VILLAGE CHAIRMEN

Atty. G. E. Otten Bartow
Alfred Schwabach Germantown
E. L. Rosenheimer Jackson
L. J. Bull Slinger
L. P. Rosenheimer Kewaskum

This committee at this meeting will work out the details of the "pledge" canvass, which will commence simultaneously in all cities and villages on May 1st.

Every income earner in every home will be contacted. In some homes where only the father is working there is only one pledge made, while in other homes, where there may be a son or a daughter working as well, each one makes a pledge.

In other words, every man or woman who has a job or a source of income is expected to "pledge." The "pledge" states how much the signer will save each week or each month in U. S. war savings bonds and stamps.

More money is needed to win this war. Pledges should be "all out" participation—not "how little" one can save but rather "how much." The need is great. People today must do without certain non-essentials and put such money to work to win this war by buying bonds and stamps.

The treasury department recently gave out a "yardstick" for savings shown here, which can serve as our guide in determining the amount of your pledge.

Weekly Income	Weekly Savings
$ 5 to $ 10	25c
10 to 15	50c
15 to 20	75c
20 to 30	1.25
30 to 40	2.00
40 to 50	4.00
50 to 60	6.00
70 to 80	10.00
80 to 100	12.00
100 to 150	20.00
150 to 200	25.00

Remember, May 1st will be the start of the "pledge" canvass. Give the matter some thought before that time, so when someone calls on you—you will be ready to "pledge."

EXTRA!

Killed By Streamliner

A man identified as Henry Degner, town of Kewaskum farm resident was instantly killed several minutes after 6 p. m. Friday evening, April 10, when the Ford Model A car he was driving was struck by the north-bound Northwestern railroad's crack streamliner flyer, the "400," No. 203, with terrific force at the Main street crossing in this village. The crash was heard just as we were going on to the press.

The car was smashed into small pieces, being completely torn apart. The upper portion of Degner's body was badly mutilated. Parts of the car were strewn along both sides of the tracks over a wide area. The main part of the machine was lifted off the tracks and thrown some distance against the depot alongside the tracks, damaging boards and windows on the depot platform. Evidently Degner's body was also thrown against the depot and glanced off with such momentum that it was carried along the platform a distance and then rolled off onto the siding tracks. Local police officers, the county coroner and sheriff, West Bend officers and hundreds of on-lookers rushed to the scene. The body was taken to Miller's funeral home. Details next week.

"Easter Much Observed" Writes PFC Leo Wietor

Following is another welcome letter from PFC Leo Wietor, Wayne young man stationed at Camp Polk, La.:

Service Battery 54 F. A. 3rd Armored Division Camp Polk, Louisiana April 5, 1942

Dear Sirs: Easter was very much observed here at Camp Polk, with a military mass which was held at the field house, and a capacity crowd of around 5,000 attended. Protestant services were held in four chapels, which gave each and every soldier a chance to do his Easter duty. Holy week services were also well attended from reports by all chaplains.

It seemed like every soldier received a package of some kind and lots of Easter greetings. I helped with the mail as it arrived and we sure were kept busy for several hours assorting it all.

We are still working on field problems and doing service work before we go on maneuvers.

Well, the rumor is over now—The boys are really getting furloughs—a limit of ten days—about 10 per cent at a time from each battery. I don't expect to get one until May sometime, if I get one—I hope.

The basketball season is now over and our team ended up in fourth place.

On Monday Army day will be observed with a parade in the morning and civilians are allowed to visit throughout the camp area. In the afternoon a baseball game will be played between the Beaumont Shipbuilders of Texas and the armored force of Camp P&K, La.

Am still driving the battalion commander and getting along just fine. Oh, yes, we had a turkey dinner for Easter. Hope to see you this spring, maybe. Regards to you and all friends.

Friend Leo

PFC Wietor also enclosed a couple of clippings from a Louisiana newspaper showing and telling of Major Sam H. Jones, also governor of Louisiana, on a visit with the 3rd Armored "Bayou Blitz" Division. Pictured with him are Major General Walton H. Walker, commander of the division, who greeted the major. Two other major generals are also shown. Major Jones delivered the orientation speech.

WELCOME!

The welcome sign has been hung out in front of the village hall across Main street to members of the Wisconsin Amateur Field Trial Club, Inc. who are holding their fifth annual spring gun dog field trials at the Kettle Moraine state forest near Mauthe lake this Saturday and Sunday, April 11 and 12. As mentioned last week headquarters are at the Forest lake resort and a huge banquet with turkey dinner will be held there Saturday night. Huge crowds of people from Milwaukee and other neighboring cities are expected to attend the event. They will pass through and stop here and we, too, bid them "Welcome!"

Correspondent Dora Buslaff; Others Die

Miss Dora Louisa Buslaff, 75, ay aunt of Edmund Buslaff of this village, and one of the Statesman's oldest correspondents, passed away at 7:30 a. m. Tuesday, April 7, at her home in Waucousta. Death came as a great surprise as her correspondence from Waucousta was still received this week. These were the last items written by Miss Buslaff, who wrote and reported the news from Waucousta approximately 40 years.

Miss Buslaff was a pioneer resident of Waucousta. She was born at Boltonville April 22, 1866, the daughter of the late Frederick and Caroline R. King Buslaff. She moved to Waucousta with her parents at the age of three months. Except for a short period during her youth when she lived in Fond du Lac, she spent most of her life in Waucousta.

Survivors are two brothers, Louis and Fred, and two sisters, Miss Hattie and Miss Carrie of Waucousta. Two brothers, Alvin and William, preceded her in death.

The body lay in state at the Berg-funeral home in Campbellsport from 2 p. m. Wednesday until funeral services at 2 p. m. Thursday, April 9, at the funeral home. Burial took place in Union cemetery at Campbellsport.

Miss Buslaff's death occurred less than four months after that of John L. Gudex of Elmore, the other of the Statesman's 40-year correspondents. The Statesman and residents of the community in which she resided feel her death as a sad loss. Miss Buslaff was one of our most faithful and regular correspondents and her timely and interesting news was always welcomingly received and read. We will miss her valuable assistance and she will be missed as well by her relatives and friends, by whom she was beloved. Our heartfelt sympathy is extended to the survivors.

MRS. GUSTAVE UTKE

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday, March 29, at the Church of Peace, Fond du Lac, for Mrs. Gustave Utke, 71, former resident of Elmore and New Fane, who died at 6:15 a. m. Friday, March 27, at her home in Fond du Lac. She was injured in an automobile accident on Dec. 27, 1941. The body lay in state at the Catholic funeral chapel, Fond du Lac, until being taken to the church at 1 p. m. on the day of the services. The Rev. Karl Koehler, pastor, conducted the rites and burial was in Union cemetery, Campbellsport.

Mrs. Utke, nee Lena Barbara Schuermann, was born Dec. 30, 1870, in the town of Empire, Fond du Lac county, the daughter of Gustave and Mary Mueller Schuermann. When a small child deceased was brought by her family to Elmore to live. She was married there June 28, 1894, to Mr. Utke and the couple spent the following three years at New Fane, town of Auburn. They then resided at Campbellsport 20 years before establishing their home in Fond du Lac 23 years ago.

Survivors are her widow; a son, Gustave Jr., of Milwaukee; two daughters, Mrs. Emory Wegner of Fond du Lac and Mrs. Benjamin Nimmer of Green Bay; nine grandchildren; a brother, A. J. Schuermann, of Campbellsport, and a sister, Mrs. William Loos of St. Paul.

Mrs. Utke was a member of the Church of Peace, Fond du Lac, and the Ladies Aid of the congregation. A number of people from the surrounding community attended the funeral.

JOSEPH RUFFING

Joseph Ruffing, former resident of the town of Wayne but for the past 44 years residing at Stockbridge, died at his home there on Sunday, March 29, as the result of a stroke. He would have observed his 78th birthday this week.

He was married to Theresa O'Donnell in SS. Peter and Paul church at Neno on Feb. 9, 1890, who survives along with the following children: Mrs. Walter Campbell and Mrs. Edgar Gray of Hilbert, Mrs. Leo Rogan, Milwaukee; Mrs. John Winkler and Raymond and Levi Ruffing of Stockbridge. He also leaves four brothers, Michael and Louis of Allenton, Jacob of Adrian, Minn., and Peter of Marshfield; four sisters, Mrs. Henry L. Kohl, Keshville; Mrs. Kate Sell, Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Gerhard Long, Adrian, Minn., and Mrs. Geo. Duffrin, Fond du Lac, and 24 grandchildren.

Established Prices to Be Paid; $25 Defense Bond, Cash Prizes to Be Given; Everyone Urged to Bring Badly Needed Scrap to Local Shipping Center

This week, April 6 to 11, is "salvage week" in Washington county and Saturday, April 11, is "salvage day" in Kewaskum. It is the patriotic duty of every citizen to collect and bring to the local salvage shipping center any item of scrap in order that we can give immediate answer to the sons and brothers in our armed forces who plead for tanks, ships, planes, bombs, guns and other items so badly needed in our gigantic national defense program.

Similar salvage field days have been held throughout the county the past week and the people of Kewaskum, and particularly the farmers in this trading area, will have their opportunity Saturday to "slap the Jap with scrap." On this date a big field day will be held in this village and also at Hartford.

The Kewaskum Businessmen's association has donated $15.00 to be given in cash prizes of $7.00, $5.00 and $3.00 to the lucky ticket holders who bring in scrap. One ticket will be given with each dollar's worth of scrap turned in and the prizes will be awarded in the evening. Only farmers and those engaged in agriculture are eligible for the cash prizes. There will be no cash prizes for village residents but all who participate in the salvage campaign will have a chance to win the county grand prize, a $25 defense bond donated by the four scrap dealers in the county who will purchase the scrap materials as they are brought in. As a special inducement for farmers to bring in scrap and do their trading in Kewaskum the merchants are offering special bargains that day.

Collection spots in the village will be on the A. G. Koch and L. Rosenheimer lots on Main street. The scrap dealers on hand will pay established and fair market prices for your home, farm, sheds, cellars, attics, garages, fence corners and all over the yard for scrap. No item is too small or large. This is your chance to get rid of your scrap and do your cleaning up and be paid a fair price for it. Paper should be tied in bundles, rags and rubber should be put into bags or boxes and old machines should be taken apart.

DORMANT SPRAY FOR ORCHARDS

Orchards in which oyster shell scale is noticed on the bark of trees will benefit by the application of a dormant spray applied before green growth shows on the twigs and branches. The spray should be applied on a calm and warm day.
Materials to use for the dormant spray:

(1) Liquid lime sulphur at the rate of one gallon to eight gallons of water. Spray operators should be very cautious in applying this spray as the lime sulphur may cause burning of the eyes.
(2) Oils may also be used for the dormant spray. Suggested oils are Dendrol, Sunoco, or Kleen-up. Use oils according to manufacturers' directions.

RASPBERRY SPRAY

On account of anthracnose infection on the stems of practically all varieties of raspberries, it is considered advisable to spray them with liquid lime sulphur, using one gallon to ten gallons of water just as soon as the first sign of leaf growth appears. It is powdered to and about one pound of powder to one gallon of water for better spraying of the spray. Thoroughness of spraying is very important. It should be done with a high pressure fine mist spray. Application should be uniform on all sides of tree or bush.

GARDEN DEMONSTRATION

Garden planting time is almost here. And this year garden planning and planting should receive more careful consideration than it has in past years. Because of the increased demand made upon the American people more consideration must be given to the balance of nutrition in our diets. Home gardens are recognized as one method of improving the family nutrition.

To help farm and city folks better plan their garden and to practice labor saving methods in planting the garden, a series of garden planning and planting demonstrations will be held in different parts of the county. The first such demonstration meeting will be held at the home of George Lickert, Germantown township, at 2:30 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, April 14th. The George Arnold farm is located on Highway 55 and about two miles south of the village of Germantown.
O. B. Combs, vegetable specialist of the College of Agriculture, will direct the demonstration. Anyone interested in learning more about planning and planting the garden is invited to attend.

BLACK AND WHITE SHOW PLANNING MEETING

A meeting of the officers and directors of the Holstein Breeders' association of Milwaukee, Ozaukee and Washington counties will be held at the court house in Port Washington on Wednesday evening, April 15. This will be a planning meeting for the Tri-County Black and White show, to be held in Port Washington at a later date. The show last year was held on the county fair grounds at Slinger.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Merchant Vessel Losses in Atlantic Cause Shortage of Shipping Crews; India Dissatisfied With Cripps' Plan; Observers Ponder New Jap Strategy

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

BATAAN: Defense Vigorous

Most serious attack against General Wainwright's Bataan defense has been launched by General Yamashita, whose men had long remained quiescent although too long to satisfy Tokyo, who soon might have ordered another hara kiri to be carried out.

But the Japs found that the men who had served MacArthur so well were the same ones working under General Wainwright, who proceeded to make a quick shift in his front, to get reinforcements to the beleaguered spot and to meet the Japs with the bayonet.

So vigorous was the hand-to-hand fighting that Japanese dead littered the battlefield, but the American line had held firm, and was not reported pierced at any point.

Wainwright had admitted to the loss of a few advance positions, that was all.

WAR AT SEA: Whittling Away

The German U-boats, perhaps with some Italians working with them, were the only sea force of the Axis which was causing any lasting concern to the Allies, as the Japanese fleet was rapidly reduced to American size, while our fleet was growing larger by about two warships daily. Best news was the navy's announcement that a total of 28 Axis submarines have been sunk by U. S. military and naval forces up to April 1.

The Japanese air fleets were suffering losses of five to one. Pearl Harbor was already twice avenged in ship and plane losses, and the general outlook of the battle against the Nipponese was more favorable looking as time went on despite the map-showing of conquered territories.

The U-boats were continuing their ratio of sinkings along the Atlantic coast for a wide area, but some hopes had been expressed that the loss of the port of Saint Nazaire, and that the arrest of a spy ring in Brazil might make it more difficult for the U-boat skippers to find targets.

The sinkings by U-boats still was not exceeding our commissioning of new merchant vessels, but it was making it constantly more difficult to get skippers and crews. Congress had before it a bill to award sailors hero medals for bravery at sea in torpedoed of the same type as those awarded to navy heroes.

While many seamen were brave enough in newspaper interviews, it was getting increasingly hard to man ships with survivors of torpedoings, and the shortage created by those who had died at sea had to be filled by new trainees, for the most part.

It was one of the worst war bottlenecks, and the army and navy were combining in a coastal patrol to which small boats were to be added in an effort to sweep the subs out of America's shore lanes.

One plan brought forward was to haul oil and sugar up the East coast by the inland waterway in boats of 80 to 300 tons, and in shallow-draft barges.

This traffic could be carried out safely and profitably, surveys had showed.

LABOR:

Both the American Federation of Labor and the C.I.O. had sent messages to General MacArthur in complete support of his command there, and this was held in most circles to mean general support for the war effort.

In the meantime the senate had backed up the administration's antagonism to tampering with the 40-hour week law, and it seemed that this effort to take away from labor its chief gain since the last war was doomed to defeat.

It had been hard for the proponents of the longer work-week to make much headway with the general public as long as large employers were also under investigation and many of them on the spot for making too much profit from war production.

People were pointing out that if labor was getting too much, so were employers, and that perhaps what needed looking into was government waste more than how long workers in munitions factories should be asked to work before they received overtime pay.

JAPANESE: Plans Obscure

The certainty felt by Germany that the Japs were going to move into India through their major offensive instead of Australia gave rise more and more to a feeling that perhaps the landing of substantial reinforcements in the "down under" continent may have given the Japs pause, at that.

It was certain that the Japs were having more success in Burma than they were around Australia, and the view was held that perhaps the Japanese might keep a "token force" north of Australia, and a considerable naval power there, to immobilize the Americans and Aussies.

At the same time, these observers had held, the Japs might turn their attention to India, and profiting by the difficult efforts Britain had had to line up the Hindus on their side in the forthcoming battle, sweep in with their military and win their way to the Persian gulf.

Chief drawback to this view was the fact that the Japs were said to have only half a million soldiers in the entire Southwest Pacific, perhaps enough to attempt an invasion of population-scarce Australia, but surely not enough to spread out through a country populated with 390,000,000 people.

Unless the Hindus were more than passively opposed to the British, unless they were willing to welcome the Jap invaders with open arms, it would be a hopeless task to attempt occupation of the whole subcontinent, any more than the Japs had been able to do anything in China with far more troops.

Therefore many took still a third view, that neither Australia nor India was the prime objective of the Japs, but Siberia, to open a new front against the Russians in the first place, and simply to hold and attempt to develop the East Indian resources of oil and rubber, while doing their real fighting back of Manchukuo.

If either of these objectives, however, were carried out, instead of the occupation of Australia, it was pointed out that it would play into the hands of Australians and Americans, whose ultimate objective was an offensive against the Japs—not merely holding their own.

INDIA: Dissatisfaction

Whether India was finally to accede to Britain's wishes or not it still had been evident that the rank and file of the Indian people had been vastly disappointed with the mission of Sir Stafford Cripps and the message he brought them.

Virtually, they pointed out, it was the same as that offered them back at the beginning of the war, with the sole difference that Britain was committing herself to the giving of India of some form of dominion status, while heretofore Britain had merely said she would "talk it over" after the war.

It wasn't apparently so much that the Hindus wanted their freedom now, but it was that they didn't want to be put into the position of having to fight for their freedom under the direction of the British, and as a vassal state.

The Indian leaders wanted Britain to give them the right to organize, finance and carry out their own defense, with the aid of Britain and other Allied nations.

To this, Sir Stafford Cripps had indicated he had no power to accede. Gandhi and Nehru both being quoted as saying they hoped for a settlement, and other leaders joining them in this hope.

Back of it all was the Hindu desire to carry out a "passive resistance" to the Japs, figuring on their own enormous numbers and their dark and devious ways of doing things to beat the Japs rather than to attempt the seemingly hopeless task of organizing the country militarily for a battle with planes, tanks and guns.

TUBES: Or Tin Needed

Latest of the government "musts" had been tin, and the shaving and cold cream tubes went on the spot, and a new restriction had been made ordering all users of such items to be required to turn in an old tube before getting a new one.

It had gone further, in restricting the manufacture of such items in tin tubes any more, but the enormous output of such factories made it likely that they would be sold in tubes for some time to come.

OFFENSIVE: Expect Drive In Two Directions

London's "listening posts" on the European continent apparently had been able to confirm that Germany's spring offensive was, as had been thought, to be directed against Russia, with 100 new divisions, many of them from conquered or "annexed" countries.

At the same time the clamor had been renewed in England for a "spring offensive" on the part of Britain that would include a major land offensive as well as the air blitz which already had got under way.

A new front in Europe had been urged right along in many quarters and now Lord Beaverbrook himself had broken with Churchill, at least to that extent, and from Miami, Fla., had joined the ranks of those who believed the time had come for Britain's large land army to break out of the islands and go across to some occupied country and start for Berlin.

Victory in 1942 was the slogan of those who believed the time was ripe to strike ashore as well as in the air, and they pointed out that Russia had 7,000,000 fighting men on the eastern front against Hitler's 4,500,000 even with the 100 new divisions, and that a new front on the west would spell ruin to Adolf.

Even the Bulgars, traditional blood relatives and friends of the Russians, had been forced to contribute 200,000 men to the new German armies, the reports had it.

Italy, instead of sending a million men, as had been demanded by Berlin, had sent half that number, it had been reported. The Italian losses on the east front last winter had been frightful.

The direction of the probable offensive was seen as two-fold, one major series of drives to be headed toward the Crimea and the territory south of the Donets basin.

The other major objective was to be the far north, the port of Murmansk, through which most of the American and British lease-lend aid had been going.

BURMA: Air Power Gone

Once again the British, according to their own reports, had found themselves on a fairly major battlefield with no air support at all.

The Japs, the British wired to New Delhi, "have complete control in the air."

The Chinese, under General Stilwell, an American, and the British and Indian forces had divided the Burmese front between them, and were fighting a brave, though apparently losing battle against combined Japs and Burmese, the latter having gone over to the Nipponese soon after the invasion started.

The British, themselves unable to arm the Indians to defend their homeland, had found the Japs in no such difficulty when it came to joining arms to natives willing to give their fighting forces.

Thus the defenders were finding themselves battling, as they did in Malaya, with a force well equipped with native guides and native fighters, in the anomalous position of defending Burma from the Burmese as well as the Japs.

MISCELLANY:

Chungking: Chinese sources said that infected material dropped deliberately from Japanese planes had caused an outbreak of the bubonic plague.

Cairo: Nine persons were killed in a rush for shelter during an air raid, the casualty lists showed. Two thousand ran for a shelter built for 100.

Vichy: The Vichy government, believed by many in the United Nations to be secretly making munitions for the Axis, had requisitioned all hotel and restaurant fixtures containing aluminum or brass.

Washington: It had been considered significant in some quarters that the new Pacific Council of Defense included neither India nor Britain. The report followed statements that the British had wanted returning Aussies to go to India, not to their homeland.

Detroit: The auto industry was divided on the merits of the Reuther plan, brought forward by a labor leader to speed up the conversion of auto plants into factories to make tanks and planes. Some held it foolish, others praised it, and the plan was being debated.

London: Claims by the Germans that a huge convoy had been decimated on the way to Russia were denied by the British, who said that the British and Russian navies, working together for the first time, had beaten off a determined Nazi attack, but that the ships got through.

Washington: The sales tax was finding new support in the queerest spots—the merchants and the chambers of commerce have reversed their position. They represent business men who'll have to collect the tax and, they feared, suffer reduced sales.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON (Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—A business man was spending a lot of time lately deep down in the pits of English coal mines, quite literally saving civilization. He is Eugene Power, who has developed the microphotograph process, by which a person can carry a liberal education around with him in his hipper vest pocket.

In the safety and privacy of the coal mines, Mr. Power is condensing into a few cubic yards, a documented civilization, the historic archives of the "Seepred Isle," for deep and secret underground storage, until the day when England lives happily again in the sun. Copies go to our Library of Congress which hasn't yet gone underground.

In its 1941 review, just published, the Rockefeller Foundation features the filming project, for which it appropriated funds totaling $170,000. Raymond B. Frost, president of the foundation, who writes the review, describes the microfilm as a process by which "the whole of the New York public library's 3,000,000 books could be compressed into the space of its card catalogue." The film reduces a printed page to around one two-hundredth of its area. A projector blows the microphotograph up to normal size with an apparatus for easy, lounging chair reading.

We had news of Eugene Power from a friendly business competitor, Albert Boni, the publisher, who has brought through the Readex Micro-print system, comparable to Mr. Power's, and widely used in universities, libraries and research projects.

"Mr. Power has done an extremely effective job, both commercially and technically," said Mr. Boni, "and deserves great credit for his co-operation in filming the British records. His firm was given a first order of $30,000 by the foundation and results were so satisfactory that this was increased to allow the project to be expanded. He is a technically trained alumnus of the University of Michigan who is quite aware of the wide social implications of his commercial project, and who has co-operated with historical and research societies."

ON ONE day he was in London, grabbing sports writer in a space, eating warily at beaneries and sleeping in a hall bedroom, and the next day he had many palaces, jewels and gold plate, elephants, peacocks, servants and race horses.

The maharajah could have given all mere sports writers the merry haha, but he stayed likeable and clubby and thereafter contributed much to world unity and understanding. The summons to his throne came suddenly, with the death of his father.

This, positively no sports writer's dream, is the tale of the august Maharajah Jam Sahib of Nawanagar, today helping unify India against Japanese attack.

As chancellor of the chamber of princes, he warns the other thrones, powers and dominions that they will be laid low if they don't get together, but he asks them to rally to the empire within the framework of dominion status for India. He insists that this involves no recreance either to the people of their principalities, or to the empire.

As a friendly and democratic sovereign, the maharajah has been a good will builder for the empire. This is highly important just now, as the Indian get-together, aside from the split between Hindus and Moslems, depends much on team work between the princes and their subjects.

When the maharajah was a student at Cambridge, his Oriental titles were somehow corrupted into "rum, gin and whiskey." Through some misunderstanding at home, he lost his status as heir apparent to the Nawanagar throne. He had been amateur cricket champion of Great Britain, and had played in matches in many countries, including the United States. He caught on easily as a sports writer, piecing out his income by tutoring in Sanskrit. It was said that he could whip out a good yarn in a hurry, on almost anything in the sports field.

He has co-operated zealously with the empire government and frequently has been a liaison between the latter and disaffected elements among the people of India. During the first world war, he sent to France, to fight for Britain, two fully equipped regiments of infantry, a regiment of lancers, a fleet of 30 army cars and a fully equipped ambulance corps.

After the war King George awarded him the Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire. This honor he received as graciously as he did the call to the throne.

Business Changes Loom For Small Town Merchant

Nation's Buying Habits Fade Further Changes As Consumers Curtail Unnecessary Travel.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. When I came back to the building where I have a little office which overlooks the tip of the Washington monument I found both buttons on the elevator signal missing. The boy told me they had been broken off. He also told me that he couldn't get any more.

Those buttons were either plastic or hard rubber. That's war. Probably somebody will have to write two new buttons out of wood. I wonder if anyone can be found who is handy enough with a jack-knife today. If he can't I'm kind of sorry for America.

Well, a little later I sat in the office of a man in the department of commerce. We talked about the corner store and what was going to happen to it when the folks can't jump into the car and drive off to the county seat to buy what they want. I mean that in a few months they won't be able to do that because they won't have the tires.

This man whose name is Fletcher Rawls and who was brought up in a small town was pretty optimistic about the new world that the war is creating. He was worried about some things but he relished the idea that all of us are going to have to do a lot of things for ourselves. Like the man who is going to have to elevate out the push buttons for my elevator. (If I don't have to take time out to do it myself.)

"Remember when we used to saw a barrel in two and make two tubs out of it? Cut an oval hole in both sides to make hand holes?"

"Those tubs got you pretty clean on Saturday nights. Just as good as a shiny steel tub. Well, we're going to have to get rid of a lot of print system, comparable to Mr. Power's, and widely used in universities, libraries and research projects."

That was the text of a talk he read to me about how ingenious the small town merchant was going to have to be if he beat the idea of "bigness" that has all but run away with America.

He wasn't quite as optimistic as Earl Sprout, vice president of the Western Newspaper Union, but he had a lot of sound ideas, too. Mr. Sprout says: "That small towns of the United States, always important factors (hear! hear!) I was born in one) in the economic, social and political life of the nation, will now regain much of whatever trade that was lost in the years that saw almost every American family owning a car, is so evident that the new order demands the most serious attention."

In other words people can't shop where they happen to be because they won't be there. They've got to shop near home. And the small town retailer is nearer to half the population than the big town merchant. Half the national population is officially reported as rural; living in towns of 2,500 or less or on farms. All right. That puts it squarely up to the small town merchant, the cross roads store.

A Tough Job Ahead And he has a tough job ahead of him. He has got to be able to get the stuff to sell. He has simply got to go out and fight to get the supplies. The storekeeper is going to be on a ration just like the people who get tires and he has got to prove that he is eligible for the greatly reduced output of non-war products that will exist.

One thing the small town merchant needn't try to put on his shelves is canned goods. The can and the canning cost 90 cents out of every dollar paid for canned goods. But when it comes to frozen goods, the new quick freeze method, you get 70 cents worth of eating out of every dollar you spend. Of course that doesn't take into consideration transportation.

But right there is where the small town merchant may find a new out. The locker system is spreading. There is now a project for establishing more of these cold-storage lockers. Places where the farmer can take his perishable products, fruit, meat or vegetables and for a small cost preserve them. There is a possibility that the small merchant can benefit by this method. He can retail the surplus that the customer business will have for the government. And when America's production (war weapons) will be a drug on the market.

There will be a shortage of Easter lilies this year. Eighteen million of the 23,000,000 lily plants sold in the nation each year ordinarily come from Japan.

Washington, which has no subways, no elevators, and has half a million people more than it was built to take care of, soon will have no taxicabs unless the rubber shortage ends.

The three months after Pearl Harbor, more money was made available for the war effort than in the 18 preceding months. From June, 1940, until the Japanese attack, congress voted more than $64,000,000 for defense. Since December 7, the total has been more than $72,000,000,000.

Buy Defense Bonds—There is a considerable element in the army, navy and marines who believe that the country ought to hear more bad war news. Responsible officers in the public relations division try not to play up the unimportant successes.

Priceless books, manuscripts and records in England are being recorded on 16 mm. film in order to protect them from bombing raids. One hundred feet of such film is long enough to record 1,600 pages of reading matter or the equivalent of five books.

FIRST AID ERRORS

One of the jokes of 20 years ago was the expression "the patient has had all his teeth removed but he still has his rheumatism." This "joke" died a natural death because while the removal of infected teeth sometimes stirred up the poisons around the teeth and these poisons increased the rheumatic pain, nevertheless within six weeks to six months in the majority of cases, there was actually complete or partial relief from pain. As this has occurred in so many cases, jokes about the teeth going but not the rheumatism are now seldom heard.

It would appear that some of our jokesmiths are now making fun of those who are taking courses in first aid to the injured. Thus a recent newspaper item recounted the experience of a group of first aid students who set a supposed fractured leg. After the leg was splinted, in attempting to place the victim in an ambulance, he fell off the stretcher and did break his leg. In placing him inside the ambulance, his head was outside the ambulance door a couple of inches and in closing the ambulance door his head received a concussion. He thus arrived at the hospital with a fractured leg and a head concussion. The item ended with the remark that "with a little more training this group could be sent against the enemy."

What Should Be Done. While most of us know how to splint a broken bone, stop bleeding, and treat shock, there is sometimes a lack of knowledge shown in handling head injuries. As almost 50 per cent of fatal traffic accidents show concussion—blow on head which shocks or shakes the brain without fracturing the skull—just what should or should not be done is important.

Dr. C. J. Potthoff, Minneapolis, in the Journal of the American Medical Association states that whether there is concussion or a stroke of apoplexy the care should be: 1. Keep the victim quiet. 2. Raise the head somewhat if the face is red; keep it level if the face is pale. 3. Give the victim no stimulants. 4. Apply an ice cap if available to his head.

We should try to remember these simple rules regarding head injuries. . . .

Anxiety Is Cause Of Many Symptoms

A patient consulting a physician for the first time had a rapid heart beat, complained of indigestion and inability to sleep, had lost weight and was extremely nervous. The physician had the patient rest for a few minutes and gave him a magazine to read. However, when a second examination was made the patient still had the rapid heart beat and nervousness. The physician naturally suspected early goiter, but a metabolism test showed that while the body processes were working at a higher rate than normal, they were almost within the normal limits.

The physician then asked the straight question, "Have you anything on your mind; are you worrying about anything?"

The patient admitted that he was in a constant state of worry. The physician then explained to him that the tenseness caused by worry and anxiety could cause all the symptoms present. The heart rate would increase, the stomach movements would be irregular and perhaps stop for minutes at a time, the nerves would be on edge, and spastic constipation or diarrhoea could result.

It would be well to recall the findings in 10 cases of Dr. Gilbert M. Beck, Buffalo General hospital, as recorded some months ago in the New York State Journal of Medicine. There is not a typical symptom or combination of symptoms of goiter that has not been observed in typical anxiety neurosis. It is caused by guilt, fear, or feeling of insecurity in the nervous or emotional type of individual. For instance, after a nervous or emotional upset such as a disturbing dream, the heart pounds, misses beats, and there is breathlessness, stomach and intestine disturbances, sweats, tremblings, head noises, weakness and feelings of warmth and cold.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—I have had two X-rays of my chest and nothing showed, but I get so many head colds that I keep worrying about getting tuberculosis of the lungs.

A.—As X-ray shows no sign of tuberculosis you should not worry. However, if you have the "other" signs—gradual loss of weight, tiredness, rise in temperature—get examination by your physician and dentist as some infection may be present.

Q.—What would be helpful in healing and preventing recurrence of a varicose ulcer in the leg?

A.—Usual treatment is to remove, by injection or surgery, any varicose veins near ulcer.

Q.—What is heparin? How successful has it been in treating endocarditis?

A.—Heparin is a liver-like substance occurring in various tissues. It prevents clotting of blood. It is under investigation in various laboratories. Dr. Best, Toronto, co-discoverer of insulin, is doing special work on it.

In Suits or Satin, Wartime Brides Are Lovely as Ever

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

There's big news in the realm of fashions for brides. We used to speak of "the season for brides." Well, there is no special season now, for the entry of an increasing number of wartime brides into the picture has changed all that. Weddings are apt to happen any time, anywhere, these days.

If you are wondering about the fate of the bride in gleaming satin and masses of billowy tulle who has always been the pride and joy of the fashion world, you may rest assured she will grace the springtime picture as radiantly lovely and picturesque as ever. From style centers everywhere comes the news that, while there will be a continuous program of informal weddings because of rush orders to soldier grooms to return to their posts of duty, yet there is definitely a continued trend to big weddings.

For the formal bride who is fortunate enough to have a pretentious wedding in the time-honored way, the exquisite gown pictured in the foreground of the above illustration is a masterpiece of all that goes to make up a "picture." There is infinite charm in this stately wedding gown of gleaming ivory white satin, enhanced with a yoke of Alencon-type lace. The snug-fitting basque is prettily sleeved with short puffs of the satin which add to the youthful technique employed all through the costume design. The Victorian bouquet complements the quaint charm of the gown and the short bridal veil. This bridal bouquet is of white roses and pom-pom chrysanthemums, with a deep red rose as a touch of romantic modernism. The bride's flowers are traditionally the groom's responsibility, but it is the bride's privilege to specify her preferences, and it is readily to be seen that the bride pictured here made a most excellent choice. The bride who is real news this spring is the bride who is going to be married in a simple little suit in a hurry-up wedding because of army regulations and the uncertainty of the soldier-groom's recall to headquarters. Thus a new expression, "suit wedding," has been coined, and to meet its requirements designers are giving of their best to create costumes that will make the simple wartime bride as lovely and charming as the stately bride who is privileged to enjoy all the pomp and glory of a more formal wedding.

Ingenious designing resulted in the suit dress pictured to the right in the above illustration. It is a triumph of soft tailoring and is beguilingly feminine and definitely fashion-right. It boasts two lives, for it serves both as a suit and as a charming dress when the jacket is removed. This New York creation is of navy wool with attached blouse top of red crepe, gaily printed in vivid blues and greens which matches the jacket lining. A jaunty hat of white fabric trimmed with red and white fringe completes the ensemble. The gloves and footwear are perfect selections.

For a young girl who is planning a quiet wedding the simple crepe frock with its cunning jacket effect, as shown centered in the above picture, is ideal. Of either navy or black (black with lots of white is very smart), it will look girlish and "sweet," relieved by deep white lace half sleeves. The lace is removable. However, the high note of charm is the matching lace hat which gives the "pretty bride" look as convincingly as any arrangement of orange-blossoms and tulle that might be devised. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Bright Squares The new prints are superb in color and technique, and they have the look of uniqueness about them which every woman covets. Here, illustrated above, is a print that qualifies on every count as a winner. This New York creation of black crepe, simply fashioned, is scattered with large red and white squares. The skirt is marked by softly gathered front fullness. The bodice is graceful and easy fitting. The wide belt, with its huge buckle, is of black patent leather. Of special interest is the hat, for it is characteristic of an important style trend. Its flattering fan-pleated brim is bordered on the upper side with navy grosgrain ribbon. The white linen-weave straw is very smart.

Short of Materials? Designers Say 'No' To those engaged in apparel industries has come an unprecedented challenge to make the adjustments necessary to carry on a program of conservation of materials in accordance with wartime priorities rulings. The reaction to this challenge is most heartening. There apparently will be no lack of fashion interest but really a gain in new ideas and new ways of making the most of materials at hand. Silk or no silk, nylon or no nylon, we are going to have flattering and wearable hosiery of the sheers of sheer lisle or fine gauge rayon. As to "pure silk" silks, what is being achieved with rayon and other synthetics is a revelation.

Achieve Maximum Style With Minimum Yardage The restriction on materials has spurred designers to create fashions that require minimum yardage. So look for slim silhouettes and shorter jackets styled so intricately you will be converted to the idea of first glance. The new side-saddle drapes are so amazingly slenderizing they are destined to enjoy definite style prestige.

Gray and White Watch the fashion parade and note the preponderance of gray suits, dresses and coats. Gray has become such a hobby with fashion we will be seeing more of it than we have seen for many a season. Gray hats with white accents are outstanding, as is the all-white hat with a gray suit.

Frankly Feminine Hat styles tend to be frankly feminine. Even the huge brims are supple and becomingly manipulated. Some of the newer little hats are mostly a labyrinth of bandeaus with which to anchor tiny forward-pitching flower pieces to the head.

Dumdum Bullet Origin A dum dum bullet is a partially steel-cased bullet with a soft core that expands as it tears through flesh, says Pathfinder. Because of the mushrooming of the core it aggravates the injury of the wound. Use of dum dum bullets was officially condemned by the International Peace conference of 1899. Their name derives from Dum Dum, a town near Calcutta, India, where they were first manufactured by the British for use against fanatical native tribesmen who refused to be stopped by ordinary steel-jacketed bullets.

Resolution No. 11, urging passage of legislation on payment of medical expenses of those receiving social security aids was given second reading and unanimously adopted on roll call vote.

Resolution No. 11

WHEREAS, extraordinary medical and hospital bills are frequently incurred by beneficiaries of the social security aids during their last illness, which the agency administering social security aids is unable to pay because of present restricting statutes and rules governing payments and reimbursements, and

WHEREAS, the present lack of a systematic method of disposing of these bills results in a considerable amount of confusion for the persons administering social security aids and local relief as well as for the creditors, and

WHEREAS, these bills are often left for the town, city or village of legal settlement to pay, thereby creating an entirely unexpected drain upon local relief funds, and

WHEREAS, these bills are sometimes left unpaid because of the place of legal settlement taking advantage of legal technicalities regarding notice and prior authorization which results in serious injustice to the creditor.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Board of Supervisors of Washington County, Wisconsin, respectfully petitions the Wisconsin Legislature to so amend the statutes that county agencies administering social security aids will be able to liquidate current medical and hospital bills remaining unpaid at the time of death of a beneficiary of one of the social security aids by payment therefor directly to the doctor or hospital from regular funds appropriated for the several aids and secure reimbursement for such expenditures in the same ratio as for grants of aid made directly to the beneficiaries of such aids, and

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that Resolution Number 13 of the Washington County Board of Supervisors, dated May 7, 1941, be and the same is hereby repealed, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that a Merit System Compensation Plan for the Washington County Public Welfare Department be and the same is hereby created and adopted as follows:

Merit System Compensation Plan

This plan shall be effective on and after January 1, 1942, and shall apply to all employees of the Washington County Public Welfare Department within the jurisdiction of the Merit System Rule of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Table with columns: Class Title, Min., Intervening and Max. Rates Per Month, listing various job classes and their corresponding rates.

This compensation plan constitutes the official schedule of salaries for all classes of positions in the Washington County Public Welfare Department. Henceforward no salary shall be authorized by said County Public Welfare Department unless it conforms to this plan and is at one of the salary levels for the class.

The entrance salary for an employee shall be at the minimum salary for the class to which he is appointed except that the department may pay an entrance salary at one of the steps above the minimum for the class if such advanced entrance salary has the written approval of the State Department of Public Welfare and of the Bureau of Personnel of the State of Wisconsin.

Travel Allowance

Equitable allowance or reimbursement for travel is a part of this compensation plan and shall be granted above and beyond the compensation for personal services. Employees shall be granted an allowance or shall be reimbursed for travel required in the performance of their duties. The specific amounts allowed for travel shall not exceed the maximum allowed by Section 14.71 (6) (f) of the Wisconsin Statutes, and all employees in the department whose duties require travel, shall receive equal treatment with respect to allowance or reimbursement for travel.

Salary Adjustment and Advancement Regulations

Pursuant to Article IV, of the Merit System Rule of the Wisconsin State Department of Public Welfare, the Washington County Board of Supervisors hereby adopts the following regulations respecting adjustments and advancements in salaries, and these regulations shall be binding on the Washington County Public Welfare Department, and the Washington County Pension Board.

Section 1. Salary Adjustments

(a) In fixing the rates of pay of incumbents of positions at the time any salary range provided by the compensation plan, or any amendment thereto, becomes effective:

- (1) Where the rate of pay of an employee is lower than the minimum of the range prescribed for the class, the rate shall be increased to such minimum.
(2) Where the rate of pay of an employee is higher than the maximum rate of range prescribed for the class, the rate may remain the same as long as the employee retains his present position.
(3) Where the rate of pay for an employee is between the minimum and the maximum rates of the range prescribed for his class but not coinciding with any intermediate step within such range, the rate may at the option of the agency be adjusted, but if so adjusted, the salary shall be raised to the next higher step.

(b) An employee who is promoted shall have his salary raised to the minimum rate of pay for the new class, if his salary before promotion fell below such minimum rate. If, however, his salary before promotion falls within the range of the new class, no change in his existing rate shall be made at the time of promotion, unless his salary before promotion does not coincide with one of the steps in the new range, in which case he shall be paid at the next high step in that range.

(c) An employee who is demoted shall have his salary reduced at least to the maximum rate of the new class. If his salary before demotion falls within the range for the lower class, but does not coincide with one of the steps in that range, his salary shall be reduced to at least the next lowest step in the new range.

(d) An employee who is transferred shall be paid the same salary that he received prior to transfer, if such salary coincides with a step within the range of the class to which he is transferred. If such salary does not coincide with such step within the range of the class to which he is transferred, his salary shall not be lowered, and he shall be paid at the next higher step, if any, for the range of the class to which he is transferred. Such adjustment, however, shall be made at such time as may be provided by state law.

(e) If, at the time this compensation plan becomes effective, certain employees receive an amount of pay for personal services and travel, without distinction as to how much of it is for personal services and how much for travel, the salaries of such employees shall be fixed on the basis of this compensation plan and the allowance for travel handled separately in accordance with the provisions affecting travel allowance or reimbursement.

Section 2. Salary Advancements

(a) All salary advancements shall be based upon quality and quantity of work as reflected by service ratings, and upon other recorded measures of performance, giving due consideration to length of service.

(b) Salary advancements shall be limited to permanent employees who have completed the probationary period.

(c) Salary advancements shall be equitably distributed among the eligible employees of all classes of positions.

(d) No employee shall receive a salary advancement of more than one step in the salary range for his position at one time, except as provided in Par. (f) below.

(e) No employee shall be eligible for a salary advancement who has received an increase of salary during the twelve-month period immediately preceding the date on which the new salary advancement would become effective, except as provided in Par. (f) below.

(f) In cases of exceptionally meritorious service, salary advancements of more than one step in the range, or at less than the twelve-month intervals may be permitted. In each such case, however, the findings of the appointing authority and the facts upon which they are based shall be recorded before such advancement is made effective, and such record of findings and facts shall be made a part of the permanent record of the agency and of the employee.

(g) Salary advancements shall be made effective only on January 1 of each year.

This resolution shall become effective on and after January 1, 1942.

COMMUNICATION FROM H. C. SCHLOEMER

West Bend, Wisconsin
November 14, 1941

County Board Members and County Officials,
Washington County, Wisconsin.

Dear Friends:
Please accept this expression of appreciation for the huge bouquet of flowers and the generous board resolution which I received from you. It is hard for me to tell to you how much your kindness means to me at this time.

I have worked with you for many years and I feel now that I would not exchange that experience for any other that I can think of at this time. We had occasions where we could not agree but I feel satisfied that each one of us always tried to give our people the best possible public service.

Time moves on and we must realize that we are allowed but a brief hour in the arena of public life. We must be ever ready to give up our places so that the next generation can assume its moment of attention and responsibility. We are fully compensated when we know that we have each done our best.

I hope that you will feel individually that I am expressing my sincere thanks to you as personal friends and neighbors. I am sure that my successor will also find that his work with you will always be a most gratifying experience.

Thanking you all again, I am
Sincerely yours,
HENRY C. SCHLOEMER

Report No. 25

The following is a brief of my annual report to the schools to the board of supervisors of Washington County.

As a result of some pioneer work in rural school work of definite value. They may be summed up as follows:

- 1. The frequent talks with parents gave me a knowledge of my pupils.
2. When properly approached, parents are willing to help their children's shortcomings with teacher disapproval sympathetically.
3. Parents are willing to help solve school problems since the child is the common interest of both parents.

To secure parent co-operation, the teacher needs to think out the service she can render the community.

4. All my contacts with parents during the summer the fact that parents are not indifferent to school progress. It is very evident that rural school extension is big dividends with the proper administrative set-up supervising teacher in service during the summer vacation.

Since the summer work disclosed that the upper weak in finding the major and minor parts of a program of in-service training of teachers was performed those weaknesses. During the months of July and August conferences were held with rural teachers where demonstrations to develop knowledge of this technique of teacher conferences were followed by instructional work in which the supervising teachers perfected a program of language wherein they emphasized the importance of views, composition and listening.

To systematize the county course of study in thorough investigation of English teaching was cooperation with the teachers of the high schools. A program of the elementary grades, which received the approval of the authorities throughout the state. Miss Jean Logan teacher of the Kewaskum high school did some experiments in paragraph meaning which will be available to the county just as soon as she is able to write up the results.

The usual visits of the supervising teachers will be the months of September and October, the supervising have made one hundred visits to schools during September one hundred four visits in October. Their work consisted of building, integrating of studies and promotion of the program in the schools. To meet the demands of defense we assure the board that we will not be swept off our feet by too many activities to introduce into the schools. We intend to side-step the responsibility of citizenship training activities that can co-ordinate definitely with the county will be promoted.

The county library is continuing to be a source of inspiration to the teachers of the county in the way of and leisure time reading. During the month of September were drawn from the county library. Demands upon the board, as leaders of the county, will have to give attention to the problem of a more adequate library for the schools. At this time I wish to commend the efficiency of Ethel Wilke in rendering to this office in connection with the library.

Finally, I assure the members of the county board associates and I will give our best efforts to promote an effective experience for the children in our elementary schools.
