

Jacob Kral of St. Killian Passes Away

Jacob Kral, lifelong resident of St. Killian, and a cousin of John Kral of this village, passed away at 6:45 a. m. on Friday morning of this week, Oct. 5, at the home of his niece, Mrs. Geo. Zehren, in the town of Wayne near St. Killian. He had been ailing the past ten months with a complication of diseases. Mr. Kral had attained the age of 75 years, seven months and three days.

Deceased was born March 7, 1868, at St. Killian in the town of Wayne. He resided at his home in St. Killian all his life with the exception of the past ten months. Due to ill health he went to reside with Mr. and Mrs. Zehren on their farm near that village last December.

Mr. Kral never married. His only sister, Mrs. Theodore Welland of St. Killian, preceded him in death Dec. 8, 1941. The only survivors are two nieces, four nephews and other relatives and friends.

The remains will be in state after 7 p. m. Saturday at the George Zehren home. Funeral services will be conducted Monday, Oct. 11, from the residence to St. Killian's church, St. Killian, at 10 a. m. The Rev. John B. Reichel will officiate and interment will be made in the parish cemetery.

REV. E. G. KLIESE, KIN OF LOCAL PEOPLE PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Catherine Schnurr of this village last Friday received the sad news of the sudden death of the Rev. E. G. Kliese at his home at Detroit, Mich., which occurred on Thursday, Sept. 30. He was a nephew of Mrs. Fancher E. Colvin of West Bend, formerly of Kewaskum, and Mrs. Ida Schnurr, also of that city.

Rev. Kliese was born in Jackson, Wis., on May 24, 1874, the son of Lewis E. and Johanna (Schnurr) Kliese. His parents were residents of Jackson where his father was engaged in farming and later as a rural mail carrier. Rev. Kliese was brought up at Jackson where he attended elementary school and later attended the West Bend high school and Oshkosh State Teachers college. He followed the teaching profession in his county before studying for the ministry.

Rev. Kliese was married to the former Miss Gertrude Georens of Buffalo, N. Y., who survives along with two married daughters, Helen and Ruth, three grandchildren, two sisters, and a brother.

Dr. William Hausmann, Sr. Died Early Friday

Dr. William Hausmann, Sr., 64, West Bend dentist, died early Friday, Oct. 7. He was a brother of the late Dr. N. E. Hausmann of Kewaskum, who died only two weeks ago, and the late Dr. Karl Hausmann, Kewaskum dentist, who died a number of years ago.

Dr. Hausmann was formerly president of the state board of dental examiners. He was on the state board from 1926 to 1932, served two terms as West Bend alderman and president of the city council, was postmaster at West Bend for eight years and was active in church service club and lodge affairs.

Surviving are his wife, three children, all of whom are also doctors, three grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. A. C. Backhaus, Milwaukee, and a brother, Dr. G. A. Hausmann, Waupun.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Kappeler chapel of West Bend. Funeral plans were not yet completed at this writing.

100TH CENTENARY TRIDUUM AT HOLY TRINITY CHURCH

The 100th centenary of the Catholic diocese of Milwaukee is being commemorated this week. In conjunction with the ceremonies in St. John's Cathedral in Milwaukee to honor this event a triduum is being held at Holy Trinity church on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. Confessions are heard each evening after the devotions. Saturday evening sessions will be held from 7 to 9 p. m. and again after the devotions. All are urged to receive the sacraments at this time. In honor of the centennial the Holy Father has graciously granted his Apostolic Blessing to all the clergy, religious and faithful of the archdiocese.

HOLY TRINITY CHURCH

On Saturday a nuptial high mass will be read at 9 a. m. for Angela Koesren and Arnold Thill.

There will be no confessions Saturday afternoon.

On Sunday, Oct. 10, masses at 8:30 and 10 a. m.

ST. BRIDGET'S MISSION

Thirteen Hours Adoration was held last Sunday. The Rev. R. Kastner of St. Michaels preached at the closing ceremonies in the evening.

Sunday mass will be at 8 a. m. Fullorum diseases of poultry have been reduced a third since official testing started in 1935.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON COUNTY WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

ROBERT H. ROLFS
EXECUTIVE CHAIRMAN
WEST BEND, WISCONSIN

THANK YOU

To The People of Washington County:

In behalf of the U. S. Treasury Department, I wish to thank the entire Washington County War Finance Organization, all of the chairmen, issuing agencies, Minute Men and every man, woman and child who purchased a war bond during the Third War Loan Campaign. Final returns will show the quota over-subscribed.

Your country is appreciative of all you have done and I know that the eighteen hundred young men and women of this county in the armed services join in saying "thank you".

You have shown your abiding faith in this our country. You have given a demonstration of democracy in action. Your county has added another glorious page to its war history. Your individual participation when final results are compiled will stand high in the nation.

You who have participated have the deep inner satisfaction of not only having purchased the safest investment in the world, but also of having answered your country's call in its hour of need.

Again "thank you" and lets keep on buying bonds until final victory is achieved and our boys are brought back to us.

Sincerely,
Robert H. Rolf
Executive Chairman
Washington County
War Finance Committee

County Tops Third War Loan Quota

Margin is $426,332 to Date With Some Sales Not Reported Yet; 15 Annual Sugar Beet Harvest Under Way

(DRIVE RESULTS ON LAST PAGE)

Washington county's sales of war bonds in the third war loan drive amounted to $2,866,522.00 against a quota of $2,440,190.00 which gives an average of $426,332.00. The people of Washington county have again shown that they can do the job. "Washington county has gone over the top" is getting to be an old familiar tune. It's an example which the all-out participation of every man, woman and child in the county will do.

As you know, the total quota was broken into two parts, the quota of $1,406,700.00 for individual participation and then a quota of $1,028,500.00 for corporations, societies, municipalities, etc. Individual purchases alone amounted to $1,954,637.00—an average of $347,937.00. In the other classification there were sales of $1,296,855.00 or an average of $178,245.00. The complete breakdown showing the individual participation in the various local units is shown boxed off separately. Fifteen of the twenty local units went over the top on their individual quota—in other words 75% of the local units went over the top!

Now these figures are not as yet complete. There are still sales that are unreported. These figures given here are actual sales—that is money taken

ARMY, NAVY QUALIFYING TESTS AT HIGH SCHOOL

The second qualifying test for the army specialized training program and the navy college program V-12 which will be given throughout the country on Tuesday, Nov. 9, will be administered at the Kewaskum high school, Clifford M. Rose, principal, announced today. A pamphlet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at the high school. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are recent high school graduates or who will be graduated by March 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to Mr. Rose in order that the necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The same examination will be taken by both army and navy candidates. The examination is designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The army specialized training program and the navy college program enable students to continue academic training at government expense following induction into the armed services. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission in the army or the navy.

Those selected for the army will, after further screening and basic military training, be sent to college. Students chosen for the navy program, after selection by the office of naval officer procurement, will be detailed directly to college. Students who attend college under either of the programs will be under military discipline or active duty in uniform with pay. All expenses including tuition, food, laundry, books and uniforms will be paid by the army or the navy.

SALES OF E, F AND G BONDS STILL CONTINUE

Although the third war loan drive supposedly closed on Oct. 2, all sales of E, F and G bonds recorded by the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago up to and including Oct. 16 will count in the drive. In other words, any E, F and G bonds bought by or before Oct. 15 which are reported to Chicago by the 16th will count as sales during the third war loan drive and will be added to the sales figures reported in this week's paper—that's why the figures as shown are listed as incomplete as of this time.

GEORGE ROMAINE MOVE

Mr. and Mrs. George Romaine of New Prospect and Mrs. Ralph Romaine of Fond du Lac visited Friday with the former's son, Ewyn Romaine and family. On Saturday Mr. Romaine took his parents to Birnamwood where they have purchased a home and will reside in the future. Mr. and Mrs. Romaine sold their farm at New Prospect to Paul Giese last spring after operating the farm many years.

Virginia Staeger and Armin Oppermann Wed

In a nuptial ceremony performed by the Rev. Gustave Kaness in the Immanuel Lutheran church, town of Scott, Saturday, Oct. 2, Miss Virginia Staeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Staeger of Beechwood, became the bride of Armin Oppermann, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Oppermann of Route 2, Campbellsport. The chancel of the church was decorated with two large ferns, two candelabras and baskets of gladioli and dahlias for the service.

For her marriage the bride was attractively gowned in white brocaded satin. The gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and she wore a fringed veil which was fastened to a crown of seed pearls. She carried a white bouquet of white roses and white mums.

Miss Margaret Oppermann of Milwaukee attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses June and Jean Oppermann of Milwaukee, Audrey Krautkramer of Random Lake and Dolores McElroy of Adell. All of the attendants wore identical gowns. The tops of their dresses were of fuchsia color transparent velvet with sweetheart necklines. The skirts were (CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE)

Ordinances Passed by Board Regulating Bicycles, Milk Sales

Trustee Van Blarcom Resigns From Board; Health Officer Makes Complaint

Kewaskum, Wis., Oct. 4, 1943

The village board of the village of Kewaskum, Wisconsin, met at a regularly constituted meeting with President Miller presiding and the following members present: Trustees Dogs, Foneck, Martin, Nolting and Sell. The minutes of the previous regular meeting were read and approved as read.

The written resignation of John Van Blarcom was read and on motion made, seconded and duly carried, it was duly accepted. It was further moved that the appointment of a trustee to fill the vacancy be laid over to the next meeting.

Richard Pagen appeared regarding his application for a sewer connection. It was agreed that a sewer would be laid to his property as soon as all necessary materials could be obtained.

Dr. R. G. Edwards, the health officer, talked to the board regarding a complaint on the disposal of the garbage from the village to certain premises located in the town of Kewaskum. After discussing the matter thoroughly a solution of the problem was worked out to the satisfaction of all parties concerned and present at the meeting.

A proposed ordinance, regulating the sale and distribution of milk in the village of Kewaskum, was read and fully discussed by the entire board and other interested tax payers from the village.

Motion was made by Foneck and seconded by Nolting that ORDINANCE NO. 47, regulating the sale and distribution of milk and other milk products in the village of Kewaskum, be adopted. Motion was carried and the ordinance was declared adopted.

A proposed ordinance, regulating the operation of bicycles, was read and presented to the board. Motion was made by Dogs and seconded by Martin that ORDINANCE NO. 48, regulating the operation of bicycles in the village of Kewaskum, be adopted. Motion was carried and the ordinance was declared adopted.

Motion was made by Foneck, seconded by Sell and duly carried, that the following bills be allowed and paid, as recommended by the finance committee:

50th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED BY HY. OPPER

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Opper of Route 3 Campbellsport, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home recently. The couple's nine children, 25 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren were all in attendance except for one grandson, Pvt. Harold Opper, who is serving with the armed forces somewhere in Canada.

A six o'clock dinner was served. The table was decorated with a large wedding cake, a plant of yellow chrysanthemums supplied by grandson Harold Opper and other cut flowers. In the evening dancing at the Lighthouse ballroom was enjoyed, with about 400 guests in attendance.

VYVYANS LEAVE VILLAGE

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vyvyan had their household furniture moved from the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Chas. Groeschel, in the Rosenheimer addition to Wauwatosa where they will reside in the future. Mr. Vyvyan remained here and will continue to be employed at the L. Rosenheimer Malt & Grain Co. for a short time yet before joining his wife at Wauwatosa. Mrs. Vyvyan was formerly employed as saleslady in the L. Rosenheimer store. The Vyvyan son, Ray, is in the navy and is stationed at Brunswick, Maine, at present.

You Can't Keep a Good Ship Down

The Japanese bombs on Pearl Harbor which ignited a war flame in America also disabled every United States battleship in the Hawaiian area and destroyed 80 naval aircraft of all types. The aircraft were all replaced within a few days. Within a year most of the damaged vessels were repaired and back in action. Today, almost two years from December 7, 1941, the United States navy has come back to defeat the best that Japan can throw against it. According to authorities there is no navy in existence today that can match the combined size, experience, and air strength of Uncle Sam's fleets.

This war has brought about new feats of naval salvage operations of which Pearl Harbor is an outstanding example. The rapid work of naval salvage workers exceeded the most hopeful expectations and the speed with which they repaired broken ships is symbolic of the navy's spirit which is carrying it to the shores of Japan for a final accounting

Valuable parts of the 26-year-old Arizona are salvaged daily by divers shown ascending from her sunken hull. Salvage work is in progress elsewhere also. A bridgehouse from a sunken ship off Staten Island is hoisted to a barge.

Some of the vessels damaged at Pearl Harbor required extensive machinery and intricate electrical overhauling as well as re-floating and hull repairing. Naval repair yards took full advantage of these inherent delays to install numerous modernization features and improvements. ## How America Treats Axis Prisoners of War In Concentration Camps Throughout U. S.

Good Treatment Pays Dividends To Captor Nations

WHAT is our treatment of prisoners of war? Are officers overpaid? Do they have to work? These and many other questions are being asked as the total of Axis prisoners mounts.

As a matter of fact, the prisoner problem has become a real one since the mass surrender of Italians in Tunisia. After Sicily capitulated, Gen. Eisenhower had on his hands the staggering total of 135,000 Axis prisoners. Quite a job for any man's army.

While it is true that prisoners are enemies of this country, and many have been directly responsible for the loss of American lives, they cannot be treated entirely as enemies, but must be treated as soldiers rather than as criminals, always with this thought in the background—the treatment we accord enemy captives will, in some measure at least, determine the kind of treatment given American soldiers who have been unfortunate enough to fall into enemy hands.

There are at least two other reasons for the good treatment of prisoners, aside from humanitarian considerations, one based upon a treaty made at Geneva on July 27, 1929, and the other a purely psychological one, namely, that war-weary and underfed troops may be tempted to lay down their arms to an enemy who feeds them generously and gives them safe haven.

Geneva Conference. At the Geneva Convention, which was ratified by 37 countries (which, by the way, did not include either Japan or Russia) certain rules on treatment and behavior were formulated. Under the provisions of the Geneva Conference soldier prisoners are required to work, but officers are not. The amount of time a prisoner must work is based on the number of hours put in by free labor in the adjoining territory, and one day a week is to be a day of rest. Food and clothing must be provided by the detaining army.

Occupational classification is determined by the prisoner's physical makeup. For instance, the prisoner who was formerly engaged as a clerk or teacher should not be put at hard labor. This provision, however, has been largely ignored in Axis countries, where many a scholarly soldier grinds out a day that taxes his strength sorely.

In every concentration camp many different crafts and trades are plied by the prisoners, but in no case do they work on projects directly connected with the war effort, as a precaution against sabotage.

Payment for labor is at the rate of 80 cents a day for the ordinary soldier, here in the United States, where we have some 70,000 Axis prisoners scattered throughout the country in 22 camps. The rate of pay for officers ranges from $20 a month to $40 a month. Officers who have been assigned no work get paid anyway, at the regular scale.

At some of the camps prisoners are kept within by double barbed wire enclosures. Armed guards pace back and forth outside to make sure that all is well.

Fed Army Rations. Prisoners in the U. S. army camps are fed the regular army field rations. In this respect they fare much better than General Wainwright and his gallant band of defenders who laid down their arms on Corregidor only after food and water supplies had been cut off. The Japanese diet consists mainly of rice, and there is reason to believe that the heroes of Bataan and Corregidor have suffered considerably from malnutrition since they fell into enemy hands. The Japs evidently have nothing much better to offer, for even the warriors of Guadalcanal and New Guinea have been forced to rely upon rice as their mainstay. Kiska and Attu furnished mute evidence of the Japs' utter dependence upon rice as a fighting staple.

While the Japanese government tentatively agreed to certain proposals from this country with regard to the treatment of prisoners, their attitude has been far from satisfactory. A case in point was the shooting of the U. S. fliers who bombed Tokyo with General Doolittle's squadron which took off from the carrier Hornet and who had the extreme misfortune of either being shot out of the skies or forced down for other reasons. These prisoners, it was later announced by the Japs, were shot, contrary to all the rules of war, as a deterrent to other American fliers who might engage in the bombing of Japan. This violation of the international rules of war has not, however, worked, and Japan may well tremble in its boots for the day of reckoning which is drawing closer with each dawn. Bombing perimeters are drawing closer to the heart of the Japanese empire day by day.

The bulk of the work done by Axis captives in the United States is agricultural. This field, of course, offers the least opportunity for sabotage. When captives engage in this work they do not in any sense compete with native labor, but are simply supplementary to it. Farmers arrange with their county farm agent for the employment of prisoners. The number is usually small and the prisoners are scattered over wide areas, thus removing from this practice all element of hazard.

Generally speaking, Axis prisoners, with the exception of the Japs, of whom we have only a very small number, are a contented lot. They have better food, clothing and shelter than they had under the Nazi banner; in a certain sense they have more liberties, and for them the war is over.

More Gifts for Overseas Servicemen

Based on increasing demand for gift items it is estimated that overseas servicemen and women will receive 20 per cent more Christmas presents per capita this year than last, and the home folks may expect an even larger percentage of reciprocal gifts, mostly of the luxury and sentimental type. This forecast was made by John C. Goodall, general manager of the Merchandise Mart, Chicago, following a checkup among gift item manufacturers and distributors, including those who sell to retailers and army and navy post exchanges.

Ernest J. Kreutzen, Chicago postmaster, (left) explains to George McCarthy, foreman in charge of foreign mail, how packages should be wrapped and addressed to get favored delivery service to men in the armed forces overseas.

Reasons given for the expected increase in the number of gifts sent this year overseas are:

1. The moved-up official mailing date, September 15 to October 15, extended to November 1, for those in the navy, marine corps and coast guard, will stimulate early shopping, and the five pound limitation on gift packages means more will be sent.
2. More stores have installed special gift counters or departments which means more display, advertising, and sales.
3. The home folks are now better advised on the gift preferences of servicemen and women, and know more specifically where they are stationed, hence can make their selections more intelligently.
4. The overseas forces, operating on more fronts, and facing more varied climatic and geographical conditions, become eligible for a wider variety of gifts.

The tendency to send more gifts to those furthest from home also favors increased sales. While short-gages at home are developing in such items as watches, leather novelties and jewelry, it is thought heavier purchases of more available items will more than offset these.

The number of gifts to come from service personnel abroad to relatives and friends at home is expected to be larger per capita because manufacturers and distributors, who sell to army and navy post exchanges, particularly in the Mediterranean area, already report rising sales to servicemen and women. More post exchanges, greater opportunity afforded servicemen to buy direct from the natives, who also sell to PX, is a factor now boosting sales. Other sales stimulants are that overseas servicemen and women, in high spirits themselves, are not so sure about the morale of the homefolk and seek to bolster it by gifts. Flusher with cash, and conscious of accumulated favors from home, the overseas contingent find themselves in an ideal spot to reciprocate.

Among American made gift items most popular at overseas post exchanges are pins, clips, earrings, vanity cases, many bearing the insignia of the various branches of the service. Ornate pillow tops and handkerchiefs, which embody delicately worded sentiments, come to the aid of thousands of less articulate servicemen. Such items are prime favorites overseas as well as at post exchanges at home.

Necklaces, embroideries, pipes, laces, opal and topaz jewelry, metal and leather handicraft of Latin and Oriental origin, is also in high favor. Watches, one of the top preferences among all in the service, are relatively easy to get in the Mediterranean area, since many of them come direct from Switzerland.

The gifts servicemen may expect from the home folks parallel somewhat those sent last year, although there will be a wider selection to choose from. Furlough bags, stuff carry-all and sewing kits, duffle bags, wallets, religious medals, identification bracelets, photo cases, pen and pencil sets, shaving equipment, insignia pieces, and of course cigarettes, are high on the preference list of servicemen.

Money belts are not expected to be as popular this year as last, while watertight pocket-size holders for miscellaneous personal things are in high vogue. Pocketsized games such as checkers, cribbage, gin rummy, backgammon and acey deucey are similarly popular.

While these gift items have general popularity among the forces overseas as well as at home, a variety of gift preferences is developing. A large number on the Pacific front, for instance, show partiality to such articles as knives, sun glasses and anti-sun and bug lotions.

The growing number of service women is dictating the installation of women departments in post exchanges. Heavy orders for toiletries, apparel items, and the more esthetic type of gifts are reported.

How Are War Wage Increases Being Spent?

MINNEAPOLIS.—According to a study by Northwestern National Life Insurance company, extra earnings because of the war are being spent largely on women.

Sales in women's and misses' sections of department stores are 60 per cent greater than a year ago, and now actually account for almost half of the total dollar sales of department stores in many cities. At the same time, better quality and higher priced goods are being bought —sales increases in main floor and upper floor sections of department stores are running considerably greater than in basement departments.

Sales of jewelry are up 35 per cent over last year, with diamond sales breaking all previous records. Women get most of the jewelry.

Fur sales are up 68 per cent for the country as a whole; individual stores in war-industry centers report fur sales up 100 to 300 per cent from a year ago. Women wear most of the furs.

So far in 1943, 16 per cent more admission tickets to places of amusement have been sold than in the corresponding period of 1942. Women use most of the amusement tickets.

Cigarette volume is up 17 per cent. Women smoke a lot of them. Playing cards show a 56 per cent increase in volume—17 million more decks so far in 1943 than in the corresponding period of '42.

When a dying person exacts binding promises on his death bed, he is manifesting a jealous desire to go on living after death, a childish impulse to continue to influence the world, according to Kathleen Norris. Promises made at a death bed are not the result of clear thinking but are usually obtained under intense emotional pressure and should be considered in the same category with white lies sometimes employed to encourage the very ill.

pressure. No human being has the right to control the actions of another after death; it would be as reasonable for you to demand of your dying husband that he never look at a woman-angel until you arrived to join him in heaven! If he really meant only to protect you and his unborn son from adventurers, from a foolish second marriage immediately after his death, that danger is passed anyway. His son is a daughter, and his widow has remained a widow for three long years, and now contemplates marriage with an eminently suitable person. If he meant, which is more likely, to continue to dominate and handicap you, that is an unworthy motive on his part, and wherever his spirit is it will be freer if you forget and forgive his injustice. At 31 you are too young to abandon all thought of married happiness, especially after long years when you sacrificed your own wishes to his, living only to please and satisfy him.

He Exerised Childish Impulse.
The jealous desire to go on living after death, to continue to influence this world and a few at least of its inhabitants, is a childish and undeveloped impulse. One sees it exemplified in wills, in freakish last dispositions of estates, in surprise letters locked up in strong boxes. If, as I believe, the liberated spirit reaches new wide horizons where all our sensual earthy appetites at last appear to us to be as pitifully narrow as they really are, how bitterly must a soul regret the blind little whims and meannesses he left behind him.

One of the most horrifying examples of that sort, some years ago, was the will of a man who left a large fortune to the woman who would bear the most children in ten years. Several women actually entered this disgraceful race; some of the poor little unwanted babies died; some were of unmarried mothers; many came to families already on relief; several to a vermin-infested home that had already given to the relief board a great deal of trouble. It was no place for a baby.

If the proper authorities had thrown out this pernicious will, as subversive to public morals, there would have been one long-drawn scandal less in the world. Had a living man made such a proposition there would have been no hesitation in shutting him up. But because the man was dead, and red wax and red tape dangled from the lifeless document, it was regarded as sacred, and the infamous conditions of it were published where weak-minded, irresponsible women could read them.

Infidelities Nullify Promise.
Were the promise of a different nature, and Alma's husband living, she could go to him and explain why she was withdrawing it. Because of complete changes in all the conditions. Certainly she is not more obligated to him dead than she would be if he were still here and she must consider her own feelings.

Sometimes I have advised the women who write me to obtain legal separations. I have never advised divorce. It seems to me a much more serious thing to dissolve a marriage between the living than to cancel a death-bed promise made in the last jealous, sick, domineering hours of a man's life. Doctors deceive patients if they feel it a helpful thing. Nurses murmur untruths; wives say cheerfully "you're much better today." Classify your promise among these soothing deceptions and forget it. And may the future be good to you.

Bring Out Bean Pots for Guest Dinners!
(See Recipe Below)

Company Nights

You may be on a strict ration budget, but it isn't necessary to ration hospitality if you plan the food and entertain ment wisely. Food and pleasant conversation shared with friends make the long, cool nights, and work-filled days easier to share. Plan soon to have someone over for you can do it with today's recipes without stretching the ration or budget book out of joint.

Dishes should be hearty enough to satisfy any man-sized appetites you encounter, but pretty enough to draw compliments, too. Have things easy to fix so that you can have plenty of time to take part in the social activities of the evening.

Enlist the help of the children in setting up the tables, polishing silverware and glasses. They'll like doing it and it will ease the load on you.

Baked beans are grand for fall entertaining and they really make those points go a long way. They certainly answer the need for heartiness to satisfy appetites fanned by the coolness in the air, and when served in attractive casseroles with gay table background, they answer the beauty requirement.

If you make the beans yourself, a little pork goes a long way when it travels with other such savory foods as mustard, molasses, brown sugar, tomato sauce and vinegar.

*Home Baked Beans.

(Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 cups navy beans
- 1/2 pound fat salt pork
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 2 tablespoons molasses
- 1 small onion, quartered
- 1/2 cup catsup, if desired

Wash beans. Cover with water and soak them overnight. Cook slowly until the skins burst or until just tender. Drain. Reserve liquid. Place half the beans in bean pot or casserole. Bury a slice of pork in beans and another slice in the remaining ingredients. Add remaining beans and seasonings. Place remaining salty pork over the top. Cover with bean liquor. Cover and bake in a slow oven (250 to 300 degrees) 6 to 8 hours. If necessary, add more liquid.

Lynn Says:

Point Savers: Discarding leftovers is waste, for they can make many a meal, and a nice one. Use leftover meats or poultry and a combination of vegetables, and tuck that under a flaky pie-crust for a wonderful meat saver. Remember pie crust is packed with energy value because of the shortening.

Try high quality shortening for making pastry. It is fresh and sweet, doesn't have to be kept in the refrigerator and is of a nice texture to blend with flour.

To roll pie dough thin, cover board with a heavy muslin, and rolling pin with a child's white sock.

Lynn Chambers' Point-Saving Menu

- *Home-Baked Beans
- Boston Brown Bread Sandwiches
- Lettuce, Carrot, Tomato, Onion Salad
- Fruit Ambrosia
- Coffee
- *Recipe Given

Individual bean pots make serving simpler. The beans may be baked in small pots, or, if desired, baked in a large pot, ladled out into small pots before serving.

Relax your taut nerves and forget war worries by serving a delicious decaffeinated coffee—hot or cold. If making the coffee in a percolator, it needs slightly longer to bring out the full, rich coffee flavor.

Boston brown bread is the traditional accompaniment for baked beans. Slice it very thin, spread with butter or cream cheese, whichever suits your palate best.

Another dish worthy of consideration on cool nights for entertaining is this ground meat pie—that serves six with just a pound of meat:

Hamburger Pie.

(Serves 6)

- 1 medium-sized onion, chopped
- 1 pound ground beef
- Salt and pepper
- 2 1/2 cups green beans
- 1 can condensed tomato soup
- 1/2 medium-sized potatoes, cooked
- 1/2 cup warm milk
- 1 beaten egg
- Salt and pepper

Brown onion in hot fat; add milk and seasonings. Brown. Add beans and soup. Pour into a greased casserole. Mash potatoes, add milk, egg and seasonings. Spoon in mounds over meat. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes.

A waffle supper is another way of entertaining which can be inexpensive and consume only a few points. There are loads of things to do with waffles—either for main course or desserts. Make plain waffles and serve them with creamed chicken or leftover veal creamed with mushrooms. For dessert, try them with berries or fruit or a combination of ice cream and fruit or berries.

Here's a dish fortified with grated cheese, and another protein food, eggs:

Baked Eggs on Spaghetti.

(Serves 8)

- 1 1/2 cups spaghetti
- 2 tablespoons butter or substitute
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup American-style grated cheese
- 8 eggs
- Buttered crumbs

Cook spaghetti in 4 quarts boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Add melted butter. Add flour and salt mixed thoroughly. Pour in milk gradually. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add cheese and blend. Mix with spaghetti. Pour into shallow, greased baking dish. Break eggs onto spaghetti, sprinkle with buttered crumbs and salt. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) about 30 minutes or until eggs are cooked.

Readers Write to Air Problems On Painting and Decorating

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN
Mrs. K. G. writes: The trouble with our bedroom is that it hasn't any place much to sit but the bed and there isn't enough storage space as the closet is small. And we must buy bedside tables. We can't afford to buy expensive additions—besides there wouldn't be room for too much heavy furniture. At present we have a double bed, a dresser and a chiffonier. What else would you suggest? Also, we'd like a color scheme. The walls will be painted and the furniture we have should have some refinishing. The room already seems cluttered even though actually it isn't completely furnished.

The Answer: What about painting both walls and furniture in a warm soft shade of gray? This will help erase the cluttered effect. Then guard carefully against accumulating gimcracks around the room and make a fetish about keeping stuff put away that isn't in actual use. For bedside tables, buy small chests with drawers all the way down—these will serve the same purpose as tables and provide more storage space. What about a pair of lift-lid chests with padded tops to serve both for storage and for seats? These could be placed underneath the windows or a long one could stand at the foot of the bed. These chests could be home-carpentered; paint the gray and add a well-padded top covered with cretonne. Use a gray ground gaily flowered cretonne or chintz and have the same material for bedspread and valance across the top of the windows (use white dotted swiss curtains and white cotton crocheted rugs that can go into the washer).

KEWASKUM HIGH-LIGHTS

SENIORS WRITE HIGH-LITES

Theory and practice are the basis of most modern education. The Kewaskum high school seniors are testing grounds for this year. Having completed the journalism unit, they are now writing all the news that goes into the Kewaskum High-Lites. The class of 26 is under the supervision of Miss Hulda Kohlbeck, instructor of English.

LIBRARY BOOKS REPAIRED

Why is the English room in such a mess of paper, glue, scissors and paste in the morning? Freshmen and sophomore English students can tell you why. For the past four weeks they have been repairing book covers, mending torn pages, stamping and printing proper identification in the text books. It's all but a part of their work in the library unit. Learning where and how to find books in the library and how to use and care for them is being made a part of the English study this year.

LATIN IN CURRICULUM

For the first time in four years, Latin is being taught in the Kewaskum high school. Mrs. Esther Page is the first teacher since Miss Florence Dachow who has been qualified to teach the language.

In the class of six there are four juniors: Rachel Brauchle, Lois Koch, Marjorie Schmidt and Mary Alice Schmitt; one sophomore, Betty Jane Winters; and one freshman, Jean Rosenbamer. Although the textbooks have not arrived, progress has been made due to the fine scholarship and small enrollment, according to Mrs. Page.

No other foreign language has ever been offered in Kewaskum.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SCHOOL

During the summer, improvements made at the Kewaskum high school by Ed. Bassil, were painting five rooms, sanding several rooms and putting on various windows in different rooms.

The rooms painted were: grammar room, stage, intermediate cloak room, cupboards in home economics room, primary class cloak room. Rooms that were sanded are: English, intermediate cloak room, primary cloak room. In the following rooms new shades were placed: Primary, home economics, in the supply room next to the office. The goal posts were also painted a black and white checkerboard color at the start of school.

GIRLS' CHORUS ELECTION

Officers elected by the girls' chorus last week Wednesday are: President, Lillian Werner; librarian, Adeline Zacho; secretary-treasurer, La Verne Siegfried. When La Verne dropped chorus at the end of the week, Marjorie Bartelt was elected to replace her. All 25 members participated in the election by a unanimous vote. Responsibilities of the officers are: President—Conduct all meetings; secretary-treasurer—Take roll and control funds; librarian, repair music.

Because of a lack of time, Adeline has appointed Doris Mae Stahl to assist her.

ANNUAL SCHOOLMEN'S CONFERENCE

"Education for military and civilian occupations" was the theme of the annual schoolmen's conference at Madison Sept. 30 through Oct. 1, according to Clifford Rose, supervising principal of Kewaskum public schools, who was in attendance there.

In the highlight address of the Friday morning general session, this general idea was discussed by Lt. Commander E. C. Claice of the U. S. Navy Training Station. Other speakers at the convention were Miss Leavelle Bradleuz on "Literacy in Geography," who stressed the need of a better understanding of all branches of geography; Dean F. Holt, chairman of the Wisconsin Council of Education, who outlined "Educational Practice to Fit the Needs of a World at War," and State Superintendent John Cahalan, who expressed the purpose of the conference and referred to past legislation effecting the schools of our state.

In a round table discussion of the recently passed school aid legislation Thursday afternoon, opinions favored both the benefit and handicaps of increased high school aids. Mr. Rose revealed, if the two mill (one-fifth of a cent) tax referendum passes when submitted to a proposal election, aid to high schools will be materially increased. This refers to the taxing of town students who attend schools outside their own district.

Commander Claice in his address predicted that we would see, after the conclusion of this war, a generation schooled in the "military." In order of importance he stressed the following: physical hardening, mathematics, science, mechanical arts, social studies. He asserted that since we live in a society threatening wars, we must in these intervals between wars learn about and prepare for the next war. We will come out of this conflict, he indicated, with some adopted educational methods that should serve to improve secondary education (high school studies) for succeeding generations.

The final session was devoted to the business of the association of secondary school principals and city super-tendents.

Home Demonstration Agent

NEWS NOTES

—BY—
ALICE PILSTEIN
County Home Agent

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS ORGANIZE

Timely war topics have been chosen by the homemakers of Washington county for their series of fall and winter meetings. The subjects chosen include the following topics: "Wartime Care and Repair of Clothing," "Today's Meat Problems," "Washing and Ironing Made Easier," "Care of the House During Wartime" and "Protection of Clothing Thru Good Storage." The selection of meetings was made by the officers of the 1942 organized homemakers clubs.

Already 20 groups throughout the county have made applications for membership in a homemaker's club, and several more are expected to organize.

Any group—VILLAGE, RURAL, or CITY may form a homemaker's club. Miss Bilstein, county home demonstration agent outlines the procedure.

First: The group shall have not less than 12 members, and shall consist of homemakers who will be willing to participate in the activities of the group, and attend the entire series of meetings. Meetings are held in October, November, January, February, and March. There is one meeting in each of the months listed.

Second: The group shall be governed by a president and secretary from its own members. Their duties consist of calling meetings, maintaining order and filing a brief account of each meeting with the county home agent.

Third: Membership is free, and there are no dues. Homemaker's clubs are an extension service of the University of Wisconsin and the United States Department of Agriculture. Miss Bilstein, county home agent, is in charge of the Washington county program.

Free publications and pamphlets are distributed at every meeting.

Fourth: During the year the members in groups of two, are given the opportunity of attending one special training meeting with the home agent. These homemakers, in turn, carry this information to their own local group. Miss Bilstein will be glad to discuss the organization of a club with any group. Phone 502 or call at the post office building, West Bend.

The leader training meetings scheduled for the year are as follows: Oct. 5 (Tuesday)—Germantown, Repair of Clothing; Oct. 7 (Thursday)—Hartford, Repair of Clothing; Oct. 8 (Friday)—West Bend, Repair of Clothing; Nov. 2 (Tuesday)—Hartford, Today's Meat Problems; Nov. 3 (Wednesday)—West Bend, Today's Meat Problems; Nov. 4 (Thursday)—Germantown, Today's Meat Problems; Dec.—Christmas news letter; Jan. 11 (Tuesday)—West Bend, Washing and Ironing Made Easier; Jan. 12 (Wednesday)—Germantown, Washing and Ironing Made Easier; Jan. 13 (Thursday)—Hartford, Washing and Ironing Made Easier; Feb. 9 (Wednesday)—West Bend, Care of House During Wartime. Feb.

15 (Tuesday)—Germantown, Care of House During Wartime; Feb. 16 (Wednesday)—Hartford, Care of House During Wartime; March 17 (Friday)—Germantown, Protection of Clothing Thru Good Storage; March 21 (Tuesday)—Hartford, Protection of Clothing Thru Good Storage; March 22 (Wednesday)—West Bend, Protection of Clothing Thru Good Storage; April or May—County home demonstration council meeting program planning.

Information on any of the following may be secured thru arrangements with Mrs. R. J. Bako, county nurse, court house, West Bend;

1. Care and control of communicable diseases.
2. Some phase of home care of the sick, as "Care of a Patient in Bed."
3. Improved home equipment and home medicine chests.

Co-operation with RED CROSS production and enrollment in Red Cross training courses are encouraged.

Officers and leaders submitted for the Barton club are as follows: President, Mrs. Anton Staral; secretary, Mrs. Gregory Matenaer; Project leader: Clothing, Mrs. Ed. Voeka; Mrs. Fran Gessert; Mrs. Florence Zimmerman; foods, Mrs. Henry Clemens; Mrs. Lawrence Penoske; Mrs. Erle Gessert; home management, Mrs. Art Taylor, Mrs. R. Taylor.

INCLUDE THIRD OF DAY'S FOOD IN NOON MEAL

A couple of sandwiches and a cookie is no longer considered an adequate lunch by Washington county homemakers, whether for the youngster going off to school or the war worker who must carry a lunch.

But add milk, and a fruit or vegetable and the meal becomes a fairly good one, suggests Alice Bilstein, Washington county home demonstration agent. Add a hot dish and its value is further increased.

All the food needed daily can't possibly be included in one or even two meals, Miss Bilstein adds, so each of three meals a day must provide a fair share of the day's needs. Lunch, whether eaten at home or at school, should contain about one-third the foods needed daily.

The lunchbox meal, Miss Bilstein points out, needs thought in planning, as the health and efficiency of the child or worker depends upon it. Some war plants have found that their workers do better work, and are absent less when they eat nourishing meals. Teachers have found similar improvements in attitude, interest,

CO. AGR. AGENT NEWS NOTES

FEEDING THE LAYING PULLETS
Because of the low corn supply, many poultry growers must turn to other grains for feeding the laying poultry flock. Tests at the Wisconsin Experiment station indicate that wheat is a good substitute for corn. Barley may also be used, but should be accompanied by either good green pasture or well cured alfalfa leaves or ground alfalfa meal. This supply of the vitamin A of yellow corn which is lacking in barley. It will pay poultry raisers to put aside some well cured second crop alfalfa which can be fed to the poultry during the winter months.

Horse and Cattle Owners!

Dead animals are essential to help win the war as they are processed into a high grade feed for Poultry, Cattle and Hogs which in return produce essentials which we must have to win a war. Glivernin is taken out of all Fats and Oils from dead animals and this is made into T. N. T. for high explosives, and only Rendering Plants produce these products; as all dead animals buried or used otherwise are a waste to our countrypolice your dead animals and you will be paid a fair price for them. Renderers can not pay an inflationary price as there is a ceiling on all of the products of rendering plants. Call at your nearest Phone West Bend 75 or Campbellport 25F1 and reverse charges when you call. Yours truly, Wm. Laabe, Renderer.

You Women Who Suffer From

then

CHILLY FEELINGS

Heed This Advice!

If you—like so many women between the ages of 35 and 42—suffer from hot flashes, weak, dizzy, nervous feelings, distress of "irregularities", are blue at times—due to the functional middle age period in a woman's life—try taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound of once. It's the best known medicine you can buy that's made especially for women. Pinkham's Compound is famous to relieve such distress. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such annoying symptoms. It also is a fine stomachic-lytic. Thousands upon thousands of women—rich and poor alike—have reported benefits. Time and again Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound has proved some women's happiest days often can be during their "40's". Also beneficial for younger women to help relieve distress of female monthly functional disturbances. Follow label directions. Worth trying!

BANK YOUR HARVEST FUNDS HERE

As a general rule, farmers in our territory will receive a higher-than-usual cash income from this year's harvest. We're glad. For they have earned it by hard work producing bigger crops with which to feed our country and our Allies.

Again we invite our farmer friends to bank their harvest funds here, where their money is safe and always available when needed. If you plan to extend the scope of your farming operations next year and need money for any purpose we will be glad to assist with any financing you may require.

RELEASE TO SLAUGHTERERS ADDS MEAT FOR CIVILIANS

The temporary, two-month release of licensed slaughterers from quota restrictions is expected to increase civilian supplies of red meats, said John C. Taggett, state supervisor, of the food distribution administration, Madison.

The purpose of lifting quota restrictions until Oct. 31, he said, is only to allow a greater volume of meat from increased slaughter of cattle, calves, sheep, lambs and hogs, to flow into consumer channels, thus more nearly matching civilian supplies with consumer ration points.

This gives civilians better opportunity to buy the cuts of meat they desire, he added.

Regulations continue to restrict slaughter to slaughterers who have licenses or permits. Such slaughterers must identify wholesale cuts of meat with license or permit numbers, maintain support prices and ceilings on hogs, collect ration points, and comply with meat set-aside orders to meet the needs of our armed services, Mr. Taggett stated.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, Albert Kocher, who passed away four years ago, Oct. 6, 1939: In the graveyard softly sleeping Where the flowers gently wave, Lies the one we loved so dearly, In his lone and silent grave. Father, you are gone but not forgotten— Never will your memory fade; Sweetest thoughts will ever linger 'Round the grave where you are laid. We loved you, yes, we loved you, But the Saviour loved you more, And so the angels sweetly called you 'To that bright and happy shore. It was hard to part with you, Oh, so sad to see you die; But then we'll try to meet you Some sweet day by and by. Sadly missed by his wife and sons.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

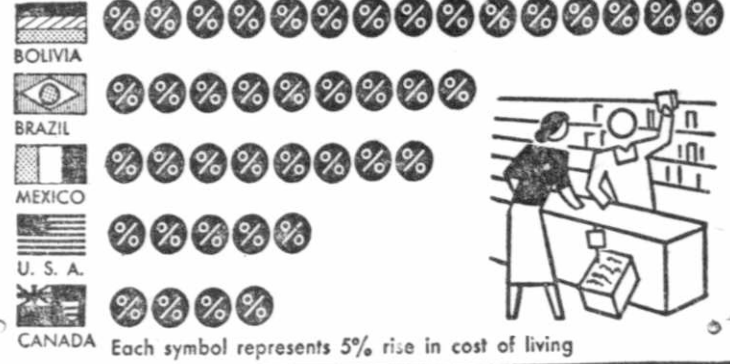

Allied Armies Launch Strong Offensive Against German Strongholds in Italy; Russ Score New Gains Along Dnieper; Dairymen Get First Federal Subsidy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

TELEFACT

COST OF LIVING INCREASES IN THE AMERICAS

(SINCE OUTBREAK OF WORLD WAR II)

NAPLES: Cutted City

By the time Allied forces had opened their offensive against Naples, the Nazis had turned the big port city into a mass of flames.

The Fifth and Eighth armies were bringing their full power to bear against their objective. That the Germans had early given up hope of holding the city was proved by the wholesale destruction of all usable facilities.

Corsica

Even as the offensive against Naples began, French troops and American Rangers were driving ahead in Corsica, island of Napoleonic history.

MILK PRODUCERS: Get First Subsidy

History was made in the dairy industry with the disclosure that the government has paid its first subsidy to dairymen.

Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee stated that Vinson told him a subsidy had been given milk producers in the drought-stricken area near Memphis.

LIFE INSURANCE: On War Deaths

Deaths in the United States army, navy and marine corps up to the end of June, 1943, have resulted in life insurance claim payments totaling $2 million dollars, the Institute of Life Insurance has reported.

Of 23,700 policies on which payments were made, $15,100,000 was paid out under 11,100 policies in the first six months of this year by American life insurance companies.

RUSSIA: 'Disengaged' Nazis

German troops continued to "systematically disengage themselves" as the Red army smashed on toward Smolensk, captured Poltava, the last Nazi base in the southern Ukraine, and engulfed German defenses along a 300-mile line just short of the middle Dnieper river.

Continuing their drive on Smolensk, the great Nazi eastern front stronghold that once was Hitler's headquarters, the Russian army closed in from the southeast, overrunning 863 villages and killing more than 5,300 Germans.

A Berlin broadcast acknowledged the peril to Smolensk, Kiev and other eastern front bastions. But Berlin was hesitant to paint the overall picture. For instance: The Germans at one time held approximately 500,000 square miles of Russia proper.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

SOAP: More soap is on the way, say spokesmen of the War Food Administration, promising a 28 percent increase in supplies by November 1.

BATTING: Luke Appling of the Chicago White Sox baseball team is leading the American league with a batting average of .324, slightly above the second place man, Dick Wakefield of the Detroit Tigers.

POLIO: Ozone, a form of oxygen, has been found to be a powerful agent in combatting the virus of poliomyelitis, the dread disease that has reached epidemic proportions in many parts of the country.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC: Spring Another Trap

Japanese troops manning the important New Guinea base of Finschafen were hemmed in on three sides by Allied forces following Gen. Douglas MacArthur's master plan of utilizing units to land in strength behind the enemy's key points and work to cut off his supply.

After the pattern of the conquest of Lae farther to the south, big airplane transports landed Allied troops northwest of Finschafen. As these troops pressed in against the Japs from the west, other ground forces moved in on the enemy from the south.

Capture of Finschafen would place the Allies a short distance from the Jap air bases on New Britain island to the east and thus reduce the efficiency of these bases as points for attack on U. S. forces.

WORLD RELIEF: Plan Proposed

America's participation in an international relief and rehabilitation program to be administered along the lines of the League of Nations was to come up for congressional approval.

Congressional approval will be needed for appropriations with which the government will take part in the plan. As shaped along the pattern of a proposal of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, 44 united nations will form an advisory council, with a special central committee composed of the U. S., Great Britain, Russia and China.

Under the plan, the organization established will be authorized to acquire, hold, and convey property; make contracts; undertake obligations; manage undertakings, and perform any legal act appropriate to its object and purposes.

Unless the senate ratified further forms of participation by a two-thirds vote, U. S. obligations would be confined to appropriations of funds.

ARMED FORCES: Ask for Fathers

October 1 was at hand and before congress was the Wheeler resolution which would delay the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers scheduled to begin on that date.

Before the house and senate military committees came the nation's manpower experts. Also before these legislators came the highest officials of the army and navy. And then they heard the voice of Bernard M. Baruch, special presidential adviser.

Testimony from all these sources arrived at the same essential fact: Give the armed forces what they want in the way of manpower. Generally speaking the nation seemed to agree with this viewpoint but those who were opposing the drafting of these pre-Pearl Harbor fathers based their case on the assertion that the whole manpower program was being mishandled and that was why the drafting of fathers "appeared necessary."

SAVINGS: Go Up

During the three months ended in June, every working person in the U. S. added approximately $60 to his cash and deposits.

This figure was indicated by reports of the Securities and Exchange Commission, which declared that individual savings for the quarter totaled $2,900,000,000. The figure per working person is obtained by breaking the SEC estimate among the nation's estimated labor force of 53 million people.

According to the SEC, individuals invested $4,200,000,000 in war bonds, or roughly $90 per worker, during the three months, and payment of insurance premiums amounted to 800 million dollars, or about $16 per worker.

The SEC also reported that 200 million dollars was paid off in consumer indebtedness, with 650 million dollars in the first quarter, totaled 850 million dollars, or about $17 per worker since the first of the year. Restrictions on installment sales and goods shortages have held down consumer debt.

HESS: Official Version

For two years British government sources kept their silence on the object of Nazi Rudolph Hess' flight to Scotland. Then Anthony Eden stood before parliament and told the official story:

Hess had made his historic and fantastic flight "on a mission of humanity." He came to Great Britain with specific peace terms because at that time Hitler feared a long war and didn't want to fight England. Among the peace terms that proved a stumbling block were these stipulations:

- (1) Hitler would not deal with Prime Minister Winston Churchill. (2) Germany wanted a "free hand" in Europe with the British empire to remain unmolessted.

HANOVER: Hangover

In one of the most destructive bombing raids yet delivered on the Reich, the Royal Air force demolished a large area of Hanover and struck a crippling blow at an industrial machine already staggering from repeated onslaughts.

The Hanover raid was one of the most destructive to be delivered on Germany. Block busters and incendiaries were poured into rubber factories, railroad yards and supply depots at the rate of approximately 133,000 pounds a minute. London sources said the raid was one of the greatest air blows of the war.

Equally heartening was the indication that the RAF may have found the answer to anti-aircraft defenses and night fighters. Its losses were only 26 aircraft, a remarkable record for such a large-scale attack.

ALLIED CHIEF: Post to Marshall

To Gen. George C. Marshall was to go the supreme command of all Allied forces, it was reported, even as congress loudly protested over the general's rumored removal as chief strategist of the Allied armies.

According to the rumors, General Marshall's differences with British leaders over war plans resulted in pressure for his removal as U. S. chief of staff, in which capacity he mapped all U. S. military activity and thus influenced British action.

Official Washington waited to see whether General Marshall's reported appointment as supreme commander of all Allied forces carried with it the responsibility of continued planning, or whether it only involved execution of somebody else's strategy.

LEGION: New Program

When the final gavel fell on this year's American Legion convention held in Omaha, Neb., delegates could look back on these major developments in the organization's program:

(1) Election of a new commander, Warren H. Atherton of Stockton, Calif.

(2) Pledging of a "middle road" conservative stand on the two important issues of foreign relations and domestic affairs.

(3) Expansion of the Legion's Americanization program.

(4) A memorial to congress calling on that body to tighten up the law on franking privileges to prevent congressmen from using the mails to promote the propaganda of an "un-American" cause.

GLROOM: From Jap Radio

In a gloomy forecast of new Allied aerial blows, the Tokyo radio announced that Japan is getting ready to evacuate Tokyo and other important cities "in view of the decisive phase upon which the war will enter during the coming months."

Premier Tojo announced that the Japanese government had decided to prepare "for the moving of government departments, industrial establishments and the civilian population" from Japan's major cities.

The Tojo cabinet also called for total mobilization of the civilian population, abolishment of age limits to make all persons liable for national service and strengthening of government control over industry.

MASS INVASION: At 'Right Time'

Plans for a gigantic second front in France and the Low Countries "at what we and our American Allies judge to be the right time" were promised by Prime Minister Churchill in his war report to Great Britain's house of commons.

During his optimistic speech of two hours and seven minutes, Churchill defended the Italian campaign, terming it a "third front," and forecast a Stalin-Roosevelt-Churchill conference before the end of the year. He sketched Allied progress in air, sea and land warfare.

Who's News This Week

By Delos Wheeler Lovelace

Consolidated Features.—WNU Release.

NEW YORK.—In any newspaper shop you can always get an argument, of no interest to laymen, about the value of schools of journalism.

This Realist Will Dish Us Bad News As Well as Good

The yes-men currently have an Exhibit A. This is placid, sober Palmer Hoyt, assistant director of the Office of War Information, who has wangled the army and navy into a corner from which, it seems, they will have to give out faster, whether news is good or bad.

Hoyt went to a school of journalism and in 12 years rose on the excellent Portland Oregonian to be its publisher. He rose from copy reader.

Back in 1922 Hoyt was a sports correspondent and a student. He was also just married, brave fellow! Matrimony and matriculation at the University of Oregon had followed a stretch in the AEF. There he had shrewdly sidestepped a lieutenant's bars which were not so hard to get, for a sergeant major's chevrons.

When the school of journalism had done its best he went on to the Oregonian and zoomed. By 1938 he had that publisher post, plus two sons, and lots of influence in Sigma Delta Chi. Americans, he believes, can take bad news with good. He means to give it to them, whichever.

Again We Honor Chief of Our Air Force in Europe

Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, himself a new honor for his collection, that of the Legion of Merit. He already had the DSC and the DFC.

He won the DSC during World War I when he was a major in the 31st aero squadron of the AEF. In September, 1918, after a tour of duty as an instructor in the American Aviation school at Issoudun, France, he was ordered back to the United States. Before he left, he wanted one last whack at the Germans and he got it. In a terrific air battle over St. Mihiel he brought down three enemy planes. The decoration followed.

He obtained the DFC through a peacetime exploit. Back in 1929 when endurance flights were in vogue, he kept his plane, the Question Mark, aloft over Los Angeles just a few hours short of a full week.

General Spaatz has been flying ever since 1916, just two years after he was commissioned at West Point. He spent those two years with the infantry out in Hawaii. After World War I he was made head of Kelly Field, Texas. He has gained rank as he went along. He is 52.

His latest award is for the organization work he did as chief of the American air force in the European theater, a post which he was assigned in July, 1942. The Germans of late have been learning to their horror just what a swell job that was.

CZECH ARMY CHIEF: Uppers Fierce Old Hussite Battle Cry

General Serej Ingr, commander-in-chief of the Czechoslovak army, has a broad, kindly face with sad eyes. Yet in his broadcast to the homeland he cries: "Beat them, leave them, leave none alive!" Referring to the common day of using says, "Everyone should look around now for the most appropriate weapon to harm the Germans most. If there is no firearm at hand, any other kind of weapon that cuts, stabs or hits should be prepared and hidden."

The general's career makes his righteous wrath sufficiently plain and quite understandable. Born in Moravia, into Austrian oppression, Ingr began fighting Germans in the First World War. He was a lad of 20 when he fled from Austria to enlist in the Serbian division at Odessa, Russia. Later he joined the Czechoslovak army, organized in Russia, and received the rank of a lieutenant of infantry. After Russia faded out in 1917, he found his way to France and served as company commander in a Czechoslovak regiment there. He was 24 when the happy year 1918 brought his country its freedom.

Shortly thereafter he returned to the new republic to enter its war college. He was 44 years of age when the sad year 1938 saw the flourishing republic ruthlessly dismembered. By that time he had risen to be commander of the army staff, and he took an active part in organizing the resistance. Again he made his way to France, and after the evacuation, returned to England. Now, within the Czechoslovak national committee he is minister of national defense and commander-in-chief of all Czechoslovakian ground and air forces.

If next year really is the "year of victory," as General Ingr prophesies, he will soon complete the second cycle by returning to a rescued homeland.

Worn by thousands of years of erosion and the ceaseless sculpture of the turbulent Wisconsin river, which has carved a giant gorge for miles along its course, the upper and lower Wisconsin Dells are magnificent and grotesque, and the many remarkable rock formations are aptly described by their sinister names.

Manpower-Draft Situation Is Nation's No. 1 Problem

Political Shadows Darken Vital Issues Confronting Every Family; National Service Act Subject of Debate.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, Union Trust Building, Washington, D. C.

Today, a whole year stands between election day and the capital but the shadow of coming events cast their shadows before them. Like the dark patches on the ground when scudding clouds cross the sun, the Washington scene is flecked with politics.

And there are issues this time which reach right into every home, touch the family where there are men and women of fighting or working age, reach into the larger and the ice box. It is hard for anyone to see these issues clearly because of the shadow of politics.

There is the draft, the manpower question closely interwoven with it, there is food, its production, its distribution, rationing and prices.

It takes a keen eye to see where merit ends and politics begins. When Senator Wheeler, father of the deferment of draft for pre-Pearl Harbor fathers, said the defeat of his measure would be a blow at morale and the nation's children, there was no reason to believe that he was insincere. Certainly there was no insincerity about the army and navy heads who opposed the measure, explaining that there were just so many men of fighting age and physique and that a certain job had to be done.

But to a reporter who has been reporting the doings of mice and men for more than a quarter of a century, I could not help suspecting some of the folk who battled over this legislation. What a juicy morsel it was for the vote-getter! True, the Wheeler bill aimed to exempt those who, with no foreknowledge of war, produced families without a thought that babies, to quote the ancient wheeze, like weatherstrips, could keep them out of the draft. But what about other fathers, quite as Pearl Harborish in their paternity who were offspring sprung after the deadline simply because time or opportunity had lingered?

President's Views There was no doubt what the President thought when he talked about men with children who were doing no useful thing and who might, if they wished immunity from military service, easily get into a war industry. They, one opponent of the Wheeler bill said, were told that they had no responsibility in the war effort, at home or at the front.

Of course, this argument would not hold if the National Service act, that nightmare of politicians, were passed. The army wants it, Senator Austin and Representative Wadsworth who introduced it, and their followers want it—the White House has never spoken but of late is silent when it is "said to be willing."

Now politics, long before the election winds started blowing, has dulled men's minds on that subject. Manpower Commissioner McNutt has been willing but not emphatic. Perhaps you never read the contents of a recent statement issued through the Office of War Information from the Manpower commission. I have treasured it and want to quote its first sentences:

"Better utilization of our work force is the primary means of getting the manpower needed to supply productive establishments of the nation." (You and I can understand that, despite the fine four and five-syllable derivatives.)

"Labor reserves in shortage areas have been exhausted and the common lack of community services and facilities in such areas usually makes it impossible or undesirable to bring in more workers." (Also quite understandable, on a little thought, but would it make you rush out and hunt for a defense job?)

"Where there has been rapid mobilization of manpower, utilization is not always at its highest level. This is not necessarily a reflection on employers. When a plant has expanded its labor force several times, examples of ineffective use of manpower are certain to follow."

There is a careful exposition of the situation for you! Now what could the man who wrote that be running for? Somewhere where there were a lot of toes to be stepped on, it would seem, for he certainly was pussyfooting among the polysyllables.

DIARY OF A BROADCASTER

The other day, at the President's usual press and radio conference, I was interrupted, for Fala, the President's scotty, walked out between the forest of legs and made one of the most thorough trouser-cuff inspections I had ever seen.

Unfortunately, I had on one of those liberty suits with no cuffs so he started to pass me by and I had to engage him in conversation to get his attention at all.

What he said was not to be attributed—I can only say that I learned from authoritative Scotch circles that the newspaper and radio fraternity displayed a lot of scents.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

The 2,000th ocean-going vessel built under Maritime commission contract since Pearl Harbor was delivered, with steam up, on Saturday, September 11.

A total of 1,425 aliens serving with the armed forces overseas were granted American citizenship by special representatives of the Immigration and Naturalization service.

A church on wheels is operated by the British military forces in the Middle East.

Latest reports obtainable indicate that the U. S. munitions output last month surged ahead to register the biggest gain since last April. WPB announced arms production was up 4 per cent over July. Total warplanes increased from 7,373 to 7,612, navy bombers gained 11 per cent and fighters 5 per cent. Naval vessels were delivered in an amount that set a new record.

Situation Is Serious

And yet the manpower situation is serious. It is so serious that it has long worried War Mobilization Director Byrnes. Indeed, that is why he called on his friend, Bernard Baruch, the unofficial elder statesman of the administration, to advise him. Baruch advised him all right, not wisely perhaps, from a political standpoint, and too well for the sensitive olfactory nerve of Republican Senator Vandenberg (who used to be a newspaper man himself). The wily Michiganard scented a rodent. Had he not, you might never have heard Baruch's words of wisdom.

Among other things, Mr. Baruch commented on hoarding labor. I had heard of that subject in indignant letters from the wives of workers who wrote that their husbands were paid to loaf. And Senator Wheeler made similar charges and recalled that Senator Truman and his doughty investigators had found a lot of hoarding of labor with (as Wheeler put it) "employees falling over each other" and being paid for on the cost-plus basis.

Testimony before congress had insisted that there were no cost-plus contracts under which labor hoarding would be profitable.

That was when Vandenberg arose and waved the Baruch report which he had demanded and finally received from Mr. Byrnes.

Mr. Vandenberg read Mr. Baruch's words on the subject of cost-plus:

"The government pays all the costs, whatever they are. Since the government is footing the bill, there is no incentive for the manufacturers to economize in the use of material, facilities or labor. More workers are hired than needed. Workers stand idle—it costs the manufacturer nothing. Much labor is wasted."

Political Breezes

This is only one item in the long and forthright document which has had considerable publicity. Perhaps it might have been neglected if it had not been blown into the public's face by the political breezes stirred up by Mr. Vandenberg. Perhaps Mr. Vandenberg might not have generated those breezes if Mr. Baruch had not been pretty critical of government agencies that competed for power; perhaps Mr. Baruch would not have been so frank if he had not thought that, as he requested, the report was not for publication.

Mr. Byrnes, when he sent the document to "Dear Van" at the latter's insistence, said that it was not intended for other than private use but that it was "a splendid argument in favor of action taken by the War Mobilization committee" (in regard to the labor situation on the West coast) and he requested that it be placed in the Congressional Record, which it was.

And so there it was for all to see with Mr. Baruch, presumably still the best of democratic pals but also the severest of critics, lambasting jealous government agencies and calling manufacturers "manufacturers" and not "productive establishments" and apologizing for nobody, business men or bureaucrats.

Thus the political breezes blow, sometimes in one direction, sometimes in another, though, of course, in election years the "outs" usually blow the loudest. They are the prosecuting attorney, and the "ins" are the defense.

However, there is this satisfaction, blow where it will, it is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

HEAT AND FRICTION ARE THE GREATEST ENEMIES OF RUBBER

Tire treads wear out ten times as fast in a temperature of 100 degrees as they do in 60 degrees. Rubber previously used for gun den hose will provide for time in carriages of 8,500 "751" or 6,800 37-mm. anti-aircraft gun and 600 points for Army supply.

Samuel Peal was granted the first rubber patent in England in 1791. It covered the water proofing of leather, cotton, linen, etc.

THE STORY SO FAR: The story of the battle for the Philippines... The Japs in the Philippines, the PT boats...

CHAPTER XIV

I went out to this sympathetic stranger's home, where he was on the outskirts on a hill... "How to working..."

"Oh, they'd never do that—it's too hard to get to." "What about equipment and guns? Well, they had a radio station, food for several months, a few hundred troops and a few rifles. The more I heard about Camp X, the more I liked it. I looked at my map—it was the standard map the army used for operations, put out by the Standard Oil Company with all their filling stations marked—and saw that a good road led directly from Toledo to Camp X. So I asked the army why the Japs wouldn't use it. "Oh, we're going to blow that up, just like the others."

"But the whole Camp X plan looked lousy to me. I was for last-ditch resistance, but here I was, a lone sailor with no trigger finger, the wound had healed but the joint wouldn't bend any more, so it would be no use in this kind of fighting." "So I started off by myself for the other coast, hoping I could get out to some other island where the Japs hadn't come yet. I joined up with some civilians who were going the same way—they were plantation owners and could speak the dialect. It was a forty-two-mile hike over steep trails which crossed five mountain ranges. We carried a few cans of corned beef, and at night would sleep in native huts with pigs and chickens under us and flies over us, and we would get the natives to cook us rice and corn, and buy chickens which they would roast for us. We used banana leaves for plates, and pieces of bark for forks.

"The second day we heard planes at dawn and all scrambled back out of sight in the hut—peering up through the palms. It was three bombers in formation about fifteen hundred feet. "Somebody said, pointing, 'Why, look—they're ours!' But I could hardly believe it—even when I saw the stars on their wings, even when I heard the faraway rattle of their bombs dropping on the Japs in Cebu. They were the first American bombers we had seen since before the start of the war. Then we heard some more planes—looked up, and again they were American, a new type with a split tail I'd never seen before but which I learned later were B-25's, and now I realized that here was our big American offensive—the one which we thought had pooped out on us the morning after we sunk the cruiser. Here it was at last—three days too late! Because in the meantime Bataan had fallen, and Cebu, and all they could do now was pester the Japs and sink a few supply transports. I was sore as hell.

"Because we little guys—the ones who are expended—never get to see the broad picture of the war, never find out the reasons back of the moves or failures to move. We only see our part—look up through the palm trees at the seamy side of it, so when something poops out, and help doesn't come, and everything goes to hell, we can only hope help didn't come in time for some sensible reason like bad weather conditions in Australia. We hope, but at the time we can't be sure, and we get mad.

"That afternoon we bumped into a bunch of troops; they had come from Camp X. It seemed that at three o'clock in the morning a sentry heard a noise, called out 'Hail!' and was answered by Jap tank fire. Somebody hadn't gotten around to blowing up that road from Toledo. So now impregnable Camp X was no more, all American forces on the island were routed, and everything was going to pot.

"Finally we hit a little native village on the coast and started looking for boats, but the mayor said there were none—the native troops had used them to evacuate that day. But they were swell to us—always out in the country they were sweet to us—ignorant guys, maybe, but nice and kind as they could be. I remember on the trail we overtook a ramshackle cart and a few natives, and an old native woman gave the cart driver hell for not putting the baggage in his cart—said we Americans were fighting for their people and they should help us. "The driver tried to pile it on, but it broke his cart down. He wouldn't take any money—just said he was sorry he couldn't help us more. In those days in the jungle I learned more about how nice the simple Filipino people are than I'd learned in months in Manila; I also learned the more Americanized they are, the lousier they are.

"Leaving this village, we kept on down the road to an even tinier one on the coast—still looking for boats. We found a military headquarters and a kid in command of twenty native troops, no machine guns and almost no ammunition. Ten miles of hard-surfaced road connected it with a town where the Japs had landed. He said a Jap tank had come up the road the first day but had turned around and gone back. Why hadn't he blown up the bridges? No dynamite. What was he going to do if the Jap tanks came again? What could he do, he asked, but evacuate? I noticed they had all their gear packed into a bus, and that under their uniforms they wore their civilian clothing. And I couldn't blame them. But they helped us comb the place for boats, and we finally located enough bancas to carry us, and shoved off at dusk.

"We arrived at the next island soaking wet but thankful, and glad we were halted on the beach by native volunteers and their machine guns, made rifles, instead of by the Japs. "Here I said good-bye to the American civilians. They owned sugar and coconut plantations and wanted to get to their families. Then they would try to get them to safety, but where was safety? Or maybe, instead of wandering from island to island, it would be better to wait for the Japs in their homes. They couldn't decide. The whole easy, comfortable American world was cracking up fast in those islands. It wasn't nice to watch.

FIRST-AID to the AILING HOUSE

By ROGER B. WHITMAN
Roger B. Whitman—WNU Features.

You may not be able to replace worn or broken household equipment. This is war. Government priorities come first. We advise care of what you have. As well as you possibly can. This column by the housewife's friend tells you how.

HOUSE WITH NO BASEMENT

Question: We have just taken over a house that has no basement. The foundation is only a step or two above the ground. The floors seem very damp and are rather uneven. The former owners had linoleum on the bedroom floors. But underneath there seems to be a mold forming, causing an odor. Would linoleum cemented down keep out the dampness? What do you advise? Answer: If there is enough space to crawl under the house, coat the underside of the floor and the floor beams with a liquid asphalt or tar. While you are at it, you can make the house much more comfortable by placing a blanket insulation between the floor beams. Do not cover the floors with linoleum until you have cleared up the dampness. If there is not sufficient space to work underneath the house, you only recourse will be to provide plenty of ventilation under the floors.

Building Shakes in Wind

Question: We have a garage with an apartment over it. This building, by the nature of its construction, is somewhat topheavy. After the last high wind, the tenants said the building seemed almost to shake. Would it be of any benefit to drive three 15-foot lengths of pipe into the ground on each side of the house, very close to it? Answer: I have been in many houses that actually shook and vibrated in high winds with no damaging effect. Many of these buildings were old. If, as you say, the building is well constructed, nothing further need be done. However, if you have any misgivings, get a reliable builder or architect to examine the building and give you his advice. I do not think much of the pipe idea.

DRAFT UNDER DOOR

Question: There is a one-inch space under a door, due to the old-style threshold having been removed. How can I close this space? Answer: Use a piece of heavy felt as long as the door is wide, and a foot or so in width. Tack one edge of it to the bottom of the door on one side and the remaining edge to the other side of the door, so that the felt forms a loop which scrapes the sill when the door is closed. A less convenient method would be to make a bag of heavy canvas four inches or so in diameter and as long as the doorway is wide. It is filled with dry sand and placed against the bottom of the door to shut out the draft. A well-known expedient is simply to drag a rug in front of the door on cold nights.

Refinishing Dolls

Question: My two daughters have several dolls that they would like to refinish and dress for other youngsters. Can you tell me what kind of paint is used on the bodies and features of dolls? Is it baked on? Answer: Yes, the finishes are baked on the dolls. The flesh-colored enamels are made especially for doll manufacturers and are not sold through paint stores. If you want to experiment get a flesh-colored enamel. Dull the gloss of the old finish on the dolls, wipe with turpentine and then put on the enamel. Bake in your oven for five minutes at a temperature of about 250 to 300 degrees.

Rapid Grease

Question: When I stored my iron chicken fryer, I greased it to prevent it from rusting. Now everything I cook in it tastes of rancid grease. How can I remove this taste and odor from the iron? Answer: Wash the fryer with a solution of washing soda, about a quarter-cupful in a quart of hot water. If necessary, allow the hot solution to remain in the pan for a half hour or so. Then rinse thoroughly with clear hot water and wipe dry. Always wipe the fryer dry after washing it. If this is done rusting should not occur.

Removing Carbon

Question: Will you give me the name of the powder used for removing the carbon from an oil burner? You just throw it on the burner and start the furnace. Answer: There are several makes of such powders. But if your burner carbonizes badly, it should be adjusted. Your oil burner service man or your local heating contractor should be able to supply you with the soot-removing compound; it is on general sale. But you should not allow the sooting to continue.

Stone Floors

Question: What would you suggest as a good covering for a stone hearth and a porch stone floor that would give a nice polish, yet something heavier than a wax covering? Answer: There is nothing made just can be used satisfactorily to give a high polish. The appearance of the floor may be enriched if it is given a soaking coat of linseed oil (raw), mixed half and half with turpentine. After soaking for an hour or so wipe off the excess. Try this on an obscure block of stone first.

WHEN Jose Iturbi heard that Morton Gould and Alec Templeton were to appear on the same radio program he said "You may rest assured that you will hear every type of music from Bach to boogie and Wagner to woogle!" Which is about what happens on the "Carnival" program each Wednesday night. Gould, composer, conductor, pianist and arranger, has written music that has been played by orchestras from that of Toscanini to that of Glenn Miller. Templeton appears with leading symphony orchestras, and also plays boogie-woogle piano. Musically there's practically nothing they can't do—but their weakness is improvisations!

Hollywood has plenty of "technical experts," but when Samuel Bronston, producing "Jack London" for United Artists, wanted a man who knew all about seals and how they are caught he had to search the San Pedro waterfront. Sven Hugo Borg, Swedish actor who was Greta Garbo's interpreter when she first landed in Hollywood, went along to help. P. S.—They got their man.

Following sneak previews of "Lady in the Dark," in which he co-stars with Ginger Rogers, Ray Milland was given a new seven-year contract, without options, by Paramount.

"Holy Matrimony" brings us Monte Woolley and Gracie Fields in such a good picture that 20th Century-Fox executives ought to do nothing else but try to find another suitable story for them. It's based on Arnold Bennett's "Buried Alive." Miss Fields made a tour of British, North African and Sicilian army and navy camps during the summer; she'll have her own radio program this fall.

For the first time in her screen career Joan Fontaine will do an imitation, in "Frenchman's Creek." But nobody will be able to tell whether it's a good one or not, for the lady whom the talented Joan imitates is—Nell Gwynn!

Parks Johnson and Warren Hull have been a bit dazed since they staged a "Vox Pop" from the Laurinburg-Maxton Air Base, Maxton, N. C., where airborne troops are trained. They learned that the individual airborne soldier carries almost as many items as a department store, and learns how to do more things than any motion picture actor ever dreamed of.

Gracie Allen returns to the Metro lot after a two-year absence to play a comedy role in "Two Sisters and a Sailor," and also to introduce on the screen the "One Finger Piano Concerto" which she played at Carnegie Hall and the Hollywood Bowl.

For every screen scrape he gets into John Garfield uses the flat black automatic pistol he first used in "Blackwell's Island," made when he arrived in Hollywood. He has "killed" ten men with it. "It's my character gun," says he. "It's the right type for me." Latest use is in "The Fallen Sparrow," the RKO drama of espionage, in which he makes love to Maureen O'Hara, Martha O'Driscoll and Patricia Morison, and goes gunning for Walter Slezak. The gun works just as well whether he's the villain or the hero.

ODDS AND ENDS—Harry Conover's Cover Girls are aiming to blanket the movie lots; five have soon movie contracts and three others have screen commitments. One of the "Crime Doctor" regulars, Walter Graza, now doubling into Elmer Rice's play, "A New Life," has received movie offers from three studios. United Artists' "The Girl From Leningrad" has had a change of title; it's now "Russian Girl." When Jean Arthur reported for her guest appearance on the first Charlie McCarthy show this fall, Charlie gave her a necklace of bear claws which he had bought her in Newfoundland.

Ralph Edward claims his is a dangerous job; as prankster in "Truth or Consequences" he's the victim when a consequence misfires. He's been dumped in water, and been on the receiving end of squirting seltzer bottles, and mud pies.

The One Over

By H. Phillips
POST-TAX IMPRESSION

1—Are you married or single (whichever is the lesser)?
2—Are you single and living with no dependents other than those minus 10 per cent?
3—Are you a married person earning over $1,200 a year and living with your 1941 or 1942 wife (whichever is the larger)?
4—In making out this income return have you first made every effort to convert from money to coal?
5—Print full name in this space and list any claims for exemption from Classification as a Class 1-A taxpayer.

6—If you have ever been rejected as a taxpayer give name of examining doctor and state nature of your physical ailment.
7—Were you ever turned down as a taxpayer for defective eyesight, poor hearing, glandular disturbances or poor circulation?
8—If you have ever made application to be deferred as a taxpayer on account of flat feet make a cross in this space.

9—On dotted line below give your best estimate or guess (whichever is the larger) as to your income between now and New Year's eve. It is now first down, 20 yards to go.
10—Give the names and addresses of three responsible guessers in your community who will endorse you as a man whose guesses are fairly reliable or wholly accurate (whichever is larger).

11—Do you decline to pay income taxes on the ground you are a conscientious objector? Any luck?
12—State your weekly income in this space and specify if your employer is a married man living with his uncle or a single man living alone on the April, 1942, level.

13—Multiply this by your best estimate of the number of dependents on both sides, minus October, and subtract 2 per cent for shrinkage. (See Section X; third or fourth door to the left, whichever is the larger). And remember no cuffs or belts.
14—In this space list your estimate of tax for the period hereinafter known as the Erie and state if you can convert from cash to oil.

15—To estimate the number of red coupons necessary for receipt for this payment add 3 per cent ad valorem and subtract serial numbers on all four tires. This leaves you all even.
16—Multiply the above result by the first six months of 1944 and give your best estimate, conclusion or speculation (whichever is the largest) of what you will have March 15, 1945, barring a collapse of your second front.

17—Print first and last name (whichever is the lesser) on this line, minus the 1942 middle initials (unless in essential industry) and give an estimate of your 1944 address (if single and living with your folks).
(Note—By act of congress, August, 1941, a penalty of $10,000 fine and twenty years in prison (whichever is the larger) is provided for any person or persons (whichever is the smaller) having a complete understanding of this tax blank, unless thirty days notice shall have been given in writing or by phone (whichever is looser).

THE HAPPY BUTCHER

A butcher has just been sentenced to five days in jail and fined $25 for charging too much for meat. But we are not worried. If he will just take a small steak to the hogsgow with him his confinement will be brief.

It seems that this butcher charged $1 for a rib steak that should have cost 72 cents, and 59 cents for 42 cents worth of chops. Elmer Twitchell is heading a national campaign to have his sentence and fine rescinded and some sort of medal substituted. "Any butcher who doesn't overcharge more than that these days is a friend of the public," declares Elmer.

"I talked with this butcher," said Mr. Twitchell today. "and he is delighted. He says five days will be too short a time to get away from all those rulings, counter-rulings and Greek orders issued to the markets by OPA every week.

"I tried to tell him that it was all wrong putting butchers in jail, as it was the chiseling, bribe-taking wholesalers and black market racketeers who belonged there. They are the guys who make the butchers violate OPA ceilings. But he ordered me to let him alone. He said jail would be wonderful compared to the life he has led trying to follow the rules and meet the stern demands of his customers."

We understand the butcher resents assistance and is mighty glad to go to jail.

"The poor butcher was a pathetic figure, but very happy. He wanted to know if it would be wrong to send the judge a box of cigars for being so nice.

"His main satisfaction was that he would get away from the black market racketeers. I told him he needn't worry about that. None of these birds ever get sent to jail."

"He said that all he wanted to be sure of was that he had a cell above the third floor so he couldn't hear any customers who followed him to jail to demand choice cuts as a personal favor.

"And he said he hoped that two or three customers, one a politician, another a jurist and a third an OPA checker who always phoned him when they wanted a choice cut at a special price wouldn't be given the jail telephone number."

"REGULAR" AGAIN AFTER 2 WEEKS!

"Cereal Brought Relief from Long Siege of Purgatives!"

Here's a sincere, unolicited letter every disappointed "doser" will want to read:
"I was a sufferer from common constipation. Took pills or medicines of some kind, but with no lasting relief. Finally, I tried KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. After two weeks I was feeling regular again. I have now stopped taking pills and things. My bowels move regularly every day. I am a KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN eater from now on."—Mr. Earl Brown, Warren, Pa.
How do scientists explain KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN's gentle-acting, amazing relief, so familiar to thousands? Simply this: Lack of certain cellulose elements in the diet is a common cause of constipation. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's richest sources of these elements—which help the intestinal flora lighten and fluff up the contents of the colon, for easy, natural elimination. Not a purgative, that robs the system of water. Not "roughage" that acts by "sweeping you out!" ALL-BRAN is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food!
Eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if it doesn't give you the relief you've dreamed of. Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Unions Control Prices
In Russia, the labor unions are empowered, for the duration, to supervise the control and enforcement of ceiling prices so they may be held in line with wages that will maintain the living standards of the workers.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR MEN OVERSEAS NOW PERMITTED WITHOUT AUTHORIZATION

From Sept. 15 to Oct. 15, newspapers are permitted by the post office department to accept subscriptions for papers going to men in the army serving overseas. (That is, those with an A.P.O. address).

Such subscriptions may be placed by relatives or friends during that 30-day period without the otherwise required letter or authorization from the soldier that the publication is wanted. At other times, all newspapers are prohibited from accepting subscriptions going to soldiers overseas unless received direct from the soldier or unless the person paying for the subscription can show that the soldier has requested the paper. The wrappers of all newspapers going overseas must be stamped as follows by the sender before they are sent out: "Mailed in Conformity with P. O. D. Order No. 19687."

These regulations do not apply to men and women serving in the navy or marines in this country.

PVT. RAMTHUN, PFC. KUEHL ALSO SENT TO UNKNOWN BASE

Since publishing the names of four local men last week who were transferred from Camp Pickett, Va., to addresses in care of the postmaster at New York City, N. Y., we have been informed that two more Kewaskum young men were sent from Camp Pickett to an unknown base with the same infantry division. They are Pvt. William Ramthun, son of Mrs. Otto Ramthun, Sr., and Pfc. Wesley Kuehl, husband of Mrs. Adeline (Fellenz) Kuehl and son of the Albert Kuehls of the town of Wayne.

Mentioned last week as having been transferred to an unknown destination were Sgt. Walter Werner, Pfc. Carl Mayer, Pvt. Paul Kral and Pvt. Martin Dreher. All of these men were formerly stationed at Camp Pickett and have been stationed at camps together since being inducted into service. Pvt. Ramthun's address, skipping the unit identification, is: Pvt. Wilmer H. Ramthun 34265560, A.P.O. 28, Postmaster, New York, N. Y., Pfc. Wesley Kuehl 36266559, A.P.O. 28, Postmaster, New York, N. Y. All of the above soldiers have identical A.P.O. numbers and similar A.S.N. numbers.

2-6 LT. BACKHAUS SENT TO UNKNOWN DESTINATION

Second Lt. Delbert R. Backhaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Backhaus of the town of Auburn, and husband of Mrs. Arlene (Aax) Backhaus, has been transferred from Camp McCoy, Spartan, Wis., to an unknown base. His new address, in part, follows: 2nd Lt. Delbert R. Backhaus O-4602753, A.P.O. 2, Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

S/SGT. WEITZER WITH ALLIES IN SICILY INVASION; WRITES

Below is a very interesting letter received recently from S/Sgt. Joseph Weitzer, son of Mrs. Mary Weitzer of the town of Auburn, who was with the Allied forces in their invasion of Sicily and was involved in much of the fighting in that campaign. The letter was not sent by V-mail or air mail and took some time in arriving. S/Sgt. Weitzer, who is in the field artillery, writes about the invasion and its progress and with an added touch of humor describes the surroundings and customs in Sicily. For the benefit of his friends who may wish to write S/Sgt. Weitzer, here's his address, minus the unit identification: S/Sgt. Joseph L. Weitzer 4919933, A.P.O. 3, Postmaster, New York, N. Y. The letter follows:

Sicily, Aug. 29, '43

Dear Friends:

The Sicilian campaign is over. I'm in fine shape, so I'll try and catch up on my correspondence.

Sicily, where we landed, looked very much like Africa. We saw the same hills and there were very few trees. The streams were dry and the landscape looked tired. The streets in the towns were built to allow the passage of two underfed mules—not 2 1/2 ton trucks. And in all of these Sicilian towns there is the inevitable laundry line strung over the street from balcony to balcony, instead of throwing the dishwasher, etc. down the drain (there is no drain) they toss it in the street and raincoats are highly desirable after meal hours.

The country became more and more rugged and mountainous as we fought our way northward (we landed at Licete). The beautiful scenery might have been appreciated under other conditions but living there damned nigh impossible. But then we got to the north coast. Palermo is a fairly modern city. It has street cars, electric buses, and beautiful parks.

The churches are especially outstanding with their unusual mosaic and tile work, much of which is enhanced by gold leaf inlay.

North Sicily is greener. It abounds with lemon trees, grape vineyards, and truck farms. The outward appearance of the smaller towns is dirty but the inside of the houses is always immaculate.

One of the first things that struck me was the number of policemen—seems as though every fourth person is a flat-foot. They must keep up an endless competition to outdo each other in gaudiness of uniform. In Palermo, I saw some with bright blue uniforms with much braid, gold stripes down their pants and they wore a hat one would associate with Napoleon. While on the subject of dress, you might like to know the height of fashion for men during leisure hours: a pair of loen, striped pajamas, exact duplicate of the kind I hate to get as a Christmas present. It's not unusual to see men strutting down the streets at high noon in this appalling rig. The women, especially in the cities, dress very much like American women. But they lack the snap she has. The women in the States (God bless them) are still the best dressed in the world.

This is the first country I've seen where selling water is a business. In the smaller towns a horse-drawn water wagon wanders down the street in the morning and the water is sold to the housewives by the bucketful. The water vender follows closely the milkmen, who instead of delivering milk from a wagon in containers, simply bring the cow to town, walks down the street, and collects the money as the customers help themselves, cafeteria style.

The Greeks, Romans, Normans, our "Arab friends" from the late (but not forgotten) Africa, the Spanish and French have all left marks on this island. Architecture indicates where each one of the invaders had a given-away, especially if he's stayed long enough to intermarry with the natives. Just what we'll leave, other than a taste for American cigarettes, life savers and some empty Spam cans, I don't know. The Sicilian seems to be happy regardless of who comes—and so they go.

Like every tenth Sicilian we meet, I'm anxious to get back to Brooklyn, I am anxious to get back to any place in the States.

Bye now, Joe

1/3 RUSSELL BELGER SENDS LETTER FROM NORTH AFRICA

Here's a recent naval censored air mail letter from Russell Belger, S 1/3 in the navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Her-ber Belger, who is a member of a base force somewhere in North Africa; Somewhere in North Africa

Dear Don:

I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know I'm getting the Statesman O. K. I enjoy the service-men's column very much. It's a swell means of finding out where other home town servicemen are and what they're doing.

At present I'm a member of a base force for a small type boat. That's all I guess I can say about my status because of censorship restrictions.

I'm enjoying very much the serial story you are running in the Statesman that began on July 9.

I have corresponded with Harvey Teichtman in the past weeks, but I can't find out where he's stationed because his letters are censored and so are mine; but we might run into each other sometime like Byron Bunkelmann and Fred Miller did in Australia. I see by the Statesman that several other home town boys are "somewhere in North Africa." This war is really making it a small world.

Well, I guess I will close here for this time. Best regards to you and all the folks in Kewaskum. Here's hoping I get to see you all soon.

Best wishes, Russell

P. S. My new address is: R. H. Belger, S 1/3, U.S.N.R., Fleet Post Office, New York.

ED. NOTE—We have removed the unit identification from the above address due to censorship restrictions.

SGT. SCHMIDT OVERSEAS 10 MONTHS; WRITES FROM CHINA

Following is another letter from S/Sgt. Howard Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt, who is with the army signal corps somewhere in China. Sgt. Schmidt has completed 10 months of service overseas and was stationed in Australia and India before being sent to China. The letter, sent by V-mail follows:

U. S. Army in China
Sept. 12, 1943

Hi, Bill:

A few lines to say hello to you, your family, father and our friends in Kewaskum. Well, today makes month number twenty for me as far as overseas service goes. Wonder how much longer.

Yesterday I received a couple more copies of the Statesman dated in June but even coming late they were very enjoyable reading matter.

Bill, I cannot write the sort of letter the other boys and girls overseas write so I will have to stick to these sort of notes and will have to refer you to the local papers on what goes on here in China.

I also understand the firemen's picnic brought the usual rain and speaking about rain, I sure wish the monsoon season would end. Have been taking quite a few pictures here of late and some very interesting ones at that.

Now, Bill, I believe that I will say so long and will be looking for more of your papers. Thanks again.

Your friend, Howard

TECH. CPL. WIETOR SENDS FIRST LETTER FROM ENGLAND

A V-mail letter was received the past week from Tech. Cpl. Leo Wieter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wieter of Wayne, who is now stationed with the army in England. This is his first letter from that country since arriving there recently and we take it he likes it.

Somewhere in England
Tues., Sept. 21, 1943

Dear Friends:

Am over here and getting along fine. I enjoyed the trip as it was a new ex-

BUNKELMANN EARNS RATING OF FIREMAN SECOND CLASS

Graduated at Great Lakes, Ill., Monday, Oct. 4, from the service school for machinists' mates at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Edward C. Bunkelmann, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bunkelmann, was rewarded for his fine record with an advancement to the rating of fireman second class. Selected for his specialized training on the basis of recruit training aptitude test scores, the newly graduated b'uejacket has undergone several weeks of intensive study preparing for his new trade in the navy. Bunkelmann is now awaiting assignment to active duty either at sea or at some shore station.

HEISLER BROTHERS MEET, GET TOGETHER IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Heisler received word from their sons, S/Sgt. Franklin Heisler and Pvt. Russell Heisler, both of whom are stationed in England with the army air corps, that they met recently in London and spent a week end together. The brothers got together while S/Sgt. Franklin was on a 7-day furlough and Pvt. Russell had a two-day pass. They were very glad to see each other and spent an enjoyable week end. Franklin has been in England nearly a year while Russell arrived there a short time ago and one of the first things he did was try to locate his brother. A third brother, Pfc. Louis, youngest of the three, is stationed at Gulfport Field, Miss.

CALL KORTH BROTHERS HOME

Sgt. Norbert Korth and wife of Camp Francis E. Warren, Wyo., and Sgt. Myron L. Korth of Maxwell Field, Ala. spent 10-day furloughs the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Korth, and son in the village. The brothers were called home due to the illness of their mother, who suffered an embolism following a recent operation.

S 2/C TESSAR OF NAVY HOME

Wayland Tassar S 2/c, arrived home last Friday from the Naval Training Station at Farragut, Idaho, to spend a 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tassar and sons. Seaman Tassar has been in the navy eight weeks and was given a leave so soon as a result of rushed up basic training which he has completed.

A/C WERNER TRANSFERRED

Aviation Cadet Gustav C. Werner of the army air corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Werner, has been transferred from Ryan Field, Hemet, Calif., to Tucson, Ariz. His new address follows: A/C Gustav Werner, T. Sqdn. 12 M.A.A.B., Tucson, Ariz. Werner re-enlisted in the air corps after returning to the States from the Hawaiian Islands after serving out his three year period of enlistment.

Weddings

of pale pink swayette. All wore pink plumes in their hair and pearl necklaces. They carried colonial bouquets of pink roses and mums surrounded with pink plumes. The little flower girl, Charleen Vetter, wore a pink floor length swayette gown with a sweetheart neckline and her flowers were the same as those carried by the other attendants.

Vernon Staeg acted as best man for the bridegroom and the ushers were Ralph Hintz and Marvin Butzke. The ringbearer, Jimmy Springer, carried two white lilies.

A wedding dinner was served to 120 guests following the ceremony. The young newlyweds will be at home after Oct. 15 on a farm near New Pano, where the groom is engaged in farming.

FLORENCE BAUMHARDT MARRIED HARRY RINGHAND MARRIED

In a double ring ceremony performed at 9 a. m. Saturday in St. Mary's church, Eden, Miss Florence Rose Baumhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Baumhardt of South Eden became the bride of Harry Melvin Ringhand, son of Mrs. Barbara Ringhand of Wauconata. The Rev. Vincent Thomas officiated. Mrs. Joseph Webb, at the organ, played wedding marches and Miss Coletta Flood sang the Ave Maria.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white brocade satin fashioned with a shirred bodice and sweetheart neckline. The sleeves were long and fitted and the billowing skirt ended in a fan shaped train. A trailing illusion veil was fastened with a tangle of seed pearls. She carried a white satin prayer book and a pearl rosary, a gift from the groom. The bridal bouquet was white baby mums from which fell sprays of English ivy.

Miss Helen Baumhardt, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and the bridesmaids were the Misses Irene Baumhardt, Margaret Ryan, Lois Albertz and the groom's sisters, Mrs. Chester Zacharias and Mrs. Herbert Young. The gowns and headresses of the bride's attendants were identical with the exception of the color. The maid of honor wore ice blue satin with a matching shoulder length veil. Miss Irene Baumhardt, Miss Lois Albertz and Mrs. Chester Zacharias wore shell pink satin with matching shoulder veils. Mrs. Herbert Young and Miss Margaret Ryan were gowned in cornflower blue satin with matching veils.

Draped bodices luttioned down the back, with full floor length skirts, short puffed sleeves and sweetheart neck lines formed the design for the bride's attendants. They carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white mums to correspond with their gowns. Ervin Ringhand, brother of the groom, was best man, and the groomsmen were George Baumhardt, Donald Geise, Her-ber Young, Walter Buslaff and Chester Zacharias. Ushers were Raymond Ryan and John Baumhardt, Jr.

Breakfast was served at Bauer's hotel, Campbellsport, to 30 guests. A reception was held at the Baumhardt home in the afternoon for 300 guests. The bride is a graduate of Campbellsport high school and has been employed at the Sanitary Refrigerator company at Fond du Lac. The groom is engaged in business in Wauconata. Following a short wedding trip the couple will make their home at Wauconata after Oct. 15.

EGGERT MADE CORPORAL

Pfc. George Eggert, Jr. of Northern Field, Tullahoma, Tenn., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Eggert, has been promoted to the rank of corporal.

FABER SPENDS FURLOUGH

Pvt. Lloyd Faber left Tuesday for Fort Lewis, Wash. after spending a furlough with his father, John Faber and family. He is in the medical corps.

BREMSEK BACK AT CAMP

Pfc. Alois Bremsek has returned to San Diego, Calif. after spending a 15-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bremsek, near St. Michael's and friends in the vicinity.

ZEIMET HOME SUNDAY

Sgt. Ray Zeimet, an instructor at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Tillie Zeimet, and son Arnold. He accompanied his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schneider and daughter Barbara here from Milwaukee.
