

Rev. Beck Resigns as Peace Church Pastor; Accepts Call to Iowa

The Rev. R. G. Beck, who served as pastor of the Peace Evangelical and Reformed church in Kewaskum for nearly four years, tendered his resignation to the congregation during services last Sunday morning to accept a call to become pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed church in Burlington, Iowa, a very large congregation and one of the finest parishes in the denomination. Rev. Beck and his family will leave for Burlington on Feb. 18, 1946, having served three months notice to the local congregation.

Rev. Beck came to the Peace Evangelical church from St. Paul, Minn., replacing the Rev. Richard M. A. Gadow at the time. During his stay here Rev. Beck very efficiently served the people of his congregation and they sincerely regret to see him leave. Rev. Beck and his family were very well liked among the parishioners and in the community as well and they will be greatly missed.

Rev. Beck states that he and his family enjoyed their stay here very much and are leaving the church and community with considerable regret although the call to his new pastorate is such a splendid opportunity that it was impossible for him to turn it down. They are very grateful for the co-operation given them by all the people and institutions of the community and for the wonderful treatment and friendliness afforded them.

The congregation is now in the process of receiving applications for a new pastor and he will be announced within the next three or four months.

AAA Committeemen to be Elected at County Meets

Farmers in Washington county will ballot during the next two weeks on the AAA committeemen who will represent and assist them during the coming year. The farm programs are administered by these committeemen—so the farmers run their own farm programs through their own elected representatives.

With many reconversion problems ahead, the AAA committeemen will have heavy responsibilities in 1946. They will be handling details of government programs and also voicing the opinions of local farmers on recommendations for new or improved programs.

Committee elections all starting at 8 p. m., will be held in Washington county beginning Nov. 26, according to the following schedule:

- Farmington—Turner hall, Farmington, Monday, Nov. 26.
- Hartford—City hall, Hartford, Monday, Nov. 26.
- Trenton—Buettners' hall, Myra, Wednesday, Nov. 28.
- Richfield—Dickel's hall, Richfield, Wednesday, Nov. 28.
- Erin—Tally-ho Inn, Hartford, Wednesday, Nov. 28.
- Jackson—Village hall, Jackson, Friday, Nov. 30.
- Polk—Town hall, Cedar Creek, Friday, Nov. 30.
- Barton—Lighthouse, Barton, Monday, Dec. 3.
- Addison—Hess' hall, Allenton, Monday, Dec. 3.
- West Bend—Bank of West Bend building, West Bend, Monday, Dec. 3.
- Kewaskum—Al. Naumann's Opera House, Kewaskum, Wednesday, Dec. 5.
- Germantown—Town hall, Germantown, Wednesday, Dec. 5.
- Wayne—Schneider's hall, Wayne, Wednesday, Dec. 5.
- Raymond D. Lepien pointed out that approximately 2,000 farmers are eligible to vote in the elections this year. Any farmer who participates in the agricultural conservation, flaxseed payment, sugar, or federal crop insurance program may vote.

Three farmers will be chosen as committeemen in each community—and also one delegate to the county convention. The delegates to the county convention elect the three-man county committee.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Nicholas Puerling returned to his home here last Friday from the hospital at Madison after having been confined there and at the South View Isolation hospital in Milwaukee the past three months with infantile paralysis.

Willard Manthel of this village submitted to an appendectomy at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, Tuesday, Nov. 20.

Math. Stahler, R. 1, Kewaskum, was admitted for treatment at the West Bend hospital Wednesday, Nov. 14.

Mrs. Arthur Weddig of West Bend, formerly of this village, underwent an operation at the West Bend hospital Thursday, Nov. 15.

Legion Wants Gifts for "Yanks Who Gave"

The campaign of The American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary to procure for distribution enough gifts to give a generous Christmas to a half million hospitalized veterans and service persons here and abroad is under way. The Kewaskum Legion post and auxiliary are participating in the campaign for the first time this year.

Last year Eddie Cantor the comedian, asked the radio audience to donate gifts, which would be distributed by The American Legion and its auxiliary to hospitalized veterans and service persons. This joint campaign of the Legion and Auxiliary is again receiving the co-operation of Eddie Cantor, who can be heard every WEDNESDAY NIGHT OVER NBC FROM 8-8:30 p. m.

A tremendous number of gifts is needed. Our load in Wisconsin is heavy and moreover, we may be called on to help out other states and also to contribute to the gifts which will be sent overseas.

This does not mean that Legion and Auxiliary members must be the only ones to supply gifts—surely there are many people in our community who will want to provide a gift to a "Yank who gave."

It has been suggested that gifts may be left in the L. Rosenheimer or A. G. Koch stores and collected by Legion and Auxiliary members. The stores will be glad to co-operate. These gifts must be in by Dec. 10, 1945. Please do not wrap your gifts in holiday paper.

After careful consideration based on the experiences of last year we submit the following list as suggestions for gifts:

NEW BOOKS—Mysteries, classics, bibles, comics, dictionaries, humor, NO WAR STORIES.

STATIONERY AND GAMES—Good quality stationery, kits, chess sets, fountain pens, mechanical pencils, pencil sharpeners, address books, playing cards.

TOILETRIES—Good quality razors and razor blades, toilet kits, shaving kits, cleansing tissues.

FOR THE SMOKER—Cartons of cigarettes, boxes of cigars, cans of tobacco, pipes, lighters, tobacco pouches, pipe cleaners, matches.

THINGS TO WEAR—Scarfs, sweaters, pajamas, dress shirts, tee shirts, gloves, good quality socks, nice handkerchiefs, bill folds, bedroom slippers.

Cash gifts are acceptable. No food stuff or candy. The boys did a splendid job. Let's do our part now by giving "gifts to the Yanks who gave."

Kewaskum Drops Opening Game to Sheboygan Falls

Kewaskum high school dropped its first non-conference game to Sheboygan Falls, 34-26, there Friday night, Nov. 16. Playing their first game after a limited practice period, the Indians looked good during the first half and trailed by a score of 13-13 at the half. However, the third quarter saw the Falls score eight points to Kewaskum's two and the Indians rally in the fourth quarter to win.

Glenn Backhaus was the high scorer for both teams with fourteen points on six field goals and two free throws. For the winners Retzlaff was high with ten points, on four baskets and two free throws.

The Kewaskum "B" squad also lost to the Falls by a score of 32-12. Our return game with the Falls will be Tuesday, Nov. 27, here.

On Friday, Nov. 20, the Indians play Brandon at Brandon.

Meetings for Farmers in Northern Part of County

Farmers in the northern portion of Washington county are cordially invited to attend an educational meeting on dairy herd management and soil conservation practices. These meetings are to be held as follows:

Tuesday evening, Nov. 27—School's school, Kewaskum township, 8 o'clock.

Wednesday evening, Nov. 28—Al's Tavern (Wietor's hall), Wayne, 8 o'clock.

Thursday evening, Nov. 29—Boettcher's hall, Kohlsville, 8 o'clock.

Movies will be shown on interesting and timely subjects. Any farmer interested is invited to attend.

SON BORN TO MAURERS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. William Maurer Jr. of Milwaukee at the Milwaukee Maternity Pavilion on Saturday, Nov. 17. Mrs. Maurer is the former Earla Prost, daughter of Arnold C. Prost of the town of Kewaskum.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

A marriage license has been issued to Edward A. Marx, Route 2, Kewaskum, and Louise Schneider, Route 1, Kewaskum.

Timber Harvest Day to be Held in State Forest Area

A part of the Kettle Moraine state forest will be used Dec. 4 to demonstrate timber harvesting and home utilization of lumber and fuel, it has been announced by County Agent Skalkisley of Washington county and Clyde T. Smith, forest supervisor, for the conservation department. The field day is to begin at 1:30 p. m. and will be held two and one quarter miles southwest of Dundee on State Trunk Highway 67.

Forest Supervisor Smith reports that loggers are already at work cutting about 6700 feet of mature sawtimber, which is just the amount that was found to have grown on a 60 acre unit of the state forest during the past year. County Agent Skalkisley points out that one of the principal purposes of this first field day in the Kettle Moraine forest is to show how a farm woods can be cut for continuous income by a farm owner, yet keep the original amount of timber remaining the same, by cutting no more than what grew in the one year or two year period between cuts. How the amount that grew was learned will also be explained.

This state forest area is to be used as a permanent demonstration forest, with annual timber harvest field days in future years, according to Supervisor Smith, who sees in this an opportunity to make the Kettle Moraine state forest serve the farmers of eastern Wisconsin.

A feature of field day will be the operation of a mobile saw in a demonstration put on by the newly formed timber cropper service, which is described as a mill that can be taken to a farmer's yard or to his woods, and be set up for operation in less than one hour. A mill of this type is important in making it possible for farmers to use their home grown logs for home lumber as well as for sale.

Other features of field day, which will be under the direction of Extension Forester, Fred Trank of the University of Wisconsin, College of Agriculture, are demonstrations in woods safety, felling difficult trees to avoid breakage of the logs, how to measure and grade logs, the selection of certain grades of logs for cash markets that are more profitable than home sawed lumber and an accounting of hours of labor in the logging to show the hourly wages that can be earned by home logging.

In case of unfavorable weather a large barn adjacent to the sawmill will be used for the meeting. Smith advised, after reporting that a large sign is being put up along Highway 67 to the location of the demonstration forest.

17 Teams to Open Play in Lakes League Dec. 1

Kewaskum is one of 17 or more teams which will be ready for the opening of the Land O' Lakes league basketball season Dec. 1, according to Martin C. Weger, Merton, director. Two divisions will play separate schedules of 20 games with a playoff series between the pennant winners at the close of the season. A minor league known as the Land O' Rivers league will also be organized and a north and south division will also be formed. Most of the teams in the Lakes loop, including Kewaskum, will also enter a team in the Rivers circuit, so that this league should also have 17 or more teams. The two leagues will be made up of 34 or more teams.

Teams and managers in the northern division of the Lakes league are: Mayville Legion, Louis Mueller; Hartford City, Alderman F. Hughes and Paul Hauser; West Bend City D-X, Paul Schacht; Kewaskum Indians, Killan Honeck; Cedarburg A. C., Mel Maronde; Menomonee Falls, Walter's Welders, Harold Schramm. Weber reports Beaver Dam and Port Washington are considering entering teams in the northern circuit.

Teams in the southern division and managers are: Watertown Moose, Ed. Podolski; Oconomowoc Lions, Jos. Reldel; North Lake Community Club, Don Stapleton; Hartland Legion, Walter Hoffman; Pewaukee A. C., George Simmons; Sussex Cannors, Jos. Weber; Butler Legion, Ray Hyland; Waukesha Dale Chevrolet, Glenn Davis; Waukesha Richs, Chick Sobrofski; Mukwonago "Wonagos," Morley Pafford; East Troy Lions, James Deist.

Kewaskum is by far the smallest town represented in the Lakes northern division. The team has had a couple of practice sessions and so far about a dozen players have turned out. The team expects to be strengthened by war veterans who will be discharged soon. However, to enter teams in both leagues more players are sorely needed and it is hoped that at the next practice Monday evening more new candidates will be on hand. Kewaskum hopes to get non-league practice game next Friday night here before opening Lakes play Sunday night, Dec. 2.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. Jacob Brussels Sr., who passed away six years ago, Nov. 23, 1939:

We weep for her, no tenderer wife,
'E'er made man's fireside bright,
No more devoted mother love
'E'er kept home altar fires alight,
And she is with the angel host
With sinless heart and stainless hand,
Waiting to meet the friends to come,
To that bright and happy land,
Sadly missed by her husband, Jacob Brussels Sr. and family.

SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED

The Kewaskum public school and Holy Trinity parochial school closed Wednesday for the Thanksgiving vacation and the teachers of the public school left the same evening for their various homes. Classes will be resumed Monday at both schools.

LEGION TO HOLD CARD PARTY

Kewaskum Post No. 334, American Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary will sponsor a public card party on Tuesday evening, Nov. 27, at 8 p. m. in the Legion clubhouse. All games played, including bunco. Prizes, including a door prize, will be awarded. Everyone invited.

First Snow Storm Ties Up Traffic; Causes Accidents

The first severe snow storm of the season struck this vicinity on Wednesday morning and continued until Thursday evening, tying up traffic, causing auto accidents and disrupting telephone and electric service on some lines. Rain fell in the morning Wednesday and turned to snow about 10 a. m. The snow continued to fall throughout the day and night, most of Thanksgiving day and there were still snow flurries in the air until Friday morning. On Wednesday afternoon a strong wind arose and whipped the snow up in drifts, blocking many country roads and making driving extremely hazardous. The strong wind prevailed until Thursday night.

Trains and buses were many hours behind schedule on Wednesday and Thursday. A traffic tie-up near Jackson on Highway 75 caused the Greyhound bus due here shortly after 7 p. m. Wednesday to arrive at 3 a. m. the next morning. Kewaskum Creamery trucks and other trucks returning from Milwaukee and due here in the afternoon were still arriving after midnight. Some local people coming out from Milwaukee for Thanksgiving were forced to return to the city, some detoured around other highways and others remained in West Bend overnight. Many other people traveling for the holiday were delayed and stranded as were deer hunters enroute north for the season opening Saturday. People sought shelter in rural taverns and farm houses overnight.

Many folks invited out of town for Thanksgiving were forced to remain home and enjoy hash and left-overs. At least one telephone line in the village was out of order from the wind and wet snow clinging to wires and it is reported that some districts west of town were without light and power. Snow plows were kept busy clearing the highways.

Several minor accidents were reported Wednesday. In the early evening the westbound Kewaskum school bus ran into the ditch while returning after taking the pupils home. All pupils but one had already been removed from the bus when the mishap occurred. As he approached the curve at the former Joe Karl cheese factory on Highway 25 west of the village, A. C. Johnson, the driver, came upon a car parked across the highway. By quick thinking to avoid striking the car he turned the corner but the bus was moving a little too fast to negotiate the curve and ran into a ditch. A nearby farmer took the lone pupil in the bus home.

In another accident Wednesday evening it was reported that an auto driven by Gustav "Clark" Werner of this village collided with a stalled car on the Kewaskum hill on Highway 55 just south of town. After crossing the hill Werner suddenly came upon the car parked along the highway. Vision was very poor due to the storm. As soon as he saw the car he applied the brakes but his car skidded on the icy pavement and rammed into the other auto. Werner suffered a small cut on the forehead and both cars were damaged. One or two other accidents of a minor nature were reported but details were not available.

Another of these occurred on the Kewaskum hill. Motorists reported many cars and trucks in the ditch between Kewaskum and Milwaukee on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. John Emmer Dies of Injuries in Fall

Mrs. John Emmer, 78, nee Mary Schmidt, native of the town of Wayne, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pauline Marx, Route 4, West Bend, with whom she resided, on Wednesday, Nov. 14, after having been ill since Nov. 10, when she was injured severely in a fall down the stairs at the Marx home.

Mrs. Emmer was born May 17, 1866 in the town of Wayne and married John Emmer on Nov. 25, 1890 at St. Kilian. After their marriage the couple settled in the town of Wayne and in 1906 they moved onto a farm in the town of Addison. They retired in 1932 and moved to Allenton. Mr. Emmer predeceased his wife on May 4, 1937.

The deceased is survived by the following children besides Mrs. Marx: Joe on the homestead, Theresa (Mrs. Wm. Kaun), Anna (Mrs. Edwin Klumb), Anita (Mrs. Mich. Schmidt), all of Allenton, and Elizabeth (Mrs. Lawrence Wilson) of Wilmette, Ill. She also leaves a sister, Miss Elizabeth Schmitt of Wayne and 14 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at Sacred Heart church, Allenton, on Saturday morning, the Rev. Leo Belda officiating. Interment took place in the parish cemetery where the Rev. Leo Skalkisley officiated.

MARLIN U. WARDEN

Marlin U. Warden, 49, of 626 End Court, Sheboygan, who formerly resided in Kewaskum in the home now occupied by the Henry Weddig family on East Main street, died Tuesday noon, Nov. 13, at Memorial hospital after ailing for 19 years. Mr. Warden was quite well known here.

Born April 16, 1896, at Sun Prairie, he was married to Hilma Burhop on Sept. 24, 1915, in Sheboygan. A veteran of World War I, he was employed on the railroad at Fond du Lac for a time and since going to Sheboygan was employed by the J. D. Warden Electric company and the Kohler company. For the past 14 years he was a co-partner in the Sheboygan rendering plant.

Survivors are his wife, two children, Cpl. Richard W. in the European theater, and Miss Dorothy Lou at home; his mother, Mrs. May Warden, and a sister, Mrs. Louise Brandt, Sheboygan.

Funeral services were held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Ballhorn funeral chapel, Sheboygan, the Rev. Wm. Czernianski officiating, and burial was made in the family lot in Wildwood cemetery there.

Marvin Koenig Takes Miss Mauel as Bride

In a 10 o'clock nuptial service read by the Rev. John Goebel in the parsonage of Holy Angels church at West Bend on Saturday morning, Nov. 17, Miss Rosalie Mauel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry B. Mauel of Owen, Wis., became the bride of Marvin Koenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Koenig of Kewaskum.

The bride, who was a registered nurse at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, wore a pastel blue wool frock with black accessories and a white orchid for her wedding. Her only attendant was her sister Alice, who wore a winter white frock with brown accessories and a corsage of mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Walter Koenig, as best man. A wedding dinner for 25 guests was served at Bauer's hotel in Campbellsville following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Koenig left on a wedding trip to Santa Fe, New Mexico.

19,000 Christmas Seals Mailed Out; Quota $200

Kewaskum residents have received letters the past week containing their Christmas seals. Members of the Christmas seal sale committee have finished stuffing envelopes containing a total of 19,000 seals for distribution on Nov. 19, the opening date of the 1945 national seal sale campaign.

"The seal sale is conducted annually by mail," Mrs. Brauchle, Kewaskum campaign chairman explained. "No seals are sold by children. The letters are sent out from our office as early as possible, since we appreciate the efforts of individual postmen and postoffice workers who will soon be burdened with overwhelming loads of Christmas-time packages and greeting cards. Postmaster Frank Heppie has assured us that seal sale mail will be delivered according to schedule."

The 1945 campaign quota is $200.00. Many new families have moved to our village the past year. Their names do not appear on our files, so the chairman, Mrs. Brauchle, would promptly fill orders sent with name and address on a penny postcard. Proceeds will supply anti-tuberculosis associations with the "ammunition" needed to secure victory in the war against tuberculosis waged in this community.

MRS. FOSTER RESIGNS AS HEALTH CENTER DIRECTOR

The Wilmette, Ill. Health Center board has accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. V. E. Foster, R. N., the former Violet Ebenreiter, daughter of August C. Ebenreiter of this village, as director of the center effective Nov. 10. Mrs. Foster has been director of the health center for the past three years and the scope of its service to the community has been greatly expanded under her leadership. She has not as yet appointed a successor to Mrs. Foster, the members being unanimous in the opinion that the position will be difficult to fill because of the great efficiency, loyalty and high degree of professional ethics Mrs. Foster has displayed at all times.

CHIMNEY FIRE

The Kewaskum fire department was called out at 6 a. m. Monday to a chimney fire at the Louis Vorpahl home in the village. The fire was put without damage.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Learning to Forgive

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"He looks with curiosity, annoyance, and even jealousy while you care for his son."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

OUR soldiers are going to need a great many things when they come back from the battlefronts. One of these is forgiveness.

"Forgive them!" you say indignantly. "What on earth have we to forgive them! Our heroes, who have faced dangers, homesickness, seasickness, boredom, wounds, cold and heat, epidemic and insects, and fatigue—and you say 'forgive them!'"

"Why," cry the mothers and wives of America, "we're going to give them the most royal welcome returning boys ever had; we're planning meals that will build up those hospital-wasted bodies and those limbs thinned in jungle heat! They are going to be lords of the earth when they come home!"

And just the same I say, "Forgive them." Forgive them their bitterness—their scorn. They'll look at the prettiness and safety of home life with weary contemptuous eyes. It's doggedly important, is it?—that wedding announcements are engraved rather than printed? We've got to have parsley on that, have we, Ma? It broke up Betty's life that I forgot that that fool girl telephoned her, did it?

They hope to shock you. Forgive them their politics. They won't know what they think, but they'll be positive with criticisms, opinions, discussion of socialism, communism, labor rights, rights of ex-servicemen, and they will take great pains to say what they hope will shock you. Nothing will be sacred to them—in conversation at least—and if you hold for the preservation of marriage ties, they'll argue for license and free love.

Forgive them their strangeness. You're accustomed to the daily home events. You love the baby so much—having loved him all those months for both father and mother—that the trouble that is a baby is no trouble to you. With Tom it's different. He looks on with curiosity, annoyance, and even jealousy while you care for his son. Do you have to turn upstairs every time the kid yips? Does he always smear himself up that way at meals? Can't we leave him with a neighbor one week-end and go off for one of our old good times? You'll have to forgive him that.

Forgive them their uselessness. To some of them their terrible experiment of war has come just at the wrong time. It's hard to go back into college, it's harder still to get into employment for which they're not fitted. They will drift. The big boy just out of uniform will come down late to breakfast—and little sister will look questioningly at you. Is she supposed to hang around until 10 o'clock to cook eggs for Billy? You will suggest to him that he might like to see Uncle Joe about going into the paper mill, or Cousin Roger about a job at the hotel. He will nod, his mouth full of your good waffles, but he won't go to see either. A spring has been broken in his young fine make-up, and it may

They are bitter and cynical...

Children Need Plenty of Sleep to Be Energetic

An underweight child with a typical fatigue posture suggests not only poor nutrition but insufficient sleep and rest, the child development specialist pointed out. Sleep needs vary with age, with rate of growth and with physical activity. Adolescents need more than the standard eight and one-half hours sleep during periods of rapid growth. A child who fails to sleep promptly, and awakens himself, is getting enough sleep and rest.

READJUSTMENT TO PEACE

Wives, mothers and friends of returning veterans find that the young men they used to know and love have come back strangely different. They are bitter and cynical often. They are unsettled, difficult, touchy. They want to be shocking in ideas, attitudes and speech, in many cases. They are difficult to live with.

Many won't fit into any job. They just sit around the house, morose and dull, or else tirelessly garrulous. Going back to school under the G. I. Bill of Rights doesn't look attractive to many men. There just doesn't seem to be anything they really want to do.

Some have gnawing consciences about incidents while they were away. Maybe they got involved in some black market deal. A number have been unfaithful to their wives while enduring the loneliness and misery of war in distant lands. All this, Miss Norris says, must be forgiven. These men have survived terrible experiences, particularly horrible to young, impressionable soldiers.

Months before that spring is rebuilt, and he is geared to normal home life again.

Recovery is Slow. Forgive him, you mothers of wounded boys, his hypochondria. He's been hurt, patched, bandaged, he's been in splints or on crutches; his young blood and young courage and young strength has been drained away from him, and he can't regain what he has lost in a hurry. He'll be fretful, talk symptoms, bore you all with his physical history. Not for long, but until he gets on his feet, in nerves and mind and soul and body again.

And finally, some of you wives forgive him that he put someone else in your place, for awhile. In loneliness and distance men need women for comfort, and when a friendly, attractive woman is near, home seems very far away. When he comes back to you, and perhaps blurts out his regret and his surprise at what he did, forgive him then. It is part of the total world ruin of war that so many wives find it impossible to forgive this one thing. But it isn't the worst offense a tired, lonely, hungry, despairing man ever committed. Cruelty and injustice and abuse of power—these crimes leave deep scars. But reaching out wearily for companionship and affection, when the home affection and companionship for which he longs is not accessible, this is some thing to be forgiven—and forgotten.

As we forgive those who trespass against us, we all are to be forgiven some day. Lay up in the spiritual banks for yourself an emergency fund of divine forgiveness.

FOOD NEEDS STILL LARGE

Large quantities of food are still needed, despite the happy changes in the war situation. Recent reductions in government requirements for canned vegetables will permit civilians to have 10,000,000 more cases from the 1945 pack than was formerly planned, but total food requirements are so high that civilians will get about 10 per cent less canned vegetables than from the 1944 pack. There has also been a downward revision in the set aside of canned fruit and fruit juices.

Inflation Threat Will Become a Dread Reality If Everyone Scrambles for Excessive Profits and Wages

Only Controls of OPA Prevented Runaway Prices During War.

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WNU Staff Correspondent

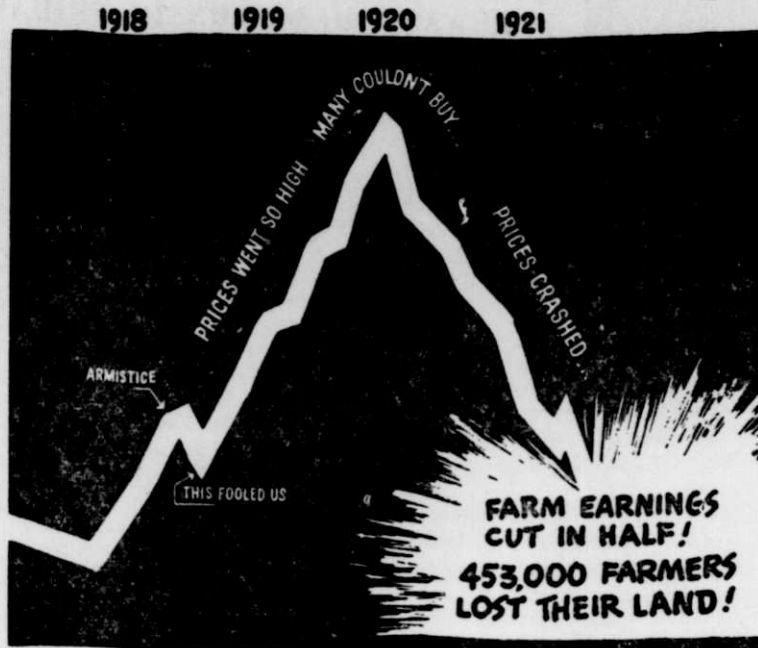

During the war years, if we became peeved with rationing and price control it was the national habit to cuss OPA. During reconversion, people, from the captains of industry on down the line and into the ranks of congress, blame many of our ills on OPA.

There have been ridiculous and oft-time funny jokes cracked about the OPA and the controls instituted for the protection of the American people. And, as is the case in any human institution, the OPA has made mistakes, errors of judgment.

Congress has been deluged with letters from constituents, business men and consumers, concerning real or fancied ills and discriminations which were laid at the door of the Office of Price Administration. And congressmen, being human too, let the blame rest on OPA, passing the buck along. But despite all this criticism, despite verbal beatings which tore to shreds the actions and policies of OPA, congress dared not eliminate the agency, despite strong pressure, and by an overwhelming majority voted to continue OPA and the price control policy until next June. And every poll taken of the American people showed, despite their opinions, that the majority favored the continuation of OPA.

As a matter of fact and record, had it not been for the OPA and the policies of rationing and price control, the American people would never have been in the favorable position they are in today to face whatever may come in these months of reconversion growing pains. For price controls have held the line against inflation and rationing controls have seen this country the best fed in its history.

Most folks don't understand inflation and what it means, but most people do understand and resent and fear high prices. The records show that every major war in which the nation has been engaged has been

During World War I prices rose swiftly. After the armistice on November 11, 1918, there was a sudden dip, lasting only three months. Then the upswing was resumed, soaring until midyear of 1920. The price level more than doubled between 1917 and 1920. When prices broke in the later months of 1920, a toboggan slide began that brought ruin to millions.

that the general level of price fluctuation remains steady. Farming has become one of these specialized industries, relatively, and a great many of the things used on the farm and in the farm home are purchased. Too, many farm investments and obligations incident to the farm business are long term obligations, and so the behavior of the price level means much to farmers.

For instance, a farmer who borrowed some money in 1913 could have taken $5 of that borrowed money and bought 40 pounds of meat, 152 pounds of flour, 91 pounds of sugar or 77 yards of gingham. If he paid back that loan in 1920 during the period of inflation, the lender could have taken the same $5 and to be assured that the cost of living or the cost of operating a farm or a business will not be permitted to go up into an inflation spiral. They want price controls continued for the present.

All three of the major national farm organizations have strongly supported the price control program. Labor organizations, too, have given unstinting support. The farmers in the older age brackets do not easily forget what happened when what few controls existed were dropped shortly after the armistice in the last war. At first, prices slumped rather sharply in some commodities, but within a few months, after reconversion and workers returned to their jobs in peacetime plants, the downward trend was reversed and within seven months the inflation boom was in full swing. Prices rose skyward; manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers were forced into a wild scramble for inventories. Prices soared higher and higher. Farm prices skyrocketed 109 per cent between 1914 and 1920.

If farmers, merchants, manufacturers can be certain that the costs of things they buy will not skyrocket and threaten a major crash later, they can make long-term plans for large-scale operations and production and full employment. If workers can be certain of this full employment at adequate wages, then they also can feel secure of the value of their purchasing power... will feel free to spend for reconversion goods and this free spending will stimulate more employment.

On the other hand, if swiftly rising prices make production costs unpredictable, business will not be able or willing to plan ahead, full production will falter and fear of unemployment would make consumers afraid to spend. We have often remarked about the analogous relation between the farmers' income and full employment in cities, for it is a fact that when income of workers is high, farm income also is high. When there is heavy unemployment, farm prices toboggan.

Price Administrator Bowles has given his word that OPA is going to continue an effective job with the ultimate goal of keeping a sound price structure upon which can be built sound prosperity. When OPA plans to step out of the picture. (The present act ends June 30, 1946). To do this he plans (1) wherever necessary to continue price controls over goods and services which have been controlled in war time; (2) to set prices on reconversion goods; (3) to work out simple dollar-and-cents ceiling prices for building materials and as many consumer goods items as possible; (4) to require manufacturers to tag consumer goods with easy-to-read retail ceiling prices.

Continued control over tractors, other farm implements and machinery, fertilizer and seeds so long as they are in short supply is on the program. It may be necessary to increase some prices as compared to prewar, but the plan is to keep all prices as near prewar level as possible. Bowles says that price control alone cannot guarantee prosperity, but he believes that it can help to control inflation by keeping the buying power of each dollar and will enable industry, agriculture and labor, together with government, to work together toward a sound post-war prosperity.

HOLDING THE PRICE LINE

Stable prices for farm products are best for the farmer. Any temporary profits he might make through rising prices would be eaten up by the increasing cost of manufactured things that he has to buy.

accompanied or followed by a major inflation, followed by deflation of equal proportions.

Rise Held to 29 Per Cent. And for the first time in our nation's history, thanks to OPA, the cost of living, during and immediately following this war, has been held fairly steady. From the outbreak of the war to the end of 1944, living costs, as measured by the bureau of labor statistics, rose less than 29 per cent, and most of that rise came before May, 1943, when teeth were inserted into the price stabilization program. By comparison, living costs rose more than 84 per cent in a like period after the outbreak of the First World War when there was no rationing or price control. Labor unions declare the rise in the cost of living has increased more than 29 per cent, reaching a 40 per cent figure, but even so, if that is true, it does not reach the dizzy heights to which living costs went after the last war.

Farmers, because of the nature of their business, suffer more than any other group from inflation and the crash which inevitably follows. As a matter of fact, it makes little difference what the price level may be, so long as it remains stable... and assuming that the incomes to the various occupational groups are fair and equitable. The more specialized and the more commercialized the business is, the more desirable it is bought only 21 pounds of meat, 62 pounds of flour, 26 pounds of sugar or 23 yards of gingham. The borrower returned the same number of dollars, but he did not return the same amount of purchasing power.

It's Million Farms Lost. Inflation during and following the last war lost to the farmers of this country approximately a million and a half farms. Why? Because prosperous farmers during the war invested their money in land at inflated prices. They went into debt for machinery, for homes, barns and other commodities at inflated prices. Then the purchasing power of the dollar changed and the deflation which followed the inflated values brought about the inevitable crash.

Chester Bowles, the boss of the OPA, is a business man. He was the head of a large advertising agency which was in daily contact with big business. So he knows big business practices and he has become the rock upon which the pressure groups are dashing themselves in an effort to break price control.

Chester Bowles has taken his stand against price inflation and for price control, because his office is flooded with hundreds of letters every week testifying to the fear with which they view inflation or high prices... and these letters come from big and little people alike... from farmers, workers, housewives, consumers, small business men. One theme predominates... they want

STABLE PRICES

Heavy Hand of OPA Really Has Held Down Price Level, Figures Show

The OPA has definitely held down prices for commodities which farmers buy as is seen by a comparison. For instance prices paid by farmers for commodities used in living and production between 1939 and August, 1945, advanced 49 per cent as compared to an increase of 98 per cent between 1914 and 1920. The most definite instance of the effectiveness of price control can be judged by comparing the increase between 1939 and May, 1945, the date when authority was granted to put teeth into the price control act, and increases since May, 1943. For instance, from 1939 to August, 1945, these prices increased 49 per cent as we pointed out above, while from May, 1943, to August, 1945, the increase has been only 9 per cent. Price control in the U. S. A. is nothing new. It goes back to April 15, 1776, when by power of a committee of supervision and observation of the Continental congress "no vendor shall sell in excess of prices fixed by this price chart." Some of the prices fixed by that first price control in the nation, before independence even, included coffee, 11 cents (about 22 cents) per pound; West Indian rum, 4 shilling, 6 pence (about $1.08) per gallon; chocolate, 16 pence (about 32 cents) per pound; Lisbon salt, 4 shillings (about 96 cents) per bushel; pepper, 5 shillings (about $1.20) per pound; and loaf sugar, 14 pence (about 28 cents).

Veterans SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Few Continue Insurance

Concerned with the large percentage of veterans who are not converting their national service life insurance into permanent insurance, or with maintaining their policies in present form, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Veterans' administration director, recently held a meeting with a joint committee of the American Life Association and the Life Insurance Convention of America to lay plans for a nation-wide educational campaign on the subject.

"Recent figures indicate that only one out of five veterans discharged is continuing his term policy or is converting it into one of the three types of permanent insurance offered," General Bradley said.

This figure, the committee was told, is approximately three times the ratio experienced after the last war.

A committee of insurance men headed by Alexander Patterson, executive vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, assured General Bradley that the committee "is prepared to go all-out to co-operate with you in your program to present to the veteran the many advantages of maintaining his national service life insurance policy."

Questions and Answers

Q. My husband, a veteran of World War I is sick and disabled and about four months ago put in a disability claim and has not heard from it. Will they write and tell him whether he is eligible for pay or not? —Mrs. W. J. G., Lebanon, Va.

A. Yes, he will no doubt hear from the Veterans administration. If he does not soon, write again to the nearest regional office of the Veterans administration.

Q. My 18-year-old brother is now entering the army. How much time will he have to spend in the service or has there a definite length of time decided upon? If a soldier re-enlists in the army, then decides within 20 days that he wants a discharge, can he get it? —Mrs. L. J., Pontotoc, Miss.

A. The answer to your first question is that there has been no definite time decided for 18-year-olds in the army. To the second question, the answer is No.

Q. My husband has been in service since February, 1945. He is 31 years old and he has never had any training. Will there be any chance of him getting out soon? He was classified in F-4 and put in A-1.—A reader, Remlap, Ala.

A. Indications are that your husband was inducted as a replacement and that he may be in limited service, but the chances of his early discharge are not good.

Q. How can I get medical care, other than maternity care, for a soldier's family? I have three children who must have medical care and I am under a doctor's care myself. —Mrs. W. R., Wilmington, Ill.

A. Write to the nearest army medical center, or apply to your local Red Cross and they may advise you.

Q. What does the navy get discharge points for? Do they get any points for battle stars or citations? —Mrs. A. A., Dennison, Ohio.

A. Under present regulations navy discharge points are awarded only as follows: One-half point for each year of age; one-half point for each month of active service; one-quarter point for each month of sea duty; ten points for dependency. Forty-one points are necessary for discharge. Any navy man with three children is eligible for discharge.

Q. My husband was told when entering the service that he would be discharged six months after the war. Will he get out by then or will he have to stay in the army until he has enough points? —L. L., Gloster, Miss.

A. The chances are he will have to stay until he is eligible for discharge under the point system. The war is not officially ended until declared so by proclamation of the President or by congress.

Q. If a man is sent to the Pacific for occupation, how long will he have to stay? —Mrs. K. C., Dennison, Ohio.

A. His service would depend entirely upon the number of points he has earned and the nature of his service.

Q. My husband, a veteran of World War I, did not receive his transportation home after being honorably discharged. Can he still collect his transportation? —Mrs. L. D., St. Maries, Idaho.

A. It is 25 years late, but you might write to the Office of the Adjutant General, War Department.

Q. How long is it permissible for a discharged soldier to wear a full uniform after arriving home? —M. E. T., Onekama, Mich.

A. The regulations provide a soldier may wear his uniform up to 90 days after his discharge.

Q. Will an 18-year-old boy have to go to the army when he has 200 acres of land to work on and can get work at any time he is not busy at home? —Mother, Arva, Mo.

A. Yes, if he is physically eligible and is unable to obtain an agricultural deferment.

The Doc Offered No Inducement to Sambo

Sambo, finding himself growing deaf, went to consult a specialist. The doctor gave the ducky a thorough examination, and then said, "Look here, Uncle, haven't you been drinking?" "Yassuh," replied Sambo, "Ise been drinking."

"Well," remarked the specialist, "if you want to hear better you'll have to cut out liquor."

The old man pondered briefly, and then replied, "Doc, Ise afereed dat won't do no good. What I been er drinkin' am so much better dan what I been a'heerin' dat I b'lieve 'I'll just keep on er gettin' deefer."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Follow Directions for Tender, Home-Baked Breads (See Recipe Below)

Hot Breads

If you want to choose one item that will make a company meal out of a plain menu, then add fragrant home-baked bread or rolls to it. Fresh-from-the-oven bread or rolls are meal tonics hard to beat.

If you want to add extra nourishment to your menu or to give inexpensive energy to your family, then the formula is bread—or rolls! They contain carbohydrates, some fat and milk and eggs.

Bread can be used lavishly in many interesting ways. A fruited coffee ring for breakfast can mean the difference between a well begun day or a dull, prodding one. And think of the difference between fresh, moist bread in sandwiches for lunch and dry, stale bread.

First of all, there's this scarlet-topped and crystal-glazed quick coffee cake to start the day right. Or, if you prefer, it will do nicely for dessert, thank you!

Cranberry Coffee Ring.
(12 Servings)

- 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 egg
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 3 tablespoons melted shortening
- Cranberry Orange Topping.
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups whole, raw cranberries

Mix together in order given and use it as directed above. Now that cheese is plentiful and unrationed, it's a good idea to use it for main dishes and desserts, too. With plump, red-cheeked apples and cheese, you can make this delectable dessert:

Cheese-Apple Cobblettes.
(Serves 6-8)

- 2 cups sifted flour
 - 3 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1-1 cup nippy grated cheese
 - 2-4 tablespoons shortening
 - 1/2-3/4 cup milk
 - 1 cup chopped apples
 - 2 tablespoons sugar
- Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut or rub in shortening. Add cheese and mix lightly. Add milk to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board and

Everything Is Handy in 'Scientifically Arranged' Kitchen, With Latest Gadgets

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN
Fingertip control is the key word of a new model kitchen recently put on exhibit. It represents a scientific placement of every bit of equipment, every utensil and pan, so that it is where you want it when you want it—no traveling back and forth across the kitchen several times during every operation. Sometimes this means two or three of certain things, such as salt shakers, certain measuring equipment, sugar, flour and the other things that you may need in several parts of the kitchen.

Not only is equipment properly placed but comfort in working has been considered, with the proper height working surfaces, a comfortable stool for the sit-down jobs and even a desk for the paper work. Needless to say, the appliances will represent the last word, with a dishwasher taken for granted.

Another taken for granted item for the postwar kitchen is the home freezer. It is going to come in handy for storage of all those frozen kitchen wonders we've been hearing about which will make such use of preparing things that used to take time and tedium.

One of the best ideas in the new kitchens are the up-and-down sliding doors. They rolled away like the top of an old-fashioned roll-top desk. And if you think it doesn't help to get cupboard doors completely out of the way during busy times sessions in the kitchen, then you never really have done a serious stint of cooking.

REVIEW OF A NEW AUTOMOBILE

The first 1946 model—automobile has been unveiled to the public. Thousands visited the showroom, and shouts of joy went up as the American buying public saw the many new features. These included fenders on both sides, bumpers in the proper position and brakes that really worked.

Departures from the trend of the last four years were numerous, a marked leaning toward having the chassis directly in line with the body, instead of partly askew being especially noteworthy.

Further sensations included exhaust pipes that were not dangling, and a tendency to have all shackles and bolts in the proper position. Nothing like this had been seen on automobiles since Pearl Harbor, and the reception was terrific.

Outstanding innovations, too, were windshields with the glass intact, wipers that really worked by pressing a little gadget, as directed, and a dashboard clock that did not register 8:15 permanently.

The first view of the new wonder car made it plain that a score of surprises were in store for the man who has been driving what has passed as an automobile since 1941. For one thing—and this is important—doors are back! Definitely!

Much comment was caused by the discovery that after closing the door windows you can no longer stick your hand out without lowering it again. The public is expected to get used to this after a while. The idea of having one or more panes of glass missing has been completely dropped.

Salesmen explained, however, that if customers through habit wished to have a door with the glass missing, they could arrange it.

Nineteen forty-six models will have paint on all parts, much of it with a gloss. Steering gears will be quite firm, it being no longer necessary to give them four or five complete turns to control the wheels.

General approval of the new cars was expressed; but there was one sigh of disappointment. It was discovered that the companies would make no departure from the 35-year rule of never providing a jack or a kit of tools adequate for even a minor repair.

CUT IN FLOCKS PRESSED AS EGG SURPLUS LOOMS

A conference recently held in the agricultural office in West Bend by J. B. Hayes, poultry specialist of the College of Agriculture, and local poultry hatcherymen, feed dealers, and others brought out the fact that an egg surplus is just around the corner.

Poultry growers are becoming greatly concerned, according to Mr. Hayes, on how much longer future markets will be able to absorb the gigantic wartime egg production.

Washington county is one of the leading egg producing counties in the state. The 1935 census data only recently released shows that the laying hen population of the county is 262,290 laying hens. These produced 34,964,000 eggs in 1944. This is 290,000 cases of 30 dozen each. During the past wartime years, about one-half of the eggs produced were shipped to any of the fourteen egg drying plants in the state. One 30 dozen case made about 10 or 11 pounds of dried powdered eggs.

The government was the best customer for powdered eggs, buying them in huge quantities for military needs. In the powdered forms, eggs could easily be shipped long distances with a minimum of transportation costs or stored for long periods of time.

With the close of the war, government buying is rapidly dwindling off. The home markets are not yet willing to buy large quantities of powdered eggs, much preferring the shell egg.

Egg production has outdistanced civilian egg consumption during the past three years. Egg production, because of more and better producing hens, is about 44 eggs per capita whereas consumption is around the 360 mark. This means that there is being produced about 84 eggs more per capita annually in the United States than there is a market demand for. In other words, we are at present producing nearly one billion dozen more eggs per year than we can use. This can cause an over supply that can become ruinous to the poultry business.

Egg producers are being urged to adopt a four point program as follows:

- (1) Reduction of the size of the flock to normalcy or prewar level.
- (2) Adopt a quality program and make housewives want more eggs.
- (3) Grade eggs upon a federal standard thus facilitating interstate shipments.
- (4) Carry out a rigid culling program and improve production to a point where lower egg prices will still produce a profit.

FRUIT GROWERS URGED TO PLAN MOUSE CONTROL

Before long, snow-covered ground will force field mice to turn for food to the tender bark of young fruit trees. Conrad L. Kuehner, extension horticulturist at the University of Wisconsin, suggests several means for preventing tree damage by these orchard pests.

Some orchardists, he says, use fine mesh, hardware cloth, wire screening,

FARM MANAGEMENT SERVICE AVAILABLE

The College of Agriculture will in the near future provide a farm management service for a limited number of farmers in Washington county. This service, largely of an advisory and record keeping nature, can be of much value to farmers.

The program will be in charge of a farm management specialist who will make frequent visits to the farmer to plan the farming program and to set up a simple record keeping system. Through this program members will be informed of the latest and best agricultural practices advocated by the college and an accurate record will be kept of the income and expenditures of the different sources of farm income.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 8, a meeting of interested farmers was held in the Hartford city hall to further explain the services to be rendered. Speakers from the College of

POTATO INSTITUTE AT ROCKFIELD ON DECEMBER 5

Potato growing in Washington county is increasing yearly especially with respect to quality and yield. Much of this increased interest of better potatoes is due to the yearly potato improvement meetings held in the Rockfield area. The field demonstration plot on the Reinhold Kressin farm is annually visited by several hundred interested growers. Here they can see a dozen or more of the leading varieties growing side by side. The grower can see for himself which varieties are outstanding.

This summer meeting is followed by a late fall educational meeting at which time further advice and information is given to growers. J. G. Millward, who is in charge of the potato improvement program of the College of Agriculture, will speak and answer questions on diseases, insect control and other problems confronting the potato grower.

In addition to the above speaker, C. J. Chapman, also of the college, will discuss the newer methods of commercial fertilizer uses with special reference to plow-sole applications. Mr. Chapman tells an interesting story and all will want to hear him. E. H. Fischer, speaking on insecticides, will tell the story of DDT, the new insecticide used extensively by the government in clearing tropical swamps of flies and mosquitoes. This insecticide has many uses, also many limitations. There will be several movies shown by the speakers to further illustrate their subjects.

The State Potato Growers association is giving several door prizes.

These consist of 100 lb. bags of certified northern grown seed.

All farmers are cordially invited to attend. The meeting will be at 10:00 a. m. at the Rockfield Inn. Sandwiches and coffee will be served free at noon.

Shipments of Wisconsin cattle have been made this year to Mexico, Greece, Puerto Rico, Panama, Poland, Dominican Republic, Central America, West Indies, Canada, and Peru.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Follow Directions for Tender, Home-Baked Breads (See Recipe Below)

Hot Breads

If you want to choose one item that will make a company meal out of a plain menu, then add fragrant home-made bread or rolls to it. Fresh-from-the-oven bread or rolls are meal tonics hard to beat.

If you want to add extra nourishment to your menus or to give inexpensive energy to your family, then the formula is bread—or rolls! They contain carbohydrates, some fat and milk and eggs.

Bread can be used lavishly in many interesting ways. A fruited coffee ring for breakfast can mean the difference between a well begun day or a dull, prodding one. And think of the difference between fresh, moist bread in sandwiches for lunch and dry, stale bread.

First of all, there's this scarlet-topped and crystal-glazed quick coffee cake to start the day right. Or, if you prefer, it will do nicely for dessert, thank you!

Cranberry Coffee Ring. (12 Servings)

- 1½ cups sifted flour
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk
- 3 tablespoons melted shortening

Cranberry Orange Topping. Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Beat egg and add milk and shortening. Stir in dry ingredients, mixing only enough to moisten them. Spread topping evenly over the bottom of a ring mold. Pour batter over topping. Bake in a moderately hot (425-degree) oven for 25 minutes.

Cranberry Orange Topping. 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup sugar, 1½ cups whole, raw cranberries. Mix together in order given and use it as directed above.

Now that cheese is plentiful and unrationed, it's a good idea to use it for main dishes and desserts, too.

With plump, red-cheeked apples and cheese, you can make this delectable dessert:

- Cheese-Apple Cobblettes. (Serves 6-8)
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½-1 cup nippy grated cheese
- 2-4 tablespoons shortening
- ¾-1 cup milk
- 1 cup chopped apples
- 2 tablespoons sugar

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cut or rub in shortening. Add cheese and mix lightly. Turn out on lightly floured board and

Everything Is Handy in 'Scientifically Arranged' Kitchen, With Latest Gadgets

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN
Fingertip control is the key word of a new model kitchen recently put on exhibit. It represents a scientific placement of every bit of equipment, every utensil and pan, so that it is where you want it when you want it—no traveling back and forth across the kitchen several times during every operation. Sometimes this means two or three of certain things, such as salt shakers, certain measuring equipment, sugar, flour and the other things that you may need in several parts of the kitchen.

Not only is equipment properly placed but comfort in working has been considered, with the proper height working surfaces, a comfortable stool for the sit-down jobs and even a desk for the paper work. Needless to say, the appliances will represent the last word, with a dishwasher taken for granted.

Another taken for granted item for the postwar kitchen is the home freezer. It is going to come in handy for storage of all those frozen kitchen wonders we've been hearing about which will make such play of preparing things that used to take time and tedium.

REVIEW OF A NEW AUTOMOBILE

The first 1946 model—automobile has been unveiled to the public. Thousands visited the showroom, and shouts of joy went up as the American buying public saw the many new features. These included fenders on both sides, bumpers in the proper position and brakes that really worked.

Departures from the trend of the last four years were numerous, a marked leaning toward having the chassis directly in line with the body, instead of partly askew being especially noteworthy.

Further sensations included exhaust pipes that were not dangling, and a tendency to have all shackles and bolts in the proper position. Nothing like this had been seen on automobiles since Pearl Harbor, and the reception was terrific.

Outstanding innovations, too, were windshields with the glass intact, wipers that really worked by pressing a little gadget, as directed, and a dashboard clock that did not register 8:15 permanently.

The first view of the new wonder car made it plain that a score of surprises were in store for the man who has been driving what has passed as an automobile since 1941. For one thing—and this is important—doors are back! Definitely!

Much comment was caused by the discovery that after closing the door windows you can no longer stick your hand out without lowering it again. The public is expected to get used to this after a while. The idea of having one or more panes of glass missing has been completely dropped.

Salesmen explained, however, that if customers through habit wished to have a door with the glass missing, they could arrange it.

Nineteen forty-six models will have paint on all parts, much of it with a gloss. Steering is expected to be quite firm, it being no longer necessary to give them four or five complete turns to control the wheels.

General approval of the new cars was expressed; but there was one sigh of disappointment. It was discovered that the companies would make no departure from the 35-year rule of never providing a jack or a kit of tools adequate for even a minor repair.

Girls Make This Beauty Test

If constipation makes your complexion muddy and takes the sparkle out of your eyes, try this old-fashioned herb laxative. Take a cup of HOLLISTER'S ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA at bedtime. Hundreds of pretty girls in this section know this beauty secret.—GRAF'S DRUG STORE.

HOLLISTER, INC. BEGINS ADVERTISING SCHEDULE

Hollister, Inc. of Madison, Wis. is starting their schedule this week on their famous family remedy, Hollister's ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA. This family medicine has been on the market for more than 75 years and has an established reputation for superior merit. It is often referred to as the "AMERICAN FAMILY LAXATIVE" as thousands upon thousands of mothers would not think of keeping house without having ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA in the medicine cabinet every minute of the day and night. It is not uncommon practice on the part of American mothers to hand down ROCKY MOUNTAIN TEA from one generation to another for 5 and 4 generations. The demand for this renowned family medicine is so widespread that all retail drug stores in the United States carry it in stock, besides orders for it come from all parts of the world.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Plan to Remove Food Subsidies; Atom Bomb Figures in Allies' Postwar Diplomatic Movements

Released by Western Newspaper Union. (EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

No longer capable of doing heavy labor, and sick, diseased and dispirited, German prisoners of war released by Russians trek through Berlin on their return to homes in the west.

SUBSIDIES: Time Removals

Designed to hold down living costs during wartime, government subsidies to food producers and processors will be gradually removed to lessen the impact on the civilian price structure.

With the department of agriculture estimating the cost of food subsidies for the fiscal year ending next June 30 at $1,798,000,000, payments on slaughter of livestock are expected to total $335,400,000...

LABOR-INDUSTRY: Discuss Bargaining

Backed by AFL Chieftain William Green and representatives of management, busy John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers ripped the CIO proposal to the wages into the present labor-industry conference in Washington, D. C., and demanded that talks be confined to establishing machinery for settlement of disputes.

In spearheading the opposition to the CIO proposal based upon President Truman's wage policy, Lewis asserted that the problem of pay should be left to collective bargaining and not strait-jacketed by any formula based on cost of living.

Even as the 36 labor and management representatives pitched into their tasks, trouble brewed in the automobile and steel industries, with the CIO asking the government to intervene following collapse of negotiations with General Motors and U. S. Steel corporation over wage increases to maintain wartime take-home pay.

ARMY: Step Up Discharges

Mostly European vets originally marked for redeployment to the Pacific, 50-point enlisted men presently home on furlough or on temporary duty in the U. S. have become eligible for discharge, the army reported.

Also exempt from overseas assignment are officers who have 33 or more months of service, or medical officers with 30 months, except for those who have chosen to remain on active duty, are regular army men or are classed as scarce specialists. Nurses who are 30 years of age or have 12 points will not be sent overseas.

GRAIN SUPPLIES:

The bulk of the supplies of wheat available for export in 1945-46 is in North America, the department of agriculture reports. With exports from the United States currently estimated at 300 to 325 million bushels, shipments from Canada may be about as large.

Under favorable transportation, marketing and handling conditions, somewhat larger exports would be possible from the United States though shipments from Argentina may fall short.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS: Atomic Talk

The red-hot question of sharing the atomic bomb featured the recent diplomatic news as the U. S., Britain and Russia continue their polite tug-of-war for favorable positions in the construction of the postwar world.

Russia's tough little Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov started the ball rolling in an address on the eve of the 28th anniversary of the Red revolution, declaring that in this scientific age no such discovery as the atomic bomb could long remain a secret, and that eventually the Soviet would have it.

Indirectly answering Molotov in Britain's house of commons, the equally tough Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin declared that it was entirely proper for Britain, Canada and the U. S. to proceed slowly on the question of sharing the atomic bomb in view of its tremendous potentialities.

In addressing commons, Bevin rapped Russia hard, stating that Britain had met every territorial demand of the Reds only to find them increasing their claims, particularly for control of North Africa and Eritrea on the British lifeline to the east.

By calling for an Allied commission to investigate the present Montreux agreement entrusting Turkey with control of the strategic straits, but countering the Russian demand for military bases along the vital waterways to assure free passage.

In submitting its territorial views, Italy agreed to readjustment of its French and Yugoslavian boundaries and establishment of Allied bases in its former North African colonies, but asked for retention of certain Near Eastern possessions of economic value.

All these diplomatic problems, plus reconsideration of the question of Jewish immigration in British controlled Palestine were reportedly part of British Prime Minister Atlee's scheduled discussions with President Truman.

AID POLIO VICTIMS

More than $1,000,000 in epidemic aid has been disbursed by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis so far this year, with more than three-fourths going to Illinois, No. Carolina, New York and Virginia.

United States consumption of abaca in 1939 was about 103 million pounds. In addition, the United States imported 17 million pounds of Manila rope from the Philippines and Netherlands East Indies.

Another cheerful note from the committee for economic development: Reports from 100 cities show that employment after reconversion will be 24 per cent greater than it was in 1940. Maybe we'll find Mr. Wallace's "Sixty Million Jobs" yet!

CHINA: Battle On

Full-scale civil war loomed in China as negotiations between communists and nationalists bogged and the Reds took to the offense in an effort to prevent Chiang Kai-shek's forces from infiltrating into their northern strongholds.

As a result of the outbreak of hostilities, the U. S. decided to withdraw American troops from the scenes of combat, the Yanks having been used to aid nationalists in taking over former Jap-held territory.

Thus did the threat of civil war, following close upon V-J day, dampen long-suffering China's hopes for a period of peace and tranquility in which to unify the nation politically and lay the foundation for economic development and modernization.

FINLAND: Try Leaders

Charged with refusal to mediate differences with Russia and prosecuting war on the side of the Axis instead, eight prominent Finnish leaders were arrested by the new government and scheduled for early trial in the people's court.

In the unprecedented movement of a country to punish former leaders for official acts, Vapo Tanner, dominant Finnish politician of 1941, was accused of failing to take advantage of a U. S.-British offer to mediate with Russia that year.

Tanner again was named for failure to accept a U. S. proposition to conciliate Finnish-Russian differences in 1943 along with former President Risto Ryti, Foreign Minister Henrik Ramsay, Prime Minister Edwin Linkomies, Gen. Rudolf Walden, and Finance Minister Tyko Reinikka.

POLITICS: No Trend

Continued Democratic domination of the big cities and Republican inroads in small municipalities marked the recent election results and offered little clue to a political trend prior to the all-important congressional elections in 1946.

Most significant feature of the balloting was the CIO's failure again to capture the majority in Detroit, Mich., motor car center of the U. S. and United Automobile Workers stronghold. Calling upon the unorganized residents of the city to rally for an impartial rather than a labor dominated administration, Mayor Jeffries won re-election over CIO Candidate Frankenstein by a comfortable margin.

Maintaining their dominance over the big municipalities, the Democrats handily won the majorities of New York, Boston, Pittsburgh and Cleveland, while Republicans won back Buffalo, N. Y., and New Haven, Conn., after more than a dozen years.

Sets Air Speed Record

Exciting possibilities for speedy post-war air travel were opened with the record-breaking performance of Britain's jet-powered Gloster Meteor piloted by Capt. H. J. Wilson.

Smashing the former official mark of 431.34 miles per hour set by Capt. Fritz Wendler of the German air force in 1939, Wilson averaged 606 miles per hour in four runs over a 1.36-mile course at Herne Bay, England.

At Wilson's rate of speed, excited statisticians figured that a plane could travel non-stop around the world in 41 hours: from Los Angeles, Calif., to New York City in 3 hours and 59 minutes; from Chicago, Ill., to Panama in 3 hours and 40 minutes, and from Chicago to Mexico City in 2 hours and 40 minutes.

NAZI SPY: Tipped Off FBI

Asserting that his only intention in accompanying saboteurs to the U. S. in 1942 was to get out of Germany, a Nazi spy disclosed the whole enemy plot for damaging U. S. plants and facilities and terrorizing civilians to the FBI, leading to the early roundup of the entire clique landed by submarine.

Let off with 30 years imprisonment for his disclosure and testimony at a trial resulting in the execution of six of the saboteurs and a life sentence for another, the spy, George Dasch, named the other conspirators and furnished information which enabled the G-men to cover their movements and track them down in New York and Chicago, Ill.

In detailing the saboteurs' mission, Dasch told the FBI that the TVA was marked for destruction along with important industrial plants, the Hell Gate bridge in New York City, Ohio river locks, and important railroads.

FIBER SOURCE:

Never grown in the western hemisphere before Pearl Harbor except experimentally, abaca—from which Manila rope is made—is now being produced in quantity on five plantations of 27,500 acres in four Central American republics and Panama, the state department disclosed.

Western hemisphere production of abaca, which was obtained largely from the Philippines before the war, may aggregate 25 million pounds this year and from 45 to 50 million pounds in 1946.

Report Army Looms as New Power as Factions Clash Over Broad Participation in Postwar World Affairs.

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

What's happening inside Russia? Where there's smoke, there's fire. Vehement denials of the death of Marshal Stalin were followed finally by admission that the man who had more power than any czar could boast was weary. That he was well, but that he was shedding some of his responsibilities.

It is interesting to note the reaction in this country. The wishful thinking of those who first announced the death rumor over the air and in print was not reflected in official Washington.

The very day before the first story appeared a high government official expressed the opinion in my hearing that the hope for understanding between the United States and Russia depended largely on Stalin. This was after the long series of disagreements beginning with the breakup of the Foreign Ministers' meeting in London, the refusal of Russia to take active part in the United Nations Food organization meeting in Quebec, the objections to various moves made by the members of the United Nations Executive Council. Everywhere "Russia objects" seemed to be the one answer which Russia's representatives had to offer to the suggestions made by the American and other governments.

When the real history of the international conferences, beginning with the Moscow conference which Secretary of State Hull attended, through Yalta and Potsdam, is written, I think it can be shown that Stalin, frequently against the advice of his councilors, was the one who broke the deadlocks and proposed or accepted compromises which were made necessary by his own colleagues' stubbornness.

It will be recalled that when the invitations to the meeting at San Francisco went out it was announced that Russia would not send her foreign minister as head of the delegation, but would leave that post to Ambassador Gromyko in Washington. This made a bad impression, for it looked as if Stalin were damning the affair with faint support. However, after the American newspapers sounded off on the subject, Stalin had a change of heart—or perhaps the death of Roosevelt, which occurred in the interim, affected his course. Molotov was duly assigned to the job.

Molotov proved no simple everymore and more than once, it is reported, Stalin's intervention had to be sought to grease the wheels.

There was another occasion—just which one is not revealed—when the Lewis completed stymied and finally the President made a direct appeal to Stalin to accept the suggestions of the majority on a point that appeared to have hopelessly deadlocked the meeting. This time, against the counsel of his advisors, who were holding out, Stalin put his O.K. on the request.

Isolationists Bloc Groups

There is reason to believe that this "no vote" attitude of a number of the Soviet leaders who opposed what many have considered too deep entanglement in international affairs, which has been in evidence for a long time, finally wrecked the Foreign Ministers' conference.

As early as the time of the San Francisco meeting there were hints of a growing "isolationist" opposition inside Russia. Word reached certain members of the conference by a roundabout way, but from a thoroughly reliable source, concerning the status of former Foreign Minister Litvinov, Russia's crack diplomat, who negotiated the resumption of relations with the United States after the long hiatus following World War I.

At one time it was reported that Litvinov had been purged. This was not so. But what had happened was that the "Russia objects" element had managed to shove him because of his more liberal views.

This apparently was the beginning of what many called a "palace revolution," and which some people believe is now flaring up into full flame.

The Salvation army gave service to 225,000 servicemen during the war in their clubs, hostels and mobile units. But I'll bet they didn't surpass those doughnuts they served us in World War I.

Two hundred and seventy million dollars worth of highway projects, frozen during the war, are now starting.

When the war ended 20 per cent of the union memberships were women. Let's hope, if they continue to work, that they don't belong to the same local as their husbands or it will be hard on the kids on meeting nights.

Tomorrow is Forever

by GWEN BRISTOW

THE STORY THUS FAR: Spratt Herlong, motion picture producer, married Elizabeth after her first husband, Arthur Kittredge, had been reported killed in World War I. Elizabeth had been orphaned when a baby and raised by her ant and uncle in Tulsa, where she met and married Arthur. Shortly after their marriage, Arthur enlisted, and soon afterwards was reported killed. Elizabeth moved to Los Angeles, where she met and married Spratt. Arthur had not been killed, but disgraced and left almost helpless. Dr. Jacoby worked over him and managed to save him. Under the name of Kessler, Arthur landed in Los Angeles in Spratt's office.

CHAPTER XI

He shivered with a cold gust of hate whenever he remembered how the Nazis had hounded that great man to his death for no crime but the unforgivable iniquity of having been born a Jew, and of being so rock-bound in his own goodness that he was incapable of accepting the evil of mankind until it had crushed him beyond escape. There had been little he could do in his love for Jacoby's memory, nothing but get to the United States while there was still time to save Jacoby's child.

His grief and rage at what had happened to his friend, and his terror lest he not be able to bring Jacoby's little girl to safety, had been so great that not until he was on the westbound steamer did he realize that when he got to America he was probably going to see Elizabeth. He knew her husband's name was Spratt Herlong and that he was employed by Vertex Studio, and in his own luggage was a contract signed in the Paris office of Vertex. He would be virtually sure to meet Herlong some day, and it might follow as a matter of course that he would meet Elizabeth. He went into his cabin and looked at himself a long time in the glass, as he was doing now. If there was a chance of her knowing him he would break his contract and make a living as a translator, a clerk, anything that would provide little Margaret with three meals a day without destroying Elizabeth's peace of mind.

But a long scrutiny satisfied him that there was no chance of it. In no sense, except the memory of her behind all that had happened since that explosion at Chateau-Thierry, could he believe he had any trace of the Arthur Kittredge she had known. He was Erich Kessler, dear friend of the late Dr. Gustav Jacoby, author of books based on case histories of Dr. Jacoby's patients, and the change in his personality was as thorough as the change in his name. No man who had endured what he had endured in body and spirit could have much left in common with a happy, arrogant youth who did not know what it was to want anything he could not get.

He looked thoughtfully at his image in the glass. Crippled as he was, his appearance was not repulsive. One could see that in spite of his uncertain legs he had been meant for a tall man, and since his torso had to carry his weight the muscles there were powerfully developed. The effect was inevitably one-sided, since his left sleeve had been empty so long, but his right arm was like that of an athlete, and the hand which for twenty years had supported him upon a cane, was strong enough to break a china cup between the thumb and fingers. His face had no visible trace of the wound there except a scar that went upward from beneath his beard in a thin curving line. His hair was still thick, gray like steel, his beard was heavy too, and darker. He had let it grow with no thought of disguise, but to cover the scars that all Jacoby's careful skin-grafting had not been able to eliminate. Now he was glad he had it and was so used to it, for in spite of having seen thousands of Hitler's pictures most Americans still thought of Germans as being professors in dark beards.

She would not know him, but he would know her, as readily as he had known the picture standing on Spratt Herlong's desk. To be sure, he had been looking for it, but he would have recognized it anyway as Elizabeth. She had changed in those years, of course, but her alteration had been nothing more than the well-ordered development from youth into the maturity that could have been foreseen by anyone who had been as intimately acquainted with her as he had. Elizabeth had always known what she wanted out of life, because she was so eminently fit to have it. Physically and spiritually, she had wanted love, marriage, children, a home in which she would be no petted darling, but a versatile and devoted creator. From the beginning she had instinctively known herself capable of bringing all this into being, and so she had looked forward to it with the eagerness of those who have no doubt of their destiny. When he met Spratt, and saw the pictures of Elizabeth in Spratt's office, he felt that the change time had made in her appearance had been no more than the change one observes in the achievement of something of which one has seen the beginning. Now that he could think of her without the pain of the earlier years, he was glad he had been wise enough to step aside so that she could have it.

He saw the pictures last week, on the first day he went into Spratt's office. Spratt had been talking for some time about the script, and if Kessler's attention had wandered it was no matter, since he was going to read the script tomorrow anyway. When Spratt had finished, and he himself had risen to leave, he glanced at the photograph on the desk, saying with the casualness born of years of self-command, "Your wife, Mr. Herlong?"

Spratt said, "Why yes," taking up the picture and handing it to Kessler with the proud smile of a man showing his friend a treasure. "But that's not very good of her—at least, I never did think those formal portraits were as good as candid shots, too smooth and pressed-out, if you get what I mean."

"Yes, I understand and agree with you," Kessler was looking at her face. "But this is very charming." "Oh yes, so it is, but this one on the wall looks more like her. Over here by the door. Those are the children with her."

Kessler followed Spratt and looked at the picture on the wall. "Yes, yes," he said with involuntary eagerness, "that, I am sure, is more like her."

For it was like her, he knew that without having seen the original in so long. The picture had been taken somewhere outdoors, perhaps on a ranch. Either Elizabeth and her children did not know they were being photographed, or the photographer was a genius at creating an unposed effect. Dressed in a sweater and skirt, her hair blowing, Elizabeth sat on a fence beyond which grew an orange tree; a young girl leaned on the fence near by, while a tall youth who looked very much like Elizabeth was standing by the tree, pulling its branches forward between his mother and sister so they could pick off the fruit, and a little boy, sitting on the ground in front of the fence, was already peeling the skin off an orange. By accident or design, all the children were looking at their mother, and they were all four laughing. It was a group of healthy people who loved one another and were very happy about it. No wonder Spratt preferred it to the studio portrait on his desk. That was Elizabeth as she appeared to other people, her private life discreetly concealed behind a pleasant tranquillity of eyes and lips, but this was Spratt's wife as he loved her. Looking at the group, the outsider from Germany knew more profoundly than he had ever known before how much he had given Elizabeth when he had made up his mind to leave her free of his own wreckage. He glanced at Spratt, who was looking not at your countrymen—you know that, don't you? My name is Arthur Kittredge. I am an American. Your enemy—don't you get that? I am going to die anyway. Why don't you just let me do it?"

The doctor said something, Arthur did not understand it until it had been repeated several times, and when he finally caught the words they were not worth the trouble of listening, for all the doctor said was, "Quiet. You be quiet."

Arthur tried again, desperate with pain and weakness. "Do me a kindness. Give me something to finish it, won't you?—Please listen—I'm talking as plain as I can! Finish it. That's not much to ask, is it?"

Again the doctor said, "Quiet." "If you don't care about doing a kindness to me, do it for somebody who can get up again—one of your own men. Why should you let me fill up a bed when German soldiers are lying on the floor? Or waste food on me when you haven't enough for your own? Don't keep me—"

His words ended in a gasp of pain. But he still looked at the doctor, too weak to say any more but conscious enough to plead with his eyes. Whether or not the doctor had understood all his words, he had grasped enough to know what Arthur wanted. He shook his head. "No," he said. "No." Exhausted as he was, Arthur could see him groping for more words. Mustering all his strength, Arthur managed to say again, "I am going to die anyway."

"No, no. You are not going to die." Maureen O'Hara's sister makes her film debut in RKO's forthcoming production, "Hotel Reserve." Her name's Clare Hamilton, and like her famous sister, she attended the Abbey Dramatic school. Maureen's next is "The Spanish Main."

Olga San Juan has an odd claim to fame—she's Fred Astaire's last screen dancing partner, as he's retiring from picture-making after "Blue Skies." But Gene Kelly, whose dancing is as inspired as Astaire's, saves the day for movie-goers. Both the "Alter Ego" number in "Cover Girl," in which he danced with himself, and the sequence in "Anchors Aweigh" in which he dances with an animated cartoon character, were conceived, staged and directed by Kelly. Furthermore, the lad can act—who can ask for anything more?

Household Hints

Nail a piece of molding in contrasting color to the edge of the shelves of your linen closet for an enhancing effect.

Although plywood is an excellent base for linoleum it is not satisfactory as a flooring material.

Air your shoes every time you take them off and keep them in a closet where there is plenty of air. Keeps them from cracking. Give them a rest now and then too.

Always open a can of asparagus at the bottom end. In this way asparagus can be removed from the can without breaking tender tips at top.

Salt sometimes curdles milk, so in making milk sauces, porridge, and the like, add the salt last.

Food spilled in the refrigerator should be wiped up at once. Wait and the acid may eat the porcelain glaze.

Here's the way to touch up your faded cretonne curtains. Wash and iron them and while they are still warm from the iron, go over the design with wax crayons. Lay plain paper over this and press with a hot iron.

A scarred linoleum floor may be rejuvenated by giving it a dark base coat of paint and following this with a spatter effect with paint of two or three other colors that harmonize with the room.

Dip that new brush in hot soapy water before use. Don't rinse. Hang downward until dry. Result? A healthful and rugged old age for the brush.

Cleaning wallpaper is a risky job at best, for there is always the danger of smearing. Most of the dirt comes from radiators which should be kept scrupulously clean. If you clean the radiators thoroughly once a week your wall paper troubles will be held to a minimum.

Due to an unusually large demand and current conditions, slightly more time is required in filling orders for a few of the most popular pattern numbers.

ANDRE HOME FROM ETO WITH DISCHARGE; IN SIX BATTLES; AT SEA 26 DAYS IN STORMS

Pfc. James Andre, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Andre Sr., arrived home Saturday night after receiving his honorable discharge the same day at Fort Sheridan, Ill. with 31 points. Jim arrived in the States at Staten Island on Monday, Nov. 12, from Antwerp, Belgium, after serving 28 months in the ETO. He was sent to Camp Killeen, N. J. collecting area for a day and then to Fort Sheridan via Canada to be discharged. A veteran of three years and five days in the service, Pfc. Andre entered the armed forces on Nov. 27, 1942. He received his training at Fort Sheridan, Ill., Fort Lewis, Wash., Camp Pickett, Va., Fort Pierce, Fla. and Camp Bradford, Va. and then was sent back to Camp Pickett from where he was transferred to Camp Patrick Henry, Va. to go overseas on June 4, 1943. He first served overseas in the African campaign and fought all along the line in Germany. Jim served in Africa, Sicily, Italy, Sardinia, France, Belgium, Germany and Austria, being one of the most traveled G.I.'s we know of from Kewaskum. He was with the 40th Regiment, Combat Engineers, Pfc. Andre wears the ETO ribbon with six battle stars, victory medal and good conduct medal. He spent 26 days on the water coming back to this country from Belgium due to very bad storms and a 65 mile an hour wind at sea. His Liberty ship was out 11 days at sea when the storm forced it to turn around and head back to the Azores Islands where it had come from. The ship remained at Ponta Delgada port on the island of San Miguel for two days waiting for the storm to subside and then started out once more for the states. Quite a thrill, reports Jim.

T/5 MANTHEY RETURNS FROM SOUTH PACIFIC; DISCHARGED

T/5 Arthur Manthey, South Pacific vet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Manthey of Eden, arrived at the home of his wife here Sunday after receiving his honorable discharge from the army at Camp McCoy the same day for the convenience of the government and circular 269WD45. T/5 Manthey arrived in the states at Fort Lewis, Wash. on Nov. 11 from Korea after serving overseas one year and three months in the Philippine and Ryukyu Islands, on Okinawa and in Korea with amphibious forces of the 13th Combat Engineers. He served in the armed forces two years, one month and 28 days, entering service Sept. 21, 1943. T/5 Manthey received his training at Camp Beale, Camp Roberts and San Luis Obispo, Calif. before going overseas July 31, 1944. He wears the Philippine Liberation ribbon with two bronze stars, Asiatic-Pacific theater service medal with two battle stars, good conduct medal and two overseas service bars. At present Mr. and Mrs. Manthey are making their home with the Ted Rohlinger family here, where Mrs. Manthey stayed while her husband was in the service.

DONALD MERTES DISCHARGED AFTER SERVING YEAR IN NAVY

Donald Mertes, 27, son of Mrs. Clarence Mertes, arrived home Sunday after receiving his honorable discharge the same day at Great Lakes, Ill., having served a year in the navy with an amphibious force. He entered service in the navy on Nov. 24, 1944, being inducted while still in high school, and was sent from Great Lakes to Camp Bradford, Va. where he served eight months aboard L.S.T. 291. He was given an emergency leave at the time of his father's critical illness and death the last week in July.
