MRS. PASTORS, OLD TOWN OF KEWASKUM SETTLER IS DEAD
Mrs. Wilhelmina Pastors, 89, nee Koenigs, one of the oldest residents of Washington county, passed away
at her home in the town of Trenton from infirmities brought on through old age. A former town of Kewaskum resident, she was the last member of a group of immigrants who settled in that township in 1867. She would have observed her 90th birthday in November.

Mrs. Pastors was born in Emmetter Island, in the Lower Rhine Province of Germany on Nov. 25, 1853.
She came to America with her mother,
three sisters, and two brothers in 1867
and the family settled in the town of Kewaskum. She married Peter Pastors Jan. 13, 1880, who preceded her in death Dec. 26, 1927. After their marriage the couple moved to the town of Barton, where they resided until 1903, when they moved to the town of Trenton. They lived in that township the rest of their lifetimes.

Deceased was the mother of nine children, four of whom predeceased her. Those surviving are Alphonse of Crafton, Mary (Sr. M. Perpetua, S. S.
N. D.) of Messner high school, Milwaukee, Leo, Antoinette and Peter at home. She also leaves six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

LESTER SCHLEIF, 40, FORMER TOWN AUBURN RESIDENT DIES
Lester C. Schlef, 40, of Milwaukee, who resided in the town of Auburn
several miles north of Kewaskum,
most of his life, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schlef of Campbellsport, died at 9:30 a. m. Tuesday, May 18, at St. Joseph's hospital, Milwaukee, after an illness of a short time.
Death resulted after an operation.

He was born on the Schlef homestead at Five Corners in the town of Auburn on Aug. 19, 1902, and was graduated from the Campbellsport high school. He worked on his father's farm at Five Corners before going to Milwaukee nearly three years ago, where he was employed since the farm was sold since and the deceased's parents moved to the village of Campbellsport.

Annual Poppy Day Drive To Be Held May 29-30

Next Saturday, May 29, is poppy day and the annual poppy drive in Kewaskum will be held that day and Sunday, May 30, Memorial day. The poppies are made by disabled war veterans in veterans' homes throughout the country, and the drive is under sponsorship of the American Legion auxiliary. Because the village has no auxiliary, the drive here is sponsored by the American Legion.

This year there already are eight men, veterans of World War 2, at Memorial hospital who are occupying their time making these poppies and also earning a few dollars. These are our own local state boys.

Contributions are entirely voluntary and there is no set amount yet,
are asked to give for a poppy, although 10 cents is considered the minimum. Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Albert Hron Jr., will cover the village soliciting the sale of the poppies on these days of the drive.

Due to the present war, the need for a successful drive this year is much greater. Won't you do your part by buying a poppy on Saturday
or Sunday?

Firemen Answer Three Chimney Fire Alarms

The Kewaskum fire department answered three chimney fire calls in eight days. On Sunday morning, May 9, they were summoned to the Mrs.
Louis Backhaus home on Prospect avenue. The alarm was not sounded and only Chief Harry Schaefer and another fireman went to the scene.
Sparks from a chimney ignited the shingles on the roof in several places.
The fire was extinguished with little damage resulting.

Last Thursday evening at about 8 p. m. the firemen were called to the home occupied by Mrs. Edw. F. Miller and the Jos. Miller family on North avenue. There also the sparks
from a chimney fire ignited the roof,
Joe Miller and Louis Schaefer, owner of the home who lives next door, already had put the fire out with garden hoses when firemen arrived. Practically no damage resulted.

On Sunday morning the department was called out the third time to a chimney fire at the Wm. C. Backhaus farm home southwest of the village.

EXPRESSION OF THANKS
We desire to express our thanks to the Kewaskum fire department and dekirk, Campbellsport, R. 1, Saturday,

HIGH WIND DAMAGING
The cyclone-like wind which struck
this community Sunday morning did quite a bit of minor damage throughout this section. At some places shingles were torn off roofs and even the entire tar paper covering on adjacent roofs was ripped off. Some trees were uprooted and other destruction resulted. The wind was more damaging south of here. The unseasonably chilly weather which has prevailed has held back farm crops and seeding as well as victory garden progress.

A marriage license has been issued by the county clerk to Calvin Rauc,

County Leads State in "E" Bonds Bought Per Person During April

Washington county, in the month of April, ranked No. 1 in the state of Wisconsin in per capita sale of "E" bonds. Frank J. Kuhl, state administrator of the war savings staff, has just issued a report covering the sale of "E" bonds—that is the people's bonds—sold through the war savings
staff throughout the state of Wisconsin and it is an honor that Washington county is ranked No. 1 among the seventy-one counties of the state.

Washington county's sales of "E"
bonds during the month of April amounted to $583,477.50, or a per capita purchase of $20.50 for every man, woman and child in our county. That's really a record the people of Washington county can be proud of. It was not just the fact that Washington county was first that we should be so proud of, but on top of that, we were head and shoulders over the second place county. Second place was Kewaunee county with a per capita purchase in April of $16.52.
They were practically $4.00 behind Washington county. Yes, it is a real achievement and one that we should be proud of. It just goes to show what can be done with the support and participation of all of the people.

Washington county certainly should be a fine place after this war is over.
For with the way people are investing their money in war bonds, there should be plenty of money available to get things moving here after the war. One cannot save too much. Putting money in war bonds is the greatest investment in the world. It isn't a donation in any way, and the more we do here and the more records like this we set up, the better off we all are going to be.

Of course, this is a job that must be kept up month in and month out.
As you know, our quota for the month of May is $180,000.00. The actual sales the forepart of this month showed a natural let down after the big drive in April. However, the war savings staff of Washington county is confident that the last couple of weeks in this month will bring in the results
again to put Washington county over the top in May, just as they have gone over the top in meeting the quota
each and every month since the start of the war.

Delicious hot roast beef sandwiches

ON PAY DAY, BUY BONDS

Are You a Nuisance?
Are you a war bond buyer, helping your country win this war, or are you just a plain nuisance, putting your country and your banker or post office
to a lot of trouble on your account,
so you can keep up a front?
You are about the only one who can answer that question, but you ought to get acquainted with yourself.
Let's get this clear—no war bond
you have cashed is helping buy bombers or tanks or rifles or ammunition or any of the thousand and one necessities that alone can save us from conquest.
That bond did not support your boys overseas. It did not help your country. It did not do anything but put your government and those who acted for you to a lot of bother on your account, when time and effort are precious.

Officers Elected by Holy Name Society; Social Held

At a meeting of the members of the Holy Name society of Holy Trinity congregation held in the parish hall
following devotions Sunday evening,
officers were elected for the next year. Members attended the devotions in a body and new members were accepted. All officers were re-elected.
They are Alois Wietor, president;
Frank Felix, secretary; Harold Marx,
treasurer. Plans were made to sponsor a softball team again and William Harbeck was named manager. Other business matters were discussed and transacted.

Following the business session a social meeting was held. A fine tax was given by William Mayer, local student at St. Francis seminary. The pastor, Rev. F. C. La Bue, was presented with a birthday gift from the members. This was followed by the playing of cards and refreshments were served.

ANSWER CALL TO NORTH WOODS
John Van Blarcom and D. J. Harbeck spent from last week Friday evening to Monday evening at Townsend, in the north country trying to persuade the wily trout to leave their habitat and were quite successful with the assistance of Chet Erhardt and other experts in angling. On our first night in the north we were treated to a very unusual floor show at Chet's place, furnished by that master barker, Tapp Lang of Beaver Dam, recently with Bingling Bros. & Bay-rum's circus, who kept the fishermen in convulsions of laughter throughout the evening, ably assisted by other circus freaks and general entertainers. Another notable personage and expert trout lurer was John Gorman of Chicago, who only had to appear at a trout stream, to have the finny denizens jump out of the water to greet him.

Messrs Van Blarcom and Harbeck wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Erhardt for the very excellent manner in which they took care of us and made us feel quite at home.

STUDENTS ARRIVE HOME

William Mayer, student at St.
Francis seminary, and Carroll Haug,

here last week end for the summer vacation. William will remain home only three weeks and then will return to St. Francis to attend summer school. He is in his last year of study for the priesthood. Carroll completed his third year at the college. Mayer at present is working in West Bend and Haug is employed by his father.

Miss Kathleen Schaefer returned finishing her third year of studies at

lege to take a summer school course.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Giving Him Another Chance

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Now then a man and woman get a divorce, drift about the world trying solitary living for awhile, meet each other again, and are married. In these days of frequent divorces it often happens that wife or husband would be more patient, more tolerant, more wise, if given another chance, and sometimes they have an opportunity to use it. Usually the first time they do, upon getting free, is to get themselves up to new mates as fast as possible. Then new conditions have to be taken into account. And when one partner takes a serious view of marriage and the other is bound by no law of God or man to take a man or woman of his character and high principles as a target and forgive.

When Johnson writes me her story of this problem. She is 37, married a prosperous dentist of 15 years ago; they had a nice home, three children, friends and a position when Randy Johnson left off the reservation entirely, five years ago, and demanded a divorce.

Monday Morning's Bad News
I will never forget the peaceful Monday morning when he broke it to me that he wanted to marry his secretary, a girl of 18," writes Helen. "The older girls and I must come back from church, baby, then two, was running in the garden; Randy was sitting on the porch steps, smoking. Sandra and Pam went into the house, and I said immediately: 'Nell, I've got to get out. All this sickness me, kids and the Sunday dinner and the car and all of it. I don't want to take pictures of Antoinette, I don't want to telephone to see if brother and his wife can come to play bridge, I'm done.'"

After awhile," the letter goes on, "the truth came out. The little girl the office loved him, he couldn't get her heart and his. Better to let her go than to have her, he said. I was to be the one, and I had the house, the girls, and the month. That afternoon, while she was lying down with a headache, I came into the room we shared, packed his things, and stood in the middle of the floor to make a final speech.

He said that he knew everything she was thinking and everything my mother would say; that I have been a devoted wife, that our children are splendid and that he had no right to make. But, he said, no one is happy when the man of the house is bored and resentful; he did not want to hold him against his will; he would see a deal of his children, and in a few months our friends would be the situation with the same hope that he hoped I would.

Heartbroken, Lonely Woman
He went to Reno, and I let him get a divorce. I was stunned. From being myself a happy, secure, beloved and necessary woman I was both facts are indeed cold facts, and we have to face them if we want ever to be happy. Randy was flattered; she made him feel that he was Superman. You, with all your knowledge about him, couldn't honestly compete with her babbling little lispings compliments. He fell for it all, and has since proved to the world that he was a consummate fool; that ought to be some satisfaction to you, and a very present help in time of argument.

Now this isn't sensible. It is humiliating and shocking to realize that one's physical charms may be both facts are indeed cold facts, and we have to face them if we want ever to be happy. Randy was flattered; she made him feel that he was Superman. You, with all your knowledge about him, couldn't honestly compete with her babbling little lispings compliments. He fell for it all, and has since proved to the world that he was a consummate fool; that ought to be some satisfaction to you, and a very present help in time of argument.

But if you let him come back he won't argue. He'll be a model husband, father, home-keeper, companion from now on. I believe you would be wise to forgive and forget. Don't overvalue the things that are merely bodily; young love, honeymoon meals, all the novelty and excitement of first days are indeed wonderful. But you are not a true man and a true woman if they have not long ago been sublimated into something far higher, into the confidence and dignity upon which true marriage is based. If you have humiliations to recall, he has worse.

tion, and Randy, the only dental surgeon in our small town, was asked to do it. Little Pam, with her courage and her spirit, captivated her father. I saw him twice during this time, and he asked me for permission to see the other girls, all three sweet, natural pretty children, if I say it myself. After that he came humbly to me and asked me if he might be my friend, might see them now and then. I forgot to say that he and his office sweetheart, married immediately after the divorce, were also divorced 11 months later, and she has married twice since. Months of friendship, during which he has won the affection of the three girls, and appears to be the proudest and most understanding of fathers, have brought him to the place where he wants to come home. He is almost 49 now.

"I want to clean my heart and mind," the letter goes on, "of the memory that he hurt me deeply, humiliated me, set all our friends speculating about our divorce, left our children when they needed him. But also I have to remember that Randy and I never quarreled; that our relationship was one of understanding, laughter, co-operation, perfect companionship. I always thought of myself as the happiest of wives. I like to be a married woman; to have a man to spoil, consult, and be praised by. And there can never be any other. Shall I give him another chance?"

THE DEEP END

How many of us realize how close we come, nearly every day, to going "off the deep end" over somebody or something? We can think of dozens of ways to justify what we know to be rash moves, but we don't make them, because we know what the consequences of our foolishness will be. Social pressure may be a burden, but it has more than mere nuisance value. Our anxiety about the opinions of our friends and business associates helps us to discipline ourselves before it becomes necessary for someone else to do it.

tion, and Randy, the only dental surgeon in our small town, was asked to do it. Little Pam, with her courage and her spirit, captivated her father. I saw him twice during this time, and he asked me for permission to see the other girls, all three sweet, natural pretty children, if I say it myself. I always thought of myself as the happiest of wives. I like to be a married woman; to have a man to spoil, consult, and be praised by. And there can never be any other. Shall I give him another chance?"

Stress Infidelity Too Much
In answer I say, my dear Helen, I think we women put too much importance upon that type of infidelity that so often smites a man like a sudden high fever, just when his children are in the awkward stages of grade school homework, teeth-straightening, date-demanding and comic-section infatuation. We say tacitly, even if we don't put it into words: "You may like women, dear, as much as you like, admire their minds and their talents. You may look after pretty 18-year-olds in the streets; that's quite excusable. You've been devoted to me for 14 years now, and possibly some of the glamour in a purely passionate sense, has worn off. But the minute you become interested in that young office half-wit, out you go!"

Now this isn't sensible. It is humiliating and shocking to realize that one's physical charms may be both facts are indeed cold facts, and we have to face them if we want ever to be happy. Randy was flattered; she made him feel that he was Superman. You, with all your knowledge about him, couldn't honestly compete with her babbling little lispings compliments. HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

Surprise the Family With Sandwich Loaf!

(See Recipe Below)

Meals on a Dish

We've heard a lot about hot meals in a casserole that take care of the main course of a meal. But how about cool meals served on a single attractive platter that are most of the time, at least, made up ahead of time? This is one of the very nice things about summer menu planning for foods lend themselves to this kind of serving.

Recently I saw a very attractive platter that was cool, complete and colorful—that any one of you could whip up at short notice. An individual tomato aspic filled with creamed cottage cheese served on a large green glass salad plate was banked by several tiny finger sandwiches, a slice of tongue with horseradish sauce, deviled eggs, a small mound of potato salad and a sprig of watercress. Serve this with coffee or tea and a dish of sherbet or ice cream.

Bread with filling forms an interesting base for this salad sandwich loaf and looks very pretty enclosed in rosy aspic. The fillings, ham and cheese, classic flavor combinations, won't cut into your points heavily, nor will the tomato juice:

- *Tomato Aspic Surprise. (Serves 6)
- 1 small loaf white bread
- Ham Salad
- 1 5-ounce glass Old English cheese
- 3 1/2 cups tomato juice
- 2 tablespoons onion juice
- 1 stalk celery
- 3 tablespoons gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Watercress

Remove crusts from loaf of bread. Cut whole loaf into three lengthwise slices. Spread one slice with ham salad, cover with second slice spread with cheese spread. Cover with third slice of bread and wrap in wax paper.

Cook tomato juice, onion juice and celery for 5 minutes. Remove celery and add gelatin which has been softened in cold water. Stir until dissolved. Season with salt and pepper. Pour a 1/2-inch layer into a buttered loaf pan which is a little larger than the loaf of bread. Chill until firm. Place prepared sandwich loaf in this layer of aspic and pour the remaining cooled and somewhat thickened aspic around it and over the top. Chill again until the aspic is firm. Unmold on a platter, garnish with watercress and slice crosswise to serve.

You can still do entertaining even on your ration points! If your best beau or son is coming home from camp, there's no need to worry about stretching those ration points out of place when you serve this loaf serving 12 to 15 people:

- Tulip Sandwich Loaf. (Serves 12 to 15)
- 1/2 pound cold ham
- 1/2 pound American cheese
- 6 sweet pickles
- Mayonnaise
- 3 packages cream cheese
- Cream
- 1 small jar pimento
- 1 green pepper
- 1 loaf unsliced sandwich bread
- Grind ham and grate cheese. Combine ham, cheese and chopped pickles and add enough mayonnaise to moisten. Remove crusts from loaf of bread. Cut a 1/2-inch slice of bread the length of the loaf. Remove center from remaining loaf so there is a box 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick on sides and bottom. Spread inside of loaf and one side of slice generously with butter or margarine. Put sandwich filling inside loaf and top with slice on butter side down. Soften cream cheese with a small amount of cream until it is of spreading consistency. Cover loaf with cream cheese. Cut small tulips and leaves from pimento and green pepper and decorate sides of loaf. Chill for 1 hour and when ready to serve, cut in 1-inch slices.

Walnut-Stuffed Tomatoes. (Serves 4 to 6)
4 to 6 whole tomatoes
1 pound cottage cheese
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon minced green pepper
1/2 cup broken walnut kernels
Salt to taste

Wash and remove stem end from tomatoes. Cut out portion of center from tomatoes. Cut this fine and add to above ingredients, combine and fill tomatoes. Serve well-chilled, garnished with salad greens and whole walnut kernels. Serve with french dressing or salad oil and vinegar.

Change Emphasis, Switch Furniture To Fit Home for Wartime Living
By ELIZABETH MACRAE BOYKIN
Well, just how is your home taking it these days? With all your family plunged deep in the war effort, do you find that your peacetime layout isn't working out too well—that the house has a rather crowded and a bit-too-matey feeling about it—and that rooms that once seemed essential are not of much use to you right now? Perhaps a little change of emphasis, a switching around of furniture and a dash of something new will make your place a more efficient bastion on the home front.

No one uses the fancy, pretty powder room anymore—with large parties and visiting evenings curtailed because of gas rationing. But mother finds she needs an office more than anything else in this world. So the powder room acquires a desk and a filing cabinet and the frills and fancies are put away for the duration. Wartime executive father finds the office convenient, too, especially when sister is entertaining a group of soldiers on leave and father comes home with his brief case bulging with "overtime" work.

The formal dining room seems to have been used less and less too. With faithful Hulda off to the assembly line, everyone is pitching in on rationed meals and the breakfast room is not only easier to use—but somehow more cozy and "family undivided" in feeling. So Mother puts the dining room to living uses, pushing the shining mahogany table back to the wall and flanking it with serving cupboards—for use when simple buffet suppers or punch-and-cookies are served to the visiting warriors. She's put away the handsome damask draperies, too, and replaced them with simple organdy tie-backs and a wide valance of bright cheery chintz. She's used the chintz to slip-cover the dining room chairs.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Potatoes to be french fried should stand in cold water at least an hour before cooking.

The too sudden cooling of an aluminum pressure cooker may cause it to warp or crack.

A small tapered tuck in the in-step of a stocking will pull down out of sight a darn in the heel.

When cleaning fish, use a pair of scissors instead of a knife to cut off the fins, thus saving your fingers.

A little sweet oil applied to bronzes after they are dusted, followed by a brisk rubbing with a chamois skin, will bring out their rich tones.

Jam will not keep in jars that have held fat, no matter how much you have washed them.

Since bathing caps are difficult to get, we can still keep our hair or curls from getting wet by placing a large oiled-silk bowl cover over our heads when taking a shower or bath.

A little maple syrup instead of sugar is pleasing to sweeten whipped cream.

When the word went out that soldiers overseas wanted packages from home—the response was so overwhelming that Uncle Sam reluctantly had to call a halt. Today, due to shipping space, there are Post Office restrictions on packages to overseas Army men—but you can still send packages to soldiers in the U. S., and to Sailors, Marines, and Coast Guardsmen wherever they are.

When you do, remember—one of their favorite gifts is cigarettes, and the favorite brand is Camel. Sales records in Post Exchanges and Canteens show that Camel is first choice with men in all the services. So send him that carton of Camels today.—Adv.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

Neither South American sources of natural rubber nor expansion of Geylate Cryptostegia and all other rubber-bearing shrub production will produce any large amount of satisfactory rubber for some years, according to government agencies.

In 1941, 86 per cent of all travel by Americans was by car.

No gas! No coal! No oil! No pleasure driving brought a drop of about 80 per cent in the passenger cars on the streets of New York City. Joy walkers had a holiday in the automobile deserted main streets.

Five in a car instead of just the driver and one passenger means that 6 times as much of the average of three cars to five war plant workers is considered. The amount of rubber in 9 tires is enough for 72 gas masks, or for life rafts and rubber life jackets for 9 plane crews.

JIMMY'S LETTER

"BILL"

One day Mr. Jones, the postman, brought Jimmy a letter from his brother Bill who was in the Marines.

Dear Jimmy:

This is the first time I've had to write to you since I got your last letter. Boy, it sure was good to hear from you and I'm glad Skipper is O. K. I'm enclosing a snapshot of myself that one of the fellows took before we went out on patrol. Tell Dad and Mom I got their letter yesterday and will answer as soon as I finish writing this letter to you. You don't know how much I and the rest of the fellows here enjoy getting letters from home.

We read parts of our letters to each other and got quite a kick out of what some of the folks write. Please send another letter soon and say "hello" to Skipper for me.

Your brother,

BILL

Jimmy sat right down and wrote Bill another letter telling him all about how the baseball team he was on, won their last game.

ATTENTION

Horse and Cattle Owners!

Dead animals are essential to help win the war as they are processed into a high grade feed for Poultry, Cattle and Hogs which in return produce essentials which we must have to win a war. Glycerine is taken out of all Fats and Oils from dead animals and this is made into T. N. T. for high explosives, and only Rendering Plants produce these products; as all dead animals buried or used otherwise are a waste to our country. Call your Renderer, Wm. Laabs, to collect your dead animals and you will be paid a fair price for them. Renderers can not pay an inflationary price as there is a ceiling on all of the products of rendering plants. Call at your nearest Phone West Bend 75 or Campbellsport 25F1 and reverse charges when you call. Yours truly, Wm. Laabs, Renderer.

FARM LABOR PLACEMENT

A nation-wide program to help solve the farm labor shortage is being set up throughout the country. Congress recently has approved an appropriation making possible the employment of a farm labor placement man in most of the counties. This man will work under the direction of a county-wide farm labor committee. His office will be in the county extension office in West Bend. His job will be to recruit farm labor and place it on farms where help is needed.

The plan for labor placement calls for the utilization of local help and trade center placement offices will be set up in several parts of the county. If local offices cannot fill all of the calls for farm workers, the calls will be transferred to the county office at West Bend. After all of the county labor supply has been exhausted, surplus labor in other sections of the state will be drawn upon. High school youths will be counted as a main source of farm help this summer. In fact everyone who can work, if even for a few hours, should register with his local farm labor placement office. A few hours work on the part of a worker may help save a vital food crop on a given farm. There can be no loss of farm produce this year because of a labor shortage. Food, and plenty of it, will be needed to win the war. Requests for future farm labor should be sent to the county extension office as soon as a need is known to exist.

ORCHARD SPRAYING

As soon as the weather turns warmer apple trees will come into full bloom quickly. Frequently many orchardists spray their trees during this period. Such spraying is destructive to bees and does little good to the apple crop. This spray is largely absorbed by the apple flower petals and is lost when they fall. The proper time to spray is after 90% of the petals have fallen. At this stage bees are no longer active in the orchard. The calyx cup does not close for several days. Spray material applied at this stage remains where it is needed to destroy insect and disease infestation. A combination lime-sulphur with lead arsenate spray should be used.

LIVESTOCK PASTURES LATE THIS YEAR

Local livestock pastures are not as far along as they were a year ago. There has been much cool weather during the past six weeks during which time very little growth was made by pastures. It will pay dairymen to delay turning cattle into pastures as long as possible. This will give the pastures a good start resulting in a more abundant grass production later in the season. Also during the present cooler weather dairy cattle are best off if kept in the stable.

WILD MUSTARD CONTROL

Farmers having land heavily infested with wild mustard will find it to their interest to make plans now for the control of this weed. The yield of grain on many fields has been increased from ten to twenty bushels where good wild mustard control practices have been carried out. Mustard can be destroyed with a simple spray, maybe diluting 1 gallon of six-ox with 100 gallons of water. If properly applied, the grain crop is not affected. The cost of spraying will range from four to five dollars.

STATE FAIR DATES AUG. 21-27

The annual state fair and junior state fair dates have been set for August 21 to 27 inclusive. The dates for the Washington county fair will be announced in the near future. Practically every county in the state is planning on holding a county fair with special emphasis being placed on youth programs. Premium lists of most fairs have undergone considerable revision this year. They are being streamlined and geared to the war effort.

TEACHERS AND "JOB FREEZING"

To date, enough interpretations have been issued relative to "job freezing" to indicate what teachers may or may not do, according to the war manpower officials, as of May 15.
1. Teachers under contract for the year just closing may accept a contract to teach in another school next year, providing their present contract has been fulfilled.
2. Before a teacher who has signed a contract to teach can accept another position, she must get the permission of the school board with whom she has a contract.
3. A teacher may accept a better paying or more responsible position in the same school system.
4. "Job freezing" does not affect salaries. Salary adjustments can be made as heretofore.
These regulations give assurance to school boards that teachers now under contract will be obligated to fulfill their contracts.

Quota System for Rationed Farm Machinery Cancelled

The Wisconsin USDA war board today announced that the county quota system for all types of rationed machinery has been cancelled. This action was taken by the board following Food Production Director Townsend's blanket consent permitting state war boards to cancel county quotas at their discretion.
State War Board Chairman Walter F. Katterhenry pointed out that resulting from this action, manufacturers may now distribute new farm machinery allotted to Wisconsin as they wish. Farm machinery may be sold across county lines regardless of tags specifying sales within certain counties and regardless of patterns for distribution by manufacturers heretofore furnished them by the board.
According to Raymond D. Lepley, acting chairman of the Washington County War board, the county tagging quota system has, in many instances, kept some machinery tied up in the hands of dealers at a time when it should be in use on farms.
"With the extremely small amount of farm machinery available this year, it is very important that all available machinery be placed in use," Mr. Lepley said. "This action was taken to facilitate the movement of new farm machinery from dealers' hands to farms where it can be used."
State machinery quotas will still be maintained. The same amount of each item will come into the state as was planned before, but the tags on this machinery will bear only the state name. Dealers and distributors may cross out the county names on the tags on the machinery which they now have on hand.
Dealers must still require rationing certificates of the purchaser. County rationing committees will continue to use the same standards for determining eligibility for the issuance of a purchase certificate as in the past with the added requirement that the applicant present the rationing committee a written statement naming the dealer or mail order house where he can purchase the machine. Mr. Lepley said that county rationing committees are making arrangements for quicker action on applications for new machinery.

Stocking Collection in County Now Over 106,000

The store collections of silk and nylon stockings in West Bend amounted to over 11,000 stockings in the recent salvage campaign. Adding this amount to the last shipment of 80,250 stockings, together with a previous shipment of 14,000, Washington county has now contributed a grand total of 106,250 in the salvage campaign for silk and nylon hosiery.
During the first four months of this campaign, the nation contributed 36,000,000 discarded silk and nylon stockings. Before the summer is over, the total will probably reach more than 50,000,000. Women of Wisconsin alone have contributed an average of 500,000 stockings per month since last November. That is why Wisconsin leads Region No. 6, and on a per capita basis is probably one of the leading states in the nation in the collection of discarded hosiery.
We cannot rest on our laurels, however, for powder bags, parachutes and other materials that require silk and nylon are constantly needed by our fighting forces. Our efforts must be continued, particularly at this time, as new silk and nylons are no longer available, and our only salvage hope is to obtain those that are still in the hands of American women.

To The Boys and Girls of This Community

This war is a war to preserve the world, America, and your community, as a decent place in which you, who are now young, can live your lives—free to think as you believe—to speak your honest thoughts—to worship God as your conscience directs—to look your fellows in the eye without fear.
It is YOUR war. The front line battles on sea and land are being fought by youth.
We're closer to the front line here in this community than you may think. We have a canning plant that, when the season comes, will be producing front line fighting foods. For canned foods go to war.
You girls can't drive a tank or fly a plane or carry a gun. And you boys can't do it—at least not yet. But you can do a war job. You can enlist to work in the fields, to harvest the canning crops—to work in the canning plant to can them.
Everyone 16 years of age or over must get into this battle of food production. We must HARVEST, CAN AND SHIP the food which is so necessary for our boys who are giving their all on the battlefields of the world. Help us do this big job—register at the Baker Canning Company, Theresa. Harvesting and canning will start about June 20th.

Allied Generalship, Planes and Guns Decisive Factor in Tunisia Windup; Farm Situation Improves, Davis Says; Red Drive Perils Nazi Caucasus Hold

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

How blood plasma contributed by donations of Americans to the Red Cross is used to save lives on battlefields is illustrated by the above photo of doctors treating a wounded U. S. soldier at a portable field hospital in New Guinea. Clayton Mitchell (left) of Wyandotte, Mich., and Maj. William Garlick of Baltimore, Md., are administering the plasma.

TUNISIA:

Master Generalship

Axis resistance in Tunisia had steadily crumbled as the Allied armies moved inexorably toward their goals. As American artillery pounded the Bizerte harbor area setting fire to wharves and docking facilities, the British First army had swept over the Tunisian plains leading to the capital city of Tunis.

The moves on Bizerte had been expedited by the capture by American and French forces of hilly strongholds protecting Lake Achkel and Lake Bizerte. In mopping up operations in the Mediterranean coastal region the Allies had continued to capture numerous prisoners.

In analyzing the results of the successful offensive, observers credited master Allied generalship with outmaneuvering the Axis. The Allied high command had led the enemy to believe that the principal blows would be struck by General Montgomery's British Eighth army from the south.

Europe Drive 'Sure'

As the North African climax had approached, Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, had declared there is "no question but that there will be Allied operations on continental Europe this summer."

STRIKE BAN:

More Power for WLB

Congress moved swiftly to strengthen the government's hand in dealing with strikes. First step was the senate's overwhelming enactment of legislation empowering the government to take over plants in which war production is stopped by labor disputes and making it a crime to instigate a strike in war plants or mines which have been taken over by the government.

The senate measure was a much-amended version of a bill by Senator Connally of Texas to give congressional sanction for government seizure of struck plants and mines. Originally introduced months before, it had lain dormant until John L. Lewis refused to submit the soft coal wage dispute to the War Labor board and the miners' work stoppage resulted. The final version contained a clause giving the WLB legal power to enter and settle labor disputes.

As the bill went to the house, it provided maximum penalties of one year imprisonment or $5,000 fine upon anyone guilty of inducing a strike or slow-down in a government-operated plant.

RUSSIA:

Nazi Setbacks

Hammering at the northeast approaches to Nazi-held Novorossisk, Russian forces had captured numerous towns, including Krymskaya and killed 10,000 German troops in a smash through the Kuban delta bulge of the Caucasus toward the Black sea.

Although the Axis forces were weakened by the break-through, Hitler had been preparing for weeks for action by bringing up fresh troops, tanks and munitions. The capture of Krymskaya had strategic benefits. It placed the Red army in a position to seriously menace Novorossisk and it enabled the Russians to cut the German-held railroad between Novorossisk and Protoka, 36 miles northeast of the port.

Significant was a Soviet report announcing the presence of powerful Russian naval units in the Black sea, led by the flagship "Paris Commune." This sea force was awaiting an opportunity to pounce on any German attempt to evacuate troops from the Caucasus.

FARM PROSPECTS:

Situation Improves

Heartening tidings that the farm labor, equipment and supply situations are showing "improved promise" were heralded by Chester C. Davis, food administrator. "A current appraisal of the farm labor situation," he declared in a letter to James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, "indicates that there is an available labor supply sufficient to produce and harvest a 1943 crop up to the levels of the announced goals."

While not entirely satisfactory, Mr. Davis said, the farm machinery and supply situation for 1943 recently has been improved. He revealed that the War Production board has agreed to permit an increase in farm machinery production from 23 to 40 per cent of the 1940 level and an increase in repair parts to 160 per cent of the 1940-41 average. The petroleum administration has promised full gasoline supplies for food production, even if further cuts in civilian supplies should be necessary, he added.

COAL:

Take and Give

Reversing the procedure of "give and take," Fuel Administrator Harold L. Ickes announced a new "take and give" policy as an insurance against any new coal emergency. The doleful interior secretary set up machinery by which he may take coal from persons or plants with safe margins of supply and turn it over to those caught short. The action was taken at a time when coal miners of the nation were at work on a 15-day truce before final settlement of wage demands had been made.

Mr. Ickes issued regulations setting up procedure under which he could act to protect war plants and essential civilian users from shortages, regardless of whether they arose from a work stoppage in mines, faulty distribution or other causes.

CONTROVERSY:

Russ Add New Fuel

More fuel was added to the flaming Russ-Polish controversy when the Soviet foreign office charged that cabinet officers of the Polish government-in-exile had engaged in espionage activities against Russia. To this charge the Reds added the further allegation that the Polish government had refused to permit use of Russian-trained Polish troops on the Soviet front.

United Nations' chancelleries had previously been heartened over the prospects of a resumption in Russ-Polish relations when Premier Josef Stalin had advocated the establishment of a strong and independent Polish state after the war and suggested a Polish-Russian pact directed against Germany. Observers viewed the Soviet foreign office's supplementary charges as an indication that while Russia desired good relations with Poland, it was bitterly at odds with members of the present government-in-exile.

Stalin's statement appearing in a letter to Ralph Parker, Moscow correspondent of the New York Times, had unequivocally endorsed the idea of a strong and independent post-war Poland and declared that future Russ-Polish relations should be on the basis of "good neighborly relations, or an alliance against Germany should the Polish people desire it."

DRAFT:

Fathers by August

Nation-wide induction of fathers into the armed forces will be started by August "if not sooner," Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey announced. In a subsequent move Selective Service headquarters issued instructions under which fathers in 35 listed essential industries may be given essential deferment. Observers believed that the new order indicated that the ban against the induction of fathers soon would be lifted.

Under the new instructions to local draft boards, care will be taken to keep fathers in essential occupations out of the armed forces until fathers working in less essential jobs have been inducted. General Hershey ordered all essential war production employers to file with draft boards evidence of their employment of men who maintain bona fide homes with children under 18 years of age and born before September 14, 1942.

PACIFIC:

U. S. Air Upsurge

Surging American air strength took its toll of the Japs in widely separated actions on the far-flung Pacific front. In the foggy Aleutians off the North American mainland American bombers kept up their incessant aerial pounding that has prevented the enemy from completing the airfield that has been under construction for several months on Kiska island.

Reporting an action of tremendous implications because it showed that heavy reinforcements had reached the U. S. air forces in China and that enemy bases near to Japan were now being laid open to our attacks, Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's headquarters in China reported that newly arrived four-engine Liberator bombers had "pretty nearly wiped out" a Jap airport on the southern end of Hainan island. From American army headquarters in New Delhi, India, came the announcement that U. S. heavy bombers had dropped more than 30 tons of bombs on Japanese installations in Toungoo, Burma, in the Mandalay area, blasting the enemy headquarters there and causing severe damage to other buildings.

In the Solomon Islands American planes continued their attacks on Jap positions, raiding Vangavanga and Ringi Cove on the island of Kolombangara, as well as Ritaka bay and Kila. The man who can read the bright history of infantry and not take fire is a cold fish. And if, as the rumor runs, Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell talks up its virtues so warmly and so long that he skimps the fighters aloft and on wheels, his enthusiasm is understandable. Of course, the rumor may have grown out of all conscience with repetition. The general did pass up an airplane and foot it 400 miles into India after the Japs swarmed into Burma. But he will hardly have come to Washington to ask just for more G.I. field shoes and feet to wear them out chasing Japs in China. Shoes or whatever, a recording of the general's requests would be fun. Politier biographers refer to his sulphurous speech. They mean that the general sometimes calls a spade a-spade. He isn't Vinegar Joe for nothing, either. He may cuss—didn't Grant?—but ever since he got into the army his men have sworn by him.

FEDERAL PAY:

Up for Workers

The house completed action on legislation previously adopted by the senate, raising the pay of federal employees who make less than $10,000 a year. The bill provides a flat $300 increase yearly for workers in the lower salary brackets in the executive departments, whose pay had not been brought to this level by a previous 21.6 per cent raise based on increasing the regular work week from 40 to 48 hours.

BANK DEPOSITS:

Top 100 Billion

Bank deposits in the United States crossed the $100,000,000,000 mark for the first time in history, according to a report issued by the comptroller of currency. The comptroller's report showed that deposits rose by more than $18,000,000,000 in 1942. More than $17,000,000,000 of the increase occurred in the last six months of the year as industry swung into full war production and the nation moved into a war economy.

NEW YORK.—Big, white-haired Byron Price hasn't the whimsical authority of the first censor. He can't take a senator's toga away or a citizen's vote. But he gives warning to a tough director of the Office of Censorship. He does, within limits, decide what Left and Right may read these war times. And when he says, as he just did, that the sound and fury on the air waves isn't all static and commercials, the wise will take the hint.

After the President picked him 16 months ago to sieve the nation's news, Price said he was sure the honor system would do for both press and radio. Now he reports that some "wise-cracking" announcers are "toying" with the code; and he warns that his staff's ears are bent 24 hours a day, and their eyes, too.

He has been a newspaper man over 30 years. He got out his first paper with a pencil when he was ten; got his first lesson in censorship, also. His dad's foot came down hard. He didn't try again until he reached Washash college. Price was born in Indiana, 52 years ago. After college he quit a few newspaper jobs just for fun, as cub reporters did in those days, and then the AP took him on during wartime. He stayed and stayed with the AP, married in 1920, and kept on rising. When he left to become chief censor he was second only to General Manager Kent Cooper.

ONCE Julius A. Krug hustled back to Milwaukee swearing that nothing, nobody, could ever coax him into another federal job. That was after a time with the Federal Communications commission. Now he rises to the No. 3 spot in the War Production board, with only Charles E. Wilson and Chairman Nelson above him.

Krug's change of mind was chiefly due to the persuasions of David Lilienthal. Lilienthal was with the Wisconsin Telephone company where Krug got a job. He went, shortly, to the Tennessee Valley authority and nothing would do but Krug must go along.

The TVA allowed Krug later to quit his job as power manager to join WPB and now he rises to high authority. Few younger men, in federal jobs or out, have as much. Krug is just 35. He was born in Wisconsin of a German family. His grandparents didn't like Bismarck's Germany and cleared out.

Krug married at 19, worked as an iceman, an engine wiper, a day laborer to get through the state university, and here he is now, with a daughter and a son, and a tremendously important key position in the country's great war effort. He keeps at his task 70 to 80 hours a week, for all that he seems too heavy for so much work. He weighs an eighth of a ton.

THERE were the tireless legions of Caesar. There were the cool bowmen at Crecy. There were Pickett's dauntless 4,000. There are the Gen. 'Vinegar Joe' privates on Pats Infantry in its private's proper high place. The man who can read the bright history of infantry and not take fire is a cold fish. And if, as the rumor runs, Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell talks up its virtues so warmly and so long that he skimps the fighters aloft and on wheels, his enthusiasm is understandable.

Of course, the rumor may have grown out of all conscience with repetition. The general did pass up an airplane and foot it 400 miles into India after the Japs swarmed into Burma. But he will hardly have come to Washington to ask just for more G.I. field shoes and feet to wear them out chasing Japs in China. Shoes or whatever, a recording of the general's requests would be fun. Politier biographers refer to his sulphurous speech. They mean that the general sometimes calls a spade a-spade. He isn't Vinegar Joe for nothing, either. He may cuss—didn't Grant?—but ever since he got into the army his men have sworn by him.

He has been in the army for eight onto 37 years. Now he is a stubby, bony, cropped-haired, eagle-nosed, bright-eyed 59-year-old hellion who will fight alongside his beloved infantrymen with the cook's meat saw if no better weapon can be found in a hurry.

His high post in China is a trifle accidental. Not of the army's elite, though he went to West Point, he set out 20 years ago to learn the Chinese language. China assignments followed. So he was Johnny-on-the-spot when the Japanese decided that Der Tag had come.

He is married to a wife who beams when he comes home. The general already holds the Distinguished Service medal and the Distinguished Service cross. He has a son in the army, too, and also a brother.

Air Corps Cuts Red Tape With Absorption of CAP

Student Pilots of Civil Air Patrol Are Vital Link In Nation's Defense Chain; Valued Services Now Recognized.

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

As the tempo of American action on the foreign fronts moves with an accelerated beat, it is pleasing to note that a lot of red tape in Washington is being rolled up and chucked into official wastebaskets. One example is what the air corps is trying to do to utilize every ounce of human and material resource that is available.

When war comes, there is always a sharp current of human emotions—the good old one of self-preservation, and the equally old and much better one, from the standpoint of the nation, of patriotism. And, for opposite reasons but with the same result, both meet with obstacles. Many injustices occur in the selection of men for military service. Many ardent and valuable men are stopped from rendering the service of which they are capable and which they are anxious to furnish.

Red tape is the answer. But red tape is bound to tangle any herculean effort when a peaceful nation turns into a belligerent.

Drab Duties
The latest step in removing the red tape that was holding back a lot of valuable human power was the absorption of the Civil Air Patrol by the air corps. As this is written, the decision is being made as to which administrative group will take over this body of patriotic fliers who have been furnishing their own planes and their own services, unsung and unhonored. Most of their duties have been drab, and in many cases, stultifying because of their indefinite, quasi-military status. They are not a part of the air corps.

Another important step forward is also under way which will bring that group of unselfish young men into active service after months of morale-breaking waiting—I refer to the Civilian Pilot trainees, most of whom are now sure of active duty as instructors or flying cadets. They, too, have worked without compensation other than subsistence, and have sacrificed time, earning capacity and opportunity to continue their normal civilian careers. They are now being gradually absorbed into the air corps, too.

Few people in the country outside of the families of the members are familiar with either the Civil Air Patrol, the student pilots of the War Training program or even that group of a million and a half volunteers who make up the aircraft warning service.

The Civil Air Patrol received some publicity for its important part in offshore duty in the campaign which stopped the submarine activities off the eastern coast of the United States. These men were pilots who owned their own planes, took their special training and received only gasoline and a small fee for depreciation while on active duty.

Spotters for 'Tough Guys'
They are a vital link in that chain of air and surface guardians who watched our waters from Maine to Florida. They could spot a sub, immediately report it to the nearest bomber or a fast coast guard or naval vessel. Some of the civilian planes were equipped with light bombs but they were not able to make much use of them because their planes were slow and a sub on the surface could spot them as quickly as they could spot the sub and crash dive. That can be done in seven or eight minutes and since visibility may extend 15 miles, the sub could hit bottom before the pilot could get over his target. Their chief function was to play bird-dog for the "tough guys" carrying heavy depth bombs.

Civil Air Patrol did invaluable but less romantic service in carrying vital machine parts between factories. It is now possible that some of these men and women in the interior of the country who have been making uninteresting overland flights from here to there may get a whiff of sea air, too. In any case, the red tape between them and the air command has been severed.

If not technically, at least practically, "they're in the army now." As to the boys in the CPT war training program, who have been warming benches and waiting at nothing per diem, a bill in congress is about to give them pay as active reservists and as soon as there is equipment enough to accommodate all of them, those unqualified for cadet combat training will probably have jobs as instructors or transport pilots soon.

Statute Unchanged
The last named group, the airplane spotters, operate under the Fighter Command, and their functions are such that their status will not be changed, they are a part of the Office of Civilian Defense.

This group is made up of volunteer workers working with armed force experts, in connection with a vast network of telephone and radio connections which face our entire coastline, east, south and west. They total a million and a half people and the OCD calls this work done by the volunteers, the most arduous and technical job trusted to civilians. It consists in spotting, reporting and recording all activity. Not a plane appears in the skies that is not checked and accounted for. If it can't be identified, blackouts are ordered until it is.

Most of the volunteers are women and many more are needed. The job is described as being both exciting and tough. The anti-aircraft centers where these people work are guarded by soldiers and no one gets in who doesn't work there or is on official business. Here dozens of girls work on a gigantic table map of the area. They wear telephone headsets and mouthpieces like a regular telephone operator, listening to the information and moving little markers called "pips," representing planes, about the map with long wands. These girls are the end of a series of operations which go like this: The spotter out on top of some building or hilltop sees a plane. The message comes in in semi-code, "Bomber on big high 39 Pory." The girl puts the pip on the spot on the map corresponding to the spotter's report. The details of the size and description of plane are recorded on a marker on the pip. As the plane moves, it is reported by each spotter in succession and pushed along on the map. But until three spotters have made the same report, it is not considered correct—because geese look like planes sometimes.

Method of Operation
After the third report, a teller watching the board from a balcony above, reports it to the operations room, which may be in another city. This point is the nerve center and here again, the planes are plotted. Army men and Civil Aeronautics administration officials who are continuously receiving information as to every plane leaving the ground, check this information with the map below them. Every plane has to be accounted for. If not—they, you and I, if we live in that vicinity, know about it—the air raid warning is flashed. If the flier has left the ground without clearance or through some mistake hasn't identified himself, he is likely to see a big bomber after him or he might even have to duck anti-aircraft fire. That is how careful our anti-aircraft defense has to be.

About Nutrition
I received the following card from a listener in Miami, Fla.: "Those who know will tell you that the introduction of synthetic vitamins into white bread is all the bunk or sales talk. Canada and Great Britain will not allow it. The Pure Food Act boys know it too. But just look it up and laugh. 'Suckers' are not born today, they are made by propaganda and high-powered advertising."

I called up the Food and Drug administration ("Pure Food Boys"). Commissioner Campbell said to me: "So far as the nutritionists know, synthetic vitamins are just as effective as natural vitamins. This has been shown by extensive experimentation."

Before the order was given to enrich white flour with synthetic vitamins, lengthy testimony was taken by leading nutritionists—scientific men with no axes to grind.

My listener was undoubtedly sincere. He was sincerely doubting of his misinformation.

I wonder who started it?
