisfactory level. In this we solicit your elp. We will appreciate it greatly if you will point out the benefits of he stamp plan to the needy persons with whom you come in contact nd encourage them to participate.

We present below a detailed study of stamp plan certifications and participation and stamp sales under the first two months of the plan. The details are not yet available for the month of January but the total amount of Orange stamp sales and the value of the Blue stamps distributed are listed.
