

Friends Cheer Tokyo Air Raid on His Tour Through County

brisk business, the "liberty bell" pealing frequently during the evening. Mr. Rolfs paid tribute to the people of the county for the excellent response they have made to date in the purchase of war savings. He said that the county has passed the half way mark on its way toward attaining the July quota of $302,900 in the sale of bonds and stamps, and he expressed confidence that the goal will be reached.

However, only about a week remains in which people of the county can attain the goal set by the U. S. treasury department in the purchase of war bonds and stamps.

"If everybody co-operates in giving of his income as generously as he is able—10 per cent if at all possible—the purchase of bonds, we will reach the goal. I am confident of that although it means tremendous effort and sacrifice," Mr. Rolfs concludes.

Crowds Attend Movies on Civilian Defense

The movies on civilian defense that were shown throughout the county during the last two weeks received an unusually fine reception with large crowds in each community where the meetings were held. The meetings and pictures were sponsored by the Washington County Council of Defense and were arranged and conducted by H. A. Schatz, coordinator, Washington County Citizens' Defense corps and B. D. Rice, director of Washington County Citizens' Training school in connection with the local citizens' defense corps.

Approximate attendance and communities in which the pictures were shown are the following: West Bend and Newburg, 400; Fillmore, 250; Allenton, 500; Kewaskum, 200; Wayne, 300; Slinger, 150; Hartford, 350; Hubertus, 200; Jackson, 350; Germantown, 200.

The purpose of these meetings was to impress upon the people in Washington county the importance of being prepared to meet any possible emergency such as from air raids or sabotage that might disrupt our production and supply lines and to show the people how to protect themselves.

The meetings were made to cover various phases of our war effort on the home front with talks by Mr. Rolfs, executive chairman, Washington County War Savings staff, and E. E. Skalesky, county agent, as well as by Mr. Schatz and Mr. Rice. Mayor C. E. Schloemer of West Bend, county commander, citizens' defense corps, also spoke at several of the meetings.

The military is sincere in its requests that we be prepared to meet any emergency or attempt to disrupt our war efforts on the home front. Distances in the present war have become a secondary factor. Our government authorities tell us we can expect similar raids and sabotage with a definite effort to disrupt our war production and morale. With the enemy having a foothold on the Aleutian Islands and striking just off our coast, we have every reason to prepare for any eventuality here in the Middle West where so much of the production of war materials is centered.

The purpose of our citizens' defense corps is to assist the regular protective units, fire, police, and medical in case of an emergency. It is a recognized fact that the regular protection units would not be able to cope with a major bombing or explosion and would require supplementary help. The citizens' defense corps is made up of men and women who have volunteered their services and have been trained in their respective duties.

This training has covered gas defense, fire defense, first aid, and special courses. The citizens' defense corps in the county now numbers about 1600 men and women, with units covering each city, incorporated and unincorporated village, and township. All members are required to sign the official oath and certain squads, as auxiliary firemen, air raid wardens, and staff must be finer printed. This should be completed before the end of the month so that certificates and official arm bands can be distributed.

Military authorities have told us that wars must be won on the battlefield such as those approaching Tokyo, Berlin and Rome. However, wars can be lost on the home front through disruption of war materials and supply lines. To bring the war to a successful conclusion calls for not only an all out effort for production and other phases on the home front but adequate protection against their disruption. This protection is made possible through the citizens' defense corps and a well informed citizenry.

Firemen Plan to Hold Annual Picnic Aug. 9

The Kewaskum firemen's annual picnic will be held in the beautiful village park on Sunday, Aug. 9. Arrangements are nearly completed to make this another grand affair and everybody is assured of having a real good time. During this strenuous time of all-out war effort work, relaxation is needed to remain fit for the arduous task before us and the place to get this relaxation is at the firemen's picnic, so plan to attend.

As the feature for the picnic the firemen have engaged Uncle Louie and The Rangers, WTAQ radio artists, and the Town Hall Players, who will put on vaudeville acts afternoon and evening. A picture of Uncle Louie appears on another page.

The event will get started with a big street parade to the park starting at 12:45 p. m. sharp. There will also be a kiddies' parade in connection with the main parade. All kiddies wanting to enter the parade must be in costume or have a float. The parade will include bands, floats, the firemen and their equipment and other units. All men in the armed forces who can come home on furloughs on the date of the picnic will also be entered in the parade in their uniforms. Everyone is invited to enter floats or appear in costume in the parade.

The picnic will be enjoyed throughout the afternoon and evening. There will be attractions, amusements and refreshments of all kinds for young and old. Concerts will be given by the Campbellsport and Kewaskum firemen's bands during the afternoon.

A total of $250.00 in prizes will be given, the drawing to take place Sunday evening at 9:30 p. m. sharp. Tickets are now being sold by the firemen and at a number of business places. A list of the many valuable prizes to be awarded will follow. Following the prize drawing a dance will be held featuring Uncle Louie's Rangers. The admission price for the dance will be 30c, including tax.

Admission to the park and parking will be free at all times. Help the firemen—they help you.

Salvage Collection For Duration in Full Swing

The "all out" effort to collect salvage materials for the manufacture of war materials, an effort that began on July 13 and will continue for the duration, is now in full swing, according to D. J. Kenny, West Bend, chairman of the Washington County Salvage committee. He urges every citizen in the county to get wholeheartedly behind this campaign.

The people are reminded that waste material of all kinds is needed for our war industries. Practically all the "junk" around the house—anything metal or rubber, rags, manila rope, burlap bags, etc.—can be used in making essential war materials. Each "junk" collection should be given to a charity or sold to a scrap dealer.

Even waste fats and greases from the housewife's kitchen are needed to help win this war. They are used in the manufacture of explosives for blasting the Axis. The fats and greases should be clean, placed in suitable containers, and taken to the nearest meat dealer. Housewives will be paid by the pound for the waste fats and greases they collect.

In addition to the fats and greases, a thorough collection of useful scrap materials will be made from now until the end of the war. Metal scrap, including iron, steel, aluminum, copper, lead, nickel, tin, zinc, and antimony, will be gathered by regular scrap dealers. An intensive search for rubber will be continued.

BACK FROM TRIP TO COAST TO VISIT SON IN SERVICE

Mrs. Jos. Kohler and Miss Theresa Kern returned Saturday from a trip to the west coast, where they visited the former's son, PFC. Pirmin Kohler who is stationed at Exposition Park, Los Angeles. Mrs. Kohler informed the writer that her son now is a well-fledged police man and traffic officer, having recently graduated from a six weeks' military police course. She also showed his certificate and picture as proof. He has thoroughly learned the art of taking care of himself without weapons through the course.

Rural Mail Carriers of County Will Sell War Bonds to Farmers

At an enthusiastic meeting at Slinger on July 15, the rural mail carriers of Washington county were incorporated into a special division of the county war savings staff for the purpose of selling and delivering bonds for the convenience of the farmers of the county, according to Robert H. Rolfs, West Bend, executive chairman of the Washington County War Savings staff.

Walter Hetebrueg, Route 2, West Bend, was named chairman of the rural mail carriers' division of the county war savings staff. It is hoped that all farmers in the county will take advantage of this new service established especially for their convenience in the purchase of United States war savings bonds and stamps.

The rural carriers will take orders from farmers for bonds, give receipts to the farmers, and deliver the bonds to them personally. In order to help preserve our farms from Axis aggression, the farmers are asked to make every effort to take 10 per cent of their earned income—from milk checks, grain receipts, cattle and all other sales—and purchase bonds regularly.

The war savings staff knows that the farmers are doing all in their power to help in this hour of great need and danger, and confidence is expressed by Mr. Rolfs that they will not fail to continue to buy regularly. As soon as a farmer invests 10 per cent of his income in war bonds, he should immediately contact his local war savings chairman, who will present him with a 10 per cent button and club membership.

The farmer is then asked to make every effort to get his neighbors to likewise become members of the "10 per cent club" by regularly using 10 per cent of their income for the purchase of war bonds to help preserve our American way of life. In fact, Mr. Rolfs appeals to everybody to devote 10 per cent of his income to the purchase of war bonds—farmer, laborer, businessman, manufacturer, and professional man or woman.

For the benefit of the farmers, the following comprise the rural mail carriers' division of the Washington County War Savings staff:

- Walter W. Hetebrueg, chairman, 2 West Bend (Phone 325W); Ray Don Harbeck, William Harbeck, Frank Felix, Jacob Harter and John Mertes.
- Although she reached a ripe old age, it was a blow of sorrow to the relatives and numerous good friends of Mrs. Harter to learn of her death. She bore her long suffering with remarkable patience. Mrs. Harter was very active prior to her injury. While a resident of Kewaskum she resided alone and despite her age was capable of performing her daily tasks. She was a devout Christian woman, attending mass and receiving communion daily. To the bereaved survivors, our heartfelt sympathy is extended.

RUNAWAY TRUCK RAMS INTO HYDRANT ON MAIN STREET

The water hydrant in front of the village hall was damaged Saturday afternoon when rammed into by a truck. The truck, a large semi-trailer job owned by the Northern Transportation company, was parked aside on the North Western depot on Railroad street. The street runs slightly down grade at the scene and while the driver was absent the truck began moving, running down the slope, crossing Main street and ramming into the hydrant and curb in front of the village hall. There it came to a stop. The shaft of the hydrant was bent and the valve broken. Kewaskum had a river-down Main street while the hydrant was being repaired.

B., of St. John's university, Collegeville, Minn.; one sister, Mrs. Bertha Bannon of Fond du Lac; two grandchildren, Miss Winifred Harter of Rhinelander and Mrs. Frank Mancina (nee Alexia Harter) of Chicago and one great-grandchild, Winifred Mancina of Chicago.

Pallbearers were Louis Bath, Sr., Don Harbeck, William Harbeck, Frank Felix, Jacob Harter and John Mertes. Mrs. Harter was very active prior to her injury. While a resident of Kewaskum she resided alone and despite her age was capable of performing her daily tasks. She was a devout Christian woman, attending mass and receiving communion daily. To the bereaved survivors, our heartfelt sympathy is extended.

...iff's just working two boys, huh...
...Dandy? Reckon we can take care...
...of 'em. May not be anybody there."

He led the diminished band across...
...the ridge and Catfish and Con...
...smoked and waited. When an hour...
...dragged past, Con looked at the sun...
..."I'm going up to see what's hap...
...pened," he told the patient Catfish...
..."You're entitled to watch the horses...
...in this pasture."

Catfish began to object. Dud had...
...said—Con mounted calmly and rode...
...over the ridge. The gang's horses...
...stood outside of a neat, white plas...
...tered house set in a grassy yard...
...shaded by big trees and bordered...
...with flowers. Con rode down the...
...slope and into the yard, to swing...
...off and let the reins trail.

"Well!" Dud cried, when Con...
...walked into a large, clean kitchen...
..."Thought there was something said...
...Con-Comanche, about you sticking...
...with the horses..."

"While you-all sit easy and gobble...
...everything in sight, huh?" Con...
...countered, grinning. "I left Catfish...
...He's a nice doggy—fool enough to...
...sit up and bark and be glad if he...
...flipped a bone."

They were gathered comfortably at...
...a big table covered with dishes...
...But evidently their meal had been...
...finished; two quart bottles and tumblers...
...were in the foreground and Dud...
...and the big, dark Dandy were...
...drinking. Con made himself a sand...
...wich of steak and loaf bread and...
...looked around. In a corner, very...
...quiet and strained of expression...
...two young cowboys sat with backs...
...stiffly against the wall.

While he ate, Con loafed curiously...
...about, looking at the tidy place...
...He could see the hand of Janet Lowe...
...around. He went outside and...
...around to look at the front. One...
...door opening of the living room was...
...open. Through it he glimpsed a...
...bed—and two slender feet, oddly...
...bundled about the ankles.

He went noiselessly across to look...
...in. Janet Lowe was tied hand and...
...foot with saddle strings. Her white...
...horror-stricken face was turned to...
...ward him; dark eyes were widened...
...glazed. He drew a long breath and...
...slipped into the room, hand going...
...mechanically into a pocket.

"What's all this about?" he...
...breathed in her ear. "I—I didn't...
...know what Dud was up to—"
..."He—he's going to take me with...
...him! He hates Nevil. He's afraid...
...of him. He says this will fix Nev...
...il—"

Con stood and looked desperately...
...about. The casement window in...
...the thick wall was open and outside...
...he could hear the horses stamping...
...lazily. He went swiftly back to the...
...bed, opening his stock knife. The...
...whangs about Janet's wrists and an...
...kles dropped away from the sharp...
...edge. He put an arm around her...
...and helped her up. She began to...
...work her hands, move her feet...
...staring at him.

"Come on!" he whispered...
..."There's a good horse out there for...
...you. You know the road to town...
...Ride it!"

reached through and caught her...
...wrists. The small noises she made...
...did not stop the talk in the kitchen...
...On the ground, outside, she watched...
...him as a child might have done, ex...
...pectantly—trusting!

"Quiet!" he warned her...
..."There was a kitchen window to...
...pass, before he could reach Jeff's...
...horse. Someone would certainly be...
...facing that way. He moved down...
...the wall, dropped to hands and...
...knees and crawled under the line of...
...that sill. Erect again, he moved...
...toward the horse. It opened its...
...eyes and stiffened. When he put...
...out a slow hand toward the trailing...
...reins, it moved back a step. He...
...edged closer. Another pace and he...
...would be past the corner and in...
...view of anyone looking through the...
...kitchen door. Again he reached for...
...the reins and the horse lifted a foot...
...Count the processing time as soon...
...as water surrounding the jars begins...
...to boil. There should be free circula...
...tion of water around jars.

For oven canning, set the tempera...
...ture at 250 degrees. Set jars on a...
...rack in the cold oven, however. Start...
...counting time when oven is switched...
...or turned on. Do not allow the tempera...
...ture ever to exceed 250 degrees as...
...this causes liquid to boil away and...
...evaporate.

In placing your jars in the oven...
...allow for free circulation of heat be...
...tween them. Do not allow the jars...
...to touch each other, as this will often...
...cause breakage, and do not allow them...
...to come in contact with the sides of...
...the oven.

The Sugar Question...
...Fruit may be canned successfully...
...without sugar or sugar syrup with...
...water or fruit juice used in its place...
...Sugar, however, does mellow and...
...ripen the fruit, giving it a better...
...flavor. You might try making your...
...fruit syrups for fruit canning less...
...sweet than usual if you are short on...
...sugar.

Honey may be used in place of...
...sugar in making the sweet syrup...
...but the fruit will be somewhat more...
...dark than if sugar is used and the...
...fruit flavor will be intensified. Use...
...honey for each cup of sugar in the...
...substitution.

White corn syrup is another ac...
...ceptable substitute, but since it is...
...less sweet than sugar, substitute 1½...
...cups of corn syrup for 1 cup of...
...sugar.

Syrups to Use...
...Thin syrups (No. 1) are used for...
...small, soft fruits such as cherries...
...and berries. Make the syrup by us...
...ing three parts of water to one part...
...of sugar.

Lynn Says...
...How many jars are you putting...
...up of the fruits? Here's a guide...
...to help you pick out jars:
...Cherries: 9 baskets yield 2 pints...
...pitted, 7 pints, if whole.
...Peaches: 2½ pounds (small...
...basket) yields 1 quart.
...Plums: 1 14-pound basket...
...yields 25 pints.
...Strawberries: 1 crate yields 28...
...pints, if canned whole; 31 (7½...
...ounce) glasses of jam.

Jeff stared in the indicated direc...
...tion. Through a gap in the trees...
...Janet showed, going over the ridge...
...that would hide her perfectly from...
...the house, once passed.

"You—you let her loose!" he...
...breathed. "And give her my horse!...
...Hell! You ain't got five minutes...
...Dud'll look into that bedroom. Then...
...he'll kill you! Man—Dud was plumb...
...crazy about her first time he ever...
...laid eyes on Janet. Here! I'm go...
...ing back in and I'll stall Dud all I...
...can. You slide around and grab...
...Pancho and go on back to Catfish...
...Tell him—oh, anything! Then you...
...ride like hell and don't you never...
...let Dud catch up with you, no time!

And—luck, kid! I never met a man...
...I liked better!"

Con slapped him on the shoulder...
...and ran noiselessly around the...
...house, to drop and crawl beneath...
...the window and so get to Pancho...
...with the careless bearing of a man...
...weary of idling.

"I'm going back to the horses...
...Dud," he called. "Want Catfish to...
...come down and eat?"

"Yeah. He might's well," Dud an...
...swered, leaning so that he looked...
...through the door, grinning.

Prepare for Winter With Delicious Canned Fruit (See Recipes Below.)

Fruit Canning

Plan now to put up those fruits...
...from the market or your victory...
...garden while you can still capture...
...their garden-freshness and summer...
...sweetness. This year's canning will...
...require more careful planning than...
...ever before, for waste in the fruit...
...itself, canning jars, rubbers or sugar...
...is highly undesirable.

Chart your plans before embark...
...ing on the canning program. Con...
...sider first how much sugar you will...
...have available, with the five pounds...
...per person allotment for people who...
...are canning. Plan this amount so...
...it will do for the jams, jellies, pre...
...serves, and sugar syrups for fruit...
...canning.

A hot water bath is best for pro...
...cessing fruits because they are acid...
...They can safely...
...at high tempera...
...tures, and texture...
...and flavor and...
...color are the best...
...Over canning is...
...good also. For the...
...hot water bath, use...
...a large wash...
...boiler or vessel with...
...tight fitting...
...cover. Fit this with...
...a rack at least...
...½ inch from the...
...bottom. Fill the...
...rack with enough...
...water to cover...
...jars at least one...
...inch over the top...
...Count the processing...

...water surrounding...
...the jars begins...

Helen's father stiffened and...

Present day Wisconsin fathers are like their granddads—individual protectors of their homes and families, says the Wisconsin Council of Defense. If Axis planes drop "friendly little souvenir cards" instead of bombs, don't collect any for keepsakes, cautions the Wisconsin Council of Defense. They may be tricky incendiary cards, in which case you certainly would have something to burn a hole in your pocket.

County Agent Notes

FIELD BINDWEED DEMONSTRATION

A field bindweed control demonstration on a large scale basis was held on the C. P. Whitehouse farm at Markesan on Friday, July 24th. A forty-acre field infested with field bindweed was used to show different methods of control without the loss of the yearly crop.

RECORD TAME HAY CROP HARVESTED

A record tame hay crop has been harvested in Wisconsin this year. High yields of hay per acre have been reported by many farmers in this section of the state. These higher yields will more than offset the smaller acreage of this year as compared to last year. The total production is estimated at about one-third of a million tons above the 1941 yield.

4-H CLUB PICNICS WELL ATTENDED

The 4-H clubs of Washington county enjoyed their annual picnic on Friday and Saturday of the past week. Those from the eastern portion of the county gathered at the West Bend City park on Friday, and on Saturday the 4-Hers from the western part of the county assembled at the Schwartz park at Hartford for their picnic. More than 400 club members attended the two picnics. Handicraft activities and baseball were the main sources of entertainment. A brief but impressive patriotic program was also presented.

In the championship baseball game the team from the Welcome 4-H club (West Bend township) defeated the Boltonville team by a score of 15 to 7. Irvin Holzhueter, agricultural instructor of the West Bend high school umpired the game, and Norman Friss, club leader of the Lake View 4-H club (Stlinzer) served as score keeper.

QUALITY MILK MEETINGS WELL ATTENDED

Meetings were held on Tuesday evening, July 21, in every rural school house in Washington county to discuss ways and means of producing a better quality of milk on the dairy farms of Washington county. The meetings were conducted by local farmers who had been selected as leaders and who were given the necessary information to be presented. At the time this article goes to press only a few reports on the meetings have been received by E. E. Skalkskey, county agricultural agent. Reports received indicate that the meetings throughout the county were well attended considering that they were held during the height of the grain harvest season.

At these meetings farmers were given suggestions as to the things they can do to improve the quality of the milk produced upon the farm. They were told how milk can become infected with undesirable bacteria, how these bacteria increased in numbers and finally how the presence of such bacteria will produce an inferior milk. Information was also presented to tell farmers how they can more thoroughly wash, sterilize, dry, and preserve their dairy utensils. The matter of cooling the milk to reduce the rate of bacterial growth also was discussed at some length. These local meetings were purely educational in nature, and were for the purpose of informing farmers and dairy plant operators of some of the more common things so frequently and unintentionally overlooked that have an important influence on the quality of the dairy product produced.

POTATO GROWERS TO MEET ON KRESSIN AND OGENORTH FARMS

Washington county potato growers will meet on the Reinhold Kressin farm near Rockfield on Sunday afternoon, August 2, and on the Louis Ogenorth farm near Kewaskum on Saturday afternoon, August 15th, to inspect the county potato demonstration plots. In the two demonstration plots on those farms more than 25 sources of Wisconsin grown seed stock has been planted for comparison purposes, and on the field day assigned to each plot a study will be made of the growth yield, and disease resistance performance of the different strains of seed stock. Those interested in potato improvement work are invited to attend the meetings.

WASHINGTON COUNTY 4-H CLUB FAIR AUGUST 7-8-9

The Washington county 4-H club fair, which has been held annually for the past 35 years, will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 7-8-9. The fair is under the management of a county committee consisting of Otto Koller, Barton; George Raebel, town of Richfield; Emil Gauger, town of Trenton, and E. E. Skalkskey, who serves as secretary of the fair.

The fair, which has attained wide recognition as one of the leading fairs of the state, will again operate on the no admission, no parking charge principle. The county fair management invites you and your family to attend the fair. The county fair is an educational institution, one which should inspire you to better farming, and one which presents a program you should be privileged to attend without having to pay for it.

Anyone wishing a copy of the premium book may obtain one upon request. To have the fair comply with wartime demands, many changes were made in the products to be exhibited and in the rules governing the exhibits. Anyone contemplating showing at the county fair should carefully follow the rules as indicated in the premium book.

HOME ECONOMICS EXHIBITS. In the 4-H club clothing exhibits made over garments, darning and patching exhibits will be stressed to add emphasis to the nation's conservation of materials campaign. War-time work garments made especially to meet the needs of the growing army of girls and women out on the land and in the factories will be shown. As usual there will be the classes of garments by each 4-H project and by the year the girl has taken the sewing project.

In their clothing work this year, Miss Blstein is stressing time saving devices for construction processes. As usual garments will be judged on the 40-30-30 score card, 40 points for design and suitability of garments, 33 points each on selection of fabric or material and workmanship.

Special war-time work garments and made-overs may be exhibited in the open classes for adults also. Fancy sewing work is being cut to a minimum in all exhibits this year.

The 4-H girls model the dresses they have made in a dress revue on Sunday, August 9th, at the county fair. Winners will compete for state honors at the Milwaukee fair.

Food and Nutrition

This project is being stressed by all clubs this year as part of the nationwide nutrition program. 100 of the boys and girls enrolled in club work in Washington county are carrying this project.

Some changes in the current premium list include, first of all, more baked articles using whole wheat flour. Fewer exhibits of sugar high foods, such as cakes are listed. Fewer numbers of muffins, rolls, cookies, an alternate for one exhibit are required this year. All cakes and cupcakes in the 4-H division are to be exhibited un-

Twenty-five Years Ago

(1917)

A model village will be built by the J. M. Kohler company for its employees at Kohler, near Sheboygan. Plans are being made for the construction of 36 model houses.

August Backhaus, 91, an old settler of this community, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Peter Riesch near Big Cedar lake. He settled in Kewaskum in 1852, coming here from Germany.

A meeting of the Old Settlers' club will be held at John Brunner's place. Matters of importance will be brought up.

The following officers were elected by the St. Lucas Luth. congregation: President, Conrad Bier, Jr.; secretary, Albert Buss; treasurer, Wm. Quandt; janitor, Otto Habeck; Ed. Heise was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Aug. Wesenberg. Officers were also elected by the St. Francis Aid society of Holy Trinity church as follows: President, J. M. Ockenfels, vice-president, Math. Belsbier; secretary, John Marx; vice-secretary, Chas. Muckerheide; treasurer, Edw. Miller; marshal, J. P. Fellenz; flag bearer, Jos. Schoofs; vrain bote, Wm. Metz; U. S. flag bearer, Jos. Eberle; dele gates, John Brunner and John Marx.

It will be a bit of odd news to many readers who learn that Daniel Webster, the renowned American statesman and lawyer, at one time owned land in Washington county. An old file in a county paper revealed the interesting fact that the quarter section now owned by W. W. Hamlyn of Town Trenton, was once entered in Daniel Webster's name. It is one of the finest strips of land in that part of the county, having a gradual slope to the Milwaukee river which runs across the edge of it.

The Bachelor club met and appointed G. Killeoy and Herman Krueger to go to Chicago when a cargo of imported German girls arrive there. They are to select a girl for some members of the club. Others drew the line or German girls. No doubt their choice will be a good one as they are claimed to be good authority on girls. All who have not joined the club would find it good to do so.—Dundee Correspondent.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Nazi Steamroller Pushes Soviets Back In Struggle for Control of Caucasus; Government Wheat Sells for 83 Cents; Wage Pattern Set by Ruling on Steel

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Coast Guardsman Jack Cullen, 21-year-old hero who confronted the Nazi saboteurs who landed on American soil from a submarine, is shown as he was congratulated by Vice Admiral Russel R. Waesche, commander of the U. S. coast guard, for his devotion to duty and outstanding performance that led to the capture and trial of the spy ring. Cullen was advanced from seaman to coxswain in recognition of his service.

RUSSIA:

Nazi Steamroller

Adolf Hitler had demonstrated that the long delay before he launched his monster offensive against the Soviet Union had not been wasted and that despite terrific losses his tank forces had lost none of their striking power.

For the mighty thrusts which started originally in the Kursk and Kharkov areas had steadily gained in weight and momentum, forcing their way through the Don basin. The attack developed three spearheads aimed to split the armies of Marshal Timoshenko in the Ukraine and those of Marshal Zhukov in the Moscow area.

Moscow made no effort to minimize the danger of a broad breakthrough. For once holding a line from Rostov to Stalingrad, the Nazis would be in position to swing southward to Astrakhan on the Caspian sea and into the Caucasus itself, where waited their supreme prize—the fabulous oil pools of Tiflis and Baku.

EGYPT:

Collision of Tanks

Air-borne from Crete came Rommel's long-awaited reinforcements. Tough and battle-seasoned were they and expert at storming defenses such as the British were manning against them in Egypt's crucial El Alamein sector.

Tricky Marshal Rommel employed a battle device that had won for him on many a previous occasion—that of beginning his attack at dusk when the sun was in his opponents' eyes.

Bringing up heavy tank reinforcements, both sides battered each other in battles on which the fate of Alexandria and Suez depended.

The Nazis' immediate goal was a desert coastal ridge five miles west of El Alamein which the British had won from him days before. In the fiercely contested struggle, the RAF was actively engaged, with fighter bombers and light bombers scoring many direct hits on tanks and ranging far to the rear to harass Rommel's thinned-out supply and communication lines.

DRAFT:

'War Effort'

"Contributing to the war effort" will be an important factor in determining the draft status of married as well as single men.

In defining what constitutes "contributing to the war effort," selective service headquarters outlined 34 different types of jobs which would place a man in that category and thus delay his induction. Draft officials emphasized that the supply of single men of all classes would have to be exhausted first.

Trends were clarified in the revised policies announced by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service. While reiterating that "bona fide family relationships will be protected as long as possible," General Hershey instructed local draft boards that when the time comes for calling men with dependents to service, those who are not contributing to the war effort should be called first. Last class to be inducted would be married men with children who are contributing to the war effort.

RUBBER:

Motorists whose hopes for a rubber supply had been repeatedly revived by stories concerning quick production of synthetic rubber, heard rueful news from Donald M. Nelson.

Testifying before a senate agricultural subcommittee, he said annual rubber requirements ranged between 813,000 and 868,000 tons a year. Against this he presented estimates indicating that America's synthetic production would total 32,300 tons in 1942, and 338,000 in 1943.

CHINA FRONT:

Doolittle Sequel

Ever since the attack on Tokyo by Brig. Gen. James H. Doolittle and his squadron of American bombers, Japanese objectives in China have been the seizure of areas from which United States bombers might strike again.

Thus when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's battered armies acknowledged the loss of Wenchow and Julian, seaports in southern Chekiang province, after steady withdrawals from strategic points in the Kiangsi-Fukien-Chekiang area, another air threat to Tokyo had been removed. Bravely, however, a Chinese official spokesman pledged that with increasing air support from the United States, the Chinese army would intensify its counterattacks and would immobilize more Japanese troops in China than ever before.

Elaborating on China's view of the war and her role of tying up large numbers of Japanese, the spokesman said both Germany and Japan were "now making desperate bids, as they must score certain successes this summer in order to sustain a long war against the United Nations."

'FIGHTING FRENCH':

U. S. Encourages

More effective co-operation between the followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle and the governments of the United Nations was forecast as a result of several steps which coincided with the celebration of Bastille day.

First of all, the De Gaulle movement acquired a new name—"Fighting France" instead of "Free France." At the same time the French National committee became an administrative central body.

To symbolize the new relationship the United States announced the appointment of Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of U. S. naval forces in Europe, and Brig. Gen. Charles L. Bolte, chief of staff of the army's European headquarters, as military representatives to General De Gaulle's headquarters in London.

This step did not affect United States relations with Vichy, already badly strained by Pierre Laval's refusal to accede to President Roosevelt's request that French naval vessels interned at Alexandria, Egypt, be removed from the danger of Axis capture.

SECOND FRONT:

Dress Rehearsal?

From London came two significant reports indicating that plans for the long-heralded Anglo-American second front in Europe were going steadily forward. Just when such a front would be possible, however, no military observer would hazard a guess.

Described as a "prelude to what may be major military operations on the European coast," powerful American and Canadian forces plus units of the Royal navy and marines carried on the greatest raid and invasion maneuvers ever held in European waters.

At the same time, Lieut. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of American forces in the European theater, continued methodically the job of setting up the organization that will carry on the offensive. Giving attention to land, air and supply forces, he announced that Maj. Gen. M. W. Clark would command all ground forces, Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz would command air forces and Maj. Gen. J. C. H. Lee would be responsible for supplies.

OPA:

'Politics Out'

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has won many an enemy among professional politicians for his blunt disregard of partisan tactics. Hence his latest warning to OPA employees that any political activity would result in instant dismissal, was not calculated to gain him any new friends among the politicians. But observers believed it would step up the OPA's efficiency.

"No one in the OPA organization is going to be permitted to play politics in the war effort," Mr. Henderson said, in an administrative order reminding workers of their status under the Hatch act.

"I have said from the beginning that OPA is going to be run on non-partisan lines. I do not want anyone to have the slightest doubt about the consequences that will result from failing to comply with the law. As I have said in the past, if the Hatch act doesn't get them, the Henderson act will."

MISCELLANY:

DENVER: Resolutions calling for a "just proportion of women delegates at international conference tables in the post-war world" were adopted by directors of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

LONDON: The latest edition of Old Moore's Almanack which has been published for 245 years said that the stars point to disaster for Adolf Hitler and Emperor Hirohito in 1943, but don't indicate the collapse of Japan before 1943.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

NEW YORK.—At Londonderry, in Ulster, the U. S. A. has its first naval base in Europe—the first in history. It is an operating base and it is now operating. This is a reminder to this department that the ancient and adaptable "Londonderry Air," obtainable in any one of many guises at any song shop, never failing to re-align ragged basses and tenors and bring them through to a valorous finish.

It was over half a century ago that John Addington Symonds, great English literary critic, wrote his adaptation of the "Londonderry Air." He made the old song "News Today." Here are his words:

Come day of joy, when lustier men and nobler
Than ere the world hath known shall rise,
With flame of freedom in their spirits,
And light of knowledge in their eyes.
They shall be gentle, brave and strong
Of heart,
To spill no drop of blood, but they shall dare,
All that may plant man's lordship firm and free
On earth and in air and flood and sea and air.
Till race with fire and people blent with people,
Unarmed shall live as comrades free.
In every heart shall beat the love of human kind,
The pulse of one fraternity.
New arts shall bloom, of lustier mould more beautiful,
And mightier music thrill the skies,
And every life shall be a song of pure delight
When all the earth's a paradise for all.

In school we took a lot of punishment from an aggressive pedagogue, assaulting us with Symonds' "Precognitors of Shakespeare." It was not until years later that we understood that Symonds had been fanning up that "flame of freedom" of pre-Elizabethan England, and that in Webster, Marlowe, Greene, Dekker, Peale and Heywood, he found unfeared spirits, making a great literature and a great England. If the teacher had had us sing the "Londonderry Air," as above, we might have understood.

SOMEbody is always giving Dr. J. C. Hunsaker a medal, so turn-about is fair play when he gets on the sending end and hands one to Brig. Gen. James Doolittle, for obvious reasons and with appropriate sentiments.

As chairman of the national advisory committee for aeronautics, he conferred on the Tokyo bombardier the Daniel Guggenheim medal which he himself received in 1935.

Most people would be willing to settle for Tokyo in honoring General Doolittle, but Dr. Hunsaker, a careful scientist, weighs in the general's other achievements and emphasizes the award as "not given for any single act." That puts both the general and Tokyo in a long perspective, which is characteristic of Dr. Hunsaker.

He is the head of the faculty of aeronautical and mechanical engineering at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, a former commander and aircraft designer in the navy, and co-designer of the navy's NC4 flying boat which made the trans-Atlantic flight in 1919, made the first wind tunnel for experimentation in aerodynamics and designed the Shenandoah, the biggest dirigible built in America.

From Creston, Iowa, he went to Annapolis, and was graduated in 1908. He studied aeronautics in Germany, getting some interesting close-ups of Zeppelin design, and returned in 1912 to begin his wind-tunnel research at MIT. There he gained his degrees in science and engineering and was an instructor from 1914 to 1916. He was in the construction corps of the navy from 1909 to 1926, advancing to the rank of commander, retiring from the navy in 1927. In that period, he was assistant naval attaché at London, Paris, Berlin and Rome.

He became a director of the Good-year Zeppelin corporation in 1929 and vice president in 1935. In addition to the Guggenheim medal, his awards include the Navy Cross and the Franklin medal.

AFTER a battle of many decades, Britain takes over her underground coal deposits from the ancient ownership of dukes, marquesses, earls and the Church. Nationalization is for the war period only. The transfer is a victory for Sir Ernest A. Gowers, who has made more or less of a career in the cause of public ownership of coal mines. He becomes chairman of the commission of five members in which ownership of the mines is vested. He is little known in British public life outside of coal issues.

He became chairman of the coal reorganization commission in 1931, under the MacDonald government. His salary of $35,000 a year stirred up a brick battle in parliament, with talk of "bureaucracy becoming a major industry," and it was finally confirmed by a majority of only five votes.

Sir Ernest was knighted in 1928. He entered the revenue department in 1903, and served under several under-secretaries in the India department, and was under-secretary for mines from 1920 to 1927. He is a matter-of-fact, hard-working citizen.

Washington Digest U. S. Bond Purchases Are Better Than Forced Savings

Federal Taxes Unable to Cover Total of Present War Expenses; Transport Planes' Importance Growing.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

Washington, which never hesitates more at election year, today is faced with doing that most offensive thing of all—taking away the people's money.

The President's anti-inflation program has not been carried out and nobody dares take the first crucial step to put it into force.

The love of money may be the root of all evil, but the presence of too much money in too many pockets has become an evil, too. The two methods of rooting out this evil are to stop the money coming into all these pockets and to take it away after it gets there.

My story begins in a very ornate corner of the Capitol building just off the senate floor.

Senator Z was opposite me. I always call on him when I want an idea in a couple of pungent paragraphs. He was once a newspaper man himself, and as a timid representative of a news syndicate many years ago I used to beard him in his news den.

"Senator," I said, "about axes you going to do what are they?"

Senator Z's eyes lighted up. He shifted his cigar. "Baukhage," he said and slapped my adjacent knee, "I am not going to do anything now. When the time comes I am going to do a lot. Let me tell you something. Last January Secretary Morgenthau came and talked to some of us. He said: 'I know it's hard for you folks to vote for a big tax bill in election year. But it's got to be done. And I'll tell you what I want. I want the country to pay for the war two-thirds of the way as we go. I want you men here to make a team and agree to that. Taxes to equal two-thirds of expenditures.'"

"So we agreed. But in the five months since then the expenditures have increased so that the balance has been thrown completely out. Instead of paying with taxes two-thirds of current expenses we will be lucky if we can pay one-third."

"And let me tell you this: It is a lot better to make the taxes lower, to leave some money in the taxpayer's pocket and force him to buy bonds. I'm not coming out for compulsory savings now for that would defeat itself. I am going to wait until Joe Doaks begins to realize what is happening."

"And let me tell you this! When this war is over, unless the money to fund the war debt is still in Joe Doak's pocket, Joe is going to lose it and the whole economic framework of the country will go to pot. Joe doesn't know that. He thinks the money in the bank is still his. It isn't. It's the bank's. Now Joe won't keep the actual money in his pocket. He'll spend it. Eventually the bank will get it if he does. But if he buys a government bond and puts that in his pocket, he will be safe. So will the country."

"Well," I asked the senator, "when are you going to do something about this, are you going to come out for compulsory savings?"

"No," he said, "but I have a plan, and when Joe Doaks realizes that Henry Morgenthau's voluntary purchase of bonds has fallen down I'll be ready."

Americans Show They Can Do It Nobody dislikes anything compulsory more than red-blooded Americans, but when an emergency arises, if they feel it is a real, national emergency, they will do what they are told and do it willingly. Three million men did it willingly in the last war when they were told they had to go and fight. Millions are preparing to do it in this war.

"I had just heard the surprising word from the lips of a Chinese general that even before the Burma road was destroyed, China was getting very little more in the way of supplies than she is today. Why didn't we begin plane transport then? I thought of the couplet by Poe:

Be not the first by whom the new is tried
Nor yet the last to lay the old aside.

I thought we had gone a long way in transport already. Our transports or ferries are over every continent except Antarctica. The Pan American Airlines, which established a regular service across Africa, transporting its own supplies and men to equip the fields, is about to be taken over by the army.

But, according to my friend, we would have been much further along if it hadn't been for "Brass hats who think only in terms of text books that don't even contain the words 'dive-bomber,' or 'glider' or more than passing mention of any aircraft except balloons."

I don't know—perhaps it is time "to lay the old aside."

There's a new mascot at the medical department of the Orlando air base in Florida—a cat, by the name of Leukocyte Lymph Haemophilia III, or "Here, Pussy" for short.

An urgent call for volunteers to train as glider pilots has been issued from the Civil Aeronautics administration following a war department request to help locate qualified volunteers among graduates of the CAA elementary pilot training course and other licensed pilots.

Horse and Cattle Owners!

Dead animals are essential to help win the war as they are processed into a high grade feed for Poultry, Cattle and Hogs which in return produce essentials which we must have to win a war. Glycerine is taken out of all Fats and Oils from dead animals and this is made into T. N. T. for high explosives, and only Rendering Plants produce these products; as all dead animals buried or used otherwise are a waste to our country. Call your Renderer, Wm. Laabs, to collect your dead animals and you will be paid a fair price for them. Renderers can not pay an inflationary price as there is a ceiling on all of the products of rendering plants. Call at your nearest Phone West Bend 75 or Campbellsport 251F and reverse charges when you call. Yours truly, Wm. Laabs, Renderer.

"I CAN'T CONNECT YOU UNLESS..."

"I can't connect service lines to any building unless it was ready to receive my services before July 1, 1942, or, in the case of new construction, the main foundation was completed prior to July 1, 1942.

If you can qualify to receive my services under these War Production Board rulings, you must still be within 250 feet of my existing lines, because I can't go beyond that limit.

Call my local office for full information before you complete any plans requiring a new service connection from Wisconsin Gas & Electric Company."
