A friendly correspondent writes

Answer: The dampness is due to the drying out of the concrete walls, and much dampness gets into the basement through the dirt floor. Until your furnace goes in, nothing can be done to dry things out. The moisture will dry out naturally with the coming of warmer weather. I do not think that your woodwork will suffer in the meantime; but a concrete floor in the basement, and the bringing in of heat will be advantageous.

Radiator Air Valves

Question: What are adjustable port air valves? You have mentioned them. Is it necessary to put this type of valve on all radiators, or just those that do not heat quickly?

Answer: The ordinary air valve has but one hole or vent through which air in the radiator is exhausted. The adjustable port valve has several different sized holes, and can be set at any point depending upon the speed and the amount of air to be exhausted in a particular radiator. Radiators on the far end of the line should be equipped with valves of this type, set at the largest opening for a quick escape of air from the radiator.

Air Filter

Question: A friend suggested heating my house with filtered hot air. but could not explain what he meant. Where could I get some information about it?

Answer: Air filtering units for hot air systems consist of a cabinet containing a blower and filters. The cabinet is attached to the furnace. The blower draws the air from the rooms above and forces it through the filter. The dust in the air is extracted by the filters. You can get the names of manufacturers from the Architects Samples Corporation at 101 Park avenue, New York city.

building I have a hot air heating system only four years old. I intend putting a blower type oil burner into the furnace. Will an oil burner cause the hot air to smell? Will it cause dirt to go up to the rooms?

Answer: Neither the smell of oil nor soot will get up into the rooms, if the sections of the furnace are properly cemented and there are no cracks in any part of the furnace.

Copper Tank

Question: Our hot water storage tank, 92-gallon, is copper, and not insulated. It gives off considerable heat, and I believe that insulation would save fuel. How can the job

Answer: If your tank is standard as to dimensions and location of connections, you can get an insulating jacket ready-made, to be laced on. Otherwise, you can have it insulated with magnesia blocks, asbestos insulating cement, or some similar material, an inch or so thick. Your plumber can do the job.

ultra-violet rays more numerous

During the fall, winter and spring months, people are indoors most of the time and for food depend more on varieties that have been processed and preserved. So it would seem that a generally lowered resistance due to a combination of causes rather than to any special weakness accounts for the seasonal variation.

How can we avoid catching cold? A diet containing enough vitamins, minerals and proteins and a proper amount of carbohydrates is of great importance in keeping up resistance. Plenty of rest and exercise are also necessary.

It is most important also that we avoid crowds in street cars, stores and movies, in so far as possible, as it lessens the chance for exposure. Above all do not feel that you must visit every sick friend or relative. If you must visit those sick with a cold or if you have to care for them, wear a gauze mask over your nose and mouth, at least, so that you may inhale fewer of the "bugs' which have been scattered about by the patient sneezing and coughing. Sterilize the dishes and eating objects used by the patient and let him use paper handkerchiefs which may be burned. Put the patient in a room alone so the cold won't be spread to others.

If you have the cold, don't leave the house and, if you can, stay in bed. Keep other members of the family, especially the older ones and the children, out of your room.

Don't go out and spread the "cold" to fellow employees, or to those near you in busses, street cars or trains! Don't go to the movies!

Similarly, not much has been heard of him since he became comptroller general two years ago, but here he is suddenly in action with a brief against the National Youth administration, accusing it of playing politics to keep up its membership rolls and get appropriations. Characteristically, he goes into details.

Bulky, bull-necked, pompadoured and of a general leathery makeup, Mr. Warren liked to go fishing in old clothes at Hatteras or Kitty Hawk. He didn't want to be bothered with this comptroller general job, although it pays $10,000 a year for 15 years. His predecessor, the penny-pinching John Raymond McCarl, who once nicked a pullman berth item on General Pershing's expense account, was known as "the watch dog of the treasury." Mr. Warren didn't want to be a watch dog, and after Mr. Mc-Carl quit, in 1936, President Roosevelt offered Mr. Warren the job three times before he took it.

One of his three children, Lindsay Jr., aged 16, is ailing. The importance of getting the best medical care for the boy, and his desire for a permanent home is said to have induced him to accept. He had been one of the most popular men in congress, and watch dogs aren't altogether popular.

His post carries more power than almost any in the federal job portfolio, although no quiz entrant would be apt to list it. He passes on government appropriations, audits governmental accounts, settles claims and in numerous other ways polices hidden or furtive charges in federal expenditures. He had valuable training for this in his long experience as chairman of the house committee of accounts.

"Blaise," said Garry, nursing his chin with a hand, "I guess we'll have to put the fear of Matchi-Manitou into this medicine man or he'll soon have some of the Montagnais knifing us in our sleep. Isadore and Tete-Blanche are about all we can handle at present." Brassard was doing some intensive thinking. At last he asked young Wabistan in Cree: "Have you heard when Kinebik makes his medicine again?'

"Some say when the moon is again round. My father will know when the secret word passes. His knife is already sharp.

Blaise nodded. "I will go with Chief Wabistan." Moise and his brother, Michel, nervously found each other's eyes as Blaise repeated the conversation to the white men. Later, they sat smoking inside the rim of the shore alders beside small smudge fires, for the mosquitoes were ravenous. Blaise slowly removed his pipe and squinted into the west. At length

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Removal of Consulates From Moscow And Torpedoing of U.S. Destroyer Mark Important New Phase of War; Crisis Seen as Japan's Cabinet Falls

(EDITOR'S NOTE-When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) d by Western Newspaper Union.)

When the British and Free French took over mandated Syria from the Vichy French, they also took over the job of providing food for needy Syrians. Here is a typical scene at a food distribution center. Pails, pots and even wash basins are held aloft for offerings.

WAR:

New Phase

Evacuation of the foreign consulates from Moscow and the torpedoing of the U. S. S. Destroyer Kearney off Iceland, occurring as they did about the same time, were looked upon as two major events marking the entrance into a new phase of the war.

Immediate reaction to these reports was noticeable in their effect | nel with a land force, Berlin rapidly upon the congressional voting on changes being considered for the U. S. neutrality law. Effect of the news was also reflected in the progress of the "aid for Russia" program in which the United States, Great Britain and Russia were engaged

'On Patrol'

First news of the Kearney incident came from Washington when ARMING: the navy announced that the destroyer (one of the newest types) had been torpedoed while on patrol duty off the coast of Iceland. This report indicated that the ship was able to proceed under its own power.

President Roosevelt on the same day issued a statement saying that to run right into British ports, the the torpedoing was clearly in the American defense zone.

Removal of the consulates from Moscow took place as the Germans, with their long range guns, began their "all out" campaign against the

DRY DOCK: News Stories

What had been, by navy censorship, mystery yarns, and very nearly resulted fatally for one newspaper cameraman and a plane pilot, now has become regulation news stories, since the navy reversed itself and permitted the press to have access to British warships in drydock. At one time or another docks in almost every sizeable port had been occupied, and the Warspite, a big battleship, was at Bremerton, Wash., and a 24,000-ton aircraft carrier was at Philadelphia.

And the skippers of these ships were giving out hair-raising interviews and pictures of combat, and the press cameramen were running wild with feature pictures taken on board.

The change in policy probably had been engineered by the President, who was leaning over backward to preserve press freedom, and a general feeling that this sort of story was the type of thing that would bring home the reality of the war to fun-loving Americans.

ELIZA

When news came from Tokyo reporting the fall of the Japanese cabinet headed by Prince Fumimaro Konoye it looked like prelude to an Axis move in the Pacific.

Immediate speculation was that the fallen cabinet would be replaced by one more "warlike" and it was indicated that this change meant the collapse of the so-called "peace talks" between Japan and the United States.

President Roosevelt conferred for two hours with top military and state department heads just following the announcement of the cabinet's fall. White House sources did | LABOR: not at once discuss the conference or issue a statement on the new threat in the Far East. Other informed quarters, however, viewed the situation as grave and some forecast that the change in government in Japan came at a logical time for that country to strike a blow against Russia to aid Germany.

RUSSIA:

Soviet Scene

As the German troops admittedly had smashed back the Russian defenders many miles from Smolensk, past Bryansk and past Vyazma, the picture became one in which the Russians admitted setbacks but always spoke of "heavy losses" to the enemy. The Germans issued optimistic statements so fast that the wires could hardly carry them.

Admitting many of the Nazi claims, Russian sources were asserting that "fresh legions" were entering the fight, that the Nazi advances had been made in spite of terrific losses, that the invader had been slowed, even halted and turned back at some points.

The British, including Churchill, took a rather gloomy view of the Russian situation.

As to American aid, President Roosevelt said it was going forward in heavy quantities-but gave no details. Lozovsky said "the Americans are sending us 5,000 planes a month," but that was nearly twice total American production.

While the Russian statements, many of them, sounded somewhat like "whistling to keep up one's courage," still it was certain that the German all-out attack in the center, by Hitler's own statement a battle effort unequalled in the history of warfare, was not meeting the the walkovers of the past.

BRITISH:

Uneasiness

It was a moment of uneasiness for Britain, understandably enough in view of the critical days for Russia. A decision in the crisis one way or another was needed to clear the air. guard the freedom of the seas.

Restive after months upon months of relative inaction, the huge and well-equipped army on the British inority was to send them.

ter only a corporal's guard against the $6,000,000,000 lend-lease bill which carried aid to Russia as a part purpose. In fact, the opening strategy was planned at a meeting of 11 senators in Hiram Johnson's office. The fight promised to be furious but brief, for few believed that the 11 senators and Hiram Johnson would put on the filibuster that was staged just before the first World war by the "wilful twelve" which included Senators Vardaman, Bailey, Reed, Watson and others.

Troubles Mount

Strikes and threats of strikes were on the upgrade again, with one interunion dispute involving 100,000 automobile workers, most of them engaged in making tanks for the army of the United States and other countries.

The C.I.O. workers of one plant were refusing to handle parts made by A.F.L. workers in another plant. In a Cleveland factory making auto frames a strike went into its third week, and at least one big auto factory engaged in turning out "jeep" cars was without frames, home happy. and had to shut down.

Hudson and Buick factory officials said they would have to slow down passenger car production if the Cleveland shut down continued.

The first move in the strikemediation effort to prevent the walkout of a million and a quarter railroad men was flatly turned down. It had been offered by a railroad management group.

At the same time a Mississippi shipbuilding concern was tied up by a strike, while engaged in a $150,-000,000 contract to build the latest type of merchant ship—an all-welded vessel of odd design.

WIDOW:

'Home to Die'

Human Interest Story No. 1 of the week was the return to New York of a regal woman of 73 who came in by liner from Lisbon, gazed at Gotham's skyscrapers and told newsmen: "I've come home to die." She was the former Jeanne Luckermyer, widow of Count Von Bernstorff. Forgotten was her husband's enmity to the United States, forgotten the bitter years, only her tired eyes and the distaste as she spoke of Hitler.

STIRLING:

"We are at war now," had declared Rear Admiral Yates Stirling in an Atlantic City address, urging the nation to give President Roosevelt the "green light" to go ahead with his foreign policy and to safe-

GOODWILL: Visit to U.S.

> The duke and duchess of Windsor, in paying their visit to Baltimore, the duchess' former home town, received an ovation which dwarfed anything seen in the United States surrounding any British visitor.

As a good-will ambassador, former King Edward had no rivals. A crowd estimated at 250,000 persons, one-fourth of Baltimore's defenseswollen population.

The duke played golf, and it took an army of Scotland Yarders, Gmen, even diplomatic corps representatives to keep the gallery away.

The duke and duchess went to a reception to which 800 were invited, while an estimated 80,000 gnashed their teeth because they were left out. Finally 1,200 jammed into the club, gaped, cheered, were won by the charm of the couple, and went

MISCELLANY:

New York: For the second time it had been testified by Nicholas Schenck, movie magnate, that Bioff, labor leader, had demanded a "shakedown" price of $2,000,000 not to wreck the movie industry by strikes.

New York: The B.B.C. radio stated that German losses (not giving the authority) since the start of the central offensive against Moscow, had been 160,000 killed and 450,000 wounded.

London: A second Eagle Squadron of American fliers has been formed and put into immediate action. Most of its work thus far had been in convoy patrols.

Kansas City: The police force was losing men to defense jobs, so police pay raises of $15,000 were given. They still went to defense jobs. A second pay raise of $20,000 was advised.

would be reproved in short order by his listeners. The British food ministry and the department of agriculture officials now understand each other, according to Appleby, and each is satisfied as to the other's efforts, and those efforts have been co-ordinated.

Specifically, Undersecretary Appleby and Administrator Evans received suggestions as to improved packaging - for instance, minor changes in the content of a canned product, the kind of cartons that best protected a certain commodity. You see many of these products, in fact most of them, the United States had never exported at all before and American officials did not have experience in the best packaging methods. For instance, there were lessons in packaging and labeling to be learned about cheese. The Americans suggested to the British that it would be easier to arouse the sympathy and co-operation of people in this country if they knew just what this food was being used for-say, one thing for school children, another for babies, something else for workers. The British showed a break-down in the statistics was impossible because of exceedingly abnormal conditions of transportation. There is, for instance, uncertainty as to where a given ship is going to land, what railroad will be available for shipments. Then, too, there are many difficulties of administration which make it impossible to channel special shipments to special points or assign them to special groups.

Distribution Control

Another thing the Americans examined thoroughly was the control of the products. All food belongs take my mind off the war.

'Deep Satisfaction'

The other day a friend of mine went into a famous Washington restaurant. When he was seated a tall man strode in and took his seat alone in a corner. He is a wellknown figure in Washington and my friend watched him. He took out the evening paper, opened it with a flourish and began to leaf through it. Suddenly his face lit up with a smile of deep satisfaction. He folded the paper carefully, set it up against the water carafe and began to read. His smile spread.

My friend wondered what he was reading and since he had a copy of the same paper and could see the lower half of the page the tall one was reading with such gratification my friend turned to that page in his own paper.

It bore a large picture of John Llewellyn Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former head of the C. I. O. The tall man looking at it was John Llewellyn Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and former head of the C. I. O.

All That Glitters Is Right in Style

Everything in the way of hats, dresses, suits and accessories glitters this season. You do not have to stop and wonder if this glittering touch or that will be in good taste. It is good taste, according to fashion's decree. The embroideries massed on evening fashions are masterpieces of needlework. The jet accents on day frocks, be they simple wool or regal velvet, are everywhere. Nailheads are no respecters of fabrics. They glitter on suits and on elaborate dress gowns alike.

Black frocks are being illumined with plashes of gay beadwork and embroidery. And the latest is bright red, green or vivid blue sleeves, lavishly embroidered. Hats, too, come in for their share of glitter. Some are of fur encrusted with gay

Dressy Afternoon Suits Of Velvet or Rich Silk

The trend toward gentlewoman fashions is reflected in the new afternoon suits displayed in current costume collections. You will still wear tweeds for morning and about town, but for afternoons you will be wanting a suit in black, brown or deep jewel-colored velvet. If you prefer, you can choose a suit of elegant moire silk. Most of the suits have jackets with flaring peplums.
