Mrs. Wilfred J. Ross, 22, of West Bend, nee Vivian Helen Gales, a native of the town of Wayne, who gave birth to a son, Roger Gales Ross, on Aug. 12, died in St. Alphonsus hospital Port Washington, Saturday, Aug. 15, at 6 a. m. after an illness of 11 days with appendicitis and complications resulting after childbirth. The son died two days after birth, on Aug. 14.

Mrs. Ross was taken ill on Aug. 3 and removed to the hospital where she submitted to an appendectomy. While confined there her son was born and although the best of medical care was given the mother and baby their lives could not be saved.

With The Local Men Serving Their Country

ROSENHEIMER PROMOTED; HAS MOVIE STAR AS PUPIL

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Rosenheimer of this village received word this week from their son, First Lieut. Lehman Rosenheimer Jr. that he has been promoted from flight commander to squadron commander and that he has been transferred from Albuquerque, New Mexico, to a new army air field at Carlsbad, N. Mex.

At Albuquerque Lieut. Rosenheimer had as one of his pupils the famous movie idol, James "Jimmy" Stewart. Lehman writes that he and Stewart became good friends and that the movie star is an able and willing pupil. Jokingly Lehman added that like all beginners, he had to "stave Jimmy" a "bawling out" a number of times. He also kidded the girls at the Rosenheimer store that he may not introduce them to his pupil nor bring Stewart along when he comes home again.

Lehman ended his letter by writing that Clark Gable, another movie idol, might also be a pupil of his later and that "Jimmy" Stewart is really a great fellow.

List Washington County 4-H Club Fair Winners

Entries in the Washington County 4-H Club fair were well up to former years in practically all of the departments. Appreciable increases in the number of exhibits were reported by the sheep, swine, poultry and vegetable departments. The coat and grain departments had fewer entries than in most former years. The fair as a whole was regarded by all as one of the best club fairs held in recent years both in number of exhibits and in their quality. The management of the fair is well pleased with the fine support given it by the many exhibitors and with the large patronage accorded it by the people of the county despite the rainy weather prevailing.

Below are given the top winners in the more important departments of the fair:

Scrap "Harvest" to Feature Junk Rally

Wisconsin and Washington county will do their share in the nationwide scrap "harvest," which began Monday, Aug. 17, by holding a "junk rally" on Saturday, Sept. 19, at which every effort will be made to clean up all the scrap possible and pile it up at reception centers for shipment to vital war industries.

The rally day was set for Sept. 19, W. E. Simons, Milwaukee, in charge of state salvage campaigns for the war production board, in order to give school children a chance to participate in the drive. School children have materially assisted in making past scrap drives a success, and they will be given every chance to help put this one over the top.

Washington county implement dealers, headed by William Weiss, Allenton, chairman, and assisted by the county salvage committee and representatives of implement manufacturers, have come to bat in the scrap "harvest" now under way. They are interested in getting all scrap materials, iron, steel, and rubber in particular, off the farms.

A committee has been named and territories designated for the purpose of taking an exhaustive inventory of scrap materials on every farm in the county. Another committee was appointed to set a list of standardized prices to be paid for the scrap collected throughout the county. The implement dealers have indicated they will buy and pay cash for scrap taken from the farmers and others in the county.

The present scrap "harvest" is aimed mainly at finding and disposing of old, worn machinery and other scrap materials on the farms. Scrap iron, steel, and other metals are particularly needed, since they are vitally important in the manufacture of armaments. It has been shown that there already is a shortage in such materials and the nation's blast furnaces will be unable to operate at full capacity during the winter unless the situation is relieved.

Although particular stress is being placed on getting the scrap in from the farms, the drive will also be held in the cities and villages. In addition to scrap metals, other materials badly needed are old rubber, rags, manila rope, burlap bags, and waste cooking fats, the latter being extremely important in the manufacture of explosives.

7-Day Wisconsin State Fair Opens Saturday

After months of preparation and an expenditure of over $300,000 the Victory Wisconsin State fair is ready to open its gates on Saturday, Aug. 22, for seven big days. The theme of this year's exposition will be "Serving - Nation at War" and exhibits, demonstrations, every one of the forty free shows on the grounds, and the entertainment has been planned to aid in our war effort.

Over ten thousand individual exhibits will be in place; barns will be filled with the prize cattle, horses, swine, sheep, chickens, goats, and in the 43 acres of buildings will be one of the most complete victory exhibits ever offered midwest audiences. Dozens of federal and state defense and victory agencies have prepared elaborate displays, the one on civilian defense alone is occupying over $2,000 in donated space in the industrial building. Washington county exhibitors will include Howard Laatsch, Kewaskum, Poland China swine; Val. Bast and sons, Rockfield, Percheron horses.

Two of the most interesting exhibit buildings at the victory fair will be the farm crops building and the dairy building. Thousands of dollars have been spent on producing the sensational displays in these two buildings which tell the thrilling story of Wisconsin's contribution to the "food for victory" program. In the farm crops building, twelve of the state's most important crops have been selected and in a beautiful display show how these crops are helping in America's effort to win the war. In the dairy building J. E. Wallace, the country's most famous butter moulder and cheese sculptor, will present a tribute to Wisconsin's dairy industry for the remarkable job that has been done in supplying our country and her allies with victory foods. One giant piece "The Spirit of '42" will require over a ton of butter to make and will be the theme of the displays of dairy products.

Realizing that entertainment plays an important part in continued high morale of our people, state fair officials have a $50,000 entertainment program which will delight and thrill. The night show, "On to Victory," is a tribute to our allies and surpasses in beauty, color, and thrills anything that has ever been presented to our grandstand audiences. The stage will be 200 feet long and 30 feet high and included in the cast will be 250 stars of stage, screen and radio. The fifteen circus acts include such sensations as Power's elephants, the stratosphere man, Willy West and McGinty, the laugh sensation of Zeligfield follies. Many of the acts have been star attractions with the country's leading circuses.

158 of the country's fastest trotters and pacers will appear in a five day grand circuit feature of the afternoon program. Practically every great harness horse will be seen in attempts to break American records. $23,000 in purses is being offered.

The state horse show bringing together the aristocracy of pleasure horses will be held in the coliseum, Aug. 24-28.

So that state fair entertainment can make a greater contribution to the victory program of the 1942 state fair two of the grandstand programs will be free. On Dairy day, the million dollar victory parade and the patriotic youth pageant in the afternoon with its cast of 8,500 Wisconsin boys and girls will be presented. The tickets for these two events are being distributed by friends of the fair throughout the entire state.

The opening day victory show, a tribute by the men of the last war to the men of this war, will open the week's entertainment program. On opening night, WLS and its National Barn dance will be there with new stars and acts.

Each of the seven days has been planned to offer the most in entertainment and enjoyment to the thousands who have for many years looked to the Wisconsin State Fair to provide wholesome fun and recreation. Truly a nine-day fair program has been crowded into seven days—Aug. 22-28.

FALSE ALARM

A crowd of people gathered around the fire station in the village hall Sunday afternoon when the siren sounded at 1:50 o'clock. The firemen were also there and ready to go but no one knew the location of the fire. Chief Harry Schaefer made a hurried investigation and was informed that inquisitive little children of the neighborhood turned in the alarm. When they heard the result they hit for parts unknown. No harm was done but the guilty children probably got the short end in long strokes.

Japs' Asiatic-Time-Table Delayed by U. S. Offensive in Southwest Pacific; Yank Air Force Now Active in Europe; Russians Continue Caucasus Retreat

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

SOLOMON ISLANDS: Marines Landed

The marines had landed the Jap-infested Solomon islands. The northeast of Australia was the site. After seven days of savage fighting, the marines were reported consolidating their positions on three key islands—Tulagi, Florida and Guadalcanal. Key prize on Tulagi, aside from its mountains, was an airbase in the mountains, said to be the best in that war sector.

The effectiveness of the entire offensive was indicated by a communiqué from General MacArthur's headquarters in Australia which reported that the marines had captured a Japanese airfield on Guadalcanal island.

Intent on India and massing strength along the Siberian frontier, the Japanese command did not like the idea of an American offensive in the Solomons. An offensive it was, however, with the intent of regaining lost territory, cutting a wedge into Japanese supply lines and carrying the fight to the enemy.

The marines were only a part of the attacking task force under command of Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley. They performed the necessary landing and cross-country fighting operations. But back of them was stout naval power and strong air forces which gave the Yankees a superiority the Japs had hitherto held.

U. S. AIR FORCE: Active in Europe

The long-awaited entry of American fighting planes on a large scale into the European air war took place when U. S. fighting craft engaged in 31 operational sorties.

This baptism was regarded as a forerunner of the time when the sky above Germany would be filled with destruction-laden American planes.

In the initial operations, United States fighter squadrons flying in conjunction with Royal Air Force units made three flights over the French coast. Twenty other aerial missions were over the sea and eight were interception sorties off the coast of England, according to a communiqué of the United States European headquarters.

NAVY: Policy Board Reshaped

Two sea dogs grown gray in their country's service were added to the navy general board, when Secretary Frank Knox announced a reorganization of the committee. They were Admiral Arthur J. Heppburn, retired, who was named chairman of the board, and Admiral Thomas C. Hart, retired, former commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

The board's function is to advise the secretary on matters of policy. The navy said the board's duties and responsibilities had greatly increased since America's entry into the war and that the reorganization brought to the board officers well qualified to deal with vital problems arising out of the war.

FARM INCOME: Ahead of HCL

Increases in farm income have thus far been able to outrun rises in the cost of living, it was disclosed in a department of agriculture survey which showed that while net income of farm families averaged 46 per cent higher in 1941 and in the first three months of 1942 than in the comparable period in 1935-36 level, living costs had increased approximately one-third. Thus income outstripped the rise in living costs.

The survey, made by the Bureau of Home Economics, cited a rapid rise in prices for things farmers bought in 1941. Asserting that "while they were practically at the 1935-36 level" in January, 1941, they were 15 per cent higher by December.

Despite the increased cost of living, the report said, farm families put more than twice as much into savings in 1941 as they did in the 1935-36 period. The added income enabled many farm families to pay off mortgages and reduce debts.

RUSSIA: Cossacks No Barrier

The emphasis which Russian communiques placed on "saber-bearing Cossacks" suggested that the Red forces in the Caucasus lacked the heavy tank and armored equipment with which Nazi advances had previously been repelled.

The appearance of new geographic names in the communiques—Cherkess, Kotelnikovski, Krasnodor and Maikop—indicated the rapidity with which the German steamroller had been able to flatten out Russian resistance and move on to new objectives.

There was no doubt that Russia needed a second front and knew it. A Soviet communique acknowledged that one swift thrust had brought the Nazis to Mineralnye Vody, only 140 miles as the crow flies from the oil wells of Grozny.

But things were not completely hopeless. While the Germans had seized some oil in the Maikop area of the Caucasus, the big prize was still out of their reach. Between them and Baku rose the barrier of the Caucasus mountains. Moreover, Marshal Timoshenko's forces were contesting every mile of advance stubbornly.

In an area north of the Caucasus the Russian position was grave, for Stalingrad, industrial city of the Volga, was menaced by a Nazi pincers movement from the Kletsyanka area on the north and the Kotelnikovski sector in the south.

INDIA: Gandhi Spins

As Mohandas K. Gandhi worked at his spinning wheel in his sumptuous prison in the Aga Khan's palace, the harvest of his passive resistance campaign against the British was a series of bloody riots that spread to the far corners of India.

Madras, heart of India's war industries, populous Bombay, Wardha in the central provinces and Madurai in the far south had been the scenes of outbreaks, despite official threats of death and flogging for all who took part in the revolution. That the British had the situation well in hand was indicated by the fact that the disorders were sporadic and confined to big cities, whereas the countryside was virtually unaffected.

Meanwhile in Washington, the state department made it clear that American military forces in India had been ordered to "exercise scrupulous care to avoid the slightest participation in India's internal political problems." A statement explained that "the sole purpose of the American forces in India is to prosecute war of the United Nations against the Axis powers."

PRIMARIES: Triumphant Fish

As political wiseacres examined the results of primary elections in five states, one conclusion emerged. Isolationism was apparently fading.

HAMILTON FISH "... prevails issues were sunk."

out of the picture as a prime political issue.

Outstanding example of this trend was the result in President Roosevelt's home bailiwick, Dutchess county, New York, where Congressman Hamilton Fish, prewar critic of the President's foreign policy, won renomination by a three-to-one ratio. Informed of his success, Fish said: "I feared issues were sunk at Pearl Harbor."

While results appeared contradictory in other states, the trend seemed to be running in this direction. Although Democratic voters defeated two prewar opponents of the administration's foreign policy in other states, these defeats were attributed by most observers to local dissatisfaction rather than emphasis on national issues. The defeated candidates in this case were Representatives Martin Sweeney of Ohio and Harry B. Coffey of Nebraska. Both were veterans in point of service in the House.

15-YEAR BLACKOUT:

Fifteen years in a federal penitentiary was the sentence meted out to bushy-browed, goateed, William Dudley Silver, leader of the Silver Shirts, following his conviction on sedition and conspiracy charges. Pelley's secretary, Marion Agnes Henderson, was given a two-year suspended sentence by Federal Judge Robert C. Baltzell in Indianapolis. Lawrence A. Brown, an official of Pelley's Fellowship Press at Noblesville, Ind., was sentenced to five years in prison.

ALEUTIANS: Japs Pay Dearly

Japan was paying a high price for the occupation of three western Aleutian islands. That was evident when a navy communique disclosed that 21 Jap ships had been sunk or damaged, an undetermined number of airplanes lost and important shore installations had been blasted since the invasion was first undertaken.

Latest exploit was a surprise attack by an American task force on Kiska harbor. Caught unawares, the Japs replied to the first American shells with anti-aircraft fire. In the raid, the navy said, shore batteries were silenced by cruisers and destroyers, fires started in the enemy camp area, a cargo ship apparently sunk and "the only resistance encountered was from air-craft."

Kiska is the Japs' main base in the Aleutians, although the Nipponese have also occupied Attu and Agattu, at the tip of the island chain.

WAR SITUATION: Reckoning Required

Examining the war situation with cold eyes, Senator Millard E. Tydings, ranking majority member of the senate naval affairs committee, warned that a United Nations victory cannot be expected before 1944 at the earliest. And, added the Maryland senator, the sooner the American people realize what lies ahead, the better off the United States will be.

"It ought to be perfectly obvious to any one that, barring some wholly unforeseen and unpredictable event," he said, in a radio broadcast, "there is not a chance for this war ending in 1942, and little chance for it to end before 1944 at the earliest, unless, of course, the United Nations are willing to submit to a Hitler-dictated peace."

Senator Tydings said it is useless to hope for a revolt of the German people against the Nazi.

"It is well to remember that the German people, whether Nazi or non-Nazi, have been winning almost constantly ever since the war started. The sooner we realize the grimness and gigantic size of the task ahead, the sooner we will have a complete comprehension of the great demands needed in blood and treasure."

SENATOR TYDINGS "... 1944 at the earliest."

DOCTORS: Getting Scarcer

Mounting needs for doctors in the armed services will make necessary a speeding up of medical training and an expansion of their practice by physicians remaining in civilian life.

This was made evident when statistics released in Washington showed that the country has 60,000 doctors, whereas needs for military and civilian functions will require 140,000 physicians. As a result of this situation, selective service headquarters said local boards had already begun to reclassify civilian citizens who can be spared from military service.

For every 1,000,000 men in the army, approximately 6,000 doctors are required. The navy's needs are 6,500 physicians to every 1,000,000 men. President Roosevelt's recent statement that 4,000,000 men are already under arms indicates that 24,000 doctors are needed for military service. The army recently declared it will need 20,000 more by the end of the year.

MISCELLANY

LONDON: Soil that had not been cultivated for almost 2,000 years has been reclaimed for wartime food production in Britain, Lord Woolton, food minister, announced. This land, which is producing oats, wheat and potatoes, has not been in crop since the days the Romans moved through the district.

WASHINGTON: Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. suggested that gasoline rationing for politicians be cut so that traveling salesmen in eastern states could have more motor fuel. Lodge asserted that the recent gasoline rationing order deprived salesmen of adequate gasoline and was "destroying their livelihood."

MEXICO CITY: The Mexican government gave the screen actor, Ramon Novarro, permission to enlist in the United States army without losing his Mexican citizenship, it was announced here.

LOS ANGELES: Screen Actor Clark Gable became a private in the army last week. Gable applied for assignment as an aerial gunner. "He didn't want to sell bonds or pour pink tea," said a recruiting officer. "He wants to be a regular soldier. He told me he doesn't care what type of plane he's in or what gunner's spot he might draw." The gunner's job is in his line for the movie star is noted as a crack shot. Gable was assigned to an air field in Miami, Florida, for preliminary training.

Cut Your Fuel Wood During Slack Periods

Release Transportation, Improve Forests That Way

By J. E. DAVIS (Extension Forester, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.)

Woodland owners can release transportation for war purposes by burning their own wood and supplying wood for similar use in towns and cities.

Fuel-wood cutting according to forest conditions resulting from mistakes of the past is suggested.

Fuel wood can be obtained from misshapen trees, dead and insect-ridden trees, other cull trees, from tops of trees cut for saw logs and from suppressed or unthrifty trees cut in thinning or woodland improvement operations.

Trees suitable for lumber, veneer logs, box bolts or other special products should not be taken for fuel. Large quantities of oak are needed for ships, hickory and ash for handles and lumber and pulpwood for other war industries.

These products can be obtained only from well-formed trees, and cutting them for fuel is a waste of valuable resources.

During Slack Periods. Fuel wood can be harvested during slack periods on the farm, but some time must be allowed for seasoning. Cutting should also be planned to promote a better stand of thrifty growing timber by removing "wolf" and "weed" trees.

For seasoning, the wood should be stacked, not heaped, on bed pieces over dry ground, and preferably in an open yard to get greatest air circulation. Fuel wood burns more efficiently and yields much more heat when it has dried at least six months.

Labor-Saving Device

Farmers will have to work more hours to reach their 1942 production goals unless they adopt electrically as a labor-saving device, just as tractors are being used to speed up field work.

It has already been demonstrated that much labor can be saved at a little expense in the use of electricity for putting water under pressure, for processing and handling feed, for electric fencing and for operating milking machines and brooding pigs and chicks.

Electricity will play an important part in making the development of rural industries possible. On farms where secondary agricultural production is not practical, the extra time resulting from the present system of mechanized farming may be used to advantage in the shop operating a wood lathe or other wood-working equipment, or on an electric welder making some part of a complete item of commercial value.

Vegetable Insect Control Is Not a Difficult Task

Follow a few simple rules and control of vegetable insects is not difficult.

A dust may be obtained for a dollar up, but one may be made at home with a tin can, a stick and a piece of cheese cloth. Ask the county extension agents how it's done. Next, have ready a supply of insecticides for use at the first sign of insect injury. These are cyclite for control of bean beetles, cucurbit beetle, cabbage worms and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of the plants; rotenone and sulphur to control tomato fruit worm, flea beetles, plant lice and leaf hoppers; and concentrated pyrethrum dust for squash bugs, stink bugs, and harlequin cabbage bugs. Watch the garden for the first sign of injury and dust both sides of leaves.

Apply poison bait late in the afternoon on control of cut worms, grasshoppers and adult wingless May beetle, or June bug. Poison bait also will control mole crickets which frequent sandy soils.

A bait made of cryolite, finely chopped carrots or turnips, and wheat bran will control the adult weevil.

White House Wedding

White Harry Hopkins, adviser to President Roosevelt, and Mrs. Louise Macy, New York fashion writer, were married in the White House recently, it marked the 15th time that the halls of the Executive Mansion had resounded to the strains of the wedding march.

The first was back in 1811 during President Madison's administration and the last was 103 years later when Woodrow Wilson was President. Here is the chronological record:

1811—Thomas Todd, associate justice of the Supreme court, and Justice Payne Washington, the widow of George Washington's nephew and the sister of Dolly Madison, the President's wife.

1812—Congressman John T. Jackson, a great-uncle of Gen. T. J. "Stonewall" Jackson, and Anna "Todd," a cousin of Dolly Madison.

1820—Samuel L. Gouverneur and Marie Hester Monroe, daughter of President James Monroe.

1829—John Adams, son of Marie Helen Jackson, niece of Mrs. John Quincy Adams.

1829—Alphonse Joseph Pageot, a member of the French legation, and Miss Della Lewis, daughter of a member of President Jackson's "kitchen cabinet."

1831—Lewis Donaldson, grandson of Thomas Jefferson, and Emily Martin, niece of President Andrew Jackson.

1835—Lucien B. Polk, related to James K. Polk, and Mary Easton, niece of President Andrew Jackson.

1840—William Walker and Elizabeth Tyler, daughter of President John Tyler.

1874—Algernon C. F. Sartoris, an officer of the British legation, and Nell Grant, daughter of President U. S. Grant.

1878—Russell Hastings, United States army officer, and Emily Platt, niece of President Rutherford B. Hayes.

1886—President Grover Cleveland and Miss Frances Folsom.

1906—Congressman Nicholas Longworth and Alice Roosevelt, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt.

1913—Francis B. Sayre and Jessie Woodrow Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson.

1914—William Gibbs McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, and Eleanor Wilson, daughter of President Woodrow Wilson.

All of the weddings that have taken place in the White House, the ceremony on June 2, 1886, was outstanding. For on that date Grover Cleveland, one of our two Presidents who entered the White House as a bachelor but the only Chief Executive to be married there, was wedded to Frances Folsom, the daughter of his former law partner. Shortage of Farm Labor Caused by War Demands Wages 42 Per Cent Above 1941; Ray of Hope Seen in Release of Workers from Construction Jobs.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

While Mr. McNutt's m.c.-power commission is considering the draft of a new bill for mobilizing the workers and the students and even the employers of the nation, the farmer is scratching his chin and wondering just where he will fit into the picture.

Farm laborers, of course, will be registered along with the rest, but will that cure the farmer's headaches?

Today the farm labor problem is full of superlatives and paradoxes. In the first place the unfulfilled demand for farm labor reported for July was the largest in history, 58 per cent of the total demand. In other words for every 100 hands needed, there were only 42 available.

That doesn't mean less people were working—as a matter of fact in spite of the shortage the number of people working on the farms has increased—there were 2,009,000 as of July 1. This seeming paradox merely means that more members of the farmer's family are working, more women, high school boys and girls and many older men who had retired. Older men who did a few hours light work a day, mending fences and odd jobs, are now working full time.

Of course the shortage of farm labor is due to the fact that the war and the war industries have absorbed so many people. And this competition has skyrocketed farm wages. They are the highest in 22 years. They are 42 per cent above the wages of a year ago. The average day wage rate is the highest since 1920. It is $2.45 and ranges all the way from $1.15 paid in South Carolina to $4.85 paid in the state of Washington. You can get some idea why the farmers are fighting for parity prices when you learn that the ratio of prices received to wage rates is 75 (the figure 100 standing for the ratio in the parity years, 1910 to 1914) that ratio stood at 83 last year since when it has dropped 8 points.

I asked a member of the department of agriculture if that wasn't an argument in favor of the farm bloc fight in congress to keep prices up. He replied that he thought it was an argument against war and high prices in general.

Well, there is the farmer's problem: although he pays all the good double what he paid in the good old parity years 1910-1914, he still can get only 58 per cent of the labor he needs.

Now comes the government ready to mobilize 60 million labor units. That includes men, women and younger folks, with the purpose eventually of having the government assign each available person to the special job in the war effort for which he is capable.

But the farmer has peculiar difficulties. He may need a lot of help for say two days putting up his hay, and then things are pretty slack until the wheat comes along. Either he will have to provide for the support of the extra help between times, or depend on the "okies," the migrant labor who "takes and tribulations we've heard so much about. An example of this came up recently when it was suggested that Mexican labor be brought into this country. That is a problem in the state department's bailiwick. It was pointed out that it would not be possible to pay the Mexicans for only the work actually done because as aliens they could not be permitted to enter the country if they were allowed to become public charges. Therefore they would probably have to be guaranteed a weekly or even a monthly wage rate.

Local Problem

One reason why a general mobilization of labor is not of much help to the farmer is because the farm labor problem is largely a local one. In normal times the farmer usually knows the man he wants and can call him up on the telephone and he pretty sure he will come for the few days he will be needed at the peak season. Many of these men now, of course, are off working in an armament factory, or have been drafted.

In the totalitarian countries the authorities just take anybody they want by the scruff of the neck and send him off anywhere they want him to go.

The Library of Congress has assembled an exhibit of materials published in 64 of the 111 printed languages of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

More than 39,000 women are now employed in productive capacities in the aircraft manufacturing industry as compared with only 1,900 nine months ago.

Tobacco has been rationed in Sweden since June 1. During a 30-day period individuals are allowed 180 full-sized cigarettes, or 300 to 600 short cigarettes. For cigarettes may be substituted 60 cigars, 90 little cigars, or about five ounces of pipe tobacco.

Non-smokers who do not obtain ration cards for tobacco receive instead an extra ration of about eight and a third ounces of coffee or three and a half ounces of tea.

It's a Good Morning With Flapjacks in Syrup!

(See Recipes Below.)

Breakfast Time

When you wake to the crowing of the rooster or the jingle of an alarm clock, it's a signal to be up and about seeing to the day's work. But first! A hearty breakfast is in order so that the system can get started on its proper routine. No matter whether it's for the head of the family going off to the defense plant, or the mother and class, mother and class, mother and class, no one should skip over this meal of the day.

This Sunday's Breakfast

The Cereals.

At least one serving of cereals is the nutrition requirement for the day. This is most easily served at breakfast, with cream and sugar and perhaps a few slices of fresh fruit or berries. Ready-prepared cereals are delightful, especially in the warmer weather—they're crisp, light, and nutritious. Recently some of the prepared cereals have been scientifically restored so they have all the whole-grain richness and nutritive value in them.

Light as down flapjacks are a welcome sight at breakfast! Try these:

*Feather Fluff Griddle Cakes.

(Makes about 18 cakes)

2 eggs, well beaten
2 cups rich sour milk or buttermilk
1 1/2 cups white flour
1/2 cup prepared pancake flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder

Have all ingredients at room temperature. Sift dry ingredients thoroughly. Add milk to eggs. Gradually stir in dry ingredients. Stir just enough to make a smooth batter. Cook on ungreased griddle. Try out one cake and if batter is too thick, add a little more milk.

Sunday Breakfast.

Place sausage links in a frying pan, add a small amount of water. Do not prick the skins. Cover and let steam 5 minutes, then drain. Cook over slow heat, add 3 tablespoons of peach juice to 8 sausages and let brown. Serve with poached eggs on top of toasted English muffins. Red currant jelly or golden peach jam makes a delectable dish.

If you've never tried old-fashioned scrapple, you have a real treat a-comin' to you!

Pork Sausage Scrapple.

(Serves 6 to 8)

2 cups cornmeal
4 cups boiling, salted water
1 pound sausage, in bulk
Cook cornmeal in rapidly boiling salted water, and add sausage to mixture. Blend thoroughly. Rinse a loaf pan with cold water and pack in hot scrapple. Let stand in ice-box overnight, covered with waxed paper. Dip in beaten egg and fry until golden brown. Serve with spiced applesauce, cranberry sauce or maple syrup.

Frivolities With Ham.

(Serves 6)

6 hard-cooked eggs, remove yolks
4 tablespoons grated cheese
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper
Melted butter

Mash yolks and mix with cheese, butter, seasonings. Refill whites. Press together. Pour a rich cream sauce over them and sprinkle buttered crumbs over them. Brown a few minutes in a hot oven. Serve on browned circles of ham.

EIGHTY army nurses whose names ought to go down in history because of the courage with which they did their work during the siege of Bataan will receive their due partially, at least, in a picture which Paramount has scheduled for production in the autumn. Called "Hands of Mercy," it will be produced and directed by Mark Sandrich, who'll take a hand also in writing the scenario. Another timely picture will be Metro's "Next of Kin," in which Joan Crawford will appear as a girl without social background, who marries a naval officer, and finds herself confronted with navy snobbery. Joan will come out on top of course!

Bette Davis refuses to call her vegetable garden at her Sugar Hill, N. H., home a "victory garden." Like a lot of other people, she discovered to her sorrow that vegetables won't grow just because you plant them. She says she'll be lucky if she gets one New England boiled dinner out of the whole crop.

Charles Boyer couldn't have Greta Garbo for that murder mystery, "Flesh and Fantasy," of which he is both co-star and co-director. But Universal did very well by him by getting Barbara Stanwyck to play opposite him in the second sequence.

Rosalind Russell thinks she knows what the boys in camp expect of picture stars, so she decided to take all the glamour clothes that she could pack into seven trunks when starting on the tour of army camps scheduled to follow completion of "My Sister Eileen." Though on a 16-hour-a-day schedule, she'll have clothes enough to change ten times a day. "I'll wear everything but a bathing suit," she announced. And she looks so fetching in a bathing suit!

Betty Brewer, the Paramount starlet, isn't wasting any time between pictures. The 15-year-old actress, who plays a featured role in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," is studying singing and taking piano lessons—takes piano from Diana Lynn and singing from Susanna Foster, also budding stars.

Paulette Goddard's new priority gown was made from just 1 1/2 yards of fabric. Designed by the famous Valentina, it's a dinner dress of black jersey, made with a backless top and a short, peg-top skirt. You'll see her wearing it in "The Forest Rangers."

Warner Baxter, who hasn't appeared on the screen since early last year, when he appeared in "Adam Had Four Sons," for Columbia, has been signed by the same studio to make two pictures a year. They'll be based on the radio program, "Crime Doctor," one of our most popular air shows.

Can't keep "Mrs. Miniver" out of the news. With the announcement that it was being held at the Radio City Music Hall for the ninth week—no other film has been held there for more than six—comes the news that it had been seen in that theater by 1,142,107 persons.

A 400-foot long, 200-foot wide duplicate of the original runway of the Wake Island airfield was constructed in ten days at Salton Sea, Calif., for Paramount's "Wake Island"—a picture that promises to be one of the most stirring of all this year's crop of war films.

ODDS AND ENDS—Gary Cooper's rapidly catching up to Don Ameche as a popular of famous men on the screen. . . Dennis Morgan has been taking daily treatments for the "sand blindness" he suffered while on location near Gallup, N. M., for "The Desert Song" . . . Ginger Rogers taps to only the tune of her own humming in "The Major and the Minor" . . . "Little Miss Marker," the film which made Shirley Temple famous eight years ago, may be filmed again by Paramount, with Baby Sandy in the leading role. . . Dorothy Comings, has refused all assignments since she made "Citizen Kane."

We hear that Bud Abbott and Lou Costello will have a radio program of their own beginning some time this fall. They'll have complete authority over material, etc., thus escaping the headaches that have beset many a comedian who had to let somebody else tell him what would be funny on the air. Name bands will appear with them on the broadcasts for a stretch of several weeks each—some top notches, including Benny Goodman and Gene Krupa, have already been signed.

Fabric-Conserving Fashions Possess a New Kind of Style

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

LET no one think that specifications for conserving materials in wartime have put restrictions on attractiveness. On the contrary, the new order of things is ushering in a fashion cycle fraught with a newness in chic and charm that is excitingly interesting. Instead of finding them disappointing, you'll find that the new styles have exactly what every woman is looking for—neat silhouette and fine basic design, together with innumerable little niceties of detail which are flattering and lovely and expressive of all that is best in costume technique.

The manipulation of fabric so as to use less yardage simply fascinates with its artfulness and resourcefulness. Materials favored for the new "priority" fashions are those which lend themselves best to a delightfully feminine, draped and moded styling which achieves the utmost in figure flattery. For this purpose rayon crepes are proving ideal for the entire dress or used in combination with satin, faille or velvet. The working of two fabrics together is fashion news of outstanding importance for fall. In fact, the new black-on-black vogue which works black crepe or jersey with satin or faille or touches of black velvet is the fashion high spot of the immediate moment.

Another new trend which reacts to the good in response to the demand for curtailment in the use of metal fastenings is the amazingly clever way in which dresses and coats and blouses are made to close with self-fabric ties, or wraparound devices or with plastic buttons which are as ornamental as they are useful. New to fashion is the wrap-around frock with surplice back closing. It's a style you'll adore, for it's slenderizing to the nth degree. See it pictured in the right in the accompanying illustration interpreted in smart black rayon sheer, a material which is ideal for summer-into-fall wear. Delicate touches of fine black rayon net at the neck, sleeves and hemline carry out the black-on-black idea now so important. A self-fabric sash ties softly at the buttoned back closing. Worn over a correctly fitted foundation garment, this suavely fitted frock has unusual grace and distinction. Dressmaker tailoring distinguishes the charming two-piece suit frock to the left in the above illustration. Designed for now and later in handsome black rayon faille, this model features the slim long-torsoed silhouette accented by folds of the fabric at chest and hips of the fitted jacket top. The new "priority" suits with close, fitted jackets and slim skirts must be worn over carefully fitted under garments to achieve the smoothly streamlined effect so essential this season.

For the very chic afternoon dress centered in the group sheer rayon crepe in deep, rich black is draped and molded along slim figure-revealing lines. A self-fabric spaghetti trim makes soft little bows at the flattering sweetheart neck and knots casually at the waistline above the skirt draping, which is concentrated at the front.

Tremendous play is being made on the working of black satin with dull-surfaced rayon crepe. Yokes, insets and bandings of the satin, as well as big, soft bows, give pleasing variation to fall frocks of contrasting fabric.

Color contrast is another featured theme. Designers are highlighting striking effects in no uncertain terms, using sleeves of one color and bodice top of another with the two colors appearing in the skirt. Coat dresses have panels of contrasting color to match the color of the plastic buttons.

Black Satin

Black satin suits are big news for fall. Carefully sleek for autumn wear is this stunning suit done in fashion's newest fabric favorite—satin! The little jacket of this New York creation features the new shorter length. It flares slightly, as does also the discretely gored skirt. The highly decorative plastic buttons are in aqua coloring. Together with an aqua colored corsage, they add the prettily feminine touch. The stores are showing satin suits of this type in dark, rich jewel colors, too, but black is the favorite.

TO YOUR Good Health

by DR. JAMES W. BARTON

LOW BACK PAINS

Most sufferers from low back pain naturally reach for help to relieve pain rather than search for the cause. They will take painkilling drugs, use heat and electricity, hot baths, massage, and other methods of treatment. In cases where pain is due to strain or other injury the use of heat to muscles that are stretching the spine away from the point of injury is good treatment but getting the strained or sprained parts back into their proper position would get the patient well in much less time.

In speaking of low back pain I have usually pointed out that most cases are really due to infection—tonsils, teeth, gall bladder, intestine—and the remainder to injury—strain and sprain of certain joints, injury to the disk or cushion between the bones of the spinal column. Sometimes the strain or sprain is due to poor posture.

Dr. P. M. Girard, Dallas, Texas, in Archives of Physical Therapy, points out that while low back pain is present in the spot where the infection or injury occurs, that pain also occurs in places distant from the point of infection or injury. This is known as a "referred" pain and because it occurs at a distance from the infected or injured spot, the cause may be overlooked. On the other hand, pain may occur in lower back and down back of thighs and be due not to injury or infection at point of pain but to growths in spinal cord, rupture, appendicitis, turns or bends of uterus, growths in ovary, and stone in bladder.

A slight injury due to swinging a golf club or making a misstep may tear a muscle, rupture a ligament, or injure the joint holding one spinal bone to the next one.

The more the subject of low backache is investigated the more physicians are coming to believe that poor posture—letting the body slump or sag—is a more frequent cause than was formerly thought. This is the reason that when injury is the cause (as shown by relief from pain when at rest) and both patient and physician are unable to find any history of injury, they forget about poor posture as a cause.

Overweight and Gland Troubles

There was a time when the only method of reducing weight was to eat less food, take more exercise, or both. This is still the best method and the only one used in about nine of every ten cases.

However, now that it is known that if certain glands do not manufacture enough juice, an accumulation of fat will occur, physicians are able to inject or give by mouth enough animal gland extract to overcome this lack and so the fat is removed.

Generally speaking, where there is lack of thyroid extract or juice, the excess fat accumulates in all parts of the body. This occurs six times as often in women as in men. If lack of pituitary extract, excess fat accumulates across abdomen, shoulders, chest, upper arms, upper legs and hips. It usually starts in the teens and the youngster wants large quantities of sweets. Lack of sex gland extract results in excess fat across abdomen and more particularly across hips and buttocks. This is common following menopause in women. There are cases where the excess fat is due to lack of extract in more than one of the glands.

When the lack of gland extract has been definitely shown, the use of gland extracts under the supervision of the physician will give results particularly when there is reduction in the food intake also. However, for an overweight who "thinks" his excess fat is due to lack of gland extract, trying to treat himself is dangerous as severe illness, collapse, and death have followed self treatment.

Remember, gland extracts wholly are needed in less than 5 per cent of overweight cases and, in part, in less than 10 per cent.

Then there are the "cures" for overweight that so many try because they want a short and easy road to normal weight. Some of these "cures" where the drug used is known to the physician and its reaction, even if dangerous, can be controlled, have been used in "extreme" cases where the individual was 100 to 250 pounds overweight.

EVERYONE knows that quick meals in the kitchen save time, but it was both time and space that had to be saved in this kitchen where breakfasts were eaten on the run and the children had but a few minutes for lunch. The problem was solved by building a 16-inch-wide counter under a window and then making simple stools to be slipped under it when not in use. The dimensions and construction of the stools are shown here. A saw, a screw driver and a wood chisel are the only tools that were used.

The stools were painted cream color to match the woodwork and the counter was covered with blue linoleum like the floor covering. Cream colored place mats, napkins and window curtains embroidered in colorful Mexican figures were then added to give a smart note of gaiety.

NOTE: These curtain mats and napkins were made of four bags and the easy figures tell a story of life down Mexico way. A flower seller; a peon on his burro; a caballero with his guitar; a man leading a pig to market, and girls carrying jugs and baskets on their heads are all worked in simple outline stitch. Transfer pattern including enough figures for six mats, six napkins, borders for one pair of curtains and extra figures for several pot holders, is available to our readers. "Fuller," says Aunt Netty, the other day, "Folks are like wine. Some sour with age, and some, like you, get better!"
"Mebbe," says I, pickin' up that little compliment, "that's because I feel so good most of the time." For, you know, folks, when you feel good your disposition's apt to be good, too. But to do that, you got to eat right, which includes gettin' all your vitamins. And KELLOGG'S PEP is extra-rich in the two most often short in ordinary meals—vitamins B and D. Mighty fine-tastin', too. Try it!

Kellogg's Pep

A delicious cereal that supplies per serving (1 1/2 cups) the full minimum daily need of vitamin B; 1/4 the daily need of vitamin B.

Reaping Disappointment

It is a bitter disappointment when you have sown benefits, to reap injuries.—Plautus.

IT'S EASY TO GET GOOD RESULTS without MILK COST

It's a losing proposition to raise baby calves on whole milk when Security Calf Food will do the job at about 1/5 the cost. Uncle Sam is calling for more milk. Sell your share each bank on Security for weaning your calves. Few 40 years this popular food has made good. Now the new improved Security is still more concentrated and goes still farther. Try it!

EASY TO FEED

Security Calf Food gives you ECONOMY in cost — ECONOMY in effort. No cooking or just mix with water and a small amount of whole or separated milk.

SECURITY CALF FOOD

A 25 lb. pail carries 4 calves through the 6 weeks period at an average cost of $1.25 per calf plus a small amount of whole milk. See your nearest dealer or send for FREE new folder!

BEACONS of SAFETY

Like a beacon light on the height—the advertisements in newspapers direct you to newer, better and easier ways of providing the things needed or desired. It shines, this beacon of newspaper advertising—and it will be to your advantage to follow it whenever you make a purchase.

Gaiety Plus Charm

Are Required to Make Home Livable

CHARMING little house which naturally had their own personalities built right into it. The walls throughout the house they sealed with natural knotty pine, while the furniture was partly maple and partly painted (some hand-me-downs, some new from the unpainted furniture department of their local store). In the living room a maple secretary and a pair of maple ladder-back chairs were used with painted pieces in green, and with upholstered pieces slip covered in cretonne, a green leafy pattern on a white ground. A beige rug on the floor, accessories in white dotted swiss completed the room. The front bedroom had the furniture painted powder blue, a rug in brown, curtains, spreads and slip covers in flowered cretonne with powder blue ground. The room for the son of the house had furniture stained in natural pine color to match the wall.

Consolidated Features.—WNU Release.

Quilting is being used for linings, for little setin jackets, for hats.

Crowns will be higher, but many hats will still be worn more or less off the face, with bell-shaped brims, soft draping and upweeping lines among the favorites. Hats are paired with purses or gloves, shoes with purses, purses with belts, in this season's effort to produce an ensemble and still lose nothing of variety.

Lace Blouse, Is Back

It is anticipating its advent a long time ahead, but there is promise of the return of the lace blouse to be worn with jewel colored velvet suits and, for that matter, with satin in deep dark colors or black. The sheers of sheer black lace blouses has been in evidence for some time past, and it will continue its triumphs. However, the big news is the lace blouse made delightfully feminine with frilly accents, styled either of delicate Alencon or of very sheer Chantilly.

Bangles

Braiding, passementerie, dangles of all kinds, sequin embroideries, beadwork, novelty buttons, plastic gadgets, much jet and crystal and a wide use of embroidery and applique give to fall fashions interesting variety.

Now it's "Quaker" gray, one of the shades which promise to be of great importance this fall.

Border prints dine out these days. An informal dinner dress of Mexican inspiration has a border design in green to match a green bolero. The skirt is red, the blouse white. Remember the middy blouses you used to wear? The middy dress in a contemporary variation will be worn by the youngsters this fall.

RED RANGE

Irby came down loosely, like a dropped jumping jack.

CHAPTER XII

Irby came down loosely, like a dropped jumping jack.

heavy, but we might kind of back you up—

"When I need help—or advice—I'll ask for it!" Tension snapped. "All right! All right! But I hope you don't live to see the day you need it and don't have time to come asking!"

They got their horses from the livery corral, had a final drink at a little cantina where Mexican proprietors and Mexican customers watched so steadily that Con knew he was recognized. When they rode past the rooming house, Tension and Janet were not on the veranda. But, somehow, Con felt more cheerful than before. He stared ahead blankly and whistled Buffalo Gals.

"She is pretty!" Caramba said thoughtfully. "Say! I thought you said she keeps house for her brother. How come she's down here?"

"I don't know. Surprised me to see her step out there and call Tension 'Uncle Peek' and talk about buying for him at the store. Well, Mrs. Tension may be a friend of hers. Or she may be a niece. Probably she came visiting—I wonder! Maybe Nevil's not so easy in mind about her being on the NL while he sheriffs around. After Dud's crack at the place probably he wouldn't."

They turned at the heap of boulders and rode along the ranch road. Ahead, the hills rose, low and smoky. The sunlight of late afternoon was pale upon flat and height. Caramba shifted in the saddle to look all around him.

"Ought to be ten-twelve miles to the house. Be dark by the time we hit there—good and dark. Say! how come the girl never let on she knew you?"

"Because I was with you. You wouldn't expect a nice girl to speak to anybody siding a wild-eyed Texican of your build. When she gets me off to myself, she'll read me a sermon about associating with bad companions."

He swung off on the little hilltop and stretched himself. Caramba dismounted and reached into his alforja for the quart brought from Onopa. He sprawled comfortably, make a cigarette and smoke. Con sat beside him and played mumblepeg with his heavy knife.

"You know, I told you about that gang at Fronteras," he said presently. "Well, this Gloomy Megeath was drinking at the bar with a yard of me. I don't think he recognized me today and made out that he didn't. But I made enough noise around Fronteras for him to notice me and remember me."

"Does look funny. Looky!"

But Con had already seen the rider topping over a ridge a quarter-mile or so away, coming toward them. Caramba stared calculatingly at the man and shook his head.

The rider came on toward the hill and when he was within fifty yards they saw that he rode with hand on his pistol. He pulled in a thick, dark man with wide, flat face, to look sullenly and arrogantly at them.

"Wheeler's?" he grunted. "Hell! don't gawp so. I ain't aiming to eat you—maybe."

"That'll please your teeth," Caramba said dryly. "Yeh. We're Wheeler's. So that makes it polite for us, being on Wheel range, to ask where you're from. Even, which way you're heading."

"I'm Monk Irby! Reckon you heard that name. And I'm from Helligo Canyon. And I'm heading for Onopa to kill me a couple pups."

"Well, I've heard of Onopa, anyway," Con drawled solemnly.

Irby's smoky eyes shuttled suspiciously from one to the other. Out of a pocket of his old coat he drew a flat flask, held it up to the low sun, uncorked it and drank gulpingly until the half-pint of liquor had disappeared. Then he tossed the empty flask away and got heavily out of the saddle.

"Gi' me a cigarette," he ordered them generally. "I run out of tobacco awhile ago."

"Le' me!" Caramba begged Con plaintively. "You know I'm tenderer in the gizzard than you are."

He held out tobacco and papers and when he had smoked for a mo-

LEAKS IN LEADED GLASS WINDOWS DUE TO DEFECTIVE CEMENT

A WINDOW that is made up of small pieces of glass held together by strips of lead is likely to leak in a driving storm. It has little strength, and in bending under a wind, or because something presses against it, the leads may separate from the glass and allow leakage. Lead and glass should be held together with a cement that is somewhat flexible. Putty will not serve, for in drying out it becomes too brittle. One satisfactory cement is white lead paste softened, if necessary, by adding a little linseed oil. Using an awl or similar tool, the defective cement is scraped out from under the lead and replaced by the new. The leading must then be pressed back against the glass. For this the handles of two screwdrivers or similar tools can be used, with one in each hand. These tools are run up and down the leading, pressing it back into place. With one tool on each side, each one takes the pressure of the other, and the glass is thus prevented from being bent or distorted.

Waterproof Floors

Question: Our back porch has been enlarged and converted into a furnished room with an open deck on top. The carpenter has finished the deck with a slight pitch and says that the rain will run off. He says that all it needs is a coat of porch and deck paint. I cannot believe that this will keep water from soaking in and ruining the insulation and inside finish. What is your opinion?

Answer: I agree with you. The swelling and shrinking of the wood as the seasons change will crack the paint at the joints and edges of the boards. Your best move will be to have the porch floor covered with deck canvas, which is intended for just that use. Get a good quality and be sure that it is applied exactly according to the manufacturer's instructions.

Shrunk Door Panels

Question: Although we have a humidifier, the panels of our white Colonial doors have shrunk so that unpainted wood shows around them. The panels may swell when damp weather comes again. How can the appearance of the doors be improved?

Answer: Take out the panels by removing the strips of moulding that hold them in place, and smooth the edges with sandpaper. Then paint the edges white. A simpler method is to smooth the bare wood that is now exposed by light sandpapering, and then to supply two thin coats of white paint. The finish may not be quite so good with this second method, but even so, the appearance of the doors will be greatly improved.

Damp Floor in Henhouse

Question: About six weeks ago I had a concrete floor, four inches thick, laid down in a new henhouse. I now find that lots of moisture comes on top of it, especially when it rains. The contractor says that it will dry out in time, but I cannot put any livestock in a place under such conditions. No cinders or gravel were used under the concrete. How can I improve this condition?

Answer: To evaporate the moisture in a mass of concrete takes a long time, particularly at this time of year when evaporation is slow. If you are in a hurry to put in your livestock, you could build a temporary platform of wood until the concrete has dried.

Building Details

Question: I am planning to build a home of concrete blocks. How should I attach the joists to the top of the basement wall? How can I build the roof?

Answer: You will find these details explained in a book that has the title "Architectural Graphic Standards," published by John Wiley Sons, New York. You should find a copy of it in your local public library.

To Retain Heat in Water

Question: I have a 60-gallon water tank connected to my oil burner. Would you advise me to paint this with a heavy paint in order to retain heat in the water?

Answer: Paint will not be of much help. Cover the tank with an insulating jacket. Your plumber should be able to supply the material.

Attaching Curtain Rods

Question: How can curtain rods be attached to cement blocks in a basement rumpus room?

Answer: At a hardware store you can get fiber plugs to be forced into holes drilled into the concrete. The tool that comes with them. Drilling the holes is not at all difficult.

Salad Bowl Finish

Question: I would like to finish a large wooden mixing bowl as a salad bowl. How should it be finished? I am told that lacquer, shellac or varnish are poisonous and should not be applied. Can decals be used on it?

Answer: You are wrong in thinking that lacquer, shellac and varnish are poisonous, for they are not. The usual finish for wooden mixing bowls is top quality, quick-drying varnish, applied in a thin coat to bare wood. Decals can be used on the outside of the bowl, but not inside.

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON
Consolidated Features.—WNU Release.

NEW YORK—Harold McCracken, explorer for the American Museum of Natural History, says Japanese in the Aleutians are just like Germans in Florida, and Must Be Bayoneted

They can hole up like gophers in the native huts, and in Mr. McCracken's view must be "chased with bayonets into the Bering sea," if we are to dislodge them at all.

This should qualify as expert testimony. Mr. McCracken knows the Aleutians. In July, 1928, heading the Stoll-McCracken expedition, he unearthed a sarcophagus, on top of an almost inaccessible Aleutian rock islet, containing the mummies of three adults and a child. This culminated his 11-year search for stone age remains along the Aleutian land-bridge.

As an archeologist and explorer, the author of a number of books, he has studiously pieced out the historic jig-saw puzzle of his various findings and taken due account of their bearing on war and peace and the present and future of mankind. In 1934, he elaborated a plan for an "international grand jury" to end war which, in some aspects, was the first of several suggestions for fusing individual interests, across national boundaries, rather than grouping sovereign nations. More pertinent to his current observation is his previous conclusion that the Japanese invasion of the Aleutians was long planned and carefully prepared.

Mr. McCracken, a lean, gentle man with horn-rimmed spectacles, doesn't look like a man who has killed about 20 Kodiak grizzly bears, but he has, and such encounters are a minor detail of his desperate adventures in shipwrecks, blizzards and lonely treks in the frozen wilderness.

It was in 1915 that he first went to Alaska, heading an expedition for Ohio State university, his alma mater. In 1919 and 1920, he placed pay dirt on the Alaska peninsula, and into 1922-23 headed up a moving picture expedition, again for Ohio State university, to film big game.

ONE of our first stories, as a beginning reporter in Chicago, was a rock and sock fight between two Jugoslavs and another Balkan group, down around the Hegewisch steel mills. The Jugoslavs were outnumbered but they won.

They were more versatile than the opposition, better in knee and elbow work, and could land a chunk of slag or a slug of pig-iron on an exposed skull with skill and authority. Their own skulls seemed strangely resistant to such missiles.

As to the fight, they seemed to enjoy it, and when it was over set up a patriotic song which ranged far over the slag heaps and far into the night.

It would be nice to recall that the defeated challengers were Italians, but they weren't and that good news has been held for another day.

The Jugoslav guerrillas, 60 battalions of them, are chasing the Italians out of the former province of Bosnia. At the time of the Axis attack on Jugoslavia, we recalled that Hegewisch battle and would have made a bet with any taker that something like that would happen. In the above and other encounters we have noted that in fighting the Jugoslavs seem to have their mind on their work more than any other combatants. And, again, they seem to enjoy it.

His flaring black mountaineer's mustache has become a gonafalon of hope to those who want to believe that victory may be won by a stout heart and not necessarily by the biggest tanks. It is reported that 3,000 Italians have been captured or killed in the last two weeks and that the general's forces have now wrested 11,000 square miles from the Axis. They didn't try to make their second front a jug-handled deal.

The rocky-faced General Mikhailovitch, a colonel of artillery several years before the war, came out of the First World War with a strong distaste for the German military clique.

When the blitzkrieg hit, he was invited to join officials and army leaders in a plane flight to Cairo. He said he had another engagement, went back to the mountains and emerged with a few hundred of his hard-core boys, started savage forays and later worked them into carefully planned and operated military actions.

Barring the official leaders of the Allied nations, it would appear that Gen. Draja Mikhailovitch, the Jugoslav war minister, has socked the Axis with plenty of chunks of slag.

In 1936 he began warning his government that Hitler was preparing to overrun all Europe. Acting on his own initiative, he built a system of counterespionage against the Germans, gathered much convincing evidence and took it to Belgrade. He detoured compliance at several army leaders and placed his evidence before Regent Prince Paul.

Don't twist, bend or tie the so-called cord attached to your electric iron. It is not a cord, but two bundles of wires.

To prevent pitting and discoloration, food should not be left in aluminum ware any longer than is necessary.

Pat a small piece of hard soap in the sewing basket to rub over yarn or thread so it can be put through the eye of a needle with less difficulty.

Twenty-five Years Ago

At the marathon race at the West Bend homecoming two local boys, Maurice and Adolph Rosenheimer, captured first and second honors. The distance traveled was 4.2 miles, and the time made was somewhat over 27 minutes. The brothers were only three seconds apart. Maurice, winner of first was presented with a loving cup at the auto races the next day by the West Bend Commercial club, the presentation speech being made by Carl Pick. Adolph received a sweater as his reward for second honors.

Karl Hausmann of this village entered two of his Airdale terriers in the dog show held at Armory E. Fond du Lac, and won some of the prize money. He received first, second and third in the open class and second and third in the puppy class. Karl certainly has some dogs.

Admiral Dewey, the nation's Spanish war hero, and by priority of grade the ranking naval officer of the world died at his home in Washington in his 80th year.

George Schmidt, vice-president of the League of Wisconsin Postmasters, attended a meeting of the executive committee at the Hotel Erving, Fond du Lac.

The Kewaskum fire department held its annual joint meeting and elected the following officers: Chief, John F. Schaefer; assistant chief, Henry Ramthun; secretary, Erwin Koch; treasurer, Chas. Groeschel.

In line with its ever progressive policy the Bank of Kewaskum has placed orders for an extra vault door and necessary fixtures for a customers vault and private coupon booth. Patrons can now walk directly into this vault and have access to their deposit box. The booth opposite enables them to attend to personal matters with privacy. The office of the Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Co. will be moved to the second floor and the space left will be converted into a real estate loan, insurance and savings department. Because of more business an extra clerk will be employed.

JUNK

needed for War

In the barnyards and gullies of farms and in the basements and attics of homes is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis.

Scrap iron and steel, for example. Even in peacetime, scrap provided about 50% of the raw material for steel. It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel—with most impurities removed, and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our war machines.

The production of steel has gone up, up, UP, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined. But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns and ships cannot be produced.

The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead and tin.

The junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices.

Will you help? First—collect all of your waste material and pile it up.

Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee.

If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!
