Mrs. Wm. Doms Dies; Infant Found Dead

The people of this vicinity join the bereaved survivors in mourning the death of Mrs. Wm. Doms, beloved resident of the town of Kewaskum, which occurred at her home at 12:30 a. m. Thursday, May 14th. Mrs. Doms, nee Minnie Wesenberg, had been ill for about 1 1/2 years with a weak heart and her death was attributed to a heart stroke.

She was born June 16, 1870 in the town of Auburn, Fond du Lac county, and lived there until her marriage to Wm. Doms, which took place on Nov. 21, 1895, at St. John's Lutheran church at New Fane. The couple then settled on the Doms homestead, about one mile west of this village on Highway 28, where they have lived since.

Mrs. Doms had attained the age of 71 years and 11 months. She is survived by her husband, two children, namely Arthur, who is living on the homestead, and Lora (Mrs. Alex Backhaus) of the town of Auburn; two granddaughters and one son-in-law. One daughter-in-law preceded her in death 4 1/2 years ago. She is further survived by the following brothers: August Wesenberg of Theresa, Robert of the town of Kewaskum, Otto of Milwaukee, Albert and Herman of the town of Auburn.

Her body will lie in state at Miller's funeral home until Sunday, May 17, at 1:30 p. m., at which time funeral services will be conducted at the funeral home, after which her body will be removed to the Peace Ev. and Reformed church where services will be held at 2 p. m. The Rev. R. C. Beck will officiate. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

Our condolences are extended to the survivors.

INFANT DANIEL THEISEN

Daniel Victor Theisen, four and one-half months old infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Theisen of Fillmore, passed away suddenly at 11 a. m. Monday, May 11, at his home of enlargement of the typhus gland. Mrs. Theisen bathed the baby and tucked him into bed for a nap. When she went to see if the infant was covered she found him dead, apparently a victim of convulsions or choking. Daniel was a healthy baby and showed no symptoms of illness although he had a slight cold.

Little Danny was born at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, on Jan. 27, 1942. Surviving besides the grief-stricken parents are two brothers, Edward and Robert; his grandmother, Mrs. Math. Theisen of St. Michaels, and his grandfather, Jos. Schneider who is seriously ill at the West Bend hospital following a recent operation.

Funeral services were held at 9 a. m. Wednesday, May 13, at St. Michael's church, St. Michaels. The Rev. Vincent Schneider, uncle of the baby, officiating. Burial was in the parish cemetery. Miller's funeral home, Kewaskum, was in charge. The funeral was largely attended by shocked residents of the community.

Pallbearers were Edward and Robert Theisen, the baby's brothers, Kenneth Schneider and Raynor Herriges, cousins of the infant.

Village Goes Far Over Quota in Cancer Drive

The following letter, in part, has been received by Mrs. Otto E. Lay, local chairman, from Mrs. G. E. Stoddard, Beaver Dam, state commander of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, regarding the very successful cancer drive conducted recently in the village:

May 12, 1942

Mrs. Otto E. Lay
Kewaskum, Wisconsin

Dear Mrs. Lay:

We think your report for the city of Kewaskum for the Women's Field Army drive perfectly splendid, and we have credited your city with 15 $1.00 enlistments, five contributions amounting to $25.00 and $1.00 from the sale of label books. We have placed a star on your card in the personal file as your community has gone far above its quota.

Very sincerely,
Mrs. G. E. Stoddard,
State Commander

Mrs. Lay wishes to thank her four officers—Mrs. Fred Schief, Mrs. T. R. Schmidt, Mrs. L. E. Gibson and Mrs. Maurice Rosenheimer—and all who so willingly helped make the cancer drive a success.

COMPLETES SCHOOL TERM

Mrs. Marvin Martin of this village closed the 1941-42 school term at the New Fane school last Thursday for the summer vacation with a picnic for the children. The school had grade graduates, namely Grace Zanol and Joyce Krueger. One pupil, Vernon Flinks, had perfect attendance for the entire school year.

A. L. Rosenheimer, Sr., Leading Businessman and Eminent Citizen, Passed Away on Thursday Morning

Helped Establish L. Rosenheimer Store, Creamery, Bank of Kewaskum, Aluminum Co. and Malt & Grain Co. and Was Founder and President of Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance Co.

First Village President and Former Board Member, He Was One of Oldest Members of Milwaukee Grain and Stock Exchange and Was Widely Known in County, State

Year the railroad was completed through here from Milwaukee to Fond du Lac. By constantly going out after business and winning over the good will of the people, the brothers helped make Kewaskum a market center. The store built by them was a two-story frame structure, 30x60 feet. The business was first conducted on a small scale but expanded rapidly and it became necessary to erect a warehouse and storage rooms. In 1903 the volume of business reached such proportions that a new, up-to-date building, 90x100 feet was erected.

Keen to see the need of a creamery for the farmers, the brothers built and conducted a creamery, located at the present site. The creamery was disposed of in 1904 to Grell & Wollensak of Johnson Creek.

The brothers built a large grain elevator where the Lay Lumber Co. warehouse now stands. In 1889 the elevator was destroyed by fire. The next year the building of a malting plant was begun and was completed in 1891, when the Kewaskum Malt & Grain company was incorporated. This building, of 600,000 bushels per year malting capacity, also was destroyed by fire in 1911. The Rosenheimers immediately started to rebuild, putting up a fireproof structure. The new plant furnished water for fires and electric lighting for the village. It was one of the largest and most modernly equipped in the northwest.

In connection with the mercantile and malting business they were also engaged in the banking business. The latter business was conducted in conjunction with the store until 1901 when the Bank of Kewaskum was incorporated and Adolph Rosenheimer was elected its president. He served in this capacity many years. In the fall of 1911 Mr. Rosenheimer bought the controlling interest of the Citizens State Bank of Kewaskum and the two were consolidated. Through his careful and conservative policies the bank has grown to be one of the largest state banks in the county. In 1912 a new bank building was built.

In 1911 the brothers dissolved partnership. Moritz with his son Lehman and son-in-law David Rosenheimer, took over the mercantile business, while Adolph and sons took over the banking business, malting plant and electric light and heating company.

Ever ready to reach out into newer fields of activity, the establishment of the Kewaskum Aluminum company was brought about. The factory was built in 1919-20 and was incorporated in 1919 with Adolph Rosenheimer, Sr. as its president. When the Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance company was organized on Aug. 17, 1901, Mr. Rosenheimer was a charter member and was also elected its president, which position he maintained to the time of his death.

Mr. Rosenheimer always was public spirited, ready to help every improvement. He was instrumental in carrying on a successful fight for the incorporation of the village in 1895. For his good work the citizens honored him by electing him the village's first president which office he held for several terms.

Deceased is survived by three sons, Newton W., Maurice W. and Adolph Rosenheimer, Jr., all of this village, who are engaged in businesses established by their father; one daughter, Linda (Mrs. G. A. Landmann) of Scotland, South Dakota; a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Boerner of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; a brother, Moses Rosenheimer, of Slinger; seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday, May 18, from the residence, the Rev. R. G. Beck, pastor of the Peace Ev. and Reformed church officiating. Interment will be in the Rosenheimer family cemetery at Slinger.

Pallbearers will be L. P. Rosenheimer, Alex Rosenheimer, Meyer Rosenheimer, Wm. Hausmann, Jr., Paul Landmann and Henry Rosenheimer.

Adolph Rosenheimer was numbered among the substantial and enterprising citizens of the state in which he lived. A man of broad capacity and keen business judgement, he was interested in the development of Kewaskum in all its phases, and did his best to promote its welfare. Gradually he worked his way upward until he obtained a position of influence and of prominence, enjoying at all times the good will of the public. His death will be keenly felt as a great loss. To the bereaved survivors our sincere sympathy is extended.

Five Persons Hurt in Three Auto Accidents

Two persons were injured last Thursday at 10:45 p. m. in a triple-car crash near the Cechvala farm on Highway 141 in the town of Farmington, near St. Michaels. Cars in the crash are owned by Frank McKee, R. 2, Kewaskum, and which was driven by James McKee of that address; George Kern, R. 2, West Bend, with Mrs. Clara Kern of the same address at the wheel, and Ed. Peters, R. 2, Kewaskum. Mrs. Kern sustained a cut on the forehead and Eugene Hoerig, R. 2, Kewaskum, bruises. Both were treated at the West Bend hospital. All of the cars were damaged on the left side.

HORSEMAN IS INJURED

Beauford McMillan, Milwaukee, sustained a fracture to the right leg and cuts and bruises Sunday afternoon when a horse he was riding on County Trunk DD in Town Auburn was struck by a car. McMillan, who had rented the animal at the Bar-N-Ranch nearby, was riding south when the horse suddenly jumped to the right, throwing him against a car driven by Ernest Engelman of Jefferson. The driver then was thrown to the ground. The windshield of the car was broken.

INJURED IN TIP-OVER

Ludwig Vodnik, Milwaukee, received a rash on his head from broken glass and John Moharke, Jr. of the same city sustained a bruise on the hand when the 1936 Dodge sedan owned by the former and driven by Moharke tipped over on Highway 55, four miles north of Kewaskum at about 4:30 a. m. Sunday. Two other occupants, Moharke's father and brother, were not injured. They were driving south when Moharke lost control of the car and it rolled over, landing in the ditch. The car was badly damaged.

KRUEGER DOGS COP PLACES IN LA VALLE FIELD TRIALS

Burton Krueger of this village attended coonhound field trials at La Valle, Wis., the past week, in which hounds from Iowa and Wisconsin were entered. Krueger's dogs again stole the show. In the heats Krueger's "Red" won first line and tree in the first heat and Krueger's "Mutt" placed first in line and tree in the second heat. "Red" also won the first line in the fox chase and the heat in the final. Krueger says he enjoyed the trip to attend the trials very much.

MRS. ROSENHEIMER ELECTED

Mrs. D. M. Rosenheimer was elected treasurer of the Central Regional Women's Guild at the second annual spring conference held at the Evangelical and Reformed church in Wauwatosa on Wednesday, May 6. More Young Couples Wed in Spring Rites

PASKEY-BARTELT

The St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran parsonage in this village was the scene of a marriage rite performed by the Rev. Gerhard Kaniess on Saturday, May 8, in which Miss Bertha Clara Bartelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bartelt of the town of Auburn, became the bride of Edwin W. Paskey, son of Mrs. Emma Paskey of Waupun.

For her marriage the bride chose a gown of ivory white velvety satin worn with a silk lace-edged illusion veil held by a headdress of sea pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of carnations, sweet peas, snapdragons and ferns.

Mrs. Dorothy Spillmann of Fond du Lac, a cousin of the bridegroom and Robert Bartelt, Jr., brother of the bride, attended the couple as matron of honor and best man respectively. The bride's attendant was attired in a gown of pink voile and her bouquet consisted of pink carnations, snapdragons and ferns.

Jalacs and cut flowers decorated the home of the bride's parents, where a reception was held and wedding dinner served at 8 p. m. for the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Paskey are now at home on the bridegroom's farm at Waupun.

BODDEN-KRIESER

Miss Evelyn Krieser, daughter of George E. Krieser of Kewaskum, R. 3, became the bride of John J. Bodden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert V. Bodden of Theresa on Saturday, May 9, at 9:30 a. m. in St. Theresa Catholic church at Theresa. The Rev. M. Groff read the nuptial mass.

Miss Arleen Krieser, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Miss Pearl Kibbel was the bridesmaid. Bernard Bodden acted as best man and Prvt. Joseph Schweitzer was groomsmen.

The bride's gown was of white nylon with a sweetheart neckline, Chantilly lace yolk, midriff and panels extending from the waistline to the hem of the long full train. Her long veil was topped by a headpiece set with pearls. She carried white roses and sweet peas.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore identical gowns of blue muslin du sole with long full hoop skirts ending in hoops. Tiaras of flowers were worn in their hair and they carried colonial bouquets of pink roses and sweet peas.

A reception was held at the bridegroom's home. Mr. and Mrs. Bodden will reside at Theresa where the groom is engaged in farming.

VOGT-SCHNEIDER

In a nine o'clock nuptial mass read by her cousin, the Rev. Vincent Schneider, Miss Helen Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schneider of Kewaskum, R. 2, and Carl Vogt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nic Vogt of West Bend, R. 5, were joined in wedlock at St. Michael's church, St. Michaels, on Saturday, May 9. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

At the ceremony the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Leo Fellenz, as matron of honor. Another sister, Miss Leona Schneider, and Eleanor Vogt, sister of the groom, were her bridesmaids. The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Clarence Vogt. Denis Vogt, another brother and Leo Fellenz were groomsmen and Edmund Rinzel and Michael Stelling served as ushers.

A quaint style gown of silk marquisette with heart shaped yoke edged with accordion pleated ruffles was worn by the bride and matching ruffles encircled the hem and large court train. A crown of orange blossoms held her fingertip veil and her arm bouquet consisted of white roses and feverfew.

The matron of honor was attired in a gown of blue silk marquisette with sweetheart neckline and a crown of flowers held her matching veil. The bridesmaids wore silk marquisette gowns in pink and blue with sweetheart necklines and matching ruffles which fell from crowns of flowers. All of the attendants carried arm bouquets of snapdragons and delphinium.

Sixty-five guests were entertained at a reception at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Vogt are now at home on R. 5, West Bend, where the groom is engaged in farming. The newlyweds are both graduates of the West Bend high school and before her wedding the bride was employed at the Enger-Kress company in West Bend.

School Participates in Tri-County Music Festival at Lomira

On Saturday, May 9, the band and chorus of the Kewaskum high school participated in the first annual Tri-County music festival at Lomira. Nearly 400 students took part in the festival.

Beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning and continuing until 11 o'clock, instrumental soloists and ensembles presented their numbers. From 11 o'clock until noon the choral groups from the member schools presented their numbers.

At 1 o'clock, following the noon intermission, band members from all schools assembled in the gymnasium for massed band rehearsal. From 2 until 3:15 o'clock each of the bands played a group of 4 or 5 selections. Following the afternoon concert program all bands assembled for the parade. The parade of all bands, led by drum majorettes, marched through the streets and returned to the high school building. The "I Love a Parade" spirit was everywhere in evidence as the bands marched along the route of march.

After a social hour extending until 7 p. m. all band members, 265 of them assembled on the floor of the gymnasium to make preparations for what proved to be the show of the day—the massed band concert. If you have never had the opportunity to witness 265 high school musicians assembled as a common band, you can hardly appreciate the spectacle presented.

A program of ten numbers was presented by this large group. Mr. Fur-long, Mr. Hill, of Campbellsport, and Mr. Kaiser, who directs the Brandon, Oakfield, Lomira and Stockbridge bands, served as directors of this fine organization.

All competing schools, namely Brandon, Campbellsport, Kewaskum, Lomira, Oakfield and Stockbridge, were represented by bands, while only four schools, Brandon, Campbellsport, Kewaskum and Lomira, presented choruses.

The chorus, under the able direction of Mrs. Hintzman, presented the same group of three numbers that were given in the local music week program held in the school auditorium on Wednesday, May 6.

It sometimes is necessary to witness such a fine program to fully appreciate what can and is being done musically in our schools.

All in attendance were enthusiastic over the success of the first venture of our Tri-County. It is hoped that many from Kewaskum will find it possible to attend next year's festival which will be held in Campbellsport.

The festival is the result of discussions carried on between principals and their music instructors at meetings last winter. Primary purpose of the occasion is to provide the advantages of festival participation without the element of competition. The final objective is to raise music levels and create greater interest in the music courses of the Tri-County schools.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Increasing U. S. Air and Naval Power Demonstrated in Pacific Sea Battles; U. S. Wants Car Owners' 'Extra' Tires; OPA Decrees Gas Quota for East Coast

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

The strategic importance of Madagascar to the two main supply arteries of the United Nations armies in the east are indicated by the above map. By capturing the key naval base of Diego Suarez, British Commandos supported by marines, infantry, air forces and naval units, assured protection of these vital supply lines.

MADAGASCAR: 40-Hour Triumph

A 40-hour epic of British Commandos' gallantry came to a victorious conclusion when the Diego Suarez naval base on the northern tip of Vichy-held Madagascar surrendered.

While French army outposts still held military control over the Madagascar hinterlands, the fall of the huge naval base assured the United Nations possession of the vital gateway to their eastern supply routes. Moreover, it was vindication of a new spirit of aggression which made the Japs "miss the bus."

Military authorities in both America and Britain pointed out that the successful attack marked a refreshing contrast to the fiasco at the key port of Dakar, Africa, a year ago.

It was revealed in London that the Commando attack on Madagascar, supported by marines, RAF forces and naval contingents, had been planned three months in advance.

PRESIDENT OF PERU: Closer Latin Ties

Closer knitting of relations between Latin America and the United States was seen in the visit of President Manuel Prado of Peru to this country.

When Senor Prado arrived by clipper plane, it marked the first official visit in history, of a South American president to the United States.

Significance of this precedent-breaking official mission to the future of Pan-American resistance to Nazism was seen in the fact that Peru was the first South American country to break off relations with the Axis under the accord reached last January at the Rio de Janeiro conference. President Prado's Anti-dictator policy before the war was an important step in the virtual exclusion of Axis propaganda from Peru.

Under a recent decree, Peruvian armed forces now function under the direction of U. S. army and navy officers.

RUBBER: U. S. Wants Tires

Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, intimated that county fairs, football games and other public gatherings might have to be curtailed this year in the interest of rubber conservation, when he announced that the government planned to purchase extra tires from private car owners. By "extra" was meant more than five to a car, he said. Purchases will be on a voluntary basis.

At the same time the Office of Defense Transportation disclosed that it was drafting plans for "rationing" civilian travel by train, bus or airplane. Officials declared that "travel-as-usual" would be a thing of the past by the end of 1942. They expressed the belief that sharp curtailments of non-essential trips would be necessary before the end of the summer.

That requisitioning of civilian tires and cars would be undertaken if necessary was a view supported by a number of Washington officials.

In outlining his views on motor car use curtailment, Mr. Patterson said the prospects are that there will be sufficient rubber for the army, navy, war-workers and essential civilian supplies. He pointed out that there was a million tons of rubber "now rolling on the highways" and that it must be conserved.

Civilians who expect synthetic rubber plants to bring any relief this year are doomed to disappointment, it was declared. All such rubber is earmarked for the nation's armed forces.

AIR STRATEGY:

American bombers winging their destructive way over Axis-held Europe will operate from American-manned air bases in Britain and under a United States command, it was revealed following conferences in London between British and American strategists.

Washington indicated its desire for such an arrangement and British officials concurred, it was announced. The result will be that unlike the situation in World War I, there will be two air forces in Britain.

PACIFIC SEA BATTLES: U. S. Shows Power

A crucial test of the United Nations' increasing strength in the Australian sector was given as Japanese sea and air might massed northeast of the key continent in a thrust, from New Britain, the Solomon Islands and the Loyalside Archipelago.

Within a five-day span American warships and planes had taken a toll of 16 Japanese ships either sunk or badly damaged. Engagements were the heaviest since the battle of the Java sea.

Concentration of the Japanese naval forces in the Australian area was regarded as a threat to the steadily expanding U. S. communication lines in the South Pacific. Blocking of this threat meant that not only would Australia's position be more secure, but that the "springboard" for an ultimate United Nations' offensive against the Japs to recapture the East Indies and the Philippines would be further prepared.

Japan's strategic power in this area lay in its possession of the Solomon islands which form stepping stones along Australia's northeast flank starting from Rabaul on the island of New Britain and extending down to New Caledonia.

GAS RATIONING: East Coast First

Eventual gasoline rationing for the entire United States loomed as a future possibility when the Office of Price Administration limited the sale of motor fuel in the Atlantic Seaboard area to two to six gallons weekly to "non-essential motorists."

The initial rationing applied to 10,000,000 motorists in 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia. Officials stressed the fact that sufficient gasoline would be provided for essential driving but not enough for extensive "pleasure" driving or other non-essential purposes.

The OPA's order included three types of ration cards: "A" for non-essential motorists; "B" for essential users such as defense workers, public service officials and others; and "X" providing for unlimited usage. This latter category included doctors, nurses and kindred professional people whose duties require rapid and extensive travel.

In the scale of gasoline usage, the "A" range was based on an average mileage estimated at 4.5 miles daily. The "B" range covered from 4.5 to 13 miles daily and the "X" for mileage far in excess of these averages.

LIVESTOCK SHOW: War Casualty

Indicative of necessary war-time restrictions on the nation's transportation facilities, was the decision by its directors to cancel the International Livestock Exposition held annually in Chicago for the past 42 years.

The anticipated lack of transportation facilities to handle the livestock formerly shipped here from all sections of North America was cited as the principal reason for the cancellation.

Traditionally the mecca for rural Americans of all ages in the week following Thanksgiving, the exposition recorded an all-time high attendance of 400,000 last year.

TRADE BARRIERS: Ban Local Restrictions

Suspension of trade barriers between states which are adversely affecting war production was predicted following the close of a federal-state conference on war restrictions in Washington.

Particularly critical at present are state and local laws governing man power, construction and housing, the delegates were informed. Steps must be taken by state governments to relieve this situation, speakers declared.

In pointing out how barriers to interstate commerce may be lifted, Price Administrator Leon Henderson told the conference of plans to have prices and rationing regulations administered by local boards and to make as many decisions as possible "at the cross-roads."

Each state, he said, will have a full-time OPA director, an attorney and a price representative. National Housing Director John W. Blandford Jr. urged greater uniformity and a higher degree of standardization in building code requirements.

Rent Ruler

Charged with the responsibility of setting up machinery to place ceilings on rents affecting more than 86,000,000 persons, Paul A. Orter, deputy administrator of the Office of Production Management, is directing the federal rent control program under the supervision of Price Administrator Leon Henderson. Landlords in affected areas have until June 28 to stabilize rents in line with OPA recommendations.

'BACKDOOR THRUST': Japs Use Burma Road

Japan's "backdoor" invasion of China via the Burma road continued into Yunnan province despite U. S. army air attacks which knocked out 74 enemy planes in a single week.

Seriousness of the newest threat to China's resistance was seen in the decision of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to take personal command of his armies. That Chiang could count on stout co-operation from his American allies was shown by the repeated attacks by big Yankee bombers from India on the Jap's main airbase at Mingaladon north of Rangoon, Burma. This field was the main Japanese base for the all-but-finished Burma campaign which had been extended to China.

The effectiveness of the American air offensive was illustrated by reports that each bomber was able to drop 250-pound explosives on the field in spite of heavy anti-aircraft fire.

CHARGE ACCOUNTS: Time Buying Curbed

Every American who used a charge account or an installment purchasing plan to acquire the goods he uses in everyday living was affected by the Federal Reserve board's orders clamping the brakes on time-payment buying. The orders, tightening restrictions already in effect, were the latest move in President Roosevelt's attack on spiraling prices.

The Reserve board decreed: 1—A limit of 12 months in the period over which most consumer's goods could be purchased on installment plans.

2—Down payment of one-third cash on a majority of consumers' items. Exceptions were automobiles purchasable over a 15-month period and furniture and pianos for which a down payment of only 20 per cent is required for purchase of over a 12-month period.

3—Payment of charge accounts in full by the 10th day of the calendar month after purchase. Failure to abide by this order would prevent the purchaser from buying on the account until he settled up.

4—The following additions to the list of goods on which regulations already apply: automobile batteries, tires, tubes and accessories; bedding, draperies, household electrical appliances; used furniture; athletic goods; household equipment; non-military clothing including shoes, hats and other haberdashery.

SPECIALISTS SOUGHT: Also Allied Nationals

Two moves to increase the flexibility of the army were made when the war department announced the creation of the new army specialist corps and the selective service headquarters declared that nationals of all Allied nations will be able to join either this country's forces or those of their home nation.

Men with certain specialized skills will be recruited for the army specialist corps. They will replace those who are capable of going into active military service. In general, no men subject to the draft will be admitted into the new corps, according to the announcement. Those accepted may become officers ranging from lieutenants to "director generals."

In the move to recruit nationals of our allies, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, announced that reciprocal arrangements had already been worked out under which Canadians residing in this country might join either the Canadian or American forces. This agreement will be extended to other nations.

MISCELLANY:

Honolulu, Hawaii, first American area to suffer Axis aggression, proved again that its people are grimly determined to see the war effort through, by oversubscribing four times the Islands' War quota of $250,000 War Bond quota.

New York: Rationing of silver bullion supplies for industrial purposes has been undertaken because of increased industrial demand.

Washington: Production of 2,500,000 gas masks a month for civilian use has been authorized by the Office of Civilian Defense. The OCD reported to congress that it had directed the army chemical warfare service to develop facilities for turning out the gas masks.

Hollywood: Motion picture producers have been limited by the War Production board to $5,000 a picture for new material used in constructing movie sets. It was estimated that total construction costs of movie sets formerly ranged between $10,000 and $150,000 a picture.

U. S. Army Mans Outposts Of Far-Flung Battle Fronts

United States Assumes Military Command in Area Many Times as Wide as Its Own Borders.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

the English speaking mixed with a heavy smattering of races drawn from as many different lands as our North Americans. "Daughter I am in my mother's house, but mistress of my own" wrote Kipling of "Our Lady of the Snows" as he called Canada whose wide vistas of lakeland, prairies, mountain and forest were too wide for even his facile genius to bring to a single canvas. Now she is a grown-up daughter who can speak to the motherland on equal terms.

Interdependency Today, bound together in the same cause, the United States and Canada are more interdependent than ever. They must share in the framing of a new world after the war. Canada has never accepted a lend-lease arrangement with the United States. Canada's parliament has voted a free gift of a billion dollars to Britain.

Canada, dependent on so much of America's output to sustain her war effort is struggling to maintain financial independence on a table with no burrs on her tongue, as an equal counselor among the North Americans. Because the United States is a giant, financially and industrially, and Canada is small in comparison, she is deeply affected by what America does. That is why she is keenly interested in how the United States works out the program for checking inflation laid down in the President's message of April 27.

Canada's war effort depends on the United States for certain materials which Canada neither grows in her fertile soil nor fabricates in her factories. Canada has things America needs. You cannot go into one of the busy Canadian war factories without seeing the name of an American city stamped on some machine—American machine tools is an essential which we have furnished Canada so that she could equip not only her own army and navy but help Britain to equip hers.

And Canada has had a problem. She bought much more from us than we from her. American dollars became as scarce north of the border as corn pone (and it's hard to think of an American product unknown in Canada).

Tourist Dollars One of the chief sources of American dollars was the American tourist. The tourist trade fell off with the beginning of the war. It has almost disappeared with the rationing of gasoline and tires. No Canadian can come to the United States and spend his money here (reducing Canada's dollar exchange) without proving his visit is strictly business.

One of the clauses of the famous "Hyde Park agreement" made by Prime Minister McKenzie-King and President Roosevelt was "co-ordination of price policies." Today that co-ordination has begun, 14 months after it was laid down. For there can be no effective price control in Canada if there is no control in the states whose products she has to buy. If American prices should soar how could the Canadian government force its own merchants to keep prices down on the many things they get from the United States, or how could the Canadian war budget bear the strain if the many war products they must have from us (gas engines for instance, for planes and tanks and trucks) went up in price?

Canada began to study price controls immediately after her declaration of war with Germany in 1939. But it was not until December, 1941, that maximum price regulation went into effect. Since then Canada has been watching, waiting, hoping that we would follow suit, because there could be no Canadian price ceiling unless there was a "north-american" price ceiling. It would be a house with less than half a roof.

On December 1, 1941, Canada froze prices and wages allowed for unpreventable rise in the cost of living by granting a bonus in wages if the cost of living went up. It has, however, varied little, now if the President's program is successfully carried into effect, stabilization can be assured. We have followed the Canadian pattern.

U. S. Influence But some American prices had already affected Canada. Take the typical case of the Canadian merchant who either had to sell grapefruit at a loss or stop selling them because the United States was the only source. If all the merchants had stopped selling grapefruit it would have had a bad effect because it would have meant a greater strain on the market for other fruits or vegetables—tomatoes, for instance, which happen to be in great demand for similar vitamin content both at home and in Britain.

Furthermore, with her foreign markets cut off the United States would have been badly embarrassed if it had lost Canada as market for grapefruit. So the Canadian government gave a subsidy to the merchant. He continued to buy American grapefruit true of the advanced price. This was of other more important products. Such co-operation is certainly the height of international graciousness and is typical of the lengths to which Canada is willing to go to co-ordinate its efforts with the United States.

Each American soldier on skis is equipped with one of the new ski stoves on which he can cook his food when away from his supply base. The stove weighs less than three pounds, and a pint of gasoline, kerosene or alcohol provides fuel for ordinary cooking for four days.

Famed Indian Scouts of Arizona Share Memory of Glorious

These famous Indian scouts stationed at Ft. Huachuca, originally mustered into army units shortly after the Civil War, are no longer recruits these scouts as there are only seen to retire and are discharged this once famous organization in a memory. Today the members of the detachment are performing able service as reservation range and fire guards. Many tales told of the bravery of Indian scouts attached to regular army units.

Corporal Jim Lane, U. S. army scout, second from right, stands with John Rope (Black Larriet) retired U. S. army scout, one of the many battles in which he has fought.

Sgt. Sineux L. Riley, eyes and ears of Indian scouts this century.

These grizzled Indian features make a very interesting picture to right: Corporal Jim Lane, John Rope and Kassey Y-32.

Privates William Major and Andrew Passon look for movements from lofty peak of Huachuca mountains.

Saddle Used by Army The McClellan saddle is used by the army. It is a saddle which has been in use for a great many years. It has lately been modified by changing the attachments for the girth and stirrup leathers and adding a leathery skirt. The saddle consists of a wooden tree reinforced with metal, then covered with rawhide, and lastly covered with leather. There is absolutely no padding on the army saddle. A folded blanket is used under it.

Pasca clutched his arm. Pointed.

touch to the bandaged arm and straightened. "He'll be stiff for days, but nothing more serious unless inflammation sets in. Better get to bed, Harcourt, you look all in."

"All in! You don't know the half. I've had hair-raising adventures and escapes since I came into this north country but nothing equal to the hell of these last hours. Came down twice on the shore. Had to risk it, though I knew if my self-starter went on the blink I was done for. Radio wouldn't work. Compass useless. Chester half dead, I thought. Good Lord! Why am I living over that? It's behind me. If you are sure Jimmy is all right, I'll turn in."

"I'll stay with him." Harcourt's tired eyes narrowed as he stepped out upon the board walk. Lights, voices in the dormitories at this time of night! What happened? Moonlight dappled the sparkling water with silver. What did he miss? Paxton's yacht! Gone! Janice!

He flung open the door of the H house. In the fanback chair, shoes on the rug beside her stockinged feet, sat Martha Samp. Her face was deeply lined, her eyes seemed to have been pushed back into her head with a sooty finger.

"Where's Janice? Where's Grant? What's happened?" She patted the hand on her sleeve. "Sakes alive, Mr. Bruce, don't get scared yet."

"Scared! What do you mean? Where's Janice? Has she gone with—where are you here to tell me?" Bruce dropped his head on the arm outflung on the mantel. Martha Samp explained quickly: "She's gone with Paxton, if that's what you mean, but not the way you think."

"Where is Janice? Where the devil is Grant?" "He's gone in the launch huntin' for Kadyama. That sneaky Indian is out in his kayak an' Mr. Tubby is sure he knows somethin' about the shootin'. Paxton took M's. Hale, Mary and Janice out for a sail. They were goin' to get as near that belchin' volcano as they safely could. It was a beautiful day when they started. Along about four a storm came up, sudden. There was a great rumblin' an' then a wave which seemed mountains high swept up. Almost reached this plateau."

"Go on! Go on!" "Even then we didn't get anxious about the boat, 'tis such a big one. About two hours ago the radio station picked up a message from the Captain. The color went out of her face. Her fingers picked nervously at his sleeve. "Well? Well?" "He said that the yacht was all right an' M's. Hale an' Mary, but that he was cruisin' round to pick up the launch! The Modern Mariner's launch! Who was in it?" "Janice and Paxton and two native pilots."

"You fly up play tag with stars, yes sirree." Pasca's guttural voice came through the ear-phone in warning. "Gettin' day quick. Look—see. We fin' dem now." "Watch the shore for signs of a fire, Pasca."

Below, the white yacht steamed slowly, like a fabled bird floating on the breast of the water. Still searching. From a volcano-top in the east a column of smoke rose languorously, as though the force within the mountain was too exhausted from its orgy to do more than send out a puff of hot breath.

Harcourt leaned over the side to follow Pasca's shaking finger. Listed at a precarious angle, a launch was piled up on a beach under a cliff. He sent the Sikorsky wing-slipping down for a closer view. The launch from the Modern Mariner! Each foam-tipped wave set the contents awash. Life preservers floated out with the receding tide.

Harcourt strained his eyes till they seemed starting from their sockets, flew low over it. Not a sign of life. No smoke rising from the woods near. That wrecked boat didn't mean necessarily that Jan had been in it when it struck. Paxton might have thought it wise to go ashore before. Paxton!

"She's safe! I know she's safe!" Harcourt told himself savagely and climbed into the air. On toward the mountain. Pasca, who had been leaning over, looking down, clutched his arm. Pointed. Above a clearing on the shore hung a blue haze. Wood smoke! No mistaking that. He leaped over. Shouted directions to the Eskimo. Could he land on that shore? He must. The great winged creature obeyed his lightest touch, came down and settled on the water with the ease of a mammoth swimmer. On the edge of the shore Harcourt touched the control which released the landing wheels. It taxied smoothly up the sloping beach.

He flung helmet and goggles to the sea before he climbed out. Revolver in hand, he gave a few curt directions to Pasca. "I do w'at you say. Your face white as crater-top. You fin' me pretty quick now. All fine an' dandy. Yes sirree."

Harcourt nodded. His throat ached unbearably. If Janice were under that smoke haze she would have heard the plane. She would have rushed to the shore long before this. Perhaps she was hurt. Horror clutched at his throat, he stumbled into a clearing. Stopped. Caught at a scorched spruce to steady himself. Were those real persons on the threshold of that blackened shack? Their clothes were scorched brown, their faces smooched as stokers'. The girl's head rested against one side of the door frame which leaned like the Tower of Pisa. The man was huddled against the other. Were they—before his parched tongue could formulate the word, he had his hand on her shoulder.

"Janice! Janice!" Paxton lifted heavy lids. Closed them. Mumbled sleepily: "Damn you, Saki. Why you wake me?" He tumbled over flat as the girl sprang to her feet. She held out her hands. Sobbed. "Bruce! I knew you'd find us." He caught her close in one arm. His hand tightened on his revolver. "Look up at me, Jan." She leaned her head back against his shoulder. The grime about her mouth was dented with dimples, laughter shone through tears in her sleep-clouded eyes. "Look at you! You don't have to growl that command. I never was so glad to look at anyone in all my life."

"Thank God!" His heart swelled in a passion of gratitude. She was living, safe unharmed. He slipped the revolver into his holster. The arm which held her tightened. She pressed her face against his breast before she confessed with unsteady gaiety: "I hate to seem grossly material at this climactic moment, but you don't happen to have a broiled live lobster or sea-food Newburg up your sleeve, do you?" WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
(Consolidated Features—WNU Service.)

NEW YORK.—It will come hard to think of Gen. James H. Doolittle as the Jimmy Doolittle who used to be the bantamweight boxing champion of the Pacific coast. But there's no mistake. The newly elevated general, nominated by President Roosevelt, is none other than the weather-beaten, tanned, wrinkled, rumpled, bandy-legged roughhouse fighter and fier of a few years back. He has grown gray in the air, and much of his hair has been wafted out into the wind-stream, since the days when he first became known as a speed demon.

He won't be long in opening up his own fighting front, somewhere, somehow—judging by the way he did the same in a boxing match in which we once saw him.

His father, a carpenter and prospector of Alameda, Calif., took his family to Alaska and there young James bucked blizzards, mushed with soundings and got generally case-hardened for his latter adventurous career. Back in the States, he enlisted in the army air service.

Outside loops were to him just like skipping the rope and he quickly became the army's crack stunt-flier and racing pilot, instructing rookies at San Diego. He studied at the army's technical school at Dayton, Ohio, and later enrolled at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In 1925, he won the Schneider cup for the army, hitting a speed of 232 miles per hour. These exploits of his daredevil years qualified him for some hair-raising adventures in demonstrating American planes to foreign governments. In 1929, showing off fighting planes in Chile, he fell from a window ledge and broke both ankles.

The next day, when a competing German pilot went aloft to give his plane a sales workout, Doolittle had himself lifted into the cockpit of his plane, with his broken ankles tied to a rudder bar. Then by clever and hazardous maneuvering he forced his rival to the ground, and tore off a few snap-rolls around the tall peaks of the Andes.

His stunt brought to the Curtiss company one of the largest contracts ever awarded to an American company.

BARNEY OLDFIELD, the automobile racing driver, pulled up in a race to change a tire. There was a bit of bungling on the job.

Esprit—The Thing That Slams Out spoke up: "Meester Oldfield what his crew needs is esprit."

"Go out and buy one!" bellowed Barney. "We gotta win this race."

It's like that in war. We can't buy the "esprit," although we are fanning up quite a lot of it. Somehow we've got to get the teamwork. In the meantime, there is observable in these parts a serial demonstration of fast double-play teamwork between management and labor, which is heartening.

We cite the George Rogers Construction Co., demon pier-builders, who recently finished a 700-foot pier and shipway in 43 working days—25 days, or more than 30 per cent, faster than any previous record for a job of this type. This company has been slugging out similar piers since 1869. It is crucially important work, as on these piers, fighting ships are repaired or remodeled.

There's no involved incentive plan for employees. The workers are old-line shipbuilders who know what they are building for. George W. Rogers, grandson of the founder of the firm, and now its head, says of his workers: "At mass meetings of the various shifts on the job the men themselves have helped provide the driving force required to maintain the record-breaking schedule."

Mr. Rogers studied engineering at Cornell university, with no intention of being a "dock-walloper," as he calls his occupation. He went to Cornell and won his letters in basketball, football and track. When his father died, he took up the family business.

In the last war, he served in the navy as a deck officer on a battleship, and did convoy duty and saw action with submarines. With the outbreak of this war he tried to get in the navy, but they offered him three stripes and a desk and he decided he would be more useful in kicking out piers in a hurry—which is an old family custom. He lives in Forest Hills, and has two daughters, one 19 years of age and the other 21. They are studying in one of the defense projects, learning to be motor mechanics, dismantling and assembling engines.

ANOTHER old, established business is that of the Scottish Fraser clan, raiders and scouters since the Fourteenth century, now headed by young Lord Lovat, who led the Commando raid on Boulogne. The clan did a slick Commando job storming the heights of Abraham, near Quebec, 183 years ago. In the Boer war, Lord Lovat's late father won fame and victories. Lord Lovat, Simon Joseph Christopher Fraser, today's Commando leader, is 31. Educated at Oxford, he is the 17th baronet of the line.

Smartly Tailored Woolknits Are Ideal for All-Day Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

AS EVERY woman knows, now that our country is in an out-and-out war, there are busy days ahead for all. One of the reactions brought about by the present war condition is the developing of a new psychology in dress which carries an urge to choose clothes that are simple and goodlooking at the same time that they underwrite a guarantee of dependable wearability.

For a perfect answer to the problem, let your quest lead you into the realm of woolknitted apparel, and you will be elated with what you will see in the way of smart clothes to victoriously keep you looking spic-and-span, fashion right and attractive through every hour of each busy day.

Gay deceivers they are, these new knitted suits. You'd never dream they were machine knitted until you test the "feel" of them as well as the "look." At first glance many a stunning woolknit looks as if it might be tailored of tweed or other material, for modern woolknits have a fabric-like appearance which is simply baffling. They glory in the fact that they sag not (neither do they stretch), and they are non-wrinkling. To which add a styling that embodies all the intriguing details of expert tailoring. Which is the same as telling you that a modern knit suit has everything that makes for a victory clothes program for patriotic women.

Representative groups of woolknit fashions are made up, to a large extent, of just such eye-appealing suits as the three shown in the above illustration. A closeup study of the woolknit suit to the right reveals highly significant details such as, for instance, the skirt which is a new achievement in machine knitting. It is full-fashioned just like a handknitted garment and consequently won't sag, stretch or spring. The jacket is softly styled with a ribbed waistband that lends the exclusive look of being hand done. The original model is in melon pink enhanced with plastic flower buttons.

Red Coat

There has been a record-breaking call for red coats this season and the demand is still going strong. The attractive all-purpose coat pictured above is made of bright red woolknit tricot-cord fabric in coating weight. Both in material and in styling it is outstanding. The bloused raglan sleeves which tie at the wrists and the casual swing of this coat, which is deftly tied at the neck, make it wonderful to wear over sports, daytime or evening clothes. Red coats have become such a sensation that "the little red coat" may join "the little black dress" as a favored tradition.

Picked Up in Studios of Style Designers

And vary your suit hats a little with a jersey turban instead of a brimmed felt or straw. Silk jersey is cool, you know. Does the prospect of hot summer nights frighten you? Then be sure to see the new short nightgowns. Wide, deep cuffs decorate the newest gloves. Another glove idea that is cheery and practical is cotton in various patterns such as polka dots, plaids and florals.

Cotton Hats Match Slacks or Dresses

Milliners are fashioning cunning hats of gingham, seersucker, pique, flowery chintz and quilted calico. They are a fitting complement to slacks and culotte outfits. In fact, some of them are so smartly styled into little sailors and brim effects that they seem to be made especially for the new print suits and black cotton dresses. When you have a piece of dress goods left over, go into conference with your milliner. She can make a highly fashionable chapeau, matched to the dress with which it is to be worn. This matter of making the hat of the identical material of the dress or blouse with which it is to be worn offers an intriguing program. Particularly smart are hat and neckwear sets made of taffeta silk. The little sailor type is stunning done in taffeta. Tie a huge bow of the taffeta to pose at the neck of your blouse or to wear with your smart new coat or suit.

Another Variation on Cotton Theme Is Lace

In speaking of the practicality of cotton weaves for summer wear, it is encouraging to know that a series of cotton laces have been produced that can be depended upon to wear perfectly. These come in the loveliest pastels and also in navy. Made up into pretty daytime frocks they answer the demand for a dress that looks charming but has a sturdiness look of it that takes it into the class of assured dependable wearability.

One reason among many why women are so enthusiastic in praise of nylon hose is that they wash easily and will dry like magic. Now come the sweaters knitted of nylon thread or yarn, and it's simply a delight to see how beautifully they wash and the amazingly short time it takes them to dry. There's a big future in store for the nylon sweater! For women will want clothes that are practical.

● In bringing us buying information, as to prices that are being asked for what we intend to buy, and as to the quality we can expect, the advertising columns of this newspaper perform a worthy service which saves us many dollars a year.

● It is a good habit to form, the habit of consulting the advertisements every time we make a purchase, though we have already decided just what we want and where we are going to buy. It gives us the most pleasing feeling in the world: the feeling of being adequately prepared.

● When we go into a store, prepared beforehand with knowledge of what is offered and at what price, we go as an expert buyer, filled with self-confidence. It is a pleasant feeling to have, the feeling of adequacy. Most of the unhappiness in the world can be traced to a lack of this feeling. County Agent Notes

CHICK BROODING MEETINGS
 Two chick brooding meetings will be held in Washington county on Friday, May 22. At these meetings the feeding, care, management and housing of young chicks and pullets will be discussed. J. B. Hayes of the poultry department of the College of Agriculture will be present to lead the discussion.
 The morning meeting will be held on the Joe A. Kauth farm, Rockfield Route 1, (Germantown township) at 10:00 o'clock. The Kauth farm is located about one mile northeast of Rockfield.
 The afternoon meeting will be held on the George Pamperin farm, Allenton, Route 1, (Wauna township) at 1:00 o'clock. The Pamperin farm is located two miles west of Kohlsville on County Trunk D.

Anyone interested in learning the latest information concerning the raising of young pullets is invited to attend either of these two meetings.

SPRAYING FOR WILD MUSTARD CONTROL
 During the past year several farmers requested information and help in the eradication of wild mustard. This weed is an annual weed and is one of the most troublesome weeds found on the farm. This is because it produces an abundance of seeds which remain alive in the soil for many years. The problem of eradication is one of (1) inducing as many of the seeds in the soil to germinate in a given year as possible, (2) to prevent any further weed seeds from being produced, and (3) at the same time produce a crop on the land. Such a program is possible by the use of a recently developed spray called "Sinox." This chemical when properly used will give almost a 100 per cent control of wild mustard and not injure the grain crops.

A special spray outfit is needed to apply Sinox. If a sufficient number of farmers are interested in mustard spray, perhaps a mustard control spray machine could be rented. It will cost between $3.00 and $4.00 per acre to apply a mustard control spray. Increased yield of grain on sprayed fields will easily repay this cost.
 Will farmers who are interested in applying Sinox to their mustard spray report to the county agricultural agent's office before May 25th, the number of acres they want sprayed? It may be definite plans for a mustard control program can be worked out.

CANKERWORM DESTROYS MANY TREES
 Cankerworms are appearing in destructive numbers throughout the southern part of the state on maple, elm, and other shade trees, as well as on fruit trees, the state department of agriculture reports.
 These pests, appearing soon after the new leaves open, have been responsible for the defoliation and serious weakening of thousands of shade and fruit trees during the past few years. They are especially abundant in areas adjoining lakes, rivers and streams. Property owners who experienced damage from them last spring and summer should check their trees now and prepare to apply control measures before the foliage is destroyed.

 The department recommends arsenate of lead applied to the foliage at the rate of four pounds in 100 gallons of water for spraying while the foliage is just opening. When the leaves reach full growth and are less liable to injury by sprays, and the cankerworms become more nearly grown and more difficult to poison, four or five pounds of arsenate of lead should be used to 100 gallons of water.
 Trees that have been completely defoliated only once by pests of this kind will recover without serious damage, but if defoliated two or three years in succession, they grow so weakened that they become subject to attack by other insect pests and plant diseases which may prove fatal.

CONTROL POTATO DISEASES
 Most Wisconsin potato growers will need to use special care when selecting seed potatoes this spring, if they are to avoid losses from two important surface-borne diseases which threaten the potato crop this year.
 Potato scab which was especially bad during 1941, and black scurf which cuts the stand when conditions are right, are two diseases to which John Brann, extension potato specialist, is calling attention this spring. He is recommending careful selection of potato seed, and then treating the seed with one of the commercial organic compounds used for potatoes. He also suggests that since both of these diseases live over winter in the soil, that fields free from disease be chosen for potatoes. He recommends that potatoes be placed in a long rotation system in which some green crops like red or lammoth clover, sweet clover or alfalfa be plowed under.
 Since Wisconsin growers have experienced four successive seasons of late blight attack, Brann calls attention to the need for carefully sorting potato seed, and for doing it in daylight so that any tubers affected even slightly with the disease may be sorted out. Seed which contains a large amount of blight should be completely discarded and clean seed be obtained in its place.
 Potato seed cutting time is an opportunity for discarding spindly or pear shaped potatoes, those that have hair sprouts, and those which show internal discoloration. These are symptoms of degenerate or diseased po atoes, a condition which will be transmitted to the following crop.

REPORT UPSURGE OF MASTITIS IN MANY FARM HERDS
 An upsurge of mastitis has been observed in Wisconsin dairy herds during the past few months.
 This was the word from Dr. B. A. Beach, head of the veterinary science department at the University of Wisconsin, who lists reports of far more trouble with mastitis in recent months than ever before, and who attributes it in part to the heavier program of dairy production made necessary by the war.
 "We believe," Beach said, "the increased production of milk has something to do with this,....not that there is a direct connection between high production, but there may be an indirect one in herds where mastitis infection is present in carrier cows."
 Beach pointed out it has been shown that while a cow is producing heavily, she lacks the body resistance to disease she has when she is not producing heavily. Many cows carry mastitis germs in their udders without serious ill effect until their resistance drops and then trouble follows.

WORK TODAY...

Plan For Tomorrow

Straight thinking is important today, as Government war expenditures bring increased earnings for many families.

Prudent persons will take advantage of today's opportunities to pay off their obligations and get out of debt... to invest regularly and as much as they can in U. S. Defense Bonds... to save in advance for heavier Taxes next year... to lay aside a reserve fund for post-war readjustment.

Think straight... and think about tomorrow

"A mistake?"

FLU AND PNEUMONIA

It has been interesting to watch the progress physicians have made in controlling certain ailments.

At one time the results obtained in the treatment of appendicitis brought praise or blame to the surgeon who performed the operation. The fact that the patient or the patient's family did not call the physician until it was too late was never considered.

When it was found that taking food or a laxative during an attack of appendicitis was responsible for many deaths, the death rate in appendicitis immediately dropped.

The next step in cutting down the death rate was early operation—within 24 hours from the beginning of an attack.

Another dreaded acute disease—pneumonia—is being fought successfully by the use of the new "sulfa" drugs, as they are called. During the flu epidemic of 1918-19 physicians had no special or specific drug with which to fight pneumonia which so often followed attacks of flu. There was always the question as to which drugs or drug were most effective and whether the heart stimulant should be used early or late in the disease.

During the autumn and winter of 1940 and 1941 there was a widespread epidemic of flu, followed as before by pneumonia. By the use of the sulfa drugs, the death rate in pneumonia continued to fall despite this flu epidemic.

However, physicians using these drugs in pneumonia state that "the prevention of deaths from pneumonia still depends much on the promptness with which the patient calls the doctor. Statisticians point out that in 40 per cent of the fatal cases the doctor was not called until the fourth day of the illness or later, and in 12 per cent, not until the eighth day or later."

A gratifying point about the new drugs is that they save such a large percentage of pneumonia patients among the young and middle-aged. In cases of very young children who did not get a "good start" in life, and in older individuals with heart, kidney, blood vessel and chronic chest conditions, the sulfa drugs have not been so effective.

The Metropolitan Information service points out, however, that too often the efforts of the physician cannot save the patient because delay in calling him has put the patient beyond help.

Fieldstone Fireplace
Question: Our new house has a large fieldstone fireplace, the stones of which are held together by large gobs of black cement, which give the whole thing the looks of an adobe job. Could you suggest a treatment for this black, depressing cement, in order to lighten the effect?

Answer: Rake out the black mortar joints to a depth of a half-inch or more. Clean out all loose particles and the joints with a stiff mixture of 1 part portland cement and 3 parts sand. If a light colored joint is desired, use a cement color mixed with white portland cement. All these ingredients can be had at your local mason material supply yard.

Ninety-Five Degree Heat
Question: A three-story frame house occupied by old folks is heated with a hot air furnace up to 95 degrees. Is this temperature too high for safety?

Answer: That is an exceptionally high temperature to maintain, and naturally taxes the furnace to the limit. But if the chimney is in good condition and all inflammable material is kept a safe distance away from the furnace, which is developing such high temperatures, I believe the house will be safe. A higher percentage of humidity in the air of the house may make it possible to reduce the temperature.

Treating Liver and Gall Bladder Cases

It is known that among the many duties performed by the liver is the storing of glycogen—sugar—which can be used by the body when the amount of starch or sugar eaten is not enough for the body's needs.

An editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Association giving the results obtained by research workers, points out that while the storage of glycogen in the liver is important, the presence of proteins in the liver is even more important from the standpoint of preserving the liver cells from damage.

Thus a patient seriously ill with liver and gall bladder trouble, in which operation has become necessary, has heretofore been given meals rich in starch so that a good supply of glycogen would be present at the time of operation. The discovery that protein foods will give greater protection in less time is a great step forward in the protection of liver tissue.

"These experiments appear sufficiently conclusive to warrant the adoption of a high protein, high starch, no fat diet in the before operation treatment of the patient seriously ill with disease of the liver and gall bladder."

Another discovery as to the value of the protein diet is that swelling of the parts of the body due to an excess amount of water in the tissues following operation, or any injury in fact, is due to a great extent to lack of proteins.

"Under normal conditions the swelling (edema) due to operation begins to disappear 48 hours to 72 hours after operation, but if not enough of the proteins is present, swelling actually increases causing a mechanical obstruction of the passage of food from the stomach into the intestine.

The suggestion, then, is in these liver and gall bladder cases, that the diet consist of 80 per cent proteins, 20 per cent starch foods, and no fats.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Is there any nourishment in buttermilk? Why is it recommended in diet for colitis?

A.—There are 80 calories in a glass of buttermilk. It is recommended because it helps prevent intestinal putrefaction, is soft and bland—does not irritate.

Q.—Could you tell me if there is a cure for involuntarily melancholia? Is gland treatment of any help?

A.—Ask your physician about the use of ovary extract.

Q.—I find it impossible to sleep in a cold room. Is there any particular advantage to sleeping in an unheated bedroom?

A.—There is no advantage in having cold air at night as long as you have a window or door open slightly so that air is moving.

Q.—My nine-year-old son has been troubled with pains in his feet due to very high arches. Please suggest some remedy.

A.—Very high arch usually requires operation, not a support. Your own physician can refer you to an orthopedic physician.

Rusty Nail Heads
Question: In my house rusty nail heads show through the paint. In repainting, how can this be prevented?

Answer: Rub the nail heads with sandpaper until they are bright, and then coat them with aluminum paint.

Tree Roots in Sewer
Question: You have advised using copper sulphate to destroy tree roots in a sewer. How much should be used and how often? Will it have any effect on the pipe?

Answer: A half-pound of copper sulphate (blue vitriol) dissolved in a basin full of water should have a killing effect on the roots, and will not injure either metal pipes or clay tile. If the growth of trees near the line of pipe is heavy, so that there are many roots to contend with, the treatment can be given once every week or two.

TOY SNAKES WILL KEEP PIGEONS FROM ROOSTING ON BUILDINGS

THERE is a great fascination in watching flocks of pigeons. To owners of buildings, however, pigeons may mean trouble and unpleasantness. As the birds are protected by law, nothing can be done to keep them off that will be in any way harmful or injurious to them, and there has seemed to be no way in which they could be kept from roosting on cornices and other parts. However, one eastern city has worked out a plan for the protection of its city hall, on which the pigeons have been roosting in great numbers. This was the placing of toy snakes on cornices and other parts where the pigeons were in the habit of roosting. The effect was almost miraculous, for the birds took it for granted that the snakes were alive, and gave them a wide berth. The plan worked so well that it was adopted by other building owners, and to such an extent that the stocks of toy snakes in the city were quickly exhausted. Of course, the plan has no ill effect on the pigeons, but it should not be followed during the nesting season, when the parent birds might be kept from the nestlings.

Lamb Chops Keep Your Kitchen Comfortably Cool (See Recipes Below)

Kitchen Comfort

Are the warm lazy days here? Then dispel these lagging feelings with quick-put-together meals that cut down your work to a minimum of your oven to practicing.

Season to make the tender and meats that are best when broiled. Broiled lamb chops (both young and old) and young chickens. If you are even very hot and in which you are broiled before you put the oven, you will be cooking down your work to a minimum of your oven to practicing.

When the time you spend broiling, select foods that are easy to cook and can be cooked together. Our menu today is an example of this: the lamb chops and the young chickens. This requires about 15 minutes. Serve with tomatoes which are stuffed with cooked lima beans and broiled.

Refrigerator

Appreciation for your refrigerator undoubtedly zooms up fast with the first appearance of warmer weather. You could possibly do a little thing to keep your refrigerator that keeps cool.

If you bake at home, we have prepared, and absolutely free to you, a recipe book full of recipes as Oven Soothers, Honey Pecan Biscuits and Rolls. Just attach your name and standard Brands Inc., 1000 St., New York City.

Kill Aphids

GET THE BLACK LEAF! One quart of Black Leaf 40 will kill all aphids on your plants. It is safe for you and your pets. It is the only one that kills aphids on the spot. It is the only one that kills aphids on the spot. It is the only one that kills aphids on the spot.

To Relieve MONTAGUE FEMALE PAIN

If you suffer monthly cramps, headaches, nervousness, "irregularities" due to monthly disturbances, Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine you need. It is the only one that kills aphids on the spot. It is the only one that kills aphids on the spot. It is the only one that kills aphids on the spot.

When the kitchen well ventilated, you will drive away the feeling of fatigue that comes from cooking. Warm air is better than cold air. It is better to have the windows open from the outside than from the inside.

slip-covered. Do they make a satisfactory appearance when covered? Would small tables at each side of the sofa be appropriate? If so, what kind?

Either big rugs or scatters would be appropriate in your living room. Scatter rugs would of course show more of the nice floor than a big rug would give the room more of a feeling of tranquility. What about a soft-toned green and a flowered design would be our choice. I have seen kidney-shaped sofas slip covered and they look all right if the job is perfectly tailored, but it's harder to do than a straight piece. This same flowered material for draperies over white organdy glass curtains would be pleasant. For accessories use wine red glass, and for lamp tables, a library step table.

PATTERNS SEWING CIRCLE

YES! Pattern No. 1541-B is truly a miracle dress. Not only does it whisk away pounds, it improves and dignifies your posture, gives you a more slender figure and gracious pose.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Take especially good care of pots and pans now that metal is needed for war industries. Often old ones can be repaired. Heat them slowly and do not use too hot a fire, thereby reducing the strain on the metal and amount of heat used.

Unwrap soap before storing. The soap dries out, lasts longer when exposed to the air several days before use.

Cheese will stay moist longer if the edge is thinly spread with butter before the cheese is placed in the refrigerator.

Clean out cellar and attic to avoid undue fire hazards. Turn the old rags and papers over to organizations conducting defense salvage campaigns.

A stale loaf of bread, with crusts removed, will yield eight cups of crumbs. When stale bread begins to collect around the kitchen, grind it into crumbs, and store away in a glass jar until ready to use.

Colorless lacquer can help you cut down a lot of cleaning on large ornate pieces of silver used only for decoration. Thoroughly clean, polish, wash and dry the silver, then cover it with a thin coat of lacquer.

Do not add salt to the water when boiling corn on the cob—it would toughen the corn. Boil corn 10 minutes, drain and serve immediately tucked in the folds of a napkin. Never let corn stand in water after it is done; that would impair the flavor and texture.

The ideal way to put linens away is to roll them. Mailing tubes are excellent, so are broom handles, window-shade rollers or sections of poles on which rugs may have been rolled. Store linens in a cool—not hot or dry—place.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1541-B is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires, with short sleeves, 4 1/2 yards 39-inch material.

by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

Two million volunteer Red Cross workers—a militant army of mercy.

GIVING a pint of blood for the army and navy is a new form of patriotism in which thousands of loyal Americans are now participating.

This blood, processed into life-saving plasma for emergency transfusions, is collected from volunteer blood donors at 18 Red Cross Blood Donor centers. For technical reasons, these centers are limited at present to cities near laboratories which have contracts with the army for processing the blood into dried plasma, according to the Red Cross.

The program was launched in February, 1941, following a request by the surgeons general of the army and navy that the Red Cross provide 15,000 pints of blood to be processed into dried plasma.

Numerous cases have been reported where plasma saved the lives of American soldiers and sailors suffering from burns and traumatic shock, and Red Cross plasma has been distributed to our armed forces operating in the Atlantic and Pacific war theaters.

Red Cross Blood Donor centers are located in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Buffalo, Rochester, N. Y., Indianapolis, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Boston, Milwaukee, Cleveland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Cincinnati, Brooklyn, and Washington, D. C.

WHEN TO USE SUGAR STAMPS

A schedule of dates has been set up for the use of your sugar stamps according to the number placed on each stamp. The following schedule shows the stamp number and the period of time in which it can be used:

Stamp No. 1—May 3 to May 16 inclusive.

Stamp No. 2—May 17 to May 31 inclusive.

Stamp No. 3—May 31 to June 13 inclusive.

Stamp No. 4—June 14 to June 27 inclusive.

Each stamp will permit you to purchase one pound of sugar. Sugar stamps are good only for the period designated above. It is important that you make note of this because it is your responsibility to use the stamps in the proper period.

As yet we have no available information on sugar allowances for canning. The federal government has decided on a five pound allotment for canning purposes but when and where this will be available has not been announced. Watch for official notice in this paper.

If you failed to register for your rationing book, do not apply before May 28. On this date a rationing board will be set up in the City Library at West Bend.

A total of 28,630 consumers registered for war rationing book No. 1 in Washington county. This is 98.8% of our 1940 census, and is a little higher than most of our surrounding counties.

Wins $25 Salvage Drive Bond; County Ranks High

Clara Ellen Schramm, a Germantown school pupil, was awarded the $25 war savings bond donated by Governor Julius P. Heil, and Washington county ranked fifth in the state in the amount of salvage materials collected during the recent statewide "MacArthur week" held to collect scrap materials to help win the Axis.

That was the report issued Tuesday by D. J. Kennel, West Bend chairman of the Washington County Salvage committee. He revealed that the Schramm girl was credited with 50.875 pounds of scrap, collected and brought to the shipping center by herself and her friends.

Although one of the smaller counties in the state, Washington county was exceeded in the amount of salvage collected only by four much more densely populated counties, each of which contains a big city. They are Milwaukee, Racine, Waukesha and Sheboygan counties in the order named, Mr. Kennel said.

The Schramm girl was the second Germantown youngster to win a war savings bond as a reward for salvage collection efforts in this county. The first went to Joe Sennot, and it was donated as a county grand prize by the West Bend and Hartford scrap dealers at the time the first salvage drive was held.

With reports in from all the state's 71 counties, Wisconsin is shown to have collected 31,511 tons of scrap metal and other salvage materials during its intensive clean-up drive for urgently needed war materials, W. E. Simons, Milwaukee, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Salvage committee, announced on May 9.

KEWASKUM 4-H CLUB NEWS

The Kewaskum Handy-Helpers met Wednesday morning from 9 to 10 o'clock. The meeting was opened by singing "I Pledge My All."

Two new members joined the club in the group of Foods and Nutrition. They are Barbara Ann Schaefer and Betty Ann Rose. We now have a group of thirty members. We are sorry that Ruth Volm's name was missed in the last article.

The sewing class completed their looseleaf binders and exhibited them at the meeting. Adeline Vorphl gave an oral report, "How I Made my Notebook." Mary Ellen Miller reported on "How I Made Cocoa."

Our books and health records were examined by our leaders, Mrs. Al Wietor and Mrs. Anthony Polenz, and the officers of the club. The members received 4-H club pins. The cooking class is planning to make muffins and cocoa for the class to serve at our next meeting on June 11th, at one o'clock. We expect Miss Bilstein, county home agent and 4-H club leader to be present at this meeting.

We closed the meeting by singing "America, the Beautiful," "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and the "Star Spangled Banner."

23 County Firms Get Pay Roll Plan Certificates; 100% Participation Goal

Walter Malzahn, chairman of industry of the Washington County War savings staff, is calling a meeting of his committee and a representative from each industry in the county to formulate plans for a renewed effort on the pay roll allotment plan.

Mr. Malzahn reported to the treasury department that there are 23 firms in Washington county who have 99% or more of their employees on the plan, thus entitling them to a certificate. The firms who will receive this certificate are:

Schaetz O.I. Co., International Stamping Co., Laubenstein & Portz, Phoenix Manufacturing Co., Libby, McNeill and Libby Can. Co., Kraft Cheese Co. of Wisconsin, W. B. Place & Co., Natural Casing Co., Kewaskum Aluminum Co., Storck Products Co., Thiel's Mill, Rockfield Canning Co., Amity Leather Products Co., Barton Corporation, Enger-Kress Co., West Bend Aluminum Co., West Bend Equipment Corp., West Bend Lithia Co., Pick Manufacturing Co., Wisconsin & Electric Co., LaPlast Hatcher, Inc., Gehl's Guernsey Farms, Kewaskum Creamery Co.

The need today is to increase the deductions which have been authorized. The treasury department wants everyone to save at least 10% out of every pay check. Plans will be worked out at the meeting to contact all employees again endeavoring to get them to increase their payroll deduction authorization to at least 10% of their earnings.

According to Mr. Malzahn, many employees have already done this. The pledge campaign just being completed was the means for contacting everyone and telling them of the needed increased savings in U.S. War Savings bonds and stamps. As a result of the pledge they made, a great many workers immediately authorized increased payroll deductions.

Washington county ranks very high in the nation on the payroll allotment plan, for the purchase of war savings bonds. Workers have wholeheartedly commended it. Participation has been on a voluntary basis. The industry committee has so far to go to get 100% participation. That is their goal! And added thereto is their belief that the 100% participation will be on the basis of at least 10% of everyone's pay check.
