Noted Missionary to China to Speak Here

Dr. Pierce Beaver, who was a missionary in China many years, will speak at the Peace Ev. and Reformed church on Sunday evening May 30, at eight o'clock. In his many years in China he has had one tremendous experience which symbolizes the present need of China, and its only hope. He thus centers the insight of his experience into his lecture which he calls "My Hong-kong Experience." Having just recently returned from China, he comes with a story of bombing, privation and imprisonment by the Japanese which he experienced with thousands of native Chinese.

Dr. Beaver, who received his doctorate in the department of philosophy at Cornell university, and studied abroad, comes here a very competent and trained speaker. Newspapers, because of the wide field of interest they cover, do not give us the specific information as can Dr. Beaver, and war correspondents are not always sufficiently trained in foreign problems and alien cultures to represent them completely to their readers. On the other hand, the speaker learned the Chinese language, lived with them and shared their hopes and aspirations. His informative talk will give you deep insights to the tremendous problems surrounding the international situation in China.

All of the local pastors, Father F. C. LaRue, Rev. Gerhard Kanies and Rev. R. G. Beck are inviting their people to attend this lecture. A free-will offering will be received after the talk. Although the speaker makes no appeal for funds, after you have heard him, you will wish to do something in a kindly, generous need to help meet the greatest need in the war-torn countries. The entire offering will be given to the Red Cross for war emergency relief purposes. The Peace church is happy to bear the expense of Dr. Beaver's visit out of its own treasury. Everyone is welcome to attend this lecture.

Progress Reported in Feeding Experiments

The value of following the government's food rules for more perfect health and fitness is shown by the results obtained in the feeding experiments being conducted at various points in the county by the county nutrition council.

Those who have been following the experiments already have noted marked differences in growth as a result of right and wrong eating.

These experiments are being conducted with white rats at the Dewey Drug company, West Bend; Lohr Drug store, Harford; Rosenheimer's store, Kewaskum; Held and Kraemer Hardware store, Slinger; Duerrwaechter's store, Germantown. White rats eat the same kind of food as people and show similar effects of good and bad diet; yet they grow rapidly, one year comparing in maturity with a human being of thirty.

The rats fed on ration 1 are growing rapidly and are in excellent health. Their diets compare to a human diet which includes the "daily seven" as recommended by our government in its national nutrition program.

Rats on ration 2 have grown little and show the effect of a diet similar to that of a human's consisting of meat, white bread, potatoes, gravy, and sweets. The rats on the deficiency diet will have milk and vegetables added to their food supply containing a plentiful amount of essential minerals and vitamins.

The "daily seven" as recommended for good nutrition are: (1) milk and milk products; (2) oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit, raw cabbage or salad greens—at least one of these; (3) green or yellow vegetables, one being helping or more, some raw, some cooked; (4) other vegetables, fruit, potatoes or other vegetables or fruit in season; (5) bread and cereal, whole grain or enriched type; (6) meat, poultry, or fish or eggs, dried beans, peas, or nuts occasionally—eggs at least 3 or 4 a week, cooked any way you choose or in dishes; (7) butter and other spreads, vitamin rich. The government food rules say, "First, eat these foods—they eat any other foods you want."

Kathleen Norris Says:

Thinking Toward Peace

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

We have to take whatever circumstances this war imposes upon us. You can comfort your daughter, as she will you, and let the baby be a comfort to both.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE most terrible thing about a war is being so fearful all the time," writes Mildred Wilson, from St. Paul. "I have never been afraid in my life before, but now I am. I'm constantly anxious about my son and my son-in-law, both away on naval duty. I'm sick with sympathy and apprehension over my daughter, 23 years old, expecting her first baby, and breaking her heart over her husband's absence. I'm worried about my husband, for his is the furniture business, and people in our neighborhood are conserving what they have, not buying anything new! I have all the usual worries about rationing and the home table; my husband, like so many other men, likes chops and steaks and roasts, repeated endlessly, and we can't get them any more. A steak and fried potatoes with coffee have composed his favorite meal for years; vegetables and sweets don't register at all.

"I want to do all I can for the war effort, but with Phyllis' baby coming, and my man home for three meals a day, I can't spare the time to become a nurse's aid or give eight hours every third day to inter-ceptor command. And so I worry, and I don't sleep, and that makes me a nervous, half-efficient sort of woman who shivers at the radio news, distrusts everyone who is conducting this war, despairs of the world's future, to say nothing of America's, and altogether is becoming a burden on herself and everyone else. I wouldn't write you," the letter ends. "I didn't feel that thousands of other women, some of whom I know, are sinking into the same morass. Have you any suggestions as to the way out?"

The way out, my dear Mildred, is like a dose of castor oil. It takes a certain amount of courage to pour the nauseous stuff into the spoon, to open the mouth, and gulp the oily distasteful down. But when your mind and soul are clogged and poisoned you have to take the equivalent of this dose if you are to recover.

Become World Minded

You know the cure, of course. It is to lift your spirit into a higher, less personal, less selfish zone. Instead of wanting safety, security, wealth, happiness for just the few persons you love, you must learn to want them, and to work for them, for all the men and women of the world.

We have to live in the world, in this strange little ball spinning in cosmic space, because there is nowhere else to live. There has always been plenty of food and shelter for all the peoples of the world, but thousands of years ago rulers and kings and soldiers and even the prophets and priests of the Old Testament got off the beam, to use the expressive phrase, and things began to slip away from God's law, and get under the law of man.

Civilization marched steadily ahead; houses were built, food was refined, schools and hospitals and colleges sprang up everywhere; men learned to read. But alongside of all this, evil marched as well. Bloody wars, poverty, hunger were all tolerated in their primitive degrees, and as those degrees developed, they became greater and more widespread, too.

Now, with the new help that civilization and science give us, we have to go back those long weary centuries, and begin at the beginning again. We have to brace ourselves to feel that no matter what the personal cost may be, it will be worth while if we emerge from this time of darkness into a peace that is

And so I worry...

World's Largest Mobile Community, Built of 3,300 Trailer Coaches, Will House 13,000 Naval Workers

Removal After War Will Leave No Ghost Town; Improvements in Construction Expected to Stimulate Future Use by Migrant Workers.

From wasteland to a city of 3,300 homes in 46 days! That's the wartime "miracle" of Trailer City at Portsmouth, Va., where 13,000 persons will soon make up the world's largest mobile community.

When the navy found it was impossible to recruit workers for the Norfolk navy yard because of housing shortages, the Federal Public Housing Authority was requested to supply accommodations quickly. The huge trailer project is the FPFA's answer to this request.

Nothing approaching this feat has ever been seen in housing. Through the combined efforts of manufacturers, government officials, contractors and local workers, 100 mobile homes a day were transported to the site and placed on foundation blocks, ready for occupancy. Since all the units were completed and furnished at mid-western factories, it was a matter of a few minutes for four men to replace them and connect electric lines.

The successful completion of this project, which is expected to be fully occupied about July 15, is the high-point of a revolutionary change in housing techniques, motivated by war necessities.

Deliver Complete Unit.

Completely reversing the centuries-old method of transporting parts or sections of houses to the site and then assembling them, the trailer coach industry has applied assembly-line methods to home-construction and delivers complete units, including essential furnishings.

Just as mass production techniques have changed automobile manufacture from small-scale output at high prices to million-unit capacity at low cost, this new construction method for homes brings speed, quantity and economy into housing at a time when all these factors are imperative for the war effort.

In manufacture, this method saves 90 per cent on manpower. The mobile houses require less than one-third the ordinary amount of critical materials, permitting much greater volume from a limited stockpile. The average trailer coach, furnished and installed, costs about

All other needs of this city, larger than St. Augustine, Fla., are being provided by the FPFA. Equipped playgrounds dot the 290-acre site, and two schools have been erected for the children. A non-denominational church will be available to all residents. Four community and recreation buildings will provide facilities for stage shows, motion pictures, games, meetings and dinner parties.

Four large play areas, each large enough for a full-sized baseball field, will be available for adults, and seven stores will occupy a large commercial building, eliminating the need for traveling into the city to shop.

Each trailer has a plot at least 26 by 46 feet. Drainage has made the soil fertile, and a Victory garden usually appears outside each unit a few days after the family moves in. Some build small picket fences around their gardens, adding the final touch of suburban atmosphere.

All trailers when delivered were standard olive drab, but because camouflage is not important at this site they are being repainted various hues, to suit the taste of the occupants.

FPFA rentals on these furnished homes range from $6 to $9 a week, far lower than prevailing rates for time occupations, the trailers will find wheels again and serve vagabondage or house migratory workers, and the ground that had been host to a thriving city will once more be an open field—no worse for wear. For Portsmouth there will be no bad effects, no 'ghost' slums, no regrets.

In this project also is seen the forerunner of a vast field for trailers in post-war Europe. With millions of persons returning to ravaged cities, communities like Trailer City will pop up to house them until permanent quarters can be constructed, he predicts. If American manufacturers can get sufficient materials in time, it is not unlikely that they will provide units for hundreds of towns as big as Portsmouth's to dot the European topography.

See New Trailer Use.

Peacetime uses for trailers will also show the effects of their wartime use. Large groups of migratory construction workers, moving from one reconstruction job to another, will use trailers so they can move their homes with them. Seasonal farm workers will do the same thing. Lighter and more powerful automobiles will make road travel more popular with salesmen and professional men, and trailer homes will permit them to keep their families together while they travel.

An upsurge in travel interest following wartime repression will enhance the normal market for trailers, too, and thousands of families who are finding these mobile homes satisfactory during the war will decide to retain this type of living.

The trailers that were moved into Portsmouth are tributes to the manufacturers' ingenuity, for they are as sturdy and comfortable as pre-war models despite sharp cutbacks in available materials.

The chief shortages—rubber for tires and steel for under-carriages—are not serious because the units are placed on foundation blocks and are immobilized for the duration of the war, unless they are to be moved to another site after their first assignment is filled.

However, shortages of such basic materials as masonite, plywood and stainless steel have necessitated substitutions. The Portsmouth trailers have less than 275 pounds of steel, only three pounds of copper, and use homeose in place of masonite.

The experimentation required by these substitutions will pay real dividends in the future, experts predict. "We've learned better ways to do things," these experts say. "We now can save weight, add space and increase comfort without increasing cost. After a year or two, when we get a supply of the new light metals and plastics we'll produce trailers that will be luxurious and practical—and at a small cost."

Meanwhile, the Portsmouth project is doing a big war job. Incoming workers pour into the project every day, bringing their families into a new type of living experience. Once in, they plan to stay. "This kind of life," explains one worker after five days in his trailer, "is as much fun as camping and a lot more comfortable."

A total of 3,300 trailers dot 290 acres near Portsmouth, Va. Here, 13,000 workers in the Norfolk navy yard will make their home for the duration. Each trailer has a plot at least 26 by 46 feet adequately drained, and Victory gardens already have been set out.

60 per cent as much as the low-priced demountable house. Further important savings are made in manpower at the site, since four men can have a trailer ready in a few minutes, while even a demountable house requires several hours. Since war housing is needed in labor-scarce areas, this has made trailers even more popular.

Employment in the Norfolk Navy Yard, which is to be served by the Portsmouth trailer community, is due to increase about 40 per cent in the next few months. The speedy availability of the mobile homes will make it possible for the navy to recruit workers long before it could have if it had to wait for other types of living units. The effect on the naval shipping program will be important to the early completion of the war.

Trailers Accommodate Families.

Of the 3,300 units in Trailer City, 2,640 are standard trailers, normally housing two to four persons. The other 660 are expandable mobile homes, which are transported like trailers but have wings that are opened at the site to form extra rooms. With a few quick movements these expandables form four-room homes, comfortably accommodating families of six.

This proportion of two sizes provides ample quarters for large families as well as smaller ones.

Portable Laundries and Washrooms Form Part of Trailer City's Modern Facilities

Complete mobility of part of Portsmouth, Virginia's, Trailer City is assured by the use of portable laundry and toilet units. If the trailers in this section should be moved to another site, these utility units could move along and be ready for use as soon as the trailers were re-occupied.

As used in scores of government-operated trailer parks, these utility units are transported like regular trailers, but have extensions that open out to form extra rooms when they are placed on their foundation blocks. The design is similar to the expandable mobile homes, which form four-room homes when opened, and are made by the same manufacturer.

Besides the expandable trailer and the utility units, the design of the expandable unit is being used in many other ways. Duplex mobile houses, with center partitions separating two family-size accommodations, have been installed at the Willow Run bomber plant near Detroit. By attaching several of the units at the expandable sides, complete mobile hospitals, auditoriums, nurseries, churches, theaters and other community structures have been formed.

This flexibility completes the plan for complete mobility of entire communities which began with the formation of trailer towns.

100 Trailers a Day Moved by Truck and Rail to Site of Vast New City

The largest movement of complete homes in history was required to erect the 13,000-population Trailer City, Va.

Since virtually all of the 3,300 units were moved from factories in Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, meeting the delivery quota of 100 units a day called for unequalled efforts by manufacturers, railroads, truckers and government officials.

For the first time, trailers were transported by rail. About 800 of the units were loaded at Flint and Chicago, two to a car, for the 1,000-mile run. The other 2,500 trailers were conveyed by truck convoys.

Complete units, dual units which consist of special dual units which carry one trailer and pull another. Complete units, containing all essential furnishings, were lifted by cranes into gondola freight cars and clamped to the floor. At Portsmouth they were unbolted, lifted onto trucks, and transported to the site, where they were placed on foundation blocks and ready for occupancy in a few minutes.

The movement was unique in the annals of the American construction industry. Whereas the ordinary creation of a settlement of this dimension would have required many weeks of labor at the site, most of the work on the project was done hundreds of miles away. Final installation at the scene required relatively little time.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Children Need Good, Wholesome Foods At Their Parties

Children's parties help make childhood an easy with their friends, do not toward laying the foundations of their social success. Watch them playing host and hostess as little pair is doing.

Lynn Says:

- Sandwich Ideas: Cream cheese or cottage cheese with olives and mayonnaise.
- Peanut butter, honey and crumbled fresh yeast, on whole wheat or enriched white bread.
- Peanut butter and chow chow on enriched white bread.
- Cream cheese and orange marmalade on raisin bread.
- Mashed liverwurst, chili sauce, mayonnaise on whole wheat or rye bread.
- Minced corned beef or sliced tongue with horseradish on rye bread.
- Roquefort cheese, celery and mayonnaise on white bread or on celery as a garnish for salad.
- Watercress on thinly sliced white bread, rolled and kept in refrigerator in damp cloth for 15 to 20 minutes.
- Finely chopped figs or raisins with nutmeats, mayonnaise and lemon juice, on white or brown bread.
- Hard-cooked eggs, celery and mayonnaise on whole wheat bread.

Beat egg yolks until lemon colored. Cook cheese, bread crumbs, milk, butter and salt over low heat, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten whites. Pour into a well-greased casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes or until inserted knife comes out clean.

An afternoon party menu may consist of assorted sandwiches.

Deviled Egg and Cheese Sandwiches.

- 3 hard-cooked eggs
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 slices buttered whole wheat bread
3 wafer-thin slices of Swiss-type cheese
- Watercress Dill Pickles
- Cut eggs, crosswise and into halves. Mash yolks and blend with mustard, salt and Worcestershire sauce, mixing well. Fill the whites. Cut eggs into thin slices and arrange on three slices of bread. Top egg slices with cheese and a second piece of bread. Cut in halves and garnish with watercress and dill pickles.

A citrus fruit drink is refreshing, fine for keeping up young spirits busy at play during party time. Keep all the flavor in the orange juice plus valuable vitamin C by squeezing it only just before serving. To have chilled juice, chill whole oranges in refrigerator before extracting juice.

Wholesome drink with a party air is this cool glass of orange juice topped prettily with orange sherbet, decorated sprigs of mint and whole raspberries. Orange float will keep you cool and full of pep, for vitamin C helps mitigate effects of heat.

*Orange Sherbet.

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
1 cup water
2 egg whites stiffly beaten
2 cups orange juice
3 tablespoons lemon juice
- Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes. Beat egg whites slowly and add to fruit juices. Mix all ingredients and pour into freezing tray of mechanical refrigerator. Freeze stiff, then beat thoroughly. Return to freezing compartment and freeze until stiff.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To mend small holes in window screen, put a piece of mosquito netting over the hole and coat it with varnish. When dry, apply another coat or two.

Woolen garments will retain their fluffiness and will not shrink if a teaspoonful of glycerine is added to the warm water in which they are washed and rinsed.

If you find fruit jars difficult to get clean after cold packing corn or meat, rub the jar with salt and wash in the usual way.

If too much salt is put in the soup, a few slices of potato will remove it. A raw potato in the refrigerator will absorb unpleasant odors.

Put a sponge in the bottom of your potted plants and you won't have to water them so often.

Vinegar eliminates odors. Don't put away a frying pan that smells of onions, fish or some other strong-flavored food. Put some vinegar in the pan and bring to a boil. Then wash as usual.

Baking materials are precious these days, and burning a cake is little short of a tragedy. When putting a cake into the oven set an alarm clock for the time the cake should be finished baking. This is a big help, especially when visitors drop in, and one is apt to forget all about the cake in the oven.

When making berry pies, mix with the fruit measurement for one pie about two tablespoons fine quick-cooking tapioca to make a clear thick juice that should not run out during baking and that will serve neatly.

If your family considers squash a tasteless vegetable, try serving it with a white sauce with melted cheese in it. They will change their minds.

Buttons on a woolen or knitted coat sometimes tear away from the material, leaving an unsightly hole. To prevent this from happening, place a small button on the wrong side, beneath the larger button and sew the two on together.

Here is a good tip for making woolen jumpers fit properly at the waist. Knitters know how sometimes the ribbing, even although done on smaller needles, will stretch round the waist, and the jumper will tend to ride up at the back. To prevent this, sew a narrow piece of elastic, waist measurement, round the inside of the jumper, at the top of the ribbing. The elastic should be sewn loosely so that it will not show on the right side.

Crops and Stock Thrive On Most Northerly Farm

The Norilsk State farm, a Soviet agricultural enterprise, stands on the 70th parallel in the midst of a desert region, in the zone of eternal frost. There the Arctic night lasts for nearly two months. There are frequent heavy blizzards, when the thermometer drops to 60 degrees below zero centigrade.

Potatoes, cabbages, onions, carrots and sugar beets are grown successfully in the open fields of this Arctic farm. Tomatoes, cucumbers and spinach are raised in 28 hot-houses. An experimental sowing of melons has yielded encouraging results.

Livestock thrives on the farm, and is rapidly increasing in number. There are 133 cows, all born in this Arctic region. A subsidiary farm houses 200 pigs of pure Yorkshire breed.

Last year the possibility of growing oats for fodder was demonstrated by the yield from an experimental planting of 60 acres.

Orchard trees bloom during the short Arctic summer. They are still very young and bear no fruit at present.

—Sign in a meat market. And not much more do you get.

Woman—My husband is so careless of his appearance. It seems that he just can't keep buttons on his clothes.

Neighbor—Are you sure it's carelessness? Perhaps they are—uh—well, sewed on improperly.

Woman—Maybe you're right. He is terribly careless with his sewing.

True Enough

Some visitors were inspecting a junior class in the school and things were going rather badly. When the teacher asked if any little girl could recite something, only one small hand shot up. "That's a good girl, Betty," said teacher encouragingly. "Now step out in front of the class. What can you say for us?" "Nelson's Farewell to His Mother," replied Betty brightly. "Splendid! Begin." "Ta-ta, mum!" said Betty dramatically, waving her hand.

Modern Curtains to Make Your Bay Windows Appear More Attractive

EXTENDER RODS ALLOW CURTAINS AND DRAPERIES TO COVER WALL

HOOKS SUPPORT HEADING

BAY windows are much in vogue again. One reason for this is that modern methods of hanging curtains make bay windows more attractive than they used to be in the Gay Nineties when they were a feature of so many houses.

In those old houses the vertical lines of woodwork and wall showing between windows made the bay seem like a coop stuck on the outside of the house. Many home owners had the bays removed because, while they actually added space, they made rooms seem small and cluttered.

Today curtains are hung to cover both wall and woodwork around the individual windows in the bay. This brings the group of windows together as a unit and makes the bay seem a broad and spacious part of the room. The sketch at the right shows a standard fixture that allows curtains to extend beyond the window frame; but don't rush out to buy new rods. The chances are that your old rods may be extended over the wall if you wire them to hooks or staples at the upper corners of the window frames.

NOTE—If you are planning new curtains, you will want a copy of Mrs. Spears' booklet that illustrates twelve different styles of curtains with directions for making them; including a simple home-made rigging for draw curtains. Ask for BOOK 1, and enclose 15 cents with name and address to:

Recoil of Big Guns

America's 16-inch coast-defense guns, which hurl one-ton shells nearly 30 miles, have a recoil mechanism that can absorb, within five feet, a force equivalent to that of a 20-ton freight car traveling at 60 miles an hour.

Uncle Phil Says:

THE trouble about seeing both sides of a question is that both sides go for you for being on the other.

It's true that you can do almost anything you desire to do; the trouble is making yourself desire to do it.

It may not be possible to find the perfect girl, but there's a lot of fun in the hunting.

A compromise is what two people arrive at to their mutual dissatisfaction.

Fight the Forgery Racket!

By FRANK J. WILSON
Chief, United States Secret Service

WE HAVE learned that check thieves establish identification when they try to cash forged checks. This article is intended for storekeepers who pay out money for government checks.

Before you accept any government check, ask yourself this question: "If this check is returned because of a forged endorsement, can I locate the forger and recover my loss?"

A government check is good only when it is properly endorsed by the person to whom it is issued. If you pay your good money for a government check which bears a forged endorsement, you are the loser.

Remember—don't hesitate to question a stranger who asks you to cash a government check. It's YOUR money that's at stake, and most forgers are usually in a hurry. Questions make them nervous.

To Be Sure It's Simple With the Man's Hat Off!

A woman entered the photographer's shop and addressed the proprietor thusly: "I want this photograph of my husband enlarged. Now, do you think you can remove the hat? I do not like it on him." The photographer carefully studied the portrait for a time. "Yes," he said at last. "I think I can manage to fake the hair all right. By the way, you'll have to tell me on which side he parts his hair. I must know that." The woman thought for a moment, then said: "Oh, I just can't remember, but you'll be able to see that when you take his hat off."

Corporator Answers Reader Queries On Furniture, Draperies and Mirrors

ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN writes: My dining room is furnished with classic modern furniture with upholstery and draperies in turquoise. There is a large wall behind the buffet. Should I place on the table and buffet? I had considered a vase for the buffet, but I have a pair of flowers, then perhaps a pair of figurines on either side. Draperies would make the buffet appear quite stunning. I don't know what then for the table? Answer: Your idea sounds all right for the buffet. Then for the table a large low table outside and turquoise draperies. Or a pair of silver flowers. Or a pair of silver table. A silver tea service would be dramatic for the buffet too.

County Agent Notes

FARM LABOR

The world is depending upon the American farmer for food. None of us know how very critical is our food supply. Good crop years favor us during the past few years. We entered the war with rather large surpluses, but 1943 has already seen our reserves disappearing, and the demands for food products steadily increasing. We as yet do not know what obstacles such as unfavorable weather, farm labor shortage, farm machinery shortage and other production drawbacks will be encountered before the 1943 crop is harvested. Perhaps the most serious of these will be the scarcity of capable farm help.

Congress recently passed legislation making it possible to employ a farm labor placement man in all county extension offices. This man will have the responsibility of locating available farm labor and placing it on farms where it is needed. The farm labor situation is not an impossible one. There is a reasonable amount of labor in this country that has not yet been put to good use. This labor may not always be just what you want. It may be city labor, inexperienced in farm work. It may be a teen age boy who has had no previous farm experience, but who is willing to learn under the skillful directions of the farmer and his family. Such a boy soon can become a handy and a valuable farm hand.

Farmers will find it necessary to anticipate future labor needs and make their requests for labor well in advance. While we have no available farm labor at the present time, we expect to have some available labor when the schools close for the summer vacation. You are urged to report your summer labor needs to the county agricultural agent's office. You may do this best by letter or phone (West Bend 502) and we will work with you in helping you find suitable farm help.

Revised Details on How to Get Sugar for Home Canning

Final details on how one may obtain sugar for home canning were announced by the Washington County War Price and Rationing board. The details were part of a simplified plan announced through the newspapers by the Office of Price Administration.

According to the revised program, stamps numbered 15 and 16 in War Ration Book One will each be good for five pounds of sugar for home canning. Consumers will obtain this sugar by taking the ration books to retailers rather than applying to local boards for sugar coupons as was announced earlier.

Stamps 15 and 16 became valid May 25, and may be used for obtaining canning sugar in amounts of 7 1/2 pounds each through October 31, 1943. No change has been made in the rate at which sugar for canning will be made available—one pound for each four quarts or eight pounds, of finished fruit and five pounds per person for making jams and jellies—with a total not to exceed 25 pounds.

In exceptional cases where consumers require more than the ten pounds of canning sugar obtainable with sugar stamps in War Ration Book One, application for additional allotments may be made at the local ration board offices on the application form recently mailed to each family. Each application must be accompanied by Ration Book One for any person for whom application is made.

Boards will issue sugar canning coupons or certificates for ten pounds less the total requirement (ten pounds) may be bought with stamps in War Ration Book One, and will record on the cover of each person's ration book the amount and date of sugar allotted.

The change in the home-canning program is intended to relieve local boards of a heavy load of work, since under the new arrangement only the relatively few families who require more than ten pounds of sugar per person for home canning will make application to the boards.

Most families, it was pointed out, have the use of several ration books and even where the canning budget includes the making of some jams and jellies, it is estimated that the sugar available to consumers without application to the boards will be adequate.

In other words, we are not to urge or induce the use of all available sugar for canning. For those who need it, it is available, but it is everyone's patriotic duty not to apply for it except when absolutely necessary.

FARM AND HOME LINES

Poultry specialists at the University of Wisconsin report that the killing of Leghorn cockerels at hatching time is all too common in Wisconsin this spring.

A mixture of soybeans and oats makes an excellent emergency hay for the cooler soils of central and northern Wisconsin, reports E. J. Delwiche, branch experiment station agronomist

Maximum Ceiling Prices on Poultry Set in County
 Maximum ceiling prices on poultry were established in Washington county during the past week. According to federal regulations now in effect, farmers may charge for No. 1 broilers and fryers under four pounds $2.94 per pound live weight, to the retail shop. Farmers may charge the housewife a maximum of $3.53 per pound live weight. Dressed poultry in Washington county may carry a maximum price of 43c per pound to the consumer or housewife. Farmers may charge a retail shop a maximum of 36c dressed when poultry is to be resold.
 It should be understood that these prices are MAXIMUM prices more than which no one can charge. With a supply of spring poultry now available in our county, it would be well for every housewife to know the maximum prices listed above.
 If you are charged more than the ceiling price on poultry or any other item under ceiling prices, demand a sales slip so that you will have a written record of the transaction.
 Submit your complaint together with the sales slip to the price panel of the Washington County War Price and Rationing board, West Bend.

 And though the body slumbers

 The soul is safe in Heaven.

We Honor The
 Heroes of 1943
 This
 DAY

Memorial Day comes closer home this year. For our Nation is at War. Perhaps that neighbor boy you knew so well has just given his life, or has been seriously wounded on some far-away front. Perhaps he has been reported missing in action on land or sea.

While we pause to honor the memory of the heroes of all our Wars, past and present, let's resolve to make whatever sacrifices are required to bring about the downfall of today's would-be dictators, so that we may move forward in a better world... a world at peace.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Air Raids Soften Europe for Invasion; Decisive Allied Moves Against Japan Forecast in Washington Strategy Meet; WLB Regains Authority on Wage Boosts

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

With activity against the Japs on all eastern fronts forecast by recent Washington conferences, Allied air attacks against the enemy loom large in the tactical picture. Above are four American-trained Chinese pilots looking over the instrument panel of a P-40, in company with Maj. Grant Mahoney of the U. S. air force in China.

OFFENSIVES:

Europe and Asia Both

Not only Allied smashes against Hitlerite Europe, but decisive campaigns against Jap-held domains in Asia and the South Pacific in weeks to come were the United Nations' war timetable scheduled by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in their Washington conferences.

That activity against Japan would be stepped up on a major scale was indicated by two developments. One was the presence at the Washington conferences of Commander-in-Chief Sir Archibald Wavell of India, Admiral Sir James Somerville, the Eastern fleet commander, and Sir Richard Peirse, the India air commander. The other was the disclosure that Admiral William F. Halsey and Gen. Douglas MacArthur had met to co-ordinate future operations in their areas.

Indicative of the trend toward decisive American action was a Tokyo radio report that strong U. S. forces had invaded the Jap-held island of Attu in the Aleutians.

Observers believed that future moves on Japan might take on a nutcracker character. One prong would close in on Nippon from the east, via Halsey's and MacArthur's combined forces in the Pacific. The other would squeeze Japan's flank from the Indian ocean and the India-Burma front, using the combined commands of Wavell, Somerville and Peirse.

TRADE PACTS:

Green Light by House

Surviving debate and the threat of crippling limitations, President Roosevelt's reciprocal trade program was extended by the house of representatives for a term of two years.

As debate had divided on party lines and the Republicans had supported a series of amendments which the Democrats charged would have been "a kiss of death" to the entire program, Speaker Sam Rayburn had rallied support sufficient to insure favorable action. While gaining main support from Republicans, the amendments were offered by Democratic Congressman West of Texas, only New Deal member of the house ways and means committee to oppose extension of the act.

Reciprocal trade pacts have been negotiated with 27 nations in the last nine years.

CANNING:

Kitchens Defined

A definition of "home canning" was released by the Office of Price Administration to allay housewives' fears about giving up rationing points for foods processed in co-operative centers now being organized in many parts of the country. The OPA defined "home canning" as those processed "in a kitchen primarily used for the preparation of meals, or in a kitchen used to demonstrate preparation of such meals"—such as in a school or home economics center.

If a farmer has a separate building where he customarily does his canning, he must get permission from his ration board to use it.

POSTWAR:

'A Mighty Flow'

Envisioning a "mighty flow of goods and materials" to war ravaged areas in the coming peace era, Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, said that the United States should welcome and encourage the development of other nations when the war is over.

"Today private business, as well as government is determinedly planning for a postwar period that will be so economically sound that peace can be permanent," he said.

PROMBERS:

Plans of the OPA for hiring 1,400 more investigators to help roll back the cost of living were disclosed by Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown.

The new investigators' job, he said, will be to educate innocent violators of price rules and punish willful "chiselers." Mr. Brown declared that his aids had estimated that effectiveness of OPA regulations, depending mostly on adequate personnel could cut the cost of living 5 per cent.

RUSSIA:

Donets Flares Anew

Even as the Red army had continued its methodical, grinding drive against the line of German fortifications outside Novorossisk, last Nazi-held bastion in the Caucasus, other Russian forces to the north in the Donets river valley had opened fierce attacks near Lisichansk, about 125 miles southeast of Kharkov.

For weeks, Soviet dispatches had reported trainload after trainload of German troops rolling eastward to the Russian front. But Hitler had kept his moves for what would be his last chance offensive well masked.

In the action near Lisichansk, gateway to the eastern Donets basin, the Russians said the enemy had tried a wedge-shaped drive into Russian-held territory, but this thrust was pushed back. In pursuing the retreating Nazis the Red troops were able to establish themselves on a hill of "great tactical importance."

AIR RAIDS:

Bombs Write History

Cologne and Dortmund had suffered destructive Allied air raids that dwarfed the damage visited on London by the Luftwaffe in the battle of Britain, but it remained for Duisburg, center of German war and transportation hub of the Nazi's defense of western Europe, to be smashed by the heaviest aerial assault in all history.

The RAF was the Allied instrument of destruction. It was estimated that as many as 2,000 tons of bombs were dropped. The heaviest previous raid ever made anywhere was that on Cologne, on May 31, 1942, when 1,000 bombers were employed and more than 1,500 tons of explosives were rained on the Nazi city. An attack on Dortmund had reached the intensity of the Cologne foray, but the Duisburg raid was the heaviest of all time.

That the Duisburg raid was but a prelude to what Nazi-held Europe might expect was indicated by devastating forays which followed immediately. American Flying Fortresses continued the marathon by making their own heaviest attack since the war began on St. Omer and Meaulte in northern France.

Meanwhile in the East the Russian air force took the initiative away from the Nazis, while Red planes smashed at German communications at Warsaw, capital of Poland, and its suburb of Praga. In the Mediterranean area, U. S. bombers strafed airfields and shipping facilities in Sicily and on the Italian invasion coast.

WAGE BOOSTS:

WLB May Act

The War Labor board got back some of its discretionary authority to make wage adjustments. James F. Byrnes, economic stabilization director, announced the new policy in a directive specifying that the board may now raise wages "to aid in the prosecution of the war or correct gross inequities."

Mr. Byrnes, however, qualified his action with the limitation that such wage adjustments must not cause price rises or stand in the way of price reductions.

The new policy directive was issued in response to the WLB's appeal for clarification of its position as a result of President Roosevelt's recent "hold the line" anti-inflation order. The board had complained that it was virtually stripped of all discretionary powers in wage cases, since the President's order had limited its actions.

While restoring authority to eliminate "gross inequities" Mr. Byrnes' directive did not restore to the board the power to correct "inequalities" which it held prior to the President's "hold the line" order.

WAR PRISONERS:

To Till U. S. Farms

Transportation of most of the 175,000 Axis prisoners in Allied hands in Tunisia to North America for work on farms in the United States and Canada was predicted by military observers in North Africa.

Such an action, it was pointed out, would solve the question of feeding and caring for these prisoners in an area already crowded with Allied troops. Moreover, it would help solve the manpower problem here and in Canada.

SUBMARINES:

Allies' Defense Grows

The Allies were making steady progress against Hitler's hitherto most potent weapon—the submarine. Decreases in monthly shipping losses by the United Nations and the preponderance of ocean-transported Allied munitions and supplies in North Africa at the victory finale were indicative of this.

Evidence of how the Allies were successfully applying air and sea power plus grit and stout hearts against the Nazi subsea peril abounded in epic report issued by the British admiralty describing how navy escort ships and Royal Canadian Air force planes had sunk or probably sunk 10 German submarines in an eight-day battle in the Atlantic.

Characterizing the action as the biggest single Allied victory against U-boats, the admiralty report said that planes, destroyers, frigates, corvettes, cutters and sloops joined in the battle continuing day and night for eight days. As many as 25 enemy submarines were in action at one time. The battle finally turned in favor of the convoy. "Some damage was suffered," the admiralty said, "but the majority of the merchantmen reached port in safety."

MERGER:

Wire Giants Unite

Improved telegraph service for those engaged directly in the war and for the general public in the post-war period was forecast as a result of the merger of Postal Telegraph Inc., and Western Union Telegraph company.

Together the two companies do a business of about $145,000,000 a year and their combined assets will approach $500,000,000.

Culminating negotiations and discussions covering more than 20 years, the merger was made possible by recent congressional action and by approval of the Federal Communications commission. Under the terms of the agreement, Western Union will acquire all assets and all business of Postal Telegraph and assume its liabilities and obligations, including the amount owed by Postal to the Reconstruction Finance corporation at the time of the closing of the agreement.

CURB:

War Plant Building

Ordering a halt on virtually all war plant construction which cannot be completed by October 1, the War Production board announced that the nation now has enough industrial plants to produce the materials required to beat the Axis.

Meanwhile the board had directed a widespread conversion of machine plant tools and other existing facilities to the production of more urgently needed goods. Calling its action a "significant milestone in the war program," the WPB said that men and materials released by its new directives would be channeled elsewhere into the war program.

WPB officials estimated that construction of between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000 in new war plants would be halted, even if it were necessary to dismantle partially completed ones. Many machine tools orders will be cancelled, and tool plants will be converted to the production of "things that shoot."

The announcement emphasized that there "has been no easing-off in the demand for critical materials; there is on the horizon no indication whatever of a lessening in the demand for labor."

LIFELINE:

For Small Business

Hope for financial aid for small store owners, operators of gasoline and service stations and other small businesses adversely affected by the war was held forth by the Reconstruction Finance corporation in announcing a loan program.

Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce, said the program would be in the hands of the RFC Mortgage company. The company, he added, is ready to consider loans against real estate, including stores, private owned gasoline and service stations and business properties generally that have lost their earning power by reason of wartime restrictions and regulations.

Mr. Jones announced that three types of loans will be considered: participation loans; refunding loans; and care and preservation loans.

MISCELLANY:

COFFEE: Beginning June 1, Americans will get enough coffee to make one and one-fourth cups a day compared with present rations, the OPA announced.

PAPER: The Office of War Information's output of news releases reached a record high of 53 in a single day. Included was one public release urging conservation of paper.

SUMMER WORK: School teachers who take summer jobs will not be frozen into them, the War Manpower commission announced, in answer to inquiries from teachers who wanted to do war work during summer vacations.

PROMOTIONS: The appointments of Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr. and John Lesesne DeWitt to the temporary grades of lieutenant generals in the army were confirmed by the U. S. senate.

GASOLINE: Servicemen on leave or furlough for three days or more will be granted special allotments of gasoline up to five gallons, the OPA announced.

COLD: Because of fuel oil rationing Abraham Lincoln's tomb in Springfield, Ill., visited by thousands annually, has been colder than usual, Custodian Herbert Wells Fay declared. He said a local rationing board had denied requests for additional oil and that he was making an appeal to Washington.

Allied Food Conference Envisions World Council

International Group Would Be Empowered to Oversee Production, Distribution of 'Bread and Beef' to Feed Society of Nations.

By BAUKHAGE

WNU Service, Union Trust Building Washington, D. C.

Back in the summer of 1940, I sat in a chair under a whispering tree and looked out over a wide and barbed landscape. The mountains were about us. We were resting in a nest carved out of the wilderness and equipped with all the luxuries that a pampered human could demand. Lovely, indolent women in sports dresses sat at tables under colored umbrellas. Handsome, indolent Negro servants padded about with tall, cooling and expensive drinks.

I call it a "nest." I belonged there just like a cuckoo but I enjoyed it. It was all right. It helped circulate the money (I was a guest at a bankers' convention). But I thought back. Six months before I had ridden in an army transport plane over shuddering Europe. I looked about and saw the easy, harmless but useless life about me, made possible by the easy harvesting of America's riches.

I sighed (a little enviously) and said to myself: "This can't last." It is a strange coincidence that today, at this very same spot, representatives of the United Nations are gathering to try to write the prescription for the third freedom—freedom from want.

This gathering isn't concerned with summer resorts de luxe although it meets at one. It is concerned with the proposition: We must raise the standard of living all over the globe so that the underfed can produce enough of their handiwork to exchange it for enough to eat—something they just never had before.

It is just too big for me to grasp, but what's the heaven for, asks Browning, if our reach doesn't exceed our grasp?

World Council

This plan envisions an international council at the head of a system of administrative bodies among which would be an agricultural council, supported by an agricultural bank (all this international) which would direct groups studying and applying nutrition standards, directing the supply of products, storing surpluses, shifting crops to balance supply and demand, maintaining ever-normal storehouses of non-perishable crops, adjusting processing of perishable crops, developing new markets, taking care of relief in devastated or stricken areas, advising and assisting the poorer population groups to increase their efficiency and consumption.

In other words, these people who have spent hours and months and devoted arduous labor to working out this idea are trying to furnish the plan for economic machinery to hold up the hands of the political effort of a league of nations, new style—the bone and sinew, the bread and beef to feed a society of nations joined together under one political umbrella of world co-operation.

Such an idea is laughed out of court in advance by the folk who talk of crazy dreamers, impractical long-hairs and the like. Maybe it is impossible. But a lot of people are saying: "Well, for heaven's sake, let's try it, let's try anything—nothing can cost more in blood, sweat and dollars than war."

The United States proved a lot of things were possible under the sharp lash of war which would have been sneered into oblivion if they had been blueprinted before Pearl Harbor. Take an egg, for example. Nothing up our sleeves. Just an egg. "Before the war," says Frank Wilson of the department of commerce, "when Biddy, the hen, laid an egg in Cole county, Missouri, her subsequent cackle of satisfaction was based on the anticipation that that egg might get as far as Sedalia, St. Louis or, on rare occasions, New York."

Then Hitler dreamed up a world war and somebody dreamed up a thing called lend-lease. Today, Biddy's product goes around the world.

Dehydration

Scientists invented dehydration and the process, as far as eggs are concerned, is only a year and a half old. Before the war, only 20 firms dried eggs to any extent and most of those dried albumen only. Today, according to Mr. Wilson, 130 egg-drying plants, big ones, mostly scattered through the Middle West, are drying eggs. Wilson predicts that before the war is over, 35 per cent of America's three billion dozens of eggs will be treated for processing annually.

And so the fragile egg, formerly shipped only short distances, can travel anywhere. How great the American market for dehydrated eggs will be depends on to what extent the consumer takes to the idea, undoubtedly world consumption will increase because of the excellent lend-lease sampling and the ease of shipment.

You may not be able to deliver your quart of milk from the Wisconsin milk shed to the Hottentot's front porch but you can get your dried milk or dehydrated eggs there—if you can adjust things so the Hottentot can produce enough to trade for what you have to sell. This applies to many other products. At present, if everybody could buy them, all the shirts made in peacetime wouldn't produce a shirt and a half per back.

It's the old story right down the line—we can invent the machinery to make anything. We are aware behind in our inventions to improve the human lot. It's no harder but it takes more imagination. You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink, they say. The problem with humans is different. You've got the hungry man and the table and the food, but so far you haven't been able to fix things so you can lead him to it.

Russ-Jap Friendship—And American Ships

On May 7, Washington had the first official explanation of the many bombings of the Jap-held Aleutian island of Kiska. It said: "United States air forces have established military positions, including an airfield on Amchitka and have been in occupation of this island since January."

The same day, the Associated Press sent out a dispatch dated "February 16 (delayed)." I might say, "I'll say it was delayed." It began this way: "Despite a series of eight Japanese bombing raids, this American airbase, only a few minutes flight from Kiska island went into operation today."

I quote all this to show what a highly confidential war we are running. By the time this sees print—perhaps while I'm writing these lines—Kiska may be in American hands after a land invasion which it is admitted is the only way we can oust the enemy from this spot.

If the Japs have gone by the time you read this, there will be a sigh of at least partial regret in some quarters. The reason is this. As long as the Japs are on an island like Kiska (or Guadalcanal) more Japs have to try to reach them, to bring them supplies and keep them alive. And while that goes on, the Americans have a chance to keep enemy wounds open. Japs themselves are expendable. They are cheap, the sun god has a lot of them and he's generous in spending them. But he hasn't so many ships or so many supplies. So killing Japs doesn't bother the Mikado nearly as much as sinking his ships.

That is one reason the upturning of the last Jap toes on any of their stolen, far-flung bases will be a source of at least partial regret.

There is another reason. Day in and day out from Vancouver and Seattle, secret ships, loaded with supplies for our Russian ally have been calmly sailing away past the Jap-held Kiska and Attu, under the Japanese guns in the narrow waters that lead to Vladivostok.

Now that was a little matter approved by Russia and Japan who hate and fear each other privately but officially are "friendly nations." The question arises now: When and if we trounce the little men out of the stronghold they have dug out with their fingernails in the rocky Attu and Kiska, will they be as willing to let us keep on shipping supplies to Russia?

Perhaps it doesn't matter. By that time, which may be now, the situation may have changed. The interesting thing is that the situation does change and thanks to the censorship, nobody knows it until the knowledge ceases to be aid and comfort to the enemy.

But it's tough on a newsmen.

BRIEFS... by Baukhage

Victory gardeners planning to cultivate plots away from their homes will be eligible for extra rations of gasoline this summer, if they can show need for extra mileage, the OPA has announced.

In 1918, American war expenditures were only 18 1/2 billion dollars—in 1943, they will exceed 100 billion dollars.

United States battleships can now their big 16-inch turret guns to aircraft defense.

Baby scales will be sold to the public only on a doctor's prescription this year, by an amended order of the War Production board.

Cupid's working overtime in Alaska now. Margaret Dinwoodey, secretary to the Red Cross staff attached to the largest hospital there, has written hundreds of love letters for soldier convalescents.

A German seamstress was sentenced to six months imprisonment when she answered an advertisement and demanded her pay in eggs and dairy products instead of money, according to a Nazi press report received by the Office of War Information. When the girl was refused, the report said, she left saying that she had enough customers who would comply with such demands.

A German correspondent's account of "Paris in wartime," broadcast by the Berlin radio in an English-language transmission beamed to the United States, discoursed at length on the beauty of Parisian women and their ability to wear clothes. "It is not that women here are more beautiful than elsewhere," he added quickly. "In Germany," he said, "there are more beautiful women to the square mile than in any other country in the world but they don't know how to dress."

—Buy War Bonds—

Shopping for Victory With U. S. War Bonds

Ninety-five cents out of every dollar under the new budget allotted by President Roosevelt is going to be spent directly for war costs and interest on public debt, the Office of War Information reports. The OWI points out that everything produced in the United States today goes into one of two heaps. One heap consists of tanks, planes, guns, ships—everything for the war. The other consists of goods and services which civilians can share. The consumer heap grows; the consumer heap shrinks. We should take less from the consumer's heap, put more into war bonds. As a matter of patriotism, citizens on the home front with billions in war-boomed income on their hands should invest regularly in war cost "bargains" for soldiers, sailors and airmen fighting on the world fronts. Some of these "bargains" are shown here.

Right: A war bond about to go off! The $18.75 that buys a war bond will pay for seven hand grenades such as this—enough to send a lot of Japs to join their illustrious ancestors.

That "ashcan" hurtling through the air is a depth charge ready to deal with an enemy sub. It's in action because somebody bought $105 in war bonds.

When you bought a $100 war bond you may have bought a Garand rifle for a fighting American.

A $100 war bond buys 2,000 rounds of steel-jacketed .30 caliber shell for this naval gun.

Shown at left is the newly created fishing kit with which every navy lifeboat is now equipped. Experiences of Rickenbacker and others showed how these kits can provide the means of saving lives at sea. The $12.25 buys a $25 bond will pay for three of these kits. Below: A $25 war bond will send a light tank, which is fighting toward Jap lines, twenty miles its way. In twenty miles the tank can blast a lot of Japs.

These, brother, are 2,000-pound block-busters for Adolf and his henchmen. They cost a lot, $600 each—$800 in war bonds.

Tool Temperature: A fine machine tool cannot turn out the same size article during a cool night shift as during a hot noon shift, unless the temperature at the machine is the same. Heat expands the tool and may vary the size of the part enough to disrupt a final assembly line completely. The maximum precision is obtained through the use of refrigerants such as the safe "Freon" fluorinated hydrocarbons.

Use Glass in Bearings: Tiny glass jewels, formed by heat and polished by flame, have replaced sapphires as bearings in manufacture of many combat instruments produced because of war. Made in Switzerland, the American-made jewels probably will be taken after the war for use in electrical instruments. In comparison with sapphires, glass jewels produce less over-all friction than sapphires.

ATTENTION

Horse and Cattle Owners!
Dead animals are essential to help win the war as they are processed into a high grade feed for Poultry, Cattle and Hogs which in return produce essentials which we must have to win a war. Glycerine is taken out of all Fats and Oils from dead animals and this is made into T. N. T. for high explosives, and only Rendering Plants produce these products, as all dead animals buried or used otherwise are a waste to our country. Call your Renderer, Wm. Laabs, to collect your dead animals and you will be paid a fair price for them. Renderers can not pay an inflationary price as there is a ceiling on all of the products of rendering plants. Call at your nearest Phone West Bend 75 or Campbellsport 25F1 and reverse charges when you call. Yours truly, Wm. Laabs, Renderer.
