Tractor Goes Through Barn, Injuring Woman

Mrs. Gregor Wels of near Elmore was injured last week when she fell off a tractor she was driving and out of a barn door onto the ground, a distance of about nine feet. The tractor also toppled through the door and fell to the ground below. The accident occurred on the Wels farm while Mrs. Wels and her husband were hauling hay. She sustained a fractured arm, several broken ribs and painful bruises.

The tractor became out of control when she was driving it into the barn and it went right on through. Mrs. Wels was thrown clear when the front wheels of the tractor dropped through the barn door and the machine followed through. Mrs. Wels has been confined to her home. The tractor was badly damaged.

The drive continued until midnight Friday, July 10, and all citizens were urged to make another thorough search for rubber by that time, although it will be gladly accepted at any time, Friday, July 10, was official rubber salvage day for Kewaskum and vicinity. Residents placed their scrap rubber in front of homes and business places and it was collected on that day. Farmers were urged to bring the rubber in to filling stations. One cent a pound was paid.

Receives Letter From Private in Australia

Miss Ruth Reysen of the town of Auburn received a letter July 4th from her boy friend, Pvt. Alfonso J. Schladweiler, who is now stationed in Australia. She submitted the letter to this office and because of its educational interest to people of this vicinity we are publishing same below. Private Schladweiler is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schladweiler of Route 1, Kewaskum, and has been in the army 16 months. He was at Camp Livingston, La., 11 months, then was transferred to Fort Devens, Mass., where he remained seven weeks until being transferred to Fort Ord, California, before leaving for Australia. The letter follows:

Somewhere in Australia
May 21, 1942

Dear Ruth:

Hope this finds you all in good health as it leaves me. No doubt you have been wondering as to my whereabouts and my well being. I am in Australia now and made it O. K. We're in the beginning of winter here but winters are mild here, which is proven by orange and lemon trees in bearing at the present time right around here.

People are very kind to us and we mix in well with the Australian soldiers.

The different type of money with its three pence, six pence, pennies and pounds, is very puzzling at first but am learning it gradually. It all is very interesting.

The first thing of farming interest that I saw after we arrived at the new camp was a farmer working in a field across the fence from us. He had a team or span of ten horses hitched up side by side on a machine which I would call an old type quack rooster. His horses were well matched, one looking just like the other—Clydesdale horses each weighing about 1500 lbs.

When we went after supplies quite a ways from here the 2nd or 3rd day it was misty and rainy weather, quite cool, and I was surprised to see the farmer's cattle out in the field with most of them having a rain coat or stable blanket wrapped around them.

This is also quite a sheep country and it is not uncommon to see herds of a thousand sheep. Another interesting, and one of our first noticed changes was the way of driving here. The cars have the steering wheel on the right hand side of the road. It seemed very strange to us at first and after getting in our vehicles and on the road it was very puzzling.

The houses are mostly all the English type and mostly stone structures with big heavy stone walls surrounding their lawns.

We have a lot of birds here, all different from ours except the blue bird and wild canaries which are practically the same as those in the states. We have a lot of magpies here. They resemble a crow.

The lay of the land runs very much the same as around home, low tending to rolling and at places gravel hills. The ground seems to be very rich and farmers have as much as a whole section of land each.

The gasoline being rationed, bicycles and horses are very popular. People go to town with light wagons and two wheel carts, the latter being the most popular, some of the carts being made from front axes of cars with tires on. When they get to town they don't tie up the horses at all they back up towards the curbing with the horse facing the street. The trains differ from yours in many ways. I'd prefer those in the states.

Flowers of all sorts are in full bloom and fields are all green, serving as good grazing.

People are not near as extravagant here as they are up home. Everyone is working full blast at some defense product. One notices more here that we are in war and everybody is doing all he can in every way possible.

Oh, yes, the beer and wine here is much stronger than yours up there. A glass of beer is called a "handle of beer" and sells for 7c (meaning seven pence) and is about 8 or 9 cents in American money. A shilling is 17 cents in American money. A florin is two shillings. 1 pence (3c) is .04, a six pence (6c) is .08c.

The Australians are all eager to see or exchange money for our silver money. Our next pay will be in foreign money to avoid confusion between American and foreign money, thus having all one and the same exchange.

Cigarettes are hard to get and American makes are practically out of the question. Razor blades are rationed too and one can only buy 2 at a time. It is hard to get to stores as they close at 6 p. m. including taverns.

On the boat we had to get used to the sailors' way of reading a clock, or watch. Instead of using the a. m. and p. m. system, they start the day at midnight which instead of 12:00 m. is 12:00 and then 1:00, 2:00, etc. up to

Local Firemen Win $28 at Badger Tournament

A huge crowd, including a large number from Kewaskum, attended the 48th annual Badger Firemen's tournament and West Bend firemen's picnic in the park in the latter city on the Fourth. The Kewaskum firemen won a total of $28.00 in prize money in the contests and parade.

The morning featured registration of visiting firemen, association contests and a children's parade. Grafton won the most money in the contests, followed by Barton, Jackson, Kewaskum, Cedarburg and Saukville. Kewaskum's winnings amounted to $15. The firemen failed to win in the single hose coupling and ladder climbing contests but placed fourth in both the hose relay and bucket relay contests.

The parade of fire companies, bands, etc. at one o'clock was witnessed by thousands. Prizes were awarded to departments having the most men in the parade. Barton took first and Kewaskum second, winning $12.00. The Kewaskum firemen's band, headed by its three graceful, new girl majorettes, also participated in the parade and was well received.

A grand picnic was held during the remainder of the day, including band concerts and fireworks at night.

Motorcycle Accident Fatal to Local Grad

Dean Stern, 24, of the town of Mitchell, Sheboygan county, Route 1, Cascade, a graduate of the Kewaskum high school, class of 1936, died Sunday afternoon, July 5, in Memorial hospital, Sheboygan, from injuries received in a motorcycle accident on County Trunk F. near Parnell in the town of Mitchell shortly after 9 a. m. Saturday. He was returning home on his motorcycle from an errand in Cascade and it is believed he was thrown from his machine.

No one witnessed the accident and when neighbors found him he was lying unconscious on the side of the road. His parents and a physician were called and Dean was taken to the hospital where it was found that his skull was badly fractured. Death came shortly after 1 p. m. Sunday.

The young man was born Oct. 12, 1917, in the town of Scott. Surviving are the grief-stricken parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stern, one brother, Gerald, and two sisters, June and Bernice, all at home.

The body lay in state at the home from 4 p. m. Tuesday until 1:30 p. m. Wednesday, July 8, when funeral services were held from the residence to the Trinity Lutheran church at Dundee at 2 o'clock. Interment was made in the Dundee parish cemetery.

Beauty on Production Line Helps 'Keep 'Em Flying'

Women are playing a vital role in the war effort, principally in the great aircraft factories. Some of these attractive women might easily be carving out a career for themselves in the movies, but they are content to star on the production line.
The pretty worker at the Curtiss-Wright propeller plant shown above stands at the apex of a V formed by two lines of propellers.

These girls wear various types of protective headgear while they produce the tools to whittle down the Axis. The girl at the right provides the touch of the eternal feminine with a flower in her hair. (Photos approved by war department.)

Marge has her luncheon on the job in the big aircraft plant, where she is one of hundreds of women who are keeping 'em flying.

An office worker before the war, this girl now works a milling machine on a bronze nut line in the Curtiss-Wright propeller plant.

And here is an ex-laundry girl doing an important bit to help wash up the Axis. She is proud to be helping Uncle Sam.

This plastic-masked worker now operates a lathe on a nut-line as expertly as any male machinist. She was once a stenographer.

Neat Hair Ribbons

Hair ribbons for little-girl pigtails and for grown-up girl top-knots can be given longer life and beauty by washing occasionally. Put the ribbon in a mason jar half filled, with cool sudsy water. Shake the jar to agitate the ribbons. When clean, rinse in clear cool water, and dip silk and satin ribbons into a sugar water solution to give the ribbons body. Velvet bows should be steamed while still slightly damp, by holding them a little way above a hot iron.

Town Called Bottom

The rockbound coast of Saba island is no place for landlubbers. There is not a single good harbor on this rocky little Dutch island, which consists of an extinct volcano rising abruptly out of the Caribbean. The one town is called Bottom, because it is down inside the old crater, and is reached by steps cut in the rock. Yet the best boats in the West Indies are made there, and laborious-ly hauled up the steps and down to the sea below.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Equal amounts of coffee and heated milk, sweetened to taste, make an appetizing drink.

When ironing no matter what the purpose, and hot water to sprinkle the clothes. They will be more evenly dampened than when sprinkled by hand.

If you perspire too freely, throw a handful of salt into your bath water.

Apply several coats of boiled linseed oil to the soles of your shoes and let dry thoroughly to conserve them.

To make a jelly bag, use a piece of thin muslin, hem the top after seaming it. Leave the hem open a little at each end. Run two strings or pieces of tape through the openings and fasten the ends of the tape. This leaves you a string to pull at either end. When fruit is in the bag, pull up each string, tie them together and hang on a hook to drip.

...He had a high, almost singsong...

...come hunting me, huh?"

"You certainly got 'em eating out...
...of your paw, Dud," Jeff told him...
...admiringly. "I been telling Con...
...here, about your outfit, and how it...
...was the only one to ride the Terri...

"What you mean is—all right for...
...you-all to stay," Dud corrected him...
..."Hah! I been all right to come...
...you-all would be biting daisies down...
...the line right now." Dud gestured...
...toward the other men.

"Most of the main bunch. Big...
...Yager, that helped me rub out the...
...sheriff and clerk at Tonadura."

The huge, stolid cowboy indicated...
...grinned and jerked a thumb toward...
...a slender Mexican whose short...
...chinned, flat-nosed face and beady...
...eyes gave him a reptilian look.

"I reckon it was me and you...

...'twas Snaky Gonzales that ran out...
...from behind the wall after we...
...dropped 'em, to see what kind of...

...think he held out on us. Hey, Snaky?"

Gonzales snarled. Then something...
...about Con's expression seemed to...
...infuriate him. He came to his feet...
...with a wriggle, hand dropping to the...
...pearl hilt of a dagger on his belt.

"Mebbe you don't like hah?" he...
...cried. "You look by me and make...
...face nose turn-up, hah? Me, I don't...
...like your look. Mebbe I give you...
...something nice—knife by your neck...
...hah?"

"Ah, Con's all right!" Jeff said...
...hastily, with a quick side-glance at...
...the grinning Dud, who was looking...
...from man to man. "It's just a way...
...he's got of looking at everybody...
...He ain't turning up his nose at no...
...body—"

"Keep out, Jeff," Dud drawled...
..."Every man kills his own snakes...
...in the Paramore Bunch. If Con...
...ain't man enough to hold his own...
...hell with him!"

"Kill him, Con!" Jeff snapped...
..."No fooling with fists—"

Gonzales darted in, cat-quick...
...shifted feet flashingly so that he...
...swerved right, then left, stooped...
...with the dagger held against his...
...shirt, point out.

Con had only lifted on his toes...
...He twisted, even faster than the...
...knifeman had done, to hook a terrific...
...right to Gonzales' unprotected jaw...
...just below the ear.

...Gonzales' feet snapped from the...
...ground. He seemed to hang bodily...
...from Con's fist for the fraction of a...
...second, then dropped sideways to...
...the pine needles and sprawled moti...
...onless. Con took one step forward...
...and stamped upon the thin blade of...
...the dagger. Dud Paramore contin...
...ued to grin mechanically. Then Big...
...Yager slapped his leg resoundingly...
...and whooped.

"Snaky forgot to ask Con could...
...he please cut his heart out!" he...
...cried, and Dud's grin widened...
...slightly.

Gonzales moved jerkily, groaning...
...Con slid a hand to his Colt and...
...watched coldly. The Mexican pushed...
...himself up to sitting position and...
...blinked stupidly around. Suddenly...
...he scrambled up with loud sash of...
...hand on empty scabbard.

"Gonzales!" Con called sharply...
..."Mira! Look! It would have been...
...more easy to kill you than to knock...
...you down. But I let you live—that...
...time. If you look at me again and...
...touch knife or gun—"

He half-drew the pistol from his...
...holster and Dud Paramore's sing...
...song drawl cut in:

"Snaky! No mas! No more!"

Paramore announced, "We'll hit...
...San Marcos tonight. Big baile there...
...Lots of liquor. Lots of pretty gals...
...to dance around. Paramore bunch...
...owns Marcos."

"He's what I said," Jeff muttered...
..."Plain hell on wheels!"

Cool, Ice-Tinkling Drinks Ward Off Summer Fatigue (See Recipes Below.)

Sugar-Saving Drinks

When the thermometer's perched on the highest rung of the temperature ladder, do you feel your spirits sagging, your energy running low? Yes, the warm weather begins to take its toll just about the time you feel you need push and drive most. But, make a comeback, quickly and easily with a healthful, fruit-juicy drink served in a tall, colorful frosty glass. An attractively served drink will perk up your spirits more quickly than you can say "Jack Spratt!" Plan to freeze some of those fragrant mint leaves and those few odd berries left over from the shortcake, with water in the ice cube trays for they make a pretty drink. Or, if you like colored ice cubes that prevent your summer beverage from taking on a watery taste, freeze fruit juices diluted with water into ice cubes. You'll like this. Milk and ice cream are perfect ingredients with fruit juices for cooling drinks. Not only do they contain most of the requisites for a well-balanced diet, but they are easy to take and lend themselves in pleasant combination with other foods.

Your biggest problem with summer drinks will come in trying to save sugar. But don't let this stump you, for you can use fruit juices that have natural sugars, honey as a sweetener, and milk and ice cream, which need very little or no other sweetening at all.

Try fruit powders, too, using 1 level tablespoon of the fruit powder with 3 teaspoons of honey to 1 glass of water or milk. Fill the glass with shimmering ice chips and you have an excellent thirst quencher in a wink.

Fruit juices used with ice cream and honey are kind to the sugar ration:

- "Orange Cooler." (Makes 1½ quarts)
2 cups orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup maraschino cherry juice
1 cup ginger ale
2 tablespoons honey
1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 tablespoons sliced maraschino cherries
- Mix fruit juices and ginger ale; add honey; mix well. Chill thoroughly. Add ice cream and stir until blended. Serve in chilled glasses topped with cherry slices.
- Orange Quench. (Serves 1)
¾ cup milk
¼ cup orange juice
1 teaspoon sugar
- Combine ingredients and beat until thoroughly blended. Serve chilled.
- "Root Beer Flip. (Serves 1)
½ cup root beer
½ cup milk
1 serving vanilla ice cream

Lynn Says:

The Score Card: Definite news has reached me on the spice situation, so now you homemakers can see exactly what is available in this line. There's enough to go around freely of: cayenne, red pepper, mustard, chili powder, chili seeds, oregano, paprika, curry, cake spice, mixed pickling spice, celery seed, onion and garlic salt and powder, bay leaves, marjoram, cardamom, anise and black pepper. Careful use is indicated for these spices: cinnamon, mace, allspice, white pepper, cloves, nutmeg and ginger. Canning rubbers, lids, jars, etc. are available in sufficient quantity for this season's produce. An extra ration of sugar for canners will be allowed, amounting to five pounds per person for the year. There's a possibility that coffee, tea, and cocoa may come in for rationing. Homemakers are also advised to save and conserve all fats, grease and oil. If you cannot use the fat at home, keep it well preserved in a cool place to prevent its becoming rancid, then bring to your butcher.

Pour root beer and milk into a tall glass. Add ice cream and serve immediately.

Maple Cooler. (Serves 1)
2 tablespoons maple syrup
¼ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk
Few grains salt

Combine ingredients and beat one minute. Top with whipped cream, if desired.

You will be driving around less these summer evenings for your breath of fresh air, but you will probably spend more time on your back porch, having the neighbors drop in and serving them simple drinks and a few sugar-savings cookies for the in-between snack. You'll enjoy both of these recipes:

"Honey Chocolate Nut Cookies.
½ cup butter
2 squares unsweetened chocolate
2 eggs, well beaten
¼ cup honey
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sifted flour
½ cup chopped nuts

Melt butter and chocolate over hot water and stir until blended. Combine eggs, sugar, honey and salt in bowl. Add flour which has been sifted once before measuring. Mix thoroughly, add chocolate mixture and beat until smooth. Add nuts. Drop from spoonfuls on greased baking sheet, and bake in a slow (300-degree) oven 15 minutes. Remove from sheet immediately. The cookies taste better when mellowed, so pack in a tight container between layers of waxed paper.

"Chocolate Crunch.
½ pound semi-sweet or sweet milk chocolate
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add cereal and stir until blended. Pack into a pan lined with waxed paper. Allow to set until chocolate hardens, then cut into squares.

Antique Furniture, Flowered Chintzes

Are in Good Taste if Used Well Together

Upstairs the little domed bedrooms were papered in small patterned wall papers, copies of old ones, and again the curtains were white and crisp, the furniture old and discerningly collected, mostly maple or cherry. And stretching off and down the hill was a lawn like velvet and a demure garden, yellow with daffodils and forsythia the day we were there. And we could see that here too affectionate hands had been at work. We were reminded once again how much more than money it takes to furnish a home with genuine distinction. It takes taste, of course but that's a relative thing; it takes care for good workmanship in details; it takes day by day attention and pleasure in "looking after" things. Most of all though, we often believe, it takes such intangible qualities as happiness and fortitude and eagerness.

NEW IDEAS for Home-makers

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

A SMARTLY flounced blanket chest with contrasting cushion is a useful addition to any bedroom. It serves as a convenient seat; and extra covers are right at hand on chilly nights. A pair of these, covered to match spreads, would go well with twin beds.

Plan the size of your chest to fill your needs and space. It may be made of one-inch pine and should be about 15 inches high without the cushion. Make the flounce with double fullness—that is, twice as long as the space it is to fill after it is gathered. The cushion may be filled with cotton padding, feathers or down.

Sittin' down in Jed's General Store the other day, it was kinda impressed on me that the weaker a fellow's argument is, the stronger the words he uses! Well, when I get to talkin' about KELLOGG'S PEP and vitamins I don't need any high-powered words. You see, to feel really good you got to eat right, which includes gettin' all your vitamins. And while PEP hasn't got 'em all, this swell-tastin' cereal is extra-long in the two that are oftenest extra-short in ordinary meals—B, and D. Try PEP, won't you?

County Agent Notes

WASHINGTON COUNTY TO HOLD QUALITY DAIRY IMPROVEMENT MEETINGS

Plans are under way to hold a meeting in every rural district school in Washington county on TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 21st, to discuss simple and practical methods of producing high quality milk. These meetings will be part of a campaign undertaken by Washington county dairymen to be come better informed on the part that the farmers can contribute to the production of better quality milk and dairy products. Today there is more milk and milk products available than the market can absorb. When such a surplus exists only the top quality products will find a ready sale.

Dairymen and milk plant operators in the other 52 Wisconsin counties who have put the quality program plan into operation are finding that it pays them well. These same dairy product producers are finding that top quality milk can be produced about as cheaply as an inferior product. It is not necessary to have expensive equipment, or a high priced barn or milk house to produce a top quality milk. Nor is it necessary to do a lot of extra work. There are many farmers in Wisconsin and other dairy states that produce good clean milk with only simple and inexpensive equipment.

Good clean milk that will readily lend itself to the production of top quality butter, cheese, or other dairy products, can be produced on every farm in Wisconsin where cattle are kept. The conditions under which the milk is produced, and the care given to it during the cooling process have much to do with the odor that milk will have when it is several hours old. Farmers and milk plant operators can do many simple and inexpensive things to greatly improve the quality of the raw milk and of the manufactured product.

To give farmers and milk plant operators an opportunity to learn many of the practices that will help produce a better dairy product will be the main purpose of the school house meetings on Tuesday evening, July 21st, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. The discussions at these meetings will be carried on by dairymen from each school district who will have had previous training.

SCHOOL DISTRICT LEADERS TO MEET ON JULY 14 AND 15

To train leaders to carry on the discussion at each of the school house meetings in the county two representative dairy farmers from each school district have been selected. These will be invited to a leaders' training meeting which will be held in the court house at West Bend on Tuesday evening, July 14th, and at Dickel's hall at Richfield on Wednesday evening, July 15th. Both of these meetings will begin promptly at 8:00 o'clock. It is suggested that those who live in the northern half of the county attend the leaders' training meeting which will be held at West Bend, while those living in the southern six townships attend the meeting at Richfield. This arrangement will save driving. However, if you find it impossible to attend the meeting suggested, you may attend either meeting. It is highly important that you attend one of the two meetings so as to receive the necessary instruction for carrying on the school house meeting of which you have been asked to take charge.

All plant operators, cheesemakers, and milk haulers are invited to attend a special meeting to be held to give them additional information on the quality program. This meeting will be held in the court house in West Bend on Tuesday evening, July 14, beginning at six (6:00) o'clock. L. G. Kuenning of the state department of agriculture will speak at these meetings.

Overconfidence that "they can't touch us here" leads to panic quicker than fear when air raiders do come, according to the Wisconsin Council of Defense. Wisconsin, with its war industries and food-producing farms, is closer to Axis air bases than certain of our coastal areas and certainly can be "touched!" An ounce of preparedness, based on advice given by air raid wardens, is worth a bushel of lightweight and light-headed overconfidence.

L. ROSENHEIMER

Department Store KEWASKUM

Twenty-five Years Ago

(1917)

Mrs. Peter Drickon, native of Germany and former resident of Barton, died at her home in this village.

The force of men digging the well at the malt house here had the misfortune of having a cave-in, which will greatly hamper and delay them in their work.

John Roden furnished the music for a tin wedding at Beechwood and a birthday at the Kewaskum Opera House.—St. Michaels correspondent.

LOST—A package containing girl's union suit on the road between Campbellsport and Five Corners.

While the local citizens were enjoying the moving picture show Sunday evening the L. Rosenheimer store and A. L. Rosenheimer home were burglarized. The theft was discovered when Mr. and Mrs. Rosenheimer returned home and found all their valuable jewelry stolen. The alarm was telephoned to Marshall George Brandt, who had already retired, but reported for duty at once. After scouring the streets Marshal Brandt and Newton and Byron Rosenheimer caught the robber in the depot waiting for a train. The man was looked up and gave his name as Harold Van Wagoner, 19, of Iron River, Mich. He gained admittance to the store by breaking a window. Stolen goods recovered was valued at $1,000.

A letter has been received by one of our citizens from August Ebenreiter, who is in the lumber business at Two Dot, Mont. August writes that he had a $2,000 fire loss in his yards; also that business is very good, the profit being big and the work easy. He states that many are digging for oil and selling shares, some of which he purchased. He also mentions that he is selling tons of coal a day to the oil companies at a nice profit and that his father visited him and said he wished he had his future. August purchased a new Velle auto and is building a new home and he and his wife, a Kewaskum girl, are planning a trip to the west coast. He closes by saying he has added a hardware stock, which is selling good.

—On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Henry Becker of Kohlsville visited at the Jac. Becker home.

—Mr. and Mrs. Al. Neumann are spending this week vacationing in the northern part of the state. The latter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kannenberg, of Milwaukee are operating the Neumanns' tavern business during their absence.

in complementary weaves and colors which are really lovely. Destined for fashion success and certain to prove a boon to the slim budget is the eye-catching three-piece play suit shown to the right in the above illustration. By picking up remnants specially priced for quick selling you can get this outfit together at an almost unbelievably small cost. Gay print shirtwaist (a sportswear favorite this season), jumper-type shorts and a full-gathered front-buttoned overskirt complete this costume which will serve for varied occasions the whole summer through. Don't let the button-holes frighten you, for with the new buttonhole gadget modern sewing machines have, you can make them in double quick time, even if it is your first venture.

If you covet being a heroine in a fashion success story, make the red, white and blue slacks suit centered in the picture. It consists of navy slacks, white middie, red jerkin and matching beanie cap. You'll get a world of service out of this bright assortment of play togs, and making it yourself will send your pride soaring to the 'nth degree. Notice the precision with which patriotic, colorful, shield-shaped buttons file down the side of the jerkin. By the way, a jerkin of this type is a valuable asset to any vacation wardrobe—it's the "missing link" which will convert any simple casual dress or skirt and blouse into a smart fashion unit.

For after-dark wear you'll be needing many a party frock if you are helping at army entertainment centers. All-American cotton is the wartime ideal for these summer dance-and-dine get-together affairs. You'll be your most glamorous self if you make a budget-minded dress of gaily colorful print like that illustrated to the left in the above group. Especially smart is the corseted front bodice closing.

Flower Buttons

Bring new intrigue to your best-beloved sweater this summer with a row of gaily colorful buttons wrought in dainty florals of original design. Realistic flowers bloom on lovely sweaters shown above. The flowery motifs are contrasted effectively against the background. The knitted stitch achieves a texture that is shaggy (smartest new sweaters are like that) and almost grasslike in appearance. Irresistible and unusually colorful are these clever button originals in which tiny, artfully shaped flowers and leaves are affixed to a latticed disk of contrasting color. These three-color buttons will bring perkiness and style accent to the most somber costume. Try the flower-button way for your sweater. You'll love it!

Midriff Blouse... new is the "midriff" blouse... It's a startling fashion, but girls are taking to it with enthusiasm. Wear it with the printed chintz skirt which is its companion piece.

Up in Studios of Style Designers... Striped chambray trimmed with lawn ruffles makes a cunning dirndl. Snoods and calots continue to help solve the hot weather hat problem. Flowers and bows appear on many. Into the stretch and at least a length ahead of all the others comes a new fad. Blouses of jockeys' silk in vivid colors are being worn with black suits. Half pink and half blue, they are a safe fashion bet.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE... JINX FALKENBURG received an urgent request from a group of soldiers at a U. S. military outpost recently; signing themselves as the boys in "Hut #33, Iceland," they begged her to send them a large picture of herself in a bathing suit, as soon as possible. "We want to put it on the wall for two important reasons," they wrote. "It will give us something interesting to look at. 2-It will help to keep the captain's eyes busy when he comes around to inspect our quarters." She sent a picture five feet high!

"Once Upon a Honeymoon" unites three of the screen's top figures in the studio where each has previously scored triumphs—RKO Radio. They're Ginger Rogers and Cary Grant, who've both made plenty of hit pictures, and Leo McCarey, producer-director of such delightful films as "Love Affair" and "My Favorite Wife." "Once Upon a Honeymoon" is the kind of thing they all do best.

Thousands of moviegoers, on reading of Elmer Davis' appointment as director of the Office of War Information, recalled seeing him on the screen. To "Information Please" fans he was one of the highlights of the series issued by RKO Pathe.

Bill Stern, NBC director of sports and famous sportscaster, plays himself in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Pride of the Yankees," which stars Gary Cooper and is based on the life of the late Lou Gehrig. Theresa Wright, Walter Brennan and Babe Ruth head the supporting cast. Stern flew from the Coast to participate in the scene showing "Lou Gehrig Memorial day," which marked Gehrig's retirement.

J. Carroll Naish is going to be seen as an ape-man, no less, in 20th Century-Fox's "Buried Alive." It's this company's first effort in the horror line, and just the title promises well. John Shepperd and Lynne Roberts will have the romantic leads.

Rosalind Russell is booked for another of those pictures in which she's such a clever and handsome young business woman that she makes business women in the audience green with envy. This one will be "Portrait of a Lady," and the plot (which somehow has a familiar ring) deals with the efforts of a business woman to win his wife away from a business career.

"Guerrilla Brigade," the Soviet picture which was shown in New York recently, has been booked by the RKO circuit and is scheduled for national release. This is the first time in some years that a Russian picture has been booked by a major theater chain here.

Those bitter little quarrels between actors and motion picture companies no longer mean what they once did, not since radio's here to stay. When Madeleine Carroll and Paramount disagreed not long ago, the beautiful Miss Carroll merely departed for New York and picked up some engagements to broadcast, at $2,500 each. Paul Muni and his studio parted, so he did a stage play, got $5,000 apiece for several radio performances, then signed with another studio. John Garfield and Warner Bros. disagreed, and radio grabbed him.

William L. Shirer talks to his friend, Edward R. Murrow ("This Is London") every Sunday before their respective broadcasts. Their conversation is over a private wire, and the first thing Murrow asks is about the baseball teams.

ODDS AND ENDS—Janet Blair, former singer with Hal Kemp's orchestra and now playing the title role in "My Sister Eileen," is rehearsing the songs for a new civic opera to be presented late this summer in Los Angeles. Mainbocher, famous dressmaker who's been responsible for many of the Duchess of Windsor's costumes, has been signed to a term contract by Fox. Bob Burns has a new bazooka, made from scraps from P-38 bombers by the boys who build the planes. Donna Reed's wearing the silver wings of a pilot on the Anti-Submarine Patrol in the Atlantic. Lt. Donald Arlen, whom she's never seen.

Milo Boulton, master of ceremonies and director of "We, the People," learned about the United States the hard way. He once hitchhiked from San Diego, Calif., to New York city, and as he remembers it he traveled most of the way by foot.

Red Skelton and his wife had hamburgers with onions, dill pickles and pretzels for dinner on their 10th wedding anniversary—same as on their wedding day. They've repeated the menu each anniversary.

TO YOUR Good Health

By DR. JAMES W. BARTON

CANCER OF THROAT... A surgeon friend of mine showed me a patient, 65 years of age, who had consulted him because of a sore throat and persistent hoarseness.

Dr. Barton

When examined it was found that he had cancer of the throat and, owing to its location, surgery was inadvisable. Accordingly, treatment by radium was given and as I looked into the throat I was amazed at the size of the "hole" left in the throat and the healthy condition of the tissues. The man looked and felt very well. Had this case gone on a while longer it would have been too late for treatment, yet his only complaint was a slight soreness and persistent hoarseness. It is because cancer of the throat often comes on with slight soreness only and hoarseness that it is overlooked by the patient and sometimes even by the physician. It is for this reason, therefore, that Dr. Chevalier Jackson and Dr. G. E. Pfahler, Philadelphia, keep reminding us that hoarseness that persists for more than two weeks should be investigated.

"Cancer of the larynx is best prevented by avoiding irritation, excessive or faulty use of the voice, inhaling smoke, dust or fumes. From 70 to 80 per cent of such cancers can be cured if caught in the early stage when only a part of a vocal cord is involved. Danger signals are hoarseness or pain in the larynx."

We may be inclined to become discouraged about cancer because of the general statement, "Until the cause of cancer is discovered there is not much that can be done about it." As a matter of fact, much is known about the cause of cancer in that "irritation," not a single irritation but continuous irritation can cause cancer in any "surface" tissue of the body in some individuals.

Remember, then, that "throat cancers are difficult to prevent and recognize. General warning is swelling or soreness around the throat or tonsils that doesn't improve in two weeks."

If, then, you or any member of your family has a sore throat and hoarseness that does not respond to ordinary home treatment you should consult your physician.

New Treatment Of Stomach Ulcer

For many years the treatment of peptic ulcer—ulcer of the stomach and ulcer of the small intestine into which stomach empties—has been small meals taken often and an alkali powder to overcome the excess acid digestive juice in the stomach. This is known as the Sippy treatment.

It will come as a surprise to ulcer patients and to many physicians also to learn that a series of 41 cases has been successfully treated by a different method. Drs. George F. Dick and C. Wesley Eisele, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, state that the treating of stomach and duodenal ulcers (peptic ulcer) will progress satisfactorily without the attempted neutralization of acidity with alkalis.

Under hourly treatment with milk and cream without the use of alkalis, the speed of healing of peptic ulcers compares favorably with that under other methods of treatment. Such treatment brought about (1) the prompt disappearance of symptoms and the complete comfort of the patient, (2) the disappearance of blood from the stool when blood was present, and (3) the disappearance of the cavity of the ulcer as shown by X-rays.

These physicians state that while the present treatment of overcoming the excess acid stomach juice by the use of alkalis has been accepted as the "best" treatment nevertheless the fact that different alkalis are being used from time to time for peptic ulcer treatment shows that alkali treatment is not altogether satisfactory.

In their series of 41 cases, seven were suffering from stomach ulcer and 34 from duodenal or intestinal ulcer. X-ray studies were used to show the progress of the treatment. Seventy per cent of the "cavities" of duodenal ulcers disappeared within 75 days. Complete relief of symptoms occurred in nearly all cases before the cavity was completely healed. In 31 cases all symptoms were controlled within one week. The treatment—milk and cream every hour without use of alkalis.

QUESTION BOX

Q.—Are there any Sulfa drugs that are helpful in tuberculosis treatment? A.—The Sulfa drugs are most helpful in acute or early conditions. Their use in chronic conditions is not very successful as yet.

Q.—How can nervous spasms of the intestines be treated? A.—Nervous spasm in intestine is due to nervousness or emotional disturbances. Trying to keep calm in spirit and avoiding rough foods will give relief.

Q.—Please tell me how to use the viosterol treatment for acne. Can this treatment be taken at any time of the year? A.—1. Take 10 drops of viosterol daily, gradually increasing dose until at end of two weeks 20 drops is being taken daily. Continue to take 20 drops daily for two more weeks. Wait 10 days and repeat, if necessary. Take the dose, 10 drops or more at one time, in half a glassful of water.

2. Yes, this treatment can be taken any time.

History in the News

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON

"The People's Choice" FIFTY years ago this month occurred an event unique in American political history. For on July 5, 1892, a convention of the Populist, or People's, party nominated Gen. James B. Weaver of Iowa for President. Weaver has the distinction of being the only man who was ever the leader of two different "third parties" and as the head of one of them he received the fourth highest number of electoral votes ever given such a candidate.

Born in Ohio in 1833, Weaver graduated from the law school of the Ohio university at Cincinnati at the age of 22 and migrated to Iowa to practice his profession. At the outbreak of the Civil war he enlisted in the Union army and came out of it a brigadier general. After the war Weaver returned to Iowa to resume his law practice but was soon called to public office—first as a district attorney and later as assessor of internal revenue. Dissatisfaction of the farmers with the financial policies of President Grant resulted in the formation, by inflationists who wanted to issue a large amount of paper money without regard to specie payment, of the National Greenback party in which Weaver was a leader. In the campaign of 1876 the Greenbackers nominated Peter Cooper of New York for President but he polled only 36,000 popular votes and failed to receive a single electoral vote.

In the congressional elections of 1878 the Greenbackers did much better. They polled more than a million votes and elected a number of congressmen, among them General Weaver, who served until 1881. In the meantime he was a delegate to the 1880 national convention of his party in Chicago and there became its nominee for President. Because of Weaver's popularity in the West, the Republican party was greatly alarmed over the possibility of his taking away enough votes from them to assure a Democratic victory. But their fears proved groundless for the Greenbackers were able to muster only 350,000 votes and not a single one in the electoral college.

In 1884 Weaver was elected to congress by the Democratic and Greenback-Labor parties, was re-elected in 1886 but defeated for a third term in 1888. Meanwhile, a new "third party" had sprung up to champion the cause of the farmer and the working man and rapidly gained adherents. In the state and congressional elections of 1890 this Populist, or People's party carried the legislatures of Kansas and Nebraska, elected nine members of congress and forced 34 others, Republicans and Democrats, to pledge themselves to carry out Populist ideas about free coinage of silver, issue of paper money to be loaned directly to farmers on the security of their crops, abolition of national banks, government ownership of public utilities, establishment of a post-savings bank, and a graduate income tax and prohibition of alien land ownership.

Most of these ideas were incorporated in a book, "A Call to Action," which Weaver, the former Greenbacker, had published in 1892 and when the Populists held their nominating convention in Chicago that year he became their candidate for President. This time he did better than he had done as the standard-bearer of the Greenbackers. He carried 1,041,028 popular votes and received 22 electoral college votes. In his own state Weaver received only 20,095 votes but he did much better in Kansas, where Populism was rampant. There he was given 162,845 votes.

This was the climax of Weaver's political career. He never again aspired to high political office although he served as mayor of the city of Colfax, Iowa, from 1904 to 1906 and died there in 1912. During his short career the Populist party gave to American political history more picturesque characters, perhaps, than any party before or since. One of them was Mary Ellen Lease of Kansas who as a campaigner for the Populists rejoiced in a variety of sobriquets—"Mary Yellin" and "the Patrick Henry in Petticoats," and "the Lady Orator of the West." But she is best remembered for the advice which she roared at the delegates to the Chicago convention 50 years ago—"What you farmers need to do, is to raise less corn and more hell!"

Almost as famous was another Jayhawker—"Socksless Jerry" Simpson, "the Kansas firebrand." In his first congressional race his opponent was fashionably dressed James Hal-lowsay. During a campaign speech, Simpson said: "Ladies and gentlemen: My opponent, Prince Hal, wears fine soft silk socks. I have no money to buy silk hosiery. The fact is that I have no socks at all save the natural buff that my mother gave me." Then he hoisted his pants legs to prove it. Thereafter he was "Socksless Jerry"—and he won over "Prince Hal!"

The Once Over

ELMER TWITCHELL AND FOOD CONTROL

Uncle Sam has now named a WPBFC, War Production Board Food Requirement Committee. It will look into the matter of food requirements during the war, with a view to conservation.

A good deal could be accomplished right off the bat by a simple but inflexible rule requiring people to stop overloading the fork.

And we are a nation of overloaders, and if we are to guard against food shortages something's gotta be done to check us up. Watch the average American eat today, in the middle of a global war, and you would suspect he was subsisting during a great conflict? You would not. You would imagine he was trying for a new record at a picnic ground.

Elmer Twitchell, famous calorie student, pinocle player and stamp collector, has been studying the food situation, and he thinks that if Uncle Sam wants to avoid waste Step Number One should be the abolition of the Three-Decker Sandwich.

"The upper deck is a mere waste of bread," declares Elmer, "and it also involves a further waste of lettuce. There is little in these modern three-deckers except lettuce, anyhow, unless you want to admit that those tomato slices are food."

"I am for a National Committee for the Control of Lettuce also," continued Elmer. "If there is one thing which lunchroom men are profligate with it is lettuce. Of course, in many cases this comes under the head of second-hand or reconditioned lettuce."

"This new Government board should also look into the French fried situation. Boy, there's a food waste for you! The American luncheon has come to regard French fries as a mere matter of stuffing. They are just plate fillers. They are so greasy that nobody finishes 'em, so the result is more waste. Let us have a 75 per cent cut in French fries at once by all means!"

"Then there is the dining car toast situation. Did you ever try eating the toast you get with a steak sandwich on a railroad train? Mister, it was never meant to eat. Let us do something about this."

Elmer was getting quite excited. "And then there is the chicken pie situation," he resumed. "Chicken is certainly conserved through the average chicken pie, but nobody eats those onions and potatoes with which they are filled to the exclusion of anything resembling meat."

"And, by the way, if we want to save food let's soft pedal all this vitamin talk. Millions of Americans are not eating because they want the food immediately involved. They are on a vitamin binge."

Horae and Cattle Owners!
Dead animals are essential to help win the war as they are processed into a high grade feed for Poultry, Cattle and Hogs which in return produce essentials which we must have to win a war. Glycerine is taken out of all Fats and Oils from dead animals and this is made into T. N. T. for high explosives, and only rendering plants produce these products; as all dead animals buried or used otherwise are a waste to our country. Call your Renderer, Wm. Third Wartime Scrap Drive Begins July 13

The third wartime scrap collection drive will begin on July 13, it was announced Tuesday by Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board. Sought in the next campaign will be iron, steel, rubber, and even the waste fats of every housewife's kitchen. Briefly, the WPA's next scrap collection program is as follows:

1. An intensified campaign to collect metals, especially iron and steel, rubber and other waste materials which will flow through regular channels of trade.
2. A waste fats campaign in which housewives will be urged to sell their waste kitchen fats, such as bacon drippings, to meat dealers who will send them back through the normal channels of trade. Waste fats are needed to stimulate production of glycerine, needed for explosives.
3. A tin can collection campaign to be carried out only in selected localities.

D. J. Kenny, West Bend, chairman of the Washington County Salvage committee, says further details of the new campaign will be revealed next week.

Continuing in the front rank of wartime food production, Wisconsin farmers lead the nation as producers of milk and vegetables for canning, besides furnishing important amounts of meat, eggs and poultry.

Patriotic Quick-Quiz

Prepared by Safety Division Motor Vehicle Department State of Wisconsin

QUESTIONS:

1. What reason is there for believing that there will be an increased number of blowouts this year?
2. Do you have a fairly accurate idea of what speeding does for oil consumption and the life of automobile tires?
3. Why shouldn't cars be parked in the bright sunlight for long?

ANSWERS:

1. Blowouts may increase because of the shortage of tires. Motorists will tend to use their tires as long as possible, even after they have reached a worn-out age when they normally would be replaced.
2. Speeding can increase oil consumption seven-fold, and it can cut tire life in half. Obviously, speeding is unpatriotic.
3. Direct sunlight tends to spoil a car's finish, rot its tires, and evaporate its gasoline.

Community Blood Bank a Necessity; Need Donors

With the capturing of Axis saboteurs about 100 miles from West Bend our community has become aware of the definite possibility of an emergency occurring right here at home. The existence of a local blood bank if such an emergency should occur would undoubtedly mean the saving of numerous lives; but the bank must be in existence at that time, to build it then would be too late.

Attorney R. J. Stoltz, West Bend, chairman of the blood donor movement in our community, reports that donors to establish a local blood bank are coming in slowly and many more volunteers are needed. He urges that those willing to help establish a blood bank in our community get in touch with him promptly so this project may be completed by the middle of July.

The next visit of the Red Cross mobile unit will again be at the West Bend grade school on Sept. 22 and 23 when the staff will work from 3 to 7:30 p. m. each day. Volunteers for these two days are also badly needed. It is expected that our community will again provide over one hundred pints of blood for our sons and daughters in the armed forces on each of these days. Volunteer now by getting in touch with Attorney R. J. Stoltz. You will not be called again just because you have donated before. Your name must again be placed on file with the chairman if you wish to help in this movement.

105,064 LBS. SUGAR ALLOWED FOR HOME CANNING DURING JUNE

During the month of June 105,064 lbs. of sugar were allowed for home canning in Washington county. A total of 5390 applications were handled which was an average of 225 per day. This total of canning sugar is over and above the legal allowance available on the sugar ration books. It provides, in addition to the allowance for jams and jellies, approximately 12 quarts of sauce for every man, woman and child in Washington county. These figures give us some idea as to the amount of sugar which is consumed in only one county in the entire nation. It also indicates that Washington county people are interested in canning and home defense inasmuch as over 85% of the families in the county registered for canning sugar.

SUGAR FOR FALL CANNING

You may register for fall canning any time—whenever your requirements demand it—after August 1. The rationing office prefers that you register as soon as possible after August 1 so that congestion in taking care of applicants will not develop later on.

$65,000 in War Bonds Sold at July 4th Picnic

$65,000.00 in U. S. war savings bonds were purchased at "Liberty House" at the annual picnic and Badger Farmers' tournament in the West Bend City park on the 4th of July. The day was a big success and "Liberty Bell" was ringing all through the day and evening. The beautiful asherettes were kept busy selling stamps. The three dealers were completely blacked out. With the spirit demonstrated on there on the 4th Washington county should reach that July quota of $302,900.00. That $65,000.00 sold on the 4th makes a real start toward the quota.

Right before the fireworks, talks were given by Corp. Steve O'Meara, Robert H. Rolfs, executive chairman of the war savings staff, and Frank J. Kuhl, state administrator of the war savings staff. All three talks impressed on the thousands gathered at the park the necessity of buying U. S. war bonds—buying as many and as much as one can afford. The "10% Club" was stressed. Everyone who invests at least 10% of his earnings each pay day is entitled to the 10% purchase and place the 10% window emblem in his window.

Yes, independence day was truly celebrated as "Buy a Bond Day." In times of war every day is Independence day. Every day we are fighting for our liberty and freedom. This fine result on the 4th of July is just a starter towards what we must continually do every day, every month and every year until this war is won.

Your local bank or post office is "Liberty House" for the duration. Go there as often as you can and buy your U. S. war savings bonds. Your local retail stores are also headquarters for U. S. war stamps. The retailers are making a united effort during the month of July to foster the sale of war bonds and stamps. They have promised the treasury department that they would sell 4% of their sales in war bonds and stamps. Whenever you make a purchase, take some of your change in war stamps.

Your rural carrier is a representative of "Liberty House" for he will take your order for war bonds and deliver them to you. To assure Washington county of making its quota the farmers make up their share for the farmers make up the big part of this county. The U. S. treasury department strongly recommends that every time a farmer makes a sale that he take 10% of that sale for the purchase of war bonds. Always for the purchase, every time you sell something, take 10% of the cash you receive and buy war bonds. That will make you a member of the "10% Club."

It will take all of the 28,400 people in Washington county to make that quota of $302,900.00. Don't make your neighbor carry the load, he can't; do your part!

LIEUT. ROSENHEIMER FLIES HOME IN BOMBER

First Lieut. Lehman Rosenheimer, Jr. of the U. S. army air corps stationed at Albuquerque, New Mexico, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Rosenheimer of this village at their cottage at Big Cedar Lake. Lieut. From Minneapolis the bomber flew to Milwaukee for repairs. While the plane was in Milwaukee Lieut. Rosenheimer spent the week end with his folks. On Monday he piloted the plane back to Minneapolis and on his way there in the morning saluted Kewaskum by flying the bomber over the village, throwing the bombs and scare into the people as the huge plane came roaring over town from out of nowhere. The townspeople ran out into the street and were glad to see "U. S. Army" on the plane as it streaked over the houses during the second time. Lieut. Rosenheimer and crew have returned the plane to New Mexico.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely thank everyone who assisted us in any way and for the many thoughtful expressions of kindness and sympathy shown us in our recent time of sorrow, the illness and demise of our dear husband and father, A. A. Perschbacher. Especially are we grateful to Rev. Beck for his kind words of comfort, for the many beautiful floral offerings, to the pallbearers, drivers and donors of cars, Clifford Rose and Lyle Gibson, who rendered vocal solos, Mrs. E. Romaine, organist, the traffic officers, Millers, who had charge of the funeral, and all who showed their respect by attending the last rites of respect at the home.
