Streamlined
Engines Operate
Through Village

The five new streamlined
power locomotives recently purchased by the Chicago & North West Railroad Company are now operating on the Chicago-Green Bay run between Kewaskum. The first streamlined engine was placed in service last week and the fast Flambeau
passenger train was placed in service
on the Chicago-Green Bay and back
run on the first time Wednesday morning.

These Diesel engines are capable of operating for 24 hours and have 2,000 horsepower. Regular passenger cars make the trip in 2 1/2 hours. These engines will be used on the regular communications and other cities on the Chicago-Green Bay run.

The new streamlined passenger locomotives will be provided for the Chicago-Green Bay and back run on the first time Wednesday morning.

Some of your friends here will want
to know if you had those two king salmon tied up. Ralph Kohn's fishing was a lot easier in Kewaskum a couple of weeks ago. In fact it was so good that
one didn't even need a pole, he could
wade in the river and pick up the limit
right off the top of the water. (That
was during the time many pickers and suckers died because of the hot,
dry spell, shallow water, water pollution, or something).

Ralph Kohn in Alaska Promoted to Corporal

According to an item in The Alaska Service Record, newspaper published in the interest of military life and national defense, Ralph L. Kohn of the U. S. Army Aircraft Warning Signal Corps at Fort Richardson, Anchorage,
Alaska, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kohn of Kewaskum, was recently promoted from a private first class to corporal. The paper was sent by Ralph to his mother here and also a copy of the August issue of The Alaska Sportsman, containing a picture of Corporal Kohn
and two army friends looking in a shop window on the street.

Ralph sent another issue of The Record containing a story about himself
and nine other men of the Aircraft Warning Signal Company going to Willow Creek (Alaska) to try their hand at salmon fishing and a little mountain climbing recently. They left on a Saturday noon, arriving at Willow Creek in time to set up camp and look around a bit before turning in.
Sunday morning they set out bright and early in search of dinner. They caught two king salmon which they said were served up in good style. The boys returned Sunday night, mighty tired, but pleased with the holiday.

Some of your friends here will want
to know if you had those two king salmon tied up. Ralph Kohn's fishing was
a lot easier in Kewaskum a couple of
weeks ago. In fact it was so good that
one didn't even need a pole, he could
wade in the river and pick up the limit
right off the top of the water. (That

Potato Field Day on County Plots Sunday

The southeastern Wisconsin district
potato field day will be held on the Reinhold Kressin farm near Rockfield on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 24. The main program according to E. E. Skal-iskey, Washington county agricultural agent, who is in charge of the field day
plans, will get underway promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

A program of special merit and interest to potato growers of southeastern Wisconsin is being planned for the occasion. Among those from the College of Agriculture who will speak are
J. G. Milward and John Brann of the Department of Horticulture. Local growers will also participate in this program which is being held with the cooperation of the Department of Horticulture, College of Agriculture, and the Wisconsin Potato Growers association.

More than a two-acre field containing twenty trial plots has been planted to seed stocks obtained from northern Wisconsin and growers from other states. A few of the seed growers who have supplied seed stock for the Rockfield plot are: Elmer Brothers, Burlington, Wis.; Wilson Brilme, Florence,
Wis.; Stark's Farms, Starks, Wis.; Spooners Experiment Station, Spooner,
Wis.; Andrew Kubick and Mike Babu-
lin, Hawkins, Wis.; Prosser Bros. and Feix Zeloski, Antigo, Wis.

Many interesting facts concerning
the growth, general appearance, yield,
drought and disease resistance qualities of the seed trial plots will be pointed out by J. G. Milward who heads the potato improvement program in Wisconsin. John Brann will discuss the potato disease problems and also will present new and interesting facts about the newer varieties as revealed by the many experimental plots on the Kressin farm.

Many of the leading potato growers
of southeastern Wisconsin are expected to attend the meeting. Growers from the northern counties will also be in attendance to view the performance of their seed stock under southern Wisconsin climatic conditions.

The Kressin farm is located 2 miles northwest of Rockfield on the Germantown-Jackson town line road. Bring any potato specimens or diseased plants
about which you would like advice to the meeting. You are cordially invited to attend this meeting!

Army to Take 16 More Young Men Aug. 27

None of Those to Be Inducted are
From Kewaskum; No Men Needed in September

Sixteen more Washington county
young men will report to the Washington County Selective Service Board No.
1 at headquarters in the court house,
West Bend, at 7 a. m. next Wednesday,
Aug. 27, for induction into the army.
From West Bend they will be sent to the state induction station at 4108 N.
Richards street, Milwaukee, for final examination before being sent to camp.
These men fill the quota for the county
in August.

According to the local board no men will be sent into training from Washington county in September, upon orders from state selective service headquarters. On Monday President Roosevelt signed into law legislation to relieve men 25 years of age and older from active military service. The law also provides mandatory deferment for men not yet inducted who are 28, and directs that these of the specified age
who request it shall be released as soon as practicable and not in conflict with national defense interests. As of June 1 there were 112,000 selectees in service who were 28 or older.

The following will be inducted next Wednesday:
380, Leroy J. Goring, West Bend;
1432, Clarence C. Gettelman, R. 1, Germantown; 1458, Raymond E. Zahn,
West Bend; 1540, Roy P. Gundrum,
Washington, D. C.; 1590, Norbert P.
Malsack, R. 1, Slinger; 1620, Edward
C. Bebeau, Wauwatosa; 2252, James A.
Harth, R. 1, Jackson; 2380, Robert L.
Petrey, Milwaukee; 2452, Herman W.
Buss, Hartford; 2466, Howard P. Mayer, R. 4, West Bend; 2469, Robert J.
Breitkreutz, Jr., Hartford; 2488, Otto
A. Lauffer, West Bend; 249, Robert A.
Lenhardt, R. 1, Hartford; 2516, Franklin A. Blum, Hartford; 2643, Joseph F.
Schweitzer, R. 1, Allenton; 2692, John
M. Olsen, Hartford.

Four alternates have also been named for possible induction. They will be notified if required to report and it is possible that one or more may have to report as some of those on the regular list have signified their intentions of enlisting in service. The alternates are:
2707, Siegfried A. Twachtman, West Bend; 2757, Edward J. Duenkel, Barton; 2760, Kurt J. Fleweger, R. 5, West Bend; 2766, Benjamin M. Tranholm,
R. 2, West Bend.

NOTICE TO HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL CANDIDATES

All boys who are going to participate in football at Kewaskum High school
this fall are asked to have their dental examinations for athletic insurance
next Thursday, Aug. 28, in the afternoon. You may get your insurance cards at the home of Prin. Rose at anytime.

Those boys who have had the insurance before will know about the two different types (75c and $1.50) and can make their choice before getting the cards. Those boys who are freshmen
this year may get the cards and information to take home to their parents
before having an examination.

MOVE HERE FROM FOND DU LAC

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sommerfeld, who have resided in Fond du Lac for 22
years, have sold their home in that city
and last Saturday moved to Kewaskum to make their permanent residence with Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A.
Martin. Mrs. Martin is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sommerfeld. The Martins
have rented the lower flat in the H.
Driessel home on Main street which they and the Sommerfelds will occupy
until their new home now being erected is completed.

FRED MILLER TO NEW YORK FOR SALESMANSHIP COURSE

Fred Miller of Millers, Inc. left last Saturday for Amsterdam, N. Y. where he is taking a special short course on salesmanship at the Mohawk Rug and Carpet Mills. He will have the opportunity to watch every step in the manufacturing of the many types of carpets and rugs made by this large mill
during his stay in Amsterdam. Color harmony will be another important subject. No doubt Fred will find this added knowledge very helpful to him
in his line of work.

cago are spending the week with Mr.
and Mrs. Fred Andrae and other relatives and friends in the vicinity. On Saturday they visited at the Jac. Becker home.

Parents of Kewaskum People are Summoned

HENRY WALVOORD
Henry Walvoord, father of Winferd
Walvoord of this village, passed away
at his home near Batavia on Monday, Aug. 18. Besides his son here, he is survived by his wife and another son,
Melvin, of Sheboygan.

Funeral services were held on Thursday, Aug. 21, at 1:30 p. m. at the Batavia Evangelical church and interment took place in the Walvoord cemetery
at Cedar Grove.

MRS. ANTONIA HILGENDORF

Mrs. Antonia Schreck Hilgendorf, nee Michael, 79, mother of Mrs. John C. Reinders of St. Bridgets, Kewaskum, R. D., passed away on Sunday, Aug. 17. Mrs. Hilgendorf had been making her home with her daughter, Mrs.
Reinders, for several weeks before her death.

Besides her daughter, deceased is survived by a son, Edwin J. Schreck, by her first marriage; a daughter-in-
law, Josephine Schreck; a son-in-law,
John C. Reinders, and two grandchildren, Don and Bob Schreck.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, Aug. 20, at 8:30 a. m. from the funeral home of J. H. Becker & Sons, Milwaukee, to Holy Angels' church
there at 9 a. m. Interment was in Calvary cemetery in that city. Mr. and Mrs. Mike Skupniewitz of this village were among those attending the funeral.

MRS. HERMAN BLOEDORN

Mrs. Herman Bloedorn, 85, mother of Mrs. Arnold Probst of Kewaskum, died in her sleep Friday morning, Aug. 15,
after ailing for the past six months
with heart trouble. Her death occurred at the home of her son, Albert Bloedorn, in West Bend.

Besides the above mentioned daughter and son, Mrs. Bloedorn leaves three other sons, William, Ed and Herman,
all of Milwaukee; another daughter,
Mrs. Meta Hornsbee of West Bend;
one sister, Mrs. Ulrika Zunker, of Milwaukee; 18 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Deceased, nee Augusta Pagel, was born in Germany on Jan. 28, 1856. On Nov. 14, she was married to Herman Bloedorn and they immigrated to this country. The couple settled in Milwaukee in March, 1882 and from that city
they moved onto a farm in the town of Barton in 1894. In April, 1920, they moved to West Bend and resided there since. Her husband predeceased her on Aug. 26, 1931. Four children also preceded her, two sons, Carl and George,
and two others in infancy.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon, Aug. 18, from the Westphal funeral home in West Bend to St. John's Lutheran church. The Rev. W. P. Sauer
officiated and burial was made in the Union cemetery.

ANOTHER NEW HOME BEING BUILT; IS 8TH BUILDING

Excavation work has been completed
and construction of the foundation is now going ahead on the new home being erected by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Martin on their lot in the Stark addition on East Main street. The home will be located on the south side of the street, beside of Lester Kohn's new home. The house is the eighth new building going up in Kewaskum this summer. Other building homes at present are Louis Schaefer, Reuben Schaefer, Wm. Schaub, Carl Melahn, Wm.
A. Backhaus and K. A. Honeck and a lecker plant is being erected by Sylvester Hartec.

MILWAUKEE TEAM TO PLAY BALL GAME HERE SATURDAY

Art. Raasch, who calls himself "the old home town", has sent word to this office that the Briggs & Stratton Local No. 232 baseball team of Milwaukee is coming to Kewaskum Saturday afternoon, Aug. 23, for a game with a pick-up Kewaskum team. The game will start about 2 p. m. Art. writes,
"We'll be there to take you fellows into camp so have a ball team out." The editor has been rounding up players in an effort to get nine men together and all who care to play are invited to be at the diamond Saturday.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Marriage licenses have been issued
to Marvin L. McThs, R. 1, Random Lake, and Dorothy M. Haack, R. 1, Kewaskum, and Malvin C. Ramthun, Dundee, and Eleanor W. Hilbert, Eden, R. 1.

Annual County Fair Opens Next Saturday

Event Will Have Big Increase in Entries, Which Are to Be Made
on Friday

The 84th Washington county 4-H club fair will open to the public on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. All entries to the fair are to be made on Friday, Aug. 29th,
before 8:00 p. m.

Exhibitors are urged to make their entries as early as possible on entry
day. Due to increasing interest in the fair in recent years, there has been a pronounced increase in the number of entries. If exhibitors will make their entries on Friday morning the customary afternoon rush will be avoided.
Articles of a perishable nature, like baking entries, need not be brought to the fair until Saturday morning at 9:00
Cattle also need not be brought to the barns until Saturday morning. They must be ready for judging by 10:00 o'- clock. All entry blanks, however, must be filled out and left with the clerks on Friday.

JUDGING BEGINS SATURDAY—
Judging in all departments except dairy cattle, poultry and clothing will begin at noon on Saturday. Dairy cattle, poultry and clothing judging will begin promptly at 9:30 a. m. on Sunday,
Aug. 31st.

The following will serve as the official judges at the fair and the departments they will judge:
HOME ECONOMICS: Canning, foods
and nutrition—Miss Irene Schulst, Ozaukee county club agent; clothing
and dress review—Miss Catherine Steward, Fond du Lac county home agent.

AGRICULTURE: Colts, sheep, swine
and duel purpose cattle—John Farge,
College of Agriculture; grains, handicraft, etc.—Irvin Holzhueter and Orrin Swingle, agricultural instructors, West Bend and Hartford High schools; vegetables—C. E. Kuehner, College of Agriculture; poultry—Wm. Halbach, Watertown; dairy cattle—Richard Stumbo, secretary of Wis. State Dairymen's assn.

Many requests for educational booth space have been received. There may be other youth organizations who will want to exhibit with a booth and who have not sent in their request. Will such clubs or organizations send in their requests at once to Miss Bilstein, county home agent. Any 4-H club, boy or girl scout organization, or PFA
chapter may exhibit with a booth.
These booths are to tell educational stories of youth activities in Washington county.

In the home economics division special attention is again called to the exhibits adult homemakers may bring to the fair. Any homemaker is eligible to compete. See the premium list for eligible exhibits.

THE FAIR IS FREE—No admission
or parking fees are charged. There will be ample room for parking as parking space has been rented from the John Rosenheimer farm.

4-H HOME TALENT SHOW—A 40x80 tent will be erected to serve as a little theatre for the 4-H club home talent show. The following is a brief synopsis of the program to be presented:
One Act Play—Kohlsville Pioneers
4-H Club.
Vocal Duet—Vera Kurtz and Beulah Gerner.

IGA PEOPLE ON LAKE CRUISE

John Marx, local IGA dealer, and wife, Earl Kohler, accompanied by his lady friend, Miss Meta Barth of West Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Guenther and Miss Kathleen Schaefer accompanying
Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Guenther and son Artie of Campbellsport, were among the many IGA people who went on a cruise
on the S. S. Milwaukee clipper on Lake Michigan Sunday which took them to Muskegon, Mich. The boat is a new one put into service. Some event is held each year for the dealers who are winners in a sales contest.

Many People Attend Band Concert; Winners Listed

Another $10.00 was given in free cash
prizes at the Kewaskum Community
band concert sponsored by the Kewaskum Businessmen's association Wednesday night. The concert was very well attended but many names had to be drawn before the prizes were awarded. The businessmen, their employes and families and all children are not eligible for the cash awards and are asked to refrain from signing tickets
because their names will be disqualified. This caused a lot of delay Wednesday, as many tickets were disqualified.

For the $2.00 prize the names of Joe Schwind, Mrs. D. Perkins and Wm.
Brenner were drawn first, all of whom were absent or failed to claim their prize. The winner was Andrew Vorpahl of Kewaskum, who was present. The first name drawn for the $3.00 prize
was Alex Shontos, then Bertha Barteit, before it was given to Mrs. Lu Gantenbein of Kewaskum, who is employed at the Mrs. H. J. Lay home.
Winner of the $5.00 was Mrs. Fred An-drae of this village. The names of Mrs.
Herbert Backhaus, Al Rheinganz, sylvester Keller, Allen Tessar and Wm.
Baumgartner were drawn ahead of Mrs.
Andrae but all were absent except Tes-
sar, who was too young.

Another $10 will be given next Wednesday and the winner must be present. Ask for free tickets at the local business houses.

GAMES THIS SUNDAY

Kewaskum at Campbellsport
Adell at Kohler
Cascade at Waldo
Sheboygan Falls at Glenbeulah

In the final home game of the season
Kewaskum submerged a weak Glenbeulah nine under a 12 to 1 score Sunday to give the locals an even rating in the standings. The contest was called at the end of 6 1/2 innings by the impire, probably because he had caught
the players had enough and Kewaskum had too big a lead. With one game left for some teams and two for others, three teams can still tie or beat out Campbellsport for the second half title. The Belles copped the first half.

Kewaskum got its 12 runs on only 7
hits but 7 Glen errors, 7 bases on balls
by their pitchers and 7 stolen bases by the locals were responsible for the big score. The visitors' only run came in the last inning. Mooney started for Glen, had nothing on the ball, and was roughly treated. Kewaskum scored 2 runs in the first inning on 3 errors and added 7 in the third. In this inning
they stole everything but the pants off
the catcher with 6 stolen bases. This,
with 4 hits, 2 errors, a balk, 2 wild pitches and 3 walks accounted for the runs. D. Narges came in to hurl in the 4th and the boys got 3 more runs off
his delivery in the 5th on 2 walks, wild pitch, hit batter and 2 triples. Kewaskum batted in only 6 innings.

The locals had 3 errors, 2 by Bunkelmann, an outfielder playing third base in Kewaskum's broken up lineup. The hits were evenly divided.

Local Young Couple Badly Injured When Autos Crash Head-On

Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Kuester of this village and Mr. and Mrs. Math. Yogerst of West Bend were seriously injured in a head-on automobile collision
at about 8:15 o'clock Saturday evening on Highway 33 about three-quarters of a mile west of West Bend. The head-on crash occurred, it is reported, when Yogerst, driver of one car, turned out to pass another car and rammed into the one driven by Kuester. The latter was driving a brand new car, purchased only a few weeks ago.

All of the injured were taken to St.
Joseph's Community hospital at West Bend where all except Yogerst are still confined. He was released early this week, a fracture of the right clavical
and multiple lacerations. Mrs. Yogerst,
who was the most seriously injured,
suffered a broken right leg, concussion
of the brain and multiple deep lacerations
to the face and head. Kuester received a broken right leg and smashes
and multiple lacerations. Mrs. Kuester, the former Miss Lillian Weddig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Weddig, was also badly hurt with a broken left wrist, lacerations, multiple cuts and painful bruises. The injuries
of all are serious, although not critical.
Mr. and Mrs. Kuester and Mrs. Yogerst
are expected to be kept at the hospital
some time yet, the former several weeks. Mrs. Kuester was thrown through the windshield.

Kuester was traveling west and Yogerst
east on the highway when the cars met.
The Kuesters were on their way
to spend the week end with friends at Cedar Lake. Both couples are newlyweds. The Kuesters were married in June and the Yogersts only a week or two before the accident. The impact of the crash was so terrific that the motors in both machines were pushed
way in, almost against the dash board.
Both cars were demolished and on seeing them one wonders how the occupants escaped alive. The machines were towed to West Bend where on Sunday
hundreds of people went to see them.
Latest reports from the hospital are
that those involved are coming along very favorably.

DAMAGED ENOUGH

"Your opponent is entitled to damages."
"Don't you think he's been damaged enough already, judge?"

One for Mother
Effie—Why hasn't Daddy much hair?
Mother—Because he thinks a lot, darling.
Effie (pause)—But why have you got so much, Mummie?
Mother—Get on with your breakfast.

First Impression
Teacher—What was the first thing that struck you when you entered our school?
Visitor—A spit-ball, I think.

Imitate Kangaroo
A weak but ambitious young man once ventured to approach a great merchant and inquired, "May I ask you the secret of success?"
"There is no easy secret," replied the merchant. "You just jump at your opportunity."
"But how can I tell when my opportunity comes?"
"You can't," snapped the merchant. "You have to keep jumping until you stick."

His Rake-Off
My Johnnie threw a brick that hit a neighbor on the head.
They called a doctor, and he put that patient right to bed.
That doctor got a great big fee—As well the doctor might—And then he gave my Johnnie half.
Which was no more than right.

Forced to It
Rastus—I hear yo'all am talkin' ob gettin' married.
Sam—Yes, I may hab to if de cost ob livin' keeps on goin' up.

SHORT LIVED

"Fame is easier to gain than it used to be."
"Yes, but it isn't so lasting."

Might Rain
An inmate of an asylum saw his chance to escape by climbing over the wall on a carelessly left ladder. Jumping from the wall he landed on his feet and promptly went to the front gate. When they opened it up in response to the bell he punched, he said,
"Darn the luck, I forgot my hat."

Too Much
"What is the matter with Bangs?"
"His baby wants the moon, and his wife wants the earth."

THE PAPERS OF PRIVATE PURKEY

Dear Ma—
Well, I gess maybe I will be tossed into the guard house again or shot or put peeling more potatus (and I don't know witch is worse). I got one of them post cards from the Sen. Wheeler First Committee and what I read in the newspapers about all the fuss being made about it makes me awful nervous. Only some good luck will save me. I wrote a note to the President like the Senator asked me to saying I was against getting into the European war. (I did not say positively though.) And I explained while I was against it I wood go peacefully if ordered.

But even this was wrong and only a letter I just got from Nellie Petersen keeps me from a nervous breakdown. It seems I wrote a letter to Nellie the same time I wrote to Washington, and by mistake I put the letter about not getting into the war in Nellie's envelope and sent to Mr. Roosevelt the letter I meant for Nellie.

This wood seem a good break I gess but I am not two sure becauz how will the President know? The letter he got just began "My Darling Nellie" and what will the first sentence of the letter witch he has it says "Remember all your promises to me my dear," and what is to keep him from thinking I am talking about the very promises mentioned on that Wheeler post card? He will not know I am just talking about the promises Nellie Petersen made to me about not dancing with Sergeant Mooney no more and about marrying me if I ever get through kitchen police duties.

I think that the letter witch I sent to President Roosevelt by mistake also says I am holding him to every promise he made last year witch means Nellie's promises about always being true to me and not the President's campaign promises but he will not know this I am afraid. I think I closed this letter with a line like "I am very serious about this, honey bunch, and if you go back on your word and try to two-time me in any way I will take no nonsense." You can see what I see an officer coming my way I think General Marshall has sent for me.

I am in bad with Nellie two on account of she does not know what to make of the letter witch she got from me and witch was meant for the President. She says that I am a louse for ever writing it in the first place. Every time I have seen Nellie I have told her I was every inch a fighting man and that war held no terrors for me, no matter whether it was on home grounds or where, so I look pretty foolish to her writing a letter to the President that I am against any war that takes me far away from home.

Come what may, ma, I am in a tough spot and I feel two worried to write more now except to close saying I love you like always.
Your loving son,
Oscar.

Low Back Pain May Be Result Of Infection

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN pain occurs anywhere the first thought is naturally to relieve the pain for the time being and look for the cause later. In the case of an acute abdominal condition, when appendicitis is suspected, no pain killing drug, of course, is given as it would hide or mask the symptoms.

That patients may be satisfied sometimes to continue to take medicine or other treatment to relieve pain, instead of trying to learn the cause of the pain, is the warning of Dr. Ernest E. Myers, New York, in Physiotherapy Review, especially in cases of low back pain.

"Conservative (or waiting) treatment in low back pain fails frequently, not because the treatment is worthless, but because it is wrongly chosen for the individual case. It is of little value to the patient to have a prolonged course of diathermy (or other method of applying heat), massage and exercise, to find after many weeks of no relief that the underlying cause was infection or some peculiarity about the bones of the spine."

Thus in men an inflamed condition of the prostate gland can cause low back pain.

In men and women some of the side and sometimes the back bony projections of the spine bones have shapes that vary from normal, causing trouble when any extra load is carried or when a jar or fall occurs. The joints in the low back region connecting the bones of the spine with the hip bones also get strained and sometimes sprained or slightly separated, due to a fall or other injury. A common way of getting this strain is to make a mistake, swing at a golf ball or other object and miss it, or to lift a heavy object.

Rest and Heat Valuable.

If, then, there is a history of an injury, rest and heat followed by a properly fitted brace, is the proper treatment. Sometimes the weight of a heavy protruding abdomen can put a strain on these joints. If there is no history of an injury and the pain in low back persists, the source of infection should be sought—teeth, tonsils, sinuses or elsewhere.

Use of Gastroscope In Digestive Cases

WHEN a patient has symptoms of ulcer of the stomach an X-ray and fluoroscopic examination is made.

And when the physician is told by the X-ray expert that neither ulcer nor cancer is present, it is a great relief all around.

However, if the patient still has the symptoms, although no ulcer or cancer is present, something must be done to relieve the symptoms. It is in such cases as this that the gastro-scope ("gastro" means stomach), which enables the physician to see the lining of the patient's stomach, often reveals that the lining of the stomach is inflamed and the ailment is known as gastritis.

Just to what extent this new instrument can clear up doubtful cases is reported by Dr. E. Bulmer in the British Medical Journal. From 1,575 stomach and small intestine cases culled from nearly 10,000 new outpatients, the cause of the symptoms was not definitely found in 589 cases (nearly 40 per cent). By use of the gastro-scope 147 patients in which the X-ray did not show ulcer or cancer were studied.

In 66 of these 147 cases no abnormality was found, though it may have been present, but in 60 cases the gastro-scope showed gastritis. The gastro-scope in the other 21 cases (where X-ray reported nothing) showed nine cases of ulcer, a suspected cancer and a cancer too late for operation.

"Therefore, the gastro-scope has proved of great value in the routine investigation of this type of dyspepsia."

QUESTION BOX
Q.—Are there any symptoms that go with an enlarged heart?
A.—A permanently enlarged heart is not usually due to overexertion. Organic changes may cause heart to beat faster but most cases are due to nervousness.
Q.—What causes long, red streaks to appear on various parts of the body?
A.—This is sometimes a symptom of a nervous ailment. Consult your physician.
Q.—How can I relieve the pain in the soles of my feet?
A.—Your feet are as important as other parts of your body. This pain is often due to iron arch breaking down. See an orthopedic surgeon.
Q.—Why are bleeding warts dangerous?
A.—1. Danger might be that a wart which bleeds due to injury may turn to cancer in those of cancer age. 2. Acid forming foods are eggs, meat, fish, poultry, breads of all kinds (both white and whole wheat), cereals, pastries, puddings.

Considerate
Tom—Hi, what's the idea of wearing my raincoat?
Tim—Well, you wouldn't like your new suit to get wet, would you?

Benefits to Our Readers

THE PUBLIC nature of advertising benefits everyone it touches. It benefits the public by describing exactly the products that are offered. It benefits employees, because the advertiser must be more fair and just than the employer who has no obligation to the public. These benefits of advertising are quite apart from the obvious benefits which advertising confers—the lower prices, the higher quality, the better service that go with advertised goods and firms.

ATTACK ON AMERICA

BY GENERAL ARVED WHITE

Mexico City, reposed the camouflaged observation plane that was to pick him up on the second night thereafter at a secret rendezvous south of Chapultepec. These final plans, as he checked them over, seemed coldly academic in detail, like the laying of a field gun for indirect fire upon an unseen human target. But Benning did not minimize the dangerous complications that lay ahead.

Midnight brought the lights of Mexico City into view. From the observer's cockpit Benning caught the loss of the pilot's arm in signal and bon voyage. His heart was pumping as he lifted himself erect and climbed out of the cockpit.

Into the starlit void he plunged, falling in a backward arc and tolling of three seconds before his hand tore at the ripcord handle of his parachute. Shortly the straps gripped at armpits and legs to tell him the parachute had fed safely into the air. Above the rush of air he could hear the plane roaring on its way. There came to him a moment's envy of the pilot who would flash back along the friendly route to a safe landing at Albright Field.

The moon had not yet risen, but the capital's masses were outlined in myriad light clusters, which told Benning the American air service was still too busy at home to strike at Mexico City. Through the starlight he presently caught the black earth toward which he was rushing.

He freed himself of straps, and rolled and secreted the silken chute. Half an hour's brisk walk brought him to the dark little Calle del Nogal, which told him he had landed to the north of Chapultepec. He found a sleepy cabman to drive him direct to Jesus Maria.

Benning's plan was set as he had lived with Mlle. Ducos.

There was a light in the little Ducos apartment when he reached there shortly after one o'clock. He walked resolutely up to the door and knocked. The immutable law of averages, he argued hopefully as he waited, dictated an occasional bit of luck in his operations.

In a moment the door opened and Benning saw the French girl's diminutive figure framed against the lighted room. But at recognizing Benning, terror flashed into her eyes and she stepped quickly back.

"But no, señor!" she exclaimed. "No such person as you mentioned lives here."

Before she could close the door, a figure strode up from behind her, a gaunt man with shaggy, unkempt beard and bloodshot, haunted eyes in which there was now the gleam of mingled terror and jealous suspicion.

The man's disheveled aspect and wasted face did not rob Benning of instant recognition. It was Bromlitz, the American renegade and murderer, the man in whose shoes Benning had masqueraded in Mexico.

A snarl told Benning that Bromlitz had recognized him. Benning sprang past the French girl to the attack, reaching Bromlitz before the man from Luxembourg could extricate himself from the shock of surprise. Benning drove his fist against the Bromlitz jaw, but did not floor him. A knife flashed from Bromlitz's belt, Benning dove in and pinned his antagonist's arms to his sides.

Bromlitz shook himself with a frenzied strength. Benning clung through one spasm of resistance after another until he felt that his own endurance could not last much longer. With a carefully co-ordinated

"It was Bromlitz."

movement he released his hold and caught Bromlitz' knife hand, twisted it suddenly, and tripped the fellow to the floor.

There was a howl of pain from Bromlitz' throat as the sharp blade crept through his shirt into the flesh of his breast. Benning cast the weight of his body into the lunge. There followed the rasping cry of a mortal wound. Bromlitz' strength relaxed.

Benning stood up. The French operative's face was chalky white, but her blue eyes were cold and unmoved as she observed Bromlitz in the convulsions of his last breath.

"I'm sorry this had to happen here, mademoiselle," Benning told her.

"She said with calm indifference: 'You've only done me a service, monsieur. Bromlitz has been very difficult of late and I did not dare let him show himself at the palace. Of course, you'll dispose of his body as soon as he is dead.'"

"Is Bravot now in Mexico City?" Benning interrupted.

"That needn't matter to you. You are leaving Mexico City immediately."

"Of course, as soon as I get the information I came here to get."

"Impossible! I can't play the danger of having you here now. In a few days I hope to be ready to leave for France. Nothing must interfere with my success now."

"I'll make a bargain with you, mademoiselle. I'll leave at once if you can find out when Van Hasek attacks from Guaymas. Also anything you can learn about what is going to happen in the Orient."

Her face lighted up and she gave a gasp of relief. "If that is what you want to know, I can tell you, monsieur. Van Hasek's Guaymas force will move up the Gulf within the present week to attack north with his mechanized and motorized regiments through California. Their objective is to freeze your fleet out of its great bases on the Pacific coast."

Benning's brows knotted. "But such an attack doesn't make sense unless Van Hasek is to have prompt reinforcements."

"To be sure, monsieur. But Van Hasek's whole plan is working out right close to pattern. Denied its bases, a heavy part of your Navy will have to sail at once around the Horn to protect your Atlantic coast from the Mediterranean fleet. At the same time with Van Hasek's attack will come the invasion from the Orient, which is already moving east."

"Benning gasped, 'Do you know those things for fact?'"

"I know that Van Hasek expects me in San Francisco within the next few weeks when he is to take supreme command over your Pacific coast. But by then I will be in France—if only I can learn when the attack upon my own country is to launch itself. In a few days I am to meet Van Hasek at San Antonio—in the meantime, I gather what straws I can from his man Boggio."

"Boggio, you say?"

The words drove fiercely from Benning's throat. He felt the bristling of his hair under the surge of feeling aroused by that name, for the instant lost the thread of portentous disclosure that Mlle. Ducos made. Promptly he recovered his composure and attempted to cover his show with a smile.

"Mademoiselle, I can't leave Mexico until I've seen Boggio. A minute alone with him will be enough and I'll promise to be very discreet as far as your interests are concerned."

"If your Government doesn't know already what I've just told you," she countered, "you should waste no time on Boggio now."

"I have no possible means of leaving Mexico until tomorrow night," Benning confessed. "My Government and I will be eternally grateful to you if you will add this last little service. I promise the greatest discretion in handling Boggio."

The French girl pondered his proposal, testing its play against the risks to her own obligations. Presently a smile played at the corners of her mouth and a cold glitter shone in her eyes.

"At four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, monsieur," she decided, "Boggio and I will drive together south from Chapultepec on the highway to Tacubaya. Boggio will be at the wheel and we will be alone." She extended her hand and added, "I will say good-bye to you now, monsieur, and bon voyage."

HERE'S TO SHORTCAKE TIME WITH CHERRIES BRIGHT

(See Recipes Below)

SUMMERY DESSERTS

Bring the tartness and sweetness of fruit into play with fresh, crumbly cake, top with a dash of whipped cream and you have summer's answer to a delectable dessert.

Garden-fresh berries peeking out from under their green foliage or fruit hanging heavy and ripe on richly laden branches deserve your best attention for they'll do mighty nice things by your meals. Since most of the fruits need no cooking you are doubly sure of getting the full quota of minerals and vitamins which they have to give.

Cherries bright and red make a tart and colorful dessert which you'll enjoy serving. If using the fresh ones pit and sugar them before using.

When I asked my mother how she made her extra delicious shortcakes, she replied, "There's nothing to it, my dear; just biscuit dough—but make the dough short and the fruit sweet!" This tip is a good one. I hope you'll follow it when trying:

Old-Fashioned Shortcake.

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening (8 tablespoons)
1/2 cup milk

Sift flour, measure, add baking powder and salt, sift again. Work in shortening until mass resembles coarse meal. (If you want to, add a tablespoon of sugar and an egg and count the egg as part of your liquid.) Now, add enough milk to make a soft dough, one which you can barely handle. Turn onto lightly floured board, knead a few seconds, divide in half. Pat one half about one-fourth inch thick into deep buttered 9-inch cake pan. Butter top and pat second portion of dough in layer over first. Brush on softened butter and bake about 20 minutes in hot oven (450 degrees F.) When baked, pull layers apart, spread sugared fruit on bottom layer, stack second one, crust-side down, on this, cover with more fruit, then with whipped cream and a garnish of fruit!

Variations from the original type of shortcake which we all know so well are much in order. Some people prefer a sponge cake base rather than a biscuit dough and for a real individual treatment of this type, you might like to try one with a custard filling for cool deliciousness. You'll need this sponge cake as a base:

Hot Water Sponge Cake.

4 egg yolks
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup boiling water

*Recipe Given

1 1/2 cups cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon lemon or vanilla extract
4 stiffly beaten egg whites
Beat egg yolks until very thick; gradually add sugar and continue beating. Add water, mix well, add flour sifted with baking powder. Mix until smooth, add flavoring. Fold in egg whites. Bake in ungreased pan, either Mary Ann or cup cake tins in slow oven 45 minutes. Cool before filling.

Cream Custard Filling.

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
2 cups milk, scalded
1 teaspoon vanilla

Combine dry ingredients with slightly beaten egg yolks; stir in enough hot milk to make a thin paste. Then add paste to remaining milk and cook over boiling water 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Cook 10 minutes longer. Cool and add vanilla.

If you top with fresh cherries be sure they're sweet enough. Then garnish with whipped cream. Frozen berries need only be thawed and more sugar added if required.

If you want to make a sponge cake base and use just berries, then plan a lovely surprise so no one will even suspect they're getting a berry dessert. Make a sponge cake using a regular 9 or 10 inch cake pan. When the cake is still warm cut a round circle in the middle of the cake about an inch from the edge. Lift this out carefully keeping it whole. Into the hollow put in sugared berries or peaches or bananas mixed with sweetened whipped cream. Replace the cake top, wrap carefully in a slightly damp towel and chill for 3 to 4 hours. Garnish before serving with whipped cream or sprinkle with powdered sugar. They'll come back often for this one.

Red Raspberry Fuffs.

(Serves 6-8)

Mix and press in a square pan: 1 1/2 cups rolled graham crackers, 1/4 cup melted butter, 2 tablespoons sugar, and a dash of cinnamon. Cover that with a meringue made of 4 egg whites stiffly beaten and 1/2 cup of sugar folded in the whites carefully.

Bake this in a slow (300 degrees) oven for 20 minutes. Cool. Spread with 2 cups of sweetened red raspberries and whipped cream.

*Asparagus with Browned Butter and Crumb Sauce.

Asparagus, tender and green, should be cooked gently so as not to lose its color. It cooks quicker when stalks are tied in bunches. Stand them up in boiling water in a deep narrow pan. The steam will cook the tips while the water bubbles around the stalks.

Instead of serving plain butter, try browning it for a change, seasoning it and then adding a teaspoonful of fine bread crumbs. Have this piping hot and pour it over the asparagus just before serving.

LYNN SAYS:

Though dessert problems are easily solved by berries, be sure that they get the greatest care before reaching the table. Berries should appear clean and fresh, be full and plump and have a bright solid color. When they are over-ripe they look dull and often stain the container.

Don't wash berries until ready to use them since damp berries mold very quickly. The best method for washing is doing a few at a time in a bowl, lifting them out into another bowl while the hands are used as a sieve. When the berries are clean let them drain in a strainer or colander.

TREATING WOOD GRAINS

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN

The finishing of wood has from earliest times inspired loving craftsmanship. Paint of some sort has been known almost as long as we have a record of man's activities, and stains, waxes and varnishes have long been used for treating wood grains.

Curiously enough, there has been rather little change in the treatment of wood surfaces since man first developed certain standard surfaces. These have been improved and perfected, especially within the past decade or so, almost beyond recognition, but the ideas were essentially the same. Now, however, modern designers have turned their attention to finishes as well as to function and style and their efforts, in collaboration with those of the chemists, have resulted in some provocative innovations. A French specialist in the field, Georges Frank, lectured recently about several new methods he had worked out, illustrating his talk with samples finished in various ways.

Household Hints

To eliminate the mutton flavor from lamb, cook it with raisins.

To preserve leftover pickles or pimientos, put in a glass tumbler and cover with salad oil.

Keep all cleaning rags that have been treated with oil in a covered container before putting away in closets. If this is done, fires may be avoided.

It is a good idea to have the kitchen table on rollers so you can move it wherever you want or need it.

If there is a constant smell of burning when cooking is going on examine gas burners. They are probably filled with sediment from "boilovers."

One teaspoon of cornstarch added to each cup of sugar used in making fudge will make it smooth and creamy with little beating.

If metal tops come off of shoe strings dip them in mucilage. This will stiffen the ends and make it easy to put them through eyelets.

POTATO PLOT DEMONSTRATION IN WASHINGTON COUNTY

The Washington county potato field day will be held on the Reinhold Kressin farm on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 24. The program will get underway promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

Many interesting facts concerning the growth, general appearance, yield, drought, and disease resistance of the trial plots will be pointed out. Several new varieties will be shown and discussed. Bring along any specimen or diseased plants about which you may have questions.

The Kressin farm is located two and one-half miles northeast of Rockfield on the Germantown-Jackson town line road.

COUNTY BOOTH AT STATE FAIR
Washington county state fair visitors are cordially invited to visit the farm crops building and view the county booth on display there. This is one of twenty booths erected by that number of counties and portrays agricultural practices advocated by the extension department of the county. Booths such as the one offered by Washington county are known as project booths and their purpose is to interest farmers in recommended agricultural practices, and to induce them to adopt such practices.

The Washington county booth asks farmers to step up the production of those foods in which shortages are anticipated. These foods are dairy products, poultry and eggs, pork and lard, tomatoes, and edible varieties of beans. These foods are being asked for by the defense program because they are high in essential human food nutrients, are easily transported, and can be readily stored over long periods of time. The booth contains appropriate captions to point out to state fair visitors the need for an increased production of the foods referred to above.

The booth was largely planned and prepared by Frank Hinsenckamp, county soil tester. The captions in the booth were sketched by Joe Schuh, a commercial artist residing at Cedar Lake. Cliff Hutchinson of West Bend provided the photographic work.

FRIDAY DAIRY DAY AT STATE FAIR
The dairy interests of Wisconsin received due recognition at the state fair on Friday of this week. This day was set aside as Dairy Day and the program presented before the grandstand were directed toward telling the people about the greatness of Wisconsin's dairy industry.

JOAN GONNERING WASHINGTON COUNTY DAIRY QUEEN
One of the outstanding events to pay recognition to Wisconsin's dairy industry was the selection and crowning of the state fair queen. More than sixty county queen winners competed for this honor, Joan Gonnering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nic. Gonnering, Route 2, Kewaskum, was Washington county's contender for the state queen's crown. The annual dairyland parade, proclaimed the finest spectacle of its kind, passed before the grandstand on Friday morning beginning promptly at 10:30 o'clock. The parade presented in a two-hour program the main features that go into the making of Wisconsin as the greatest dairy state in the union.

The ever popular Butterball dance in the evening in the Modernistic hall, to be the world's largest dance held, concluded the dairy day events.

JOE...HURRY AND FINISH SHAVING SO I CAN PLUG IN THE TOASTER!

When outlets are too few, do you try to overcome the inconvenience by using multiple plugs or makeshift extension cords to attach several electrical appliances and lamps to one outlet? The resulting tangle is not only unsightly but unsafe. Insulation becomes worn, connections become frayed, and appliances cannot operate as efficiently as they should.

Now's the time to end this nuisance of inadequate home wiring. Most home wiring systems can be modernized at far less expense than you can imagine. . . . Whether you Build, Buy, or Rent insist on Adequate Wiring.

A very large number of other relatives and friends of the young man were present. Some of the members of the St. Ann's church choir and Blatz Old Heidelberg quartet of Milwaukee entertained with songs. On Tuesday Russell and Lyle Heisler, Jr. motored to Milwaukee to say farewell to their cousin and in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heisler were present at the depot to see Elmer off for San Diego on the "400" streamlined train.

IT'S YOUR MOVE-- Here Are Money Savers

Speeders All

Speed has always been one of man's many obsessions. From the days of the chariot races to the modern day, man has raced against man; he has raced his horses against the steeds of other men; dogs against hare and deer. Then came the auto races, airplane races. These are all familiar to us. These pictures show unfamiliar races.

A real neck-and-neck race in Hollywood.

Dog racing is not unusual, but the picture at the left is unusual, as the dogman risked his life to get this head-on shot. Right: This dog race is different, as the dogs carry jockeys—Jocko, the monk, in each case.

London's Derby... This frog race was staged at the late New York City fair. The pretty maids acted as jockeys by nudging the frogs.

Cheetah race. The cheetah has no chance of winning. The fastest cat can hit 40 miles per hour. Two cheetahs match speed of a British course horse in the war.

Some of the stud farm of Dorothy Paget, British race horse owner, who won by a nose over "Golden Miller," the horse that won the grand National Steeplechase in 1934—believe it or not!

Start of the Bicentennial Futurity from Washington, D. C. This was the first time as 6,000 homing pigeons flew the coops and headed for home.

Device Splits Second... We've all heard of job-getting stunts, but here's one that takes the cake. A young man wrote 81 notes, mailed them in 81 bottles to 81 advertising agencies. The notes read: "Stranded!... on an island in Cambridge... a college graduate... Will work like h— for passage into port... Have your room in the hold for a man who can prove he's worth his salt?" P. S. It worked.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman (© Roger B. Whitman—WNU Service.)

Laying Linoleum
QUESTION: I have rolls of linoleum one yard wide. Please advise on laying it in the following places: A shack with wood plank floors in poor condition, 18 inches above the ground; the wood floor of the main house, in good condition; the dirt floor in a damp cellar that I intend to concrete over cinders and drain tile. Should I use tar paper or felt paper? Should the paper and the linoleum be stuck down with linoleum cement?

ANSWER: In the first place, linoleum should be laid over a smooth surface, for roughness underneath would quickly wear it through. Also, it must be protected against dampness from underneath, for this would cause rotting. For this reason you should not use it either in the shack or on the concrete floor of the cellar, unless in the latter case you first put down a layer of waterproofing. In the main house the linoleum should be laid over felt, stuck to the floor with the linoleum cement to the felt. This part of the job requires experience, and the proper tools; you should have it done by a professional linoleum layer.

Cement Floor Coverings

QUESTION: We are going to move into an apartment which has cement floors all through. It is right on the edge of a lake. What would be best to use under carpets and linoleum?

ANSWER: If the cement floors are laid directly on the earth, there is moisture in them, and any kind of floor covering except asphalt tiles will rot. If there is an air space under the cement, so that it is really dry, you can use any kind of padding under the carpets. The linoleum can be cemented down over felt in the usual way. To test the dryness of the floor, lay down a piece of linoleum, cardboard, or something similar, to prevent evaporation, and leave it for several days. If on picking it up the cement underneath is found to be damp, you cannot use any kind of floor covering that will rot, unless you first put down a layer of waterproofing.

Wall and Floor Cleaners

QUESTION: What do you recommend for cleaning painted plaster kitchen walls, painted and varnished woodwork, waxed hardwood floor?

ANSWER: For cleaning all kinds of painted surfaces, you can use a cereal cleaning powder that you can get at a paint store; it is used by professionals, and gives excellent results. A waxed hardwood floor can be cleaned with a dry string mop or a hair push broom; water should not be used on it, nor should an oiled mop be used. Soiled places can be cleaned with a cloth damp with water, followed by wiping dry, or with liquid floor wax; not water wax. The floor should be polished once or twice a week and re-waxed with paste floor wax when wear begins to show at doorways and elsewhere.

Clear Waterproofing

QUESTION: Is it possible to get a transparent waterproofing for brick that will last indefinitely? I am told that there is such a substance.

ANSWER: There are many waterproof coatings on the market whose makers claim their product will last forever, but I have yet to find a well-known reliable manufacturer who will make these claims. The durability of transparent waterproofing cannot be definitely predicted. A masonry wall that is very sandy or porous may need a re-coating in three years. In other cases the waterproofing will last for many years.

Cement Floor Paint

QUESTION: What kind of paint can we use on the floor of our cellar to make the floor smooth for dancing?

ANSWER: Any large paint store should be able to get you a kind of floor paint that is based on rubber and that is not affected by the lime in the cement. These paints are comparatively new and are made by specialist manufacturers; smaller dealers may not know of them, but they are on the market and are available.

Cigarette Burns

QUESTION: How can I get a cigarette burn out of the top of a soft wood table?

ANSWER: Scrape it out with a razor blade. This will leave a slight depression, which will hardly be noticed when the table top is refinished. It will be less noticeable than the burn.

Clogged Vent Pipe

QUESTION: What can I use to clear a vent pipe leading from kitchen plumbing, which apparently is clogged with rust and grease?

ANSWER: A new pipe is advisable.

Cracking in a Floor

QUESTION: My heating system is hot water with water forced through the pipes by an impeller. How can I stop loud cracklings in the floor when the hot water starts to flow through a radiator?

ANSWER: Your pipes are in contact with woodwork and chafe against them when the pipes expand with heating. The remedy is to cut away the woodwork to leave a space around the pipes. The trouble is probably in the hole where the pipe goes through the floor and vibrates under pressure.

Fall Social Calendar Demands Smart Clothes for the Matron

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THE time is not too far away now when you daughters of the household will engage in the exciting experience of getting off to school in the fall, with a wardrobe tuned to your exact needs and whims. Only please remember you are not the only heroines holding the spotlight in fashion realms. You have rivals, yes indeed!

We are not telling you but here is a tip. Keep an eye on modern mothers, matrons and women in general, who are so importantly carrying on in club work and in social activities that tend to "keep the home fires burning" while college faring daughters are away from home.

Fashion is catering to the costume needs of women with whom "life begins at forty." With unbounded zest and enthusiasm inspired by an ever-increasing appreciation of the tremendous influence smart clothes have, they are achieving new chic and poise. It's no secret or myth or fairy tale that women who "go places" and "do things" in this busy world of ours have gone utterly modern in matter of dressing glamorously.

So look to your laurels, Miss Teen-age, Miss Debutante and Miss College girl, you will have to step lively to keep up with queen-mother's fashion pace! One of the fashion gestures that will serve mothers and matrons well who happen to be limited to a restricted budget, is to select a simple basic dress, smart in lines, made of good material and styled with the thought of complementing this one gown with flattering interchangeable accessories. These have a magic way of glorifying their appearance. Chic jewelry, feminizing and lovely lingerie neckwear touches, can do wonders in transforming the entire aspect of your costume. And don't forget flowers! Be sure to wear flowers for that refreshing accent of youthful charm that is always so endearing.

To the right in the illustration

"somebody's mother" presents a lovely "picture" as she graciously presides at the initial autumn meeting of her favorite club. She is clad in the simplest sort of a gown made of fine sheer black wool to which frilly white lingerie accent lends endless charm. In the lovely quaint Victorian bouquet of carnations, violets and stephanotis which she carries so carelessly in her lovely hands, one immediately senses the gallantry of friend husband or a devoted son who, perhaps being out of town, wired to the nearest florist for the prettiest bouquet fancy might picture. Just as an afterthought this dainty bouquet may be a tribute of admiration to their leader from various club members.

The lady seated goes in for ultra modern fashion as you can readily see in her swank gown of handsome black wool ribbed crepe. This together with her chic English sailor so piquantly veiled, goes to show how very smartly one can dress in all-black. Notice the low-cut V-neckline, a stylizing detail that was popular this summer and will continue good form right through the fall.

The patriotic corsage she is wearing is of blue cornflowers, fragrant red roses and white carnation petals. Glittering satin is scheduled for a big play this fall. A satin dress is a good "buy" for it not only gives marvelous wear, but it has that air of dressiness that tunes in with social environs. The lady in the top oval has on a satin frock which is intriguingly shirred about bodice and sleeves. She wears a tiara of salmon pink gladioli. Evidently the lady in the oval below to the right has a yen for pastel colorings. Her eyelet-embroidered dress in soft blue crepe is really lovely. She adds to the glamour by dramatizing her well-groomed hair with a cluster of roses and hyacinths.

Jeweled Bow Knots

There is going to be a big play made on unique buttons and jewel fastenings of every description this fall and winter. Note the tailored jacket of chalk white crepe shown here. Its sleeves, yoke and front panel are cut in one, a characteristic feature of the newer fashions. The five crystal and enamel bow-knot fastenings herald intriguing gadgets to be used like buttons.

Rich Browns for New Autumn Wear

There is considerable emphasis on handsome browns for fall. The dresses in initial showings are mostly of rayon crepes and jerseys. These are simply styled so far as "lines" are concerned but have interesting surface treatment in stitching, self-fabric appliques and quilted decoration.

The dressier afternoon models often combine fabric with lace dyed to match or with velvet or satin. In keeping with the trend to browns, touches of embroidery appear in bronze sequins and metal threads, also favor is expressed for mink fur. Milliners are making up smart little mink hats with matching neckpieces.

Fringes Take On New Importance in Style

Fringed dinner gowns appear in scores of individual treatments. Afternoon dresses too take on accents of fringe. The originality and versatility expressed in trimming with fringe is most interesting.

There is every sort of arrangement from narrow fringe placed row and row in tiers covering the entire skirt to long swinging panels of fringe extending in one continuous line from waist to hem. Fringe also is worked in interlaced manner to give the new drop-shoulder line and to form pockets and girdle effects with long streaming ends to add grace.

Picked Up in Studios of Style Designers

One important fall fashion will be the snugly fitting basque bodice on evening gowns.

An eye-appealing number is a light blue flannel jacket, covered with angora scrolls.

Knee-length capes in beige or red fasten at the throat with massive frogs of the same fabric.

On display now is a jacket of quilted pale blue crepe and a bolero of uncurled ostrich feathers with long silky fronds.

Most flannel wraps are more ornate, although you will see fine flannel made into plain coats of cardinal length, like the twill jackets.

Red strawberries and green leaves decorate one lovely white sports dress. The pockets are bordered with bands of close set berries.

Growing the Lovely Iris

For the home-owner who has but little time to devote to a garden, no flower is better suited than the iris. This flower is very hardy, it comes in many colors and forms, it will thrive even under adverse conditions, and it has very few insect enemies.

VARIETIES TO PLANT

In their native habitat, the irises are of wide distribution and, in choosing varieties for garden or border, it is important to choose those suited to special conditions. The Siberian iris, for example, is a variety which is of great value to the gardener. It has a slender, graceful, grass-like foliage which looks attractive in a border, even when the plant is not in bloom. In the larger varieties in the Siberian group, the flower stalks grow three or four feet high, while some of the hybrids are dwarf in size, thus adapting the plant to almost any position in the border. These irises will do well in any moist garden soil and are especially adapted to the shores of streams or ponds.

All of the Japanese irises are beautiful, and one, at least, Iris graminea L., should be included in every garden list. This is a dwarf variety, not exceeding a foot in height, hence must be placed at the forefront of the border, but its flowers are very delicate and of unusual shape; moreover, they carry a delicate fragrance similar to that of the freesias. These irises do well in ordinary garden soil and require no special attention.

The common yellow-flag iris of Europe, Iris pseudacorus L., grows freely in either sun or shade but for best results it should be planted in the open, with an abundant supply of water. It is particularly happy when placed on the shores of ponds or streams where its thick root system serves a useful purpose in binding the soil to prevent washing.

The so-called "bearded" irises are the best known of the garden sorts. They are of easy culture, preferring shallow planting in sunny, well-drained locations. Their foliage is evergreen; their blossoms in all brilliant colors; they gain their designation "bearded" from the fact that each flower bears on the falls a linear "beard" of various colors usually yellow. Of the bearded irises, Iris albicans is a truly white variety, Minnehaha shows yellow reticulations on the falls, Thorbecke shows dark lavender, Moonstone, a delicate lavender.

CRESTED IRIS

A crested iris, Iris cristata is a native of the United States. It is a dwarf species, having broad green leaves about six inches tall, and brilliant pale-lavender flowers, their crested falls marked in white and orange. This is an excellent plant for ground cover.

Of all the irises, perhaps those of greatest practical use to American gardeners are the ones known as Spanish, English, and Dutch irises. Of all these, the original species is blue but many hybrids are now available in all wanted colors and combinations. The Spanish and Dutch irises are of easy culture. They are essentially garden flowers. They should be planted in groups—never singly—among perennials that will partly occupy the space left by the ripening of the iris flower stalks. They must not be overcrowded.

Irises as cut flowers lend themselves most charmingly to the present fashions in flower arrangement. Given an oval mirror for the center of the table, a flat, jade-green flower bowl, suitable figurines in the fore-front of the bowl, and at the rear the deep-green sword-shaped leaves of the iris flanking the delicate iris blooms, and you have a table decoration to enchant the most fastidious.

If, however, the flowers are being grown chiefly for garden effects, it is well to note that irises are most effective if planted to secure gradations of color rather than in contrasting masses. It is suggested, for example, to plant from white to pale yellow to dark yellow to bronze; then pale lavender to dark purple; then pale pink to dark violet-red, and to accent each mass with a clump of contrasting color.

Irises, like all bulbous or rhizomatous plants, should be divided every few years and reset, to prevent crowding.

THE FIREFLY

Those lovely glittering insects commonly called "fireflies" are really not flies at all; they are beetles. They have a mystic power of self-illumination, displaying their light at will. Just why they display the light, no one seems to be very sure, but it has been suggested that the light is a means of protection since birds seldom eat fireflies. These beetles are often called "lightning-bugs" and the rays which they emit are almost entirely light rays—practically no heat is generated.

THE SCALE INSECTS

The most troublesome of the scale insects are extremely small. Many species are most degraded insects, having no wings, no legs, no eyes. The male of the scale insects has no mouth. It takes no food and lives only a few days, at the longest. Of all insects in this group, the San Jose scale is perhaps the best known, having been responsible for the destruction of thousands of orchards, plants and other valuable plant and print life. It is one of the oldest known scale insects.

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.
Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

VIII. KEWASKUM STREETS AND RAILROADS

The original streets of Kewaskum were but continuations of the early trails and roads. For this reason they were also the principal thoroughfares of the community and of necessity continued to be so. What improvement in surfacing was to be done, naturally then, would be done on these roads first. Main street, consequently, was the first to be rejuvenated. It was paved in 1930. The other streets were black-topped in 1937, '38, '39, and again in 1940.

The streets of Kewaskum were named as they were opened after some prominent family, a business operating on the street or according to the fancy of the individual adding a plat or division to the city. From time to time existing names were changed.

Consulting the map on page 14 1/2 (in booklet) we can easily see the reason for naming some of the streets as they did. From the plat book of 1892 we see that the street north of Main st. east of the railroad was called Wilhelmine. Today it is known as First st. The one running north and south immediately east of the railroad was called Railroad st. Today it bears the same name.

What was then known as West st. running north and south, east of Wilhelmine st. is today West Water. On the west side of the railroad the first street north of Main and east of the Fond du Lac road (now U. S. Highway 45, Fond du Lac ave.) was known as lumber st. As is evident from a glance at the map mentioned above, the street was well named. Today it is First. East of the river the first street we meet running north and south was known as Water st.; today it is called East Water. Kewaskum st. retains its name today.

Railroads—The Chicago & North Western, built in 1872-73, by the North Western Union Railway company, and now used as the direct trunk road of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway between Chicago and Green Bay, via Milwaukee, passes through the village of Kewaskum. In building the railroads through the state there was no capital except the farms, and to make that available for the enterprises, mortgages were quite generally given by the farmers along the proposed routes, for which they in turn received certificates of stock and the mortgages were hypothecated as security for money, where-with to build the roads. In many cases because of bad, not to say, fraudulent management, the enterprise fell through after having built a few miles into the country, just far enough to make the mortgages good, as was unfortunately decided by the courts. Thus the farmers in their first efforts to get a railroad became loaded with a debt contracted, under fraudulent pretenses, received no return, and were ultimately obliged to pay up or sacrifice their farms.

Because of the many failures occurring in the building of the railroads which nearly always ended in the eventual loss of the farmers' lands, there was much doubt as to the question of putting up their land. As early as 1856 there was talk of building a railroad through the towns of West Bend, Barton, Farmington, Jackson, Kewaskum, Wayne and Trenton. But because of the frequent failures this question moved very slowly. For only in 1873, as we mentioned before was the railroad completed through Kewaskum and neighboring towns. That it was a weighty question can be seen from the following quotation:

An die Stimmgeber von West Bend, Barton, Farmington, Jackson, Germantown, Kewaskum, Wayne and Trenton.

Den obengenannten Stimmgeben verfehle ich nicht, hermit Nachricht zu geben, dass im Gesetz, welches die obererwähnten Towns berechtigt, für die Milwaukee und Fond du Lac Air Line Railroad einen Credit von 100,000 Dollars herzugeben, in beiden Häusern der Gesetzgebung angenommen worden ist u. die Genehmigung des Gouverneurs erhalten hat, und dass die Stimmgeber genannter Towns in einer Special Town Meeting, welche zwanzig Tage vorher angezeigt werden muss, darüber abzustimmen haben, ob sie die genannten Railroad Compagnie diesen Credit be-willigen wollen, oder nicht. Ich wurde es den obengedachten Stimmgebern anrathen, sich in der nächsten jährlichen Town Meeting über die Bestimmungen des fraglichen Gesetzes und darüber zu besprechen, ob die dasselbe annehmen oder verwurfen wollen.

Senat Chamber zu Madison, den 18. März, 1856.

The North-Western Union Railway company also received aid in the early stages of the construction of the road, but in a manner that produced no individual disaster. The town of Kewas-
