

John Weddig Dies Suddenly; August Miller, 85, Also Called

AUGUST MILLER
August Miller, aged 85 years, four months and 23 days, venerable and widely known farm resident of the town of Kewaskum all his life, passed away at St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, at 7:35 a. m. on Thursday, of this week, March 26, following a serious illness of nearly three weeks. His death occurred just three days less than three months after that of Mrs. Miller, who died at the same hospital on Dec. 29, 1941. Mr. Miller was taken to the hospital on March 10 after suffering a stroke which completely paralyzed one side of his body and he sank steadily until the end came.

An early pioneer of the town of Kewaskum, Mr. Miller was born on the Miller homestead located about 2 1/2 miles northeast of the village on Nov. 1, 1856. His entire life was spent on this farm. Since the death of his wife, however, he had been residing with his children in Kewaskum and Milwaukee until suffering the stroke. Mrs. Miller's demise also resulted from a stroke which occurred while she was at work in the yard of the Miller farm.

Mr. Miller's marriage to Ulricka Backhaus took place Nov. 17, 1885, in the old Moldenhauer church in the town of Kewaskum. The couple settled on the present homestead following their marriage and operated the farm over a period of 56 years together. Although advanced in age, Mr. and Mrs. Miller were very active and operated the farm alone until the time of Mrs. Miller's stroke. The farm was sold three days before Mr. Miller was stricken. In 1935 the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and in November of 1941 observed the 56th date of their marriage.

Mr. Miller was the father of three sons and three daughters. Two sons predeceased him, namely Otto, who died in infancy, and Reinhardt, who died in 1927. Surviving are the three daughters, Anna (Mrs. Otto Backhaus) of this village, Elsie (Mrs. Wm. Bassil) of Milwaukee, and Selma (Mrs. Herbert Backhaus) of the village and one son, Edwin, of Milwaukee; 13 grandchildren; five great-grandchildren and two nephews.

The body is lying in state at the Teichman funeral home, from where funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, March 29, to the St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran church, whose services will be at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Gerhard Knieser will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery beside his wife. May they be united in death as they were in life.

The same young men who carried the body to her last resting place will act as pallbearers. They are Herbert and Howard Backhaus, Carl Stamm, Milton Eisenrath, Lloyd Lynn and Alex Schnepf.

Mr. Miller was one of the true and hard types of men and although he reached a ripe old age his death is felt as a great loss to the community. His life was filled with accomplishment, with hard honest work. Indeed, he was an upright citizen and respectable husband and father. After all these years together Mr. and Mrs. Miller are gone and the homestead left to their children. We join in extensive sincere condolence to the survivors.

JOHN RILLING
John F. Rilling Sr., aged 81 years, one month and 16 days, passed away at 11:20 p. m. on Friday, March 29, at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Endlich, who reside in the town of Kewaskum just beyond the south-village limits. The venerable Mr. Rilling had been ill the past year with a complication of diseases.

Deceased was born Feb. 4, 1861 in the town of Barton, where he resided as a boy. He moved to the town of Farmington when a young man and later established residences at Hilbert and Oshkosh before coming to make his home with his son-in-law and daughter here five years ago. In 1883 he was married to Sophia Werner, who predeceased him a number of years ago.

Mr. Rilling was the father of seven children, all of whom survive. They are Mrs. Sophia Smith of Minneapolis, Minn., Jacob of Abbottsford, Wis., Elizabeth (Mrs. William Endlich) of here, Marie (Mrs. William Larson) of Mr. and Mrs. John Bremser of R. 1, Kewaskum, and a Kewaskum high school student, submitted to an appendectomy at St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, on Thursday, March 19.

Otto Backhaus was allowed to return home last week end from Columbia hospital, Milwaukee, where he was confined six days undergoing medical treatment. Although the treatments were very painful, he is up and around again.

26 More County Men Inducted Into Army

Twenty-six more young selectees from Washington county were inducted into the U. S. armed forces Saturday morning, March 21. The men, who were required to be at the court house in West Bend at 9 a. m. that day, left for Fort Sheridan, Ill., by Greyhound bus.

The quota of men left under the leadership of Atty. Raymond W. Kuehlthau, with Francis D. Goetz acting as assistant leader. Before the men left roll call was taken and the group received their instructions before a large crowd of relatives and friends. George A. Kolb, veteran of World War 1 and present county service officer, briefly addressed the men and offered them words of counsel. The contingent left for Fort Sheridan at about 9:30 a. m. None of those inducted were from Kewaskum. Two Kewaskum men were examined with the group but one, Pvt. Russell Heisler, enlisted and the other, William Martin, was deferred. The following were inducted:

West Bend—Edgar A. Giese, Reuben C. Yoost, Louis H. Endlich, Raymond W. Kuehlthau, Walter M. Goring, Fred A. Backus, Richard A. Kellbach, Merlin H. Graf, Harold O. Behling, John C. Klumb, Alois C. Raab.

Germania—Gerald G. Klevenow, Elmer W. Lemke, John F. Kosterman, Barton—Harold D. Clemens, Frank A. Yeadeke.

Rockfield—Carl J. Otto, Richard E. Sonnenberg.

Hartford—Newell S. Metcalf, Edwin E. Volesky.

Richfield—Robert P. Weber, Lawrence C. Neuberg.

Jackson—Arthur T. Ritterbusch, Slinger—Richard Rosenheimer.

NEXT REGISTRATION
The next selective service registration has been set tentatively for late spring or early summer at which time men between 45 and 64 years of age and those of 18 and 19 years old will be enrolled. These are not liable to compulsory military service and it has not been decided whether the two groups will be registered at the same time or separately.

Men not summoned to army duty eventually might be required to do essential war work of other kinds. A new opinion by the national selective service board of review raised a likelihood of general deferment for men whose wives are expecting a child. Such deferment would be granted at the discretion of the local boards.

TONY UELMEN TO BE INDUCTED
Anthony M. "Tony" Uelmen, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Uelmen of this village, is one of 39 men who will be inducted into the army at Fort Sheridan, Ill. next Thursday, April 2, by Local Draft Board No. 3 of Milwaukee at 920 N. Jackson st. in that city.

Tony, a graduate of the Kewaskum high school, is employed as a truck driver in Milwaukee. He resides at 926 N. Jackson st. His elder brother, Joseph Uelmen, who is also employed in Milwaukee, is scheduled to be inducted in the near future. If he passes, this will be the fourth set of Kewaskum brothers in the armed forces.

FIREMEN CALLED TO BLAZE AT DR. BRAUCHLE'S OFFICE

The fire department was called out by the siren Saturday noon when a blaze was discovered in Dr. Leo Brauchle's dental office on the second floor of the Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance company building on Fond du Lac avenue. The flames were first discovered from the street by Nic. Stoffel, who saw the curtain in a front window in flames. An alarm was relayed from the Rex Garage to Fire Chief Harry Schaefer and he in turn had the siren sounded.

Dr. Brauchle had placed an electric motor on a stand aside of the window before leaving for lunch. The motor was still hot after being used and apparently a spark caused by a short in the wiring ignited either the curtain or a stack of papers next to the motor. When firemen gained entrance to the office only the papers were burning. Only damage was the burned off curtain.

HOSPITAL NEWS
Mrs. Henry Rosenheimer of this village underwent an operation at the Milwaukee hospital Friday, March 20. She was expected to return home on Friday of this week.

Miss Mary Bremser, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bremser of R. 1, Kewaskum, and a Kewaskum high school student, submitted to an appendectomy at St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, on Thursday, March 19.

Otto Backhaus was allowed to return home last week end from Columbia hospital, Milwaukee, where he was confined six days undergoing medical treatment. Although the treatments were very painful, he is up and around again.

Opposition For Two Offices in Village at Election April 7

Monday, March 23, the deadline for candidates for office to file nomination papers with Village Clerk Carl J. Schaefer, found that there will be two aspirants for the office of village president at the spring election Tuesday, April 7. Opposition also developed for the offices of trustee, there being five aspirants for the three posts. No opposition is found in the other offices to be filled at this year's election.

Atty. Lyle W. Bartelt and Charles Miller are the two candidates for the office of village president to succeed the incumbent of the office holder, A. P. Schaefer, who failed to file nomination papers. John Van Blarcom, Arnold Martin and Bernard Sell, incumbent trustees whose two-year terms expire, are candidates for reelection. The two new aspirants who will oppose them are Herman Belger and Walter Belger. The other three trustees who hold office for another year are Norbert Dogs, K. A. Honeck and Dr. F. E. Nolting. All other offices are for one-year terms.

Incumbent officers who will be unopposed for re-election are John Marx, treasurer; Carl F. Schaefer, clerk; Joseph Mayer, assessor, and E. M. Romaine, supervisor. No candidates filed papers for the posts of justice of the peace and constable. Voting April 7 will be in the village hall.

County First in U. S. to Finish China Relief Drive

A letter has been received at the Washington County Council of Defense headquarters from the national headquarters of the United China Relief drive advising that Washington county was the first county in the United States to report the China relief campaign completed. The letter, addressed to Baldis Rolfs of West Bend, chairman of the drive in Washington county, reads in part as follows:

"May I compliment you on being not only the first chairman to report his campaign completed but also the first chairman to report a 17% over-subscription.

"Congratulations! This is a fine piece of work and very inspiring to us. You said your community have set a high standard for all the other communities in the United States of America."

SCOUTING AROUND

The Boy Scouts met on Monday, March 23, at 3:30 p. m. Roll call was taken and three scouts were absent. We had one visitor, Merlin Dreher, who plans on becoming a scout.

We talked about the materials which we have collected. We have about three or four tons of paper besides rubber, rags and metal. We met on Monday evening at the village hall to pack the card board and clean up the scrap paper.

We talked about tests. Eugene Keller and Johnny Geidel are working on their tenderfoot requirements. Jerome Stautz and Donald Mertes are working on their second class requirements. Johnny Stellinghoff, Olie Staehler Jr., Gilbert Sell, Clayton Stautz and Bob Schmidt are working on their first class requirements. We plan on having a court of honor in the near future.

Mr. Gibson is our scoutmaster and our Boy Scout committee consist of Fred Juss, Clifford Stautz and Rev. Frank LaBue.

Bob Schmidt, Scribe

PARISH CARD PARTY

CLOSED GOOD FRIDAY

The Bank of Kewaskum will be closed from 12 noon until 3 p. m. on Friday, April 3, in observance of Good Friday. Most other business places in Kewaskum will also be closed during these hours.

Good productive pastures will be needed in every farm if Wisconsin dairymen are to meet the goals set in the Food-for-Victory program.

Caucus Held in Towns Kewaskum & Auburn

The annual caucus of the town of Kewaskum was held on Saturday in the Modern Woodmen hall in this village to nominate candidates for the April election. A small vote was cast due to a lack of opposition. The only opposition was for the office of clerk between Wm. Endlich and Alfred Seefeldt. The latter received 13 votes more than Endlich, however, both candidates will have their names on the election ballot. Votes received in caucus were as follows: Chairman—Ed. J. Campbell 61. Supervisor No. 1—Wm. C. Backhaus 54. Supervisor No. 2—J. S. T. Schoofs 50. Clerk—Wm. Endlich 25; Alfred H. Seefeldt 28. Treasurer—Martin Schmidt 58. Assessor—John Etta 50. There were no candidates for justice of the peace.

TOWN OF AUBURN

The town of Auburn caucus was held at Alfred Firks's shop in New Fane on Friday. The township supervisor, William Wunder, will have opposition at the spring election. He will be opposed by Harry Odekirk. Other nominees are Joseph Volz and Albert Krief, Sr., side supervisors; Reuben Backhaus, clerk; Joseph Schiltz, treasurer; Elmer Krueger, assessor; Adolph Heberer, justice of the peace (full term); Alfred Firks, justice of the peace (one year), and Rudy Kolafa and Art. Petermann, constables.

Local Students Win in League Forensics

Kewaskum high school, along with Lomira, Slinger and Campbellsport, competed in the Tri-County league forensic contest at Campbellsport, Friday afternoon and evening. Kewaskum won a first and two seconds in the contests.

The oratory and extemporaneous reading contests were held in the afternoon. There were only five contestants in oratory but there were eight readers. In oratory Leonard Huff, Lomira, won first, and Alan Krueger, Campbellsport, second. Helen Perber, Kewaskum representative, failed to place. In reading Eloise Weber, Campbellsport, placed first, and Mary Hilbert, Lomira, second. Bernice Meyer and Donald Koerber failed to place for Kewaskum.

In the evening the serious and humorous declamatory and extemporaneous speaking contests were held. Serious declamatory winners were Joan Steiner, Lomira, first, and Dolores Mae Stoffel, Kewaskum, second. Marie W. Hunschoffe, Lomira, and Fay's Heimer, Campbellsport, won first and second in humorous declamatory. Beatrice Hafemann represented Kewaskum. Kewaskum placed both first and second in extemporaneous speaking with David Bartelt and Ray Vyvyan taking the honors respectively.

On Tuesday afternoon, Mar. 24, all first and second place winners competed in the sub-district contest at Waupun. None of the Kewaskum contestants were successful in their attempts at winning there.

PARENTS OF DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Elwyn Romaine of this village became grandparents for the first time on Thursday morning, March 26, when a 6-pound daughter was born to their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hopkins, at St. Joseph's Community hospital, West Bend, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins reside in Milwaukee but for the past couple of months Mrs. Hopkins, since her husband has been assigned to the South for an extended time attending to business.

ON PAY DAY, BUY BONDS

Salvage Week Drive April 6-11; Field Day in Kewaskum on 11th

Two Couples Move Here; Others Change Residence

As a result of recent transactions several people are moving to Kewaskum, other local people are changing residences, and farms have been sold or rented.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frauenheim moved their household goods from their farm near Boltonville, located on Random Lake route, to the Luis Bunkelmann home on East Water st. adjoining the village park, which the Frauenheims have purchased. The Frauenheim farm was sold recently for a fine price of some twenty thousand dollars. Mr. and Mrs. Bunkelmann and family are temporarily residing with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meinecke before moving into the other house owned by them on Fond du Lac avenue. They expect to move as soon as the present occupants, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hrbacek, and son find a different place.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Breseman will move from their farm in the town of Wayne next week into the George Reindel home on Clinton street which they rented. Mr. Breseman recently held an auction and sold his farm. The Reindel home was vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Reindel, who moved onto a farm near Elmore about a month ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schaefer have moved into their beautiful new home in the village, construction of which was completed recently. The new building is located next door on the west side of their former residence. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller have rented the lower apartment in the home vacated by the Schaefer and Mr. Miller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edw. F. Miller, will rent the upstairs apartment. The new occupants will move next week. Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Miller from the upper flat of the Wm. Backhaus house on N. Fond du Lac ave. Mr. and Mrs. Edw. F. Miller's home above the Miller furniture store was destroyed by fire a couple of months ago. It is reported that Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Kneser had made plans to move into the Backhaus house from the Driessel home.

FARMS SOLD, RENTED

Henry Wilke sold his 100-acre farm in the town of Wayne last week to Henry Jack of St. Killan. Mr. Wilke bought the Chas. Breseman farm of 104 acres in the town of Wayne, consideration private. Possession will be given both parties April 1. Mr. Wilke is a son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Breseman.

Herbert Schmitt of near St. Killan has rented the Martin Liesenfeld farm there which had been occupied by Adolph Leichte the past four years.

Eberle's Dogs Win Again; Princess Now a Champion

Two of Joe Eberle's famous beagle hounds scored again in the judging of the best breeds, at the thirtieth annual Mississippi Valley Kennel club bench show held at St. Louis, Mo., Saturday and Sunday. The dogs, handled by a professional handler, earned a number of additional honors and trophies to add to Joe's large collection. The local beagle fancier is president of the Wisconsin Beagle club.

Eberle's Princess was best of winners in the 15-inch class, including both males and females. This win makes her a full-fledged champion and ineligible for further bench show competition as she has earned all necessary points and highest honors possible. Princess was the sixth bench show champion to come out of Eberle's kennels in recent years. Joe also has a long list of winners in the field.

Eberle's Blackout, young female shown for the first time in the St. Louis show, was best of winners in the 13-inch class and won five points toward her championship rating.

LADIES' AID BUYS $100 BOND

At the February meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran church, the members enthusiastically voted to appropriate some of their savings toward the purchase of a $100.00 defense bond. The bond was received by the Ladies' Aid treasurer in time for the March meeting.

BASEBALL MEETING

The officers of the Kewaskum baseball club have called a meeting for Monday evening, Mar. 30, to discuss plans for the 1942 season. The meeting will be held at the Grand View lunch room and all interested are invited to attend.

Scrap Materials Wanted at Eight Centers in County; Defense Bonds Given in Prizes; Ted Schmidt Vice-Chairman

The week of April 6 to 11 has been designated as "salvage week" for Washington County. Salvage committee. During the week an intensive drive will be made throughout the county for scrap materials, particularly metal, which are so badly needed in the present war emergency.

Four field days will be held to allow Washington county citizen, to collect and bring their scrap materials, especially metal, to eight shipping points in the county. Field days will be on April 8 at Germantown and Allenton, Apr. 9 at Jackson and Richfield, April 10 at West Bend and Slinger, and April 11 at Kewaskum and Hartford.

On the dates listed the people of the county are urged to bring their scrap materials to the collection and shipping center closest to them. Mr. Kenny says. Tickets will be issued, and prizes in the form of United States defense bonds will be awarded to the holders of the lucky numbers. Scrap dealers will be on hand to pay established, fair prices for the scrap.

It is the plan of the committee to complete the drive within a week's time, rather than to have it extend in a hit-or-miss method over a period of several months. It is pointed out that materials are badly needed immediately for use in the manufacture of armaments and that it is the patriotic duty of every real American to scour his premises for such materials.

The office of emergency management declares that "practically half of the steel which will go into the manufacture of the 60,000 planes, 45,000 tanks, 20,000 anti-aircraft guns, and 8,000,000 tons of new ships to be built this year will come from scrap piles. Forty-five million tons of scrap will be required. That is why town folks and farmers are continually urged to save every scrap of metal. The necessary tonnage will come from industrial salvage, the program cannot succeed without the co-operation of every individual—you, and you and you."

The county committee made a happy choice in picking April 6 as the date of beginning salvage week for the county, for that is the day that has been proclaimed by President Roosevelt as Army day. The President asked the nation to resolve firmly "to spare no effort which may contribute to the speedy creation of the arms and supplies indispensable to our citizens' army. . . ."

He said, "we are engaged in our greatest war, a war that will leave none of our lives wholly untouched—we shall win this war as we have every war we have fought. . . ."

Prior to the beginning of salvage week, every farmer and each city and village home owner in Washington county is requested to gather together any items of salvage he can find about his place. Among the items wanted are newspapers, magazines, cartons, old rubber, rags, bags, and metal, including worn out machinery parts, discarded tools, etc. Metal is wanted in particular because, it has already been shown, there is a crying need for it.

The farmers are especially urged to participate in salvage week, since it is the belief that many will find old machinery parts, worn out tools, and the like about their farms which will be of inestimable value in creating the war supplies so badly needed. They are particularly urged to bring such scrap materials to the shipping points already listed.

Fair and just prices will be paid for the scrap by the dealers in Washington county. They are Al. Luff and "Jerry" Richter of West Bend and Ben. Bezner and Louis Berlowitz of Hartford. The prices to be paid were confirmed at a meeting of these dealers and the county salvage committee chairman and vice chairman at West Bend last Friday. This will do away with any necessity for haggling over prices on the field days set.

Plans for salvage week were made at a meeting of the chairman, Mr. Kenny, and the two vice chairmen. Theodore R. Schmidt of Kewaskum for the northern half of the county and Basil I. Peterson of Hartford for the southern half, at Hartford on March 18. They met with the committee's precinct chairman and vice-chairmen for the towns of Polk, Germantown, Richfield, Hartford, and Erin; the villages of Slinger and Germantown, and the city of Hartford.

Committees for each precinct were organized at this meeting to call on every farmer and at every home in the southern half of the county. At each call a list of instructions will be

Wanna Buy a Horse?

A few months ago this question, if addressed to an automobile owner, would bring a laugh. Today the horse has the laugh. Out in the West and the Middle West horses are still plentiful, but in the East they are scarce. And yet there is a firm of horse auctioneers operating in Greater New York—Potters and Greenberg—where private sales on horses are held every day of the week and special auctions on Fridays. Photos show you what goes on.

This might pass for a picture of the Axis high command, but actually it is one of some of the steeds waiting to be auctioned off.

Not a gift horse. Deftly the buyer takes the horse's tongue in one hand and examines the teeth, to determine age.

Horses have many foot ailments, and seasoned horse traders know all about them and just what to look for.

Frequently a piece of harness goes on the block instead of a horse. Here you see a halter going to a bidder for three dollars. Auctioneer Greenberg is knocking it down.

This man has taken on the difficult job of selling a horse to the auctioneer.

When bidding lags on a horse the animal is made to strut his stuff, as shown here.

For Small Apartments
A likely aid to those who live in overcrowded apartments is a combination wardrobe and disappearing bed for small children. During the day it looks like and serves as a wardrobe. At night the wardrobe, mounted on casters, is turned around so the wardrobe compartment is toward the wall and the bed compartment toward the room. As the doors on the bedside of the wardrobe are opened the bed drops down to receive its occupant.

Provincial Furniture
The furniture that belongs to the village, the country or the small community is familiarly called provincial. It describes the domestic furniture of a country as opposed to that of the formal or regal home. The term originated in France to describe the charming everyday furniture of the people in contrast to the court styles of French furniture. Provincial now is used to describe various nationalities of everyday furniture.

OUR COMIC SECTION

AND THE KIDS
The daughter of the house arrived home one night looking very sad. "Whatever's the matter?" asked her mother. "Oh, I thought John loved me," the girl explained, "but now I know he's not going to propose—at least for some time." "How do you know?" asked her mother. "Because he sent me a big box of stationery with my initials on it—and there's enough to last for six months."

Pot o' Gold
He was well known for slowness in paying his debts, and his friends and acquaintances were tired of it. One day he said in the club: "I've been to every shop in town, and I'm dashed if I can get what I want." "What is it?" inquired a candid member. "Credit!"

Postponed
The daughter of the house arrived home one night looking very sad. "Whatever's the matter?" asked her mother. "Oh, I thought John loved me," the girl explained, "but now I know he's not going to propose—at least for some time." "How do you know?" asked her mother. "Because he sent me a big box of stationery with my initials on it—and there's enough to last for six months."

Small Fry
"Sammy, tell mama that papa will be detained at the office tonight," said his father. "All right, pop, but I'll hafta git up a new one for you. Ma's gittin' wise."

CLOSE QUARTERS
I jumped into the icy lake and dragged him in the boat. No hero's bows I want to take—I just had signed his note. —Merrill Chilcote.

Practical
Miss Nomer (romantically)—Ah, but a man with a past is so interesting. Miss Wise—Nix. I'm looking for one with a future.

THE WINNERS
The Kellys, the Lockards, the Casseys, the Andersons and the Lieutenant Coxes will win this war! . . . They and the other American kids, bred in the daredevil full-swinging, sock-it-out-the-park tradition . . . The boys too cocky, confident and courageous to doubt, quibble or hesitate . . . The youngsters who have not lived long enough to lose an illusion, to figure the percentages or to question their own impulses.

The Tom Sawyers, the Peck's Bad Boys, the Slat McGonigles and the Kayo McGanns . . .
The Yanks who are still young enough to believe Goliath was a pushover for David, that Jack the Giant Killer was under-written, and that Superman can be seen in any mirror . . . The buccoes who have had no dreams shattered, no hopes battered and no words destroyed . . . The boys who, with two strikes on 'em, can say, "Here's where I pickle one, ya bum!"

The Butch O'Hares, the Joe Moores, the "Jake" Schwartzes and the Grant Mahoneys they will do the job.
The boys too full of high hopes and self-confidence to worry about costs . . . The lads with pink cheeks and flashing eyes, ready for a fight or a frolic, able to sing before a rendezvous with death, able to look disaster in the face and give it the Bronx cheer. The kids whose impulses are foreign to the conference room, the staff huddle, the parleys; and whose minds say "Lemme at 'em!" and never, "Suppose the plan goes wrong?"

They'll sew it up . . . the "Skinnies," the "Reds," the "Spikes," the "Mickey's" and the "Freckles" of the sandlots, farms and campuses, born and raised in the spirit of high competition, split-second reflexes, hair-raising exploits and hits-in-the-pitches. The kids who have never learned to play safe . . . The bimboes who swing from the floor, get up when they're groggy, put over the hay-maker, pole out the homer with the bases full, race the length of the grid for a touchdown, hole out with a brassie shot . . .

The boys who are too young to ask "Suppose this doesn't work out according to plan?" "It's a good idea but will it stand analysis?" or "What's in it for me?" The youngsters who have never known the meaning of expediency. They will finish this war . . . The boys who rate many things above influence, prestige, cash, power and transportation by beach-wagon . . . The kids who are not protecting a past, trimming sails to meet the present or worrying about the future . . . The fellows who have never learned to compromise, haggle or defer . . . The ones with all the flaming imagination of children, the supreme confidence of the kid pitcher, the hell-for-leather gusto of the boy socker who comes to bat in the ninth with the bases full and two down . . .

The kids who have never had to have their blood pressure taken and who think a fallen arch has something to do with Pompeii. The youngsters who can never be imagined saying "Let's talk this over." "Hadden't we better wait for the breaks?" "Let's check and doublecheck before we do anything." The boys who rate "Zowie!" "Pow!" and "Wham!" as the three most expressive words in any language.

HERO

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

by Roger B. Whitman

Roger B. Whitman—WNU Service

MISPLACING HOUSE ON LOT

A HOME owner is much troubled because his new house is not squarely in the center of his plot. The house is the first one in a section, and the building of a second house two plots away has made him realize that his own house is 14 inches closer to one side of his plot than it should be.

Rusting Furnace

Question: My house is heated by hot water, with a rectangular boiler and an oil burner. I have had trouble with rusting of the smokepipe and of the furnace, and am taking your advice to take down the smokepipe during the idle seasons, and to spray with oil. If I do this, is it also necessary to leave the boiler doors open?

Concrete Porch Floor

Question: Would you advise putting concrete over an open deck porch of a brick veneer house? Would it be lasting?

Chromium Plate

Question: I have chromium plated faucets in my new bathroom, and to keep them looking new I used metal polish. To my sorrow this took off the silvery surface. How can I restore it?

Peeling Bricks

Question: Bricks under stone window sills are peeling. What is the cause and cure?

Killing Trees

Question: What can be done to kill a diseased tree, so that near-by trees will not be harmed? I do not want to go to the expense of cutting it down.

Swollen Door

Question: In rainy weather, our front door swells so that it cannot be closed. It is made of birch, 2 1/2 inches thick. Can this be corrected?

Painting Over Varnish

Question: Woodwork in my house is Geogin pine with several coats of varnish having a very hard and highly glossy surface. I would now like to refinish with paint. How can the varnish first be removed?

At the Best, Boys Were But Two Out of Three

Two brothers, in appearance very much alike, were being registered at school. "Are you two twins?" asked the teacher, smiling at the boys. "No, ma'am, we're not," replied the lads in unison. "You certainly look alike," returned the schoolmarm. "Then as the brothers filled in their forms, the teacher noted that they gave the same birthday. "But you said you weren't twins, yet you have the same birthday?" she queried. "That's right, we aren't twins," replied one, "we're what's here of triplets."

As We Think

Life is beautiful to whomsoever will think beautiful thoughts. There are no common people but they who think commonly and without imagination or beauty. Such are dull enough.—Kirkham.

Strangled Leopard

Probably the only white man who ever killed a leopard with his bare hands was Carl Akeley, famous American explorer, says Collier's. In British Somaliland in 1896, he shot and slightly wounded one and, before he could fire again, it leaped upon him. During the ensuing struggle, Akeley, although badly maulled, finally strangled the big cat.

When Emerson Forgot

Longfellow and Emerson were friends for 50 years. When Longfellow died, Emerson went to his friend's funeral. Passing the casket, Emerson paused a moment—and in a pathetic manner exclaimed: "I have forgotten the man's name who lies there, but he was a great soul."

More Raleigh Jingles

Raleigh Cigarettes are again offering liberal prizes in a big jingle contest to be run in this paper. One hundred and thirty-three prizes will be awarded each week.—Adv.

$500 THIS WEEK IN PRIZES WRITE A LAST LINE TO THIS JINGLE

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO: It's simple. It's fun. Just think up a last line to this jingle. Make sure it rhymes with the word "save." Write your last line of the jingle on the reverse side of a Raleigh package wrapper (or a facsimile thereof), sign it with your full name and address, and mail it to Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., P. O. Box 1799, Louisville, Kentucky, postmarked not later than midnight, April 4, 1942. You may enter as many last lines as you wish, if they are all written on separate Raleigh package wrappers (or facsimiles). Prizes will be awarded on the originality and aptness of the line you write. Judges' decisions must be accepted as final. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded. Winners will be notified by mail. Anyone may enter (except employees of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., their advertising agents, or their families). All entries and ideas therein become the property of Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corporation.
HERE'S WHAT YOU WIN: You have 133 chances to win. If you send in more than one entry, your chance of winning will be that much better. Don't delay. Start thinking right now.

Government lumber requirements for war needs have placed logging operations in the Northwest and South on a production schedule unequal in history.

Human beings are susceptible to many animal diseases, and should use every precaution in treating sick animals or disposing of dead ones, livestock authorities assert.

In order to conserve burlap, Wisconsin wool growers are being asked to pack wool bags as heavy as possible this year, to keep the bags dry, and to handle them carefully.

PASTURE IMPROVEMENT MEETING, SCHUCK'S HALL, MAR. 27
Wisconsin has set aside the week of April 5th as Good Pastures Week. Gov. Heil in issuing the proclamation said that the purpose of good pastures week was to make farmers conscious of the possibilities of improving their pasture conditions and to learn how these conditions may be improved. This is to be done by having specialists in this field speak before county-wide meetings.

Farmers of Washington county were invited to attend a pasture improvement meeting held at Schuck's hall, Ackerville, on Friday afternoon, March 27th, at 2:00 o'clock. O. R. Zeasman of the College of Agriculture and County Agent E. E. Skallskey discussed pasture management, fertilization, and renovation problems.

For those who wished to learn how to best manage either their permanent blue grass pasture or cropland pastures it paid them to attend this meeting.

ALFALFA AND CLOVER SEEDINGS LOOK PROMISING

The past winter appears to have been easy on alfalfa and clover seedings. Reports from various sections of Washington county would indicate that very little if any winter killing has occurred. However, the danger of winter killing is not completely over as the next few weeks greatly influence the wintering over of legume crops.

Wisconsin is one of only three states in the union to harvest over one million acres of alfalfa annually. Alfalfa has become our most valuable and dependable forage crop. Its contribution to the dairy enterprise is immeasurable in the present emergency. A further expansion of about one-half million acres in 1942 is needed in Wisconsin to replace possible losses of old fields and for added hay, pasture and grass silage. Because alfalfa seed supplies are limited, it might be well to sow a mixture of eight to ten pounds alfalfa, two pounds medium red clover and two pounds timothy. Such seedings produce abundantly on heavy soils that are well drained, limed and in a good state of fertility.

Less grass seed is usually needed to produce a good stand if the five rules listed below are faithfully observed, namely:

1. By working in lime and fertilizer before sowing.
2. By preparing a firm seed bed.
3. By covering seed shallowly, about 1/2 inch.
4. By using a cultipacker seeder.
5. By dropping grass seed behind the grain drills, not in front of them.

VALUE OF HOME VEGETABLE GARDEN

There are many reasons for having a well planned home vegetable garden—

1. BETTER HEALTH FOR THE FAMILY. Vegetables contain necessary vitamins and minerals. If the vegetables are in the garden or preserved we eat more nearly what we need than when we must buy them. This also means better flavored and more interesting meals with a greater variety of food. If correctly handled, cooked or preserved garden vegetables provide better quality and greater food value than vegetables purchased.
2. SAVES MONEY WHICH CAN BE USED FOR OTHER NEEDS. The average U. S. farm family of 4 or 5 spent $175 last year for food it bought and in addition it valued the food it produced for home use at about $200 using farm prices (Farm Family Living—the Situation Fall 1941). The average of Wisconsin farm families keeping accounts spent $353 and valued food produced for home use at $232 during the same period. Retail food prices have advanced 20% during the past year. Adequate amount of food for a Wisconsin family of 5 cost about $600 at retail in 1940. During 1941 it cost about $120 more or between $700 and $800. Farm price of this food in 1940 was about $300, but today its value is about $400, still a saving of over $300. Thus the family earns over $300 when it produces food for itself. Of this, the vegetable garden will save over $90 to $100 at present prices.

3. ASSURANCE OF AN ALL-WEAR-AROUND FOOD SUPPLY.
Present situation regarding tin and glass cans and rubbers may mean less canned food available and certainly at higher prices. The shortage of tires may mean less frequent trips to the store to make purchases. Vegetables both fresh and canned will be needed elsewhere, so stores will have limited supplies.

4. AMOUNT OF VEGETABLES NEEDED PER ADULT PERSON. It is an accepted fact that much of the growth and vigor of livestock depends on the feed given the animals. Food eaten at the family table every day has just as much influence on the health of the individual members of that family. Certain food factors are necessary daily for the maintenance of human health and efficiency. Many of these foods cannot be stored up in the body, eaten one day and omitted the next, but must be included in the diet every day of the year. Vegetables are therefore an essential part of the daily food needs of every family. Studies show that unless families grow ample supplies of vegetables they do not serve enough of them for good health. The total amount of vegetables a family needs during an entire year is tremendous—over 600 pounds for each person. For the best of health each person needs to eat in one year about:

- 190 to 420 pounds potatoes—3 to 7 bushels (1 or 2 servings a day).
- 140 pounds leafy, green and yellow vegetables (1 serving a day)—asparagus, broccoli, lettuce, snap beans, peas, carrots, squash, pumpkin, chard, cabbage, spinach, green peppers.
- 105 pounds tomatoes or raw fruits or vegetable rich in vitamin C (1 serving a day).
- 180 pounds other vegetables (1 serving a day; include dried beans or peas weekly).

Jap Dreams of Easy Conquest Fade As U. S. Aid to Australia Grows; President's 'Victory Plan' Depends On Successful Offensive in Pacific

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

VICTORY: For Navy Forces

Almost coincident with the arrival of General MacArthur in Australia...

Important in the first dispatches had been the word that they were "island based" forces of the United States and Australia...

It had been learned, of course, that the Japanese, after taking Wake island, had later abandoned it...

Aside from speculation about where the base was, a fact the Japs would like dearly to know, the victory itself was important...

Aussies' Viewpoint

Almost coincident with the arrival of General MacArthur, his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Sutherland...

As to the Japanese themselves, after having previously reported, weeks ago, MacArthur's flight from the battlefield to Corregidor...

They did just what President Roosevelt had predicted, and declared that General MacArthur had "run away" from the Philippines...

PRIME MINISTER JOHN CURTIN American aid is doubly welcome

The resistance in Australia was faked as a monument to Japanese falsehoods and false hopes of easy conquest...

"It is most gratifying that the American troops are now here in force. Their numbers are most substantial."

"We are the base from which to strike at the enemy."

"American aid is doubly welcome because Britain could not carry the burden of the Pacific while engaged in a life and death struggle with Germany and Italy."

"Our nation must demonstrate to history that it has the moral and physical stature to stand up and trade punches with the enemy not for six weeks or months but year after year if necessary, giving odds, but fighting the enemy to a standstill."

"If we fail ourselves, nothing will save us. We have to show ourselves worthy of aid."

His sentiments were echoed all over Australia, and in the halls of congress at Washington, senate and house leaders joined in. Chairman Snyder of military affairs said, after the applause had died down:

"I hope from now on many of our 'ivory chair generals' will remember that on this day many things are under way which will be just as pleasing to them, when they find out about them, as is the change in General MacArthur's status."

BURMA:

After executing what was considered a brilliant piece of maneuvering, and gaining contact with their Chinese allies, the British forces in Burma had formed a new defense line in central Burma.

The Japs, foiled of isolating what they considered their prey, had turned northward from the Rangoon-Frome road, and were driving in toward upper Burma.

However, the defenders had been heartened by the arrival of considerable air power at Delhi.

MAC ARTHUR: And His Job

The sending of MacArthur from Bataan, where the man in the street had regarded him as a sort of "dead hero"—certainly a hero, but condemned, apparently to either death or a Japanese prison—to Australia, where he could start with a clean page in the defense of that continent had been greeted with wild enthusiasm from one side of the nation to the other.

Paeans of praise had resounded not only in the press but upon the streets, and the general view was that the whole move had been made cleverly, because while General MacArthur had given his Bataan job into the hands of General Wainwright, he was still technically in command, as the Philippines were placed under his jurisdiction.

No less was the delight felt by the Australians, who had demanded MacArthur to lead them. The American public regarded it as significant that the move had been ordered in late February, but had not been carried out until mid-March, thus showing that MacArthur was not rushing after personal honors or safety, and that he would not leave his command until he had given time to arrange things to suit him. MacArthur was accompanied by his chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, and by Brig. Gen. Harold H. George of the air corps.

Considerable editorial praise had been heaped on Mrs. MacArthur when it was learned that she and her son had not chosen the comparative safety of Manila and internment, but had chosen to go to the battlefield with the general, and then to take the long and perilous plane journey to Australia with him.

As to the general's job in Australia, it was the toughest of the whole war. That was conceded on all sides. For he was taking on his shoulders the command in an area where all had been defeat thus far.

The Japs were figured to attempt the Australia blitz, despite the fact that they had learned that American troops "in force" were on the continent and that more were on the way.

The Australian occupation was so vital to the Japanese, however, that they were apparently ready to risk the showdown battle that would surely ensue.

There was little question but that Australia was poorly prepared, for Prime Minister John Curtin had been stressing that since the beginning. But with considerable American aid it was hoped that the defense could be carried out successfully.

Strategically, however, MacArthur's job was even bigger than defending Australia, for if President Roosevelt's victory plan were to be carried out, it was up to him not only to defend Australia successfully, but to be "in at the death" of the Japanese hopes in the Pacific, and to carry on, from Australia, as a hop-off spot, the successful offensive that would, at least so America hoped, knock the Nipponese out of the war.

MacArthur, on his arrival, had found more than just American troops on the ground, he had found an air force which was carrying out his own ideas on Bataan—striking often and fiercely at the enemy before he arrived on the scene.

There were few who believed MacArthur, even by a miracle of strategy, could prevent Japanese landings on Australia, even as he was unable to prevent them on the Philippines. But many hoped that he could and would find some method of striking such forces such as to drive them into the sea and prevent their organization into any sort of a successful land army.

PRODUCTION:

A demand by congress that WPB Director Nelson report congress on production had followed some apparent dissatisfaction with the national output which, in turn, had come to light after a vital resignation within Nelson's group.

Nelson himself had come out with a fighting statement, threatening coolly to "knock down" any individuals or groups that showed any tendency to interfere with the smoothness of national war production.

A senate subcommittee, however, not satisfied with public statements, called on Nelson to report, and also called in Lieutenant Assistant Secretary of the Navy Bard and others in high places.

At about this time a group of 500 Texans had wired their senator, Tom Connally and others, that they had the guns and the bullets and if given permission would rove the country and shoot dead all labor and management leaders who were interfering with production.

The offer was not accepted.

Navy Brain Truster

Head of the Brain Trust of the U. S. Navy is Rear Admiral Frederick J. Horne. Right-hand man to Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief. Horne is in charge of the naval operations staff in the new navy set-up.

RUSSIANS: Clamp Down

The Russians, having carried out their continued offensive during the coldest of the winter, had clamped down on several important points, including Kharkov and Vyazma, and claimed that 200,000 German troops were trapped in the latter area.

The Germans also, the Reds had asserted, were steadily giving ground in the Kharkov region, dubbed the Pittsburgh of Russia.

There also had been considerable favorable military activity in the district of Smolensk, which for a time, rumor had it, had been Hitler's personal headquarters.

In the meantime the Russians had taken over the suburbs of Kharkov and had started what they described as the fiercest sort of house to house fighting.

In each of these encounters the Russians had been able to mass well-trained troops in superior numbers over the Germans, and in the Staraya Russa sector they had asserted that the Germans were refusing to yield, and were gradually being exterminated.

Even in the southwest, where Hitler was supposed to have ordered a counter-offensive, the Russian machine was still moving ahead, Moscow had reported.

SUICIDE: Confirmed

A roundabout method of confirming the suicide of General Homma in the Philippines by the haka-kiri method was discovered by Carlos Barrera, a Chilean newspaper man stationed in Tokyo.

He sent a dispatch to the newspaper El Chileno in which he said the suicide of "General Masaharu Homma for failure to destroy the American and Filipino defense forces had been confirmed."

He did not add that Tokyo confirmed it, but said:

"The confirmation came through the fact that his successor General Tomoyuki Yamashita was announced officially."

This, under the rules of the Samurai, can have only one meaning. Homma would not have been permitted to live through this disgrace. He must, according to the code, retire to his room and retire himself with a sword.

LOTTERY: Number Three

Washington's selective service heads, aided and abetted by draft boards from coast to coast swung into the task of classifying and calling up 9,000,000 men, drawn in the third draft lottery.

The word had gone out that not all would be drawn for military service, but that many might be drafted into defense industry.

In the nine millions of men between the 20-44 age limits were many of the older men, more settled—the heads of businesses and owners of property, and their reaction to the draft had been just as enthusiastic as that of the younger men in the previous groups.

In this lottery, as in those previous, there had been some small errors, two numbers having turned up missing, 6,342 and 2,069, and one being duplicated, 2,885.

MISCELLANEOUS:

Washington: In order to improve the war spirit of the people generally, President Roosevelt had said that he would like to see more military parades. "It is time to wave the flag," the President said.

Moscow: The Russian press dismissed with one paragraph the news that General MacArthur had been made supreme commander in Australia.

Montevideo: Street rioting followed the announcement that an Axis submarine had sunk a ship of Uruguayan registry.

Boulder City, Nev.: Forest rangers were searching for two "swarthy men" who had fired on a soldier-sergeant and his troop of Boy Scouts, out for a hike.

San Francisco: All machinery was in progress of the moving of 90,000 Japanese from the Coast to interior points. Bargain hunters were having field days in Chinatown, as the Jap stores, having to move, were selling out at terrific reductions.

Hollywood: Jerry Colonna, banjoed film comedian with handle-bar mustachios, was the first film star drawn in the current lottery. He had No. 441, the fourth to be drawn.

Detroit: An Italian enemy alien accused of draft-dodging gave as his excuse that he and his wife were in Italy.

Chicago: While the war was costing thousands of lives every day, America had its worst tornadoed disaster, with a toll of 156 lives, and more critically injured. The tornado winds had swept through portions of six states.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—Anthony J. Dimond, Alaska's delegate to congress since 1933, has a chance to say "You should have listened to me," and commended "Bases; Settles for a Road Linking U. S."

It was on March 28, 1933, that Mr. Dimond managed, by considerable effort to fudge a $2,000,000 allowance for an Alaskan air base into the $47,000,000 war department appropriation bill. Congress made mince-meat of the bill and Mr. Dimond's $2,000,000 was an almost unnoticed casualty. He said that if a plane wandered up that way it couldn't find any place to roost over night and reminded congress that it might not be a good idea to leave matters of national defense to the budget bureau.

The year before congress had killed a $10,000,000 allowance for an army base in Alaska.

Mr. Dimond was a Palatine Bridge, N. Y., school teacher who showed off to Alaska in the gold rush of 1904, and in Valdez, a settlement of about 300 persons, has been pretty much owner and operator of his little principality. For about eight years he was engaged in mining and prospecting, and in 1913 took up the practice of law. He was a Mayor Territorial senate from 1923 to 1931. In 1916, he married a Valdez girl and they have three children.

Mr. Dimond is a born joiner and mixer—an Elk, Eagle, Moose and what not. He is satisfied with his friendly wilderness and long has insisted that it is worth defending—a stepping-stone to Canada and the U.S.A.

IT MIGHT BE BETTER if we had sent Japan xylophones instead of scrap-iron. An eight-foot xylophone, made in Chicago, diverted Yoichi Hiroaka from his career as an economist and brought him to New York for the edification of a 7:45 a. m. radio audience, for nearly 12 years.

The Pearl Harbor bombs blew him out of his job, and now Mayor LaGuardia, the Kew Gardens neighbors, members of the New York Philharmonic Symphony orchestra and sundry others are urging NBC to restore his inspiring early morning tinkle to the program. It is more than that, however. He was the first man to arrange Bach, Handel, Haydn and others of the great masters for the xylophone.

His friends now cite his aid to the U.S.O., the Red Cross, the Y.M.C.A., the New York Institute for the Education of the Blind and other Patriotic and welfare organizations. It is apparent that the petition in his behalf must fail. NBC officials think there are too many listeners who remember Pearl Harbor.

While studying economics at the University of Keio, in Tokyo, he played the little two-foot mokkin, the Japanese version of the xylophone. He heard an American phonograph xylophone record and borrowed $500 from his sister for the eight-foot specially designed Chicago job, big enough for the classical romp of his dreams.

With such a lure at hand, it must have been hard for him to keep his mind on his work, but, in 1930, he was graduated in economics, with honors.

The western musical classics fascinated him. He waded out into the "dismal science," persuaded his merchant father to buy him a boat ticket to New York. He landed with only his xylophone, and faced the necessity of hastily converting his talent into food and lodging.

His neighbors' petition cites him as "an American in loyalty and devotion, in thought and in deed." We once saw him work—a small, little man whose body seemed both fluid and precise as he swept the instrument board with bewildering swiftness or hovered over it with a gentle caress. A few shiploads of big Chicago xylophones might have tilted many Japanese economists, or militarists—they are all one these days—into more cooperative world citizens. Also they might have awakened somebody at Pearl Harbor that fateful morning.

FORMERLY official, but now unofficially woman diplomat, may figure importantly in British strategy in the Far East. She is the former Miss Violet Erskine, wife of Sir Horace Seymour, newly appointed British ambassador to China. A handsome, blonde girl secretary to Sir Cecil Arthur Spring-Rice, in Washington in 1917, she received much public attention as "Britain's first woman diplomat." In later years, there were many references to her "tactful assistance to her husband in diplomatic affairs."

Fate of Free Enterprise Rests With Small Business

Economic Processes Altered as Producers Seek to Beat Enemy Competition; Profit Motive Relegated to Background.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

Washington, D. C. "The war is placing the United States on a basis of non-competitive economy."

A cabinet member made this statement in a private gathering in Washington at which I was present a few days ago. He was urging the need for a study of post-war conditions.

"If we are going to maintain the principle of free enterprise," he went on, "we must begin to think now about how we are going to change back from a non-competitive system to the normal democratic system of individual enterprise."

What the cabinet officer was getting at is this: the major part of the energy of the nation is gradually being turned into war production. War production is a national enterprise. The objective is to obtain the greatest amount of armament and other supplies and necessities demanded for the creation of a huge military machine, as quickly as possible. This is an entirely different economic process from that upon which free enterprise is based.

Free enterprise is the production of goods for civilian consumption on a competitive basis at a profit sufficient to encourage the producer to keep on producing.

Under war conditions the only competition is with the enemy. Profits may be made by the producer but every phase of his business must be government controlled. The government already says that automobiles or ice boxes or radios or phonographs cannot be made for ordinary civilian consumption. The government tells the manufacturer what he can and cannot do in the way of raw materials and tells him what he can do for the most part already on a non-competitive basis working for the government. Prices are controlled.

Big business which is convertible to war production has already been fitted into the new design. Big business which is not convertible and which makes an essential civilian product is able to adjust itself.

Small Business Problems

But small business faces a different problem. By small business is meant, according to government definition, 100 employees or less, wholesale establishments with less than $200,000 annual net sales volume; retail stores, service establishments, hotels, places of amusement and construction establishments with annual net sales or receipts of less than $50,000.

About 35 per cent of the small businesses of the country, of which there are 168,814 establishments, according to the classification of the United States department of commerce, are capable of conversion from civilian to war production. This leaves 60 to 65 per cent of these small businesses, which employ nearly 2 1/2 million men, in an exceedingly precarious position.

The vast majority of the people in the United States and the officials in Washington believe that small business must be preserved if free enterprise is to continue.

What is to be done about it? Well I spent an hour in the office of the man selected by the department of commerce to fight the fight for small business. It is a very plain office—the only wall decorations are a calendar and a map of the United States. At the desk sits a fine Scotch burr. Up until three months ago his business card read "William Sheperdson, Financial Consultant, telephone North 2-6400, 55 Liberty Street, Twenty-seventh Floor, New York."

Today his card reads "William Sheperdson, telephone District 2-2000, Division of Regional Economy, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C."

Mr. Sheperdson takes his job very seriously. He believes that if small business is not preserved two steps must follow—one—big business will get bigger and small business will vanish—two—the government will have to take over.

That is what he wants to avoid. His first function is to get the facts concerning the problems of small business together; his second is to get these facts before government officials and before members of congress before they act; his third is to assist group action wherever it is necessary to assist private effort.

Mr. Sheperdson cautiously points out that he can not solve the individual's problems as such but wherever a group of interests are concerned or wherever the individual represents a group of allied interests, he can and will be of assistance. He admits that winning the war is America's first job. A part of war effort and the government can help small business in this field by advising the 35 or 40 per cent of small manufacturers who are "convertible" in changing over their establishments to produce war products. Specifically his job is to answer an avalanche of inquiries. This he tries to do in simple, straightforward language.

One of his chief tasks is to help the small manufacturer to answer the complicated questionnaires and to fill out the forms required by all who get government contracts. His division has 31 representatives in the field talking to small business men personally. He has 12 consultants in Washington with him. He has also the tremendous resources of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce. And he has the co-operation of a group in congress very much concerned with the plight of the small business man and he has the sympathy of Donald Nelson, head of the War Production board.

Central Authority

As an example of this sympathetic co-operation, by the time this is written congress will probably have approved the formation of a hundred million dollar corporation of which Donald Nelson, himself, will be the head, so there will be no split authority in war production. This corporation will have the power to make contracts for military supplies, it will see that these contracts are let exclusively to the smaller manufacturers who are capable of converting their plants to war production.

As to the 60 to 65 per cent of America's small businesses which cannot be converted, Mr. Sheperdson is rendering such aid and comfort as his long experience, his knowledge of the ability and the shortcomings of the small business man and his wide general knowledge make possible.

"Small business," says Mr. Sheperdson, "is usually managed by one, sometimes two, and rarely, three men. Big business has management specialists who hire brains. Big business has research departments. Small business cannot afford these things. Many business men cannot even read blue prints. They do one job and do it well. They may have learned their business from their fathers. They have energy and genius or they would not have succeeded. But they need leadership and education."

"Many of them keep no records. As a matter of fact 80 per cent keep none. In most cases the problem they are facing today boils down to management."

"The department tries to help in their education. It is now preparing a business guide and there is not a five dollar word in it. It doesn't even mention assets and liabilities. It says 'what do you owe?' and 'what do you own?'"

That a guide may chart the course of many a small business through the stormy waters ahead and keep the flag of free enterprise flying.

(Incidentally, if you are interested in obtaining a copy, I should be glad to pass your request on to Mr. Sheperdson.)

Washington Cancells Cherry Blossom Festival

There will be no cherry blossom festival in Washington this year. For years people from all over the nation have been coming to Washington to see the cherry blossoms along what we now call the Tidal Basin and what used to be more poetically known as the Lagoon.

I have lived in Washington—on and off—since 1914. But I never lost the thrill I had when I first walked under that magic arbor of white-pink blossoms.

There is a delicate charm in their scentless petals. It is more than the mere captivation of the eye. It steals inside you, casts a gentle spell about you. The world fades away, time stops.

The cherry blossoms will bloom this year as they always have. Thousands that enjoy their beauty and forget that they are the symbol of something we must hate.

In reality, the cherry blossom is a symbol of a Japan that is gone, of a simple and poetic people who never have heard of a "new order," and who hated no one.

The cherry trees originally were a gift of Tokyo to the city of Washington. The first roots the Japanese sent died. A second set was sent. They flourished.

But, alas, symbolically, they carried a curse unwittingly, they carried a curse. Wrapped in their buds was a deadly oriental fruit which flourished, too. It swept a fruit tree and has brought many a southward. It has plagued more of the lumber one problems of the department of agriculture.

Make a Delicious Spinach Ring With Leftovers (See Recipe Below)

Preserving Food

"Food will win the peace" gains momentum as the war continues. It is the responsibility of the homemaker to make the most of her food.

BUDGET

When you plan your shopping, if you are not sure of the economy of your plan, you can refer to the menu if you have a place for them.

Refrigerator Storage

Butter, cheese, meat, and other perishables should be stored in the refrigerator in a cool, dry place.

Cook to Save Food Values

Poor cooking may cause the greatest kind of waste in food. Perhaps you roast your meats at too high a temperature and cause them to shrink more than necessary.

Spinach Ring With Shrimp Sauce

(Serves 6 to 8)
3 cups cooked spinach
1 teaspoon grated onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 eggs
3 cups cream sauce
1/2 cup fine bread crumbs
1 to 2 cups whole cheddar shrimp

STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

ONE of the most important films ever made in this country will be released shortly to motion picture houses throughout the nation. It is "Hidden Hunger," starring Walter Brennan, presented by the Federal Security Agency as part of the National Nutrition Program. A simple story of better eating for sound health, it's not just a picture with a message; it has a lively and amusing plot, it's highly entertaining, an excellent, two-reel production made by experienced producers, directors and actors.

Joan Bennett has revived the old-fashioned "quilting bee" on the set of her current Columbia film, "Highly Irregular"; she's organized 65 elderly ladies into a group to knit and sew for men in the service. The gossip's modern, Hollywood variety!

William Lundigan thinks his lucky breaks began when he left Syracuse university in his second year there to take a job in a radio station. An RKO executive whom he interviewed on the air told him he ought to be in pictures; when a New

WILLIAM LUNDIGAN

York friend fixed up a test for Universal, he just had to stand and talk as he did for radio. He made pictures for Universal and Warner Bros., then was signed by Metro—and had the luck to land in the stamaking "Andy Hardy" series, as the new boy friend of Andy's sister in "The Courtship of Andy Hardy."

Jean Arthur was in a scene with Ronald Colman and Cary Grant for "Three's a Crowd"; three soldiers who'd been watching rehearsals had just left. Suddenly an overhead "spider"—a multiple electric switch box—blew out, showering them with sparks. Jean promptly scuttled away. "Where you going?" shouted Director George Stevens. "After those soldiers," she replied, "to put out the bomb!"

Lucille Norman, blonde and 19, went east to go west. She left Steele City, Neb., to win a place as radio singer over a Cincinnati station while trying out there for the Metropolitan Opera auditions she was spotted by a movie talent scout, and now she's in Hollywood.

Johnny Johnston, young singing guitarist of radio fame, was picked by Paramount for a co-starring role with Ellen Drew in "Priorities of 1942"; it's a musical film with the activities of aircraft plant workers for its story background.

Recently before "Henry Aldrich" went on the air a petition was circulated asking the right to smoke backstage. Just before the broadcast it was slipped into "Mr. Aldrich's" script for safekeeping, and he very nearly read it over the mike.

Note for baseball fans: The Brooklyn Dodgers didn't want that picture about them to be called "Them Lovely Bums," so remember that it will be offered to the public as "It Happened in Flatbush" unless somebody thinks up a better title.

Just before the war department forbade the use of rubber latex Paramount got under the wire, so you'll see a three-foot latex balloon as a prop for Martha O'Driscoll's bubble dancer scene in "My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

Al Pearce of the air waves is interested in adding Marie Blake to his radio gang. She's Jeannette MacDonald's sister, and you probably saw her somewhere in the "Dr. Kildare" series of pictures—she played the telephone operator.

ODDS AND ENDS—Bill Stern, radio sports announcer, will be seen in the Lou Gehrig film, "The Pride of the Yankees" . . . A fruit dealer who knows and admires Edward G. Robinson spells the "Big Town" star's name out in fruit on his stand . . . A Royal Air Force officer wears Franchot Tone the uniform Tone wears in Columbia's "Highly Irregular" . . . Rosalind Russell, who'll star in "My Sister Eileen," is singing for the boys on her tour of army camps in the Southwest, and they love it . . . Jack Benny has signed a new two-year contract, which will carry him into his tenth year with the same sponsor, and his twelfth as a broadcaster.

U. S. armed forces "from Greenland's icy mountains to Africa's coral strand" may now listen in on the Eileen Queen show every Saturday; it's being beamed over three powerful shortwave transmitters from war fronts and outposts all over the world.

Clark Gable will probably be the hero of the movie version of "The Sun Is My Undoing," a best-selling novel. It's a colorful, fast-paced story of romance and adventure in England and the West Indies.

Some of Our Native Birds

Few people, outside of confirmed city dwellers, are unfamiliar with the plaintive, far-carrying cry of the mourning dove—that a coo-coo, coo-coo, coo-coo, which is so characteristic of country fields and deep, still woodlands. It is rather a large bird—larger even than a robin. It builds a highly inefficient-looking nest of crossed sticks in the crotch of a tree and in this indifferent shelter rears, yearly, a brood of two young. The value of the mourning dove to farmers and orchardists is usually not properly evaluated. The bird lives almost wholly on vegetable matter, its principal and almost constant diet being weed seeds, such seeds constituting 64 per cent of its entire feed. In one stomach were found 7,500 seeds of yellow wood sorrel; in another 6,400 seeds of foxtail; in another, 2,600 seeds of slender paspalum, 4,820 of orange hawkweed, 950 of hoary vervain, 120 of Carolina cranesbill, 50 of yellow wood sorrel, 620 of panic grass, and 40 of various other weeds. Since practically all of these weeds are troublesome, it is apparent that the mourning dove should be protected in every possible way.

THE SCREECH OWL

This owl is our smallest species, being but eight inches in length, but its value is out of all proportion to its size. The screech owl inhabits orchards, groves, and thickets; it hunts its prey, also, along fences and hedgerows, and in the open. It is a provident citizen, hunting assiduously in warm weather and storing up quantities of food for use during days of less clemency. In such storage places ornithologists have often found enough mice or other small prey to serve the bird for intervals of a week or more. The screech owl feeds upon small mammals, reptiles, batrachians, fish, spiders, crawfish, scorpions and earthworms. Among the insects, its favorite foods are grasshoppers, crickets, ground beetles and caterpillars, and it is known to destroy field mice and sparrows. The wise farmer will encourage this little owl to make its home quite near to his barns and granaries where it will be highly efficient in keeping both house mice and wood mice in check.

THE ROSE-BREADED GROSBEAK

Some day when you have the good luck to see, rising into your orchard or woodland trees, a handsome bird with a black velvet cap and a triangular patch of rose-carmine on its breast, and when, as it vibrates its strong wings, it pours forth a rich, clear, mellow song, you will know that you are looking upon the rose-breaded grosbeak. For the matter of that, you may hear it singing at night, for it is one of our very limited number of night singers. Farmers and gardeners sometimes berate this lovely bird because of damage done to green peas, which it loves, and sometimes to fruits, as well, but the well-informed assure us that this mischief is much more than balanced by the bird's service in the destruction of insect pests. The bird is so fond of the destructive Colorado beetle that it is often called "the potato-bug bird." It also attacks cucumber beetles with great vigor, as well as many scale insects. It is an active enemy of the Rocky Mountain locust and feeds also—extensively—upon cankerworms, orchard and forest tent caterpillars, tussock, gipsy, and brown-tail moths, plum curculio, army worm and chinch bug. It may truly be said that for beauty and song and economic value, few birds surpass the rose-breaded grosbeak.

THE NIGHTHAWK

The nighthawk is hardly well named, since it is not a nocturnal bird and is not, moreover, really a hawk, but belongs to the birds of the Goutucker family. However, if one does not like to call it a nighthawk, it has as long a list of aliases from which one may choose, as has any number one gangster, among which are bull-bat, mosquito hawk, nightjar, piramidig, and several others. The name "nightjar" fits it well since it makes a curious, whirring, booming sound which is, as someone has said, "like a strong blowing into the bung-hole of an empty hog-head." This bird has been greatly slandered by being accused of chicken-eating and similar crimes. Actually it is of the greatest possible use to all agriculturists and should be protected everywhere to save it from imminent extinction. Its diet is almost exclusively insects.

For interesting information concerning fifty of our common farm and orchard birds, send ten cents to Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., asking for Farmers' Bulletin No. 513.

PRESERVING VEGETABLES

It has been demonstrated by careful experiments that many vegetables besides cucumbers can be preserved by brining. For instance, corn on the cob, burr gherkins, green tomatoes and string beans do well in a 10 per cent brine and will keep for several months. Cauliflower and green peppers require a 60 per cent brine and onions, 80 per cent. Since the salt constantly leaches moisture, the brine must be kept at its proper strength by the gradual addition of salt.

MARKETING SQUABS

Since squabs with full crops bring lower prices than those from which feed has been withheld, the squabs to be marketed should be gathered from the nests of the evening before.

DAIRY FARMING

Dairy-farming is a year-around, not a seasonal business. It furnishes not only a labor market, but also a market for grain, hay, silage, and root crops. Cash receipts from dairying are regular and frequent, providing a reliable income.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By Dr. Jas. W. Barton

LOWER BACK PAIN

When there is pain in lower back, physicians are usually able to locate the cause of the trouble because three of four cases are due to infection from other parts—teeth, tonsils, gall bladder—and one in every four is due to injury. Generally speaking, when the patient is at rest due to infection and pain that is worse when patient is up and about is due to injury. However, there are a number of cases where infection or effects of infection and also injury are present in the same patient.

Dr. Barton

When the pain is not in lower back but in other parts of the spine and is not arthritis or rheumatism in the joints between the bones (vertebrae) the cause of the pain or disability may be hard to find.

For some time physicians and surgeons have been obtaining small portions of the soft tissues by means of suction or use of a tiny syringe or suction apparatus. This is one method of finding if lump, growth or sore in the breast or uterus is or is not cancer.

That small portions of the bones of the spinal column obtained by this method and examined under the microscope will enable the physician to tell what is wrong with the patient is reported by Dr. J. Valls and his associates of Buenos Aires.

A Safe Method.

By control under the X-rays and a special method of anaesthesia of the nerve and the bone itself a puncture is made directly into the bone. These physicians report that the method is safe and not difficult. Among the diseases found in these bones of the spine were tuberculosis, extension of cancer from other parts of the body, growths, cysts, a porous condition of the bone found in old age and chronic inflammation not due to any special cause.

While the cause of most cases of lower back pain or disability can be found, there are some cases of low back trouble and many cases where trouble is higher up, the cause of which is difficult to find. This biopsy method by enabling the physician to find the cause enables him also to prescribe the necessary treatment. However, the commonest causes should always be sought first.

What Can Be Done For Angina Pectoris?

When, as youngsters, we were playing a game that required much or continuous running, we would get a pain in the chest that made us stop in our tracks. By resting or walking, the pain would gradually disappear and we were able to play just as hard as ever. We called this getting our "second wind."

This pain that we had as youngsters is the same as grownups get when they exercise or eat too much. It is called angina pectoris and is due to the same cause—not enough oxygen in the blood supplying the heart muscle.

When we have a shock, other emotional disturbance, or face a cold wind, it may upset the proper working together of the heart and lungs; the blood does not get a sufficient supply of oxygen and the viselike pain in the chest may occur. Nature, the friendly force behind mankind, tries to help us when we are attacked by emotional disturbances or cold by stimulating the adrenal glands, situated one above each kidney, causing them to pour out an extra supply of adrenalin into the blood. This adrenalin, while lessening the oxygen supply to the blood going to heart muscle, opens the blood vessels wider so that the heart muscle will get more blood and prevent the pain.

Can anything be done for these patients whose blood vessels are getting hard and who have the attacks of angina pectoris? Dr. W. Raab, Burlington, Vt., in Annals of Internal Medicine, states that attempts to relieve the symptoms of angina pectoris by cutting down on the amount of adrenalin poured into the tissues, by means of X-ray treatments were successful in 76 of 100 patients. Sixty-two patients were entirely free or almost entirely freed from complaints or at least considerably improved for an average of 13 1/2 months, 14 patients were moderately improved for an average of seven and a half months, and 24 received no help from X-ray treatments.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Could you suggest a cure for dandruff?
A.—I know of no cure. Soap and water help as much as most remedies.

Q.—Please tell me the cause and prevention of mouth ulcers.
A.—Mouth ulcers, stomatitis—in children may follow children's diseases or a run-down condition. In adults may be due to too hot or highly seasoned foods, bad teeth, stomach or intestinal disturbances.

Q.—Kindly explain what causes a choky feeling in the throat?
A.—May be due to some food or other substance to which one is allergic or sensitive, to enlargement of thyroid gland, to partial obstruction of the upper end of tube going to stomach, or to other conditions.

Q.—What would cause the veins of my hands and arms to be especially prominent? I am only 21 years old.
A.—Your veins may be very near the surface or you have not much fat under the skin. Exercise of any kind would be helpful, giving the heart more driving power.

This office acknowledges a letter from Pvt. Albert M. Kreif Jr. of Kewaskum, stationed at Chanute Field, Illinois. The letter follows:

Chanute Field, Ill.
March 10, 1942

Dear Sirs:
Just a short letter to let everyone in and around Kewaskum know that I'm getting along fine with the army for the past 14 months.

I started out at Scott Field, Ill., where I was better than two months. Here I was a truck driver, which I enjoyed very much. After my time at Scott Field I went to Chanute Field, Ill. This I liked very much for I was much closer to home.

After I was here a week they assigned me to the fire dept., which I did not like very much at first. Here I got to drive the fire truck. This was very hard to get used to. I had a lot to learn. I had to learn how to run all the different pumps and enjoy it very much now. This may come in very handy after I get out. I will have a year in the fire dept. on the 14th of April. We work 24 hours on and 24 hours off in the fire dept. We get very good food and get all we can eat, for that is what we like most of all. We all like to eat down here.

Yours truly,

Notice is further given that the aforesaid election will be held in the village hall of the village of Kewaskum and the polls will be opened at nine o'clock in the forenoon and closed at 5:30 in the afternoon of said day.

Dated this 20th day of March, 1942.
Carl F. Schaefer,
Village Clerk

Farmers have already ordered well over half the repair parts they will need this year, a government report shows.

The rubber shortage and its effect on farm transportation is reported to be very critical. The situation demands that everyone do everything possible to conserve tires—by eliminating unnecessary trips and pooling transportation with neighbors.

MRS. JOHN WEDDIG DIES SUDDENLY; AUGUST MILLER 85, ALSO CALLED

in the Omro Junction cemetery at Omro.

Pallbearers were Ed., Frank, Arthur, Martin, Walter and George Rilling.

Mr. Rilling was a kind, congenial man, whose life was filled with hard, honest work. He was an excellent family man and his absence will be keenly felt and mourned. To the bereaved survivors our sincere sympathy is extended.

CARD OF THANKS

The undersigned wish to extend their heartfelt thanks to all those who assisted in any way during the illness and at the last sad rites of their beloved father, John F. Rilling. Thanks are also extended to Rev. A. H. Otto for his kind assistance, to those who sang at the funeral, Mmes. Otto and Blasser, for the floral offerings, to Techtman, who had charge of the funeral, the pallbearers, traffic officers, drivers of cars and all who showed their respect for the departed one by attending the last rites.

JOHN A. KRELL

John A. Krell, 69, father of George Krell of St. Michaels, and a farm resident northwest of Boltonville the past quarter of a century, passed away at St. Nicholas hospital, Sheboygan, on Thursday, March 19, after submitting to an operation.

Born in the town of Trenton, Mr. Krell was married in West Bend on Sept. 27, 1904, to Annie Thill, who survives, along with seven children as follows: Cecilia (Mrs. Sylvester Herman) of West Bend, George of St. Michaels, Lucy (Mrs. Lawrence Staehler) of Boltonville, Lawrence and Nick at home, Marie (Mrs. Herman Mueller) and Leona (Mrs. Ray Uselding) of Belgium. He also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Rose Lord of West Bend, Mrs. Theresa Thill of Boltonville and Mrs. Anna Halbersetter of Newburg, and four brothers, Math, Henry and Mike Krell of the town of Trenton and Nick of Farmington.

Funeral services were held Monday morning, Mar. 23, at St. John of God church in the town of Farmington. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery in the town of Trenton.

100 Attend Annual Short Course Banquet in County

The fifth annual joint banquet of the Ozaukee-Washington counties farm short course folks held in West Bend last week was well attended.

Approximately 100 people including the graduates, their wives and friends, were served an excellent dinner by the women of the Evangelical and Reformed congregations. The banquet and reunion has become an annual affair and is alternated between Ozaukee and Washington counties.

Entertainment was provided by Orrin Swingle, Hartford high school instructor, who sang "White Cliffs of Dover" and "When Autumn Leaves Begin to Fall," and by Mrs. Herman Lynn of Sankville. Mrs. Lynn, who is the mother of the wife of one of Washington county's short course graduates—Albert Schroeder, West Bend, Route 4, sang "Firewell Ye Hills" and "The Last Rose of Summer." Group singing of popular songs was led by Rev. Vernholt with accompaniment by Arthur E. Kuehltitz.

George M. Briggs, long a friend of the farm short course students, spoke briefly on the "Food for Victory" program. He was followed by George C. Humphrey, formerly head of the Animal Husbandry department of the College of Agriculture, Prof. Humphrey showed colored pictures which he took three years ago when he visited England and Europe. Most of the pictures dealt with the livestock industry of that nation.

Mr. Humphrey's photo collection also contained a number of scenes taken on the C. A. Schroeder farm near West Bend. Mr. Humphrey paid high tribute to C. A. Schroeder as an early and foremost breeder of high grade Holstein cattle in America. He then presented him with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

NEW FANE IS LUTHERAN DARTBALL LEAGUE CHAMP

The Lutheran Dartball league season came to a close with New Fane two games ahead of the nearest rival, Kewaskum, the second place winner. At a post season tournament held on Friday, March 20, a suitable trophy was awarded the championship team by Pastor C. Krueger, league president.

In a series of hotly contested games at the tournament, Town Scott emerged the winner by coming from behind in the final game to nose out Batavia. Teams finished in the following order in tournament play: Town Scott, Batavia, Kewaskum, New Fane, Adell and Sherman.

On March 17 a meeting for civilian defense workers was held at the safety building in Milwaukee. Representatives from most of the counties of the state were present. The purpose of the meeting was to give suggestions for organizing civilian defense training schools. Fire Chief Harry Schaefer and Principal C. M. Pose represented Kewaskum at the meeting.

A feature of the meeting was the showing of three sound films—"War and Order," which dealt with the organization of auxiliary police in London; "The London Fire," which showed the terrible effects of the incendiary bomb attack on London; and "Fighting the Fire Bomb," which demonstrated the correct method of fighting magnesium bombs. The county council of defense is making plans to give defense workers in Washington county an opportunity to see these films.

DAY AND NIGHT VIGILS TO BE KEPT AT HOLY TRINITY

Vigils will be kept all day and all night on Maundy Thursday and during the morning on Good Friday at Holy Trinity church. There will be someone in church steadily during this time. Volunteer members of the Ladies' Altar society will keep a vigil during the daytime and men of the Holy Name society will keep the vigil throughout the night on one-hour shifts. There will be two persons to a shift.

In the Catholic Charities drive completed last week a total of over $600 was collected from the congregation. The quota was $900. Of the amount solicited, $32 was collected from non-Catholics.

A meeting of the Married Ladies' sodality was held in the parish school hall Tuesday afternoon at which time the name of the sodality was changed to Ladies' Altar society. Unmarried ladies and girls can now also become members. This will greatly increase the membership.

Next Sunday, Mar. 29, is Palm Sunday. High mass will be read at 8 a. m. Mass will be preceded by the blessing and distribution of palms and the Passion of Our Lord will be read during mass. Mass at St. Bridget's at 10 a. m.

PEACE EVANGELICAL AND RE- FORMED CHURCH ACTIVITIES

The Sunday school session will meet at 8:45 a. m. Sunday morning. During the church service at 9:45 a. m. four young people will be confirmed: Lele Mantei, Glenway Confhaus, Ray Schneider, Betty Ann Prost.

Thursday afternoon the Ladies' Guild will hold their regular meeting in the church parlors at 2:30 p. m.

Holy communion will be celebrated in English Thursday evening at 8:30 p. m.

Friday morning at 9:45 the German members of Peace church will observe holy communion.

The Easter morning service will be at 8:45. A short communion service will be celebrated after the service for those unable to come to the previous services.

Twenty-five Years Ago

(1917)
Mrs. Conrad Simon, resident of Town Wayne since 1860, died at her home, Eight 13 children survive, namely John and Clara at home, Frank and Herman, St. Kilian, Kilian, Colorado, Mrs. Eisenbacher, Iowa, Anna, Ohio, and Mrs. Barbara Hochhaus, Milwaukee.—Wayne Correspondent. Rev. John Rosomer, district superintendent of the German M. E. church, Milwaukee, died. He is well known here by the older people, having at one time had charge of the local German M. E. church.

Victor Humting, genial traveling salesman for the Frankfurth Hardware Co., Milwaukee, called on his trade here. Victor is very optimistic about President Wilson will again be re-elected.

Frank Hepe and S. N. Casper campaigned the eastern part of the county for the interest of Mr. Hepe. Democratic candidate for nomination as clerk of circuit court. Mr. Hepe also canvassed the southwestern part of the county with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schleich.

It is rumored that someone from the village while at West Bend was the victim of a pick-pocket, having lost his pocketbook containing $150 and several certificates and notes. The name of the unfortunate is being withheld.

S. C. Wollensak was at Milwaukee where he closed a transaction whereby he became the sole owner of the Kewaskum Creamery, having purchased the one-half interest owned by H. J. Grell of Johnson Creek. The creamery will be managed by Mr. Wollensak in the future. The new owner is a thoroughly experienced man in the creamery business.

Louis Schaefer of the town of Kewaskum, while driving home after delivering milk to the local creamery, and when approaching Chas. Weddig's place, encountered a tip over. He received an injured hip and other bruises. The cause of the accident was that the horse shied, upsetting the wagon.

Seth Day and crew of men of DuBuque, Iowa, arrived to commence work on dredging the Barton-Kewaskum drainage. Work will begin as soon as the dredger arrives and it will take nearly two months.

Even four canary grass—Wisconsin's most vigorous lowland forage crop—cannot make something out of nothing. Marsh soils are generally very low in potash, and must get this fertilizer in liberal amounts; if they are to produce good crops of canary grass or anything else.
