

Victory War Fund Goes Into High Gear; 36 Campaigns in One

Committee Workers Began Monday; Hope to Complete Drive Oct. 15

On Monday morning, war fund committee workers began the final, and probably the most important, drive for funds to support special services and comforts to the men and women who are still on military duty. This single campaign will also raise funds to aid fourteen service agencies and other organizations which participate in the West Bend-Barton community chest.

Farm-to-farm and house-to-house contacts, as well as the solicitation of industrial wage earners, is already under way in an effort to put Washington county over the top before Oct. 15. Our county quota is $35,940 including the community chests of Hartford and West Bend-Barton.

County Chairman D. J. Kenny, again appealed to Washington county citizens to give one day's pay to carry on this very important human service which starts here at home. Approximately seventy per cent of the funds collected will go to make life more pleasant for our boys who are still in uniform. The burdens of USO centers in this country are now greater than ever. The transfer of troops from foreign shores to this country will continue to be tremendous for many months.

One gift of a day's pay will keep all of these worthwhile services in operation—a big three-fold job. It brings USO shows and other comforts to the boys in service; brings relief and vital necessities to homeless children among our allies; helps local community organizations such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and a dozen others. All in all, the gift of every citi-

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

National newspaper week is being observed this week (Oct. 1 to 8). Therefore, at this time we publish an appropriate comment on the necessity for freedom of the press:

Sitting here, propped up in front of a typewriter, I am free to write anything I desire just so long as it is within the bounds of common decency and the liberal postal regulations. I can publish that writing in my newspaper and send it through the mails into the homes of this community. I need show this column, before it is published, to no one. I am sole judge of what will occupy this space this week.

Here in America we call that "Freedom of the Press." It came down to me, as a marvelous privilege, from the men who founded our country. It is not a "smart aleck" right which I can abuse, because it is governed by the needs, requirements and good judgment of the people of my community. They demand of me the truth wherever it is possible to obtain it, and accuracy in my reporting. They can, by the very weight of their collective opinions, put my humble opinions out of business.

So then, Freedom of the Press, as we celebrate it during national newspaper week, is not merely my freedom to print what I please. It is, let's say, my right to say what I think in my own newspaper providing I do not offend the patriotism, the good morals and the collective better judgment of a majority of my readers.

This is a marvelous privilege, compared with the press of the rest of the world on any. Only free men enjoy the right of a free press . . . but it is also true that only a free press can guarantee and maintain the rights of a free people. Sitting here, I can write that I dislike the policies of my government and my president; that I don't like the way the army is being run; that church services will be held next Sunday. But the larger portion of the world today, editors and writers, can't say those things. A man who writes for a government-controlled newspaper, or the dictator press, can say only those things which are put in his mind by his bosses. And when that happens, the people are no longer free.

So I would say that national newspaper week is just as important to you, the reader, as it is to me. It isn't a week in which you are expected to eat more apples, buy a lapel button or don your straw hat. It's simply a week in which, thoughtfully and of your own free will, you should resolve that you will do everything in your power to keep the press of America free.

In that way, you will simply be guaranteeing the continuation of your own freedom!—By John Read Karel, Kewawee Enterprise.

Auto Stolen in Village Recovered at Green Bay

A 1938 Willys owned by Rudolph Hirsig, Route 2, Campbellsport, which was stolen by three young boys while parked on a village street last week Tuesday, was recovered Friday north of Green Bay by Brown county authorities. The boys abandoned the car in front of a farm house on a country road when the gasoline supply ran out. No trace of the boys has been found. The car was not damaged.

Brown county authorities reported that they became suspicious after they had seen the abandoned car parked in front of the farm house for a couple of days. They investigated and upon checking the license number, found that it was the car reported stolen from Kewaskum. Local authorities were informed and Mr. Hirsig went to Green Bay on Sunday to get the car.

Hirsig, who is employed at the Kewaskum Creamery company, had his auto parked near the plant while at work. Nearby residents saw the boys who had been loitering on the street, drive off with the car and reported the incident to Deputy Sheriff Carl F. Schaefer, who notified Washington and Fond du Lac county authorities.

Cheer up that man to service with the home paper.

zen is another important milestone toward a better world.

In West Bend, Mrs. Austin Hancock and Mrs. Fred Manthei were made co-chairmen for the residential section. They held their organization meeting Monday night. Other committee heads appointed by City Chairman, R. J. Stoltz, were S. M. Hetland, Main street; H. O. Leiser, industrial; H. A. Schatz, professional group and R. S. Grogan, public employees.

As stated by one campaign worker, it hardly seems necessary to urge the good citizens of our county to give to the limit of their ability, especially when so many of our own servicemen have benefited directly and indirectly from the many agencies of the war fund. As recent as last week, some of our returning veterans lauded the USO and kindred organizations for their important parts in keeping up the morale of our boys in the occupation zones. Many of them haven't been home for months and years and will have to remain there until the job is done.

Let's be thankful here at home that we have this convenient way to contribute to twenty-two war fund agencies and fourteen community chest organizations at one time. One gift of one day's pay can never again do so much—bringing smiles, health and happiness to so many homeless people around the globe. They're counting on us, let's make good.

Wreaths of American beauty roses and white leaves held their shoulder length veils. All carried sheaf bouquets of white mums and feverfew and wore crosses which were gifts of the bride.

Announce Quota for Victory Loan Drive

Walter Kasten, state chairman of the victory loan committee, has announced the quotas for Washington county for the victory loan drive. Washington county's quota for individual sales for the victory loan drive will be $971,000.00. In addition to this, there will be a quota for corporations, municipalities, societies, etc. of $385,000.00. The individual quota of $571,000.00 compares with a quota in the seventh war loan drive of $1,470,000.00. The Washington County War Finance committee will break down this quota for the various townships, cities and villages on the same percentage basis as has been the custom in the past few drives. These quotas for all twenty communities in Washington county will be announced very shortly.

As has been announced previously, the organization meeting for Washington county for all chairmen will be held on Monday night, Oct. 15, at Goring's resort. Dinner will be served promptly at 7 o'clock. The Monday after that, Oct. 22, twenty minute meetings will be held simultaneously throughout Washington county. The victory loan drive will start on Monday, Oct. 29, and a house to house, farm to farm canvass carried so faithfully through the past seven war loan drives which have extended over practically four years.

Kathleen Norris Says: The Wonder-Women of Long Island

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"Certainly there are baby toys about, but the place is neat and clean, and I myself am always dressed in a clean, cheerful costume."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS
SOME months ago I wrote an article filled with sympathy for today's young mothers. I dwelt upon the difficulties they encounter in marketing, washing, cleaning, cooking, baby-tending, with so little help. I recalled the fact that we, who are mothers, in our young days could always secure the assistance of some competent woman, who managed kitchen and nursery, stood by us in all domestic crises, and left us plenty of time for occasional evening amusements, for theater, dancing, dinner parties.

IDEAL HOME-MAKERS

Many young mothers have been complaining bitterly about the difficulties of caring for one or two children during the last four years. Scarcities of almost every necessity, slow laundry service, and a hundred other vexations made the always trying tasks doubly hard. Besides that, it has been almost impossible to hire any household help. To add to all this, many servicemen's wives have had to work when they could, to add to their small income from the government.

Even with peace again over the land, these war-born problems are still here for the most part, and will be for many months. Some women, however, have such courage, energy and pride that they refuse to be downcast by hardships. Today's article contains a letter from a group of New York mothers who take everything in stride, and seem to have a good time doing it.

These young women have from two to eight children. They do practically all their own work, including a lot of sewing and gardening. Yet they somehow have time for dances and parties occasionally. Except for such mechanical help as vacuum cleaners and washing machines they have no assistance in their daily chores. Miss Norris calls them "wonder-women."

Children mean 30 meals a day, and 30 meals mean at least 60 cups, 180 plates, 60 spoons to wash every day, 50 little garments to wash and iron every week — to say nothing of the babies' pin-ups and the bath towels, the boys' jeans and some 70 pairs of socks. No, the imagination staggers at it, and one can only bow respectfully to such efficiency.

Modern Devices Help.
Our own nursery was well filled, half a century ago, and the older members did help, and were expected to help. We peeled potatoes, set tables, tended the younger children, ran errands, made ourselves useful in dozens of ways.

But the woman who wrote this letter has no such help. Her children are babies; her daily baby wash runs to 50 articles. Her children spatter mud on their high chairs, demand daily baths, wake her at unearthly hours, need complete changes of crib bedding and their play aprons every day or twice a day, and still she has "plenty of time left over."

Certainly she has a thousand helps earlier generations of women didn't have. She can get codfish cakes and biscuits all ready to cook, ready-made bread and cakes; she doesn't have to fill lamps or stoke coal stoves; hot water runs in her bathroom; vacuum cleaner works miracles; she doesn't have to walk that five miles to the store as her grandmother would have done.

But just the same — those must be wonder-women down in that little Long Island town.

Ready-Made Dresses
Shop with an eye on possible alterations when buying ready-made garments. Some ready-made dresses are difficult to alter, and clothing is still too scarce to warrant gambling on a missfit.

Whether a garment is to be altered at the store or at home, you are advised against buying one that requires complicated changes. If a dress that fits throughout cannot be found, buy one that fits the upper part of the body, as the skirt is less difficult to alter.

"We dance the night away."

Adults Should Be Patient With Adolescent's Awkwardness
Some authorities hold that the awkwardness, poor posture, and self-consciousness of the adolescent is a result of unevenness of physical development. Others maintain that early nutrition and social training determine adolescent behavior and body control. For the present, there is no way of knowing which is correct; but regardless, advises Mrs. Aldous of Kansas State college, adults in the home should be alert to the things that help or hin-

American Farmers to Continue High Production Goals in Satisfying Demands of the Entire World

Peacetime Need for Products Assures Farmers of Good Market and Price.

What will be the impact of war's end on American agriculture? The question has been raised with increasing frequency ever since Hirohito accepted President Truman's unconditional surrender terms and the Jap hordes have laid down their arms. It has brought in its train other questions: Will a farm slump occur? Will continued vast production smash prices? Will transition to peacetime schedules upset farm economy?

Three fairly definite answers have emerged, and each is hearteningly reassuring to everyone who lives on or near a farm:

1. Demand for foods, fibers and oils will continue to require a high rate of farm production. The world must eat and American farmers must feed it.
2. Farm prices will not be deflated. The government has already guaranteed the farmer support prices for many of his products for one or two years after the war.
3. The farmer, unlike industry, is not faced with reconversion problems. His job is growing crops and he needs no different set of tools to accomplish his objectives.

All of these factors eliminate the possibility of a sudden crash in farm income.

Farm economists are agreed there will be no immediate cutback in production despite the end of the war. In the months to come, domestic and military needs of the United States plus the relief demands from liberated areas in Europe and the Pacific will take all the food this nation can produce.

With vast areas of Europe and Asia laid waste, American farmers will be called on to produce and keep on producing. It may be years before the ravaged countries can come back anywhere near to normal. In the meantime American farmers have a big job ahead to help keep whole continents alive and healthy. During this same time the United States itself must be fed.

As demobilization of our armed forces proceeds, there will be less need for the various services to have great stocks of food in reserve. That will tend to increase civilian supplies as well as permit better distribution.

No Major Farm Surplus.
With industrial reconversion getting the green light, the dislocation of workers caused by war contract cutbacks may be of much shorter duration than has been anticipated. That means more peacetime civilian jobs. One thing the war demonstrated was that if the entire nation is at work, there is no major farm surplus problem.

The greatest crops in history have been produced during the war. The record year was 1942. Next was 1944 and indications are that this year will exceed 1943, so that 1945 may be the third best.

Credit for this epic achievement must go to the nation's farmers, but the contribution of the fertilizer industry should not be overlooked. Agricultural authorities estimate that more than 20 per cent of the crop production in the war years has been due to the use of fertilizers. The use of plant foods has been of essential importance to the food production program because it has enabled farmers to produce bigger crops on existing acres instead of having to plow up millions of acres of additional farm land. The saving in labor, equipment and man hours has been enormous.

Farm income during recent years has passed the needs of the war and immediately after World War I. Prices are now near or above parity. Even if prices should come down to government-support levels—a drop of perhaps 15 per cent below present peaks—farm purchasing power will be enormous. The farmer has a higher amount to spend out of his income than other wage earners, for the reason that less of his income is required for rent, food and fuel than is the case with city dwellers. Six million farm families comprising approximately 30 million people having a gross income in excess of 20 billion dollars a year will be a factor of tremendous importance to America's peacetime economy.

The war production of garden crops reached a new high. The demand will continue for some time. New varieties, improved soil fertilization and new equipment will aid the farmer in repeating his record production of these crops.

Farmer in Strong Position.
Just as significant as agriculture's high income rate in recent years is the fact that the farmer has been laying aside a good portion of his savings in war bonds to spend for investments in years to come. Clearly the farmer has emerged from the war in a stronger position than he was at its start.

To maintain that position the farmer should do some straight thinking and planning. Two things are especially important: 1—He should avoid overexpansion through the purchase of additional land in the peace years ahead; 2—He should make immediate plans to repair the damage to his soil's fertility level which the vast war crop production quotas have caused.

The experience of the last war with its farm land boom and subsequent collapse should be a reminder that the American farmer should not go in for more land than he can successfully handle. Farm land prices have already risen dangerously toward inflation levels. Farsighted agricultural authorities are urging farmers to "keep their shirts on" and steer clear of the pitfalls of land speculation.

Better soil management methods on a well-equipped and economically operated farm will prove safer in the long run than vast fields without efficient management.

The key to successful farming operations in postwar years will lie in increasing the per acre yield on existing crop land rather than in bringing additional acreage under cultivation, a recent statement by the Middle West Soil Improvement committee pointed out.

"In months to come the emphasis will be on reducing the cost of crop production per unit," the statement sets forth. "That means making every acre do a better crop producing job."

"In every community there are farmers who increased their wartime crop output as high as 50 per cent, without increasing the cultivated area by one single acre. In every case the larger yield was the result of adopting good soil fertility practices. The experience of these farmers can be profitably followed by their neighbors in their peacetime operations. Their soil-conserving methods not only prevented waste of fertility, but actually have helped restore it."

"Such methods include growing legumes to enrich the soil's nitrogen and organic matter supply, the use of adequate quantities of mixed fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, liming, contour plowing and a limiting, so far as possible, of soil-depleting crops."

Soil Fertility Replenishment.
The matter of soil fertility replenishment will have an important bearing on the peacetime continuation of farm prosperity. If the nation's farms are to be kept productive, a vast soil-rebuilding job lies immediately ahead.

How important this is may be understood from a recent report issued by the Soil Conservation Service of the department of agriculture which estimated that nearly one billion acres—more than 90 per cent of the nation's farmlands—need soil conservation treatment to protect them from erosion and to maintain their fertility.

Wartime crop goals used up the soil's resources of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash faster than they could be replaced in spite of the fact that the fertilizer industry broke all previous production records. Farmers have realized that this wartime drain on their soil's fertility level was a necessary contribution to victory. But the fact remains that wealth borrowed from the soil to help hasten peace must be repaid.

While every encouragement will be given to soil rebuilding projects by the federal government and by state agricultural agencies, the major responsibility for getting the job done will rest on the shoulders of individual farmers.

The effectiveness of the individual farmer's soil rebuilding program can be enhanced by the co-operation of agronomists at state agricultural colleges and experiment stations. Through research and experimentation over a long span of years, these experts have developed information concerning fertilizer needs for various crops and soils that is helpful to the farmer who is undertaking a replenishment program. The co-operation of the fertilizer industry will be an effective aid, also. The present plant capacity of manufacturers is sufficient to meet all peacetime needs of agriculture.

Farmers are more fortunately situated for accomplishing their soil restoring job than at any time in the past generation. Dollars invested in war bonds, during the period when farm cash income has been at a high level and farm debt at a low point, can provide the ready cash to pay for the nitrogen, phosphorus and potash needed to build up the fertility level of America's soil.

Increased production of dairy and poultry products has been little short of a miracle. Better feeding, feeding and management has been the answer. Even greater results can be expected in the next few years.

Industrial Reconversion Getting in Fast Strides

The war contractor who loses his job of working for the government is in a much better financial position for his immediate reconversion needs than the worker deprived of employment by wholesale contract cancellations. It was early realized by some leaders that provision must be made to enable manufacturers with their working capital tied up in war contracts to obtain use of such capital at the earliest possible moment. Consequently the Office of Contract Settlement has been working long hours to speed up these settlements.

Reconversion Director Snyder reports that about 80,000 contractors and their employees have been trained in special courses and know about settlement procedure. Provision has been made also for the contractors to obtain government guaranteed loans to free funds frozen by contract cancellations. In addition the treasury department has moved forward the time for obtaining tax rebates by big business which will add to the 30 billions of stored up funds now in the hands of the large corporations for peacetime expansion and production.

But no farsightedness has been apparent in planning for the reconversion of the millions of wartime workers held to their posts by manpower controls . . . at least no legislation has shown up on the statute books.

Farmers will find many new types of machinery within the next few months. Among these will be the new harvesters, manure spreaders, tractors, jeeps, hay makers, planters, pickers and sprayers.

One design, a product of Food Machinery corporation, is in reality a man-made cyclone, used to combat bugs and insects. Known as the cyclone duster, the length of the boom is 27 feet but folds forward to 9 feet. The entire boom is adjustable for height from the ground to accommodate different crops.

Doctors' Lobby Fights Socialized Medicine

WHAT happens, or what does not happen here in Washington oftentimes gives cause for wonderment if congress, if leaders in the fields of economics, of agriculture, industry, labor, social relations, etc., actually know what the people are thinking, what the people of the nation want or need. It is easy for persons down here in the nation's capital where events happen so fast and with such far-reaching effect, to lose the "common touch."

And the cause for most of the blindness and the out-of-focus perspective is self-interest and the selfish activities of various pressure groups.

At the present time, there is a tremendous lobby functioning against the extension of the social security act to include medical care and hospital insurance and other protective features for low income groups. This lobby is spearheaded by an organization known as the National Physicians Committee, with headquarters in Chicago.

Every effort is being made by this opposition to defeat the provisions of the new social security amendments, all in the face of the wants, needs and desires of those for whom the benefits are intended. Labor is solidly behind the new social security proposals and a survey just completed by the department of agriculture indicates that this same concern is voiced by farmers the country over.

Hospital Insurance

The survey shows that more than four-fifths of the nation's farmers favor more public medical clinics in rural areas, and more than three-fourths want to subscribe to some flat-rate prepayment plan to cover possible hospital bills and the cost of doctors and nurses for themselves and their families. This is the hospitalization insurance feature of the new proposals.

The answers to the department survey indicate that farmers generally are conscious and concerned about the need for better rural medical and health facilities. They are aware that farm youth, 18 and 19 years old, showed the highest rejection rate in the selective service for physical, mental and educational defects of any occupational group . . . 41 per cent, compared with an average of 25 per cent for other groups.

Many factors, the survey shows, contribute to bad rural health . . . the shortage of medical and sanitation facilities and the lack of physicians, dentists and hospital services. Many of these rural folks are in the low income groups which would be reached by the new amendments, since in 1939, approximately 3,000,000 out of the 6,000,000 farms in the country produced less than $800 worth of farm products.

The records show that out of the 3,070 counties in the country, in 1940 there were 1,200 counties containing a total of more than 15,000,000 people, which had no hospitals at all. And there were only about 1,800 counties with any organized public health service, and most of these inadequate. According to the estimates of the surgeon general of the United States, there is need now for some $2,000,000 in hospital construction which would provide for 1,000,000 jobs including doctors, nurses, technicians and assistants to keep them going.

Medical Care Wanted

Animal husbandry, consolidated schools, roads and bridges, soil conservation and crop insurance, agricultural experiment stations, vast agricultural laboratories and many other material objectives are fostered through governmental help for the benefit of the rural areas. Many farmers, however, believe that assurance of medical and hospital care for themselves and their families are more important than building roads, constructing dams or saving soil, and that no price is too high for a healthy, vigorous and productive people.

The statistics show that although the death rate from all causes for the last several decades has been lower among rural people than urban folks, deaths from some preventable diseases such as typhoid, diphtheria, malaria and pellagra tend to be more numerous among rural people.

Moreover, the death rate has been going down rapidly in the cities, but relatively slowly in the rural areas. The records show that folks in the rural areas are ill oftener and for longer periods than city people.

Under the social security law there are now 36,000,000 insured workers against unemployment. There is no insurance for farmers either for unemployment, old age or survivors' insurance. The new act would extend these latter two provisions to include farmers, professional people, domestics and others not now covered by the law.

Total social security payments to individuals have approximated $9,000,000,000. These payments have been made up under five programs in the attack on old-age . . . the federal system of debt-aging and survivors insurance, the state-federal system of unemployment compensation and the three state-federal programs of public assistance to the needy aged, dependent children and the needy blind.

The new program would extend help in the field of health and hospitalization and include all people not now covered by the law.

Tomatoes, Mushrooms, Eggs and Rice Cakes Make Good Lunch

A tomato treat that's hard to beat is this one in which cottage cheese is used for stuffing. Frilly sandwiches can be made by spreading thinly sliced bread with mayonnaise, seasoning the lettuce and rolling up the bread.

Lunch is often one of the most neglected meals of the day because the whole family is not at home to eat it. Then, too, many homemakers feel they just don't want to bother fixing something palatable and attractive.

But, let's look at it this way. Lunch, according to nutritionists, should contain at least one-third to one-half the day's calories, and the proper balance of proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins and minerals. This doesn't mean that you have to spend a lot of time preparing this noon-day snack, because, chances are, there are plenty of things in the refrigerator, ready to be made into satisfying, nourishing lunches.

Now that food rationing has eased, it might be a good idea to invite friends in for a quick lunch; or, better still, have a plan whereby you invite four to six people over for noon-time, and then have everyone take turns having each other to luncheon. It's a neighborly way, and you will be sure to get into better luncheon habits this way.

Here is a colorful salad plate that makes a quick and easy lunch. It looks pretty, too, on gay, informal plates.

Stuffed Tomato Salad Plate. (Serves 6)

- 6 large tomatoes
- 1/2 pound cottage cheese
- 1 cup chopped cucumber
- 3 tablespoons real mayonnaise
- Parsley
- Scallions
- Lettuce rolls

Section tomatoes to within 1/4 inch from bottom. Mix cottage cheese, cucumber and real mayonnaise. Fill tomatoes. Serve with scallions and lettuce rolls. The rolls are made by spreading thinly sliced white bread with mayonnaise and then placing a lettuce leaf on each slice. Sprinkle this with salt and pepper. Roll up and fasten with a toothpick.

Occasionally we all have some leftover rice in the refrigerator, possibly after a chop suey dinner the night before. What about a crisp, golden brown rice cakes for lunch, served with apricot jam or marmalade, and some spinach made delectable with a cream sauce. There you have nourishment plus in addition to a colorful and contrasting menu.

Start the Day Right by Serving Breakfast in Bright Surroundings

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN

Are your family breakfasts really pleasant meals or are they catch-as-catch-can? Many a homemaker bows down under the strain of the morning meal with father rushing to grab his train or bus, big sister dawdling endlessly, then trying for her office, the children slow as pokes, grumbling over their cereal yet eager to be off to school.

Well, it isn't that way in all households. Not where that priceless element Time is given a chance. An extra 15 minutes or a half hour will make all the difference between a breathless confusion in the morning and a pleasant cheerful beginning for the day. If your family has slipped into that bad habit of not getting up till the very last minute, you may have to take drastic steps to change that. But maybe with a few words of better breakfasts for the ones who get down early and just plain garden variety of food for the Hints for the Home: Sugar bags make good dishcloths. Cut, hem and launder before using. A dishwashing apron is easy to make out of oil cloth. Cut to pattern, bind the edges and you will have a water-resistant apron. Old pillow cases are excellent for protecting the tops of clothes while they hang in the closet. Use this tip for putting away out-of-season clothes. Odd bits of linoleum make nice covers for kitchen or laundry table and may even be used as shelf covering. Old socks are excellent for applying wax to furniture; they may be used for cleaning silverware, too. If you are crowded for space, build a blanket bin across the narrow end of a hall, underneath the windows. This is good to use in storing clothes, too. Fold the latter in clean tissue paper to prevent wrinkling.

Mix all ingredients together in order given. Drop by spoonfuls onto hot, greased griddle. Sauté until golden brown on each side, turning only once.

*Swiss Spinach. Into 2 cups of finely chopped spinach, blend 1/2 cup very thick, well-seasoned white sauce (flavored with onion and a dash of nutmeg), just enough to hold spinach together.

*Country Omelet. (Serves 5)

- 2 cups diced, cooked potatoes
- 3 slices bacon
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 4 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons top milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Brown potatoes, bacon and onion together in a frying pan. Cool. Beat egg yolks slightly, add milk, salt, pepper and chopped parsley. Beat whites until stiff and fold into egg yolk mixture. Heat frying pan, add 2 table-spoons shortening into the pan. Pour in egg mixture. Cook over low heat until lightly browned on bottom (about 15 minutes). Brown top slightly under broiler and serve.

There's a surprise in store with mushrooms de luxe that will make guests ask for more. An all vegetable luncheon like this is served with a smooth, creamy mayonnaise sauce made by mixing mayonnaise and milk and heating together.

An easy, point-free luncheon is made with mushrooms and served with vegetables. It takes only about 20 minutes to bake.

Mushrooms De Luxe. (Serves 6)

- 12 large mushrooms
- 3/4 cup dry bread crumbs
- 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
- 1 1/2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1 teaspoon chopped parsley
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 3/4 cup real mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup milk

Wash mushrooms, remove stems and chop. Mix chopped stems, bread crumbs, green pepper, onion, parsley and seasonings. Brown in 2 tablespoons of the mayonnaise. Fill mushroom caps. Bake in a moderately hot (400-degree) oven 20 minutes, or until tender. Serve with vegetables and mayonnaise sauce, made by heating remaining mayonnaise with 1/2 cup milk and cooking until smooth. This is cooked over low heat, stirring constantly, 5 minutes or until hot.

THE BASEBALL FANS TO A LOSING CLUB

(In the Japanese manner) To the Club Owners, Managers, Pitchers and All. Gents: Being as how our club has turned out to be one of the worst clubs in history, taking last place at the start of the season and holding it nobly to the finish, we, the fans, now prostrate ourselves before you in deep humility and boundless sorrow. The pitching was sandlot stuff, the fielding would not stand up in the One-Eye League, the longest hit of the year was a two bagger on opening day and the management should of stood in bed. All of which hurts us deeply on account of we fully understand that we alone were responsible. We had nothing to say about the batteries, the schedule, the strategy or the coaching. All we did was to pay in and show we could take it. This was a rare privilege and we are to blame for everything.

In this hour of disappointment and chagrin we apologize, especially to his August Presence, Tim Maloney, the manager, to their Imperial Majesties, Cunnihan & Jones, club owners, to pitchers Ganz, Snaffu and Crummie for the lousy season and for the fact the club wound up in last place. It tears our hearts out when we think of what they must be suffering. With bowed heads and with tears streaming from our eyes we accept full responsibility for every lost game, wild throw, error and strike-out, trusting that the club owners, manager and players will be noble spirited enough to forgive us.

We know that the star pitcher "Lefty" Bizzle, every time he was picked and sent in to pitch against anybody, proclaimed himself as a man of peace, and opposed going through with the game at all. Never at any time in the season did he really want to pitch. In the high nobility of his patchless spirit and love for the team and the fans he always cried, "Include me out of this." Losing every fight by scores of from 18 to 32 to 0 he was ever an exponent of brotherly love.

The club owners, the managers and the coaches also showed in their matchless benevolence they were for harmony and understanding. And so it is with deep sincerity that we apologize for having ever caused them to think seriously of a winning baseball team. In the dust on our knees we express our profound sorrow for all the worries we have caused them.

In All Humility, The Cash Customers. P.S.—We also think the outfit, especially that bum who struck out with the bases full, should now concentrate on science and the arts.

The famous estate of J. P. Morgan at Glen Cove has been rented to Amtorg, the Russian purchasing commission in America. We trust there is something in the lease preventing the Russians from singing the Volga boat song in the Morgan swimming pool, doing Russian dances in the floral beds or having all the china done over with a hammer and sickle design.

THOUGHTS ON JAPAN It is our fear that in most cases the fel-lows being held as war criminals will be put on trial at a time when they can get off on a claim of old age exemption.

Now that the war is over we can't help wondering whether next season will see the Japanese acrobats back in the circus labeled as Japs and not as Burnese.

We have it on excellent authority that the emperor's horse is in bad repute for accepting the result as a total defeat and not feeling particularly grateful to anybody for it.

FIRST STUDENT COUNCIL MEETING IS HELD

The first student council meeting was held on Oct. 1 with President August Bilgo presiding. Council officers besides Bilgo are vice-president, Dick Edwards, and secretary-treasurer, Dolores Hammen. A list of student council representatives from the classes was printed last week.

Business discussed included: 1. Bringing the service flag and honor roll up to date; 2. Changing the number of cheerleaders from 4 to 8; 3. Holding 3 noon hour dances each week with pupils paying nickles one day each week, toward buying new records; 4. Postponing the initiation party to Oct. 12 so it wouldn't conflict with a local dance on Oct. 5; 5. Having the juniors handle the pep meeting for the Lomira game of Oct. 12; 6. Organizing the homecoming.

Council members will be in attendance at the desk in the west corridor as in previous years to welcome visitors and answer the telephone. They are: 1st hr., Grace Zanow; 2nd hr., Eileen Backus; 3rd hr., La Verne Gatzke; 4th hr., Dick Edwards; 5th hr., August Bilgo; 6th hr., Joyce Bartelt; 7th hr., Vernell Schacht.

HOMECOMING ACTIVITIES

The senior class will again sponsor homecoming activities. The game vs. Campbellport will be Friday, Oct. 26. The schedule of events is: Thursday, Oct. 25—Pep rally; Friday, Oct. 26—Homecoming parade; Friday, Oct. 26—Homecoming game; Friday, Oct. 26—Homecoming dance.

Committees in charge are:

- Royalty (float and coronation ceremonies)—Miss Kohlbeck.
- Pep Rally—Miss Ockerlander. Seniors: Dolores Hammen, Allen Kleinhaus, Arlene Mertze, Herbert Pence.
- Dance—Miss Pueria. Seniors: Doris Mae Stahl, "Red" Stautz, Harold Perkins, Valeria Koerble, Eileen Backus.
- Sale of mums and parade—Miss Browne. Seniors: Alan Stoffel, Allen Kleinhaus.

CHEERLEADERS SELECTED

In order to afford an opportunity for more pupils to participate as cheerleaders, a new set-up has been established for selecting cheerleaders. In all there will be 8 cheerleaders, 4 experienced and 4 inexperienced. This year there were only 3 holdovers—Valeria Koerble, Dolores Hammen (both seniors) and Joyce Bartelt (a junior). Five girls were selected by vote of the general assembly—Doris Mae Stahl, Bette Searles, Alice Backhaus, Mary Ellen Miller and Vernell Schacht. Doris Mae, who received the largest number of votes, will work with the experienced girls to fill up their team of 4. The other girls will compose the second team of cheerleaders.

INITIATION POSTPONED

Because a town social function was held this Friday evening which many pupils wished to attend, the high school initiation of the freshmen by the sophomores is postponed 'till next Friday, Oct. 12.

By mistake John Tessar was listed last week as sophomore class president. John McElhatton is the successful candidate for that office. Congratulations "Mac" and good luck! Tessar is freshman treasurer.

ACTIVITY TICKETS SOLD

Activity tickets again were on sale on three different basis. The $1.50 ticket admits each pupil to 3 football games (20¢ each), 2 school parties (25¢ each), 1 assembly program (20¢ each), and 5 basketball games (20¢ each). The buyer thus saves 30¢. The 85¢ ticket admits the pupil to all but the basketball games and the buyer thus saves 30¢. Those who do not buy activity tickets pay individual admittance at each event. Miss Margaret Browne is in charge of activity ticket organization and sale.

LIBRARY BOOKS ADDED

Eight books were added this week to the high school library. They cover many fields of work:

- Geography: "Peoples of the U. S. S. R." by A. L. Strong.
- Journalism: "Experiences in Journalism" by J. E. Mulligan.
- Biology: "The Indoor Gardener" by D. T. Abbott; "The Flower Family Album" by H. F. Fischer.
- Fiction: "Broken Fang" by R. G. Montgomery; "Lea Bee" by H. B.

Lent; "Mystery in the Tropics" by Col. I. S. Wallace.
History: "West Point" by E. D. J. Waugh.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Mrs. Wm. Otten, nee Bernice Roden, who passed away one year ago, Oct. 5, 1944:

Time speeds on, one lonely year has passed.
Since death its gloom, its shadow cast,
Oft and oft our thoughts do wander
To a grave not far away.

Where we laid our darling Bernice
Just one year ago today,
In that graveyard softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently sway,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In that lonely silent grave,
We miss her when the morning dawns.

We miss her when the night returns,
We miss her here, we miss her there,
Dear Bernice, we miss you everywhere.
In our home we miss you sadly,
The time seems so long since you went,
We think of you daily and hourly,
But try to be brave and content.
Many tears are shed in silence,
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. John Roden and son Lloyd, also Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Otten and family.

In loving memory of my dear wife Bernice, who passed away Oct. 5, 1944:

The moon and the stars
Are shining on a silent grave;
Beneath it rests one we dearly loved
But whom we could not save.
You left behind a me broken hearts
Who loved you most sincere,
Who never did and never will Forget you, Bernice dear.
Why does the azure of the sky
Look like a faded sea?
Why does the sunshine lose its gold,
When you are far from me?
Why do the flowers drop their heads

The bright moon hide its glow?
Alas, I must, dear, tell you that
They know we miss you so,
Sadly missed by her husband, Wm. A. Otten.

Attention Motorists!

WISCONSIN'S NEW SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW

The new law, effective January 1st, 1946, means just this: If you have an accident involving injuries to anyone, or damage of more than $50.00, within 60 days thereafter you must make good for injuries or damages in one of these ways:

- File a release showing that all claims have been settled; or
- Put up adequate cash deposit, under certain conditions as much as $11,000, with the State Highway Department; or
- File a surety bond to cover any possible claim; or
- File a certificate showing that you were covered with Liability Insurance at the time of the accident; or
- Do nothing whatever. In that case your drivers license and automobile registration will be suspended, and you will not be able to drive an automobile in Wisconsin thereafter until the claim is settled.

The Law gives you your choice. Look them over. As to (1) (2) and (3) no one knows what the cost might be. You don't want to suffer the consequences of No. 5. For any prudent person the answer is No. 4—an automobile Liability policy. But you have to have it BEFORE the accident.

For further information regarding the law, and how to avoid its consequences, see

Within walking distance

IT'S not even too far to hobble, when you're leaving the blank walls of a hospital room for a brief while, on your way to a place of laughter and song and play.

The welcoming doors of a USO lounge club are just outside the hospital grounds—at more than 500 hospitals.

Here, at the house of smiles, war-shattered veterans escape from hospital routine, from the smell of ether and disinfectants. Here they enjoy their favorite phonograph records, today's newspaper, the checker-board that you gave them when you gave to your local community fund.

These are little things, but they're good medicine! The nearby USO lounge is theater, club—almost home—to the shocked and hurt boy whose present home is a hospital room. And your dollars keep these lounges going—the dollars you give to your community war fund.

It's time to give again—for the men who gave a lot. Give generously! Make your donation twice as big—the need is more than twice as great.

Your donation to the community war fund supports the USO and does many other worth-while things besides. It provides maternity care for wives of servicemen, decent, wholesome recreation to keep children off the streets and out of trouble, help for the stricken people of our allies, help for your own.

You help many who can't help themselves, yet you are asked for only one gift. Let your heart decide how big it should be.

THE STORY THIS FAR: Spratt Herlog, successful motion picture producer, had married Elizabeth, after her first husband, Arthur Kittredge, had been reported killed in World War I.

CHAPTER IV

It didn't make sense, it wasn't true. But all the time she knew it was true. Arthur was simply not there and nothing was left but herself, muffling screams in the covers of the bed where they had slept together.

It was quite dark when her friend, Frances, knocked on the door. When Frances came in from work and the maid said she had not seen Elizabeth, Frances came up to her room.

Elizabeth managed to say, "Please leave me alone." Looking around in astonishment, Frances caught sight of the telegram where it had blown into a corner.

Elizabeth did not call up anybody that night, not even her Aunt Grace, an omission which Aunt Grace never forgave her.

She told all her friends how inconsiderately she had been treated. And after all she had done, too!

Elizabeth had no use for her aunt's ministrations. She did not think of wanting anybody.

She had had so much with him. And yet she had had so little of it. Two years ago she had not known Arthur existed, and now she had lost him.

Her thoughts went back to the beginning. If she had only known him longer! She might have, if she had stayed in Tulsa, for Arthur had lived there several years before she met him.

But her aunt and uncle had deprived her of those years by sending her away to school, though of course they had not known they were depriving her of anything and she had not known it either.

Dick, it would soon be called into service. Spratt called Elizabeth to tell her that he was bringing Kessler, a refugee writer, to dinner the following night.

were always camps and other supervised vacations. It had all seemed a matter of course to her until the summer after her first year at college.

She went swimming alone, expecting that she would meet some acquaintance at the club, which was always full of people on Saturday afternoons.

She went down into the water again and came up, pausing an instant to shake the drops out of her eyes before she struck out for the edge of the pool.

Elizabeth started back, about to make an apology. But before she could speak the young man had grasped her arms and lifted her to the edge of the pool by him, and he was begging her, "There now, do it again!"

"What?" she exclaimed, moving back a step, but he insisted, "I've been watching you. Honestly, that's the most beautiful swan dive I ever saw—please do it again!"

She looked up at him, and in that first moment she liked him because he looked just the way she felt—young, joyous, alive with an extraordinary vitality.

"I don't know. I was wondering the same thing myself. I come here a lot Saturdays and Sundays, when I'm not working. My name is Arthur Kittredge. Will you let me see you do that dive just once more?"

"Of course," she said, and ran back to the ladder leading up to the high diving board. At the top she looked down at Arthur. He lay stretched out, his eyes on her.

Arthur sprang into the pool to meet her. Though he was a big young man who gave an impression of great physical strength, he moved with the grace of one long accustomed to rhythmic exercise.

gone to work for Spratt. He believed his disfigurements would prevent Elizabeth from knowing him. The dinner date was to be just 24 years since Arthur Kittredge, who in reality was Arthur Kittredge, had returned to America and had published several pamphlets describing his work.

She was interested, so he went on, telling her how the leaf used air and water and the energy from the sun to adjust their people from the war propaganda line which had concealed from them even the news of the atomic bomb.

Elizabeth was delighted. "But that's wonderful!" she cried. "Why didn't anybody ever tell me that before? Now whenever I walk across the grass or look at a tree, I'll remember it. What a lot you know."

As they talked she discovered that his outstanding characteristic was a profound curiosity about the universe and its inhabitants were put together from babies to planets interested him.

"Oh no I don't," he assured her laughing. "I don't know anything, but I like finding out."

"I don't imagine you've ever been alone very much, have you?" she asked. "Why no, I haven't. I always meet somebody."

"Has your been in Tulsa long?" asked Elizabeth. "About three years." "Where did you live before that?" "Chicago."

"Chicago," he said thoughtfully, and laughed at himself. "Why, I do. What do you call it?" "Chicago," said Elizabeth.

"Chicago," repeated Arthur. "I can't seem to say it any other way. It's like a birth certificate, isn't it?" She nodded.

"Did you ever hear anybody from England say it?" Arthur asked. "No, what do they say?" "Chicago," said Arthur. "The Ch like in church. You can tell them a thousand times that it's like the Ch in machine, but they can't seem to change."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

"TEA CUP SURRENDER" UNIQUE IN HISTORY

WASHINGTON.—The accounts say that when we landed the Japanese met us with an invitation to a cup of tea. The surrender has thus become known as "The Tea Cup Surrender."

There has been some talk here, but no alarm, about the 14 days' grace General MacArthur granted. The word was passed around through Washington, that he thought they probably needed that much time to adjust their people from the war propaganda line which had concealed from them even the news of the atomic bomb.

The hiatus nevertheless gave the Maj officials time to whip up more than a cup of tea in their own interests. They could destroy every record in the nation of interest to foreigners.

Yet it is plain there should be no early cause for alarm. We went in with enough power to handle any traps. And Japan, now, has suddenly become a small nation, a very small nation.

As far as I can learn she has no uranium and no atomic bomb formula. If she developed these things she could cause trouble and no doubt she will cause as much trouble as her limited perimeter permits.

JAPAN OUR RESPONSIBILITY
Now Japan has become our responsibility. China and Russia have settled their Asiatic mainland differences, at least to the extent of a presently peaceable working agreement.

We have nothing on the Asiatic continent, but have taken the islands of the Pacific and the Japanese homeland, presumably intending to withdraw eventually when peace is restored, but keeping island bases we consider essential to our military safety.

The development of these principles of soundness and Christianity there becomes the primary postwar task for China—and for us. For the present there is greater stability in a way in Asia than in Europe because of China's position in victory, her area and her raw materials now restored to her in Manchuria.

WISDOMY, she can really build herself into a major democratic influence. At the same time, the threats and existing weaknesses in the East is yet far from assured.

SEWING CIRCLE PATTERNS

Party Frock for Little Girls

Pattern No. 8883 is designed for sizes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 years. Size 2 requires 1 1/2 yards of 33 or 35-inch fabric; 5 yards ribbon to trim.

8883 1-6 yrs.

HERE is an adorable party frock for your young daughter. It's so easy to make—cut all in one piece with drawstrings at neck, sleeves and waist.

Household Hints

A gum eraser is excellent for removing spots from dark suede accessories. Brush thoroughly after using.

A piece of umbrella rib that has an eye in it can be filed to a point and used as an upholstery needle.

It's a good idea to cover labels on medicine bottles with a coat of colorless nail polish.

Alternate your shoes. Keep two pairs in use. Keep the shoes clean. Shine the leather regularly, and replace heel lifts promptly, before they wear through.

Treat a long-handled dish mop with furniture polish in much the same way as a dust cloth. Use this for cleaning bedsprings. Makes the task less tedious and reaches every speck of dirt.

Before letting yourself in for a long siege of sewing, see that at least two bobbins are filled with the kind of thread you need. Then when the thread in one gives out, you have thread on the other to replace it.

A small pie pan comes in handy placed in the drawer of your range or other conveniently located spot. When you are cooking, let it hold stirring spoons, testing forks, and the like. Makes clean-up easier.

Save the syrup you drain from off the canned fruit you intend to use in desserts or salad. This can be an ingredient later for cool, refreshing drinks, a gelatin dessert, or sherbet. It contains sugar, remember, and tasty fruit flavor.

County Holstein Breeders to Hold Bull Sale Nov. 3
On Saturday, Nov. 3, at the county fairgrounds in Slinger, the Holstein breeders of Washington county will sponsor an auction sale of 27 purebred bull calves. These bull calves were carefully selected early last winter by a committee of breeders, and only one or two calves were selected from any one herd. All of the calves selected are from dams producing 500 and 600 pounds of butterfat.
The calves consigned by the breeders were allotted to 4-H and F. F. A. members who raised one as one of his agricultural projects.
These young bulls are all of serviceable age and will be between ten and fourteen months old at the time of the auction. The proceeds of the sale of each calf will be divided between the breeder consigning the young bull and the boy who raised it. The 27 calves in this project, all of which will be put on sale at the Nov. 3rd auction, will offer a wide choice of blood lines and a reasonable variation in quality. Hence, there will be bulls available to meet the breeding and bloodline needs of any dairyman and at prices within the reach of anyone looking for a good purebred bull. All of the animals are eligible for registration and will either be registered or in the process of registration at the time of the sale.
This sale will provide an excellent opportunity for a dairyman to purchase a good young bull to head his herd for the next few years.
In addition to the 27 bull calves to be sold, a number of the Holstein breeders are consigning heifer calves and milking cows. Some of these are bred heifers that will freshen during the winter months. Many of these will make excellent 4-H club or F.F.A. projects for the coming year.
Arthur Quade, popular and well known auctioneer, has volunteered his services without any compensation to sell the bull calves, thus saving any auctioneer's expenses for the boys. Also, leading businessmen of the county have very generously subscribed for advertisements in the sales catalog now in the process of publication.
To protect any of the boys raising a calf against loss if the calf should die or be seriously injured, all of the 27 calves in the project were insured. The premium on the insurance was donated by the First National Bank, the First State Bank, and the B. C. Ziegler company, all of West Bend.
Anyone desiring a sales catalog may obtain one on request from the county extension office, post office building, West Bend. They will be off the press early in October and will contain the pedigrees of all of the bulls and females included in the sale.
This is the first such sale to be sponsored by any breed association in Washington county. It is hoped to make the sale an annual event. All dairymen are extended an invitation to attend.
