Immense Crowd Estimated at 10,000 People Jams Village For Firemen's Picnic Sunday

Weather Helps to Make Success Beyond Expectations

Streets as Record Cars Parked at One

Formation was as follows: Dr. Nolting, officer of the day, flag, Boy Scouts, Indian drum majorette and band, Brownies, Girl Scouts, Legionnaires, Indian truck with Little Jim Wolfe and Indian group, Allen Mertes drawing hand fire engine, horse drawn fire engine, Model T engine, Rec engine, International engine, Bar-N-Ranch horses, Kewaskum band with drum majorette and two little Indian mascots, Kewaskum Beauty Shoppe float led by graceful young drum majorette, floats of Yocst Market, Millers Inc., Lay Lumber, Joe Eberle, Harter's Market, Kewaskum Creamery, A. G. Koch, H. W. Ramthun, Green Dragon tavern, K. A. Honick, Wm. Bruhn, Elsie's Food Shoppe and Norman Jaeger, trucks and tractors, farm machinery, ponies, costumes both single and groups, decorated bicycles, tricycles, coaster wagons and doll buggies. The float drawing the most laughs was Joe Eberle's Model T bucking bronco, the front end of which reared up off the road. This car also participated in the parade at the mid-summer festival in Milwaukee.

A gigantic picnic was held during the afternoon and evening with amusement and entertainment for all. The feature was the appearance of 50 Indians from the Menominee reservation at Keshena. The Indian band played during the afternoon and evening and a number of other Indians entertained with native dances and pow-wows. In the evening an Indian wedding was also performed in which a buck was wed to a squaw by Jim Little Wolfe. The bride was Frances Pywasit and the groom Johnson Awanohopy, both members of the tribe. After the ceremony the couple was given a sermon in the Indian language. Then they were presented with gifts of beads, etc., by the tribe and a collection was taken among the spectators. This was a genuine wedding. The wedding was followed by more pow-wowing, dancing and music by the Indian band. The 36-piece Kewaskum band in their snappy uniforms also played in the afternoon.

Later the awarding of $100.00 in cash prizes was made for which thousands of tickets were sold in advance. The winners of the 15 prizes follow:

1. $25—Bill Roehrdanz, Kewaskum
2. $20—Albert Wagner, Waldo
3. $15—Barton Corp., West Bend
4. $10—Wm. Schaut, Kewaskum
5. $7—Adam Stub, Milwaukee
6. $5—A. G. Hron, Kewaskum
7. $5—Ellisworth Schaefer, West Bend
8. $3—Rich. Tiesendorf, Kewaskum
9. $2—J. Habermacher, Germantown
10. $2—A. J. Fellenz, Kewaskum
11. $1—Wm. Rodenkirch, Fond du Lac
12. $1—Clarence Kohn, West Bend
13. $1—Wm. Martin, Kewaskum
14. $1—Wm. Schaut, Kewaskum
15. $1—A. P. Schaefer, Kewaskum

A surprisingly large crowd also attended the picnic in the evening and the park was well filled. Hundreds of people surrounded the new stationary band stand (completely covered by a roof) to watch the Indian acts. The crowd remained until a late hour. Some then went home and many others attended the dance in the opera house. Music was furnished by the Wisconsin Aces. About 400 people attended the dance. Besides the numerous tickets sold in advance, 250 additional tickets were sold at the door. Admission to the park was free. Many local businessmen had their places decorated for the occasion. And so the third annual firemen's picnic will go down in history as one of the biggest events ever held here.

Extend Thanks

From firemen wish to extend their thanks to all who assisted in any way in making their picnic and help-ful success it was. Special thanks to the business support, all who paraded and those who helped in the park. Kewaskum Firemen

Kewaskum-Adell Play For League Lead Here Sunday

One of the most important and toughest games of the season for Kewaskum's ball team will be played on the home diamond Sunday, July 20th, when Adell, tied in first place with Kewaskum and Campbellport, comes to town. Adell forms as the team to beat in the second half. If the locals can win they stand a good chance of copying the second half title or at least tying for it. Adell's the heaviest hitting club in the league and Kewaskum will have to do their best to win. The team is led by Schilling and Guth, stars of the University of Wisconsin team. Helming, who recently returned after being with the Fond du Lac team in the State league, and Kilib, one of the league's leading batters. Adell scored 39 runs in its last two games, which indicates their power. Kewaskum netted 27 runs in the last two starts. Adell nosed out the boys in the first game early in the season by being handed a gift victory and revenge would be sweet. This is the second straight home game so come out and see a real battle and help the boys win. Let's have a good crowd back of the team, which is playing bangup ball. Kewaskum will be after its fifth straight.

Arthur Koch, Mich. Man Badly Hurt in Crashes

Arthur W. Koch, 55, storekeeper of this village, who with his brother, Ervin Koch, operates the A. G. Koch, Inc. firm, sustained severe chest injuries, scalp lacerations, one of which severed an artery, and minor cuts and bruises Tuesday afternoon when he lost control of his Nash sedan on Highway 23 about eight miles west of Fond du Lac in the town of Lamartine. Mr. Koch was on his way home from Ripon.

The car skidded 232 feet on the slippery pavement, went off the road and down an 8-foot embankment and then struck a large tree. The left side of the vehicle near the driver's seat struck the tree and the body of the car was almost demolished. A large arc was left in the car body where it rested against the tree. The car was towed to a local garage and shows Mr. Koch was very lucky he was not more severely hurt.

Kenneth Johnson of R. 2, Campbellport, a passenger in the Koch car, sustained only minor cuts and bruises and a shaking, although he was thrown from the vehicle. Mr. Koch was taken to St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, where his condition was described as good on Friday morning. However, he was weak from much loss of blood after the wreck before a physician arrived at the scene. Mr. Koch expects to return home here this week end.

The accident occurred shortly after a heavy shower and was on a sharp curve in the highway. Johnson said that Koch was driving at about 45 miles an hour when he lost control.

In another crash during the rain at 12:05 p. m. Tuesday on Highway 55 about a block south of the village limits in front of the Hy. Schmidt and Walter Mellahn homes, N. S. Gronkowski of 2739 Holbrook st., Hamtramck, Mich. escaped with minor injuries and a passenger. On Gryzka, same address, was badly injured when the driver lost control of the machine, which skidded along the road shoulder and ditch for about 100 feet, struck a telephone pole and then a driveway culvert, causing it to tip over.

Gronkowski was approaching the village from the south and was coming down the Kewaskum hill when he met a truck. He swung his car, a 1939 Mercury Tudor sedan, to the right onto the shoulder and in attempting to get back on the pavement lost control of the machine which followed the ditch on the right side of the highway, struck a glancing blow on the pole and bounced along narrowly missing two trees before striking the culvert. When the front of the car struck the culvert the rear end lifted and was thrown across the driveway, coming to rest on its side on the other side of the culvert.

Gronkowski sustained a cut finger on his right hand from glass and body bruises. Gryzka suffered a fracture collar bone, two fractured ribs, possible internal injuries caused by the broken ribs, and cuts and bruises. Both were treated by a local physician. Gronkowski was released while Gryzka was taken to St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, where he is now confined. His condition is reported to be satisfactory at present.

The body of the car was damaged almost beyond repair. The top was pushed in so that it almost rested on the back rest of the front seat on the right side. Were it not for being thrown into the back seat he might have been killed. The right side of the auto was smashed in and the windows and windshield shattered. Damage was estimated at $350.00.

County Republican Meeting at Thoma's Resort July 22

Republicans of Washington county will be gathered together at a Republican conference and meeting at Thoma's resort, Little Cedar lake, at 7:30 on the evening of July 22. The principal purpose of the meeting is to elect officers and to select delegates for the state Republican convention, called at the Ringling farm at Baraboc on Monday, July 28. The Washington county Republicans are called to meet on July 22 by Theo. Holtebeck, county chairman.

Under the state Republican constitution, state and county conventions are called in the off-years for the election of officers, this being in addition to the regular state and county conventions called in election years for the consideration of platform and candidates. It is expected that 3,000 Republicans will gather at Baraboc on July 28 and that Washington county will have a very large delegation of both men and women.

All Republicans, both men and women, are invited to the county meeting at Thoma's resort on Tuesday evening, July 22, at 7:30.

Arrive for Month's Visit

Mrs. Charles M. Gilbert and daughter Beth of Coquille, Oregon, arrived last Friday for a month's visit with the former's mother, Mrs. Otto E. Lay, the Lyle Gibson family and other relatives.

Used Aluminum Drive in County Next Week

All citizens of Washington county are urged to contribute old aluminum items, such as pots and pans, and other articles, made of aluminum, which are either worn out or are no longer useful or needed. In Hartford and West Bend, a house-to-house canvass for the collection of aluminum will be made by civic organizations to be announced later. Collection points have also been established for the villages and townships in the county. To these points, aluminum is to be delivered by the citizens.

Collection Points

Chairmen for the towns, villages and cities and the points at which aluminum is to be left follow:

This important defense project is the first to be undertaken by the Washington County Council of Defense, which met on Friday, July 11, and unanimously elected B. C. Ziegler as chairman of their permanent organization. Other officers elected at this time are George A. Kissel, vice-chairman, Hartford; Walter J. Gumm, treasurer, West Bend; and M. G. Bather, secretary, West Bend. The drive for discarded aluminum and its collection for national defense purposes will be in charge of E. E. Skalksky, well known county agent, who was appointed by the Washington County Council of Defense.

Purpose of Campaign

The purpose of this campaign, as given in the "Joint Statement to the American People" by William S. Knudson, director general of the Office of Production Management and Mayor F. H. La Guardia, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, is as follows: "The nation is appealing to all its citizens for their active assistance for the first time since President Roosevelt's declaration of a full national emergency, May 27, 1941. "The nation needs aluminum for planes and other vital items in its defense program more rapidly than existing facilities can produce it. In the meantime, the people of the nation can help by donating all used aluminumware that can be spared from their households without being replaced. No individual or group or corporation will make any profit out of this transaction. The entire proceeds of the sale will be used for civilian defense. "All aluminum will be used exclusively for national defense."

Only Discarded Aluminum

Mayor La Guardia of New York, U. S. Director of Civilian Defense, has emphasized that all contributions should be either discarded aluminum items or those which are no longer useful. Every housewife, every retail dealer, every industrial plant, and each public or private institution in Washington county will be expected to contribute their worn-out and no longer useful aluminum items.

Over the Top

Washington county has a statewide reputation for "going over the top" whenever it has been called upon for any organized campaign. Every citizen is asked to do his share in making our campaign in every way comparable to

ADELL AT KEWASKUM
Campbellport at Cascade
Waldo at Glenbeulah
Sheboygan Falls at Kohler

Four runs in the second inning were enough to sew up the game for Kewaskum at Waldo Sunday as the locals easily won 9 to 1 behind the 4-hit pitching of Honeck. The victory was Kewaskum's fourth in a row, counting the last 2 games in the first half, and the second straight this half, keeping the team tied in first place with Adell and Campbellport. The former nine plays here Sunday to settle the tie.

All of the 4 hits allowed by Honeck were singles and he would have had his second shutout in a row without R. Marx's error on last page in the run.

Operations

Roger Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stahl of this village, underwent a major operation at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac Saturday morning, July 12. He is recovering very favorably but will be confined to the hospital some time yet and then will be confined to his home several weeks. Dr. R. G. Edwards of this village submitted to a minor operation on his nose at St. Agnes hospital Tuesday morning, July 15 and is now attending to his profession again.

Marriage License

County Clerk Louis Kuhaupt has issued a marriage license to Jos. Herri-ges of R. 2, Kewaskum and Ethel Kir-mise of R. 2, West Bend.

or exceeding the test drive held recently in Madison, Wis.

Washington county's aluminum collection drive will take place during the week of July 21 through the 26th, with the final windup on the 26th.

It is suggested that you search your attic, basement, machine shed, and barn for aluminum pans or equipment, which are no longer used. Every pound of this valuable metal is needed.

Mrs. Christ. Schoofs Among Those Called

Mrs. Christ Schoofs, 66, nee Anna Berres, beloved resident of the town of Kewaskum, was called in death at 9:30 a. m. Friday, July 11, at her home two miles west of the village, following an illness of two years. She would have reached her 67th birthday Sept. 2.

Mrs. Schoofs was born Sept. 2, 1874 in the town of Farmington. Her marriage to Christ Schoofs took place Nov. 28, 1912 at St. Michaels and the couple made their home on the present homestead in the town of Kewaskum.

Deceased is survived by her husband, one son, Theodore, at home; one brother, Simon Berres, of the town of Farmington, and three sisters, Gertrude Berres and Mrs. Mary Simon of the town of Farmington, and Mrs. Margaret Schneider of Minnesota.

Funeral services were held at 9:30 a. m. on Monday, July 14, at Holy Trinity church. The Rev. Ph. J. Vogt officiated and the Rev. Aloisius Fellenz, Kewaskum, and Rev. Amreich, West Bend, were also present in the sanctuary. Interment was made in the parish cemetery.

Mrs. Schoofs was a member of the Married Ladies' sodality of Holy Trinity church and the W.C.O.F. of West Bend, the members of both organizations attending the funeral in a body.

Six neighbors acted as pallbearers, namely Henry and John Muckerheide, Nicholas Stoffel, Louis Oppenorth, Ben Volm and Arnold Amerling. Mrs. Schoofs' death caused genuine sorrow in the community in which she was loved and respected by all. She was a good woman in every way and well filled her place in her home. She was a true Christian and a helpful and loving wife and mother who will continue to live in the hearts of those near and dear to her, to whom we extend heartfelt condolences.

Card of Thanks

We, the undersigned, wish to thank all who assisted us in any way during the trying time we just experienced, the loss of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Christ Schoofs. Special thanks to Revs. Vogt, Fellenz and Amreich, the organist, choir, pallbearers, drivers, Lady Foresters, St. Mary's sodality, traffic officer, Millers, who were in charge of the funeral and all who showed their respect by attending the funeral.

Christ Schoofs and Son

Mrs. Arthur Steffan

Mrs. Arthur Steffan, nee Lydia Brandt, native of the town of Wayne, mother of Orville Steffan of the town of Kewaskum and sister of Chas. Brandt of this village, passed away at her home in the town of Herman, Dodge county, at 3 a. m. Saturday, July 12, of heart trouble after ailing for some time. She would have reached her 56th birthday in August. Deceased was a niece of Marshall George F. Brandt of this village and had many other near relatives in the village and town of Kewaskum. She was widely known in the vicinity.

Mrs. Steffan was born in the town of Wayne on Aug. 8, 1885. Her marriage to Mr. Steffan took place on Oct. 24, 1910 and the couple settled in the town of Herman after their marriage.

She was the mother of eight children, seven of whom survive, along with the husband. The children are Lester, who is stationed at Boulder City, Nev. with the U. S. Army; Mrs. Helen Dohrbuhl, Mayville; Mrs. Helen Dohrbuhl; Orville Walter, town of Kewaskum; Mrs. Ruth Schaefer, town of Wayne; Mrs. Gladys Krell, Manitowoc, and Gertrude at home. She also leaves 10 grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. James Hart, Fond du Lac, and Mrs. Louis Backhaus, town of Kewaskum, and 10 brothers, Chas. Brandt, Kewaskum; Herbert, town of Kewaskum; Irwin, Saukville; Oscar, Plymouth; Ben, Portage; Edgar, Kalamazoo, Mich.; Byron and John, Highland Park, Ill.; Otto, Fond du Lac, and Noah, town of Addison.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Tuesday, July 15, at the Emanuel Lutheran church in the town of Herman, the Rev. Herman Cares officiating. Interment was made in the parish cemetery.

Ice Cream Social at Church

There will be an ice cream social at the New Fane church grounds on the evening of July 25th, given by the Ladies Aid of St. John's Lutheran church. Delicious cakes and pies for sale. Everybody welcome!

Blackhawk Island, in the Dells of the Wisconsin river, is to become an outdoor laboratory and a camp for youth.

he came to his present home. Deceased was married to Miss Antony Mantkus Nov. 10, 1916, at Crown Point, Ind., who survives. He also leaves a brother, Anthony Shimanski, of Detroit, Mich., and two grandchildren, Vernon and Sylvia Molkenthine, of the town of Auburn. His only step-daughter, Opal (Mrs. Molkenthine) preceded him in November, 1940.

Funeral services were held at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, July 15, from the Techtman Funeral Home in Kewaskum and at 9:00 a. m. at the Immaculate Conception church in Sheboygan. Rev. Father Adam Sikas officiated and burial was made in the church cemetery.

Charles Shimanski

Charles Shimanski, 56, step-father of the late Mrs. Walter Molkenthine of the town of Auburn, died at 10 a. m. on Saturday, July 12, at his home on Highway 67, about 3 1/2 miles north of Dundee after having been ill since last December. He had suffered from complications following an operation last February and since that time his health failed slowly.

Mr. Shimanski was born on June 3, 1885, at Veliunas, Lithuania, and immigrated to this country in October, 1908. He worked at different places around Hammond, Ind., until 1927 when

IT HELPS SOME
("The Aga Khan has been compelled to cut his racing stable down to one horse."—News item)

If you've been hard hit by the war—
If you have felt its frightful touch—
If you are getting more and more
To feel your lot is not so much;
If you're enveloped in the blues—
If daily by some blow you're hit,
Here is some rather soothing news—
The Aga Khan is feeling it!

II
If you are prone to knit your brows
And worry over what's ahead—
If you've a tendency to grouse
About the way that you've been bled;
If you're complaining of the mess—
If every broadcast makes you blue,
This thought will help a bit, I guess—
The Aga Khan is scrimping, too!

III
If Europe's war has burdened you
And made you go a little slow
In making any outlays new
Or being careless with your dough;
If you have felt war's bitter sting
And think that you've been put upon,
This item may be comforting—
All's not so well with Aga Khan.

IV
If your life isn't what it was—
If you must count your shekels
now—
If day by day the conflict does
Its best to sink you by the bow;
If you are cutting down on gas
To make each dime the limit go,
This ought to help you let it pass—
The Aga Khan is low on dough.

V
If you can't live the way you did
And must add water to the soup;
If it's been months since you were rid
Of all the cares that 'round you
swoop;
If you must now economize—
If you've cut out the fresh meat course,
This fact may help your spirits
rise—
The Aga Khan's on his last horse!

FAIR QUESTION
Sometimes I think my fate is far,
Far worse than I deserve;

From the sound of the names of those cities and towns taken in Africa this looks more and more like a war to make the world unsafe for proofreaders.

THERE'S A LIMIT
The thoroughbreds race neck and neck,
And storm-tossed ships are cast aground;
The cars collide in tangled wreck
And bombs explode with fearful sound;
The bathing beauties strut their charms
And boxers battle, toe to toe;
The firemen race to three alarms
And workers shovel record snow,
I yawn, I fidget and I sigh—
To me, it's all an utter bore;
I say to blazes with it, and why? . . .
I've seen THIS newswart twice before!

NEW YORK—A few years ago, Anita Loos' maid used to deliver to her every day a dash of gopher dust from Harlem. We haven't heard whether er this still goes on, but the charm seems to be still working. All gets well as "Blossoms in the Dust" gets warm, almost fulsome from the critics. Miss Loos did the screen play for Ralph Wheelwright's story. It taps deep founts of tears and ranges far from Miss Loos' "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," and its Lorelei Lee, the alluring and unabashed gold digger of 1925. It's one of those "where are they now?" stories, with Miss Loos sitting pretty, literally and figuratively, as a deft, swift, workmanlike story adapter, scenarist and remodeler in Hollywood—one of the best.

The pint-size girl with bangs—weight 87 pounds, height four feet, eleven inches—was riding on the train from California to New York in 1925, considerably bored. She started writing up this gold digger Lorelei, with a soft-stub pencil, in big, round letters. The manuscript strung along clear through Kansas and Indiana and on to New York, and was almost as big as Miss Loos, what with those big rope-trick letters, when she landed here.

It brought her something over $600,000. It was translated into virtually every language except Eskimo and pigeon-talk, and in England its sales passed those of any other American book. She later wrote "But Gentlemen Marry Brunettes."

Her talent for humor may have been inherited from her father, a country newspaper publisher and humorist of the Bill Nye school, of Sissons, Calif., where Miss Loos was born. She was a shy, quaint little thing, hanging around the newspaper shop, helping polish up a gag or feed the flatbed. When she was 14, she sent a story to the New York Morning Telegraph. They printed it. A year later David Griffith sent for a girl who had sent a scenario which had set his assistants to whooping joyously.

"What can I do for you, my child?" he asked when the tiny girl with bangs and pigtails came in. The Loos girl showed him her summons to Hollywood. There she was and is. In the years between she had become a pretty good actress, appearing in San Francisco and other California cities.

Management, Over Finance, Rapidly Forging Into Lead
JUST a year ago, Roger L. Putnam, go-getting mayor of Springfield, Mass., was much in the news with the Putnam plan to break bottlenecks in industry. He caught the nation's attention by his success in achieving co-operation among the city, industry and labor, the most important detail of his formula being the training of labor by the city, to fit specific needs. He's in the news as Springfield's defense director with some snappy suggestions about the swift and effective integration of civilians and officials, and private and public facilities. His successful battles with two floods and a hurricane give weight to his words.

He's Harvard, 1915, did a P.G. stretch at M.I.T., worked at engineering and was in the navy in the World war. In the navy he learned to crochet cord belts, an art which he still practices, and Putnam-made belts are in great demand among his friends. He is the father, 48 years old, stocky in build, but quick-moving both in person and speech. He is president of the Package Machinery Co.

More and more management, as above, is coming to the top, as against finance. Note James Burnham's new book, "The Managerial Revolution,"—malign over there, still benign over here.

A WIZARD in electrometallurgy is Dr. Francis C. Frary, who explains the exact uses to which aluminum pots and pans may be put in expediting defense. Since 1918 he has been director of the research laboratories of the Aluminum Company of America at Keystone, Pa. His work made possible over 2,000 uses of aluminum.

He was schooled at the University of Minnesota and the University of Berlin. He then taught for seven years and became an industrial research worker in 1915.

WHEN President Roosevelt appointed his friend, Laurence A. Steinhardt ambassador to Sweden in 1933, he identified Mr. Steinhardt as a "good fixer and hoss-trader." At the Kremlin the last two years he has needed these essential skills of diplomacy, and by all reports has been employing them effectively.

He was assigned to Peru after Sweden, and from time to time voiced warnings of "predatory Old World forces." He was trained as an economist at Columbia university.

POTATO DUSTING DEMONSTRATIONS

Potato dusting demonstrations for the control of leaf-beetle, flea beetle, the common potato disease, and other insects and diseases, will be held on the following Washington county farms on Thursday and Friday, July 24 and 25, as indicated below:
Thursday, July 24—Paul C. Cypher, West Bend, R. 3, 12:30 p. m.; Floyd Funk, Hartland, 4:00 p. m.; Mrs. Anna Stephens, Richfield, 7:00 p. m.
Friday, July 25—Art Rintelmann, Germantown, 10:00 a. m.; Arthur Schaezel, Germantown, 12:30 p. m.; Wm. Bronn, Germantown, R. 1, 3:00 p. m.; Andrew Schuster, Rockfield, R. 1, 7:00 p. m.
A new type of insect and disease control for potatoes by dusting will be shown. Potato growers are invited to attend the meeting most convenient.

COUNTY FAIR ENTRIES ENLARGED

The Washington county fair has enlarged its premium book by adding a department for open class exhibits in clothing. Exhibits in this department are open to any women living in Washington county. There is no age restriction. Anyone wishing to exhibit in this department should write for a premium list as only the articles specifically listed in the premium book may be entered at the fair.
The dates of the Washington county fair are Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. Friday, Aug. 29th, is entry day. All articles must be entered on that day.

LOCATE FIELD BINDWEED NOW

Now is the best time of the year for locating field bindweed areas. These can be definitely marked and the areas staked out so that their exact size will be known later in the year when the foliage will have dried up. The use of chemical, namely sodium chlorate, can best be applied in the latter part of September or October. Much better results will be obtained by the application of sodium chlorate in the late summer than if applied now. The same holds true of quack grass and Canada thistle. The rate of application of sodium chlorate for field bindweed is four pounds per square rod. About one-half of this amount will be enough for the thistle or the quack grass.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION ASSOCIATION NOW FUNCTIONING

The East Central Breeders Association Co-op is prepared to give artificial insemination service of Holstein and Guernsey cattle to all Washington county dairymen who have signed contracts for such service. The association now owns a number of sires of each of the above mentioned breeds. Dairymen wishing to avail themselves of this service are to call by phone collect, Wauwatosa, 720. The association, until other arrangements are made, will pay phone calls.

In order that the artificial insemination of dairy cattle service can be put on a paying basis, more cows must be signed up. It is impossible to set up a unit in the county until 1200 cows have been signed up. Farmers wishing to avail themselves of this service later in the year should subscribe now for it. All herds signed up must be approved by the directors.

COUNTY DAIRY QUEEN ELECTED THURSDAY, JULY 17TH

The Washington county dairy queen was selected on Thursday, July 17th. The selection was made in connection with the 4-H club picnic which was held at the West Bend City park on that day.

CONTEST OPEN TO ANY FARM GIRL—The queen contest was open to any farm girl who is between 17 and 21 years of age. She must come from a farm where dairy cattle are kept. To be eligible for state competition fifteen or more girls must have participated in the county contest. Her expenses to and from the state fair will be paid by the state. In addition many other opportunities for seeing Milwaukee and the state fair are accorded the various county winners. The winning girl will be announced next week.

RADIO DISCUSSION

The Washington County Agricultural Conservation association presented a radio broadcast over station WHBL (Sheboygan) on Wednesday, July 16th, at 9:00 p. m. The discussion was on the recently established wheat quotas as requested by a vote of the wheat growers.

COUNTY FAIR DATES SET FOR AUG. 30, 31 AND SEPT. 1

The Washington County 4-H Club fair will be approximately two weeks later this year than usual. The dates of the fair this year will be Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. These later dates, it was felt, would avoid conflicts with the state fair and also with grain harvesting.

The premium list is now available. They are being mailed to 4-H club members and to all who have exhibited at the fair in recent years. Any one wanting a premium list can obtain one by writing to the secretary of the fair, West Bend.

Many people have the mistaken idea that only 4-H club members may exhibit at the fair. Adults may exhibit in the following departments: clothing, canning, baking, farm crops, vegetables, flowers, green fruits, apry and poultry. The livestock department, because of the lack of ample stable space, is restricted to the 4-H club and junior farmer membership. The term junior farmer includes any young man living in Washington county and who is under 30 years of age.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Landing of Naval Forces in Iceland Brings Speculation on Future Moves Of U. S. in Setting Up Defense Bases; Shaded Communiques Dim War Picture

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Dr. J. C. McCracken, superintendent of the American Hospital for Refugees in Shanghai, China, is pictured with two of his charges from the baby clinic. The children seem to be thriving on meals made up of cracked wheat, which they consider a luxury. The Red Cross bags are then cut up and used for making clothes for the children.

ICELAND: A Move

The sudden step which President Roosevelt took in ordering the occupation of Iceland by American naval forces, and the plan to thus relieve the British in the handling of that distant adjunct of the occupied Danish kingdom not only clarified the present foreign policy but brought repercussions on both sides of the Atlantic.

These were both favorable and unfavorable to the move, and the British hailed it with obvious delight as "putting teeth" and definiteness into the U. S. policy of insuring arrival of lease-lend aid and the fullest cooperation short of war with Britain.

The Axis powers, as were to be expected, were quoted variously as vigorously opposing such action which, apparently, they did not learn of until it was an accomplished fact. The Germans said the U. S. now had troops "in the war zone" and could expect results; the Italians called it a "provocative" step; and the Japanese called it "de facto American entry into the war."

These sentiments were echoed on this side of the water by the chief opponents of the administration, Senator Wheeler not only being outspoken against it, but drawing White House fire for having announced the rumored objective before it took place, thus, according to a White House secretarial statement, "jeopardizing American lives."

More interesting were the speculations concerning future moves, the Nazi sources recalling in their comment on the President's action the fact that he had spoken previously of the strategic import, from a Western hemisphere viewpoint, of the Azores, the Cape Verde islands, and Dakar, African port.

The President also made clear that geographical definitions of the Western hemisphere, as far as he is concerned, do not make much difference, and that when one is defending a certain section of the globe, it is more important to "out-guess the other fellow" than to draw geographical limitations on your activities.

Gradually, as the Russo-German war moved into the latter part of the first month, a growingly clearer picture of the situation could be obtained.

Stripped of equivocal communiques, and delving behind these with the aid of town names and general lines, here was the portrait of conditions at that period:

The Germans, together with their allies, had attacked along a 1,100 mile front, with initial quick success in the extreme north, in the central district, and a slower success in the south.

This continued, with the Russians falling back and burning towns and supplies as far as possible for about a week or 10 days.

Then the German advance ran into the Stalin line and an entirely different tempo of Russian resistance. It was almost as though a large train had run into a resilient obstacle, which halted it gently and then even began to shove it backward.

The Russian communiques painted this picture as far more favorable to the Reds, and the Germans minimized or ignored things, and spoke of everything being "expected," and "running on schedule." All this, of course, might be true, depending on the schedule.

From other points came data, however, tending to show that the German machine had perhaps not met its master, but at any rate a foeman worthy of its steel, and one that was not going to be a "push-over" in the sense of previous opponents.

From Vichy sources came reports that the German advance had been bogged down, if not completely halted.

While the Russian communiques seemed over-optimistic, and told of hurling the Germans back "in utter disorder" from Litvinov came a plea to the British to "strike now and with full force" at the Germans. And this plea seemed not so much a claim that "we've got Hitler now," but that there would be a chance to beat him if Russia and England were to work together full force.

AXIS: Sickness?

Two American incidents tended to show that since the start of the Russian campaign, even before, there had been some signs within Germany and Italy of what might be termed Axis sickness.

Walter Alexander, 57-year-old American citizen born in Germany, left there about six weeks ago. He had been in the real-estate business in Berlin since 1933.

He finally arrived in Jersey City, where he was quoted as follows: "Forty per cent of the German people are against Hitler and the war."

"The German people are just beginning to tire of it. And they have the feeling that it does not matter whether they win. They feel they have lost their freedom anyway."

"Business men in Germany are disgusted, because they can make no move except under government regulation and orders."

And Count Carlo Sforza, once a member of Mussolini's cabinet, but who now declares he was one of the original foes of Fascism, said at Ann Arbor, Mich., that a British victory in the war would be the instant signal for the fall of the Mussolini government.

Even now, the count declared, there might at any time be a "passive strike" on the part of the Italian navy, which does not like to fight on the side of the Germans.

He said, however, that Italy was so much under the domination of Hitler that the people knew a signal for revolt against Mussolini would mean that the Germans would march on Milan, Venice and Trieste and also on Rome.

Germany must fall first, before the present Italian regime collapses, he said.

SYRIA: End of War

The official announcement that a formal request for an armistice had come to the British from General Dentz of the Vichy defenders seemed to bring an end to a campaign which ended on the saddest of possible notes.

Churchill struck the British attitude by saying:

"I hardly need say how very glad His Majesty's Government is to see an end brought to this very distressing conflict in which 1,000 to 1,500 British, Australian and Indian troops who had volunteered in order to defend France have fallen killed or wounded under French bullets as a result of the lamentable confusion into which the affairs of so many good people in so many parts of the world have been thrown by the victories of Hitler's army."

This was a gentle way of acquainting the people with the number of casualties there had been in the British forces. How many the Free French, under De Gaulle, had lost, was not mentioned, but it was believed to have been heavier, as they assumed the brunt of the attack.

Alfred Duff Cooper said: "I am horrified to hear that funds are being collected to celebrate the victory in Syria."

The decision of General Dentz to sue for peace came at a time when the pressure was being put heavily on Beirut, which, it turned out, was the key to the whole campaign.

R. A. F.:

The mastery of the daytime air on the western front of the war remained with the R.A.F., which was carrying out bombing attacks in the new large tempo, with squadrons aloft by day and by night.

It was revealed that the Nazis now have floating anti-aircraft batteries around Wilhelmshaven, and that flights of bombers which meet with no resistance at all over the French coastal areas except from anti-aircraft fire, are meeting with considerable fighter resistance as soon as they get over Germany.

Previously these conditions were reversed, the Germans never encountering resistance until they got over the English channel coast. Now the aerial combats were being witnessed by Germans on the ground, a dubious sport which, until recently, had been enjoyed by residents of the channel coast almost exclusively.

The British claimed that they were getting the best of these encounters, losing no bombers at all in one large raid on Wilhelmshaven, and losing four fighters to seven for Germany in another attack.

Iceland Leader

Shown here is Hermann Jonasson, prime minister of independent Iceland, who approved President Roosevelt's dispatching of American forces to take over defense of the island from the British.

LEASE-LEND: Aid Speeding

A report that President Roosevelt was going to ask for another large lease-lend appropriation to add to the seven billions of dollars, a goodly portion of which was spent and all of it allocated, was coupled with the statement that American lease-lend aid to Britain is now moving at a speedier clip.

The statement was made that a ship a day, approximately, is docking and unloading at Red sea ports, not accounting for such others as may be arriving in convoy in England itself.

If these ships are well loaded with the munitions of war, then the British commands in North Africa as well as on the British Isles should be having measurably strengthened their hands.

The period in which General Auchinleck took over and General Wavell gave up the North African command was followed by a continuance of the inactivity which had marked this stalemate.

But as soon as the Syrian peace was announced, it was expected that the North African battle would be resumed, and that the new general plus his new equipment, would make a determined effort to release the long-besieged garrison of Tobruk.

KNUDSEN: And Rubber

The statement by William S. Knudsen, of OPM, making a tour of the defense production areas, that he had little worry about the rubber situation, despite the fact that the government, foreseeing a shortage, had ordered the tire makers not to use more rubber than they had in the first six months.

Mr. Knudsen said that even if the supply of real rubber was cut off, the industry knew enough about synthetic rubber manufacture to pick right up and continue the supply of suitable tires and other articles without feeling the shortage of the actual article at all.

A talk with rubber experts revealed that while some disagreed with Mr. Knudsen, the outstanding majority believe it could be done, and with ease. Said one:

"We can make a tire that will outlast and outperform a real rubber tire right now. All that is needed is for our factories to make slight changes in technique."

"If our supply of raw real rubber were cut off, here is what I think would happen. Factories would be started in construction to manufacture hundreds of thousands of tons of synthetic rubber."

"While we were waiting to get them in production, we have six months' supply of sheet rubber on hand, and for another six months we could operate with mixtures of reclaimed rubber and synthetic rubber, and so, in the 12 or 14 months that it would take to get the new factories built and in operation there would be no lost motion at all, for we have inventories of finished tires that would last about six months."

He could say little about the price of such tires, but some experts thought they might be slightly more expensive than rubber tires at first, until the "know how" had been achieved in making them.

MISCELLANY:

London: Nazi fliers dropping incendiaries and bombs over England were beginning to mix leaflets with them, announcing in the English language, "The Battle of the Atlantic is being Lost."

Berlin: A German newspaper editorially commented on the occupation of Iceland: "This is a stab in the back of a nation wrestling with Bolshevism."

Moscow: Women and children, hiding Stalin's request for guerrilla action on German forces in the rear of the front line, are joining such bands. Moscow sources claimed that these bands had accounted for 18 tanks.

London: When the war is won, say British political leaders, a Pan-Slav agreement whereby Russia, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia and Poland will join a united and organized front contiguous to Germany, was envisioned.

New York: A new kind of bomb, called the "sticky bomb," about the size of a pineapple, is being used as the newest anti-tank weapon. It is hurled against the side of a tank where it sticks and then explodes.

Washington: Indicating that war profiteering will be a thing of the past, tax experts said that 56 per cent of the net profit of 165 companies which will pay a good portion of the $1,332,000,000 defense corporation taxes will be taken by the government.

U. S. Capitol's 'Face Lifting' Postponed Because of War

Historic Building Has Never Been Completed; An Old Prediction on Soviet-Nazi Outbreak Comes to Light.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Hitler has prevented the Capitol from having its face lifted.

I sat in the office of the architect of the Capitol, David Lynn, the other day and learned that the historic building which houses our lawmakers has never been finished. The architect's modest suite is tucked away where few visitors except Californians seeking out Senator Johnson in his hideaway next door ever find it. On the walls are the solemn portraits of Mr. Lynn's predecessors, clear back to Dr. Thornton, the Capitol's first architect, in wig and stock, and the handsome Thomas Hugh Walter, with his firm mouth and shock of white hair, who seemed to bow in emphatic agreement when his friendly, gray-haired successor spoke:

"The extension and completion of the Capitol," said Mr. Lynn, earnestly, "has been urged for the past 70 years or more. Legislation to that end has been introduced from time to time but it has never passed. Right now, Senator Connally of Texas and Senator Andrews of Florida are very much interested in the undertaking."

I had just left the office of the speaker of the house, Sam Rayburn, and I knew that he approved the idea and I had heard that the President had lent a not unsympathetic ear to the project as well. But the war in Europe is interfering, as it is with many other civilian pursuits.

Here's the Job.

The job that the experts say has to be done, in a nutshell is this: The central portion of the eastern side of the building (which faces the Capitol plaza) must be extended 32 feet, 6 inches.

"This extension is recommended for two purposes," said Architect Lynn, "First, in order to correct the architectural defect in the building which exists due to the skirt or base of the dome extending over the east portico in such a manner as to give the appearance of apparent lack of support to the dome. The second reason for this step is to provide additional and needed accommodations and to replace the existing sandstone exterior with marble."

"Few people know it," Mr. Lynn added, "but one reason why we have to paint the building every four years is to make the central part, which is sandstone, match the wings which are marble."

Extension of the east front would give 58 much needed extra rooms, provide a passage for members of congress directly from one chamber to the other on all floors. Now when there is a joint session or when members of one house want to pass to the other they have to squeeze through the main corridors, which are frequently packed with visitors.

Space Badly Needed.

The additional offices are badly needed and now that radio has come to take its place beside the press as a medium for reporting the doings of congress to the people more space would be welcomed by the radio correspondents. At present the radio newsmen are tucked in between pillars in the house and senate wings in offices from which it is very difficult to broadcast.

Visitors who call upon their representatives in the Capitol may be surprised that they have to talk to them right out in the lobby, for members of the house have no public waiting room. The addition would make such an accommodation possible.

Many hearings have been held on legislation authorizing the finishing of the Capitol, which would complete the work of the famous Thomas Hugh Walter. This talented architect planned the two wings which accommodate the senate and the house, respectively, and the short corridors which connect them to the central portion of the building. He also replaced the wooden dome, erected after the burning of the Capitol, with a metal one. But, according to the experts who have studied his plans and sketches, he never intended to let that massive cone that has become the symbol of the federal city perch precariously on its foundation with its "skirt" hanging over the edge of the roof.

Mr. Walter would have extended the east wall if it had not been for the Civil War, which interrupted his activities. Then, just as congress was about ready to order Mr. Lynn to carry on the work of his illustrious predecessor, another war in Europe broke out and the skirt of the dome is once again left hanging on the fate of empires.

An Old Prediction Comes to Light

A week after the Russo-German war started, one of my listeners called my attention to a fading record of the foreign relations of the United States, of July 11, 1919.

It is a report of the then vice consul at Viborg, Robert Imbrie, who was later killed in Teheran, Persia. The report describes in detail the struggle between the White Russians and Bolsheviks (that is the state department spelling at the time.) It urges that the United States give sanction to an attack on Russia by the Finnish forces which represented an army and navy which Vice Consul Imbrie said "is quite capable of taking Petrograd (Leningrad)."

Mr. Imbrie concludes: "It has long been apparent that Russia, as an economic factor has, under the Bolsheviks, ceased to exist, at least so far as the United States and the Allied Nations are concerned. Where formerly she produced food in such quantities that it formed a large item of her export, now she is starving, a condition directly attributable to Bolshevik misrule and terrorism. The world is not only shut off from one of the greatest commercial markets, but it is also deprived of one great source of food supply. The agents of Germany, with an eye to the commercial and political future, are taking full advantage of the existing conditions. Already the feeling of Bolshevick Russia is with Germany."

I never met Mr. Imbrie but his tragedy came back in an oddly personal way today when I received the letter containing the above reference. Some 10 years after Imbrie was killed I was on a hiking trip in the Green mountains and a friend of mine loaned me an army canteen, my own faithful container having outlived its usefulness. Later I learned that the flagon which had cooled my lips with the waters of Vermont's mountain springs had once belonged to the murdered consul. Now, his ghost comes back with a prediction he made in 1923, at the time of the Lausanne conference.

"Within a decade," my informant quotes Imbrie as saying, privately, then, "hell will break loose with more fury than ever. Bessarabian oil will be the decisive factor."

National Indian Day Is Being Planned

A National Indian day for America!

That is what J. A. Youngren of Pocatello, Idaho, proposes. He tells me that 18 state governors are ready to co-operate in such an undertaking. Washington has heard about it, too.

I remember my first Indian day. I did not know what it was then. There was a knock at the door of our home. My mother, who, like the rest of the family, was fresh from "the East" (Illinois), answered the knock. I was frightened. Maybe she was, for all her pioneer blood. For there silhouetted against the afternoon was the tallest man I ever saw—and wrapped in a blanket. He wanted my father, who was justice of the peace. And when the brave learned he wasn't there he went away peacefully, leaving only a faint odor of salmon behind him.

I have known a few Indians myself. Jim Thorpe whom I once interviewed, football star of Carlisle, and young Afraid-a-Bear who served with me in France in the artillery. I am not mentioning the 100 per cent Americans with Indian blood like my fraternity brother in the university, Freeman Morgan.

So I am for this Indian day—tepee, tomahawk, papoose and all. And I'll bet that Skeeter Vogt, editor of the Gallup (N. M.) Gazette, when he reads this in his own paper will agree with me. So ought the rest of the paler faces who might not be here now if the Red Men had had a couple of panzer divisions and a few less pipes of peace.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

More Bibles are sold in Germany than Hitler's "Mein Kampf," I am told by the persons interested in the new Washington venture called Biblical Photoplays, which presents the Bible in moving picture form. Now America is to see the Bible stories in motion and color to supplement what is being read in the nearly 8,000,000 Bibles which the Census bureau says were printed in this country in 1939.

The statue of Will Rogers in the Capitol stands in a corner looking right at the door of the senate chamber. Capitol guides tell visitors that Will once said he would never like to stand in Statuary Hall because, he explained, "I want to keep an eye on congress."

Did you know that it was harder for a lamb or a cow to get into the army than it is for a man? In the first place, the animals have to be dressed. A man may come naked if he wants to, the army furnishes the uniform. The lamb or beef has to be just the right weight. The lamb (dressed) must weigh 80 pounds, and the beef, equally well-dressed, must weigh 450. And the army is making it easier for the heifers, if not for the hostesses. Heifers are now acceptable on all business beef contracts.

We know little swans Are always called cygnets, Then why, may I ask, Aren't little pigs pignets?

And here is another Which may make you think, Would you call a crowbar A place where crows drink?

Birthday Party for Sis

Birthday parties given by modern young misses call for a great deal of planning as well as diplomacy. For little ladies of eight can be just as temperamental and jealous as movie stars. WHAT IS A LIVABLE HOME?

ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN first thing a lot of people say is that it's not livable, not that it's not livable, not that it's not livable.

Among the most challenging and versatile of the new furniture offered in the recent markets were unusual upholstered pieces, some of them revivals, others modern in conception, the S-shaped tete-a-tete bench, made so the two seats face, is interesting and suggests a charming variation for a room arrangement. A new idea is a bedroom piece consisting of a small love seat and two slipper chairs, which are built in units so that they can be used together or else fitted together to make a single piece. The armless upholstered chair is due to become a classic because it fits in usefully in almost any room and place, and adapts itself to either tailored or frofrou treatment.

There is even more variation in news of upholstery coverings. Among the prints, cabbage rose patterns are charming and popular. Plain materials have much textural interest. Stripes, especially the stunning broad ones, are very stylish looking.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the most interesting pieces of casting that's taken place in Hollywood is the selection of Joan Crawford and Greer Garson to combine their talents for the first time in "When Ladies Meet," a screen version of the stage hit of some years ago.

"It's the story of a wife and the 'other woman'; they meet without knowing that they're rivals. They become warm friends—and the fun begins when their identities are revealed.

GREER GARSON

vealed. The stars are fresh from hits—Miss Crawford from "A Woman's Face," and Miss Garson from "Blossoms in the Dust." Robert Taylor will be the fought-over male.

Edgar Kennedy, the "slow-burn" star of RKO Radio's shorts, is preparing to leave on his annual personal appearance tour. He will be accompanied by his wife, his son and Chester Conklin, and he will play Midwest theaters and fairs.

Katharine Hepburn, whose performance in "Philadelphia Story" put her back where she wanted to be at the box office, will start work soon on another picture. At present it's called "The Woman of the Year"; she'll play a newspaper columnist who's married to a sports writer. Metro feels that it's a good title for a Hepburn picture because of the comeback which she staged in "Philadelphia Story."

Miriam Hopkins withdrew from "Bad Lands" recently, giving two reasons, one ordinary, one unusual. The ordinary one—she felt that the part did not suit her; probably it didn't. The title doesn't sound like a Miriam Hopkins vehicle. The unusual one—she felt that Robert Stack, the leading man, was too young to play opposite her. Few feminine stars would admit that!

Jack Holt's offspring are doing all right for themselves in films—as is Papa. Tim is scheduled for six "outdoor dramas"—(just Westerns to us), for RKO for 1941-42, and his sister Jenny, who's 20, has been engaged to play the feminine lead in "Stick to Your Guns," a Hopalong Cassidy picture in which that veteran of Westerns, William Boyd, plays the lead.

Every so often somebody has the bright idea of trying to persuade Maude Adams to come out of retirement and make a picture. Nothing ever comes of it. The latest to try it is Frank Capra, who wants her to star in a film called "Meet Jane Doe, Mother of John Doe." If she could be tempted to make a picture the opportunity of working with Capra should do it.

Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, who impersonated marines in the movie version of "What Price Glory" years ago, have become "Sergeant Quirt" and "Captain Flag" again; this time on the air. They're doing a radio program designed to promote recruiting by showing modern life in the corps; it's a weekly feature, and should be welcomed by those who remember "What Price Glory."

Jack Smart, of CBS's "Meet Mr. Meek," met a judge last week, not once but twice. Picked up for speeding, he didn't have the money for the fine, so the judge let him go home for it. He hurried so fast, wanting to pay the first fine and get to his radio rehearsal on time, that he got another ticket for speeding. But the judge let him out of the second one.

ODDS AND ENDS—Cleo Manning made her debut as a motion picture actress by being kissed by Clark Gable, in "Honky Tonk." . . . Metro's putting a lot of its most talented youngsters into "Down in San Diego"; they're amateur detectives who uncover a Nazi band amid defunct activities. . . . Lili Damita and very young Sean Leslie Flynn have left the hospital where he arrived and gone home to Papa. Error. . . . Anna Maria, of Warner Bros. "Law of the Tropics," will make two pictures in her native Argentina. . . . Ann Southern has a new Metro contract. . . . Richard Arlen is booked to do three melodramas for Paramount.

Olivia de Havilland's nominated an assistant prop man as the most considerate man she knows; he is Glen Daniels, assigned to Paramount's "Hold Back the Dawn." She did a hospital scene, in which, apparently dying from auto crash injuries which included a crushed chest; Daniels tucked her in with sandbags, such as surgeons use in such cases, to relieve pressure on the patient. Daniels had taken the chill off the sandbags by warming them beside a floodlamp, so that Olivia would be comfortable!

Question: In my new house the varnished wood of the windows has started to turn dark, and mold or mildew has formed on them. How can this be prevented? In repainting the windows, should all varnish and mold first be removed? How?

Answer: You will probably find that the water that causes the mildew comes in through cracks around the outside putty. On new work putty is very likely to separate from the wood frame in the course of hardening. Your first move should be to close these cracks which can be done with a coat of paint. Take off the inside varnish with varnish remover; the mold should go with it. If it does not, scrub with steel wool wet with a disinfectant. Follow by rinsing with clear water, and allow to dry thoroughly before revarnishing.

Question: We are confronted with the problem of how large a cold air intake our hot air furnace requires in order to give the maximum amount of heat throughout the house. There is a screened opening on the right side of the furnace, but since we're not getting enough heat, we decided to have another opening made on the other side of the furnace. There is no noticeable improvement. Can you make any suggestions?

Answer: Air taken from outside the building should have a cold air duct area not less than 80 per cent of the total area of the warm air leaders. If the cold air supply is obtained by recirculation from the building, the area of the cold air return pipe must be at least equal to the sum of all the warm air leader pipes. It would be advisable to have a reliable heating man check the heating capacity of the furnace, the heat supply ducts and the outlets.

Question: Is there some simple, inexpensive way to resurface my rough cement floor in the cellar? The finish is somewhat like a sand-float plaster finish.

Answer: A floor grinding machine, of the type used by terrazzo floor contractors, can be used to smooth down the surface. Get an estimate on this method from your local terrazzo and tile man. A topping coat of portland cement could be laid over the present floor after properly preparing it for the new cement. The Portland Cement association will gladly send you a bulletin on this subject, on request. The New York office is at 347 Madison avenue; the Chicago office at 33 West Grand avenue.

Question: I have seen some fancy fruit bowls made of woodware in some of the department stores. They have a high gloss finish. What material is used to finish the bowls in this way, and how is it done? I have some unfinished bowls that I should like to finish in this way.

Answer: Get a smooth surface on the wood by rubbing it with fine steel wool or very fine sandpaper. Wipe off the dust with benzine, being extremely careful of fire. Finish with two coats of a good quality quick-drying varnish. Pull the gloss of the first coat, when dry, by rubbing lightly with very fine sandpaper; wipe off the dust, then apply the finish coat.

Moldy Window Frames
QUESTION: In my new house the varnished wood of the windows has started to turn dark, and mold or mildew has formed on them. How can this be prevented? In repainting the windows, should all varnish and mold first be removed? How?

Finish with two coats of a good quality quick-drying varnish. Pull the gloss of the first coat, when dry, by rubbing lightly with very fine sandpaper; wipe off the dust, then apply the finish coat.

Hardened Paint Brushes
Question: Please advise the best method to restore paint brushes that were allowed to dry hard and have been unused for two years.

Answer: To remove hardened paint from a brush, soak in paint remover. Or, you can use any one of a number of brush cleaning compounds on sale at paint and hardware stores. Brushes in which paint has hardened will not be satisfactory for fine painting. The bristles usually lose elasticity and form.

Lining a Cabin
Question: In finishing the inside of a summer cabin, I plan to attach panels and composition board directly to the studding. Would it be wise to put tar paper underneath?

Answer: Rather than tar paper I should prefer to use heavy roofing felt, for it is not so brittle. This lining will make the walls more wind-proof and be a protection against moisture.

Brick Sun Porch
Question: Inside our sun porch the walls are red brick, like the outside bricks of the house. I should like to paint the brick walls inside the porch in an ivory color. What kind of paint should I use?

Answer: Suitable paint or a cement paint would be suitable for painting the brick. Be sure the surface is clean and free of grease.

Cinder Walk
Question: Would calcium chloride serve as a binder for cinders outside the house on a walk? If not, what would be an inexpensive binder? We are not in a position to make a really large investment in this matter.

Answer: Calcium chloride is a fair binder for very fine cinders, or dusty paths or driveways. For coarse cinders, gravel or broken stone, emulsified asphalt is better suited. Your local road commissioner can give you the names of firms making this type of binder.

Operations for Knee Injuries Now Quite Safe

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the injuries football, basketball, baseball players and other athletes sustain is a loose cartilage in the knee. This cartilage serves as a cushion between the two bones forming the knee joint and as the knee joint supports the whole weight of the body, anything that disturbs that cushion means not only a painful knee but a knee that will not support the weight of the body.

My own treatment in "fresh" injuries was to strap the knee up with adhesive tape, replacing the tape every few days for two or three weeks. In more severe cases, the knee was placed in a plaster cast for three to five weeks.

The question naturally asked is why did these loose cartilage cases undergo operation? To be quite frank, it was not until recent years that the physician or surgeon has felt free to recommend operation because so many operations resulted in a "stiff" knee; in fact, very little motion remained after operation.

These knee injuries are just as common today as ever, but if adhesive or plaster cast treatment fails to give results, most physicians feel free to recommend operation owing to the satisfactory results which are now obtained. These satisfactory results have been obtained because the patient now receives a thorough examination and any infection—teeth, tonsils, sinuses—is removed before operation.

Reports Results.
In recording his results in operation of 50 of these cases, Dr. Harold R. Bohman, Johns Hopkins university, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, outlines his method of operation, recommends the use of a local instead of a general anesthetic, the complete removal of blood from the joint, and injection of air, with gentle movement of the joint within a few days after operation.

The hospital stay is from three to seven days instead of the two or three weeks of former years.

Hernia Treatment For Elderly Folks
ALL physicians have patients consult them regarding a hernia or rupture. In nearly all cases, the patient being well and strong, operation has usually been advised. Operation means getting rid of a truss.

Fortunately, with the discovery of injecting hernias, this method makes operation unnecessary in about one-third of all cases. Some older patients with hernia who have perhaps worn a truss for 30 or 40 years and have never liked the idea of operation may be wondering whether the injection method is suitable in old cases or in old individuals.

Dr. L. Manoil, New York, in Archives of Surgery, Chicago, presents some figures regarding the injection method. During the period between February, 1936, and February, 1939, 158 hernias in 123 patients (some with hernia on both sides) were treated by the injection method in Dr. Manoil's clinic. Ninety-two per cent of these cases were under 41 and 90 years of age. The hernia returned in 26 patients or about 16 per cent of this group and five patients were operated on after injection, making total failures about 20 per cent. In the 15 patients between 11 and 40 years of age, no hernias returned. There were no infections and no deaths.

From the above figures showing that four of every five older patients were cured by the injection method, Dr. Manoil believes the injection method should be used in older patients who are considered poor surgical risks, and because of their state of nutrition, or other condition present. It should also be used in younger patients who refuse operation but are willing to undergo the injection method even though it takes weeks and months to bring about a cure.

QUESTION BOX
Q.—Acid fruits cause me to break out with hives. Should I avoid these foods, thereby depriving myself of necessary vitamins?
A.—You are sensitive or allergic to certain foods. If you want to be free of hives, you'll have to avoid the foods you "know" cause them. Treatment is to start with a very small amount of the food or foods causing the hives, gradually increasing the amount until system can take them without disturbance.

Q.—Please give me some information about vitamins. What regulates the dosage?
A.—Vitamins are small elements in the food which make the foods do more work. Thus one food may do a certain amount of work, and another a certain amount. When these foods are combined certain vitamins make these foods do more work—their utmost as it were. The reason you do not need to take vitamins often is because the right amount once a day is sufficient. Doesn't have to be at any stated time.

sheer for the redingote with matching crepe for the under slip. Shirred heart-shaped pockets add interest to the flaring skirt.

THIS is a day and age that demands style-perfection throughout every detail of general makeup and apparel. One may be ever so glamorously groomed in matter of complexion, hair-do and fingertips, one's costume may be of fine fabric in colors delectable, stylized "to the queen's taste," but if one's figure is not expertly and scientifically brought under subjection into lines of smooth contour and grace via faultless foundation-garment technique, all is lost in matter of style-right and charming appearance.

Note how slim, svelte and graciously satisfying the fashions pictured are to the eye. They demonstrate the efficacy of corset wizardry in giving the much-to-be-coveted smooth silhouette that modern fashion demands. In the foreground the "portrait of a lady" demonstrates how distinctive a smartly conservative graceful sheer print redingote costume looks when the wearer is nicely fitted in the correct foundation garment. In this instance the simple styling of the redingote with its accent of tiny white buttons down the front calls for a well-constructed corset in order to show to advantage the slender-waisted figure. Diminutive quill pens darting from tiny inkwells make the attractive white-print patterning on fine dark

The influence of the new long-torso line is seen in the attractive spectator costume shown to the right in the group. Here a smartly striped one-piece frock is teamed with a trim short-sleeved jacket in solid white. The broad collar of the frock is worn over the jacket collar to heighten the ensemble effect. Worn over a well-fitting foundation garment, this figure-revealing costume has a slender trim line of grace and beauty.

Ladies who "know their fashions" dress in gingham, seersucker, chambray, tissue-crinkle organdy, dark boucles and other smart "city cottons." It is a picture that fashion paints for summer, most refreshing and one that goes keen on chic and charm. For downright practicality the jacket suit tailored to a nicety of dark check crinkle seersucker, of plaid gingham or striped chambray takes first prize this summer. Women of discriminating tastes have yielded wholeheartedly to the new cotton vogue, a fact impressed on one throughout the summer style parade all along the highways and byways of fashion.

City Cottons Go 'Tops' In Summer Fashions
Evening sweaters continue to be a smart fashion. The latest arrival in formal sweaters reflects the bra influence in a most attractive way. It is knitted of pastel wool, comes just below the bust neckline where it ties with velvet ribbon drawn through a deep scalloped V-neckline. Sleeves are short and for an evening fantasy this is one of the prettiest sweaters imaginable.

Sweaters for Evening Wear Are Very Popular
The use of stark white stiffened Venice lace is outstanding in the summer mode. So successful has this adventure in lace proved, designers are planning to trim monotonous frocks this fall in handsome Venice lace dyed to match the fabric that teams with it.

Gay Handkerchiefs
Carry out a summer note for your costume by flirtatiously flaunting a gaily flowered handkerchief. You can get perfectly fascinating "hankies" with realistically colorful life-size roses printed to look as if they were artfully hand-painted. Others are patterned with huge poppies, and the ones with big clusters of natural looking violets are lovely with the new and now-so-fashionable costumes in purple tones.

Middy Blouse Types
One of the reactions to the vogue for long-torso lines is the revival of the middy blouse. The latest types accent the lowered V-line neck. Middy sweaters are very smart worn with pleated skirts. White wash-fabric middies are also good style.

Picked Up in Studios of Style Designers
Cool, washable and smart are the new half-gloves of linen. In white, with blue stitching and blue cuffs. Two hanks of yarn, a length of jersey and two oversized gold hairpins are all Suzy uses in a clever, inexpensive turban for summer. Make a yarn or string skull cap. Let the hat fit close to the crown of your head and coax a frame of curling ends to turn back over the edge of it.

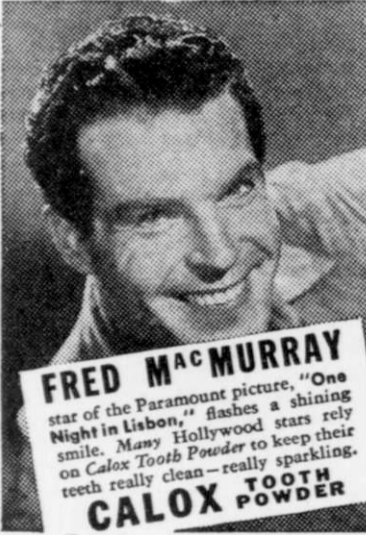

A clever use of stripes is seen in one pretty dinner dress of silky corded material. In brown and white, the stripes are horizontal. Shaped like catlets or like dainty versions of the bob's cap are little casual hats made of raffia and cotton. An unusual necklace that resembles those Indian necklaces you had as a child is made of leather and beads.

III. BURIAL OF CHIEF KEWASKUM
 In our researches we have had a very difficult time trying to determine the date and place of burial of Chief Kewaskum. There are various opinions concerning his death and place of burial.

In an article about Holy Hill we gleaned the following information: The Pottawatomis Indians were the last of the ab-original races to inhabit the region adjacent to Holy Hill. They were fairly numerous until 1833, when by treaty with the federal government they agreed to migrate westward. Even then a considerable number refused to be bound by the terms of the treaty and continued to live in the neighborhood. Kewaskum was the chief of this semi-civilized and friendly band. He died about 1857 in his cabin on Mud Lake in southern Dodge county, and was buried on an island in Rock River four miles north of Hustisford. A thriving village in Washington county perpetuates his name.—(W. A. Titus, "Historic Spots in Wisconsin," Wisconsin Magazine of History, X 1926-1927, 291).

In another article dealing with Holy Hill we found the following information which substantiates the article quoted above:
 Every Indian tribe whose haunts were in the vicinity of Holy Hill had a tradition and firmly believed that white men visited the place very many years ago. In June, 1844, a Mr. Hecker settled on land on the east shore of Pike Lake. At that time, a large family of Pottawatomis was encamped near where he built his house. Old Kewaskum (Kewaskum) their chief and Mr. Hecker were on very friendly terms; often after work was done, he and the old chief would sit on a log and smoke for hours together. On one of these occasions the conversation turned on Palford's hill which they faced when the old chief pointed suddenly to the south saying: "About an hour's walk from here is a much larger hill. I have heard my father tell that white men came here many years ago and placed a cross on its top. I can't tell how many years ago it was, but my father said his grandfather was there at the time it was done."
 The two noble old chiefs are dead these many years, but their memory is perpetuated by two towns in Washington county, Kewaskum near the north; Monches in the south.—("Places Said to Have Been Visited by Fr. Marquette," The American Catholic Historical Research, XII, 88).

From the above then it appears that Chief Kewaskum died sometime around 1857, and was buried on an island in Rock River.
 The following, however, which rests upon the word of early pioneers or men interested in the history of the village of Kewaskum, places the death of the Chief about the year 1905 and the place of his death on the Keshena Indian Reservation near Shawano.

According to Rev. Philip Vogt, pastor of Holy Trinity congregation, Chief Kewaskum died about 1905. At this time the Catholic church was being built and among the workers were a certain Adam and Pete Smith. These two men were good friends of the Chief. They were accustomed to spend some time each fall at the home of some relation of Kewaskum. While at work on the church they received a telegram informing them that Chief Kewaskum had died and asking them to attend the funeral. They left immediately to attend the burial of their friend.
 This information seems to coincide with that given by Mr. Don Harbeck. Interested in the historical background of the village he attempted to obtain information about Chief Kewaskum. His searchings led him to Keshena Falls where he interviewed a certain Chief Oshkosh about ten years ago. To the best of his knowledge Oshkosh was a college graduate and acted as intermediary and custodian of the Indian tribes at the Keshena Indian Reservation. From him he obtained the following information:
 (PICTURE OF CHIEF KEWASKUM)
 Chief Kewaskum, or Metowan as he was called by the tribe, did not die in or near Kewaskum but on the Keshena Indian reservation near Shawano. The chief also offered an explanation for the belief that Kewaskum was buried in the village bearing his name. He claimed that the Indian buried there was a brother of Chief Kewaskum who had been killed by a white man during an argument. Chief Oshkosh also introduced Mr. Harbeck to a young Indian girl whom he claimed was a great granddaughter of Chief Kewaskum. Mr. Harbeck said that this girl was of the true Indian type—silent and stoical in contrast to the other Indian girls present. The latter had taken on the ways and manners of the whites. They were decorated with 'cheap bracelets and gaudy necklaces, powerfully perfumed and powdered. When Mr. Harbeck offered to buy them some sweets they picked out the expensive candy while the girl claiming to be the great-granddaughter of Chief Kewaskum, at first, refused anything, but was finally coaxed by her companions to take a bar of candy. She reluctantly chose a five cent bar.

 scored. Honeck added 13 more strikeouts to his list, giving him a total of 110 for the season in 9 games. Totten worked the entire game for the opponents and was nicked for 10 hits. Most of these were timely and accounted for runs. Honeck again was plenty tough in the pinches. Waldo having 10 men left on the bases to Kewaskum's 5. In the second frame Waldo filled the bases with 1 out and then "Killy" struck out the next 2. On several other occasions he had men on the bases and then retired the side.
 Kewaskum took the lead in the first inning on Kudek's single, stolen base and 2 infield outs. They made it 5-0 in the second on Harbeck's double, singles by R. Marx, Honeck, Bunkelmann and Prost, Kudek's walk and an error. Waldo's only run in the third resulted from two errors and a walk. The boys made it 7-1 in the seventh on an error, Theusch's single and H. Marx's two bagger. Two more were added for good measure in the ninth when Kudek singled, Theusch was safe on an error and Seamann misjudged H. Marx's fly and dropped it. Kudek was the only man on either team to get 2 hits according to the official scoremaker. All of the other Kewaskum players got 1 hit.

IN MEMORIAM
 In loving memory of our dear husband and father, John Gatzke, who passed away two years ago, July 20, 1939:
 Remembering a loved one,
 The weary hours drag slowly by
 In this world of toil and woe—
 While thinking of a loved one
 Departed—long ago.
 Two years ago he left us,
 To all he bid farewell,
 To live in realms celestial,
 Where all good angels dwell,
 Our hearts are heavy laden,
 As we see his vacant chair,
 'T would fill us all with gladness,
 To see him sitting there.
 Some day we'll be united,
 Together evermore,
 To dwell with all our loved ones,
 On a bright and peaceful shore,
 This world holds pain and worry,
 Sickness, and grief untold,
 His free from all this sorrow,
 Living on streets of gold,
 We miss him more as the days roll by,
 No one can take his place,
 But he's happy and well protected,
 In a home of love and grace.
 Sadly missed by Mrs. John Gatzke and children.

 found that Chief Kewaskum died about Aug. 1, 1905, at the Keshena Indian reservation. At that time the Statesman carried an obituary and picture of the 90 year old chief. As mentioned above Adam and Pete Smith, friends of the chief, who were at work on the Catholic church here, were notified of his death and attended the funeral.

Sisters Are Married
 in Double Ceremony

Effectively arranged on the altar of the Ev. Trinity Lutheran church at Dundee were bouquets of snapdragons, baby's breath and dahlias in various shades which provided the decoration for the double wedding on Saturday afternoon, July 12, of Miss Malinda Ebert of Dundee and Edward Lepp of Milwaukee and Miss Hilda Ebert of Dundee and Bennie Schiltz of Scott. The brides are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ebert of Dundee. Mr. Lepp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lepp of Milwaukee. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Walter Strohschein.
 For her marriage Miss Malinda Ebert chose a white satin gown fashioned with a long train and sweetheart neckline. The long sleeves of the gown, puffed at the shoulder and fitted from the elbow, terminated in a point. Her fingertip veil, scalloped and edged with wide chantilly lace, was caught to a pearl tiara and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses, baby's breath and sweetpeas. A string of matching pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, completed her costume.
 The matron of honor, Mrs. Alfred Radamski of Milwaukee, the bridegroom's sister, wore a floor length gown of pale pink brocaded satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The bridesmaid, Miss Betty Jane Hubers of Milwaukee, cousin of the groom, and Miss Patricia Locher, the junior bridesmaid, wore floor length taffeta gowns in shades of aqua and yellow respectively. Miss Hubers' gown had a fitted midriff, short puff sleeves and a hoop skirt. Miss Locher's gown was fashioned with short puff sleeves, sweetheart neckline and shirred bodice. All attendants wore halos and carried arm bouquets of peach gladioli.
 Vilas Ebert, the bride's brother, was the best man and the groomsmen was Herman Lepp, Jr., brother of the groom. The junior groomsmen was Melvin Ebert, brother of the bride.
 The couple left on a short wedding trip and after July 20 will be at home at 2171 Booth street, Milwaukee.
 The other bride, Miss Hilda Ebert, wore a white satin gown fashioned with a long train and fitted midriff long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline edged with seed pearls. Her lace trimmed trailing illusion veil was held with a halo of seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of roses, baby's breath and sweetpeas.
 The bride's sister, Miss Leona Ebert, was the maid of honor and Miss Goldie Schiltz, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid. They wore floor length taffeta gowns in blue and rose fashioned with short puffed sleeves, bolero jackets and full skirts decorated with scalloped cording. They wore matching shoulder length veils held with a wreath of flowers and carried arm bouquets of peach gladioli.
 Walter Ebert, brother of the bride, was best man and the groomsmen was Fred Zellstra of Milwaukee. The couple also left on a short honeymoon trip and later will reside in West Bend.
 Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the parents of the brides at 6 o'clock to 65 invited guests, where decorations were carried out in the bridal motif.
