

Will Sponsor Student at Badger Boys State

The local post of the American Legion, at their monthly meeting on Monday night, voted to sponsor one boy from the Kewaskum high school to attend the fourth Badger Boys State to be held at Ripon college, Ripon, from June 13 to 20.

The Badger Boys State is an effort on the part of the American Legion to bring to the boys of Wisconsin a knowledge of the fundamental principles of our American government through actual practice in the duties of the city, county and state offices for the period of the Boys State. As future voters and office holders, the youth of the state should have an understanding of the problems of public officials, their duties and their functions. An opportunity to learn these fundamentals is offered by the Boys State. The program is entirely non-political, the "political parties" being purely mythical.

Boys 16 to 18 years of age, who are now or will be with the fall school term, junior classmen in high schools are eligible. Only boys with outstanding qualifications—leadership, courage, honor, loyalty, service—should be selected. Good students, particularly in civics, American history, etc. should receive special consideration. Scholarship, while important, is not paramount. Potential leaders are not always the best scholars. The actual selection of the boys is to be made by the local school authorities. Selection must be made by May 15. Five hundred boys, from every part of Wisconsin, will form the 1942 Badger Boys State.

St. Kilian Donates $66.40 to Sentinel Bomber Fund

Residents of St. Kilian, living in Washington and Fond du Lac counties, contributed $66.40 to the Milwaukee Sentinel's Badger Bomber fund. This amount was included in the total of $100,000 which had been received up to the time of the deadline Saturday night. The money at St. Kilian was collected by Orville Strachota and transmitted last week. Although the deadline was reached Saturday contributions continue to be sent so that the final total is now well over $100,000. The $66.40 from St. Kilian was contributed by the following individuals:

$3 from Wenzel Felix; $2 each from J. B. Reichel, Rob. McCullough, Mrs. Marie Strachota, Orville Strachota; $1 each from Paul J. Flasch, Leo C. Felix, Paula Strachota, Leo J. Flasch, John Kuehl, Norman Jaeger, John Felix, Ferdinand Weiland, Arthur Weiland, Peter Schmitt, Better Made Ice Cream driver, Henry Boettcher, Ella Kern, Lawrence Coulter, Verna Strobel, Anna Batzler, Alvin Faber, Joseph J. Schmitt, E. M. Romaine, Roland G. Schmitt, Art. Byrne, Kilian Felix, Paul J. Schmitt, Conrad Simon, Edwin Amerling, Alois Wiesner, Ray J. Strobel, Dave Coulter, Alphonse Flasch, Joseph Bodden, Geo. W. Peter, Joseph Melzer, Schaub Bros., Ray B. Blender, Fred Spoerl, Rose Felix, Mrs. Anna Felix, Hugo Straub, Conrad Flasch, Ervin Schmitt, Ervin Coulter, Bernard Simon, Joseph Batzler, Reynold Bonlender, Ed. Schwartz, Peter Henningsson, Ervin Bonlender, Andy Bonlender, Agnella K. Strachota, John D. Coulter, Herman Schwartz, Cy. Wiesner, Myrtle G. Strachota; 50 cents each from Rudy Miske and John Schwartz; 35 cents from Arnold Hawig; 20 cents from two friends; 25 cents each from Adalbert Boegel, Philip J. V. Im and Theodore Weiland.

PAINFUL LEG INJURY

Ray Keller, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Keller of this village, suffered a deep gash in one of his legs inflicted by a pairing knife the forepart of this week. The boy was carrying the knife in his belt and it fell down his pants leg. A bicycle clip kept it from passing through and as he ran or walked the other leg struck the back of the knife forcefully and the blade was rammed into his leg. The mishap occurred in the Lay lumber yard, where he had gone for a piece of lumber for his model airplane. Many stitches were taken to close the wound.

AGED WOMAN BREAKS WRIST

Mrs. Ida Ramthun, aged 73 years, who at present is making her home on the Otto Ramthun, Sr. farm east of Kewaskum, suffered a fractured left wrist when she slipped on ice and fell in front of the Mrs. Margaret Stollpflug home on East Main street Sunday morning. Mrs. Ramthun was on her way to attend church services in the village when the mishap occurred. She was crossing the street and just before she reached the sidewalk on the other side she lost her footing.

Paralysis Drive in County Nets Record Amount of $780.50

A total of $961.65 was realized in the recent "fight infantile paralysis drive" in Washington county, with the net proceeds in the county being $780.50 after deduction of expenses amounting to $181.15, according to Arnold A. Nimmer, West Bend, general chairman of the 1942 campaign in the county.

The amount raised is the largest in the history of the drive in Washington county. Of the gross of $961.65, a total of $688.36 was obtained in the North Washington County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc. The north county chapter headquarters are at West Bend.

The remaining $283.29 was raised in the South Washington County chapter, with headquarters at Hartford. Following is a complete financial report for the North Washington County chapter:

For those of the general public who have not previously been informed on the disposition of the infantile paralysis funds, it must be explained that 50 per cent of the money raised in the county goes to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, Inc., while the remaining 50 per cent remains with the two county chapters in proportion to the amount each collected.

Mr. Nimmer again wishes to take this opportunity of thanking all who in any way assisted in making this year's drive the finest success it proved to be. He particularly wishes to thank the committee members for their work and the general public for its liberal response to the campaign.

COUNTY ALLOTMENT OF AID TO SCHOOLS MADE

Washington county school districts will receive a total of $62,504.57 as their quota of state and county aid for common schools. This apportionment was announced last week by the secretary of state. The allotments were made under the state law calling for payment of school aids once a year. The apportionments will be distributed to the school districts by the county clerk, to whom a check will be sent.

Quotas set for the various districts in this section of the county follow: Barton, $1,180.00; Farmington, $3,925.00; Kewaskum, $2,605.87; Wauna, $3,872.29; Kewaskum, Jt. S., $1,500.00.

Mrs. Hintzman is New High School Teacher

Mrs. Edith Hintzman of Madison, Wis., has been engaged by the board of education to teach social science and history in the Kewaskum high school for the remainder of the school term. She takes the place of Miss Ruth Brisse of Madison, who resigned last week after teaching at the school the past three months. Miss Brisse came here last December, replacing the former Miss Verne Grenzow of Rock City, Ill., who resigned to be married.

Mrs. Hintzman is a graduate of Southern Illinois Normal university, the University of Wisconsin and the University of Illinois. From the former institution she received her diploma and license to teach in the state of Illinois, and from the second a B. S. degree and from the last a M. A. degree. Her graduate work has been in the field of social science entirely.

Mrs. Hintzman has had 12 years of successful teaching experience, two years at Carterville, Ill., and ten years in the city high school at Marion, Ill., where she taught economics and social problems. The high school feels indeed fortunate in securing a teacher whose training and experience fit into the local situation so perfectly.

The new teacher has also taken charge of the music instruction both in the grades and high school. Her knowledge of both the piano and pipe organ, on which instruments she has given lessons, and her courses in training institutions enables her to do commendable work in this field.

Catholic Charities Drive Begins Sunday

A volunteer army of 10,000 workers will launch a two-week offensive against the forces of poverty, neglect and illness this Sunday, Mar. 15, as the centennial fund appeal of the Milwaukee archdiocese moves into its final phase. Solicitation of close to half a million Catholics in the 350 parishes of the Milwaukee archdiocese will be made to raise $500,000, the sum needed to maintain Catholic charitable institutions and agencies of the archdiocese during the current year and to complete the restoration of the cathedral, mother church of the archdiocese.

Twenty-two charitable institutions and agencies are assisted through funds collected in this campaign under the supervision of His Excellency Archbishop Moses E. Kiley, and the Catholic Charities' Council. Non-Catholics as well as Catholics benefit from these institutions and agencies and so the appeal for funds is made to the general public. In the past the response from non-Catholic individuals and concerns has been particularly gratifying.

Directing the campaign in Washington county is District Chairman Baltus Rolfs of West Bend. Working under his direction are the parish captains appointed by the pastor of each parish. Each parish captain is responsible for soliciting every adult Catholic in his parish and to accomplish this in the two weeks of the appeal. Volunteer workers, about 20 for each 100 families, are necessary. These volunteers were named in the local church last Sunday.

Enabling workers to get off to a flying start this Sunday, His Excellency, Archbishop Kiley, will deliver his traditional radio address concerning the appeal a day earlier than in past years. He is scheduled to speak Saturday, Mar. 14, at 6:45 p. m. over station WISN, Milwaukee.

The extensive works of charity carried on in the Milwaukee archdiocese affect over 100,000 men, women and children.

PEOPLE LEAVE ON SOUTHERN TRIPS; OTHERS TO MICHIGAN

Mrs. William Key, Sr. of West Bend and Miss Bernadette Koehler left Wednesday by bus on a trip to North Carolina to visit their son and fiancée, Pvt. William Key, Jr. at Camp Davis, located near Wilmington. They expect to be gone about 10 days and will also visit in Wilmington and Raleigh, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Schoofs of the town of Kewaskum left Tuesday for Columbia, South Carolina, where they will spend about ten days with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Schoofs.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hron, accompanied by Miss LaVerne Bratz, motored to Michigan over the week end, where they visited the former's son and latter's niece, Pvt. Albert Hron, Jr., at Selfridge Field Saturday and Sunday.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

August Miller of Kewaskum was admitted to St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, on Tuesday for medical treatment.

Pupils Buy $10,723.10 in Defense Savings; Clif. Rose Chairman

From the schools—from the farms—from industry—the money comes rolling along! Money buying U. S. defense bonds and stamps—money that is winning the war for America.

In the month of February the school children in the rural, state graded, and parochial schools in Washington county bought $1,551.70 worth of U. S. defense stamps. Little boys and little girls with their dimes and their quarters are doing their part to win the war. Jerold C. Buckley, chairman, has set up savings plans in all rural schools throughout the county and plans are functioning well, which is evidenced by the purchases made this month.

The schools in the cities and villages have to date purchased $10,723.10 in U. S. defense bonds and stamps according to Chairman Clifford M. Rose of Kewaskum. Here are just a few examples of what various schools are doing: Hartford high school—February sales, $3,756.80; Holy Angels, West Bend—February sales, $1,244.95. The other schools too are doing remarkably well. Yes, school children, you'll win this war!

Thirteen committees in thirteen townships in Washington county are calling from farm to farm to get "pledges" for the purchase of U. S. defense bonds and stamps. It is too early to give much specific information in regard to what has been accomplished but if the results of Chairman Gerhard Eichman in the town of Addison and Chairman John Frey in the town of Hartford are an indication, the farmers soon will be 100% regular purchasers of U. S. defense bonds.

In this fight for a free America we again go back to the grass roots—just as we have always done since the days of the Revolutionary war. The farmers never fail—they are the first to give—all they can in every way. You're on your way again to 100% participation in this program. Hats off to you!

Industry with its payroll deduction plan is functioning well. You will notice elsewhere in this paper the honor roll for industry. All those listed on this honor roll have 100% employee participation in this payroll allotment plan for the purchase of U. S. defense bonds. If your company is not among those listed, help along, make Washington county 100% all around.

Remember everyone—this is a job for everyone. The need is great. Billions and billions of dollars are needed right now for guns, ships, tanks, and airplanes. Not tomorrow—but today. Tomorrow may be too late. Buy stamps and bonds every week—every day—all that you can. Not how little—but how much. Each and every one wants to do his part to win this war, and win it fast. Everyone can do his part by buying bonds and stamps—buying as much as one possibly can. THE NEED IS GREAT! All of us must do as much as we can to save this country of ours. Do not let anything interfere with your REGULAR PURCHASING of bonds and stamps.

23 Sacks of Flour Given in Contest at Marx Store

Twenty-three sacks of flour were given free to the winners at the close of the Tea Table "Super Silk" guessing contest Saturday evening at the John Marx IGA store. The contest was on for two weeks and contestants were required to guess the number of squares (mesh) in a fine piece of Swiss silk bolting cloth. The correct number of squares or mesh in the cloth displayed was 47,304. Contestants who guessed the closest to this number and were awarded the prize sacks of flour were as follows:

1. 98 lbs. Tea Table flour—Mrs. R. G. Edwards.
2. 49 lbs. flour—Mrs. Gerhard Kales.
3. 34 lbs. flour—Rudy Koepke.
- 4-23. 5 lbs. flour—Mrs. E. Krautkram, Rev. G. Kanless, Lillian Werner, Mrs. Charles Miller, Ray Vyvyan, Mrs. Willard Grubbe, Charles Miller, Edw. Weddig, Marjorie Bartlett, Mrs. Frank Krueger, Mrs. Marvin Schaefer, Marvin Schaefer, P. J. Freris, John Foerster, Mrs. Leonard Meyer, Lillian Zach, Mrs. Don Harbeck, Mrs. Peter Horn, Mrs. A. Vin Volm and Mrs. Peter Bies.

BUY $200 IN DEFENSE BONDS

The local branch of the Aid Association for Lutherans, comprising members of the Evangelical St. Lucas Lutheran congregation of this village and St. John's Lutheran church of New Fane, purchased $200.00 worth of defense bonds. The Kewaskum fire department also purchased an amount of U. S. defense bonds the past week.

County Plans Made by Protection Committee

In order to co-ordinate all local protection service in the county, C. J. Schloemer, commander of the County Civilian Protection organization, has worked out a plan based on the division of the county into eight units.

In each of the eight units, the regularly elected executive will serve as the commander. In the cities of Hartford and West Bend, it will be Mayor Cyril Lohr and Mayor C. J. Schloemer respectively. The five villages will be served by their village presidents as follows:

German town—Leo O'Reilly
Barton—Anthony Otten
Kewaskum—A. P. Schaeffer
Slinger—Jos. Gundrum
Jackson—John Indermuehle

In addition to the two cities and the five villages in the county, the eighth unit will consist of the 13 townships and will be under the command of Sheriff Herb. Baehring. Each of these eight commanders, in their respective districts will be responsible for his local unit of protection and for the proper functioning in time of an emergency.

Each local unit, under the direction of the local commander, will be subdivided into four departments:

1. Fire
  2. Police and air raid protection
  3. Emergency medical division
  4. Emergency public works
- The fire division will be supplemented by auxiliary firemen, rescue squads and fire watchers. The public and air raid protection division will have auxiliary police, bomb squads, air raid wardens, and will administer a signal service for air raid warnings, blackouts, and emergency alarms. The emergency public works division will supervise demolition and clearance crews, road repair crews, decontamination squads, and utility repair squads. Each local unit will make adaptations in the above plan to meet local needs.

In order to assist in the organization and co-ordination of the entire county civilian protection program, an advisory staff has been set up working under the County Protection committee. This staff consists of C. J. Schloemer, county commander; Robert S. Barber, assistant; H. A. Schatz, coordinator of the county protection service; B. D. Rice, director of the civilian defense training school. The function of the advisory staff is to assist the local units in developing organizations that will successfully meet any emergency that may arise.

Mrs. Harold Allen, Niece of Mrs. Chas. Brandt, Dies

Mrs. Harold Allen, 30, nee Eleanor Menger, of 225 West Cotton street, Fond du Lac, a niece of Mrs. Chas. Brandt of this village, died at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday, March 4, at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac. She and a daughter, Barbara Jean, born at 9:30 p. m. Tuesday, March 3, were buried together, funeral services being held at 2 p. m. Saturday, March 7, from the Zacherl funeral home in this city. The Rev. B. J. Steker of Our Saviour's church officiated and burial was in Riemer cemetery, Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Allen was born May 19, 1911, at Campbellsport, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Menger. She was married March 23, 1935, to Mr. Allen, who survives, along with three daughters, Sonja, Sandra and Harriet; two sons, Harold and Earl; her parents; five brothers, John of Minnesota and Marvin, Lowell, Ervin and Edward of Edgar, and a sister, Mrs. Iola Paul, of Oconomowoc.

Persons attending the funeral included the following from Kewaskum and surrounding villages: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brandt of this village, Mr. and Mrs. John Jewson, Miss Belva Jewson and Dale Jewson of Campbellsport, Mrs. Albert Zielicke, Miss Sylvia Zielicke, Atwell Zielicke, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Keller and Mr. and Mrs. Alois Sabish of Elmora, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keller and daughter Verna of Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Eichstedt of Adell.

BIRTHS

FURLONG—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Furlong of this village are the parents of a daughter, weighing eight pounds and two ounces, born at Mercy hospital in Oshkosh on Sunday evening, March 8. Mr. Furlong is assistant principal at the Kewaskum high school.

KLEIN—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klein Jr. of the town of Kewaskum are the parents of a 6½-pound son born at their home on Friday morning, March 13. In this case Friday, the 13th turned out to be a lucky day and not an unlucky one for the Kleins.

THEUSCH—A 9½ pound baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Theusch at their home in the town of Wayne on Sunday, March 1. They have five other children. Mr. Theusch is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Thersich of this village.

Bob Romaine Leaves For Naval Training; Russ Heisler Enlists

Former Called Into Active Service; Latter to Leave For Army Tuesday; Village Now Has Three Sets of Brothers Enlisted

Two more Kewaskum young men have enlisted in the U. S. armed forces. They are Robert "Bob" Romaine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Romaine, and Russell Heisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heisler. The village now has a total of between 15 and 20 young men enlisted in service, besides the number of men who have been drafted. This is a very large number for the size of the village. Not so many young fellows are left and Kewaskum is beginning to get quite "dead." Most of the enlistments from this vicinity are from the village. Few men from the surrounding rural district have enlisted.

Romaine, 23, enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve several weeks ago in Chicago at the old postoffice building on Clark street. Notice of being called into active service was received by him last Sunday morning. He left on Wednesday morning for Chicago, where he was ordered to report on Thursday morning for a final physical examination. If he passed the test he was to be sent to the Great Lakes Naval Training station at Great Lakes, Ill., to go into training for about six months. If he was rejected in the examination he will be placed back on the naval reserve list and will be allowed to return home. No word was heard from him up to the time the Statesman went to press and it is probable that he was accepted. Romaine, a graduate of the Kewaskum high school, has a younger brother, Curtis, in the U. S. Army Air Corps stationed at Lambert Field, St. Louis, Mo. Bob was employed by the Kewaskum Creamery company before enlisting.

Heisler, 26, was scheduled to be inducted into service Mar. 21. He passed his final physical examination at Milwaukee last week Tuesday and was given a 1-A rating. He obtained his selective service release from the Washington county board the forepart of this week and enlisted on Wednesday at the army recruiting station in the federal building, Milwaukee. He enlisted as a sheet metal worker in the U. S. Army Air Corps and passed his physical test the same day. The enlistment is for a three-year period. Russell will leave Milwaukee at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, Mar. 17, to enter into service. His destination was not made known but it is probable that he will first be sent to Fort Sheridan, Ill. for further orders. Heisler, who also attended the Kewaskum high school, was employed by Cutler Hammer, Inc. in Milwaukee before joining the armed forces. He, too, has a younger brother in the air corps. He is Pvt. Franklin Heisler, who is stationed at the Jackson Air Base, Jackson, Miss. Pvt. Heisler enlisted last Dec. 30.

The two other brothers from this village in service are PFC. Pirmin Kohler and Pvt. Earl Kohler, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Kohler. PFC. Pirmin is stationed at Exposition Park, Los Angeles, Calif. and Pvt. Earl at Grenier Field, New Hampshire. In all three cases the younger brothers entered the services first.

William Martin, who also was in the contingent from Washington county who took their selective service examinations at Milwaukee last week, was rejected and given a 1-B rating.

Buy Rosenheimer Farm; Other Deals Completed

In a transaction completed the past week Jac. Beck of the town of Kewaskum purchased the Rosenheimer farm of about 160 acres on Route 3, Kewaskum. Mr. and Mrs. Beck and family took possession of the farm this week. Mr. and Mrs. Art. Eichstedt and family, who occupied the farm, have rented the Haug home on the River road in this village, and moved here this week. Mrs. Ramthun, former owner of the 50 or 60 acre farm vacated by the Beck on the River road just beyond the northeast village limits, has again taken over the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert J. Schuster and children, Vernon, Gilbert, Marjorie and Irene, of Alexandria, Minn., have taken possession of the Mangartner Bros. farm. Mrs. Schuster is a niece of Mrs. Mary Schuster will join her parents in June after she finishes her studies at the St. Joseph's Junior Extension college. The Mangartner Bros. and their sister, Mrs. Lydia Petri, will occupy their new home in Campbellsport which they purchased last summer.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

By Edward C. Wayne

Treasury Asks 7 1/2 Billion Tax Boost To Carry Out U. S. 'Victory Program'; Sweeping Soviet Advances Continue As New Assaults Puncture Nazi Lines

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau as he presented a new 7 billion 610 million dollar tax program to congress. If approved by congress, the new taxes proposed by the treasury, added to the present total, would yield approximately 23 billion 487 million dollars in 1942. This would be an average of slightly more than $175 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

TAXES:

War Not Cheap

The job of digging $23,000,000,000 in tax money out of the pockets of the people of the United States had been placed squarely before Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury, and he had placed a plan before the congress to accomplish this.

He had prefaced his announcement of the plan with the statement that it was a "victory program" and that "war was not cheap, but a million times cheaper to win than to lose."

The plan had called for a general doubling of income taxes between the bottom limit and $10,000, increases of corporate taxes, increase of excise taxes, and a raising of the social security payment rates.

One innovation was the secretary's suggestion that at least a portion of the tax be raised at the source, employers withholding weekly amounts from their workers' pay and turning it over to the treasury monthly.

Secretary Morgenthau admitted this might mean paying on two years' taxes at the same time after about July 1, but pointed out that it would reduce the burden the following March, and also would prevent taxpayers from spending in inflationary avenues to purchase goods that could not be produced, in sufficient quantity to meet the demand.

The first reactions of congressmen in general had been favorable. It was doubtful if the eventual tax bill would emerge in exactly the form as presented by Secretary Morgenthau, but that something substantially like it would be adopted was considered certain.

Samples of the Morgenthau schedules called for single persons making a net of $2,000, now paying $117, to pay $230; for married persons making $2,200 with no dependents, now paying $61, to pay $118; for married persons with two dependents (average family) making a net of $2,700, to pay $64 instead of the present $29.

RUSSIANS: Increase Pace

It had been expected that as the spring thaws began to set in the Russians would find the going more difficult, especially as Hitler made ready for his "spring offensive."

Some wonder had been caused when the Germans began issuing bulletins telling of enormous numbers of Red troops being shoved up toward the front, reports which were more or less confirmed from Red sources.

There were two possible solutions to this—either the Germans were preparing their people for the expected report of the loss of the Sixteenth field army, which had been trapped in the Staraya Russa district, or they were trying to convince the United States and Britain that Russia did not need and could not use additional lease-lend aid.

However this might be, observers had considered it more likely that Stalin, having placed a large group of generals in the background posts of training new armies, was putting these into the fight in order to halt the "spring offensive" before it could get going. To the westward the Russian army has captured large quantities of war materials.

It recalled statements of Napoleon and of the Germans themselves during the last war, that conquering the Russians was impossible because of their tremendous manpower, for countless thousands of new troops always appeared on all fronts, just when one thought them well beaten.

There were many who had expressed the belief that Germany, instead of driving the Russians back this spring, might, if forced to a heavy battle on two fronts, even be knocked rapidly out of the war altogether. Validity of this belief will be determined in the next few weeks.

ATLANTIC: Pinching Belts

Britain, whose commentators had jokingly said "had no more belt to tighten" was still facing a reduction in food rationing because of the unfavorable course of the battle of the Atlantic since Japan got into the war, and Germany stepped up its U-boat warfare schedule.

At the same time the house had strongly censured the "black market" activities, comparing these to the difficulties the United States had had during prohibition.

JAVA: New Psychology

The word "offensive" had become increasingly important in the dictionary of the Allied Nations. In Washington Chief of Staff General Marshall had struck the keynote, and when the Japs came into Java, and General Wavell was shunted off to India, leaving Dutch Gen. Ter Poorten in charge, almost the first order to the men was to make an offensive out of the defense of the island.

The troops, which included some Americans, British and Australians, but which largely were Dutch and natives, had hurred themselves at the enemy with considerably more force than had been evidenced by the British in either Malaya or Burma, and early successes were reported. However, the estimated 65,000 Japanese troops were able to turn the tide of battle against approximately 50,000 Allied soldiers.

The Japs had landed at three points, the estimate being that 140 warships and transports had been used. One landing was on the Sumatra point of the island, another in the north central portion, and the third just west of Sourabaya.

Though most observers felt from the first that the battle for Java could have only one end, and though the Dutch, at the outset, were bitter against the United Nations for not having sent sufficient aid, the battle was the first test of the new psychology, to be "on the offensive" instead of the defensive at all times.

The battle for Java marked the closing phase of the beginning of the Southwest Pacific war. Japanese successes in that area, won at a huge cost of man power, were largely the result of overwhelming air superiority.

RIOM: 'Inside Story'

More of the "inside story" of the fall of France and the reasons for it had been aired by outspoken Eduard Daladier, ex-premier who had been placed on trial.

At the same time ex-Generalissimo Maurice Gamelin had stood stiffly at attention, refusing to answer a single question hurled at him by Pierre Causis, the prosecutor.

But Daladier, giving still more import to the reports of dissension and lack of co-operation within the nation, charged that the entire war effort of France had been "sabotaged" by the lack of interest of several large steel industries.

He told of two concerns which had been approached by the government long before the war to take part in a government-private industry combine which would have set up huge armament works in northern France.

There, Daladier had testified, the government would have been able to have strengthened her armed forces.

But the industrialists approached refused to consider the plan until France was at war with Germany, when it was too late, he had said.

NELSON: How to Spend

Donald Nelson, WPB head, charged with the job of spending an apparently unending succession of billions of dollars, had issued a document called Directive No. 2 which outlined to the world his theories of how it should be done.

In the first place, he has ended competitive bidding on war work. He is trying, he had announced, to get the small plant, not now engaged in war work, into the war picture.

The big firm, already filled with extensive war contracts, could not produce him.

Speed being what really counts, Mr. Nelson said, the thing to do is to "remove the emphasis on price" and place it on delivery. He planned, he said, to apportion the work out among the factories on this basis, with special emphasis on favoring those whose need for new machines or tools to do a given job was the least.

Nelson also asked for a 25 per cent production increase in 1942.

POLICY:

Change Toward Paris Indicated by Bombing

Though the British had systematically bombed enemy installations in occupied Europe, particularly those nearest the channel coast, Paris, except for the token bombing in 1941 had been virtually untouched by the war.

However, with a sudden day and night attack against the huge auto factories on the outskirts of Paris, Britain apparently had told the world that her policy toward the queen city of France had been changed.

A large squadron of heavy bombers, meeting considerable anti-aircraft fire, had flown over the city and suburbs all day and far into the night, dropping deadly loads in the neighborhood of the Renault, Citroen, Hispano-Suiza, Potez and Regnier motor works.

Vichy did not reveal the amount of the damage, but said there "were civilian casualties."

London had been terse about the affair, simply stating that the Renault auto factory, to France what Ford is to this country, had "become the symbol of French collaboration with Germany."

The company, said London, "is known to have been engaged in the making and repairing of transport vehicles, tanks and airplane engines for Germany."

ACE:

Made in a Day

From the Pacific theater had come the story of a determined attempt by Japanese heavy bombers, evidently operating from an island base, to put one of our largest aircraft carriers out of action.

The vessel, thanks to the vigorous defense of the pursuit personnel, escaped "without a scratch" the navy had reported.

Out of it emerged Lieut. Edward O'Hare of St. Louis, Mo., as the war's first "ace in a day."

The Japs came against the carrier with 18 bombers in two flights of nine each. Only two got away. Yet the attackers came in with such ferocity that one of them attempted a "suicide crash" with his load of bombs on the deck of the ship.

"So close was it" the navy had reported, "that he was shot down by point-blank anti-aircraft fire when less than 100 yards from his objective."

O'Hare got six of the enemy planes all by himself. The other pursuit fliers got the other ten. Two returned to the Jap base unscathed, apparently. Two American planes had been shot down, but the pilot of one was rescued.

It was a dramatic affair and one which showed the American pilots were being tried in combat and not found wanting, also that the Jap losses, if they continued at five to one or better, soon were bound to be reflected in a loss of momentum for their drive.

STRATEGY: Decided Upon

While there had been little question that the Atlantic Charter and a possible spring offensive on the European front, plus the keeping of supply lines open to Britain and Russia were the primary American military objectives, a significant strategy had been decided upon in the Pacific theater.

This strategy called for the use of Australia as a basing-ground and a hop-off point for the eventual winning offensive against the Japanese.

There had been numbers of "token" bombing raids on Port Darwin and other points of importance to Australia, and the Aussies believed that these were laying the groundwork for an eventual all-out assault.

But it was with the offensive, not the defensive thought in mind that Australia was planning with the United States for supplies, men and munitions with which to make the continent a springboard for attack rather than defense.

MISCELLANY:

Puerto Rico: American soil on the Atlantic side had felt the impact of German shells. The tiny island of Mona off Puerto Rico which houses a CCC camp, had been shelled by a submarine.

New York: The Vatican radio had announced that food supplies, sent by the Pope to starving Greece, had arrived there safely and were being distributed.

Stockholm: Reports from Norway had been that the rift between church and state was so serious the Germans themselves might intervene. Six bishops had resigned when the head of the Quisling government's church and educational department said the state was the supreme authority in baptism.

Delaware, Ohio: Dr. Hu Shih, China's ambassador to the U. S., said that the only postwar organization that will work will be a group of powers, armed to the teeth, who must form a "League to Enforce Peace."

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—The cost-plus issue, stirring again, makes this World war seem a bit more like the first one. Maj. Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of the United States army engineers, defends the cost-plus system in wartime construction. He tells the Associated Contractors, meeting at Indianapolis, that the big idea when there is a war on is to get things done, and that the contractors "have fulfilled their responsibilities satisfactorily."

Gen. Reybold, Top Flood Battler, for Cost-Plus in War

General Reybold is the famous flood battler, who has won more decisions over rampaging rivers than any man in or out of uniform. Getting a half-nelson on the Mississippi, in 1937, he didn't figure the cost, plus or minus, but he licked the flood. His system always has been to beat the river to the punch, by a spillway, blowing up a dam, flooding lowlands or by any possible device or stratagem in his lore of flood-fighting. He knows them all.

In these encounters, particularly in 1937, he met difficulties comparable to those of the "scorched earth" tactics of modern warfare. Farmers and planters frequently opposed his drastic measures, but he carried on tactfully and won their co-operation.

He became chief of the engineers in September of last year, succeeding Maj. Gen. Julian L. Schley. He knows rivers and river towns like an old-time steamboat captain, and old lakes and harbors, and any old settlers in Memphis, Little Rock or Buffalo is apt to know all about him. From 1927 to 1932, he was stationed in Buffalo as assistant and district engineer on river, harbor and dredge operations. He was the U. S. representative on the International Niagara River Control board from 1925 to 1932, later district engineer at Wilmington, N. C., and was engaged in river control work at Memphis when he was chosen to lead the engineers.

AS AN air force officer, sounding sharp warnings against a day of doom and begging for bigger and better planes, Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews gained distinction as the man who never was afraid to stick out his neck. There is a hopeful augury in the fact that Lieutenant General Andrews, which he has since become, is supreme commander of the Caribbean defenses.

His Urgings Now Commonplaces in Sphere of Planes

The Caribbean command, one of the most critical of defense areas because of the Panama canal, was assigned to General Andrews last July. Two months later, the general made a survey of the entire area and thereafter there were reports that he had insisted on a completely consolidated army and navy authority. This authority was established late last month, as a result of the Roberts report on Pearl Harbor, according to guarded reports from Washington. It might have been assumed, in the light of past performance, that the general would not accept divided authority.

The general did not fly with the A.E.F. in the First World War, but was in the air over Germany, from 1920 to 1923, and in the succeeding years gained army fame by a series of brilliant aerial exploits. In 1934, riding a Martin B-12 bombardment plane, he established a world record for 1,000 kilometers.

Becoming commander of the general headquarters air force in 1935, he vehemently urged a technological shakeup in plane design and equipment and campaigned for many innovations which later came through. He was one of the first to urge airplane cannons and also one of the first to prophesy that planes soon would be useless without armor plate, and to demand this protection. He also was out early demanding large scale civilian training for the air forces. He was born in Nashville, Tenn., and graduated from West Point in 1906.

He threw away canned speeches which had been prepared for him and said his own say so effectively that he became known as one of the best talkers in the army—always talking up intelligent and co-ordinated defense. He fought with the cavalry on the Mexican border before he found his wings, in 1917. He frequently has been called "the handsomest man in the army," although he is a bit on the rough-and-ready side and his somewhat unco-ordinated hair is never slicked down. If there is a swivel-chair officer in the army, he isn't the man.

HERE'S Richard G. Casey, first Australian minister to the United States, down to earth, with an urgent message about this particular world here and now. The nub of it is that if the Allied Nations do not get effective aid to Australia at top speed, there is bad trouble ahead. There are tremendous coal and iron deposits in northern Australia which Japan has long coveted, and there is, in this region, considerable development of mines and smelters. Mr. Casey has been Commonwealth treasurer and senator

'Man of Peace' Promotes Korean War Against Japs

Dr. Syngman Rhee, President of Exiled Government, Heads Conference in Washington To Plan 'Life and Death' Revolt.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N-W, Washington, D. C.

Washington has just witnessed a most remarkable ceremony. It was what might be called the laying of the cornerstone of a new revolution. Not a mere revolution of wild radicals, but the orderly preparation for a real, powder-and-ball, life-and-death revolt.

The Korean Liberty conference has just met in Washington to commemorate the March, 1919, revolution and make plans for a 1942 revolution.

The most remarkable thing about this first step toward the smashing of a tyrant's power is that its moving spirit is a wistful little figure who describes himself as a man of peace born in the Land of the Morning Calm. He is Syngman Rhee of Korea, president of the Korean government in exile since 1919, and revolutionary since 1905.

With a group of Koreans from Hawaii and others living in the United States, and with the help of a group of American friends who make up the Korean Committee of Los Angeles and Honolulu and the Korean-American council, Dr. Rhee is now busy getting ready for the revolution of 1942.

Korea, Dr. Rhee points out, was the first victim of Japan's long-planned "new order." He foresaw the present war between Japan and America and tried to warn this country. More than a year before the Pearl Harbor attack he said:

"If the Koreans had seen Japan in 1894 as they saw her in 1929, the year of Hideyoshi's unsuccessful invasion of Korea, they would have saved their country and themselves from the plight in which they find themselves today. On the other hand, if the American people had seen Japan in 1894 and 1904 as they see her today, they would have looked askance at the annexation of Korea and would have tried to meet Japan's expansion of sea power which now offers a powerful threat on the other side of the Pacific."

Buy Defense Bonds—

Long Years Of Giving Warnings

This quiet little man who has been imprisoned, tortured, exiled, had a price set on his head by the Japanese, has been haunting international conferences for nearly four decades. At Geneva, at London, in Chungking, he has moved among the statesmen and delegates quietly whispering his warnings, patiently explaining and urging, ceaselessly working for the freedom of his own people and seeking to build the co-operative effort of all free peoples. For many years he has lived in Washington.

"It is one of the great ironies of history," says Dr. Rhee. "That Japanese animosity is now directed particularly against the very nation which broke the shell of her insularity and introduced Japan to modern civilization. When, in 1854, Commodore Matthew Perry negotiated the treaty which marked the first step in opening Japan to foreign commerce and residence, he helped, all unwittingly, to set the people of the Rising Sun in the path which was to bring them later full tilt against the American people."

At the liberty conference just concluded in Washington, three main steps were taken: The Korean declaration of independence of 1919 was reaffirmed; the United States was called on to recognize the provisional government of Korea, and Korean allegiance was declared to the cause of the United Nations.

Without bitterness or recrimination these devoted patriots pointed out that the United States has its obligations to them, for the treaty of peace and amity and mutual protection between the United States and Korea still exists although we stood by without interfering when Japan reached out and "tightened her grip," as Dr. Rhee puts it, on his country back in the days of Theodore Roosevelt.

As the leader of these gentle revolutionists, Dr. Rhee at 67 watches his predictions coming true he merely feels that the goal is nearer. With the philosophy of his great master—Rhee was educated in a Confucian school—he looks on a world in flames with new courage.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

To get into a White House press conference you have to show your photographic pass to seven people. Most of these seven, police, secret service men, representative of press and radio, know every correspondent personally. But they carefully scan the passes just the same. One man got into the war department with a picture of Hitler pasted over his own.

All programs in which communications from listeners or in which unknown persons speak without a prepared script are now barred from a broadcaster telling bed-rum runners for several weeks before Washington's traffic problem is perhaps the world's worst. For the pedestrian, four-footed or two, life is precarious. Only this morning my heart missed a beat as I watched a fellow adventurer of the early

The forest fire will not extinguish itself," he says. But it will be extinguished: "As long last—perhaps sooner than we dare to hope—" he says, the democratic forces of the world will thrust Japan back on her islands and peace will reign in the Pacific. In that day, Korea will rejoin the ranks of the free and again become known as the Land of the Morning Calm."

Buy Defense Bonds— Is the U. S. Complacent About War?

Is America complacent about the war? That is the great question which is agitating the various agencies of government which consider it their function to stir America to the high pitch necessary for maximum war effort.

The letters which I receive fairly bristle on that subject. Complacent? We aren't complacent, they say, it's you people in Washington who are the complacent ones.

Recently I was in a gathering where three speakers told in great detail what the movie industry was doing as a part of the war effort. It is doing a lot—donating its time and its facilities. Many members of the industry are in Washington with army or navy commissions or on civilian salaries far less than they earn at their regular jobs—like the dollar-a-year men. Some are patriotic. They are too old to join the fighting forces and they want to do their bit. Some, I daresay, like many "parasitics" who have swarmed to Washington are here for less altruistic purposes.

War, like patriotism as Dr. Johnson defined it, can be "the last refuge of scoundrels" as well as the medium of the supreme sacrifice.

Whether or not the nation as a whole is complacent is a question which nobody can answer. The real problem which we have before us is to turn a nation, naturally attuned to peace, a nation whose military tradition is limited compared to the countries of Europe. These peoples of different language, race and customs are crowded within narrow frontiers—boundary lines which have been drawn and redrawn in the blood of thousands who were taught from childhood that the word "foreigner" was almost synonymous with the word "enemy."

We have lived and worked and had our being, between two unfriendly borders and with two unfriendly oceans to guard us. Suddenly we are being forced to play a part in a world which has accepted "might is right." We know we are mighty. So mighty that it has never been a question in the hearts of whether we could defeat them. Only a question of whether we would make the effort. Whether, in other words, we would be complacent while they "strut and trot their hour upon the stage." History proves that only a short space of time is granted for tyrants to oppress freemen. Longer than that no tyrant has ever existed. And America, once "awakened," will number their days.

Conservatives Disagree

There are plenty of conservatives who will contest this statement. They will tell you that SOMEBODY has to foot the bill, that even if Germany and Japan and Italy manage to struggle on with no major military defeats, that unless they are totally victorious they will totally collapse financially.

This viewpoint is expressed by those who believe that eventually the thing will happen that many of us often did you hear before Pearl Harbor, "Japan is almost broke now, she can't afford to go to war with a major power." Or, "Germany is on the verge of absolute and financial collapse."

Perhaps these orthodox economists are correct. Perhaps it is money that makes the machine gun go as well as the mare, and when the money stops the nations which are on the verge of bankruptcy now will fall like a house of cards. But the new-school thinkers are able to marshal a lot of evidence to support their theory that there are a lot of things that money won't buy and that there are a lot of things which, if you leave 'em you don't need money.

Just for St. Patrick's Day . . . Pineapple Frosties! (See Recipes Below)

Shamrock Fare

Give your cue from good luck day your menu wear green! Bring out your best Pat and Mike jokes and touch up your food for the day with a dash of imagination by applying a green brush stroke, for these are the which put a halo on your face a hint of spring in the lightness of the season's menus, so whisk these elements into your food to add a dash of personality. Simplicity your keynote and your guide, here are some small entertaining on St. Patrick's day.

- #### Menu I.
- Shamrock or Evening Snack
  - Pineapple Frosties
  - Pop Corn Nougat
- #### Menu II.
- Bridge Refreshments
  - Shamrock Salad
  - Bread With Cream Cheese Spread
  - Cornflake Chews

Pineapple Frosties.

For each serving use a six-ounce can of unsweetened pineapple juice and a generous scoop of sherbet. In a large beating bowl, add well-beaten egg whites. When the mixture begins to soften, beat the ingredients until they are well-blended together.

Pop Corn Nougat.

1 1/2 cups corn syrup
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup warm water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup honey

Orange Squash.

(Serves 6)

3 cups cooked Hubbard squash
1/2 cup orange juice
3 tablespoons butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1/4 cup chopped almonds

Tartar Sauce.

Popular and fitting accompaniment to fish is this sauce: Combine 1 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 teaspoon onion juice or 1 tablespoon chopped chives, 2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle or green relish, lemon juice to thin to desired consistency.

Shrimp Vegetable Casserole.

(Serves 6)

2 medium onions, sliced
1 green pepper, cut in rings
1 cup cooked peas
1 cup coarsely broken, wide noodles, uncooked
3 cups canned tomatoes
2 No. 1 cans shrimp, cleaned
3 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper

Valley of the Saskatchewan.

In the great Valley of the Saskatchewan are a million and a half square miles of country, perfectly suited to the breeding of wild fowl. It is said that the lakes in that region are so numerous as to average one to every mile, in spite of the fact that a few are 200 to 300 miles long. Thus, in this region are more than a million lakes and marshes, where drouth is unknown, and where food and shelter for waterfowl are ample.

Huge Caterpillar.

The larva of the royal moth is the largest caterpillar found in North America, measuring nearly five inches in length. It is called the Hickory Horned Devil, is rather hideous to look at, but quite harmless.

Burrowing Lizards.

Nearly all of the lizards which inhabit desert regions are burrowers. They dig into burrows to escape enemies, or wriggle into the sand at night to escape the chill of the desert air.

LEAVES from Uncle Sam's Notebook

By HARRIET MAY WILSON

Bulldogs—And Other Dogs

Every dog is a good dog—to its owner. The tie that binds the dog to his master, and vice versa, is almost as old as the history of man. If a man has a bulldog he will swear that the bull is the only dog to own; if he has a collie or an airedale, then the faithfulness of the one or the sagacity of the other becomes his theme song. But no man knows the true, full lineage of canine families go back, in most instances, until they are obscured in the mists of ancient times.

The English bulldog, as he is now known, has been bred for many centuries, having been used originally for the savage sport of bear baiting and bull baiting. Later, when dog fighting came into prominence, the bulldog was adapted to the "pit," but in all of these sports the characteristics of courage, tenacity, determination, and strength have been indispensable, and it has been for these traits that the bulldog has been consistently bred.

THE DALMATIAN

One of the handsomest and most dignified of all dogs is the Dalmatian "coach dog." He is short-haired, smooth, symmetrical, muscular and active, of an ultra-smart appearance, and capable of maintaining a fair rate of speed for a considerable length of time. The Dalmatian is readily recognized by his liver spots. The standard for these dogs requires that the ground color be pure white; the spots should be as round as possible, and may be either black or liver-colored. This breed is desirable as coach, watch, or companion dog, and has been used in his native land as a gun dog.

THE GREAT DANE

In all the dog world, no handsomer specimen can be found than the Great Dane. If he is pure bred his expression will be characterized by an attitude of absolute fearlessness; his movements with a tiger-like grace. Much controversy has arisen concerning the origin of the Great Dane. These dogs have been bred for centuries, and records as remote as those of the Egyptian period prove that a dog of this type was then in existence. Authorities state that "the breed probably descended from the dogs of the Egyptian era, and that possibly the ancestral Great Dane stock spread to Germany where it was crossed with the blood of the Ulmer Dogge, Rottweiler Metzgerhund, etc. The name 'Dutch Dogge' was adopted as the official title for the breed in Germany late in the 19th century, and as such it is now known in that country." The standard for this breed requires that males weigh not less than 120 to 160 pounds and females from 100 to 130 pounds; shoulder heights vary, for males, from 28 to 36 inches and for females from 28 to 32.

THE RUSSIAN WOLFHOUND

He (or she) who would "cut a figure" on any famous thoroughfare, will do well to acquire a Russian wolfhound or "Borzoi" as the Russians call him. These dogs are of the "coarser" type and are known to have been in existence since practically pre-historic times. The Russian people have used this great hound in the pursuit of the fierce wolves of the Russian steppes, hence the hound must be swift, strong and of unimpeachable courage. He is possessed of extreme speed and endurance, the result of extraordinary muscular, heart, and lung development. He is one of the most symmetrical, graceful, and strikingly attractive of all the breeds of dogs.

THE SUM OF THE MATTER

The sum of the whole matter is, as we said at the beginning, every dog is a good dog to his master. If you have a dog—even the veriest mongrel—you must love him and be good to him; you must give him, so far as a mere human being can, a loyalty to match his own.

VALLEY OF THE SASKATCHEWAN

In the great Valley of the Saskatchewan are a million and a half square miles of country, perfectly suited to the breeding of wild fowl. It is said that the lakes in that region are so numerous as to average one to every mile, in spite of the fact that a few are 200 to 300 miles long. Thus, in this region are more than a million lakes and marshes, where drouth is unknown, and where food and shelter for waterfowl are ample.

REPAIRING DAMAGED LINOLEUM

WITH the manufacture of linoleum already limited by defense priorities, the linoleum now on our floors should be made to last as long as possible, for there may be difficulty in buying new. Thus, for instance, when loose linoleum or a linoleum rug begins to scuff at the edges, pieces that are chipped and broken off should not be thrown out, for they can be stuck back in place. A piece of cloth can be covered with glue or with varnish, slipped under the edge of the linoleum, and the chipped and broken pieces stuck on to be held in place by heavy books or something similar until the adhesive hardens. A crack toward the center of the linoleum can have a piece of cloth stuck under it, and the edges of the break pressed down to make firm contact. If not strengthened in this way, the edges of the break are likely to be scuffed and to become worse. Bits of the linoleum that are chipped off can be replaced with stick shellac or sealing wax of the same color. The wax is melted, and run into the break, to be smoothed flat before it cools.

Paint Remover.

Question: I want to remove paint from the woodwork of six rooms, preparatory to repainting. Is there anything that is as effective as commercial paint remover, and that will be cheaper?

Answer: You can make an excellent paint remover for all purposes by dissolving 3 pounds of trisodium phosphate in a gallon of water. When applied boiling hot the paint quickly softens and can be wiped and scraped off. Follow by sponging with clear water to remove all traces of the chemical. Trisodium phosphate, which is inexpensive, can be had at large paint stores, either under its own name, or as beet salt. It is not carried by druggists. It can also be had from dealers in chemicals.

Room Decoration.

Question: My living-room is 12 by 13 feet, and has a high ceiling. In papering it, I should like to make it look larger and lower. What do you think of using a striped paper and putting it on with the stripes horizontal, instead of up and down? Would this make the room look lower and larger?

Answer: I feel sure you would not like the effect. It would be better to carry the ceiling paper down the wall for at least a foot, and then to put on the border. Instead of striped paper, use a landscape paper, with plenty of perspective, which will carry the eye beyond the line of the wall, and apparently into the distance. The pattern should not be strong nor dark.

Cleaning Paint Work.

Question: What is the best way to clean house paint, darkened by soot and dust?

Answer: There are various inexpensive cleaning materials that can be had at paint stores. One of these is a light yellow powder, to be mixed with water to the consistency of cream. This is painted on the wall and removed after a few minutes by sponging with clear water. In washing a wall, begin at the bottom and work up; if you begin at the top and work down, the dirty water running over the dry parts will make streaks that cannot be taken out.

Shabby Mail Boxes.

Question: Three mail boxes in my vestibule originally had a dull gold finish, but are now discolored. Brass polishes do not help. What can I do about them?

Answer: One remedy would be to take off the fronts of the mail boxes, and to send them out to a plating shop to be cleaned and replated. Before doing this, ask the postman whether the boxes are under government control, and if so, where permission can be obtained.

Damp-Proof Floor.

Question: I expect to lay a new concrete floor in my basement and would like to make it damp proof. What is the procedure?

Answer: Cover the present floor with waterproof felt, stuck down with liquid asphalt, and pour the new concrete on top. The felt should be carried up the walls for some distance, possibly as high as the outside ground level. The concrete should go up to the same height.

Sewer Trap.

Question: Is there any kind of a drain or trap for the basement that would prevent sewer water from backing up?

Answer: Yes; there is a check-valve that can be put in the sewer pipe just outside the wall, that will permit the house drainage to flow out, but that will close with the first sign of backing up. You can get one from a plumber.

Cleaning Lamp Shades.

Question: Is there any way to clean silk lamp shades? Cellophane coverings are not successful.

Answer: To do that job, fill your bathtub with tepid water in which three or four handfuls of mild soap flakes are dissolved. Immerse the shades and draw them slowly through the water several times. Then shake off the water, pat with bath towels, and hang up to dry. Ornaments that are stuck on will come off, but after drying, they can be replaced with clear mucilage or glue.

Life is a tender thing and is easily molested. There is always something that goes amiss. Vain vexations—vain sometimes, but always vexations. The smallest and slightest impediments are the most piercing; and as little letters most tire the eyes, so do little affairs most disturb us.—Montaigne.

Essay on Cow Leaves Little to the Imagination

The cow is a mammal. It has six sides, right, left, an upper and below. At the end it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this it sends the flies away so that they do not fall into the milk.

The head is for the purpose of growing horns and so that the mouth can be somewhere. Under the cow hangs the milk. The cow has a fine sense of smell, one can smell it far away. This is the reason for the fresh air in the country. The cow does not eat much, but what it eats it eats twice so that it gets enough. When it is hungry it moos, and when it says nothing it is because all its inside is full.—Essay on a cow by a ten-year-old schoolboy.

Interchange Local Architectural Ideas To Promote Harmony and Good Will

ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN
We always feel a little sad to see the break in bungalow borders and Cape Cod cottages in California. For local architecture and regional customs have the same charm when we mix them. And yet maybe that very intermingling of ideas is the healthiest thing about the American way . . . a sure guarantee against the development of hostile borders and regions suspicious of all those around them. The maintenance of local ways, the jealous guarding of regional customs against change has been the curse of most of the rest of the world except our own fortunate country.
So on second thought, we'll do without so much quaint charm in exchange for this country of ours where people feel at home wherever they are, where different regions un-

FARM AND HOME LINES

Because of the shortage of tin and steel, farmers are urged to make every effort to prolong the life of their present stock of milk cans.

Members of Rock county's farm bureau have formed a 50 mile-an-hour club, pledged not to drive their cars over that speed for the duration. Besides saving rubber, the club hopes to promote highway safety.

WASHINGTON COUNTY FRUIT GROWERS HOLD ANNUAL MEETING AT JACKSON

The annual meeting of the Washington County Fruit Growers Association was held in the village hall, Jackson, on Thursday, March 12. The meeting began at 10:00 a. m. with the association announcements. The election of officers and the business session were held at 10:15. At 10:45 a. m. C. L. Kuehner discussed orchard pruning, fertilization and variety selection. A special program for the womenfolk was also presented at this time.

During the noon hour a pot-luck luncheon was served. Immediately after the luncheon a sound motion picture called "Combat" was shown. This picture was loaned to us by a chemical company and is the very latest and best in orchard care and management.

Following the showing of the motion picture, H. J. Rahlmo presented a discussion which he illustrated with pictures and slides and which was of much interest to fruit growers.

Anyone interested in apple and fruit culture was invited to attend. The program had points of much interest to all.

SHORT COURSE BANQUET TUESDAY, MARCH 17

The 1942 short course banquet and reunion for the Ozaukee and Washington counties short course alumnae will be held on Tuesday evening, March 17, in the recreational room of the Evangelical and Reformed church, corner of Walnut street and 5th avenue, West Bend. Dinner will be at 7:30 p. m. The cost will be $5c per plate.

Anyone who attended or was graduated from the farm short course, middle course, or long course in agriculture, their wives, family or lady friends are cordially invited to attend.

Geo. C. Humphrey of the College of Agriculture, who is highly respected by all farm short course boys, will be our principal speaker. Prof. Humphrey has a very interesting program to present. This will be his last year on the faculty of the College of Agriculture. Geo. M. Briggs, also of the College of Agriculture, will be present to help inject humor and entertainment into the program.

BARLEY, CASH CROP AND FERTILIZER MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED

The barley, cash crop and fertilizer meetings held at Allenton, Richfield and Hartford on Thursday and Friday were well attended by neighboring farmers. The meetings began with a discussion on canning peas and an explanation of the 1942 canning factory contracts. This talk was presented by E. J. Delwiche, who is manager of the belcon experiment stations of Wisconsin and who recently spent several weeks in Washington, D. C., helping to prepare the government's estimate of the 1942 output of canned vegetables. He pointed out that the government will need at least one-third more canning peas in 1942 than was produced during the past year. He indicated further that canning factories selling canned peas for military food supplies will pay seven-eighths of a cent per pound more, on the average, for canning peas during the coming season than was paid in 1940.

R. A. Vaughan, plant disease specialist of the College of Agriculture, discussed the relation of plant disease and crop yields. Mr. Vaughan urged farmers to plant only seed stock from healthy fields and to treat this seed before planting. Such seed grain treatments may be done by the farmers themselves or by either the Hartford or West Bend High school agricultural departments. It costs about 6 to 7 cents per bushel to treat grain.

The soybean is another cash crop which is going to be in great demand for the next few years. Soybean oil is in great demand for aeroplane lubrication. To increase greater soybean production the price has been increased so that soybean growers can get about as much per acre as barley growers. George Briggs, noted authority on soybeans, recommended the Manchu No. 3 bean as the one best adapted to southeastern Wisconsin. The Mukden bean was spoken of as also being well suited to this region. Redwing flax was recommended as being superior to the Bison variety.

The increased use of agricultural lime and commercial fertilizers was explained by C. J. Chapman, soil chemist of the College of Agriculture. He pointed out that no matter what the cost of the preparations for the present world war may be, the conflict will come to a close some day. There will still be millions of people on this earth whose chief concern will be for food, clothing, shelter and a desire for comforts and some luxuries of life. The big question, then as now, will be "what does the future hold in store for coming generations?" Hence the great need for improving and conserving our soil.

He pointed out that more than 4,000,000 tons of lime have been applied to our soils in recent years, and that the application of this lime has resulted in the growing of more than a million acres of alfalfa. The growing of this huge acreage of alfalfa has saved the Wisconsin dairymen much money in the purchasing of commercial dairy feeds. County Agent E. E. Skalsiskey, who is in charge of these farm institute meetings, spoke on the increases in the use of commercial fertilizers in Washington county. He traced the increase in the use of commercial fertilizers from only a few tons of already ordered for the 1942 crop year. This great increase in the use of commercial fertilizers, he said, was due to the increased yields, and to the soil building properties it makes possible in increasing the chances of obtaining hay crop stands.

Mr. Skalsiskey concluded his talk by calling attention to the fact that the intelligent and conservative use of commercial fertilizers requires that a soil testing program be also carried on. Often money can be saved by the purchase of specifically needed fertilizers rather than the purchase of fertilizers generally used.

This series of institute meetings was attended by approximately 350 farmers. Attendance prizes at the Allenton meeting were won by the following: Herman Engeleiter, Allenton, Route 1, 24 lb. bag rye flour; Joe Matenaar, West Bend, Route 1, 3 lbs. coffee; Gerhard Ritger, Allenton, R. 1, 100 lbs. salt; W. Friedman, West Bend, Route 3, work shirt; Eugene Rottlinger, West Bend, Route 3, 50 lb. sack of flour; John Gales, Kewaskum, Route 3, 50 lb. sack of flour.

The attendance prizes were donated by the Farmers Mercantile company and the Ray Jonas elevator, both of Allenton.

With U. S. Para-Ski Troopers

Para-ski troopers in training near Salt Lake City are advancing rapidly from embryo skiers to full-fledged experts. Some of these trainees had never seen snow until they arrived here for this training period.

Troopers move swiftly and silently on cross country training run. Beautiful Mt. Superior can be seen in the background.

Gliding swiftly and silently atop Mt. Baldy, para-ski troopers take on moral and physical fiber.

Mineral Wool Insulation
The oldest modern house insulation is mineral wool, which was first made in Wales, England, in 1840. It was brought over to this country in 1867 when it was, even then, used to protect houses against winter cold and summer heat. One of the oldest existing installations of such insulation is the home of Noah Hockman in Salem, Va., which was insulated in 1882. The mineral wool used there is still in perfect condition.

Cat's Vision at Night
Experiments at the University of California seem to indicate that cats see in the dark better than we can—an old belief long scoffed at by science. The new research shows night blindness resulting from a vitamin A deficiency. Foods extra rich in vitamin A are milk, liver, fish—all relished by cats. Green things high in vitamin A are escarole, dandelions, parsley, endive, kale. Begin eating them young, girls, to strengthen eyes and dodge glasses.

A Good Trick
Rounding a corner in a wild swerve, the taxi-driver ignored a traffic policeman's signal and just missed his feet, avoided the street island by a bare inch, and grazed a bus—just like that!
The policeman hailed him, and then strolled towards him, drawing a big handkerchief from his pocket on the way.
"Listen cowboy!" he growled. "On your way back I'll drop this, and see if you can pick it up with your teeth."

He Looked It
The colored soldier had been peeling potatoes until his hands ached. Turning to a fellow K.P. he said: "What d'you suppose dat sergeant mean when he call us K.P.?"
"Ah dunno," replied his co-worker. "But from de look on his face, Ah thinks he meant 'Keep Peeling.'"

Reception Was Warm
"And when were you born?" the sergeant asked the recruit.
"December, 1917," was the reply.
"Ah," mused the sergeant, "I well remember that winter. It was bitterly cold."
"Cold!" echoed the recruit. "I'll say it was cold. I was brought by a penguin—the stork couldn't make it!"

VIEWPOINT
Our part we must do in a terrible war—
A victory final we seek;
So forward to rescue the world (maybe more)—
On forty-four hours a week!
No time's to be lost in this job that's ahead—
Our efforts must rapidly soar;
So let our endeavors be rapidly spread
On forty-four hours, no more!
The world is on fire; we feel the hot flames;
Around us we see the walls fall;
So into the blaze and the holocaust, James!
For forty-four hours, that's all!

The enemy, ruthless, is at us full tilt,
Our lives and our homes are at stake;
So into the fight in which no one can wilt—
Unless the work limit we break!
We never have faced such a terrible fight—
Defeat is a possible fact;
So over the ramparts with all of our might—
Observing the Walsh-Healy act!
Like slaves we would live if the enemy won
And get a few pennies per day,
So into the battle! And no ordeal shun—
Excepting one affecting our PAY!
A barbarous foe's winning great victories—
He stops at no outrage or crime;
So forward to bring the beast down on his knees—
UNLESS IT INVOLVES OVERTIME!

What's causing all those Florida train wrecks? The last one was a head-on collision in broad daylight, and Elmer Twitchell suspects that the racing influence being what it is down that way, somebody thought the trip was a jumping event.

That would seem to make him pretty much a man of the hour if you ask us.
Why Congressional Speech Readers Go Mad
Mr. Snyder: "Mr. Chairman, we are now engaged in a most stupendous and destructive war . . . The question confronting us today is what we, the democracies, must continue to do, or must initiate and do, to eventually win. The University of Pittsburgh's football team last fall started off by losing to small colleges like Westminster. They lost every game except the next to the last one. Fordham had won every game and was looked upon to be the outstanding contender for the Rose Bowl invitation. Fordham went to Pittsburgh to play their annual game. Only a few thousand people turned out because they thought it would be a pushover at 100 to 1 for Fordham. But what happened? Pittsburgh's football team pulled itself together and ran over Fordham."
"Mr. Chairman, I mention this because it is appropriate and applicable to our world situation. What enabled Pittsburgh to win that day? Only one thing, spirit and determination."—Congressional Record.
Now that that's all cleared up, let's go!

"It would be awkward—because—well, I'm already married."

step nearer. "Like you all the better for that, Jan. Crazy about you. Now I'll never let you go. You know that you love me. I'll forgive you this school-girl trick. We'll be married here."

"Oh, no, we won't." Who was speaking? Janice listened to the voice which seemed like her own, yet not her own, which came from a long way off. "It would be awkward—because—well, because I'm already married."

"Married!" His grip on her shoulder tightened till it hurt. "Married!" He turned her toward him. "What's the matter with your face? Does friend husband beat you up? To whom are you married?"

The strange voice so like her own yet not her own answered promptly. "To Bruce Harcourt. I—"

She turned at a curious sound. Behind Tubby Grant, whose green eyes bulged, whose boyish mouth sagged in surprise, stood Bruce Harcourt.

His eyes steadily compelling her eyes, it seemed hours to Janice before he spoke. Then he said evenly: "Met an acquaintance, Jan?"

Paxton laughed. Anticipated the girl's answer. "An acquaintance! I am the man she was to marry. Is to marry. Just who are you?"

"Bruce Harcourt. Janice told you that she was already married to me. After that, your boast is an insult to her and to me."

Janice stepped between the two men as he took a step forward. What evil spirit had prompted her to drag Bruce into the mixup? But Harcourt laid a silencing hand on her shoulder. He ignored the blond man regarding them with skeptical amusement.

"We must be off, Janice. Found orders here which will take us back at once."

Paxton laughed indulgently. "Don't linger on my account, Jan. I know where to find you. Sent my boat up the coast; I am to join it by plane. Life may be real, life may be earned in this wilderness, but I'll be fed up by the time I arrive. You'll be fed up on it, be Reno-minded and raring to get back to the Great White Way."

Harcourt reached for him. Janice blocked his advance with all her strength. "Bruce! Bruce! Don't make a scene here—please."

With a laugh and a mocking bow Paxton backed away. "I'm terribly sorry. I didn't know why I said it."

"Said what?" "That you—that I—oh, don't make me repeat it. You know."

"Come." He slipped his arm within hers and led her to the sunny room in which they had breakfasted.

"Sit down, Janice. I want to talk to you." Harcourt leaned against the table, arms crossed on his chest.

"Although his name wasn't mentioned I gathered that the man was Paxton?" she nodded assent. "Why did you barricade yourself behind a lie?"

"Someone touched me on the shoulder. I looked up expecting to see Mr. Grant. When I saw Ned, a sense of unreasoning terror, panic, stamped me. The thought—if you can call my mental process thinking—was to put an unscalable wall between us. I had been so happy all morning."

"You had been happy?" "Gorgeously. When I looked up and saw that man it was like—like a plunge back into the nightmare of those weeks before you found my slipper. When he said that someone who had seen my picture in the paper had radioed him my whereabouts."

"Did he say who?" "No. When he said, 'We'll be married here,' I heard a voice, which didn't seem to be mine, retort: 'That would be awkward, because—well, because I am already married,' and then he said—"

"That being the case there is only one thing to be done now. Remember that yesterday I told you I had a plan? It won't interfere in the least

TO YOUR Good Health

by DR. NATHAN S. DAVIS, III

PLANT FOR HEALTH

"Malnutrition presents a greater danger than any Nazi propaganda" is a statement recently made by Dr. Russel M. Wilder, chairman of the committee on food and nutrition of the National Research Council. It is much more dangerous for whether there be world peace or world war, improper food will lower the standards of health, the efficiency and the strength of the people.

A diet lacking in one or more of the elements necessary to health, if it is not great, reduces the resistance to disease and may be a long cause when continued over a long time of some of the degenerative diseases of advancing years; if it is great, it causes diseases such as scurvy, rickets, beriberi or pellagra. Most of the men now being found unfit for military service are disqualified for diseases or conditions that are directly or indirectly due to the nutrition they have received during the past ten years or so.

The deficient diets that have been responsible for this state of affairs are in part due to poverty and the inability to buy the necessary foods; in part to the methods used in milling, canning, and otherwise treating or preserving foods; in part to the methods used in cooking them; in part to the effect of fads, fancies, and familial habits in their selection; but to a large extent to a lack of production of certain foods or to their production on ground that is deficient in certain mineral or nitrogen containing elements. The secretary of agriculture, Mr. Wickard, has said that in the United States, for the first time in history, it is now possible to produce all of the foods essential to health in quantities sufficient to the needs of the people but this can only be done with the full co-operation of all of the farmers. Others must learn how to mill, can, process and preserve foods so that they will retain more of their nutritional value.

But unless the farmers grow enough fruit and vegetables, produce enough beef, pork, lamb, poultry, eggs and dairy products to go around, man will continue to be improperly nourished.

The advances in our knowledge of nutrition have been great in recent years. It has developed to a point where for the first time in history it is possible to state what foods should be included in the diet of all the people and the quantities each should have. It may be found as time goes on that the proportions now being recommended are not quite right and that some things are omitted or not specifically included such as citrus fruits or tomatoes.

However, if the farmers could be persuaded to plan to produce in 1942, enough fruit, vegetables, meat, poultry and dairy products to satisfy at least the needs of the people of the United States and if the people will eat what is so provided for them, the nation would be stronger, would have more people fit for peace time or war time work or for military and naval service, would have less disease and a higher standard of health. Will they make this contribution to the public welfare and to the health of the nation? Of course they will. While proportionately less numerous than in years gone by, they still constitute the backbone of the nation and supply our finest men and women in all fields.

"Our health is also determined to a large extent by nutrition, not by the quality of the food but also by its quantity. What we consume may not only be good or bad, but also too little or too much."

—Max von Pettenkofer.

QUESTION BOX
Send questions to Dr. Nathan S. Davis III, Winnetka, Ill. (Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.)

Q.—What causes receding gums?
F. F.
A.—Pyorrhoea alveolaris. Improper nutrition may be a contributory cause.

Q.—In the spring and fall my scalp becomes unbearably itchy and the hair falls out freely. What is causing this?
C. W. G.
A.—Probably some change in diet or clothing though the change in weather might cause it.

Q.—Can one detect signs of tuberculosis in its early stages?
A.—Early tuberculosis can only be detected for certain by X-rays.

Q.—What is the basis for sacroiliac discomfort and how can it best be relieved?
D. C.
A.—It may be due to a strain, to rheumatism, to involvement of the spine or pelvis by malignant disease, to intestinal trouble or to disease of the pelvic organs. When your doctor has determined the cause, he will be able to prescribe suitable treatment.

Q.—I have a question about my teeth.
A.—I am sorry I did it, really I'm not. I'd do it again this minute.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

1502-B

WHEN you wear this charming frock your best friends will query you, "my aren't you getting slim?"—for your waistline will just melt away under the slenderizing influence of this smartly shaped girle. It is the feature of Pattern No. 1502-B which makes it one every size 12 to 40 should want!

The frock has youth and femininity, too, expressed in an attractive open neckline, a full shapely bodice, which fits smoothly over the bustline, a skirt which flares to a wide hem and perky, puffed sleeves.

Correct for any occasion—work, study or fun, this dress is simple to make and can be effective in many fabrics—challis, printed rayon crepes, bengaline, or light weight wools. Later, for springs, you'll repeat the frock in washable cottons and linens! Finish it with lace, braid or ric-rac and a cheerful row of tiny buttons.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1502-B is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust measurements 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 (32) requires 3 1/2 yards 38-inch material, 2 1/2 yards edging. Send your order to:

Perhaps Joe Was Out to Set a Non-Stop Record

A Negro called upon an old friend, who received him in a rocking-chair. The visitor noticed not only that his host did not rise, but that he continued to rock himself to and fro in a curious way. "Yo' ain't ill, is you, Joe?" he asked, anxiously.

"No, I ain't ill, Mose."

There was a moment's silence during which the caller gazed wide-eyed at the rocking figure. "Den," continued Mose, "why does yo' rock yo'self dat way all de time?"

"Well," explained Joe, "yo know Bill Blott? He sold me a silver watch cheap, an' if I stop moving, dat watch won't go!"

SUPPLIES AND SERVICE

The supplies and service committee held a very interesting meeting March 3 under the chairmanship of W. E. Buchelt, and with 100% attendance. Many preliminary suggestions were discussed together with duties and plans for the committee functions. Several questions were brought up regarding equipment in the city and county, along with plans for improvement. The question of radio equipment for city police in West Bend was discussed at length.

The primary duties of the supplies and service committee will involve working with many other committees in our civilian defense program. Mr. Buchelt reported his committee was in the process of co-ordinating his committee's efforts with other committees where duties overlapped.

AVIATION COMMITTEE HELD FIRST MEETING FRIDAY

Chairman Lobel called the first meeting of the aviation committee on Friday, March 5. As outlined by the state aviation branch, the local committee made extensive plans for development in our county. Although no action was taken, locations for landing strips are being studied for definite selection at a later date.

In this connection, the West Bend airport is one of only 18 in the entire state which is open 24 hours a day. It is equipped with siren and has a guard on duty at all times. Wherever possible, the West Bend airport and the aviation committee are co-operating with the state air organization.

SCOUTIN' AROUND

The Boy Scouts are collecting defense materials such as newspapers, scrap paper, cardboard, rags, rubber and metals. Each scout has a certain district and is instructed to get the materials regularly every other week. We ask that the people lay the newspapers flat and that they separate the scrap paper from the newspaper. Will the people please put their materials at some convenient place outside the house where the scout can pick it up every other week. The Boy Scout will make arrangements with the people in his district when he will collect it.

We invite all boys who are twelve or over to join the Boy Scouts. We will meet Monday, March 16, on the third floor of the high school in Mr. Gibson's room at 3:30 p. m. We have a lot of fun because we go hiking, camping and play many different games.

K-M BASEBALL LEAGUE WILL MEET TO PLAN 1942 SEASON

The Kettle Moraine baseball league will hold a meeting at Cascade Sunday afternoon, March 15, at 2 p. m. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans for the 1942 season. Because of the war and national defense work the officers have not made many plans for the new season and they urge all interested parties to attend the meeting so plans suitable to all teams may be put in effect.

Invitations to attend the meeting have been sent to the eight teams which competed in the league last season and to Boltonville, Batavia and Random Lake. Some teams will consolidate, because many of the teams have lost players to the armed forces.

PEACE EVANGELICAL AND REFORMED CHURCH

The Sunday school teachers held their regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. Friday, the 13th.

On Saturday morning the confirmands will come to the church parlors for instruction at 9:00 a. m.

The Sunday school session will meet at 8:45 a. m. Sunday morning, and an English worship service will follow at 9:45. Worship in German will also be observed at 10:45.

The junior choir will rehearse at 6:45 p. m. Monday the 16th, after which at 7:30 the senior choir will practice.

Mid-week Lenten services will be held at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday, the 18th of March.

Rev. R. G. Beck, Pastor

Produce Vitamins Says County Defense Group

With the growing importance of "Vitamins for Victory," a defense garden committee has been appointed by the Washington County Council of Defense to promote planning of gardening activities in the cities and residence localities. Mrs. Ida Wiebe will serve as chairman of these activities in the cities and villages of our county and Mr. Skalsky, county agricultural agent, will supervise the farmer's efforts in the defense garden program. The West Bend Garden club will assist Mrs. Wiebe in co-ordinating the county activities.

In an address before the National Defense Garden conference in Washington, D. C., Hon. Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, suggested that a carefully planned program be used in the cities and villages. He particularly wanted to eliminate the mistake which we made in 1917 and 1918 when beautiful lawns and parks were plowed up and which resulted in a great over-production and later a greater waste of food.

Nutrition is pretty much the basis of the planning of the defense garden program. Everyone of our defense workers in field and factory, as well as our soldiers, need healthful and substantial food in order to maintain higher standards of efficiency. Many of our allies will need huge supplies of food. In addition to that, there are many under-nourished families, not for lack of quantity of food, but because of poor selection and planning. Therefore, the permanent results coming out of the defense garden program will probably be a better balanced diet and more healthful citizens. Regardless of how long the war lasts, this home-front battle will go on.

In spite of the emphasis being placed on vegetable and fruit production in home gardens, it is also important that we retain some of our flowers and plants. A few flowers is a major recreation with many citizens. It requires only a small expenditure and just a few materials to bring much enjoyment, beauty and stronger morale. So keep up your flower activities, but also plan to do vegetable and fruit gardening where possible and on a planned basis.

To those who want to garden but who do not have space or suitable soil in their own yard, the garden club hopes to find areas available which you can share with others. There will be additional announcements regarding the availability of garden space in the next few weeks.
