Prost and Held walked, and Bartelt drove Prost home with a single. Kral flied out but Honeck beck's single then sent Held and Bartelt home with runs. Meyer came in to pitch for Belgium and held Kewaskum scoreless in the 7th and 8th with his left handed slants. Honeck had the visitors eating out of his hand as he scattered their three singles. He struck out 8 batters and walked only 1 while Schmitz was wild, giving up 11 free passes. Held led the Utensils' hitting attack with a double and single in three trips to the plate. Kewaskum touched the Belgium hurlers for 8 bingles, .7 of them off of Schmitz. Despite cool weather, a fine crowd of about 300 people came out for the opener. First baseman Arnie Schladweiler was unable to play because of an injured finger.

This coming Sunday the team will play its first game away from home Leander C. Neureuther, R. 1, Colgate. When the boys go to Boltonville to open their home season. Boltonville has been at the top or near the top of the heap in the league the past few years and should provide the Utensils with some real competition. There will be a Robert J. Gundrum. of grain a day. Bread is especially vital here because of the heavy workers in the Ruhr and the 'Rhineland. In order to keep from cutting the ration before the spring months when vegetables would make it more bearable, the British zone needs at least 200,000 tons of wheat a month until the end of June. Only half that amount arrived in February and at a late date none had been programmed at all for March.

When the British took over this zone they found 21 million people, or a million and a half more than lived here in 1939. In bombed-out areas, homes had to be provided as well as food. Of the 51/2 million dwelling units available in 1939. about half of them have been destroyed by bombing. Anything that can be used to provide a roof is sought by the Germans, but their siggest demand is for food.

DIVORCES:

Throughout the English-speaking world the astronomical increase in divorce brought on as an aftermath of World War II gave rise to general alarms and revolutionary outlooks upon marriage and the family, Prof. Ernest R. Groves has stated in an article prepared for the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Whereas in 1914 there had been 600 divorces in all England, in 1945 in London alone there were 4,000 divorce cases waiting to be heard. Professor Groves lists the causes of the great boom in divorce mills as imprudent, hasty marriages, marriages made for such ulterior motives as receiving government allowances allotted to wives of servicemen, "passion marriages" and marriages that had no proper start because of the hectic circumstances before the husbands went overseas. Another factor contributing its part to marital breakups was unfaithfulness of wives, either real or imagined by servicemen returning unteer organization in your commufrom overseas.

real, and not another of the false, ters of the compass. Doane could trace the blue-black creases of canyons in the skyline divides. Water ran down those canyons.

In his fevered imagination Doane could hear the life-giving, gurgling alarm reached him at eight o'clock music of it. His parched throat cried for its taste.

He resolutely turned his eyes away. The upper ranges he saw so clearly were all of thirty air-line miles away; traveling to them, the distance would be twice that far. Two days' march over the desert for a strong man with plenty of food he was no longer strong. The instant his fevered brain forgot that, and his legs turned west, he was

That thought in itself was steadying. In the quart canteen at his hip there remained perhaps two full swallows of warm, stale water. He could sometimes hear the faint swish of the infinitely precious stuff within the canteen. Doane was a man of strong will. He knew the utter necessity of holding one thought and determination. He had to hold out for twelve or fifteen hours longer, walking continuously to the south. Perhaps it would take eighteen or twenty hours. He had to make it!

To the south lay the railroad junction of Sand Wells, and the distance could not be more than twenty-five miles now. He should walk two miles an hour, as an average. A strong man went twice that fast. Frequent rest. Doane told himself these things in spasmodic reassurance. At sundown he would drink the rest. The chill of the desert night would help him on.

Uncontrollably his mind began to center on one thing-on the single swallow of brackish water he would allow himself at sundown. One swallow! He could taste it now, feel it run deliciously down his agonized throat, drop by drop. He caught himself pulling at the canteen stopper, in the act of lifting it to his lips . . . the hour was not yet much past middle afternoon. He cursed himself softly.

Half a mile ahead a little nubbin of rock thrust itself above others on the desert floor. Doane studied it. He measured the distance mental-Half a mile! A fiftieth of the distance back to Sand Wells. He began to count paces . . . One, two, three, four, five-nineteen, twenty, twenty-one . . . fifty-four, fifty-five.

"That's madness!" Doane muttered through his stiff lips. "Get hold of yourself, man!"

His stride became more determined and steady with the hard, driving force of his will behind it. But it seemed that the count would continue in the very beat of his pulse. Miraculously, after a quarter of an hour, the count popped into his brain . . . one thousand! He must have underestimated the distance, for the rocky nubbin seemed far away again

He stumbled. Anger at himself flooded through his brain. He pushed himself up, stood there trembling, fists clenched. He was giving fatigued muscles, weary flesh, the upper hand. The sheriff answered with a question of his own. "Reckon you've heard mention of the old Rancho de los Tres Hermanos. Mebbe-so, you've heard the name of Senor don Pio Miguel Alvaro hisself, in connection, eh?

"Yeah, I guess that might happen," Doane replied. "But shucks, sheriff, a rustled herd of stock or two is one thing, if she's sore at Star La Rue about that ranch business, whatever it is, but sticking up a train is something else Even if she has a little nerve-

"A little!" interrupted Flick. 'Say, if you think she's some sort o' common spineless Mex, you got another think comin'. The Alvaros were Spanish-Americans, which is as white of skin as you and me, a sight handsomer an' pounds prouder by disposition.'

"No matter," replied Doane. 'Let's say the girl has nerve and friends. Down there she's known as an Alvaro, which means things. She engineers a job or two o' stock rustlin' from Star La Rue because she's sore he owns the old Alvaro ranch; she gets her friends to do the work. figurin' she can use the head. Then comes the big idea of a full-fledged train robbery. That what you're

CONGRESS HAS NOT DESTROYED OPA

WASHINGTON .- The overlooked fact in most accounts of the house OPA continuance was that the legislation proposed extension until next March 31, nine months more. The way some of the stories read you might think discontinuance was immediate. The opposition statements of Messrs. Bowles and Porter absorbed attention of the reporters entirely. When the extension date was mentioned, it frequently was presented as I have done above, in a confusing way. Actually, the extension months from now, and nine months beyond the expiration date of OPA powers on June 30.

A lot of water may go over many dams in the next 11 months and the continuance of the government's powers to act against prices for that long a time could hardly be called destructive of OPA.

What angered the administration to unusual bitterness against the bill were the amendments. One amendment proposed what was generally described as "cost plus reasonable profits to producers and handlers." OPA contended this would upset their ceilings on many of the major items of production, autos, rubber and such. This would depend upon whether their ceilings now deny "cost plus profit" on these items and it would require a skilled mathematician a week to figure out the involved formula for one item. Frankly I would not attempt to referee

NEARLY YEAR LEFT FOR NEW ADJUSTMENTS

Certainly, however, the general notion of "cost plus a reasonable Doane stared at him. "The Al- profit" does not sound like an unreasonable invasion of the consumers' rights, or what OPA is supposed to have been doing.

There was one amendment which seemed to me logically what might possibly be called "murderous" of OPA, as one irate Democratic congressman termed the bill, which was approved on a final passage by 205 Democrats, including himself, and 148 Republicans. This was the one to drop control over certain articles when their production reaches the level of production of the year July 1, 1940, to June 30, 1941-which was far from the "peak year" it was described to be in one of the accounts. Production did not reach a peak until the last year of the war.

Now it would be entirely logical and sensible for price controls to reaches current demand. Of course current consumer demand is greater than July, 1940-June, 1941. It is very much greater, due to the ac-cumulation of demand for consumer goods during the war. It might Pio Miguel Alvaro, and this here be "murderous" to OPA to impose that new formula on cessation of regulations, but it would be what fairness demands. Relief of regulations should be timed to the period when production can care for the present demand, when the pressure of shortages for higher prices has

The other important amendment called for gradual elimination of subsidies. Frankly, I have never liked subsidies. The theory is wrong to pay from the treasury, which is the money of all the people (and their debt now is heavy), a certain portion of the price which should be paid by the man who buys the article. Not even Mr. Truman has defended subsidies as a permanent proposition. Whether the time limit fixed by the house would work efficiently, again calls for intricate technical knowledge of the Ala. effect of the removal on each article at each time.

A revision of the bill by the senate is being prophesied by most authorities, but it is not lkely to be a full-power lease of existing authority as the administration has been demanding.

Not only have the party chieftains exhibited confusion in a series of ridiculous "mistakes" as to whether they are running Mr. Truman or congress this year, but they have been building up a sideline campaign on the Roosevelt bier. First one member of the Roosevelt family was trotted out as a prospective candidate for governor of New York: a young man without previous experience or political pretentions, who, if he wanted to start as his father did at that age, would run for the town council.

Then, Mr. Truman went to Hyde Park in a major memorial demonstration and made a speech supporting Roosevelt policies, and all the avenues of popular publication, the newspapers and magazines, have carried articles and pictures, most of them his fourth term campaign picture. In other ways, there has been a sudden recrudescence of interest in Roosevelt by those most interested in the coming electionfor his first annual memorial day, but also just as their campaigns are getting started for the 1946-48 elec-

Coast Guard Speeds Discharge Plans

Latest move to speed up discharges comes from the coast guard which has announged that after May 2 point scores will be dropped and all enlisted personnel will be eligible for release.

In the meantime, as of Aprl 15, the point score was reduced from 30 to 28 for male enlisted personnel, except yeomen, storekeepers and pharmacist's mates whose scores remained at 34. Points needed for release of SPARs was reduced from 20 to 19 with the same works out to be more than 11 groups excepted and requiring a score of 22.

Reserve officers will be placed on inactive duty so that their terminal leave will have been completed by June 30. Since V-J Day, coast guard has released more than 11,700 men and 5,400 SPARs. It is possible that drastic need for trained personnel to man ships and to operate separation centers may keep some reserves on duty beyond the dates es-

Questions and Answers

Q. Is there some way in which I could arrange to have flowers placed on the grave of a loved one who was killed in action and is buried in U. S. Military Cemetery No. 1 in France? I have the grave number and all information. Could it be done through the Red Cross and what would be the expense?-R. M. S., Scottsboro, Ala.

A. The army says there is no way at the present time due to lack of proper communications and other reasons. However, the quartermaster corps is providing a small American flag for every grave in the military cemeteries for Memo-

Q. My son spent 22 months in the navy and was discharged with a B.C. D. and me and my family are depending upon him. Is he eligible to draw this $20 a week unemployment compensation?-Reader, Arab,

A. A BCD discharge is a bad conduct discharge and is considered other than honorable, but not dishonorable. His eligibility would depend upon a ruling of the Veterans administration, which may or may not grant privileges of the G.I. Bill The determining factor might be whether his BCD accrued through a general or a summary court martial. Apply for a ruling at your nearest Veterans' administration of-

Q. I have a son who was drafted in the army June 22, 1945, and he is 19 and had two points when the war ended. Do his points go up or will be have to wait until the men get discharged with 2 points, or will he have to serve 18 months or two years?-Mrs. M. H., Chicago, Ill.

A. The army says the trend now is length of service for discharge instead of points. The latest regulations were issued by General Eisenhower when he announced that men with 45 points or 30 months service would be released by June 30. It may be the policy of the army to reduce the length of service after June 30 to 18 months or 21 months or some other figure. Q. My son is in the navy reserves and has been in since February, 1945. He was overseas six months. a seaman 1st class. Will he get a chance for leave to come home soon and what do they get leaves or furloughs for?-Mrs. T. L. W., Stonypoint, Va.

A. The usual tour of duty in the navy is 24 months. Furloughs are granted at the pleasure of the commanding officer and are not earned.

Q. I have just been discharged from the navy. When I left the separation center at San Pedro, the chief in charge told me to leave my seabag and they would mail it home for me. I have been out 27 days and no seabag. To whom do I write to find out about it?-C. H. P., Fyffe,

A. Write to the commanding officer of the separation center where you obtained your discharge.

Q. Does the point system affect marines, service four years, voluntary enlistment? - A. D., Des Moines, Iowa. Q. Is it proper now, since the fight-vice flag in our church for each one inducted into service of our country? What is to be done with the stars representing those men who have been discharged?-Mrs. K. M. W., Concordia, Mo. A. Yes, since our country is still at war, it is proper to put stars in the service flag and while there is no regulation, it likely is proper to leave stars representing dischargees in the flag, as having served their country. Q. With reference to musteringout pay and the bonus, if they pay a bonus, I was past 43 when I was

months. I asked for a discharge on the age limit and got it and now they say I am not entitled to any mustering-out pay. I want to know if I am and if I will be entitled to any bonus?-M. B. W., Dawson, Ala. A. If you were discharged prior to April 5, 1945, and did not serve overseas, the army says you are not entitled to mustering-out pay. There has been no bonus granted, but you would be eligible if one is granted.

without care, would you move there?

If-beyond the ocean borders, or far south toward the Polethere was an ideal land of eternal spring, a land whose people were simple and good, a land without money worries, without the nagging fears and disappointments that make up our daily lives here, without hate and war, how busily, and with what energy and determination, thousands of war-weary and worry-weary families would plan to move there!

Any sacrifice would be worth while, any effort made easy, by such a hope for ourselves and our children. For life on today's terms has grown too hard and too complicated, and in a sense, too hopeless, for many of us to face with courage. Mankind has been busy for years creating all the evils from which civilization ought to rescue us; ruin, hate, despair, fear, hunger, disease, debt. Now when optimistic voices tell us glibly how we shall overcome these evils we feel a deep discouragement. Overcome Why, they never should of their present lives. Hallie Foster is one such woman, I know. I've never seen her; perhaps never will. But she writes me a letter that tells the old story, the story of a soul harassed with fears, of a body troubled with aches and pains, of a situation so complicated by mistakes and faults that there seemed to be no way out Hallie wrote me from Omaha, Neb., some four years ago. She had been divorced for some years, and was living with a second husband and two step-children, all of for her. She had been so anxious to divorce Van and marry Bruce her own child, a boy. Her baby by Bruce died at birth-she said bedren and disappointing husband had thrown her. She had backaches, headaches, sleepless nights. She wrote me that she had "long lost every vestige of charm, every scrap of attraction for Bruce, who is wasting his money on other women al-

Sometimes there seems to be no way out of difficulties. Unhappy marriages, sickness, poverty, loss of loved ones, press down on many women until the burden feels unbearable. There is only one way out.

After divorcing her first husband, Hallie married again, acquiring two step-children at the same time. Her own son contracted infantile paralysis and required constant care. Another baby died at birth. Then her husband began to spend his money on other women. Hallie's misery bowed her to the earth.

Then she turned in desperation, to prayer. She "cast her burden upon the Lord." Slowly she regained peace and resigna-

> The prayer was answered, of course. That prayer always is. Not by any sudden miracle, but by the slow shifting and changing of life's colors from dark to light. Hallie got up from her knees confident and refreshed, and began to do the thing nearest her with all her might. Washing, cooking, managing the children, she did it all humbly, waiting for guidance. Guidance came. Her aching head cleared; she began to sleep deep. "I felt like wings were under everything, all of a sudden," she writes. Bruce's children were cranky, I'd say in my heart, 'Lord, you help them.' I was praying all day long,

Well, to make a long story short, the sick small boy in a wheel chair whom made life extremely difficult was presently transferred to his mother, and financial aid was given for his care. Backed by over 400 years of his tory, tradition and romance, soft-spoken South Carolina is still glamorous and appealing. Consider for a moment that 90 per cent of the South Carolinians in the armed forces, when polled, indicated their intention of returning to their native state when they got out of uni-form! Though they had seen the world, they found nothing to lure them away from the Low country, the Up country, and the Piedmont in between. South Carolina has had a glorious past. But also it has a future! It endured terrible years of Reconstruction following the War Between the States, and it was not until the turn of the century that order came out of chaos. Then South Carolina was aware of itself again, ready to cope with its problems in the light of progress.

Each decade has seen improvement, and a further step toward the fulfillment of its destiny. South Carolina is vibrant with new life; new energies, and a will to progress. Wealth has been introduced by tex-

Other Spaniards came, De Soto and Juan Pardo, to explore the interior about the Savannah river. Comting with the Spaniards were the French, who in 1562 briefly settled a body of Huguenots at Port Roval. Charles I in 1629 granted to Sir Robert Heath "all America from sea to sea between the 36th and 31st parallels of latitude under the name of Carolina." Even then the country remained unexplored until 1663 when Charles II chartered the same territory to eight of his loyal friends. They became lord proprietors of the province of Carolina. In March, 1670, the first settlement, consisting of 148 persons, was made at Albemarle Point and named Charles Town, the Charleston of to-

Through all the years, in massa ere and war, through storm and fire, despite earthquake and pestilence, the people of South Carolina struggled on. They explored the wilderness and located new towns and more plantations. They built roads through forests and swamps, and threw bridges across rivers and streams. They built houses of "tabby"-a composition of crushed oyster shell-and of thick hardwood logs. They spread out from the Low country to the Up country. They built for beauty and utility and discovered the dignity of life.

"Charleston is the place where the Ashley and Cooper rivers meet to form the Atlantic ocean," is the traditional geography lesson of a Charleston child - a lesson as significant as it is descriptive. Men and women of South Carolina believe in themselves, in their state, and in their destiny. They have produced leisure, culture and a high responsibility of citizenship. They have drawn character from the land itself, and courage and integrity from their labors. Gloriously patriotic in World Wars and II, South Carolina has furnished, fed and trained men for every battlefield in the world. Her heroes have followed Old Glory to the farthest ends of the earth, gathering Purple Hearts and battle stars-and filling lonely graves.

South Carolina's motto is Dum Spiro, Spero (While I Breathe I Hope); also, Animus Opibusque Parati (Prepared in Spirit and Wealth, or Ready with Minds and Resources), and at no time in her history have these phrases been more fitting than they are now.

America Gets a Lift

In Morale

The OPA has taken price controls off hammocks, fly swatters,

The news that hammocks and fly swatters are now within the reach of all is alone enough to lift a heavy feeling from the hearts of the people. These two articles open the way to comfort and peace of mind unknown since Pearl Harbor.

Here is a nation, nervous, morose and apprehensive, under the harassments and confusions of reconversion with all its chaos and befuddlements . . . and suddenly it finds it can get hammocks and fly swatters! The lift is tremendous.

And when you throw in a decorative sofa pillow and a whittling knife, boy, you are guilding the lily.

This release of hammocks, fly swatters, etc., may become the smartest move the Truman administration has made so far. It may mean that the tide against the Democrats has not only been checked but turned the other way

Millions of Americans are forever emphasizing the part axes, picks, shovels, buffalo guns, surveyors' implements, pack mules and covered wagons have played in building the nation. But the part played by hammocks, fly swatters and whittling knives has been overlooked.

Nearly all epic performances are the result of someone's dream. And the great dreamers have been hammock and fly swatter boys.

OPA freed the hammocks only a few days ago, and already the kicking and squawking that has made us unhappy ever since the end of the war has declined 54 per cent.

It's the most humanizing act of the Truman administration. The world looks lovelier.

It is now possible to print a facsimile newspaper on a radio set. This heralds the era when a subscriber may squawk, "I didn't like to be considered an up-and-coming last night's edition; the features member of the kitchen community! seemed to be suffering from bulb trouble."

And the announcement, "Owing to the broadcast of a special feature at this, time your paper will be cancelled until tomorrow."

At a safety council meeting, a governor declares that there will be no safe driving until cars are designed so that the driver's seat will be away up front between the headlights. The fact that he now sits far back with the engine ahead of him gives him a courage he would lack if out where he would have nothing between him and the hospital, the governor argued. That in most cases would be true. But a lot of autoists, operating up front, would be worse than ever. They would immediately try to

Lemon Chiffon Sponge Cake-Fairy-Like Dessert

Dessert Tips

The one department in which we always welcome new ideas is in the dessert line. This season it is no different, and even more excit-

First of all, whipping cream has returned to the market, and we're having great fun using it. Bananas are seen at the markets more frequently and, of course, strawberries are just coming in season plentifully. Because of the warmer weather, all of us are on the lookout for those cool, cool desserts that just seem to slip down our throats, leaving only their delicate flavor to tease the appetite. My advice to you is serve light meals, well balanced, to be sure, and then top them off with a grand, brand-new dessert! This first suggestion is tart but smooth and pretty enough for company. If you don't make the cake yourself, buy one ready-made to save time, sugar and energy. Lemon Chiffon Sponge Cake.

(Serves 8) envelope plain, unflavored gelatin 14 cup cold milk

3 egg yolks 1 cup sugar ½ teaspoon salt

1 cup milk ½ cup lemon juice l tablespoon lemon rind

egg whites sponge cake

2 cup chopped nutmeats 1/2 cup canned, sweet cherries Soften gelatine in cold milk. Combine slightly beaten egg yolks, sugar and salt. Scald I cup milk in double boiler and add very slowly to the egg mixture. Return to the top of the double boiler and cook until of custard consistency. Remove from heat, add softened gelatine and stir until dissolved. Cool, add lemon juice and rind. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Scoop out center of sponge cake and fill hole at bottom with extra pieces of cake taken from sides. Line inside of cake with nuts. Pour in lemon mixture and chill until firm. Garnish dessert with halved and pitted cherries and sprigs of mint if desired.

Caramel Cream Parfait.

(Serves 6) 1/4 teaspoon unflavored gelatine 11/2 teaspoons cold water cup extra-sweet, light corn syrup

4 cup cold water 2 egg whites cup cream, thoroughly chilled 1 teaspoon vanilla

Lynn Says:

Serve a Salad: There's no better way to get fresh vegetables into the diet than via the salad route. Here are combinations which you will like:

Salad greens with one or more of the following: avocado slices, raw carrot or turnip strips, raw cauliflower flowerets, slivered celery, diced or sliced raw cucumber, raw tomatoes, green pepper rings, minced onions.

Serve vegetable salads with a dressing made of oil, herbs, and a bit of crumbled blue cheese. One or more of the following cooked vegetables makes a pretty salad plate: peas, lima beans, kidney beans, sliced beets, asparagus tips, canned, mixed vegetables, cauliflower or brussels sprouts.

Vary your salad greens often to avoid monotony. Here are a list of greens: young raw spinach, cabbage, chinese or celery cabbage, dandelion greens, chicory or endive, watercress and leaf lettuce.

water together to the soft ball (238degree) stage. Pour slowly over stiffly beaten egg whites. Add gelatin and beat until cool. Chill cream and beat until stiff. Fold into cool egg mixture. Add vanilla. Pour into freezing tray; freeze without stirring, until firm.

Variations. 1. Add 1 cup chopped, cooked prunes and 1/2 cup chopped nuts when whipped cream is folded into mixture 2. Add 1 cup crushed raspberries when whipped cream is added.

3. Add 1 cup crushed peanut brittle with whipped cream. 4. Add 1 cup crushed pineapple with whipped cream. Banana Cream. (Serves 6) 1 medium sized banana 4 cup confectioners sugar

1 tablespoon lemon juice teaspoon salt 1½ teaspoons vanilla

11/2 pints whipping cream Slice banana very thin and add to sugar. Mix well. Add lemon juice and cream and pour into freezing tray to freeze un-696 til firm. Remove to mixing bowl, add vanilla and beat until mixture becomes very light. Return to freezing tray and freeze again until firm. Strawberry Meringue Cake. (Serves 10 to 12)

8 egg whites 1/4 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar 2 cups sugar 14 teaspoon lemon extract Fresh strawberries

Add salt to egg whites and whip until foamy, Add cream of tartar and continue beating until they hold point. Fold in sugar gradually. Add lemon extract. Pour into a shallow loaf pan lined with waxed paper. Bake in a slow (300-degree) oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Lift from pan onto cake rack and cool. Serve with fresh strawberries topped with whipped cream and garnished with extra whole sugared berries. Peaches or another tart fruit may be used.
