Seefeldt Family Holds Second Annual Reunion

The Seefeldt family held their second annual reunion at Lakeside Park, Fond du Lac, on Sunday, July 20th. The weather was ideal for the gathering and the Seefeldts came early from near and far.

The long table at the park reserved for the occasion wasn't able to accommodate all who had come to eat their noon meal. A total of 150 people registered at the picnic. Visiting formed the main pastime of the afternoon, but games for boys and girls of all ages were equally enjoyed by the participants and onlookers. The group voted unanimously to hold another reunion next year and selected a committee to make the arrangements.

William Seefeldt of Kewaskum was the oldest member present, being in his 91st year. Henry Seefeldt of Campbellsport and Fred Seefeldt of Eden have also passed the four score mark.

Those who attended from Kewaskum and vicinity were: Wm. Seefeldt and family, Herman Seefeldt and family, Mrs. Lena Buss and daughter Bertha, Mrs. Mary Seefeldt and son Oscar, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Seefeldt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klein, Misses Alice Wensberg and Jeanne Strupp.

Popular Young Couples Are Joined in Wedding

SCHWARTZ-SCHAEFER
Leo Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Schwartz of West Bend, took as his bride Miss Mildred Schaefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schaefer of Kewaskum, in a ceremony performed in Holy Angels parsonage at West Bend Saturday afternoon, July 12, at three o'clock.

The groom is employed at the West Bend Transit company. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Feucht of LeRoy, Wis.

The bride was gowned in white chiffon over satin. Her fingertip veil was of illusion silk. She carried a shower bouquet of Delight roses and sweet-peas. Mrs. Feucht as matron of honor wore a blue gown with head band and veil to match. She also carried roses and sweet-peas.

A six o'clock wedding dinner was served to 40 guests at the home of the bride's parents.

KOENIG-SCHNEIDER

A very pretty wedding party of four people passed through the door and in to the parsonage of Holy Angels church at West Bend Saturday morning, July 12, at 10 a. m. when the holy bonds of matrimony were performed by Rev. Stehling for Miss Olive Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Schnell, R. 5, West Bend, and Harold Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koenig of near Wayne, R. 3, Campbellsport.

The bride was dressed in a floor length gown of white satin of tufted floral design. Her Japanese rose trim silk lace bordered fingertip veil fell from a sweetheart crown of matched lace. The crown, which had a row of orange blossoms attached across the front, was the one that her grandmother, Mrs. Joe Nieber, formerly of West Bend, wore on her veil 61 years ago. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and larkspur with an assortment of white tea flowers.

The bridesmaid, Mrs. Arno Ramel of Boltonville, a sister of the bride, wore an azure blue organdy gown with a crown of white Fleur Naturrella roses and carried a bouquet of deep pink roses with an assortment of tea flowers.

The bridegroom attended the West Bend High school and now is an employee of the Enger-Kress company in West Bend. His only brother, Martin Koenig, was best man.

A reception was held and dinner and supper served at the home of the bride's parents for the bridal party, parents and two other guests, Miss Arlene Waech of Campbellsport and the bride's only living sponsor, Leo Weiss, of West Bend. Miss Ruth Koenig of Kewaskum, cousin of the groom, acted as main hostess.

The evening was spent in dancing at the Lighthouse ballroom. Everyone enjoyed a good time and the couple was wished a happy married life. They will reside in or near West Bend.

JOHN REINDERS INJURED WHEN RUN OVER BY BINDER

John Reinders of Route 3, Kewaskum, whose farm is at St. Bridget's, was painfully injured on Monday afternoon of this week while helping a neighbor when he fell from the binder he was driving. One wheel of the binder ran over him and he suffered a fractured shoulder blade and collar bone. He was taken to St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, where he is now confined and is getting along as well as can be expected.

LADIES' AID PICNIC

The members of the Ladies' Aid of the Peace Ev. church enjoyed their annual picnic at Mauthe lake last Thursday. Games were played, followed by a potluck supper and refreshments.

As predicted the Adell-Kewaskum

game on the home field Sunday was a tight contest and the teams battled 10 innings before the visitors were presented with the winning run on an error. The final score found the league leaders nosing out the home club 3 to 2. The toughest part in losing was that all of Adell's runs were scored on errors while Kewaskum's were earned. A good-sized crowd saw the locals topple from a tie for the loop lead.

Honeck and "Lefty" DeGross tangled in a real pitchers' battle. Both allowed 6 hits, Honeck whiffing 9 batters and his opponent 7. The losers had 6 men stranded on the bags while Adell left only 2 on. After going bang-up fielding in the past few games Kewaskum was guilty of 5 errors, which accounted for the setback. The defeat put a big dent in Kewaskum's second half chances as Adell, with good pitching, exceptional fielding and heavy hitting, doesn't appear as though it would be beaten by any of the other teams. Adell is led by Schilling and Guth, former and present University of Wisconsin players, Helming, who belongs to the Fond du Lac team in the State League and Kilib and Koepke, heavy hitters.

Both pitchers hurled shutout ball the first 3 innings. Honeck didn't allow a hit while DeGross gave up 2 in this time. Adell took a 2-run lead in the fourth but neither run should have been scored. Guth singled, was sacrificed to second and Helming was thrown out. With 2 out Kilib hit a grounder and was safe when R. Marx

SPOKESMEN'S CLUB PUTS UP NEW PHEASANT PENS

Members of the Kewaskum Sportsmen's club recently completed work on the erection of a large 75x50 foot pheasant rearing pen and smaller pen for the younger chicks on the village property between the water tower and pump house. The pens, entirely enclosed with wire, now house several hundred birds which will be released in the vicinity upon reaching maturity. The pheasant pens, now near the high school and aluminum factory, were formerly located on the Christ. Backhaus property to the rear of the Dr. R. G. Edwards home on South Fond du Lac avenue. The club has engaged Ed. Bassil as caretaker of the pheasants. It is an interesting sight to go and see the hundreds of birds together in the large pen and also the cute little chicks in the smaller pen.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE IS STILL ON; EXTEND THANKS

The Salvation Army drive is still on in this village. Coming as late as it did the committee met with many difficulties. Principal Clifford Rose was unable to solicit at the school owing to the fact that it was the last week of school. However, the drive has just about reached its completion.

Special mention goes to Mrs. Wm. Guenther who so kindly consented to work on the committee. Thanks are extended to all those who assisted and contributed, especially A. G. Hron at the Kewaskum Aluminum company, E. Buslaff and L. Keller at the Kewaskum Creamery company, Mrs. Guenther, Mrs. Clifford Rose, Mrs. T. R. Schmidt, Mrs. Jack Tassar, Mrs. M. W. Rosenheimer and Mrs. D. M. Rosenheimer, chairman. The amount solicited will be published a little later by M. W. Rosenheimer, treasurer.

ANNUAL FIREMEN'S PICNIC AT CAMPBELLSPORT SUNDAY

A variety of novelty acts will feature the 8th annual picnic of the Campbellsport firemen at their park Sunday, July 27. Rides and amusements will be found at the picnic. Heading the entertainment is Kovan, master comedy musician. The Yohnson Boys, comedy musicians, get music out of unusual instruments. A water fight will be held at 12:30 and again at 7:30 o'clock. Playing in the afternoon and evening will be by Nell Neilson's Rainbow Girls orchestra featuring several novelty numbers and old time music.

34 Selectees Leave; Second Lottery Held

First Number Drawn Affecting County Held by Hartford Man;
August Quota 16

Thirty-four selectees, Washington county's quota for July, left from the courthouse in West Bend at 6:30 a. m. Thursday morning for possible induction into the U. S. army at the state induction center, 4108 N. Richards st., Milwaukee. Meanwhile Local Board No. 1 is planning to classify the 21-year-olds who registered July 1 for selective service. Actual classification cannot begin until the master lists of sequence numbers drawn in the second national lottery at Washington last Thursday night is received.

In the lottery for the newly registered 21-ers 750 numbers were drawn from the goldfish bowl although 661 was the largest number of men registered in any draft district. The first number drawn was 196 which will be the first of the 21-year-olds mustered into service. No one held this number in Washington county in which numbers only run to 159. The second number was 98 which was held by Gordon C. Crandall of Hartford. The next four were high numbers and the seventh number drawn was 99, held by Silverius N. Sauer of Allenton, R. 1, in this county.

AUGUST QUOTA 16

Washington county's quota for next month has been set at 16, considerably less than were sent the past few months. The men will be inducted at Milwaukee on Aug. 27. None of the 21-year-olds are expected to be included in next month's quota of 1,775 for the state.

MEN 28 DEFERRED

The house of representatives at Washington recently voted overwhelmingly for mandatory deferment of men who were 28 or older on July 1.

NEW DRAFT ORDER

The local board has received notification that all registrants who marry after registering must file affidavits proving that they married "in the ordinary course of human affairs" if they wish to be classified at 3-A (deferred because of dependents).

The affidavit should include such information as newspaper clippings, statements from friends, dates on which engagement rings are purchased from jewelers and any other information which would convince a draft board that a marriage was not contracted for draft evasion purposes.

NOTICE TO REGISTRANTS

All registrants must observe the following regulations in connection with their registration for possible selective service:

1. Report immediately to your local board any change of address.
2. Report immediately to your local board any change in your work, your dependents, or your physical condition.
3. Consult your advisory board for registrants when in doubt about your status as a registrant and particularly about your questionnaire.
4. Consult with your government appeal agent if you believe you have been improperly classified.
5. Keep in touch with your local board.

Kewaskum Girl Named County Dairy Queen

Miss Jean Gonnering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nic. Gonnering, Route 2, Kewaskum, was the lucky contestant to be selected county dairy queen at the county contest held last Thursday. Joan will be awarded with a free trip to the Wisconsin State fair where she will compete with other county queens for the honor of being chosen Wisconsin's dairy queen. The queen will be selected on Thursday evening, August 21, at a banquet tendered in their honor by the state fair management. On the following day the coronation exercises for the 1941 Wisconsin dairy queen will be held on the stage where it can be viewed by those in attendance at the state fair.

HARRY SCHAEFER ATTENDS FIRE CHIEFS CONVENTION

Harry Schaefer, chief of the Kewaskum fire department attended the 13th annual convention of the Wisconsin State Fire Chiefs association held at Wausau from Monday through Wednesday. 150 association members and their families attended. Routine business sessions the first two days were supplemented with talks by various representatives of industry and fire prevention bureaus. A sightseeing trip to the Fromm brothers fox ranch on Tuesday and a banquet were also held. A visit to Rib Mountain State park was included for the chiefs' wives.

COUNTY BEEKEEPERS PICNIC

Beekeepers of Washington county will hold their annual picnic Sunday, July 27, in the Joe Schemenauer grove on the West Cedar lake road across from Gonring's resort.

During a heat wave your body needs an extra supply of table salt.

Worn-Out Aluminum Drive Ends Saturday

The discarded aluminum drive for Washington county, as well as the entire nation, was on this week and will wind up Saturday, July 26. The Kewaskum Boy and Girl Scouts made a canvass of the village Tuesday collecting old aluminum. However, anyone in the community who might have been missed or still has discarded pieces should turn them in at the L. Rosenheimer or A. G. Koch stores.

The committee suggests that all citizens use the nearest or most convenient collection point. It will not make any difference where you leave your old aluminum because there is no competition between townships or collection points. The important thing is to get it in by Saturday.

You are asked to contribute only those articles which are worn out or have been discarded. Nor are you to bring in equipment which is made up primarily of other material but containing a little aluminum.

This is a non-profit drive. No individual or group or corporation will make any profit out of this collection. The proceeds from the sale of the metal will be used for civilian defense. All the aluminum will be used for national defense in the construction of planes and other equipment.

People Well Known in Vicinity Are Called

MRS. ELZADA BROWN

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, July 16, from the Berge Funeral Home in Campbellsport and at 2 p. m. at the Baptist church in that village for Mrs. Elzada Brown, 75, native of the town of Auburn and mother of Pearson Lyell Brown, who was killed in the World war in 1918 and for whom the Campbellsport post of the American Legion was named. The latter was the first Campbellsport youth killed in the war. Mrs. Brown died at 7:30 a. m. Monday, July 14, at her home in Campbellsport after a 3-weeks' illness. Burial was in Union cemetery there.

Mrs. Brown was a member of the Campbellsport Baptist church and was identified with the Ladies' Aid of the church. She also was a charter member of the W. C. T. U. in Campbellsport and held membership in the Women's Auxiliary to the American Legion.

She was born Sept. 3, 1865, in the town of Auburn and on Dec. 26, 1889, was married to Lloyd M. Brown. They established their home in Campbellsport in 1902. Surviving are her widower; three daughters, Mrs. Ray M. Sackett of Seattle, Wash., and the Misses Elzada G. and Lolo M. Brown of Campbellsport, and a granddaughter, Mildred Lolo Sackett.

AUGUST C. LADE

Funeral services were held Monday, July 14, at 2 p. m. at the Reformed church in Campbellsport for August C. Lade, 76, who died at 9:15 p. m. on Thursday, July 10, at his home in the town of Auburn after a long illness. The Rev. John Mohr officiated and interment was in Union cemetery there.

Mr. Lade was born July 23, 1864 in the town of Auburn and April 5, 1893 was married to Miss Anna Vande Grien, who survives. Other survivors are four daughters, Mrs. Michael Scheid and Mrs. John Hall of Campbellsport, Mrs. Wm. Elsner of North Fond du Lac and Mrs. Joseph D. J. Eden; a son, Erwin, at home; a brother, Wm. Lade, of Fond du Lac, and five sisters, Mrs. Emma Meyer of Withee, Mrs. Wm. O'Brien of New London, Mrs. Amelia Miller of Fond du Lac, Mrs. Sophia Kuehl of Campbellsport and Mrs. Harold Laverenz of Fond du Lac.

BREWSTER—Dr. and Mrs. N. E. Hausmann of this village received notice recently that a son, Terry Edward, was born on July 6 to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Hughes Brewster of Stanford university, Palo Alto, Calif. The Brewsters have one other child.

VARNES—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Varnes of West Bend are the parents of a son born Wednesday, July 16, at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend. Mrs. Varnes is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zimmermann of this village. The happy parents have two other sons.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license has been issued in Milwaukee to P. Paul Kern and Miss Crescence L. Stoffel, both of that city. They will be married early in August. Miss Stoffel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stoffel, former residents of Kewaskum.

Runaway Truck Damaged in Tipover at Overhead

A large semi-trailer truck owned by the Pope Bros. Transportation Co. of Wausau was damaged in a freak accident on Highway 55 north of the village early Tuesday morning. The accident occurred when the driver stopped the truck because of motor trouble a short distance north of the overhead bridge. While the driver was placing a flare a few feet back of the truck the brakes evidently unlocked and the machine began moving down hill. Parked on the right side of the highway, facing north, the driverless truck crossed the road, rolled down a steep hill on the other side of the highway into a deep culvert where it overturned.

No one was injured but both the truck and trailer were quite badly damaged. It took until the following afternoon before the truck could be righted and removed from the ditch. The entire load of meats and vegetables had to be removed from the trailer before the truck could be pulled across a field and out on County Trunk V which enters Highway 55 at an angle near the scene.

ANNUAL REUNION HELD BY GRADUATING CLASS OF '38

The members of the 1938 graduating class of the Kewaskum High school held their third annual reunion at Lake Ellen Sunday. For entertainment swimming, boating and dancing were enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the group participated in a bratwurst and wiener roast. Out of the 36 members of the class, 20 attended and with husbands, wives and friends the total number present was 30. All had a grand time meeting their classmates and spending a day together again after three years' separation. The affair is held each year on the third Sunday in July.

Class members attending were: Charlotte Romaine, Bernadette Kohler and friend, Florence McKee, Sylvia Maedke, Evelyn Krautkramer, Mrs. Hugo Kuester and husband, Harry Koch, John Petri and lady friend, Roland Koepke and lady friend, Vernon Lierman and wife, Lester Berchert and wife, Roy Jandre, Bill Roshdzan and lady friend, Sylvester Harter and lady friend, Andrew Brodzeller, Floyd Hansen, Eleanor Bartel, Patricia Buss, Terlinden. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kemper, Mr. and Mrs. David Theel, Dick Theel, Miss Doris Theel and Miss Emma Theel of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Arbie Gatzke and son of Sheboygan Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Kohn of Kewaskum, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kreutzinger, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kreutzinger and daughter, Mrs. Vinelda Borski and children, Rosalia and Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Patton, Henry Kaiser, Mr. and Mrs. Art Staeger, Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Vetter, Mr. and Mrs. John Deckliver and children, Loraine and Willard, Mrs. E. Gatzke and Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Hausner and son Ralph.

STENSCHKE DAIRY ROUTE TAKEN OVER BY EARL ETTA

Earl Etta, proprietor of the Kettle Moraine Dairy, Kewaskum, wishes to announce that he recently purchased the business and equipment of Stenschke's Dairy from the owner, Traugott Stenschke, who operated the route in the village the past two years. Etta is now supplying the patrons of Mr. Stenschke's route which he has combined with his former route. He will conduct the business under the name of Kettle Moraine Dairy. The new owner will continue to handle the so-called raw milk and chocolate milk from his farm and also pasteurized milk and other dairy products manufactured by the Kewaskum Creamery company, formerly sold by Stenschke. The latter discontinued the business to devote his full time to masonry and other work.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license has been issued in Milwaukee to P. Paul Kern and Miss Crescence L. Stoffel, both of that city. They will be married early in August. Miss Stoffel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stoffel, former residents of Kewaskum.

Contracts For School Bus Let Out by Board

Vote to Furnish Transportation to Students Passed by 25 to 1 at Adjourned Meeting Monday Night

The adjourned school meeting of Joint District No. 5 of the village and town of Kewaskum was called to order Monday evening at 8:20 by Director M. W. Rosenheimer. An incomplete survey of the parent reaction to having tuition students brought to the local school by bus was conducted during the past week and was reported on by members of the board and Principal C. M. Rose.

After a lengthy discussion it was moved by H. Rosenheimer and seconded by Melvin Brandt as to whether it is advisable to provide transportation either by contract or by purchase, for tuition students. This motion was voted on by written ballot and carried 25 to 6. It was moved by E. M. Romaine and seconded by K. A. Honeck that the school board be authorized to contract with some individual to furnish transportation to tuition students for said Jt. District No. 5 of the village and town of Kewaskum, abiding with the state regulations and for such a term as the school board may see fit. The motion was voted upon and carried 25 to 1.

It was then decided by the board to accept sealed bids on these contracts, all bids to be in by July 31st and the board reserving the right to accept or reject any or all bids.

It was moved by H. Rosenheimer and seconded by Edw. E. Miller to adjourn. Paul Landmann, Clerk.

BUSINESSMEN'S MEETING

The first regular monthly meeting of the Kewaskum Businessmen's association will be held next Tuesday evening, July 29, at 8 p. m. The place of the meeting has not been selected as yet but will be announced to members by card or phone before that date. The association was organized last month and has close to 60 members, all of whom are urged to attend Tuesday's meeting as important business will be discussed. Refreshments will be served.

HOSPITAL NEWS

SANDWICHES THAT REALLY TEMPT (See Recipes Below)

BUFFET SUPPERS

If there's one season of the year when you like to feel really free from the heat of the kitchen, then summer's that season. You can do it easily, too, if you'll plan and prepare C-O-O-L meals in the early hours of the day before the heat becomes sweltering. Then stay strictly out of the kitchen until supper-time.

Make mealtime during these months as simple as possible. Not only will you be the more charming for doing less work, but your family will enjoy the simplicity as a change. One of the answers to this is buffet service. An attractively arranged table on the summer porch is a tonic for hazy summer appetites.

*Sandwich Loaf.

For Chicken Filling use: 1 cup ground, cooked chicken 1/2 cup ground almonds 2 to 4 tablespoons chopped celery Salt to taste Lemon juice to flavor Salad dressing to moisten Mix chicken, celery and almonds. Season with salt and lemon juice and add enough dressing to give spreading consistency.

For Egg Filling use: 4 hard cooked eggs 1/2 cup chopped cooked bacon or 1/2 cup stuffed olives, chopped Salt to season Few drops Worcestershire sauce Salad dressing or cream to moisten. Chop eggs, add bacon and Worcestershire sauce. Moisten with salad dressing to give spreading consistency.

Remove the crusts from an uncut loaf of day-old white sandwich bread. Slice lengthwise to make three or four slices each 3/4 inch thick. It's a good idea to have the bottom slice thicker than the other three since it helps in placing the loaf when served. Spread slices, except top and bottom, with creamed butter, mayonnaise, then with different fillings. Use chicken filling between two slices; egg filling for the next and chopped vegetables moistened with mayonnaise for the third or tomato slices.

Stack and cover top and sides with soft cream cheese piled like frosting. Garnish with thin radish slices and dust with chopped chives. Chill in the refrigerator several hours before serving. It's better not to use lettuce because it offers slicing difficulties after the loaf is served.

For the cream cheese frosting use 1/4 to 1/2 pound of cream cheese. Add rich milk or cream to make a thick paste. Beat cheese and cream until evenly mixed and of good consistency for spreading. Spread over loaf to give a fluffy effect, as though you were swirling icing.

LYNN SAYS:

When you think the thermometer's going to burst, then think cool, eat cool, act cool, and you'll be cool. Drink plenty of water and cooling beverages.

Be gay and have your meals casually out on the shady porch on a bright table cloth. Serve things buffet style for it'll make it easier all the way around: less table setting, less dishes, and less to do.

No one may feel much like eating, and people, generally eat less during summer months, but they must still have the proper diet. So bring out your crisp garden salads, chilled main dishes, and assorted fruits. Be Cool!

REFLECT SUMMER IN THE HOME

By ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN

Little boy blue dreams of summer days in terms of ice cream and outdoor digging. But his mother is more concerned with bringing indoors some of the balmy freshness of summer weather. It's not much of a trick to shift the scene entirely with the seasons, and it does wonders for the family morale.

Take, for instance, a quite average living room with Eighteenth century mahogany furniture, apple green walls, a deeper green rug, a white mantel. During its dignified green winter days, the furniture is upholstered in damask and velvets, and the windows are formally hung with damask. When summer comes, the draperies come down and in their place white organdy curtains go up, full ones with enormous coin dots and wide ruffles, made to hang crisscross in huge swoops across double windows. And all the furniture is slip covered in a brilliantly flowered cretonne on a light green ground. Even the lamp shades are changed; in place of the stretched

THIS WEEK'S MENU

- *Sandwich Loaf
- *Tomato-Cheese Salad
- *Honey and Nut Bran Muffins
- *Spiced Rhubarb Jam
- Cool Beverage
- Chilled Assorted Fruit Plate
- *Recipe given.

*Tomato-Cheese Salad.

(Serves 8-10)
1 can (10 1/2 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 1/2 tablespoons gelatine
1/4 cup cold water
6 to 8 ounces cottage cheese
1/2 cup mayonnaise
Salt to taste
1 cup chopped cucumber
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
Lettuce
Tart french dressing

Heat the tomato soup, butter and grated onion. Soften gelatine in cold water and add it to the hot tomato mixture. Add the cottage cheese and mayonnaise, stir the mixture thoroughly and salt it to taste. Let the mixture cool until it thickens slightly, then add the chopped vegetables. Pour into a large ring mold or individual molds and chill until firm. When ready to serve unmold on crisp lettuce. Use a tart french dressing with this salad.

Muffins that will bake in a few minutes will give your meal a tang and zest that will bring cheers from the family. These are so good you'll want them often for any meal of the day. If made in the smaller muffin tins, they'll make a grand addition when you have the ladies in for luncheon.

*Honey and Nut Bran Muffins.

(Makes 16 large muffins)
1/2 cup honey
1 cup flour
1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups bran cereal
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 1/2 cups milk
3/4 cup walnuts, chopped fine
Sift together flour, soda, salt, and mix with bran cereal. Add other ingredients. Place in greased gem pans and bake in a quick oven (425 degrees) for 25-30 minutes.

A jam spicy and delicious to go with your muffins is this one which needs only a few minutes' cooking and is therefore guaranteed not to make your kitchen unbearably hot.

*Spiced Rhubarb Jam With Orange.

(Makes 7 6-ounce glasses)
3 1/2 cups prepared fruit
4 cups sugar
1 box powdered fruit pectin
To prepare fruit, trim and slice fine (do not peel) about 2 pounds of small red-stalked rhubarb. Add 1 cup of sugar, mix, let stand for 15 minutes. (This cup of sugar is added in addition to the ones specified above). Add 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon and cloves, and grated rind of 1 orange.

Measure prepared fruit into a 5- to 6-quart kettle filling up last cup or fraction of a cup with water if necessary. Place over the hottest fire, add fruit pectin, mix well, and continue stirring until mixture comes to a hard boil. To reduce foaming 1/4 teaspoon butter may be added. Pour in the 4 cups of sugar, stirring, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute.

Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Weather, and Its Relation To Behavior

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

SO DEFINITE is the knowledge that wet weather or an impending storm aggravate the symptoms of rheumatism that we fail to see the humor in the story of the salesman who tried to sell a customer a barometer. The salesman pointed out that the barometer would tell when the weather was going to change. To which the customer replied, "Why would I need a barometer? What do you think the good Lord gave us rheumatism for?"

TODAY'S HEALTH COLUMN

In wards of hospitals containing patients with rheumatism there are always more complaining when a storm or unsettled weather approaches. A ward that is quiet one day may have two or three nurses "on the jump" the next, due entirely to the weather. That the weather greatly affects nervous individuals and those whose family history shows evidences of strange or unusual behavior has now been shown. At the last meeting of the Section on Nervous and Mental Diseases of the American Medical Association, Doctors William F. Petersen, Chicago, and Hans H. Reese, Madison, Wis., stated that the psychotic (strange behavior) patient lives in an atmosphere and that atmosphere in this region of the world varies tremendously from day to day. While every healthy normal individual is affected by weather changes, these nervous or psychotic individuals are more affected, due to the fact that they have not the nervous "balance" of those who are normal.

When the blood becomes less alkaline (nearer an acid condition) the thin nervous individual, with the blood and tissues less alkaline, becomes blue, depressed and irritable.

When the individual of normal build—not stocky nor slender—is not much affected by the weather. Also, the stocky individual when he is young is not much affected. On the other hand, in the slender individual there are periods of elation and depression.

When the blood becomes less alkaline (nearer an acid condition) the thin nervous individual, with the blood and tissues less alkaline, becomes blue, depressed and irritable.

Removing Warts On Soles of Feet

WHEN we see an individual walking carefully, perhaps with one foot turned slightly outwards or inwards, or a slight limp is noticeable, it is due, in many cases, not to arthritis or to a fallen arch, but to one or more tiny warts buried deep in some callous. It is only when cutting down on the callous that small reddish or brownish black dots may be seen. These dots are really tiny blood vessels.

For the past few years, radium and X-rays has been considered the best method of treatment. However, Drs. J. H. Marks and C. C. Franseen, Boston, in New England Journal of Medicine, state that while this is the best method of removal, there are some cases in which the after effects of this treatment are more or less serious. In a series of 15 cases treated by X-rays, 10 showed a complete cure, one required removal of toe by surgery, one still had a remnant of the wart and three failed to obtain a cure but were later cured by electricity.

Of six patients treated by X-rays after failure by use of radium, only two obtained satisfactory results, one had to have toe removed and three required surgical treatment to obtain results. "If a single radiation treatment fails to cure the method should be discontinued," they report. Electrocautery, when properly carried out, gives excellent results. The absence of late after effects and the certainty of sure removal of the wart if done under a local anesthetic, easily make up for the slight immediate discomfort. In all cases in which radium has failed, electrocautery has succeeded in removing the wart.

The lesson, then, is that treatment by use of electricity under a local anesthetic is method of choice when radium and X-rays have failed.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What causes my nose to swell and get red?

A.—If your nose only swells, better see a nose specialist. If nose and eyes swell, may be due to some food you are eating.

Q.—What is brewer's yeast?

A.—You can get brewer's yeast in its natural form or in tablets. It is not a trade name. Your drug-gist can supply you with brewer's yeast tablets made by various drug companies.

Q.—Please suggest some method of easing the discomfort of Bright's disease.

A.—Patients with Bright's disease often live for many years if they can get enough rest so that the heart will not be overtaxed. Meat, eggs or fish are now allowed once a day to maintain strength. Bowels should be kept open, but not purged. Enemas could be used at times. Liver helps keep blood rich in iron.

Q.—What causes epilepsy?

A.—Some cases of epilepsy are due to injury at birth or later. An X-ray of skull may help to find this.

Enchanting Party Frocks of All-White for Evening Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

DO YOU believe in the magic of fairy wands? Unless it be at the touch of a fairy wand how could such visions of loveliness as the trio pictured ever come into being?

It is just such lacy, beguiling sheer and lovely gowns as these that women who yearn for pretty clothes envision in their dreams of "what to wear," when they go dancing on a gay summer night. So be as sentimental, as blithely romantic as you will in choosing all the way through the program of your midsummer night, festive particularly favors exquisitely fragrant, keeping in mind that fashion particularly favors this season, with the emphasis definitely on all white for evening wear.

The all-white lace dress as pictured to the left is making its appearance again and again on best-dressed women who are attending fashionable night clubs or formal events at important summer resort hotels. It adds to the lure of this lace that it is American made. It is as exquisite and beautiful as it is surprisingly inexpensive. Crisp, white and delicate, the new laces make you look your prettiest with their lure and charm. The dress has its own rayon taffeta slip.

The South American influence is very prominent in the white cotton lace evening gown shown centered in the group. The four flounces on the skirt are reminiscent of the Spanish dancer's costume. The deep capelike collar opens at the back. With the return of the "gracious lady" period, the call for handsome lace such as fashions this distinguished frock is outstanding. Nothing in the way of sheer cottons surpasses organza and when it is elaborately eyeleted as is the organza used for the "picture" gown on the fair socialite portrayed here, the effect is most eye-appealing. The introduction of black jersey in the bodice is in keeping with the present trend. This touch of black gives a sophisticated look to an otherwise airy, fairy ingenue frock. The wing-sleeved bolero and the very full over-skirt effect are high-style details. This matter of sheer airy-fairy fabrics for the party dress carries all the way through the program of the "pretty" frocks fashion so definitely favored this season. Often yards and yards of billowy tulle or stiffened chiffon or thinnest of marquisette go to make up the full skirt with its quaint little fitted bodice.

A new vogue this season is that of enormous florals handpainted on either most diaphanous filmy white sheers or these flower paintings are done on white jersey likewise white shirtdress in dazzling color glory. Most of the new white dresses of rayon jersey (with a dull finish) or rayon crepe are made very simply. They are, however, given a look of distinction and importance by intriguing touches such as gold kid trimmings, gold or jeweled buttons, girdles with an enrichment of jewel embroidery.

Watch buttons! They promise to be as important as jewelry in the evening mode, and are used conspicuously so as to call attention to their intricate design. Huge flower buttons add infinite charm to the otherwise all-white frock. Immense mother-of-pearl buttons are fashion highlights. Some of the pearl buttons are made up with a filigree design worked out in gold or silver. You can get buttons that snap on and off and thus change the entire aspect and color scheme at will. ## Vacation Outfit

You can bank on this simple rayon sheer striped dress no matter where you vacation, for simplicity is America's fashion this summer from coast to coast. Broadening horizontal shoulder stripes, with whitening vertical stripes prove the stripe is quicker than the eye when it comes to actually whitening down the figure. This optical-illusion outfit comes in brown and blue, navy and white, also gray and white. A flaring brimmed hat and gauntlet gloves complete this outfit.

Chic Fur Capes Are on Fashion's New Calendar

Keep on the lookout for fur capes. They're on their way! They are available in any length from shoulder to waist depth and longer. If you have a coat that has served its time go to your favorite furrier without delay and have him transform it into a latest-model cape. If you are buying out-and-out new furs, before you invest take a look at the stunning cape fashions that definitely will carry the "new" look from now on. These are the final word in chic.

Linen Dresses and Suits Season's Smart Styles

Women of assured fashion intuition regard suits in black or brown, navy, or dark green linen as the best-looking costume of the season for town wear. These are meticulously tailored and are given charm and femininity via lovely white-lingerie accents.

One-piece dresses of non-wrinkle linen are very popular this summer. They are made with all the fine dressmaker details such as enhance chic models in crepe or thin wool. There are such highlight touches as braid trims, odd huge buttons and so on. The dress that looks like a suit, also princess types, are popular in linen.

Print Lingerie

Enthusiasm for lingerie and negligee apparel that is fashioned of either cotton or silk prints that are patterned with luscious looking strawberries is running high. You will love the new rose-motif prints, too.

Tips Picked Up in World Fashion Centers

A hula skirt of fibers is worn over bathing trunks of tropic flouting cotton in one gay and young swim suit.

One new white sandal is split down the toes, the two parts of the shoe being held together by trios of brown leather dots.

A lapel ornament of tiny white beads in the shape of a mountain ram on a gold background is an original touch.

Casual cotton play suits or slacks will be ever so much more comfortable in sports in the country.

Add yellow to your white or navy dresses and watch them take on smartness and life.

There are ropes of plastic colored daisies for wrist and throat, and daisy pins, too, for your pockets.

For that touch of white with your navy or black, try a strand of shiny white beads.

HIGH PRICES Do Not Go WITH ADVERTISING

Advertising and high prices do not go together at all. They are extremely incompatible to each other. It is only the product which is undervalued, which has no established market, that costs more than you can afford to pay. Whenever you go into a store and buy an item of advertised merchandise, it doesn't make any difference what you are getting more for your money—more in quality and service—than you would get if you spent the same amount for something which was not advertised.

calm assurance. "I have identified myself and am prepared to do so again. The precise nature of my mission I am not permitted to disclose to you. Beyond that I've nothing to say."

Without taking his eyes from Benning, Bravot slowly opened a drawer of his desk and brought out an automatic pistol.

As he leveled the weapon across the desk Bravot's left hand went to a call button which sent a rasping summons into the outer office. Oldier came in at once.

"We have had a close call, Oldier," Bravot said. He passed his left hand across his forehead, now wet with perspiration. "This man is an Army Intelligence agent who shot at me once, and whom I stupidly overlooked in Mexico due to my preoccupation with other matters."

Benning heard the outer door open. Oldier, terror leaping into his little eyes, jumped across the room and slammed Bravot's door. Benning sprang to his feet, but the ape-like arms of Bravot were about him in an instant with all the crushing force of motor-driven prongs.

Benning felt himself lifted clear of the floor by a strength against which his own sinews were powerless. Bravot carried him across the room to the Bravot concrete vault that lay open behind heavy steel doors. The ape-man hurled him inside with a stunning violence and heaved the doors shut.

Benning picked himself up and shook his head to clear his wits from the shock of his fall. Only the habit of self-discipline saved him from panic as he found himself engulfed in this black, steel-encased void. He heard the vague click of bolts as the door was locked, then silence.

HE KNEW THAT rescue depended largely upon that phosgene cigarette he had tossed out the window as a signal to Intelligence operatives being low. He argued that they had caught the signal; it must have been G-2 men who invaded the Andes office at the critical instant of his imprisonment.

UNCLEAN MILK SOURS QUICKLY

Bacteria Growth Causes an Unpleasant Taste.

By E. W. NEASHAM (Extension Dairyman, Louisiana State University.)

Sour milk is probably the greatest cause of loss to the milk supply, and yet it is one of the most simple troubles to control.

Clean cows—clean sterilized utensils—small-top milking pails—these are the three most important factors in improving the quality of milk.

About 80 per cent of all bacteria that gain entrance to milk come from the utensils, the remainder coming from the dust of the air, dirt on the flanks of the animal, and from the milker.

In cleaning utensils, they should be rinsed immediately with cold water as soon as emptied, then washed in as warm water as hands can stand, containing a good dairy or washing powder (not soap or soap powder).

Dirt and fecal matter which cling to the udder, flanks and body of the cow introduce organisms which produce undesirable odors and flavors. They also form gases from the sugar of the milk.

To prevent falling dirt and hair going into the milk the use of the small-top pail is highly essential. This perhaps is the most important utensil that can be used in improving the quality of the milk.

In order to control the growth of organisms, the milk should be kept at a temperature of 50 degrees or lower. At such temperature the growth practically ceases or is so slow as to be of little importance.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Weed

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Soybeans The saga of the humble bean tells how a little-known farm product has skyrocketed to fame in 20 years, has been adopted by industry, and has become the dependable cash crop of thousands of farmers.

The crushing of soybean oil has become a great new industry with nearly 100 mills operating in the important Midwest growing centers. Each year more beans are crushed and the great bulk of the $2,000,000 pounds of oil goes into the making of oleomargarine.

Other products in which the oil is used are glycerin, linoleum, celluloid, rubber substitute, soap stock, printing ink, core binder, candles and lecithin which is used in medicines and leather tanning. Soybean meal is being converted into glue, fertilizer and stock and poultry feed.

Soybean plastics go into automobile parts amounting to 10-15 pounds of beans per car. Soybean oil is the base of lustrous enamel for cars as well as a new kind of water paint. Soybean casein is spun and woven into a firm upholstery fabric which will soon appear in automobiles. At the Ford River Rouge plant, soybean plastic automobile bodies are being made experimentally, which, if adopted for all Ford cars, would require 700,000 bushels of beans in this field alone.

Principal producing states are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Ohio. The bean has a tariff lobby in Washington, a listing on the Chicago grain board and the New York Producers Exchange.

Agricultural Notes

The dairy cow can supply at least one-fifth of the farm family's food supply. One of the main objectives in growing winter cover crops is to increase soil fertility. Blackstrap molasses is palatable and relished by livestock. It has a mildly laxative effect. In building gates on farms, enough space should be allowed to permit the easy moving of large farm implements.

LEAVES from Uncle Sam's Notebook

Planting for Windbreak

In any unsheltered spot, whether on the wide and treeless areas of the Great Plains or in the equally wide and treeless stretches of the reclaimed desert areas, or in small sections where, for one reason or another, there are few trees, it is of the greatest possible value to the farmer to plant a windbreak.

In like manner, it is often of great importance to plant some sort of screen, either to hide unsightly views, to mark a boundary, or to provide a background for ornamental plantings, for a pergola, or a summer house. Such a screen may be needed by any home owner, whether farmer, suburbanite, or city dweller.

Authorities in the field of arboriculture recommend that a windbreak, or shelter-belt as it is frequently called, consist of two or three varieties of trees rather than just one, and that it be planted with tall trees in the center rows, somewhat shorter ones in intermediate rows, and low-growing or shrubby ones on the outside rows.

In the course of time such a planting comes to have the appearance of a green tent. If, as is usually the case, it is important to secure a rapid growth, the center rows may be planted first to cottonwoods but since these are short-lived they should be replaced as promptly as possible by the longer-lived elms—either the American or the Chinese variety.

For intermediate rows, unless the soil is of heavy clay or low and wet, any of the following may be chosen: Honeylocust, Green ash, Hackberry, western yellow pine (Ponderosa) or Colorado spruce. For the low, outside rows, any of the following will do well on almost any type of soil; Chokecherry, lilac, service-berry, American wild plum, Tartarian honeysuckle or Russian olive.

For a rather tall-growing screen any of the trees recommended for outside rows in the shelter-belt will serve. The Russian olive with its gracefully, gray-green foliage is particularly attractive; choke-cherries and service-berry have the added advantage of yielding usable fruit, and the lilac is too well known to require discussion.

The usual spacing of trees in a shelterbelt is two to four feet in the row, for low-growing outside shrubs, and six feet for trees in the inner rows. Rows should lie from 8 to 12 feet apart. With such spacing, the treetops will in time interlace and lower branches also will grow so close together that they will effectively keep out the wind and stop drifting snows.

Cottonwood seedlings are extremely hardy and may be pulled anywhere and transplanted with success. Any of the willows (suited, of course, only to rather low, moist ground) will grow readily from cuttings. Aside from these species, it is better to buy nursery-grown stock rather than to try to transplant young trees from wild growth near by. The nursery stock usually has a much better root system than does the wild stock and hence endures transplanting much better. It is customary for nurseries to sell planting stock by height. As a matter of fact, height is less important than stockiness. Experiments have shown that best results are secured from stock measuring from one-fourth to three-fourths of an inch just above the root collar. Such stock may range anywhere from 12 to 24 inches in height. If conifers are being planted, they should be from 6 to 12 inches in height, with preference given to trees of the smaller size because the smaller size makes it possible to keep the root system intact.

Four fundamental principles underlie success in transplanting tree stock. These are: 1. Keep the roots moist at all times; either carry the tree in a pail of water or wrap the roots in a wet cloth. 2. Make the hole for planting wide enough and deep enough to fit the roots of the tree to be planted. 3. Set the tree a little deeper than it stood in the nursery. 4. Pack the soil firmly about the roots.

Turtles belong to one of the four great orders of reptiles. Their most notable characteristic is the horny shell or shield which protects them. Most of them are capable of drawing in their heads, legs and tails up into their shells, thus presenting an impenetrable surface to their enemies. The well-known snapping turtle, which is one of those which are not able to draw in their appendages, is nevertheless a redoubtable fighter. He defends himself, much as does a snake, by striking.

A place that is dry and roomy, with plenty of fresh air and sunlight, must be supplied both for young chicks and for laying hens. The first essential in providing housing for either group, is comfortable as for people! SHORTAGE OF HORSES A reprint from the Yearbook of Agriculture for 1930 indicates that the production of horses and mules in the United States is well below replacement needs.

Good Listening

Being a good listener is essential to conversation. Some people turn conversation into a debate. While the other person is talking, the debater is not listening, but thinking up something in support of his own opinion. When such a conversation is over, he is more thoroughly convinced that he himself is right.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Russian Army Plan for Slowing Blitz Follows China's 'Retreating' Technique; Churchill Hails Soviet as 'Real Ally'; Extension of Draftee Service Sought

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Deeper into Russia than their companions—but unarmed—these invading Nazi soldiers are marched off to a Red prison camp after capture "Somewhere on the eastern front." That bald-headed, shirt-clad panzer trooper, fourth from left, in the front line, looks out of place among his companions, who seem to be shock-headed boys.

BEAR: On Defense

The Russian Bear, no matter what the communists might say, was obviously putting up a hard fight before the advancing German mechanized forces, and the British, who had taken the quick defeat of Russia as a foregone conclusion were beginning to cheer.

Churchill, who had been through three previous milder stages of hailing Russia as a companion in arms, finally and very bluntly told the house of commons "of course Russia is an ally of Britain."

One of the signs that the Reds' defense of their homeland was vigorous and not without military merit came from an official admission on the part of Germany's high command that the Nazi armies had hurled back a considerable counter-attack.

Communications "solvers" naturally saw in this admission proof that the Russian armies were actually fighting, and battling to some purpose in their gradual withdrawal to the Stalin line and perhaps further to the interior.

Washington observers cautioned against too much faith in an eventual Russian victory, however, unless the defenders would be able to withdraw their armies with much of their equipment intact, into that hinterland broadly described as "the Urals."

As in the Battle of France, it was conceded that the French would have had a chance of immobilizing the war only if they were willing to give up Paris and other cherished cities and move backward with the assault, harassing the advancing Nazis and softening their blows, "riding with the punches" as the boxing phrase has it.

This was the technique which enabled to make a four-year-old war of position out of the Japanese blitz of 1937 in China. It was the same technique which observers in this country were recommending for Russia.

There was nothing in dispatches to show that the Reds were not doing just that, save that no city of vital importance like Leningrad, Moscow or Kiev had yet fallen, though Germans claimed they had passed the latter.

It was impossible, in view of conflicting claims, to determine with even probable accuracy and allowing for a wide margin of error to figure the price being paid by either side in the Russo-German war.

If German claims were to be believed, Russia had left only a fragmentary part of her motorized equipment and her air force. If Russia were to be believed Germany was reduced to using "canvas" tanks and mere boys to operate them.

But even the German communiques admitted Russia still had hundreds of tanks in action, and hundreds of planes, and the Reds' bombing activities were reported from neutral points to be hitting targets far within Rumania and far within Finland.

The actual facts of the war, however, remained continually clouded in mystery, despite the fact that correspondents finally were admitted to Moscow, which also installed a short-wave radio to give out war news to the United States and other countries.

HOPKINS: To London

Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's "trouble shooter" and confidant, was being sent to London again.

While there was little definite information readily available as to the reason for Hopkins' second trip to England, it was recalled that only the other day in the house of commons there had been some bitter statement over the handling of American plane purchases.

One British critic of the ministry of production (Lord Beaverbrook at the time) stated that he knew of whole warehouses full of American planes, still uncrated because those in charge of purchases hadn't had the sense to buy the necessary fittings and replacement parts to put them into service.

Subsequently Churchill rebuked those who had made these statements, saying that the reaction in the United States and particularly in Australia had been "very bad" to such debates.

MARSHALL: His Plan

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. army, urged two major points before congress' senate military affairs committee, and apparently the President was willing to go along with one, but not with the other.

Point No. 1 was that the selectees should be kept in uniform longer than a calendar year from the time of their induction. He wanted this restriction removed by congress from the selective service law.

Point No. 2 was that he wanted the restrictions removed ordering that selectees could serve only in the Western hemisphere. The President apparently was willing to exempt some White House pressure on congress to get the second provision passed.

However, early polls of senatorial reactions to both points were unfavorable, though a majority of those questioned reported themselves "undecided" and "preferring to hear the debate."

The question had broadly resolved itself into how large an army the U. S. should have, and how long it takes to train a soldier.

General Marshall also made the point that the selectees had been poured into all army units, with the result that if they were sent home after a year, these units would suffer dismemberment.

JAPAN: On the Verge

The sudden resignation of the Japanese cabinet, together with many dispatches quoting the indefinite "diplomatic sources," seemed to indicate that Nippon might be on the verge of some important step in world affairs.

What this might be remained hidden, though British statements seemed to hint that Japan might be contemplating a move into Indo-China.

A secondary guess was that Japan might be planning a "token" assault on Russia's east coast—Siberia, perhaps to attempt to close the port of Vladivostok—name famous in the Japanese-Russian war at the turn of the century.

The quitting cabinet is the one which put Soviet Russia into the Rome-Berlin axis, and also, strangely enough, into a neutrality accord with Russia.

The government was almost exactly a year in office, so it could not be charged with the stalemate in China, in fact it was not organized to do anything about the Chinese war.

There was little that could be said surely about the situation, some holding that the cabinet resignation meant that Japan's whole foreign policy would be reoriented in view of the German-Russian war.

Whether this would mean that the next government would be more pro-German, or whether Japan was getting ready to withdraw from all European commitments could hardly be told.

Certain it was that in Tokyo was a little group of Nazis who were said to have dominated the last cabinet, and to have been urging the strongest possible intimidation of America in the Pacific, in order to occupy the United States so strongly with the West coast that aid to Britain might be minimized.

ROOSEVELT: Nazi Names

The German press, in its previous references to this country, had been relatively mild. On the contrary, the papers were now vying with each other to use strong language about President Roosevelt.

The President, said one paper, "is circling like a vulture over the Azores and the Cape Verde islands."

Another said: "Roosevelt has raised gangsterism to be a symbol in politics."

Still another wrote: "Roosevelt and his advisers will leave nothing undone to approach closer to the theater of war and finally to move directly onto the battlefield."

And the Italian editor Gayda said: "Germany and Italy are ready with sufficient forces to meet American aggression."

Many commentators thought perhaps this editorial prelude was the forerunner of some drastic statement, perhaps a breaking of diplomatic relations between the Axis and the United States.

In the Navy

Joseph P. Kennedy Jr., son of the former ambassador to Great Britain and Harvard graduate, has joined Uncle Sam's navy, enlisting for the duration in the air force. He made his entry along with many other college men and was quickly inducted. He is shown in a training plane, ready for Lesson Number One.

SYRIA: Now British

The victory of the British and Free French in Syria, being somewhat dwarfed by the news from Russia and the war developments in this country seemed to receive only minor mention in the American press, though the British were getting more solid satisfaction out of it than had appeared on the eve of the armistice.

Some of the terms began to come overseas, and it was significant that they called for the turning over to the British of all arms except those belonging to individuals, including ships and planes.

Paris was quick to report that all planes and ships had escaped capture, though this dispatch, coming from German-controlled territory, was somewhat discounted.

Churchill summed up the advantages of the Syrian victory briefly as removing to a greater distance the threat to Suez, also the fact that some of the disaster of Crete had been overcome, in that the air base on the island of Cyprus now could be protected. The Germans, heavily engaged with Russia, however, seemed in no hurry to try another air conquest from Crete to Cyprus.

That the Germans' air position in the eastern Mediterranean was sufficiently strong was indicated in the sinking of a British small naval vessel of 1,200 tons by air fire, the survivors reporting that they were attacked by 80 dive bombers at one time. Their convoy escaped with supplies destined for Tobruk's beleaguered garrison.

Most important of the Syrian armistice terms was the choice to be offered to French residents, civilian and military, as to whether they would be deported to French territory, or whether they would join the Free French government under British mandate.

R. A. F.: Business as Usual

The Royal Air Force, stepping up its bombing scale steadily, reported as one day of "business as usual" the dropping of 1,500 tons of bombs on cities in Germany and occupied countries.

The British were claiming that these attacks were at least as severe as any Britain had had to withstand during the hey-day of the German onslaught from the air and that they would get stronger as time wore on.

One contrast between the Nazis' blitz of London and over British objectives and the British attack on Germany and occupied countries was in the photographic evidence.

Outside of one or two pictures sent out from Germany showing fire fighters atop buildings in Berlin, the country might as well be entirely unscathed, as far as picture evidence would go.

Whereas the American newspapers had carried literally thousands of photographs of air-raid effects in England, from the digging out of the dead and wounded to the damage that was done to Westminster Abbey and the tower from which Big Ben chimes out the hours.

The reason was that the British took the pictures of their own damage, and the censors permitted them to be sent out. So the United States got a view of what modern war was like.

The Germans permitted two or three such pictures to get to this country, but for more than a year nothing of the kind was shown, and as the air attacker can't get low enough to photograph his own damage—it didn't look as though any would get out.

Among the targets were Bremen, Cologne and other big centers of rail and steamship traffic.

And the British assumed that 1,500 tons of their bombs would wreak about the same havoc on Bremen as the same weight of German bombs had on London.

Churchill summed it up when he said that he believed if the British people were permitted to vote on whether bombings of cities would continue or be stopped by both sides, they would vote NO! And his audience cheered to the echo.

MISCELLANY: Pittsburgh: There was little question of the deferment of Samuel H. Isenberg, at 35 the father of 12 children. He was believed to have struck a new high for direct dependents.

London: The BBC was puzzled about whether to play the Internationale, Russian anthem, along with others of its allies on patriotic programs. It found a neat solution. It's dispensing with the playing of any anthems except Britain's.

U. S. Is Now a Reservoir For European Livestock

Fine Breeds of Cattle and Horses Are Shipped Here to Protect Them From Results of War.

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

The tall hostess with the spiked head-dress who gets the first look at America's new arrivals (I mean Miss Liberty, of Bedloe's island, New York harbor) has seen some strange sights lately.

Some of the anxious shiploads that pause at her doorstep hurrying westward have brought a tear, some a worried frown, some a hopeful smile.

There was one group of refugees, proud yet humble servants of man, huddled below decks. Miss Liberty could not see them. Had she been able to, she would have dipped her torch in welcome.

For the war has brought to America some of the finest bloodstains of homes and cattle from the bomb-riddled fields and pastures of Europe.

Today, this nation holds no greater treasure, in the deep vaults where the gold bullion is stored, than is sheltered in barn and stable. Some of the great breeds of livestock, which have been all but wiped out in Europe, are preserved here.

Best Reservoir: "The United States now has the best reservoir of blooded livestock in the world," said a department of agriculture official to me the other day.

The two tiny segments of English soil which the Nazis have taken from the British—and the only two, so far—held some of the finest dairy stock in the world: the islands of Jersey and Guernsey, in the English channel. When the British withdrew they gave the islanders a chance to get out—to go to England. Some of the herdsmen preferred to stay with their herds. What has happened to those herds now we cannot learn. We do know that many have been slaughtered for food or because they could not be fed.

But just before that happened 100 head of the best Jersey breeding stock were sent over to the United States.

And before the bombs began to rain too thickly on England the British did what they had never done before—they exported to this country a number of thoroughbred horses, some of their finest racing stock which has never before been permitted to leave the islands, at any price. This stock, stallions and mares both, has been sold and delivered to wealthy American owners.

Great Draft Horses: What happened to the great draft horses of France and Belgium, whose strains are already well established in America, is not known. Many, it is reported, were slaughtered because of lack of fodder to support them. Many were used for food, for even in the piping days of peace the continental has no prejudice against "steak equine."

Now, America can boast all the pure-blood strains—horses, sheep, cattle, hogs, and poultry. From now on, instead of being chiefly an importer, as we have been from the days when the first Spaniard brought in that strange animal that terrified the Aztecs, the horse, the Western hemisphere will be an exporter of blooded stock.

When the American farmer stands among his herds or flocks, or his wife admires her chicken yard, they often forget that the only livestock which it is reported, were slaughtered because of lack of fodder to support them. Many were used for food, for even in the piping days of peace the continental has no prejudice against "steak equine."

Up until the last few years, man has always lived in civilizations in which there was not enough to go round," said Mr. Perkins. "Today, with our capacity to produce, it's physically possible to provide a decent living standard for all of our people. That's the most important material thing that's happened to the human race since the discovery of fire and the invention of the wheel."

Memories of an Old 'Opera House' Washington's "Opera House" is going. It is a long time since actors trod its boards, since its "Ambassador's tie" glittered with the jeweled ladies of the diplomatic set. For years it was known as the "Belasco theater," one of the most attractive playhouses in the country. Of late it has been a movie house.

On my way back across Lafayette park the other day I glanced up at its sad facade—doors closed, windows blank. And it was then, for the first time in all the 27 years that I have passed it or entered its portals that I noticed the words "Opera House" engraved above them. I walked over and looked at the plaque on the wall, which I had never read before. It said:

On this site Commander John Rogers built an elegant house in 1821. In it on April 14, 1865, an attempt was made to assassinate W. H. Seward, secretary of state, by one of the conspirators who murdered Abraham Lincoln on the same night.

The "opera house" will be soon torn down along with its two neighbors on the east side of the park. One is the beautiful Tayloe mansion with its graceful doorway and wistaria-clad grill work. It was built in 1828. Later, in the McKinley regime, it was called the "little White House" because Sen. Mark Hanna, the power behind the throne in those days, lived there.

The Tayloe house, with the Dolly Madison home next door, for years have formed the Cosmos club, recently sold to the government and awaiting demolition.

Call for Men? From now on you may expect to hear—until or unless it is silenced by a White House tip to Prime Minister Churchill—many British voices calling on America for men. Why will our higher-ups try to silence these voices?

1. It reminds the non-interventionists too much of the last war. 2. The United States army needs the men itself. 3. A lot of high army officers believe charity begins at home.

Churchill said that when Wheeler disclosed landing of troops in Iceland he put the lives of British soldiers in jeopardy. Is jeopardy in the Western hemisphere?

The President disapproved the poll taken by Representative Fish on the question of entering the war. He probably thought the Fish-poll wasn't baited for the right catch.

One reason why the Russians were delayed in their retreat was that Stalin ordered everything destroyed in the path of the Nazis.

The marine corps hymn may be revised, the way things are going now, to read: "If the Germans and Italians ever land on Heaven's scenes, they will find the streets are guarded by United States marines."

All Out for Defense

Engaged in the most gigantic armament program in world history the U. S. expects to spend approximately $28,480,000,000 on ships, planes, munitions, training camps and other defense needs during the next two years. While factories, ammunition plants and shipyards feverishly with production, the nation's inventive genius works behind locked doors to develop new types of mechanized equipment.

Picture Parade

With an appropriation of $11,587,000,000 for a two-ocean navy, marine machine ships like the new $14,000,000 Vulcan, recently launched, are necessary to service the mechanical needs of the country's battleships and cruisers at sea.

Right: The U. S. is spending several millions of dollars on anti-aircraft guns similar to this one. Shells travel 8 1/2 miles into the air. Germany's highest reach is said to be 7 miles.

Cancer Deaths Increase "The reported deaths from cancer have increased from 63 per 100,000 of population in 1900 to 111 per 100,000 in 1936," Dr. James C. Doyle, California, explained recently. "Some attribute this to the increasing average age of the population, some to improved methods of diagnosis, and some to a real increase in the occurrence of cancer." However, he said the number of cancer cures has increased from 24,440 persons in 1934 to 36,087 in 1941.

Bed Ridden, Built Business A bed-ridden victim of crippling arthritis, Miss Beulah Hawkins Grove, Mo., a former nurse and member of The Plains, has built a prosperous coal business in the last five years ago. Miss Grove refused to permit her illness to interfere with a business career. She set about soliciting the coal business by telephone from her bed. Her sidelines are said to be worth $100,000. Her affliction forced her to write with her left hand.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Dr. Minnie L. Maffett, who, as president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, is the leader of about 75,000 career women in America, insists on equal pay for women doing men's jobs, and she also assesses women with heavy responsibility for what lies ahead.

"Women must take leadership in insisting on a new economic world order," says Dr. Maffett. That might seem like a lot of bother for the women, what with getting the children off to camp and this and that, but Dr. Maffett tells them sternly they must face it, "if we want women to have authority in the world of tomorrow." Her observations were addressed to the biennial meeting of the above federation at Los Angeles.

The silver-haired, blue-eyed, pink-cheeked Dr. Maffett, is, like many contenders for equality and authority for women, emphatically feminine. Pre-empted or not, it's a good technique which the early-day suffragists knew and practiced diligently. She lives in Dallas, Texas, where she has long been a distinguished physician and surgeon, a member of the college of medicine of Baylor university, on the staff of the three biggest hospitals in Dallas, and a director of the department of health education of Southern Methodist university.

Descendant of a family which went to Texas in 1834, Dr. Maffett took her academic and medical degrees at the University of Texas. She was elected president of the federation in 1939. She rallies women to intelligent social effort under the slogan "business women in a democracy."

She is a dynamo of energy, flying everywhere—she's an aviation fan—organizing and agitating for women and their work and their readiness for a new economic and cultural show-down after the war. Women certainly do like to get things ship-shape. Perhaps they rate a trial workout, considering the general state of masculine untidiness and confusion now prevailing.

DR. ARTHUR UPHAM POPE, art connoisseur and leading world authority on Iranian art, heads the "Committee for National Moral Out to Give War To Adolf Hitler's 'Secret' Weapon"

It has discovered and identified Hitler's "secret" weapon. As Dr. Pope explains it, the device is precise scientific mastery of impelling scientific forces by which you can make men think and act as you want them to.

One of the latest books of the late Jacques Futrelle, who went down on the Titanic, was "The Thinking Machine." It was about an old professor who discovered what Dr. Pope's committee thinks it has now learned. He finally dominated the world. The theme of the book was that any man who masters certain definite psychological formulas, and employs them diligently, will own and operate mankind.

That is exactly what the Germans have been doing, according to the committee, just now issuing a 155-page brochure describing its research and its findings.

The committee, which began work last July, includes many of the leading social scientists and psychologists of the United States. It delivers not only a detailed description of the German psychological mass-techniques, but it concludes that we have abundant knowledge and skills with which to meet it. But it will be no hit-or-miss job of agitating. It will be a campaign of psychological warfare as carefully contrived as an air battle.

Mr. Pope, a native of Phoenix, R. I., was graduated from Brown university. He has long been a distinguished figure in the world of both art and philosophy—but always on John Ruskin's terms: "Fine art is that in which the head, the heart and the hand go together."

We saw Dr. Pope occasionally when he was professor of philosophy at the University of California, and again at the Foyot restaurant in Paris in 1923, fired up with Persian art and headed toward Teheran, to sink many years and much brilliant scholarship in that area. After a round-trip to about 3000 B. C., he landed in London in 1930 with the noblest exhibition of Persian art ever assembled.

Last year, with his collection greatly augmented, he staged a memorable exhibition in New York, at the Old Union League club.

IF YOU keep your golf score below your age, you're good. Here's Benjamin La Fon Winchell, retired railroad builder and industrialist, celebrating his eighty-fourth birthday, and his current golf score is 83. Up from the railroad shops of Hannibal, Mo., Mr. Winchell became chairman of the board of the "Frisco" system, then one of the longest railroad lines in the world. He retired at 59, to build the Remington Typewriter company, and at 75 joined the directorate of the Dictaphone Corp. He is still active.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN
(© Roger B. Whitman—WNU Service.)

Leaky Brick Veneer

QUESTION: During heavy rains water seeps through my brick veneer house at the joint between the sill and the top of the foundations. What kind of caulking compounds can I use to close the leak?

ANSWER: That condition is fairly common with brick veneer houses. Water works through the bricks and the mortar joints and runs down into the space between the veneer and the sheathing, which is usually about an inch wide. As the sheathing is covered with waterproof paper, the water that collects in the bottom of the space can escape only through the joints along the sill. These joints can be closed with caulking compound, which should be forced in with a caulking gun. A better remedy is to drill a series of holes through the mortar joints in the lowest course of bricks, so that water can drain off to the outside. These holes can be made with a quarter-inch rose drill.

Maps on a Wall

QUESTION: I have removed the paper from the walls of a small room, and am going to cover them with maps. Should the walls be sized? And can I use regular wallpaper paste?

ANSWER: Yes; size the walls and put on the maps by the same method as wallpaper. Get the best grade of wallpaper paste that you can find. Spread the maps on the floor for pasting. In sticking them on, begin at the top edge and roll the maps downward so that all air will be excluded. If you find that bubbles of air have been caught, use a rubber roller of the kind meant for mounting photographs. If the bubbles will not roll out, puncture the paper with a needle; the air will escape, and when the paper is pressed down, the hole will disappear.

House Colors

QUESTION: The lower half of my house is imitation red brick, the upper half shingle stained dark brown, and the roof is green shingles. In repainting, what color would you suggest for the shingles that will blend with the red lower half and the green roof?

ANSWER: My choice for the shingles would be either white, or white with a cast of cream or warm gray. You will probably have to use a first coat of aluminum paint to keep the brown stain from bleeding through. For a suggestion, go around your neighborhood to notice the colors that houses are painted, not forgetting the colors of trim, to see which combinations you prefer.

Stopping Overhead Noise

QUESTION: The kitchen of the upstairs apartment is directly over our bedroom, and we hear every sound. Can our ceiling be made sound-proof so that we can sleep?

ANSWER: It cannot be made entirely sound-proof, but the noise can be greatly cut down. Line your ceiling with insulating board. On that put 2 strips of wood to support a second layer of insulating board. Pieces of thick felt should be put under all nail heads. Another method would be to put a framework of 2 by 4s under your present ceiling, but not touching it, supporting a layer of insulating board. The framework can be supported on the side walls.

Economy in Construction

QUESTION: We are thinking of building a six-room house, but do not know whether it should be one story or two. Which would be cheaper to build and to heat?

ANSWER: In house construction it is considered that the price is least when the roof that covers the rooms is smallest. This means that a two-story house should be less expensive than a house in which all the rooms are spread out on one floor. Another principle is that a square or rectangular house costs less to build than one with extensions or a more complicated outline. Also, the more compact the house, the less should be the heating cost.

Stiffening a Rug

QUESTION: A 9 by 12 foot rug, 10 years old, is in good condition except that it is limp. How can it be stiffened?

ANSWER: Turn it over, and apply a coat of shellac to the back. The shellac should not be applied so thickly that it will soak through to the front.

Kerosene Stain

QUESTION: A kerosene stove was tipped over on an Axminster rug and the oil made a large stain. What will take it out?

ANSWER: You can use clear gasoline. Take the rug outdoors, lay it where there is no vegetation to be harmed, and pour gasoline through the stain. Do not attempt to do this indoors because of the great fire risk.

Loose Veneer

QUESTION: Water that dripped on a buffet raised the veneer top from one edge toward the center. How can this damage be repaired?

ANSWER: Using a knife with a long and thin blade, such as a table knife, work glue as deeply as possible into the space under the veneer. Then press the veneer back into position and hold it there with heavy weights until the glue has dried. The job is rather tricky, and if the buffet is valuable, it would be better to have the repair made by a cabinet maker.

The Once-Over by H.I. Phillips

YOU'RE A STIR-CRAZY DRAFTEE IF—

1. You're always raving how the girls went nuts over you at home and you never receive any boxes of eats.
2. You think you're the "big boss" as soon as you become the First Sergeant.
3. You start forgetting what details you were supposed to finish before you're half started.
4. You believe the only girl-in-the-world when she says she's staying alone at home pining for you.
5. You're dressed in denims most of the day and you call yourself a yardbird 326 times a day and expect it always to fetch a laugh.
6. You're in the outfit three weeks and believe the Top Kick when he says he'll get you a first and third.
7. You are tent corporal, and you get the idea the whole tent must bow to your whims about loud radio plays and blaring news reports.
8. You believe old-timers when they say this is the worst army they've ever been in; and will never again join up.
9. You believe all the wondrous tales about the greener pastures to be found in "other camps."
10. You think anything will ever come from trying to get into a conversation with telephone operators, 5- & 10-cent store dames, and canteen girls.

LINES ON DUTY

"It is not enough for us merely to trim the wick and polish the glass in the lamp of victory."—President Roosevelt.
With the lamp on the floor
'Neath a volley of bricks,
Let no man offer help
As a trimmer of wicks.

With the light almost out
And the oil low, alas!
Would you bellow, "One side!
Lemme polish the glass!"?

When a swimmer yells "Help!"
With his chances quite slim,
Would you toss him a book
On "The Right Way to Swim"?

If he slips 'neath a wave
And there isn't much hope,
Would you cry, "Your address!—
I will mail you a rope!"?

When a man's on a raft
As the sharks near him swim,
Do you think it's enough
To denounce all such fish?

To be brief, in a war
Such as this frightful one,
Are you just one who says
"Something OUGHT to be done!"?

Add similes: as unwelcome as an invitation to come to Berchtesgaden.

WHY IS IT—

That there seem to be more left-handed eaters in cafeterias than in other restaurants?

That, if she has a dog and you have a dog, you can speak to a strange girl without offense?

That the coffee at breakfast always seems to be better than the coffee at supper and that the scrambled eggs at supper seem to be better than the scrambled eggs at breakfast?

—Gardiner S. Dresser.

Toto, the gorilla that has become the mate of Gargantua, is now with the Ringling circus.

It's an even bet that both gorillas spend most of the time looking at each other and thinking, "I hope I never get to look as terrible as that."

Probably the Ringling outfit is now wondering about the old adage that two gorillas can live as cheap as one.

William McChesney Martin, youthful head of the New York Stock exchange, has been called by his draft board. Any training for war that he will get in camp will be superficial compared with what he has gone through as head of the exchange.

What Elmer Twitchell wants to know is whether Mr. Martin is going into the army for the long pull or a quick turnover.

The Louvain library, restored largely by America after the Germans destroyed it in the last war, was again wrecked by the Germans in this war, it develops. It seems the Nazis couldn't bear the report that there was a book in it.

APPEAL

Life is real, life is earnest,
So away with all pretence!

Come! Let's cut out playing marbles
And speed up with that defense!

—B. A. S.

In occupied countries the Nazis are rationing dogs, but word comes from Belgium that this applies only to dogs that can be shown to have German blood. A smart dog over there is one that knows enough to goose-step to his meals.

DO YOU KNOW HIM?

The gals all hate
That tightwad Joe:
He calls too late
To see a show.
—Merrill Chilcote.

"I am getting all out of patience with this talk about money. Our slogan must be 'Work and save!'"
—Mr. Knudsen.

Able as you are, Bill, you have a superman's task if you are going to try to revive an idea like this after all the kicking around it's had.

IV. LIFE OF CHIEF KEWASKUM
There are very few facts that can be found concerning the life of Chief Kewaskum. Here and there we find a few lines which throw some faint light upon his life. "There was a considerable village near Silver Lake (speaking of Indians) on the arrival of the earlier settlers of West Bend during the year 1838, and, in 1844, Fred Hacker (Hecker) who located on the east shore of Pike Lake, in the town of Hartford, settled near a considerable Indian village of Pottawatomes, with whom he lived on terms of close friendship. The chief, Kewaskum, made this village his home at that time." (Western Historical Company, History of Washington and Ozaukee Counties, Wisconsin, 311).
In a few words Carl Quickert describes Kewaskum's standing with the whites. "Desmore W. Maxon was a young surveyor who in 1843 had settled in the town of Mequon and with his instruments had explored the country east on the bank of the Cedar creek, the volumed outlet of the Cedar lakes, he bought a piece of land and built a dam and a sawmill. His next neighbor was Kewaskum, a noble chief of the Pottawatomes. Both men united in a lasting friendship." (Carl Quickert, Washington County, Wisconsin, Past and Present, 1, 33).

From "King" Backus, a resident of the village, we learned that every summer the chief would come up the Milwaukee river in his dugout canoe and help Mr. Backus' father work during the harvest time. When he had earned enough to buy himself flour and bacon and some ammunition he would bid farewell and be off again down the river.
Although little is known concerning his life or his death, and Chief Kewaskum has long since gone to the Indian's "Happy Hunting Grounds," his name shall live on, perpetuated by the village and town named after him.

History books mention a place called "Indian Hill." They say: "Chief Kewaskum's wigwam lay on a hill of considerable height, which ever since is called the 'Indian Hill.' It has on its top a rocky depression which afforded protection from rough winds. In the vicinity the grave of Kewaskum is shown up to the present day." (Carl Quickert, Washington County, Wisconsin, Past and Present, 1, 18). Making inquiries about this so-called "Indian Hill" brought little result. No one had ever heard of such a place in or near Kewaskum. The grave of Kewaskum was never "shown" as far as most of the inhabitants can remember. As youngsters we were told that he was buried in the South Side park but where his grave was to be found was a mystery. For after his death his body was supposed to have been taken away by his Indians at night and buried free from the prying eyes of the white man.

Back in the year 1905, when the Catholic church was being constructed, rocks for its foundation were procured from nearby gravel pits or hills. Many of the stones were brought from a place called Keller's Hill which is east of the Milwaukee River, north of Main street. Rev. P. Vogt says that there was on the top of this hill a huge block of granite. It looked like some kind of an altar. Here the Indians would gather to hold their tribal ceremonies. Nothing remains of this rock today. It is very probable that it was dynamited while getting stones for the building of the church.
In the treaty of February 8, 1831, the Menominees ceded their land to the government. About two and one-half years later, on September 26, 1833, the Pottawatomes followed their example. The treaty of the latter was ratified on February 21, 1835, but the Indians had a clause inserted which left them in possession of the land for three more years. The tribes were removed to reservations west of the Mississippi. Many of the transplanted Indians, however, longed for their old cherished hunting grounds. They wandered back singly and congregated in villages, living among the settlements of the whites and sustaining life by hunting and begging. (J. G. Gregory, Old Milwaukee County, 11, 1088).

However, in the land of the Pottawatomes and Menominees as elsewhere, we see white men operating years before the transfer of title. Already some years prior to Wm. P. Barnes' entry into the town of Kewaskum in 1844 the country had been surveyed. The survey of the land was made in 1834-35-36, running of town lines in the western parts of the country being completed during the latter years. The head surveyor was named Brink, his assistant was a Mr. Pollett. William Ostrander, living in the town of Barton, was one of the engineer corps, and assisted in the completion of the survey in 1836.
"According to the survey, the territory of the old county embraced Towns 9, 10, 11 and 12 north, in Ranges 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22 east. These townships are now known, going from west to east as follows: Towns 9, Erin, Richfield, Germantown, Mequon; 10, Hartford, Polk, Jackson, Cedarburg, Grafton; 11, Addison, West Bend and south half of Barton, Trenton, Saukville, Port Washington; 12, Wayne, Kewaskum and north half of Barton, Farmington, Fredonia, Belgium." (Western Historical dropped the throw to first. Instead of being the third out a run crossed the plate. Then Koepke singled and H. Marx's bad throw on Adamavich's grounder allowed run No. 2 before Honeck whiffed Kraemer. Kewaskum tied it in the fifth on Honeck's single, Krautkramer's double, a walk and two infield outs. Again with 2 out in the tenth Adell scored on an error when Klib got a double as Kudek lost his high, short fly in the sun and Honeck threw wild to first on Koepke's slow grounder down the third base line.

It was a heartbreaker for the boys to lose, especially considering that the team was unable to cash in on several good scoring opportunities. Krautkramer paced the local hitters with a double and single in 4 attempts. Koepke got 2 for the winners.

PLAY AT CASCADE SUNDAY
Kewaskum will play the first of three games in a row away from home this Sunday when they travel to Cascade to play what looms as another tough game. Cascade has shown plenty of strength in the second half, having beaten Kohler and forced Campbellsport to go 12 innings last Sunday before losing. "Lefty" Berger will probably oppose Honeck on the mound. Not over the Adell defeat yet the boys will be rarin' to take it out on Cascade. The following week the team goes to Campbellsport and will not play at home until the last game of the season with Glenbeulah.
