N MY desk lies a letter from a girl of 24, an office girl in an Illinois city, who is going to be married in June. Roberta is going to have a church and home wedding, with bridesmaids; she's going to a pretty new home after a California honeymoon; she's going to have well-to-do relativesin-law who apparently can't do enough for her - and she is smugly miserable.

She is miserable because six years ago she had a wild, passionate young love affair with a boy named Archie. Archie led her on for some months with the idea of marriage, and then left without a goodby and broke her heart. She has told Dick all about Archie.

"I've told Dick," says her letter, "that I'm afraid I don't feel for him what I ought to feel. We're congenial; I'll have a fine position in the community when I'm married; I admire everything about Dick, but still there's always the memory of Archie. Dick has been patience itself about it; he wanted to be married before he went into the service, in 1942, and every time he was home on leave, but how can I give myself to one man - however fine, with the lingering love for my girlhood's sweetheart always in the background?

'My mother detested Archie, and

"A TREASURE," says Webster's dictionary, "is a valuable store, accumulation, or reserve supply; a collection of precious things." And South Dakota is a storehouse of those treasures, a vast accumulation of nature's blessings, with a reserve supply to last man forever.

Among the precious things of South Dakota is the glorious sun itself, shining from its blue heaven almost every day in the year. And precious, too, is the clean, pure air of its plains and mountains. In its rich topsoil is the accumulation of ingredients that produce vast fields of wheat and corn and fruits. The lush grass of its ranges, where fat cattle and sheep feed, is a valuable store of wealth and contentment. Beneath the surface is a reserve supply of minerals, gold and silver, feldspar and lithium, lignite and bentonite.

As though that were not enough, South Dakota has mountains, trout streams, cabins in the pines, lakes, waterfalls, colorful canyons, the fragrance of pine and spruce. Return of Dead Heroes

Veterans' Service Bureau has received many letters from Gold Star parents asking about regulations for returning bodies of deceased men in the armed services to this country. Up to this time we have been able to give general answers only. However, President Truman nas just signed a new law providing appropriations and setting up regulations for the return of these heroes from military cemeteries in other countries. Under the new law the families of deceased personnel will have the option of:

Having the remains returned to the U. S. A. for final interment in a national cemetery near their home, the cost to be borne entirely by the government; Returning the remains to the States for burial by next of kin in a private cemetery, the government to pay $50 toward cost of local interment expense and all costs of shipping the body home;

Burying the deceased in a permanent American military cemetery overseas.

The first shipment of war dead is not expected much before the end of this year due to shortages in caskets. In the meantime the army and navy will poll next of kin of completely identified dead as to disposition of the remains. The process will take some time and inquiries will be mailed as the records of the 356 temporary ceme teries overseas are completely verified. Of the 328,000 American service war dead, it is estimated that 75,000 never will be found. Ship ment of the deceased soldiers will be made in special funeral ships painted white with a wide purple stripe circling the ship. The flagdraped seamless caskets will be transferred under military escort to 13 redistribution points on arrival in special funeral trains, converted hospital coaches, and thence sent to their final resting place. Cost of returning the bodies will be about $700 per man, borne as pointed out above, by the government.

Questions and Answers

Q. I would like to know if my brother, a veteran of World War I. is entitled to a bonus. He was operated on last April of 1945 for a rupture which started when he was in service loading ammunition at Camp Amatol, N. J. He was in the hospital at Lake City, Fla. The trouble started when he was in service and he just kept letting it run until he had to be operated on and he is now disabled as far as working .- Mrs. G. H., Cleveland, Ohio, A. No, he is not entitled to a bonus, since he already has received his World War I bonus. He may be entitled to a disability pension. She wonders if she really should go through with her marriage-perhaps that first man will come back, if she will only wait. Such a problem faces Roberta, who is asking Miss Norris for advice in today's article. On the face of it, she is very fortunate. The man she intends to marry is well educated and successful. He has an inherited fortune, and well-to-do relatives. She can look forward to a honeymoon in California, and a pretty new home. Everybody in the new family likes her, and she in turn likes them.

Nevertheless, Roberta isn't happy. She can't get over the joy of the days when she was in love with Archie, He never amounted to anything, but he seemed to be the answer to all Roberta's dreams. When he left without saying goodbye it broke her heart. Now that she is about to marry Dick, she still hopes there is some chance that Archie will come back to her

Let's serve eggs: There's variety and appetite appeal in eggs if you'll serve them in the following ways:

Use these fillings for omelets: creamed tuna fish or seafood; minced cooked ham, cooked pork sausage or deviled ham; sauteed mushrooms, creamed peas, asparagus or other vegetables; grated cheese, creamed chicken and mushrooms, jelly, jam or marmalade; fried onions; or broiled bacon.

When you poach eggs, serve them in corned beef hash nests, spinach nests, potato nests or french toast made of stale bread. Scramble eggs with bits of diced American cheese, frizzled bacon, shredded ham, or fold in some leftover vegetables.

Bake eggs with bacon, sausage or some of the cold meat cuts and serve as a main dish for supper with salad and dessert. Fry eggs slowly and serve with quickly broiled cold cuts or waffles, pancakes or toast.

Besides enjoying it the boys learn fundamental lessons in trapping, fur curing, fishing and study of birds. is the ROF (Republican Open Forums). Officially the newcomer

Perhaps the most unique 4-H project in the United States, it is con ducted by the Louisiana State college. The boys actually trap furbearing animals, catch fish (including crabs, shrimps and oysters) and study such birds as the blue heron, white heron and Louisiana egret.

Out of the project the members have developed a market for musk glands from the Louisiana muskrat or "marsh rabbit." Club members receive $50 a quart for the oil, which is sold to perfumers. In addition they find a ready market for the meat of the marsh rabbit, and the fur when properly cured is always in demand.

The wildlife project was initiated four years ago by W. E. Simmons, county agent of St. Charles parish. who envisioned the need for some activity that would fit into the life and environment of the boys of the marshlands, all of whom are children of trappers, oystermen and fishermen whose ancestors have followed such callings for 150 years.

The boys of Louisiana's coastal region would be literally "fish out of water" if assigned a program associated with the farm. They are familiar with their native bayous and marshlands but know little about crops and domesticated stock him.

At dawn next morning, they corralled every available head of saddle stock on the ranch. Doane picked two of them, one for a mount and one to pack grub and water. He rode off into the desert, leaving them in the corral. He had rations and water for ten days; an extra water container on the pack-animal held twenty gallons more of water, for an emergency. At noon he changed mounts, and rode the packhorse. This was the rule. Sometimes four changes of saddle each It was mile-eating progress. day. found it. There were tracks of shod hoofs in the mud, not ten days old. Late the night of the third day he made camp in the foothills of the Sierra Nueva. He spent four days in the hills. Two half-breed prospectors had seen a band of riders in the ranges. A sheepman on the far rim would give no information. Two young line-riders, from the north, laughed openly when questioned. Doane learned nothing; he replenished his provisions back at the sheep-camp and rode farther north, on a long bet.

The morning of the seventh day this move yielded results. He hit a fresh, hard-ridden trail. At least a dozen animals had made the track. Following, he swiftly learned more. Two bands of horsemen had traveled this way, one close on the trail of the other, neither set of tracks over two or three hours.old. "Here we are," muttered Doane.

"There's company ridin' ahead. Let's go, old nag."

Shortly after noon, on a trail that looked like a cross-country stampede, he caught up with a band of six riders, headed by Sheriff Sam Flick of San Loreto. Flick had come south following the mountains. Doane and the sheriff met without the formality of a handshake, unconcealed enmity on Flick's face.

Released by Western Newspaper Unio COMMUNISTS LOSE OUT AT BALLOT BOX

WASHINGTON. - The Russian program for world political action is losing, and a change of front may eventuate from the Browder talks in the Kremlin.

Severest setback to Communist plans for postwar political aggression was defeat of their new constitution for France. Moscovites controlied the spirit of the French government since they defeated De Gaulle's policy of a strong army, and acquired collaboration of the Socialists. Their constitution proposed a single center of government authority in the chamber of deputies with a subservient president and cabinet.

Facially this appears like utmost democracy - somewhat like the superiority of the British parliament you might say. The majority of the French electorate was not fooled. Every time the Communists go to the electorate, it seems, they are being rejected. In the French referendum on the subject last October, their proposal for a weak executive was defeated, although they succeeded in electing the largest bloc of delegates to the convention. In the connivances of international conferences and domestic political dickering, the Moscovites have won the most ground, but at the ballot box they have proved weak. Labor Bans Communists.

Less conspicuous events than the French election disclose their forced retreat with even greater clarity. A spare three paragraphs in the London Times recently revealed the dechange its constitution so as to deny membership to Communists. This decision follows the disclosure made in this column a few weeks back, and not yet generally published, that the left wing unions in CIO were taking similar action, in similar quietude. The constitution of several CIO unions is being changed to ban Communist party members, and unquestionably labor in the two democracies is attempting to purge itself of the Communist influence.

It was in the light of these world - changing events that Earl Browder flew to Russia on his unexplained mission. The CP postwar political action in this country has been in the hands of the Fosterites who opoperation with ism. Browder was ousted from party control here because he brought CP into co-operation for production during the war. Will the Moscovites now order a period of co-operation again? I doubt it. Look at the matter the way Moscow looks at it, if you would find the answer. Capitalism was the first enemy chosen by Communism. Fascism became a later enemy. Fascism has now been eliminated as a world power. Communist aggression against capitalism can stop only through a genuine reorganization of its totalitarian ideals, and this is hardly to be expected now as the Russian government, flushed with victory and newwon power throughout the world, its greatest opportunity for sees world achievement.

'I wasn't offering any, Flick. But say . . . are you sure you're on the right track?"

Flick exploded all over again, puffing, red-faced.

'She's done it now. That girl had the nerve to ride right into San Loreto, two nights ago. Two of her men held up a cow-buyer on the street and took close to eleven hundred dollars off him. An' the other two raided Hank Hawley's cash register, an' went on to the hotel. Got a hundred and eighty-six dollars. They broke into the bank, but the lock on the vault stumped 'em. No end of hell to pay!"

"Whew!" ejaculated Doane. reckon there might be, after that. Er . . . you followed the girl's tracks out of town?"

Flick glared at him. "No," he sputtered, "I didn't. But I had the good fortune to pick up some men that know how to ride an' how to bush trail. They know the country down here, too . . . an' a lot more to boot!" Doane had already looked over Flick's men. They were the four cowhands he had discharged from Rancho de los Tres Hermanos the morning of his arrival, headed by the lank breed, Tony Suarez! Each was well mounted, and presumably deputized, to ride at Flick's side.

Doane made a halt while the posse went on. As his mounts rested, he climbed a ridge and kept hidden there, and lured Flick off watch over the country with his binoculars. He watched for an hour, until the posse headed definitely for the open desert. And with his glasses he had been able to pick out the tiny distant thread of dust that meant the pursued.

'Unless I'm mighty wrong," he mused, "they're hitting for that north water-seep. And I know a short cut that will beat 'em there.'

Twelve hours later, at midnight, he rode cautiously into the north seepage. There were smoking embers of a fire there, and a few moist tracks. That was all.

"Hm-m-m. They're headed either for Tres Hermanos or Sand Wells," he concluded. "Reckon Flick made a dry camp behind them, waiting for dawn to show track.'

Again Doane was right . part. Pressed from the unexpected angle of the Sierra Nuevas, the pursued had hit directly for the Tres Hermanos country. But Flick had not halted overnight.

Dawn disclosed the new shifting of the pawns on that vast, arid landscape of the desert. The pursued crossed the Tres Hermanos boundary, plainly on familiar territory; five miles in their rear followed Doane. At sunup he sighted the tiny dust head that meant sheriff Sam Flick, to the rear.

Superficial Co-operation.

. But there is another stronger reason for doubt. Democratic capitalism is struggling to its feet, following war. If the Communists cooperate and we get production, we may grow strong again. Therefore the Browder mission is likely to succeed only if the Kremlin becomes convinced capitalism will fall anyway, and a period of false appeasement is justified as a temporary strategic retreat. The decision could favor CP face lifting, and superficial co-operation, but could hardly run into genuine depths.

In these fundamental currents, some are saying the ultimate conflict will be between Socialism and Communism. But Socialism is a word which has lost more of its original definition than Commut ism. The Nazis were Socialists, so were the Fascists. So is Russia. The name of that Communist nation is The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. British Socialism, on the other hand, clings to law, the parliamentary system and Democratic forms.

Events therefore are shaping the world conflict into a clash of Statism, Dictatorship, Communism on the one hand versus Democracy, Capitalism, Socialism on the other, LEFT AND RIGHT

WING RADICALS

One distinction may be noted between Communist strikes and regular union strikes. The Communist strike generally seeks political benefits. (Crusades for political issues or capitalist sabotage), while the union strikes are primarily concerned with wages and working conditions, and a desire to improve them. If wages are not the reason for a strike, look for CP somewhere in the background. The swift changes in CP line can be read in the Daily Worker. Recently the Daily Worker has been attacking Walter Reuther of the Auto Workers, David Dubinsky of the Ladies' Garment Workers, and some other union leaders (generally Socialists), because they stand in the way of immediate Communist objectives. Next week Reuther and Dubinsky may be praised if the issue of that day serves Communist purposes.

In New York the state CIO council is reputed to be right wing, but the left wing, including the Communists, has free rein in the New York metropolitan council.

cast, Oft and oft our thoughts do wander To a grave not far away, Where ye laid our darling mother, Just one year ago today. In that graveyard softly sleeping, Where we laid our darling mother, Lies the one we loved so dearly, In that lonely, silent grave. We miss her when the morning dawns.

Women in Service

We miss her when the night returns, Bend. We miss her here, we miss her there, Dear mother, we miss you everywhere.

In our home we miss you sadly, The time seems so long since you went,

We think of you daily and hourly, But try to be brave and content. Many tears are shed in silence, Friends may think the wound is healed.

But they little know the sorrow That lies within our hearts concealed.

Sadly missed by all the sons and May God grant you eternal rest. laughters and their families. Sadly missed by the children.
