Wounded Fight to Return Early to Battle Fronts

Exhausted and Wounded GIs Carry On Beyond All Human Endurance

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note): Pyle retells some of his experiences while he was with the Doughboys during the Sicily campaign.

SOMEWHERE IN SICILY.—It was flabbergasting to lie among a tangle of wounded soldiers recently and hear them cuss and beg to be sent right back into the fight.

Of course not all of them do. It depends on the severity of their wounds, and on their individual personalities, just as it would in peacetime.

Somehow this stark announcement hit me like a hammer. He didn't say, "I'm going to pray for you to get well," he just said he was going to say a prayer, and it was obvious he meant the final prayer.

He said a short prayer, and the weak, gasping man tried in vain to repeat the words after him.

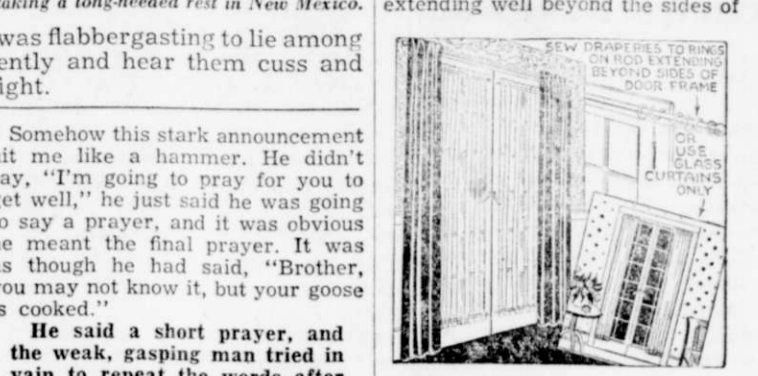

The dying man was left utterly alone, just lying there on his litter on the ground, lying in an aisle, because the tent was full.

Smartly Curtaining Your French Doors

HOW to make French door curtains harmonize with the window treatment in a room is a question that always arises.

The door frame may be hooked in place as shown here in the diagram.

It is not necessary to repeat window valances over doors though it may be done if desired by using a placed shelf or a cornice box placed high enough for the bottom of the valance to be just above doors that open in.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Girls and Alcohol Don't Mix

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

Thousands of bars, saloons and roadhouses have sprung into existence everywhere, and they are frequented by women—women of all ages. Idle elderly women, idle young wives, schoolgirls...

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

FIFTY years ago any man who had said that women and girls don't belong in saloons would have been laughed at. His observation would have been so ridiculously superfluous as to be absurd. Fifty years ago only the lowest and most unfortunate type of women frequented bars, and the great mass of womankind only recognized the existence of such places by their dislike and condemnation of them.

Today all that is changed. Today scores of decent men and women are obliged to recognize the fact that thousands of bars and saloons and roadhouses have sprung into existence everywhere, and that they are frequented by women—women of all ages. Idle elderly women, idle young wives, schoolgirls. In our own quiet college community two school girls of 14 were picked up in a bar the other day, just as they were about to leave with two completely unknown men for a "good time in the city," 30 miles away. In both cases the mothers expressed horror at the danger to which these girls had exposed themselves, but both mothers also took the attitude "but what can you do?"

It would be a great and lasting shame to American womanhood if the decent element of the population was driven to legislation on this point, and women, as a sex and without discrimination, were to be forbidden to frequent bars. But if things continue as they are going now, or rather, grow worse, as they are rapidly growing worse, the public will certainly take this step in sheer self-protection. Bars have never been places to respect, but when patronized by men alone they did have their standards of behavior. Some of them rose almost to the dignity of clubs, where a half-hour of companionship and relaxation made a break at the end of the day.

But many of today's bars, roadside restaurants and saloons, maintain no code whatsoever. In some, "pick-ups" are a recognized part of the entertainment to immature married women and undeveloped weak-witted young girls, and loyalty to home ties, absent husbands, anxious parents are all thrown aside. Fidelity to whatever these women have been given of purity, honor, faith is thrown aside, too.

'She Was an Angel.'

"My Angela was truly that—an angel," writes a heartbroken woman from a western city. "She is 15. A widowed mother, I carefully instructed her in the elementary facts of life, but hers is one of those natures that seems unable to assimilate anything that is not simple, sweet, childish and pure. A year ago I placed her in an expensive private school just to avoid the horror that has now fallen upon me, although my most agonized fears would not have reached the fullness of this despair.

"Several of the girls, girls of good families, were in the habit of dropping in at a roadhouse now and then. They were not steady customers, their visits were always in

She used to drink lemonade...

Buy Sturdy Stockings and Launder Them Carefully

When buying hose, select those sturdy enough to suit your needs and ones which have reinforcements where the hardest wear will come. If you'll purchase stockings at least one-half inch longer than your foot, they will not wear out so quickly and will be more comfortable. Socks and wool stockings should be about one inch longer than your foot to allow for shrinkage.

Stocking size is measured in inches from heel to toe, with the

GRAVE PERIL

Taverns, cocktail lounges, roadhouses—every place where people of all sorts mingle and drink intoxicating liquor—is unwholesome and dangerous for adolescent girls. Mature women can protect themselves from men seeking "pickups," but teen-age girls, eager for excitement, are in grave peril.

Angela, a sweet and pretty child of 15, accompanied some of her companions from an exclusive school to a roadhouse. Here the girls met some men with whom they were slightly acquainted. One man suggested that they all go to the studio of one of his friends. Everyone agreed, and soon Angela found herself in the midst of a wild party.

Angela's mother writes, "My child was destroyed, body and soul. All hope of an honorable, normal woman's life is gone. She is scarred for life."

the manner of escapades, always on the sly. Once or twice, without telling me, Angela went with them. Until the last terrible occasion she drank lemonades and only looked on in fascinated disgust at what took place. Then one afternoon it was proposed by several men they had picked up to go on to someone's studio; Angela accompanied them. She does not know, after that, what she ate or drank or what went on until the frightened girls telephoned me at about ten o'clock. I had supposed Angela was with my sister and her cousins.

"My child was destroyed, body and mind and soul. The men had done only what the girls, by their actions, and their presence in such a place, had invited them to do, but in each case all hopes of an honorable, normal woman's life were gone. Family doctors are discreet and an epidemic of scarlet fever made a timely explanation, but we three mothers know, and our girls know, that they are scarred for life.

No, no mother will do that. And Angela's mother may have this consolation, if misery really does love company. If thousands of other mothers are hiding secrets like hers. Scores of girls will have to remember all their lives the degrading moments that opened their eyes to the ugliness of life. Memories of coarse talk, low companionship, humiliating liberties, don't make a good background for that development into wise and dignified womanhood, happy wife—and motherhood to which every girl aspires.

STAY IN HIGH SCHOOL

A drop of 1,000,000 in high school enrollment since the war highlights the importance of encouraging and urging teen-age children to return to their schools for education and preparation for future worth-while work. Many of the jobs held by high school children are nonessential.

Better part-time school and part-time work programs should be developed by communities to draw these children back to their schools and to preparation for constructive work which is also educational.

Somewhere in France
"Dear Editor:
"Will write a short letter to you. The weather is nice here, almost like good old Wisconsin. We had much rain here lately. They have lots of cider and wine here which they haul around in two wheel carts. We eat lots of apples which are so nice and juicy. I saw houses that were bombed. Some of the people are moving back into what's left of them and some are damaged too much to live in. I received your papers from August and I sure feels good to read the hometown paper here in France. Give my regards to all the friends around here.
Your friend,
Pfc. Michael C. Schladweiler"

ON ITS WAY

To Bring You Rich New Pleasures in Highway Travel

Greyhound's promise of new luxury and enjoyment in highway travel is already taking shape in a revolutionary postwar highway coach. Experimental models of Greyhound's 51-passenger Compartment Super Coach are now under construction. The basic plans, conceived by a world-famous designer, give first consideration to your comfort and safety. You'll relax graciously in seats that are roomier, deeper and more restful. Recently-developed construction methods will give riding ease not experienced heretofore. You'll enjoy ideal temperature whether you look out upon wintry snow or sun-baked sand—thanks to ultra modern air-conditioning methods.

The new compartment-type construction achieves maximum visibility—for scenery has always been a prime source of enjoyment to Greyhound travelers. Numerous other new facilities for passenger convenience will make your highway travel in peacetime years a truly thrilling way to visit the great cities, scenic wonders and historic shrines which lie all along Greyhound's nationwide routes.

PUSHOVER?

DON'T TELL PRIVATE JONES THE JAPS ARE EASY

THE JOB IN THE PACIFIC IS STILL TERRIFIC!

THERE ARE STILL MILLIONS OF TOUGH, BRUTAL JAPS TO LICK.
EVERY JAP WE KILL MAKES
MY CHANCES OF GETTING HOME
BETTER, AND IT COSTS PLENTY TO KILL A JAP

If you think Japan is a pushover—you're fooling yourself, mister. Millions of fanatical Japanese are prepared to die for their country. Every American soldier, marine and sailor in the Pacific knows that he has a tough fight on his hands. You can't tell them their war is over! Even as you read these words, American men are dying in the fight against Japan.

Look into your heart and ask yourself honestly: "Have I stopped fighting? Have I stopped buying War Bonds because I think the war is about over?" You're not a quitter; your answer is "No!"

It costs billions of dollars a month to fight Japan

The fight in the Pacific calls for a highly specialized type of equipment. B-29 bombers that cost $600,000 in war bonds; M-4 tanks with bulldozer blades that cost $67,417; "alligators" that cost $30,000; millions of gallons of gas. We need more and costlier equipment than any war has ever called for. And that's the reason for the 6th War Loan Drive. Just as long as a single Japanese aims a gun at our men—we must continue to buy War Bonds.

Once again you are asked to buy at least one extra $100 War Bond. Buy more if you possibly can. Not only is it for the final Victory—it's for your future. Sign up for extra War Bonds on the Payroll Plan. Welcome the Victory Volunteer when he or she calls at your home. Remember—the job in the Pacific is still terrific. We're out to get Japan in the 6th War Loan Drive!

YOUR COUNTRY IS STILL AT WAR—ARE YOU?
