The first monthly meeting of the Kewaskum Businessmen's association was held in the village hall Tuesday evening with President John Marx presiding. The organization now has a total of 61 members who have joined up and of these 28 were present at the meeting. The minutes of the organization meeting were read by Secretary Carl F. Schaefer and approved as read. Refreshments were served in the form of a quarter barrel.
The matter of having a fall festival or picnic after Labor Day was discussed by the entire members present. The matter was disposed of by appointing H. B. Rosenheimer chairman of a committee to contact other communities on the method of conducting such a picnic.
A motion was made by Norbert Becker and seconded by W. F. Schaefer that the president appoint a committee to contact the village board to advertise the village as the "Gateway to the Kettle Moraine State Forest." The motion was carried.
On motion by W. F. Schaefer and seconded by K. A. Honeck, the meeting was adjourned to Tuesday evening, Aug. 5, at 8 p. m.

Kettle Moraine, Eastern Wis. Teams Clash Sunday

All scheduled baseball games in the Kettle Moraine and Eastern Wisconsin leagues for Sunday have been postponed until the end of the season so that a special event can be put on by the two leagues. The eight teams of the Kettle Moraine circuit will play the eight of the Eastern Wisconsin loop in a mid-season challenge affair.

The teams which hold the same position in the standings in the two leagues will oppose each other. Campbellsport, which won the first half title and was tied with Adell and Kewaskum for first this half in the Kettle Moraine loop when the challenge event was arranged, will meet the league leading Kohler nine of the Eastern Wisconsin circuit. Adell and Kewaskum will meet New Holstein and Plymouth, tied for second in the Eastern Wisconsin league, and so on down the line. After the teams were paired the diamonds on which the games are to be played were drawn. For the Kewaskum-Plymouth game the Plymouth diamond was drawn and the local team will travel there. Plymouth has one of the toughest teams in the strong Eastern Wisconsin loop and Kewaskum will have its hands full.

Kewaskum was scheduled to play at Campbellsport Sunday and this game will be played at the end of the season. The profit from the games Sunday will be divided among the 16 teams. The event replaces the all-star attraction this year. The schedule of games for Sunday follows:

Kohler (E. W.) at Campbellsport
Adell at New Holstein
Kewaskum at Plymouth
Valders at Kohler (K. M.)
Elkhart Lake at Cascade
Gilbert at Waldo
Glensheul at Marytown
Kiel at Sheboygan Falls

EXCAVATE FOR NEW HOME

Excavating was completed this week for the new home to be built by William Schaub on Park street and erection of the building will begin shortly. Park street is the main running east and west a block south of Main and affords an excellent view of the park. Excavating work was done with an excavator shovelled by Alvin Voigt and crew of West Bend. The home is to be built on the south side of the street. The house is the sixth new building going up this summer in Kewaskum and it is reported that three more homes will be started before fall.

EMPLOYEES OF ALUMINUM CO. HAVE ANNUAL PICNIC

The employees of the Kewaskum Aluminum company and their families were royally entertained by the heads of the company at their annual picnic in the village park Saturday afternoon. Games were played and contests were held for young and old. Fine prizes were awarded to employees who held the lucky numbers. There was plenty of lunch and refreshments for all on the company. Employees look forward to the picnic each year and a grand time is always had.

Trunk S in the town of Auburn, better known as Baumann's corner on the New Fane road about two miles north and partly east of Kewaskum, Kleinke, Fond du Lac county, highway police said, had left Highway S and turned south on Highway G when he collided with the Maedke car which was going north on Highway G. The fenders, wheels and running boards on the driver's side of both cars were damaged. The machines were towed to local garages.

Brother of Mrs. Wm. Eberle Passes Away

HENRY GUENTHER
Henry Guenther, 60, widely known lifelong resident of the town of Wayne and brother of Mrs. William Eberle of this village, was summoned in death at his home at 2 p. m. Monday, July 28. He had been in ill health for about 12 years.
He was born Jan. 4, 1881, on the Guenther homestead in the town of Wayne and resided on that farm all his life. He was married to Miss Emma Guth in September, 1904, who preceded him in death on Oct. 12, 1908. On Aug. 8, 1918, he married Miss Katherine Baumbach in Milwaukee, who survives.
Besides his widow deceased is survived by a daughter, Vinelda, at home, who was born of his first marriage; three sisters, Mrs. Barbara Hosp and Mrs. Louise Widdler of Milwaukee and Mrs. Wm. Eberle, and many other relatives and friends.

The body was in state at the Miller Funeral Home in this village until 11 a. m. Thursday, July 31, when it was removed to the Salem Reformed church at Wayne Center to be in state until the time of the funeral. Services were held at 2 p. m. at the church, the Rev. Carl Flueckinger officiated. Burial took place in the parish cemetery.

Mr. Guenther was honest to the core and straightforward. He enjoyed the acquaintance of numerous friends and who ever once had gained his friendship was sure of it at all times afterwards. His religion was grounded in his innermost being and it shone through all his dealings with his fellow men. His death was a loss to the community and those near and dear to him, to whom we extend sincere sympathy.

MISS BARBARA SEIDL

On Monday evening, July 28, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Jac. Nicolai, at Madison, Minn., occurred the death of Miss Barbara Seidl, following a year's illness. On July 18th she had attained the age of 61 years.

She was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seidl. The family made their home in this village for many years. They were members of Holy Trinity church and the family attended the Holy Trinity parochial school here.

After leaving Kewaskum Barbara made her home in different states and the last few years were spent in Los Angeles, Calif. where she was a commercial instructor. During the summer she made frequent visits with relatives and friends in Wisconsin and it was while on a visit with her sister that she was suddenly stricken with illness and confined to her bed most of the time.

Funeral services were held on Thursday forenoon. The immediate survivors are her sisters, Christina (Mrs. Nicolai) of Madison, Minn., Mary (Mrs. Anthony Schaefer) of Milwaukee, and a brother, Joseph, of Hartford, Wis. A sister, Lena (the former Mrs. George Heister of Hartford) died a few years ago.

Barbara had many friends. She lived a beautiful life. She followed the precepts of her church and lived her life in conformity with it. She has gone to her reward.

William Schneider Dies

William Schneider, 72, a resident of the town of Kewaskum practically all his life, whose farm is located about a mile north of St. Michaels, died at 4:30 a. m. Friday morning, Aug. 1, at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac. The body will lie in state at Miller's Funeral Home in this village after 4 p. m. Saturday. Funeral services will be held at 8:45 a. m. Monday, Aug. 4, from the funeral home and at 9:30 a. m. at St. Michael's church, St. Michaels. A complete obituary will be published next week.

STEEPLEJACK INJURED

Steeplejacks were at work the past week making repairs and improvements on the towering chimney atop the L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Co. plant. One of the workers was injured Wednesday morning when in some manner he sustained several cracked ribs in an accident while on the chimney.

RAIN BRINGS RELIEF

After eight straight days of almost unbearable heat in this vicinity a thunder shower Tuesday night and another light rain Wednesday brought some relief. The heat wave reached a peak on Tuesday when the mercury soared to 100 degrees in the shade and between 110 and 112 degrees in the sun.

SCHOOL BUS DEMONSTRATION

A representative of a motor bus company was in the village Saturday afternoon with a school bus and gave rides to a number of adults in the hope that he might make the sale of a bus to be used by Kewaskum High school this winter.

Burglars Break Into Koch Store; Cash and Merchandise Stolen

Burglars broke into the A. G. Koch store in this village some time during the night Sunday or early Monday morning and stole cash and merchandise valued at $100.00 or more. The robbery was discovered Monday morning by Erwin Koch, one of the partners of the firm, when he opened the store for business.

It appears that the burglars were hard up for cash, food and wearing apparel by the strange assortment of merchandise taken. Besides the change in the cash register, amounting to about $6 to $8, the burglars relieved the place of shoes, dresses, cigarettes, tobacco, fingernail polish, Kleenex tissues, sausage bacon candy, potato chips, ice cream, soda, peaches, gum and various other merchandise items, even down to the 10c finger rings and book matches.

Entrance to the store was gained through the rest room on the west side. Marks showed that the guilty persons first attempted to pry loose the window with a pinch bar or some other similar instrument and then discovered a simpler process. They took a knife and scraped loose the putty holding one of the many small window sections in the large frame. The window was removed and by reaching through the opening the latch was released. The window is on hinges and swings into the store. The burglars used one of the firm's trucks which was parked in the alley at the rear of the store to reach the window and crawl in.

Evidently the thieves were in the store for a long time. Merchandise was strewn on the counters so they could pick out the items they desired and only certain sizes in clothing were taken. The appearance of the store the next morning showed that those involved were quite busy and made a fairly thorough search. The burglars placed the stolen merchandise in cardboard cartons and set them on the truck outside.

Apparently the men were in the store and were scared out at about 2 a. m. when an auto accident occurred directly across the street. The crash, described elsewhere on this page, made a great deal of noise and neighbors left their beds and went outside to investigate. It is believed the burglars left the store and returned later to gather the stolen goods off the truck.

Some neighbors, including the Kochs, had not returned to bed or were not asleep yet when they heard a car around the store later. Others living in back of the store thought they heard people walking in their yards but paid little attention, thinking it was someone returning home after viewing the accident. Probably it was the burglars carrying their loot to their car believed to have been parked on Park street back of the store. Because of the excitement of the accident naturally no one suspected a robbery was going on and close attention was not paid to two strangers who walked out from a side street and inquired about the wreck. However, their presence set someone to wondering where they came from and led to the car being noticed on the back street. Nothing was thought of it at the time and whether this was the car of the robbers is not known.

A box and a basket of stolen goods were found the next day on the truck outside of the store and showed the merchandise was evenly divided for two people. Many of the bottles of nail polish taken were found in yards back of the store, probably lost in the burglars' flight.

TWO FAMILIES MOVE OUT OF VILLAGE; ANOTHER MOVES IN

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Borchert and infant son, residents of the village nearly a year, last Saturday moved from the Leuis Bunkelman home on South Fond du Lac avenue to West Bend where the former is employed. They are now at home at 722 Cedar street in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lemke and baby, residents of Kewaskum the past four years, last Sunday moved from the Schaefer home on South Fond du Lac avenue into their newly erected home on Second avenue in West Bend. Mr. Lemke is employed by the West Bend Pilot. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andrae are moving from the Mrs. Robert Backhaus home on Second street into the apartment vacated by the Lemkes.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kohlschmidt and five children moved from Mayville into the Wesenberg home on North Fond du Lac avenue in the village. He is employed at West Bend.

Two more families are moving into the village this week end. Their names and former addresses will be published next week after they arrive in town.

Miss Ruth Koepsel is Wed to Harold Casper

In a double ring ceremony solemnized at Holy Trinity church in this village at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, July 26, Miss Ruth Marie Koepsel of Milwaukee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Koepsel of Wayne, R. 2, Kewaskum, became the bride of Harold J. Casper of Milwaukee, son of Mrs. Bertha Casper of this village. The Rev. Philip J. Voigt read the nuptial high mass. The altars of the church were banked with gladiolus and ferns.

The bride and bridegroom both are graduates of the Kewaskum High school and are popularly known here. A special 15 minute radio broadcast was given over station KFIZ, Fond du Lac, at 6:15 p. m. Saturday in honor of the couple. The program was given by friends of the groom with whom he worked while connected with radio stations in Green Bay and Oshkosh and broadcasting over the Wisconsin Radio Network.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared very charming in a gown of brocade mousseline de sole in princess style fashioned with long puffed sleeves and a long train. Her trailing veil was held with a halo and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and blue larkspur. The bride was attended by her only sister, Miss Alice Koepsel, as maid of honor and Miss Doris Mae Reichman of Chicago, niece of the groom, as bridesmaid. They were attired in pink and light blue brocade mousseline de sole gowns with matching halo type headresses. They carried pink roses and blue larkspur.

Rudolph Casper of Waukesha acted as best man for his brother and Alan Krueger of the town of Auburn, friend and former neighbor of the bride was groomsmen. Lester Casper of Milwaukee, brother of the groom, was the usher.

Dinner was served to thirty guests at the Republican hotel in Kewaskum, including the immediate families, relatives and friends. The dinner was followed by a reception at Wietor's hall in Wayne where 75 guests were entertained. The home of the bride's parents was decorated with pink and white crepe paper and cut flowers for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Casper left on a wedding trip to Washington Island in northern Wisconsin and are now at home at 1734 West Atkinson avenue in Milwaukee since Aug. 1. The bride has been employed as a beautician in Milwaukee and Mr. Casper holds a position as an advertising salesman in that city.

Nicholas Thill, 62, Victim of Heat Wave

Stricken by the intense heat while at work in a field at the Yankow Brothers farm, about six miles north of Kewaskum, Nicholas Thill, 62, collapsed and died at 4 p. m. Tuesday, July 29. With Mr. Thill in the field was Arthur Yankow, one of the owners of the farm. Many others throughout the state were victims of the heat during the torrid wave of the past week.

Born March 8, 1879, in the town of Ashford, Mr. Thill had always resided in the community. He formerly conducted a meat market in company with William Little and was well known in this vicinity.

Deceased is survived by a son, John, of the town of Ashford, and seven sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Meixensperger, Mrs. Helen Volk, Mrs. Henry Powers and Miss Regina Thill of Campbellsport and Mrs. Josephine Little and the Misses Catherine and Mary Thill of Milwaukee.

The body lay in state at the Berge Funeral Home in Campbellsport, where funeral services were held at 8:30 a. m. Friday, Aug. 1, and at 9 a. m. at St. Matthew's Catholic church in that village. The Rev. A. C. Bivler officiated and interment was made in Campbellsport.

FIRE DESTROYS ACRE OF OATS ON BREMSER FARM

The Kewaskum fire department was called to the John Bremser farm about a mile north of St. Michaels at noon last Friday when a field fire threatened to destroy the farmer's oats crop. A group of firemen answered the call. Mr. Bremser's son was burning weeds in the oats field when the fire got out of control. The flames spread to the shocks of oats which burned very readily in the dry weather. When the firemen arrived the fire had gotten a good start and threatened an adjoining field of uncut grain, but they succeeded in stopping the flames along the fence of the field and extinguishing the blaze after only about an acre of the shocked oats was destroyed.

FREE BAND CONCERT

Saturday, August 2nd, on the vacant lot between Bank of Kewaskum and Graf drug store on Main street.

Rev. Vogt Observes His 82nd Birthday

Another milestone in his exemplary life was reached on Wednesday, July 30, when the Rev. Father Philip J. Vogt, beloved pastor of Holy Trinity Catholic congregation here and the mission parish at St. Bridgets, observed the occasion of his 82nd birthday anniversary.

In honor of the happy occasion the venerable Father had as his guests ten priests from parishes in neighboring cities and villages as well as his relatives. Priests who came to extend congratulations and best wishes to Father Vogt on the day included Revs. F. Walter, Barton; A. Biver, Campbellsport; Roman Stoffel, Sheboygan; A. J. Klapek, St. Michaels; John Reichel, St. Kilian; John Groenewald, Ashford; B. Dieringer, F. Ruhman and B. Amrhein, West Bend, and C. Volz, Milwaukee. Relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. George Volz of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gadow and family of Barton. Dinner was served and a very sociable afternoon was spent.

Father Vogt is active daily in his clerical duties in both of his parishes and we are happy to mention that he is feeling well. May we join with others of his parishioners and very large host of friends throughout this and neighboring communities in extending congratulations and sincere wishes for continued good health and blessings to the Reverend Father.

2nd Lieut. Rosenheimer, Others Home on Furlough

Lehman Rosenheimer Jr., second lieutenant in the United States army air corps located at Barksdale field, Shreveport, La., arrived home last Saturday to spend a 10-day furlough with his parents. He will return to active service next Tuesday. Lehman enlisted last October as a "flying cadet" and on May 29 received his commission as second lieutenant. He is one of 40 bombardiers in the entire army. He may be transferred to a new field in Houston, Tex. or to one being constructed in the West. On Monday Lehman featured with an interesting talk on aeronautics and the training of army airmen at the meeting of the West Bend Rotary club. Wednesday afternoon with one of the planes from the West Bend airport, Lehman gave the residents of Kewaskum a thrill with a 10-minute show of rolls, loops and dives over the village. He also gave some of his friends thrilling plane rides.

Private Al Muckerheide of Scott field, Ill. is spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Muckerheide, in the town of Kewaskum. Pvt. Curtis Romaine, also of Scott field, is expected home Saturday to spend an extended furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Romaine.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mrs. Lorinda Schaefer of this village, who was confined to her home last week with a strange infection in her right arm, was removed to St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, last Saturday morning when the infection became quite serious. After being treated at the hospital she showed much improvement and was expected to return home on Friday evening of this week.

Arthur Koch returned home the latter part of last week from St. Agnes hospital where he had been confined since being injured in an auto accident on July 15.

Mrs. Rudolph Kullman of Wayne was a patient at St. Agnes hospital from Tuesday until Friday evening of last week where she had her tonsils and an abscess removed from her left eye.

Philip Kibbel of Wayne, who was confined to St. Agnes hospital for a number of weeks following a stroke, returned home Monday.

CELEBRATES 89th BIRTHDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Belger, Louella E. Schnurr, Mrs. Katherine Schnurr, Mrs. Sophia Moos, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Klein and family attended the birthday celebration Monday evening at the home of Edwin Rosenthal in the town of Allenton, near Allenton. In honor of Gottfried Rosenthal's 89th birthday anniversary, Mr. Rosenthal is a brother of Mrs. Katherine Schnurr and Mrs. Sophia Moos. Considering his age the elderly gentleman is very active and occasionally assists in the farm duties as a matter of enjoyment in this work. Besides the above mentioned guests a group of other relatives and friends enjoyed a pleasant, sociable evening.

FIRST VISIT IN 31 YEARS

Mrs. A. Jordan of Seattle, Wash., called on Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Harter in the town of Auburn last Friday. She is remembered as the former Frances Marx of New Fane. It was Mrs. Jordan's first visit here since she left the vicinity 31 years ago.

U.S.O. Drive Begins in Village, County

Call Will be Made at Every Home; Co-operation Asked by Committee to Save Time for Solicitors

Plans have been completed for the U. S. O. drive for funds in Washington county. The county workers began their canvass this week and the city solicitors made their house to house calls July 30, 31 and Aug. 1. The Kewaskum canvass will be made next week.

The U. S. O., which means United Service Organizations, is a non-profit group organized to provide recreational facilities for army camps and bases where needed. It will also operate in crowded industrial areas where manufacturers are working on defense contracts. The U. S. O. is part of our National Defense program and is making this drive for money to carry on their work at the army bases.

The committee members selected for the village and town of Kewaskum (announced last week) will be supplemented by several individual citizens as well as organizations who will aid in making the calls in every home.

It is no small task to call at every home and complete the actual collection in three days. The committee therefore urges every citizen to be ready with his or her contribution when the U. S. O. drive worker calls. This will save considerable time. All committee members, solicitors and workers serve without pay and therefore want to wind up the drive as quickly as possible.

A complete record will be made of every contribution, for the permanent files of the Washington County Council of Defense, under the direction of which the U. S. O. campaign is being conducted. Receipt cards have been printed for every contributor. If you don't get yours, ask for it. No matter how small your gift, you are entitled to the receipt.

The quota for the nation has been set at $10,765,000 and the committee hopes to go "over the top" for Washington county's share before the campaign is completed. A contribution to U. S. O. is one way we can let the boys in service know we are backing them up 100 per cent. A contribution, no matter how small, is wanted from every citizen.

We now have more than 1,600,000 men in training and the number is growing every month. The government feeds, clothes, houses and trains them. That is a big job in itself. Another big problem is to provide recreational centers for the men when off duty. That is definitely not a government problem in a free country. The U. S. O. will have to find funds to operate these clubs and recreational centers with complete programs.

27 of 34 Draftees of County are Accepted

Of the 34 young men from Washington county sent to the state induction center at 4108 N. Richards street, Milwaukee, last Thursday for possible induction into the U. S. army 27 were accepted for military service. The other seven failed to pass the physical examination and were allowed to return home. Matthew Goring of West Bend was chosen leader of the group which left at 6:30 a. m. that day.

Those accepted were as follows: Robert Henning, Hartford; Gilbert Stewart, Hartford; Martin Appel, West Bend; Stephen O'Meara, West Bend; John Ryan, Milwaukee; Robert Lauffer, West Bend; Milton Haas, R. 1, Jackson; Stanley Brodzeller, R. 2, Kewaskum; Joseph O'Neill, R. 1, Hartford; Clifford Pell, R. 1, Slinger; Paul Weidmeyer, R. 1, West Bend; Howard Spuhler, Milwaukee; Paul Heppel, Hartford; Leonard Lobby, Hartford; William Key, West Bend; Harold Crass, Newburg; Herbert Hackbarth, West Bend; Edward Weis, Allenton; Arthur Pfeiffer, Newburg; Matthew Goring, West Bend; Wayne Salter, West Bend; Donald Crass, Random Lake; Joseph Barber, West Bend; Arnold Pribnow, Hartford; Frank Uelmen, R. 1, Kewaskum; Jerome Hausmann, R. 2, West Bend; John Pool, Jr., West Bend.

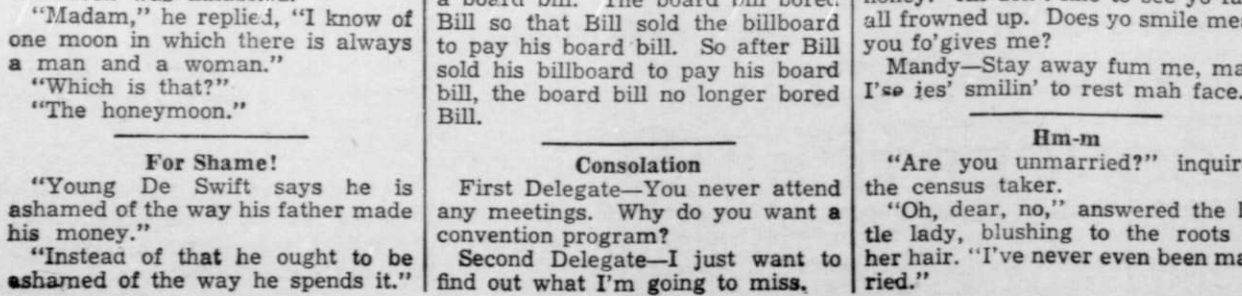

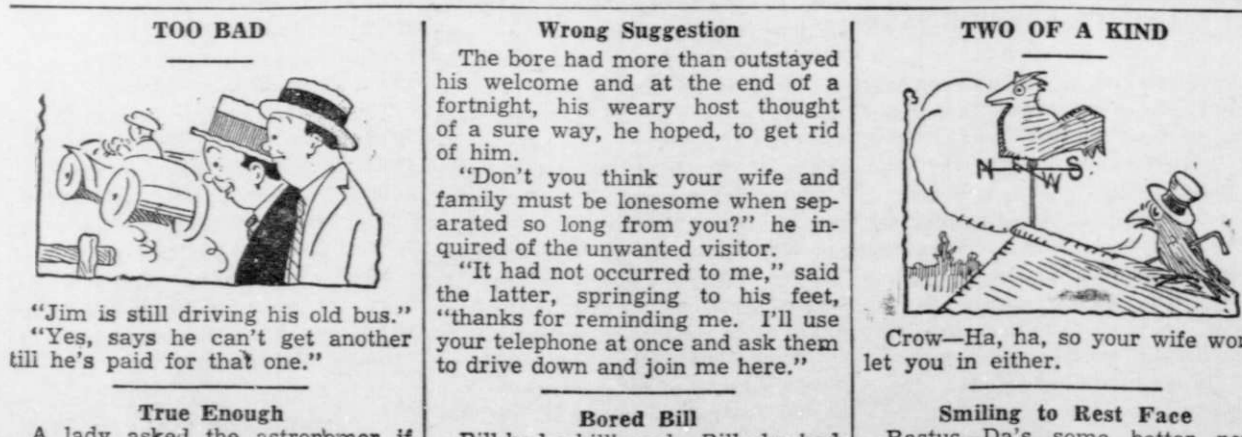

Those rejected were: Roland Nefzer, R. 1, Allenton; Merlin Graf, West Bend; Rich Rosenheimer, Slinger; Robert G. Nehm, Slinger; Milton Theilfelder, Rockfield; Howard Seyfert, R. 5, West Bend; Ralph Ross, West Bend. After examinations the inductees were sent to Camp Grant, Ill., from where they were to be assigned to various training camps.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license has been issued by County Clerk Kuhaupt to Harvey W. Schmidt of Campbellsport and Edith Brooker of this village. They will be married next week.

Wisconsin has 146 artificial or semi-artificial swim pools. There was a time when there were not that many bathtubs in the state.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features-WNU Service)

NEW YORK.—Early in World War I, Louis Raemaekers, Dutch cartoonist, drew a cartoon called "When the Grain Is Ripe." It showed a man reaping a human harvest. Perhaps the only other cartoon which has had comparable range and staying-power was Sir John Tenniel's "Dropping the Pilot," in Punch, or possibly some of Thomas Nast's pen Philipps against Tweed. If American views had been evenly balanced in World war days, Raemaekers' cartoons might have tipped the scales, so powerful was their impact on our public opinion, with their grim portrayal of German brutality.

At 72, with no slackening of pace or skill, or of his devastating hatred of German aggression, he renews his pictorial blitzkrieg over here, just now drawing posters for the Belgians in Britain and other groups rallying against the Nazi onslaught. He arrived here about a year ago, his country a captive, his home and all other possessions swept away in the German lunge against which he first began warning Holland in 1908. Through this stretch of more than three decades, during wars and in between, he never has faltered in his almost daily portrayal of the deadly menace of expanding Germany.

He is a small, compact, pink-cheeked man, looking much younger than his years, with roached-back, thinning hair, sharp blue eyes and a shadowy goatee. His mother was German and his Dutch father was for 40 years editor of the liberal Weekly Volkvriend. He was for 32 years political cartoonist for the Amsterdam Telegraph.

He speaks of himself as "writing," which aptly denotes his ability to pack the content of a long and powerful harangue into a bit of black and white.

USUALLY, there's quite a loss in translation when real life is slanted into the movies. The new film, "Blossoms in the Dust," seems to be an exception, at least so far as the deeper and truer import of the film is concerned. The critics score it high in sensitivity and adult emotional content.

Mrs. Edna Gladney would naturally come out that way in a film. The widow of a Texas flour manufacturer, she built the Texas Children's Home and Aid society, which has now provided happy homes for several thousand waifs. Her effort began before the death of her husband, a sublimation of her yearning for children who never came. The 1929 crash wrecked her husband's prosperous business. He got work in a flour mill. She rang door bells to get money to build her home for children. He developed a new process of flour-milling which was restoring their fortune, when he died. She kept on recruiting and mothering stray children, until one day a Hollywood writer knocked on her door in Fort Worth.

"What on earth could anybody write about me?" she asked.

The movies ranged clear back into her girlhood, as Edna Kahly in Milwaukee.

NIKOLA TESLA'S eighty-fifth birthday finds his death ray still in the blueprint stage. The great inventor says he could build a few plants, at a cost of $2,000,000 each, within three months, and melt the engine of any approaching plane at a distance of hundreds of miles.

The immigrant youth from Yugoslavia already had discovered the rotary magnetic field, which made possible alternating current motors, before he arrived here in 1884. He helped harness Niagara, turned in numerous inventions which became historic contributions to power transmission, was an associate of Edison, won the 1915 Nobel physics prize and now holds 700 patents.

When he grows too old to dream, he'll have this and many other things to remember. Among other things he may remember that many of his earlier dreams caused amusement—as when he made the declaration that it would soon be possible to telephone around the world.

Alone in his still delves deep in the hidden chambers of electro-mechanics, his deep-set eyes eager and intense under their bushy brows. Wireless transmission of power is still one of his many deep preoccupations.

ULSTER is nudging farther out in front in the news every day now, as Prime Minister John M. Andrews promises co-operation in the building of naval bases. Mr. Andrews became prime minister last November 25, succeeding Lord Craigavon. In his attitude toward Eire he has been less intransigent than Craigavon and a more pliable dealer and bargainer than his predecessor. The English have hinted there is a good chance of England and Eire getting together. Andrews is a wealthy land-owner,

THE PAPERS OF PRIVATE PURKEY

Dear Ma:
I got your letter about not yelling at anybody on no golf courses and please do not worry as I am always a gentleman especially since that Tennessee division was made to do a 15 mile hike all over again for yelling too hoo at half dressed women and male golfers looking for lost balls. From now on I go strictly on the idea that anybody I see in open lots may be a general for all I know.

Personally I wood not poke no fun at a general on a golf course any how on account of I like to see them there. The farther a general is from the camp the less times I get inspected. This is a war of deception, ma, and where can a general find more deception than on a golf link? It is also a war of movement and you don't know what movements are until you see a middle-aged duffer going into his golf swing.

Generals need exercise like anybody else but if he is seen walking on a highway he loses face. The only place he can be seen hiking five or ten miles a day without being disgraced is on a golf course so I don't see no sense criticizing General Lear for being on one that day.

The outfit I am with is very good mannered and wood not yell at no golfers in a ungentlemanly manner. A couple of weeks ago we was passing a linox and Otto Bixby yelled at a duffer but he was so deep in a trap he could hear no voices unless they were from China. There was a few women players in shorts and at first I thought they turkish bath. We paid no attention to them, not even one yo hoo and the ladies seemed soater than if we had paid some notiss to 'em. Women may get soar if soldiers yell at them but they mind it worse if they snub 'em.

There was a very pompous looking man looking for a lost ball near the highway witch we marched on and one of the boys made some remarks like "Looking for something, mister?" and "Did you try under the bureau?" He did not think much of it then but ever since reading about the General Lear incident he has been scared stiff for fear the man was a officer and got his description.

Personally I think General Lear is getting worse punishment than his troops and I bet he wishes he never played golf in his life. I think people are rubbing it in. Discipline is discipline in an army and most of the boys here do not think a army should give Bronx cheers to nobody on the line of march and especially not to ladies no matter if they wear shorts or whoopskirts. This is a all out war but we should not be all out of manners.

We don't even wab at nobody no more becuz for all we know it might turn out to be Secretary Stimson or Mrs. Roosevelt. The Lear thing maid the army awful careful. But I hope the people let up on General Lear becuz I hear he had plenty of excuse for being upset. I hear he was nine strokes on a par four hole and still 125 yards from the green when the soldiers yooped. And not only that but he had gave his opponent a stroke a hole. Anything wood've maid him soar.

Top Clown

Dan Rice (1822-1900), the most famous clown in the history of the American circus, was a friend of most of the celebrated men of his time, made and lost several fortunes, ran for congress and was even considered as a presidential candidate, says Collier's. During the Civil war, he earned $1,000 a week, or twice as much as Abraham Lincoln.

ATTACK ON AMERICA

BY GENERAL ARED WHITE

INSTALLMENT FOURTEEN

his warnings had gone unheeded. The President was killed when Washington was bombed. General Brill, commander of the U. S. army in Texas, was opposed by greatly superior forces led by Van Hasek. In spite of the desperate resistance, Van Hasek's troops pushed relentlessly forward. Returning to Washington, Benning met Fincke who had come there to do espionage work for his government, but continued to pose as a friend. Benning soon unearthed the vast spy ring that was operating in this country to learn military secrets and to sabotage production. Now continue with the story.

Baucum broke off and his eyes searched each face again as if seeking challenge to the words he had spoken. Only a stunned silence met him. His eyes lifted and a friendly smile wreathed his face as the door of the conference room opened. A tall, erect man stood at the door, gravely hesitant.

"Come right on in, Tannard," Baucum invited. He stepped forward to extend a congratulatory hand and his smile widened as he added, without formality: "I hope your heart is in good shape to stand a hard shock, Senator. But the gentlemen present wish you to serve as President of the United States. Your confirmation will be voted without serious opposition."

Tannard's alert eyes searched the room. He was a man of fifty, physically fit, appearing much younger than his age. His face was angular, strong-featured. Tannard looked the born leader of men, man of action governed by an active, orderly mind.

In his steel-blue eyes there showed no gleam of personal triumph at Baucum's announcement. His emotional response was a tightening of the muscles of his jaw, a drawing erect of his wide shoulders. Tannard gave his answer in a measured voice.

"Very good, gentlemen, if that is your decision, I accept. Forgive me for my delay. I must announce that I will be a slight delay," Baucum said abruptly. His eyes ran from face to face as if to test the mood of those present against the President's answer. "I have just received word from Secretary Tannard."

"I hope your heart is good." if I have no platitudes of gratitude to offer, nor promises of performance. I will say only that I deeply deplore the unhappy circumstance that brings about my succession to the Presidency. If your position be confirmed by the Senate I will do my best, and I will expect the fullest support from you and from every American. If there is nothing further, gentlemen, I'll excuse myself."

CHAPTER XV

Van Hasek's Austrian spy was on hand at the Shoreham promptly at eight the next morning. Fincke was glum and jumpy as they ordered breakfast, and from time to time cast covert glances about the dining-room.

"Why the jitters, Fincke?" Benning asked him. The Austrian took several nervous gulps of coffee and said: "Something's gone wrong, Bromlitz. I want to get out of this town as quick as possible."

"Heard anything from Bravot?" "No word from anybody, not since the last time I saw you. I can't figure it out, but it's there. Sometimes I think I'm being watched and G-2 has my number." Fincke pushed aside his unfinished breakfast and got up. "Come on, Bromlitz, let's get out of this town!"

Benning asked, as they took a taxi cab to the depot, "Did Bravot furnish you with travel authority?" "Last I heard it is show up at the gangplank and say, 'Passage for me down the Jacob's ladder.' At the bottom a gasoline launch chugged tenaciously alongside in choppy water. As Benning, following the others, stepped precariously aboard, the launch cast off.

In the vague light shed by a lantern in the bow of the launch, Benning slowly counted noses. There were five passengers, two boatmen. Benning saw that the man beside whom he had found a seat was not Fincke. An intuition warned him, his eyes verified the warning as he traced out the man's profile. The passenger at his elbow was Bravot, Van Hasek's fugitive spy-master. Benning's hand sought the pocket of his cotton coat and released the safety lock of his automatic.

NEXT WEEK
Another Absorbing Installment
DON'T MISS IT!
On board ship with the foreign spies, Benning learns some startling information of tremendous importance. What vital disclosure has he made? Be sure you don't miss next week!

when he and Benning reached New York in early afternoon. They went to Central Park and walked about deserted paths until time to go to the pier. Promptly at four Fincke presented himself to a hulking Norwegian first mate who stood at the gangplank of the tramp freighter, a single-funnel steamer.

The Fincke formula put them on board without question. Benning noted, as they were escorted by a cabin boy to their stateroom, that the decks were deserted, no preparations to sail were in evidence.

Fincke promptly slammed the door, peeled off his cotton coat, and sprawled on a bunk. Benning threw off his coat, lay down on his berth, and took up the late New York editions he had bought before coming aboard. Later he meant to force the issue of a reconnaissance of the ship in preparation for the Navy's boarding party.

Headlines screamed the defeat of Mole's Second Division, the capture of San Antonio. Mole's truck columns had sped his broken infantry and artillery to a new position near Austin along the Colorado River. There he was organizing a new defensive position, reinforced by Texas regiments. Van Hasek columns were moving on Austin for prompt attack.

Van Hasek had taken over San Antonio at daybreak and established headquarters in the City Hall at the old Spanish Plaza. A subordinate, General Alvado, had taken over the government as military governor under a decree of martial law, hauled down the American flag and hoisted the saber flag over the city.

Alvado claimed all of Texas under his decree. A Van Hasek truck column was moving on Galveston to occupy that city, and later, Houston. Air raids had extended north last night. Fort Worth, Dallas, and Shreveport had been heavily pounded with the loss of hundreds of lives. Terror was sweeping other southern cities. Little Rock, Oklahoma City, Montgomery, Birmingham, even Nashville and Atlanta were within bombing range. There was no anti-aircraft now available for these cities. Thousands were fleeing into the hills and countryside.

When he had sketched through the day's news, Benning sat up and made a cast at Fincke. "What gets me," he complained, "is why we have to go all the way to Amsterdam when there's so much going on in these parts, Fincke."

Fincke snapped erect, his eyes blazing suspicion, and snarled, "You know damned well we're not going to Amsterdam, Bromlitz! What's your game—always feeling me out!" Benning coolly drawled, "Evidently you suspect I'm a spotter for Boggio or Bravot. If that's in your mind, I resent it."

"Sorry if I blew up again," Fincke relented. "But we're playing for big game this time, Bromlitz, and you can't blame me for being touchy after what happened before."

A Norwegian deckhand brought dinner into their stateroom at six o'clock. Two empty hours followed. At eight o'clock the engines began churning, the Norwegian tramp eased out of her berth and headed down the harbor.

Fincke brightened as the ship cast off, then was attacked by a restless sea that set him pacing the little cabin. Dusk slowly deepened into night. Benning knew that the ship was spotted by Navy observers, that they would take no chance of letting her slip out of the harbor. He chafed under his inability to break further into the Fincke confidence or to effect a survey of the ship's passengers.

The Austrian suddenly seized his cotton coat and straw hat. "All right, Bromlitz!" he exclaimed excitedly. "It's nine o'clock and pitch dark. Here's where we move out!"

Benning followed the Austrian down the unlighted deck. There was a black huddle of figures at the rail where Fincke halted. Benning's straining eyes, now adjusted to the darkness, made out that the figures were moving over the side.

In a moment Fincke vanished. Benning hesitated, then groped his way down the Jacob's ladder. At the bottom a gasoline launch chugged tenaciously alongside in choppy water. As Benning, following the others, stepped precariously aboard, the launch cast off.

In the vague light shed by a lantern in the bow of the launch, Benning slowly counted noses. There were five passengers, two boatmen. Benning saw that the man beside whom he had found a seat was not Fincke. An intuition warned him, his eyes verified the warning as he traced out the man's profile. The passenger at his elbow was Bravot, Van Hasek's fugitive spy-master. Benning's hand sought the pocket of his cotton coat and released the safety lock of his automatic.

LET'S HAVE AN ICE CREAM SOCIAL!

(See Recipes Below)

ICE CREAM 'N CAKE

Shining in their starched dresses, the girls are ready "to recite their pieces," the boys, slicked and combed, are watching them shyly, and everyone's waiting for refreshment time to come. Of course, it's an ice cream social, that typically American festival to which homemakers bring their most delectable cakes and choicest ice cream. There, too, you'll find lemonade, "made in the shade by the old maid."

There was a time when an ice cream social, though as pleasant an affair as you'd find on the summer calendar, carried with it a great deal of careful preparation. Ice cream had to be kept in heavy containers which in turn were wrapped in blankets, and if the speeches and program lasted too long it was apt to be more melted than icy when you were finally served. But no longer do you have such a risk. The ice cream can be stored in your refrigerator and it will be kept really hard.

Making ice cream with the freezer method is fun, and usually the whole family gets together to do some of the cranking. The freezer has a wooden or metal bucket holding the ice and salt and a non-rusting metal container with a closely fitting cover for holding the mixture to be frozen. The mixture is stirred by a paddle attached to the crank which is operated by hand, and sometimes by a small electric motor.

Use three parts of ice to one part of salt. Turn the crank slowly at first for about five minutes or until the mixture stiffens, then as quickly as possible until it is difficult to turn. This takes about six minutes. Add more ice and salt if necessary. Pour off salt water, push down ice and salt being careful to get none in the can of ice cream.

Wipe top of can, uncover, take out the paddle, and beat the frozen mixture with a wooden spoon. Cover can with wax paper, and pack again. Let stand several hours to ripen.

LYNN SAYS:

Did you know that: Ice creams should stand several hours to blend or ripen the many flavors combined in them? Each flavor will stand out separately if the mixture is not properly ripened.

Texture is affected by the method of freezing? Ice cream will be coarse and rough if frozen too quickly, whereas slower freezing improves texture. Before putting the cream in the freezer it should be properly whipped or it will be icy.

Richer mixtures give smoother textured ice creams? The amount of fat in the cream also affects the flavor. Richer ice creams have full bodied flavor.

Ice cream expands? If the ice cream is well made, it expands to at least one-third more than its original size, and that this has an important bearing on flavor. If frozen too rapidly, ice cream is prevented from increasing size.

Flavors should be lightly suggested, not pronounced? Amount and quality of extracts used are very apparent in the finished product.

PRACTICE PATIENCE IN DECORATING

By ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN
Impatience is the surest giveaway of the amateur decorator—the one who looks around for just the right thing, doesn't find it, so compromises on something else just to finish up and get the job off her mind. The decorator who can really turn out a professional-looking room is the one who will wait and look till she finds exactly what she wants for a certain place. That's something to keep in mind when you're tempted to rush through your shopping.

It was patience that should have the gold medal for a bedroom we saw recently, and found charming. The furniture was hand-picked, you could tell at a glance, French provincial in style and each piece a 'hard-to-find' but exactly-right-for-the-place sort of thing. Walnut was the wood with interesting detail and hardware. The colors and fabrics used in this room represented equal patience in holding out for just the right shading, and just the right pattern.

THIS WEEK'S MENU

Ice Cream Social
•Vanilla and Chocolate Ice Cream
•Walnut Torte Lemonade
•Recipe given.

*Vanilla Ice Cream.
(Makes 1 1/4 quarts)
1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed milk (15-oz. can)
2 cups thin cream
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon vanilla

Blend thoroughly the sweetened condensed milk, thin cream, cold water and vanilla. Freeze in one-quart freezer. Remove dasher. Pack in ice and salt for one hour or more after freezing.

For Banana Ice Cream, use the above recipe, except to substitute 1 teaspoon of lemon extract in place of vanilla. Mash three bananas to a smooth pulp with a silver fork and add to ice cream after removing dasher.

Coffee Ice Cream: Proceed as for Vanilla Ice Cream, using 1 cup of cold black coffee in place of 1 cup of water and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla in place of 1 tablespoon vanilla.

Maple Nut Ice Cream: One of the most requested flavors, made just like the vanilla except maple flavoring is substituted for vanilla, and 1/2 cup of chopped nuts is added just after removing the dasher.

Among the pleasant surprises in appearance and in flavor among ice creams is this one called Tutti-Frutti. If you're longing for a change from familiar favorites this one leaves nothing to be desired. To make it really gaily for the youngsters, take a scoop of it, pop two raisins in for the eyes, a currant for the nose and a cherry for the mouth. It's a simple gesture but one which they'll appreciate for all it's worth.

Tutti Frutti Ice Cream.
(Serves 6)
2 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk
1/2 cup water
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup whipping cream
1/4 cup finely chopped maraschino cherries
1/4 cup seeded raisins, finely chopped

Mix sweetened condensed milk, water and vanilla. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency. Fold into chilled mixture. Freeze in freezing unit of refrigerator till half frozen. Scrape from tray, beat until smooth, but not melted. Add chopped fruit. Replace in freezing unit until frozen.

No social is completely a success without an array of freshly baked, nice smelling cakes with their swirls of frosting piled high to tempt. One cake which will really give you a new high in reputation is this Walnut Torte, an old-fashioned favorite with new found fame.

*Walnut Torte.
1 cup zweiback crumbs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chopped walnuts
4 eggs separated
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 pint cream, whipped

Crush the zweiback crumbs, mix with baking powder and nuts. Beat egg yolks thick and lemon color, beat in sugar, and then gradually, the crumb nut mixture. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into two greased and floured tins and bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 to 15 minutes. When mixture is light to touch and pulls from sides of pan it's done. Cool thoroughly. Put layers together with whipped cream and garnish with whole walnuts.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feet constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

STATE FAIR DATES

The dates of the state fair are August 16 to 24th inclusive. More than $100,000.00 in premiums is available to exhibitors. The junior state fair dates are the same as for the state fair.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE TO SPEAK AT WAUSAU

Claude Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture, will visit Wisconsin in the near future and deliver an address at Wausau. No definite date for the secretary's visit has been set although it appears quite probable that it will be during the first week in August. Plans are being made to accommodate large delegations from the north central states.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

Washington county young men planning to enter the College of Agriculture at Madison this fall are eligible to compete for scholarships which are being offered to Wisconsin residents.

About 25 scholarships will be available for the state. Twenty of these are given by a privately organized foundation and amount to $135 apiece, while five are for $100 each and are provided by the university board of regents.

These scholarships are to be awarded on a competitive basis to students registering as new freshmen. Scholarship competitors will be required to submit an original essay, 500 to 1000 words long, on the subject, "How the War in Europe and Our National Defense are Affecting Agriculture in My Community."

Boys who are interested should write to Assistant Dean I. L. Baldwin at Madison for further information. These scholarships are a splendid opportunity for the young man on the farm, or in the rural community, to take the big step in training himself for a position of responsibility in the field of agriculture. The contest closes August 15, 1941. Some additional scholarships are available to boys who desire to attend the farm short course during the winter months.

WHEAT MARKETING QUOTAS

Below is a copy of a telegram addressed to Secretary Wickard by Representative Frederick C. Smith of Ohio regarding administration of wheat marketing quotas and Secretary Wickard's reply. The question raised by Representative Smith is of such interest that farmers and consumers will get a better understanding of the recently established wheat marketing quotas by reading the inquiry and the secretary's reply.

Office of Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agriculture.

If all penalty clauses only were stricken from agricultural adjustment act of 1938 and all amendments thereto including one contained in SJ Res. 60, would cooperators still receive loans at rate of 85 percentum of parity price on wheat and other commodities as per 16A SJ Res. 60 approved May 26, 1941.

Signed,
Congressman Frederick C. Smith
Hon. Frederick C. Smith
Marion, Ohio

Answering your telegram of July 12, if farmers are to continue to receive benefits of loans at 85 percent of parity they must restrict marketing of wheat otherwise the government's investment in commodity loans would be unprotected. Without penalties that restrict excessive marketing the loan program would have to be abandoned. Without loan support the markets would undoubtedly collapse and the great majority of farmers who are cooperators would be penalized.

Signed,
Claude R. Wickard, Secretary

DESTROY POISON IVY NOW

If poison ivy has proved to be a nuisance on your land and you'd like to do something about it, right now is the time to act, the state department of agriculture advises.

Although rarely troublesome in fields because it is easily killed by rotation or cultivation, poison ivy finds a natural home in fence rows, stone piles and other waste places. The plant is recognized by its leaves which are always divided into three leaflets.

Wherever it can be done, the best means of controlling poison ivy is by grubbing it out. Anyone doing this work should wear rubber gloves and suitable clothing to keep any portion of the plant from coming in contact with the skin.

Chemical sprays offer a means of control if injury to other plants need not be considered. The proper solution is made by dissolving one pound of sodium chlorate in a gallon of water and applying this amount to about 200 square feet of foliage. The time to make the first application is now, at the beginning of August. This should be followed by another treatment of dry chlorate late in the season.

THE APPLE MAGGOT SPRAY

The apple maggot spray must be applied before the flies lay their eggs into the apple. Fortunately, the maggot fly feeds upon the waxy surface of the apples and leaves for several days before the maggot eggs are laid. If a lead arsenate spray is applied just ahead of the time when egg laying starts, the flies will be killed and the fruit kept free of the maggots.

WHEN TO APPLY APPLE MAGGOT SPRAY—The time to apply the apple maggot spray this year is now. Fruit growers in the western portion of Washington county should have begun spraying operations already.

WHAT MATERIALS TO USE—2 to 3 lbs. of lead arsenate, 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 gallons of liquid lime sulphur. In case of very hot weather reduce slightly the amount of lime sulphur.

WHAT TO SPRAY—Spray all apple trees, both bearing and non-bearing. Omit the early varieties.

LATE POTATO BLIGHT

Late potato blight is making its appearance in Wisconsin earlier than usual this year. The source of infection is considered to be the hold over fungus that was planted with the seed potatoes. Seed treatment will not in any way destroy this fungus.

SPRAY WITH BORDEAUX—Potato fields should be thoroughly sprayed with a poison known as Bordeaux or dusted with some approved form of copper solution such as Bordeaux mixture, is, perhaps, the cheapest way to combat blight if the grower has the needed equipment. Sprayers for applying the wet spray are expensive and many growers are turning to the use of dusts. Dusters are less expensive than sprayers, but the dusts are more expensive than the wet sprays. Proper dusting can only be done while the air is comparatively still.

Early attention to spraying equipment and materials is important. Repair parts are hard to get. Copper is on the list of the necessary defense material and its supply for commercial uses is extremely limited. Potato growers should purchase their spray supplies well in advance of their anticipated need.

Late blight may be identified by brown spots appearing on potato leaves with lighter yellow areas around the spots. Purplish gray mildew spots form on the opposite side of the leaf from the brown spots.

The old standard formula for Bordeaux mixture which apparently gives best results is eight pounds of copper sulphate dissolved in about 75 gallons of water. Eight pounds of stone lime or its equivalent, 12 pounds of hydrated lime, is worked into a thin paste and then added to the copper sulphate while the spray machine agitator is running. The entire mixture is then made up to 100 gallons by the addition of more water. If potato bugs are still present, three or four pounds of calcium arsenate should be added to the

ARMSTRONG

NIEDEREHE-TWOHIG

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Nora Ann Twohig of Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Twohig, became the bride of Herbert William Niederehe, 2 Boyle Place, Fond du Lac, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Niederehe, in a nuptial mass read at 9 a. m. Saturday, July 26th, in Our Lady of Angels church at Armstrong.

The Rev. Giles Berthiaume of Brandon officiated at the ceremony and organ selections were played by Mrs. John Raltgen. Miss Eileen Scannell sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" during the offertory. White gladioli and white pinks in tall gold vases decorated the chancel.

Carrying a shower bouquet of white asters and a silver rosary, the bride wore a princess gown of metalized white faille taffeta with a basque bodice, long fitted sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and full flowing skirt ending in a long square train. Her fingertip length veil was held with a coronet of tulle and orange blossoms.

Miss Laura May Twohig, attending her sister as maid of honor, wore a mineral blue taffeta frock trimmed with eggshell val lace ruffles with a fitted bodice and a full skirt with a slight train. Her turban matched her ensemble and she carried a shower bouquet of fuchsia asters.

Mrs. Clarence J. Jagdfeld, sister of the bridegroom, and the Misses Margaret, Betty, and Patricia Twohig, sisters of the bride, as bridesmaids, were attired in fuchsia embroidered taffeta gowns with torso fitted waists, and full floorlength skirts worn over crinoline petticoats and matching turbans. Their colonial bouquets were of fuchsia asters and blue bachelor buttons.

Clarence J. Jagdfeld attended as best man and ushers were John F. Twohig, David J. Twohig and Dr. George J. Twohig, brothers of the bride, and Leo M. Weltstein, Leo and Robert Twohig, brothers of the bride, were acolytes.

For her daughter's marriage Mrs. Twohig wore a black crepe gown with white accessories. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a blue sheer print and white accessories. Their shoulder bouquets were of pink rosebuds.

Breakfast was served at the Hotel Idlewild in St. Cloud preceding an afternoon reception at the Twohig home.

Mr. and Mrs. Niederehe left on a trip in northern Wisconsin and Michigan. They will be at home after Aug. 15 at Eden where the bridegroom is manager of the Eden office of the First State bank of Campbellsport. The bride has been engaged as an instructor in Brandon schools.

Guests from a distance at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Giles Clark of Watwatos, Miss Mae Niederehe, Mr. and Mrs. John Briest, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hardgrove, Miss Ernesta Gahagan of Milwaukee; Miss Signe Erickson of Oak Park, Ill.; Mrs. Ray Thibaud of Peshtigo; Mr. and Mrs. John Twohig of Sheboygan; Dr. and Mrs. L. Karol Ripon; Rev. Giles Berthiaume; Mrs. Leo Flaherty, Ti-

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

U. S. Attitude Toward Japan Changes With 'Drive to South' Viewed as Threat To Vital Supplies From East Indies; Soviet Discounts Air Raids on Moscow

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Following a half-hour conference with Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles, Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo is pictured in Washington as he expressed to newsmen the hope that the feeling between the U. S. and Japan "will become better and better." Later, Welles had a little different version of the conference. He said he had warned the ambassador that Japan's actions threatened sources of U. S. defense materials and had a direct relation "upon . . . our national security."

JAPAN: A Change

Japan, following the establishment of a new government under the same premier, still rather puzzled observers as to what the new regime might have in store for Japan and the world.

Summed up by "the man in the street" in Tokyo, who commentators felt was as good a barometer of the mysterious future as any, the new government promised something like this:

- 1. A sterner prosecution of the war with China.
2. Outwardly, at least, no change in the tripartite pact with Germany and Italy;
3. A generally more placatory attitude toward the United States provided this was possible if Japan's aims were carried out.
4. A strengthening of Japan's position in Manchukuo and on the Siberian border, but no provocation or forward move against Russia unless the Germans were shown to be positively winning a decisive victory.
5. A definite "grab" in the southern portion of the Pacific front, probably in Indo-China.

This last possibility, believed definitely promised since Japan was accusing the British of a similar attempted "grab" and hence following the old Axis technique of accusing the other fellow of doing what you intend yourself to do, would, it was feared, definitely involve the United States.

The inclusion of a noted Japanese banker in the cabinet was said to mean a promise that Japan's internal house would be put in order, as far as possible, and hence a move toward Indo-China would be along that line.

U. S. Attitude

Japan's drive met some real opposition in the attitude of the U. S. government. Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles came out with a statement declaring the occupation of French Indo China was primarily in preparation for "more obvious movements of conquest in adjacent areas."

He was of the opinion that such moves have a direct bearing on the national security of the United States because they threatened supplies of strategic defense materials. He was referring here to supplies of rubber and tin now being obtained from the Netherlands East Indies.

President Roosevelt added weight to the changing U. S. attitude toward Japan. He told a civilian defense group that the United States "had" (he used the past tense) been allowing oil shipments to Japan to make it unnecessary for that nation to go to the East Indies for this supply. He indicated that the policy had worked for two years, thus keeping war out of the Pacific region.

VICHY: Still Sinking

The Vichy government, helpless against Germany and Italy, and equally helpless against Britain, as seen in the Syrian debacle, was seen as sinking more into a position of powerlessness by the announcement that if Japan moves on Indo-China that Vichy will have no course but to submit.

This far-eastern menace of the war, threatening as it would the Burma road, found Anthony Eden warning Japan that severe steps would be taken rather than yield Indo-China to the Japanese, and this was the ever-present closest threat of the entry of the U. S. actively into the war.

The Japanese newspapers, as noted above, have been accusing the British, Free French and Chinese of being about to invade Indo-China. This was taken in London as a veiled threat that Japan plans to do just that.

Vichy sees it too, as seen that quarters close to the government said it was extremely likely that Vichy and Tokyo might reach some agreement on the occupation of Indo-China.

One Vichy newspaper called the situation "critical," and another said that the government would raise nothing but diplomatic objections against the occupation.

This was seen as an admission by the present government of unoccupied France of its complete impotence in the face of the world events.

RUSSIA: And Nazi Claims

Since the move of the British commission into Moscow, also since the establishment there of a short-wave radio station, which would permit observers like Erskine Caldwell to make broadcasts direct to American homes, it was possible for the Russian sources to make more definite denials of German claims than had been possible heretofore.

For instance, the first large blitz raid by planes on Moscow was described by the Germans as having ruined the city, particularly the Kremlin.

Announcers came on the air the following morning and declared that the raid was much less effective than similar raids the speakers had gone through in England, and that their trips about the city had showed no signs of panic or disaster.

The British commission, which earlier had said that the Russian air force had far from been knocked out of the air, told of German planes shot down, and said that air battles they had witnessed showed that the Nazi pilots, in fact the British pilots, did not have as good technique as the Russians in clipping off rudders and tail surfaces with machine gun bursts of fire.

It also was apparent that Nazi claims on land, that their forces had completely disintegrated that Russian defense, that Smolensk had been taken and that the invaders were past Kiev and had Leningrad practically surrounded were entirely premature.

These maneuvers and triumphs might possibly be carried out, but they were some time in the future, those on the ground in Moscow reported, and the reports were not entirely the Russian communists, but the reports, censored, it is true, but nevertheless made by Americans and British on the scene.

SERVICE: And House

Chief of Staff General Marshall went before the senate and evidently made a deep impression. President Roosevelt followed this with a request for the passage of legislation declaring a national emergency, and the sum of these two appearances before the upper house was evident in two ways:

First, an effort by administration leaders to hustle the legislation to a vote.

Second, a general upturn of sentiment in favor of the bill.

This was one of the oddest controversies since the World war started. The first feeling evidenced when it was hinted that the guardsmen and draftees might be kept in service longer than the statutory year was that the selective service people themselves felt it a breach of faith with the drafted men.

The next phase came from the selectees themselves, also from the guardsmen. The officers and non-coms of the latter seemed willing to stay in, but many of the private soldiers among the guardsmen expressed voluble desires to be let out.

In the midst of this came the announcement that all selectees of 28 and over would be deferred automatically, and the bill to this effect passed the senate by a terrific margin.

RELEASE: For Workers

It was said in Washington that if any defense manufacturers want some of their skilled workers, already in the guard or the selective service, released to come back to work, the man to take it up with is Robert T. Patterson, undersecretary of war.

The recently announced policy will be that trained workers now in the army may be released when their services are urgently needed in defense industry.

In each case the employer must state whether he is related to the soldier involved, and whether any member of the firm is so related.

Also, under oath, he must agree to employ the man immediately. Also he must prove to the satisfaction of the war department that the man is really a key man.

The released man is then transferred to the Enlisted Reserve corps as an occupational specialist, and while he earns civilian wages, he may be recalled to military duty if he should ever leave his important defense job.

Open Season

It's open season on Beauty Queens again and here is Miss California as chosen at Venice, Calif., where beauty pageant which she won was staged. She is Barbara Wilson, a brunette, and she poses here with the winner's cup and flowers awarded to her. She will act as official hostess at a national beauty contest to be held in Venice in mid-August.

R. A. F.: Pounding Away

There was some sentiment in Moscow, British reports stated, that the Russians, used to enormous land army maneuvers, were wondering why it was that the British didn't land troops on the continent now that the Russians had the Nazis busy up to their necks in the east.

The British were very frank in saying "No" to this whole proposition. In the first place, said the war office, there was still considerable doubt whether the Russians were able to put up a really successful fight against the Germans.

In the second place, war office authorities went on, the best that England could do short of landing troops on the continent would be so to slash away at the Reich by air that numbers of German fighter planes would be kept busy on the west front, thus taking them away from the eastern theater of war.

These air raids by the R.A.F. were increasing in scope daily, with the bombers taking advantage of each minute of darkness that was added as the nights grew longer, to stretch their raids further and further into Germany.

Already, it was pointed out, they were hitting at the suburbs of Berlin, and the capital itself would come in for a strong blitzing before long, the British promised.

NAZIS: Blast FDR

The main upshot of the attempted Nazi coup in Bolivia, and the statement by President Roosevelt that, if necessary, the Bolivian government would have the full aid of the United States in quelling the attempted coup d'etat, was that the Nazis turned their guns on the President.

The war news went flying off the front pages as the leading Berlin dailies paid their respects to the President in the most sarcastic and belittling terms.

One said: "The President of the U. S. A. is trying to bring Bolivia into the status of colonial dependence on the United States."

Another wrote: "Mr. Roosevelt's message to congress and the press constitute nothing but lies."

Still another: "President Roosevelt is a main tool of Jewish world freemasonry. This paper published a picture of the President and his three sons holding a Masonic lodge session. This picture, according to the Nazi press, was found at Masonic headquarters in Oslo, Norway. The paper said it was taken November 7, 1935, and pictured the President as taking part in the initiation of his sons, James and Franklin Jr."

According to Nazi tenets being a Freemason is almost a cardinal sin.

FOURTEEN: New Points

Reminiscent of the "Fourteen Points" of the last war settlement, Undersecretary of State Welles had issued the most definite statement so far promulgated intending to give America's post-war objectives.

The statement by Welles came at the laying of a cornerstone for a new wing of the Norwegian legation in Washington. He prefaced his remarks with the assertion that there could be no peace until Hitler had finally and surely been destroyed.

He referred to the League of Nations, and said he did not believe that the peoples of good will will not once more strive to realize the great ideal of an association of nations through which the freedom, the happiness and the security of all nations may be achieved.

Welles particularly brought in the German people by saying that millions (naming the Germans) now are asking what the future will hold for them when the war ends. He mentioned England, China, Norway, and said "yes, millions in Italy and Germany."

BRIEFS:

Galveston: Twenty strikers at a shipyard here were deferred draftees. They have been reclassified and ordered to report for physical examination immediately.

Key West: Shortly after OPM officials said there was not a single defense strike in progress, workers on two navy defense projects and one low-cost housing program, members of an A. F. of L. union, announced plans to strike. They want pay raised from 40 cents to 62 1/2 cents an hour.

Sharing of Wheat Supply Has Complicated Aspects

Distribution of Surplus to Nations Needing Flour Is Vital Problem; Nazi Film Is 'Scare' Drama.

By BAUKHAGE National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Today there are hungry millions in Belgium, France, Spain and elsewhere. For many people in the world there is starvation just around the corner.

At the same time, in the United States, Canada, Australia, and Argentina, there is a wheat surplus for export or carry-over of 1,137,000,000 bushels—an all-time high.

But there is little chance for many of the hungry mouths to be fed by the surplus. That is the topsy-turvy world's answer to man's ancient cry for bread!

Haltingly, gropingly, with small hope for any answer to the surplus problem, except "plow it under," the representatives of the four "wheat powers" have met again in Washington for the first wheat conference since 1933. They examined the question from the production point of view, for distribution of the earth's abundance to the world's starving is a problem too complicated for any one group to solve.

It is quite probable that the conference will have dissolved without taking any constructive action by the time this appears in print. Before long, however, it is expected that there will be an international agreement on world quotas. Unwillingly, perhaps, Canada, Australia, and Argentina will be forced to join with the United States in a division of such world market as exists. I use the word "forced" purposely, for it is the big stick labeled "export subsidy" in Uncle Sam's closet which will bring the competing nations to yield to the American farmer his share of the world market. An export subsidy would permit the American farmer to sell his wheat regardless of the world price, for he is then paid the differential by the government. This means that as much American wheat can be sold as the government is willing to subsidize and the market can absorb.

U. S. Subsidized Export. Although it was not expected that an agreement on quotas would come out of this summer's conference, such an arrangement is assured before long for one was on the point of consummation when the war interrupted. Why? Because, when the United States, in 1933, subsidized the export of a million bushels of wheat, just one million bushels had to remain unsold by the other wheat-growing countries.

Unless, by mutual agreement, the world market is shared, Uncle Sam can again cut under his competitors and make up the difference to the American farmer out of government funds. But even if an agreement on world quotas is reached, that does not solve the problem of surplus wheat. The price of wheat, which has been long for one was on the point of consummation when the war interrupted. Why? Because, when the United States, in 1933, subsidized the export of a million bushels of wheat, just one million bushels had to remain unsold by the other wheat-growing countries.

agreement on method among our own farmers, some threaten to burn their wheat rather than withhold it from the market. How much more of a problem it is to reach an international understanding restricting the market or cutting down acreage, in countries like Argentina and Canada where wheat is the very backbone of the national economy!

'Victory in the West' Is Real 'Scare' Drama

The other day I sat with a group of invited newsmen and a few army officers and watched a movie called "Victory in the West." It was a German propaganda film, showing how the German army smashed through the Low Countries and France. It was seized as it was being smuggled into South America to impress our southern neighbors with German might—and well it might! The film was a wonderful job in propaganda, photography and "scare" drama.

The military efficiency revealed in that picture is a partial answer to why the rivers of western Europe and later Russia, usually considered such powerful obstacles against an advancing army, were crossed so easily by the Germans. The movie showed the German advance in the Low Countries with dramatic shots of engineers swimming rivers, crossing in frail rubber boats, and building bridges under shell fire. The German propagandist explained:

"The men were led, not by officers using telephones and written orders, but by officers who lay beside their troops in the same dirt." Later, an American official, familiar, through long study with German military methods, gave his explanation of German successes. He said: "The Germans were led by trained warriors, not one of whom ever had a clerk or a desk."

Today in Washington there is a quiet but persistent movement led by General Marshall, chief of staff, to get rid of American officers who have difficulty functioning without desks, stenographers, clerks and caddies. For a long time the general has been working with congress for legislation which would make it possible to remove officers, young or old, whose records show that they are incompetent. Such a measure is pending but there is strong prejudice against it in some circles.

An Appraisal of Hitler's Business Methods

"Truth is anything that helps the German cause." Thus spake Hitler. And Douglas Miller, 15 years in the American embassy in Berlin, (commercial attache for last five years during the Nazi regime) tells the following story on his new book, which has made a considerable stir in Washington, "You Can't Do Business With Hitler" (Little, Brown & Co.).

While the commercial treaty with Germany guaranteeing the United States equal treatment with other nations was still extant, Mr. Miller discovered that Denmark was being given preferential treatment in regard to importations of lard by Germany. He called on the foreign office to protest and was told that America was treated precisely as any other country. Mr. Miller produced evidence that Denmark was given a 25 per cent larger quota than the United States. I quote the rest from Mr. Miller's book:

The German official appeared to be only slightly embarrassed. He reached into his desk and pulled out the German text of the identical treaty and explained that that was the way things were done nowadays.

I said, "Well, what can we do, now?" He said, "You can file a protest."

"Yes, but we have already filed a great number of protests, many of which have not even been answered and none of which appeared to do any good."

I took my hat and started for the door. The official accompanied me to the door and said: "I hope this little incident will not disturb our friendly personal relations, because I want you to remember that I have to earn my living somewhere."

Strange Petfellows

Nearly everybody, with a few exceptions, likes a dog or a cat of his own. Others favor canaries or guppies or goldfish. Then there are others who go in for the most unusual pets, and it is with these that we follow series of photos deals. The animals and birds here shown are not out of the ordinary. All are natives of the United States, with the exception of the leopard. However, it is distinctly unusual to find them in pet roles.

Meet Pete . . . Everyone in Barnegat, N. J., knows Pete, the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beckett. Mr. Beckett found Pete, an abandoned baby, in the nearby woods. He was brought up on a bottle. The dog shown here on his daily shopping tour with Mrs. Beckett.

Wisdom comes to roost on the stem of Charles Kornet's pipe—Kornet found this owl in Bronx park, N. Y.

Freckled (and how!) Jack, son of Pittsburgh has a pet whose "peck" is quite peculiar. See from this picture.

Little Nancy Feller's pride and joy is the duck with which she is shown here. She raised it from an egg and the duck is fond of her.

Mrs. Arthur Myeland of Chicago created quite a stir in Miami when she appeared on the beach with a pet bear.

A leopard is the pet of Linton Wells, wife of the actor and writer. "Miss Snooks" is his own room, and is quite friendly.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

The average farmer of today is 10 times as efficient as the farmer of 1787, says Henry Wallace. But he still hasn't learned any new way of starting a balky mule.

If the non-interventionists have anything to say about the occupation of Iceland about all they can do is to tell it to the marines.

When the mountain wouldn't come to Mahomet, Mahomet went to the mountain. If some of the world's trouble spots we want to police aren't in the Western hemisphere, the Western hemisphere may have to move over. But, as one geographer pointed out, a hemisphere is only half a sphere and, if we move the Western hemisphere much farther to the east, San Francisco will be left out of it.

It may be only 12 blocks but it's a long road that has no left-turning.

Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts recently protested against the establishment of an American naval base in Iceland. It is authoritatively reported that he soon may have further bases for protest.

"Keep 'em flying," says the war department. "Keep 'em laying," says the department of agriculture.

As this is written, the department of agriculture is organizing what is planned to be the most comprehensive effort it has ever made to get direct action from farmers. It is to be a drive to increase the production of eggs, poultry and milk.

The navy department has asked for parking space on the Washington monument grounds for its employees. I wonder how John Paul Jones got to work in the mornings when he was ashore.

Rooms in Home

The living rooms should be bright, cheerful, and have plenty of sunlight, and, if possible, the best view from its windows. Morning sunlight is generally desirable for dining space, and the kitchen should be located to avoid as much direct exposure to the sun as possible. Bedrooms should have sunlight some time during the day and be favored by exposure to the prevailing summer winds at night.

Sun Not So Hot

Most people are apt to think the sun is the hottest thing in the universe, but it isn't. According to some scientists, although the sun is estimated to have a temperature of approximately 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit, ordinary carbon arcs are appreciably hotter and have arcs have a temperature of 10,000 degrees, while some welding arcs have momentary temperatures high as 13,000 degrees.

Slacks and Shorts Outfits Styled for Every Occasion

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

As a mere experiment, the new costume today things a challenge to sun-up all through the 24 hours of a calendar day and night. And so, while the vacation spirit is going strong throughout the nation, fancy turns to cool sleek streamline types such as the trim suit pictured to the right. Tailored with precision and cut to give the style-correct streamline silhouette, this is a type that makes instant appeal to best-dressed women. Over this smart outfit the wearer tosses one of those short wool jackets, the rage at resorts this summer.

In the same category as this "classy" slacks suit are the exquisitely tailored jacket and slacks suits. Fashioned of gabardine for the most part in fetching pastel greens, violet shades, soft blues and dusky pinks. There is a nicety and finesse about these suits that indicate genuine refinement and appealing femininity. See the pert little play suit pictured above to the right. The entire outfit is made of waffle pique with large stars in red and white.

Shown to the left in the background is a slacks suit that answers the call of both chic and comfort. It is a navy blue gabardine with a white boxy jacket, falling loosely over the slacks.

On a hot midseason day, it's butcherboy pajamas in checked percale (pictured to the left). They will give you much comfort and ease.

Quills and Feathers To Feature Fall Hats

There is much novelty in the new hat arrivals. The tendency is to manipulate fabrics in intriguing and original ways. Among the fabrics used often is jersey, with an angora finish and milliners are creating draped turbans and toques of long scarf effects in lacy feather-weight woolknit manufactured especially for millinery purposes. These scarfed novelties will also be worked into snoods and apron drapes at the back of hats.

Look for quills and feathers galore, for they are "on the way." Not one quill but several, will appear dramatically posed on a beret or turban or novelty shape. Feather-adorned felt hats will be very popular this fall.

Bretons still maintain as a favorite type in the simpler and wider-brim felts. Sometimes these will have a crocheted edge instead of a ribbon binding.

Belts Cleverly Handled Reduce Waistline Span

In the march toward smooth silhouettes designers are manipulating belts in subtle ways. The latest move is to inset the belt in a svelte graceful midriff treatments. When shopping for the new gown take note of this, for it is surprising how this technique takes away inches from the waistline span.

Braided Effects
Much braiding is appearing throughout late summer fashions. It is said this matter of using braided trimmings will be accentuated throughout fall fashions. An interesting reaction to the call for braided effects will be hats with braided-work on off-face brims that corresponds with braiding on jacket or frock.

Social Troubles Often Cause of Digestive Ills

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

THE records show that of every 100 patients who consult physicians, more than 50 per cent have no organic trouble, their symptoms being due in many cases to emotional disturbances.

In fact, Dr. C. F. Martin, formerly dean of McGill Medical school, Montreal, and a specialist in diseases of the stomach and intestines, stated a few years ago that "Every patient who consults a physician is a 'mental' patient," aside from whether he has any organic disease or not. This means, then, that every patient must be treated from the mental standpoint also if he is to receive help from the physician.

Now, we are all familiar with cases where shock, worry, anxiety, or other emotional disturbance has caused mental symptoms in that the individual acts queerly, partially loses his memory, and may suspect members of his family or his friends of plotting against him. But what we are apt to forget is that these emotional disturbances can affect the workings of the body, and "apparently" not disturb the mind to any extent. It is interesting, therefore, to read of the experience of another specialist in stomach and intestinal diseases, Dr. G. Canby Robinson, Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, in The Bulletin, Johns Hopkins Hospital.

"In order to illustrate the fact that social disturbances cause illness," the report said, "we studied 50 patients with digestive disorders, admitted in rotation and studied without selection in the gastro (stomach) intestinal clinic of Johns Hopkins hospital. Patients with digestive disorders (indigestion) were, we knew, frequently ill because of emotional disturbances, but we were not prepared to find, as we did, that adverse social conditions were entirely or importantly related as a cause of illness in 44 of the 50 patients (88 per cent). In 30 patients no organic disease could be discovered."

Now the fact that nervousness and emotional disturbances are the only cause of many cases of indigestion (as they are of heart and other symptoms) and have an aggravating effect when real trouble exists, does not mean that symptoms of indigestion should not be investigated.

Treatment of Trifacial Neuralgia

TRIFACIAL neuralgia—tic dolo-reux—is a painful condition which comes on suddenly, lasts for hours and days sometimes, then suddenly disappears. The pain is on one side of face and is almost unbearable.

The treatment in former years was surgery and in some cases today surgery is necessary to rid the patient of this terrible pain.

Fortunately, it was found that the injection of alcohol into the main root or nerve bundle supplying the whole side of the face would stop the pain for months in some cases, years in others, and apparently permanent relief is obtained by some patients.

The effectiveness of this alcohol injection is recorded by Dr. W. Harris, London, in Brain, a British medical journal devoted to the brain and its disturbances.

Dr. Harris has treated within 30 years 2,500 persons suffering from this ailment (1,056 in private practice) by injection of alcohol. He has notes on only 377 of the hospital patients. Of the 1,433 patients 943 were women and 490 were men. The ages in majority of cases were between 41 and 70.

The cause of tic dolo-reux, in the opinion of Dr. Harris, is infected teeth, infected gums, abscess and infection of the sinuses. Letters written to the patients who could be reached revealed that the majority of those who reported had been free of pain for from three to thirty-one years. Some reported that there was still numbness on the one side and others that partial loss of taste occurred on the affected side. In some cases complete loss of taste on affected side occurred. A few reported that a few weeks after injection a new type of pain appeared.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—What causes me to belch after eating?
A.—Many cases of belching are due to a "nervous" stomach and many due to a sluggish liver.

Q.—What are the symptoms of syphilis? Is it curable?
A.—Symptoms would depend upon whether disease is in first, second or third stage. Test of blood or spinal fluid shows definitely if syphilis is or is not present. Syphilis is curable under proper treatment.

Q.—I have a slight heart condition. Could this be responsible for unpleasant breath? My teeth are in perfect condition.
A.—Bad breath is due to some conditions of teeth, gums or throat or to some digestive disturbances. See your physician and dentist. A heart condition would not be responsible.

Q.—What is considered normal blood pressure for a woman 72 years old.
A.—Normal systolic blood pressure of a woman 72 years old would be about 136 and diastolic about 90.

Scarred Floor

QUESTION: How can I refinish a badly scarred, horribly varnished and stained soft white pine floor?
Answer: The best treatment for your floors would be scraping with a floor machine. You can undoubtedly find someone in your neighborhood who does work of this kind. The machine will not only take off all of the old finish, but will bring the floors to an even smoothness, while the new wood that is exposed can be finished in any desired way. If you cannot have the floors scraped, you can take off the finish with trisodium phosphate; three pounds to the gallon of water. If you cannot get this chemical under its own name, ask at a grocer's for a colorless, latherless cleaning powder. The finish will soften and can be wiped and scraped off. Rinse with clear water and allow to dry before refinishing.

Sticky Shellac

Question: I have an oak bureau on which the old finish was removed with sandpaper, soap and water. A thin coat of shellac was put on a month ago, and since that time the shellac has dried but is still sticky. Is there any finish to take care of the stickiness?
Answer: Either the shellac was of a very poor quality, or thinned with poor alcohol, or else the surface was not properly cleaned before shellacking. Remove the shellac down to the wood with denatured alcohol. Wipe the surface with Lenzene, being extremely careful of fire. Then finish with shellac. Ask your paint dealer to give you the best quality he carries. When using denatured alcohol for thinning, be sure it is clean and of good quality.

Ceiling Finish

Question: A plaster ceiling, about 11 by 25 feet, has had wallpaper removed and has a hard and rather smooth surface. A large space was recently patched. I want to put on a finishing coat of plaster. Local masons doubt that plaster will stay on. Can you advise me?
Answer: Instead of plaster, use a kind of plastic paint made with gypsum. There are several brands on the market. These paints contain a binder that will hold to your old plaster. The paint can be put on with a whitewash brush about one-quarter inch or more thick, and can be smoothed with a trowel or a mason's float. These paints are intended to be used for texturing, but can equally well be given a smooth surface.

Veneered Surfaces

Question: Some time ago you recommended scraping a veneered top rather than using liquid varnish remover. Why? I was for many years in the piano manufacturing business and when we had occasion to remove varnish from a case we always used liquid remover. No harm resulted by this method.
Answer: My reason for suggesting scraping for removal of finishes on veneered furniture is due to the fact that not all veneers are glued with the same type of glue or in the same manner. A poor quality veneer on furniture may separate when a liquid is applied. Therefore it is safer to use a scraper, unless the veneer is known to be of high quality workmanship and materials.

Oil in a Sewer

Question: My house is near the end of the city sewer line. It is frequently filled with an odor of gasoline and oil, and my neighbors notice it also. Flushing out the sewer by the city is of help, but the odor returns. What can you suggest?
Answer: Your letter is clear evidence that garages are dumping gasoline and oil into the sewer. Many communities have suffered from this to such an extent that it has been prohibited by ordinance. The danger is not only from odor, but from possible explosion. You should report the condition to your local fire department.

Leather Club Chair

Question: I have a leather club chair, which is near a radiator. The leather is beginning to crack and dry. What kind of dressing would be best to preserve the leather and restore its flexibility?
Answer: Leather exposed to high temperatures may be completely destroyed. You may possibly be able to restore its flexibility by applying a leather dressing. You can get this at a large department store, or at a leather goods store.

Plaster on Plasterboard

Question: Can a thin coat of plaster be applied to plasterboard? What is the proper method?
Answer: Yes; and it is very usual. Any dealer in plasterboard can give you instruction sheets describing the process.

Paint on Window Sills

Interior paints are not intended to be weather-resistant. On window sills, however, it may be exposed to weather, and it is on those parts that paint is usually the first to suffer. This can be prevented by finishing window sills with house paint of the same shade, or by applying a coat of quick-drying varnish when the paint on the sills has hardened. For colored paints a clear varnish will have but little darkening effect, but will be noticeable when used over white. For this reason white house paint is preferable.

and then waxed. She bought a yard of slightly darker tan sateen and applied a design of bright blue and red morning glories and green leaves on it with stems and tendrils in green outline stitch. This was placed over the table top and tacked around the edge. A piece of window glass was then cut to fit and 1/2 by 3-inch pieces were screwed to the glass pieces with the top of the glass.

Montezuma Sent Out War Correspondents

When Cortez and his Spaniards landed in Mexico the king, Montezuma, sent special correspondents to bring back news of the invaders. These men were artists, for the Aztecs had no written language.

They brought back pictures of the white men, their ships, and the terrible beasts they rode. Horses were unknown to the Aztecs, and the sensation caused by these pictures was tremendous. These Aztec artists may truly be called the first war correspondents.

In older times the leader of an invading army was usually his own "special." We find many inscriptions in Egyptian ruins beginning: "In the year of my reign so-and-so, I, the King, the Great King, set out with my armies—"

And there follows a description of the campaign.

Only Firestone

TIRES GIVE YOU THESE EXCLUSIVE ADVANTAGES and SAVE YOU MONEY

IT'S just good judgment to BUY THE BEST right now—and that means Firestone tires for tractor, truck or car. You'll get longer mileage and greater dependability through Firestone's patented construction features of a Safety-Lock Gum-Dipped cord body and a wear-resisting Vitamic tread rubber compound—extra features that cost you no more. It's smart to buy now and have the tires when you need them.

All tractor tires are not alike. Only Firestone Ground Grip Tractor Tires have the patented Triple-braced traction bars which provide up to 215 extra inches of traction bar length per tractor. This means a stronger backbone in the "traction zone" where the pulling job is actually done. Continuous traction is assured because the Triple-braced bars cannot bend, slip or tear off and they automatically clean themselves. To get more work out of your tractor, to decrease your gasoline and tire cost, equip now with Firestone Ground Grip Tires.

V. THE FOUNDERS
(MAP OF KEWASKUM—1892)

The village of Kewaskum, roughly speaking, is located in the E½ sec. 9 and the W½ sec. 10, T. 12 N., R. 19 E., 4th P. M., Wisconsin. The first men to own land in this immediate vicinity were:

E½NW¼ NW¼NE¼ sec. 9 to Jesse H. Myers on March 19, 1855 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 25269.
SW¼NE¼ sec. 9 to James Christie on July 1, 1848 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 25000.

NW¼SE¼ sec. 9 to Charles Estabrooks on February 1, 1848 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 22212.

E½SE¼, SW¼SE¼ sec. 9 to Nathan Wheeler on February 10, 1848 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 24276.

W½NW¼ sec. 10 to Ludwig Pulls on February 1, 1850 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 32301.

NE¼NW¼ sec. 10 to Francis M. Wallace on May 15, 1857 under military bounty land warrant No. 12547, for 40 acres, under the act of 1850.

NE¼SW¼, SE¼SW¼ sec. 10 to Burdette Pickle on June 10, 1851 under military bounty land warrant No. 440-32, for 160 acres, under the act of 1847.

SE¼SW¼ sec. 10 to John Carr-ell on January 1, 1850 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 32303.

W½SW¼ sec. 10 to John O. Everts on August 1, 1849 under Milwaukee Cash Entry No. 28884. (Information obtained from United States Department of Interior, General Land Office).

In 1852 Jesse H. Myers built the first log house on the bank of the Milwaukee River, in the then prospective village of Kewaskum. (Western Historical Company, History of Washington and Ozaukee Counties, Wisconsin, 437). In the same year, F. W. Buchtel fitted up the first mill, and in the fall, Myers constructed a primitive sawmill on the river bank, where the rapids promised a fine water power. In 1854 the latter also began the erection of a flouring mill which was completed in 1855. (Carl Quicker, Washington County, Wisconsin, Past and Present, 1, 43).

Henry P. Eames: A farmer, the son of Philip and Beulah (Messenger) Eames was born in Berkshire Co., Mass., November 29, 1815. On January 1, 1845, at Peru, Berkshire Co., he married Miss Elmira Thompson, daughter of Daniel and Abigail Thompson. Mrs. Eames was born in Berkshire Co. in October, 1853. Mr. Eames and his family moved to Washington county, Wisconsin, and located near Myers' Mill, in the town of North Bend, now Kewaskum. Mr. J. H. Myers, a single man, had built a log house near the river bank, which was the only habitation of what is now the village of Kewaskum. Mr. Eames rented this house from Myers and occupied it until the following spring, when, having erected a large frame house on the opposite side of the road, he took up his residence in it. This was the first frame house in the village and town. "It was near the river, on the south side of what is now Main street, opposite West Water. It was what was called 'a story and a half house.' (Western Historical Company, History of Washington and Ozaukee Counties, Wisconsin, 437). Mr. J. H. Myers and H. P. Eames made the first plat of the village of Kewaskum. Mrs. Eames was instrumental in organizing the first Sunday school in the village, which was accomplished in 1855. She served as the first superintendent. (Western Historical Company, History of Washington and Ozaukee Counties, Wisconsin, 726).

Mathias Altenhofen son of John and Anna Altenhofen, was born August 31, 1831; came to America in June, 1847, with his parents and located in the town of North Bend, Section 2 (now Kewaskum). Shortly afterwards he went to the village of Salisbury (now Barton), and engaged as an employee in the sawmill of Barton Salisbury. Here he remained only one year, then accepted a position as clerk in the store of Russell Holmes of the same place. After two years he engaged as clerk with Mr. Weil, and continued in his service until 1855, when he came to Myers' Mill, now known as the village of Kewaskum, and in company with Max'n Hirsch, opened a store. After eighteen months he sold out to Mr. Hirsch. Six months later Mr. Altenhofen formed a partnership with Henry Backhaus, and buying out Mr. Hirsch, they continued the business until 1857, when Altenhofen sold out his interest in that establishment and began business in that same line alone. On the completion of the railroad through the village, he built the first elevator, and began buying wheat for several years. He bought on an average 500,000 bushels of grain annually, while he was selling through his store about 40,000 worth of goods yearly. After operating a few years very successfully in wheat and amassing a very comfortable fortune, like many others who have trodden the same path, he too was caught at last, and saw his many thousands swept away in a few weeks. December 7, 1878, he settled with his creditors, turning over everything he had left. On closing up the mercantile business he took his son's place in the saloon business. PRIVATE LETTER

In a recent letter addressed to the editor and his wife, Private Leo L. Wietor, whose home is at Wayne, related some army camp news. The letter, after receiving his basic training at Fort Riley, Kansas, Pvt. Wietor, who was drafted into the army, was transferred recently to Camp Polk, La., where he is now stationed. Permin V. Kohler of this village, who was drafted at the same time and received his basic training at Fort Riley, was also transferred. He was sent to Camp Siefert, Boulder City, Nev., where he is stationed with Co. D-524th Military Police Battalion. Camp Siefert is located near Las Vegas, Nev., that famous "wide open" city of the West. With his letter Pvt. Wietor enclosed a newspaper clipping and a picture showing him amidst a fleet of trucks. The letter follows:

Camp Polk, La.

Dear Friends:
After receiving 13 weeks of basic training at Fort Riley, Kansas, in the cavalry mechanized division, including scout cars, G. M. C. army trucks, combat training, manual of arms, military courtesy and discipline, map and compass reading, pitched tents, providing for shelter, military sanitation, conduct of soldier in public, road discipline while on march or in convoy, military uniform wearing and salutes to superior officers, safety precautions while training with rifles, pistols and machine guns, and also a variety of orders and signals, etc. was transferred to Camp Polk, La.

Had a swell train ride and made several stops, the first at Kansas City, Mo. Stopped here for an hour and had refreshments. Stopped again at Pittsburg, Kans. and also at Shreveport, La. Arrived at Camp Polk on a Thursday at 1:30 p. m. Had a reception, band playing, swell dinner, a lot of officers to greet us, and short talks by General Gillen and Col. Lucas. All selectees were re-classified and many of us are acting dispatcher and driving commanding car for superior officers at the Service Battery, 54th Field Artillery, 3rd Army Division.

On Saturday, June 21, I met Lieut. Morris of Headquarters Battery, a former athletic coach at Fond du Lac High school. It was a pleasure meeting an officer like Lt. Morris. We had quite a talk together. He is acquainted around Kewaskum and West Bend. He asked about Principal Rose, Dr. Nottling of Kewaskum and friends in West Bend.

My first job was to direct selectees from the classification building to their respective batteries. This camp is new, being under construction and when completed will have about 13,000 soldiers in training. The camp grounds, being about 5 miles square, has three large water towers, one 112 ft. high, look-out tower, hospital, several recreational halls and they are busy trying to make this camp one of the finest in the union. There are lots of pine trees here, weather very warm, and still have one Washington county selectee in the same battery—my buddy Ramel of West Bend.

The nearest city to camp is Leesville, a population of about 3500. Trying my best to be a good soldier, feeling fine, and best regards to all.

Yours truly,
Pvt. Leo L. Wietor

GAMES THIS SUNDAY
Kewaskum's game at Campbellsport and all others scheduled Sunday, Aug. 3, have been postponed until the end of the season so that the 8 teams of the Kettle Moraine league can play the 5 of the Eastern Wisconsin loop in special mid-season challenge series. Kewaskum will meet Plymouth at the latter place Sunday in this exhibition. Details on the event appear on the front page of this issue.

On a day too hot to play good baseball Kewaskum traveled to Cascade Sunday and put on its most erratic performance of the season to come out on the short end of a 10-9 score when Cascade pushed over the winning run in the last half of the ninth inning. The setback dropped the team from second place to a tie for fourth.

Kewaskum would have won without the score even being close but 7 errors gave Cascade a few more runs than they had coming. Prost, regular shortstop, was absent Sunday and some excuse for the defeat can be accepted considering that during part of the game the team's regular first baseman played third and a utility man played first while the regular left fielder played shortstop during the entire game, leaving only the second baseman in his regular position.

With Kewaskum's 7 errors, Cascade garnered 12 hits off the combined pitching of Honeck and H. Marx. The losers got but 7 off "Lefty" Boerger and G. Ninnemann. Honeck pitched the first 6 innings and then retired from the mound and turned the job over to Marx. "Killy" was not up to form in the heat and his usual effectiveness was lacking. He gave up 9 hits in 6 innings while Marx allowed 3 in the last 3 frames. Boerger also was removed from the hill after 7 innings. He allowed only 2 hits in the first 6 innings and then the heat got him in the seventh when 7 Kewaskum runs crossed the plate and Ninnemann relieved him.

The locals jumped Boerger for 2 runs in the first inning and Cascade tied it up in the third. The winners pushed over 4 more in the sixth on 2 hits and 4 errors to make it 6-2. On 4 walks, an error and 3 hits Kewaskum tallied the runs in the seventh to take a 9-6 lead. Marx came in to pitch and Cascade netted 3 runs in their half of the same inning to tie it up again. A walk, error and single gave them the winning run in the ninth. Theusch started at the plate for the losers with 3 hits, one a triple. Laack got 3 for the winners.
