

Paula R. Strachota, Ruth Bohn, Mildred Mehlos, Others Wed

In an impressive autumn wedding ceremony performed in St. Killian's church, St. Killian, at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, Oct. 22, Miss Paula R. Strachota, daughter of Mrs. Marie Strachota and the late Simon Strachota of St. Killian, became the bride of Paul R. Hron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hron, 149 10th Ave., West Bend.

The sanctuary of the church was decorated with urns of white chrysanthemums and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride, a graduate of St. Mary's Springs academy, Fond du Lac, had been engaged as a clerk in Strachota's store, St. Killian. The bridegroom graduated from the West Bend high school and attended the University of Wisconsin. A World War II veteran, he holds a position as assistant traffic manager at the West Bend Aluminum company.

Given in marriage by her brother, Orville Strachota, the bride presented a lovely picture in a gown of white brocade satin, exquisitely fashioned with a yoke of marquisette and edged with a berthia of brocade satin, long, tight sleeves extending in points over her hands and a puffed bustle. Her bodice was snug fitting, and dipped to a V in front to top a bouffant skirt, en-train. For her headpiece, she wore clusters of orange blossoms caught to a full length veil of illusion. She carried a crystal rosary, a gift from the groom, and an arm bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pompons.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Myrtle Strachota, Milwaukee, as maid of honor, while Miss Arlene Flaseh, Fond du Lac, a cousin, served as bridesmaid. Little Miss Greta Groose of Beaver Dam, a niece of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honor and bridesmaid wore gowns of sapphire blue satin fashioned with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts. The ruff at the neckline extended to the shoulder, making the cap sleeve effect. They wore matching long gloves. Blue ostrich plumes were swirled about the back of their hair. They carried arm bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums and pompons. The junior bridesmaid wore a dusty rose gown with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt styled with a miniature bustle. She carried a colonial bouquet of rose

Kewaskum Baseball Team, Officials Enjoy Banquet

Members of the Kewaskum Utensils baseball team of the 1916 season, with their wives and friends, and officials of the Utensils company, and the ball club enjoyed a banquet at the Kewaskum Chief hotel Saturday evening. Following a delicious chicken dinner, Messrs. J. O. Reigle, Charles Reigle and L. N. Peterson of the Utensils company, and Alfred Kral, club manager, were called on for brief talks by the toastmaster, Albert Hron. The third place trophy won by the team in the Kettle Mornine league was shown to the players and others gathered. Later the entire group drove to the Bar-N-Ranch where they were entertained at a dancing and social party for the remainder of the evening.

The bride's mother was attired in an anacanda copper brown suit with accessories to match and wore a corsage of bronze pompons. The groom's mother was attired in a black dress with matching accessories and wore a corsage of red and white roses.

Two World War II buddies of the groom, Sylvester Wolf, West Bend, and Robert Steinbach, Beaver Dam, attended the groom as best man and groomsmen respectively. Claude Straub, Milwaukee, and Leonard Peter, Kewaskum, ushered the guests to their places.

The ceremony was followed by a breakfast at the Takodah Country club, Fond du Lac, after which a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hron left on a honeymoon to northern Wisconsin and will reside temporarily at the home of the bride's mother until their new home is completed in West Bend.

SCHMIDT-BOHN
Miss Ruth Bohn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohn of Route 2, Kewaskum, became the bride of Harold Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schmidt of 112 East Ave., West Bend, formerly of Kewaskum, in a nine o'clock ceremony performed in Holy Trinity church here on Saturday, Oct. 19. The Rev. F. C. La Buwi presided at the rite and read the solemn nuptial high mass which followed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was very pretty in a Grecian style gown of brocade satin with a drop off the shoulder effect and a net yoke. Her fingertip veil was held by a crown of seed pearls and her flowers consisted of white baby mums and white roses.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Myrtle Schmidt, sister of the groom. Mrs. Milton Schaefer and Mrs. Norman Schaefer, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. White was chosen for the attendants' gowns, fashioned with satin bodices, sweetheart necklines, three quarters length sleeves and net over satin skirts. They carried arm bouquets of white mums and red roses.

Francis Bohn, brother of the bride, served as best man for the groom, while Walter Schmidt and Lloyd Schmidt, brothers of the groom, were groomsmen. Lawrence Bohn and Jerome Hanrahan were ushers.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents which was gaily decorated with cut flowers. In the evening a wedding dance was held at the Light-house ballroom.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to an unknown destination, after which they will reside at the home of the bride's parents. The groom is employed as an electrician with Raquet Electric Service. His bride had been employed at the Amity in West Bend.

BELGER-MEHLOS

Exchanging wedding vows in St. Paul's Evangelical & Reformed church, Silver Creek, on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 19, were Miss Mildred Mehlos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Mehlos, Batavia, and Lyle Belger, son of the Walter Belgers of this village. The Rev. Melvin Schroer performed the rite at three o'clock before an altar decorated with white mums.

Two vocal solos were rendered by Walter Johnson, cousin of the bride, who sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" during the service.

For her marriage the bride chose a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with an overskirt and train of tulle, scalloped peplum and long sleeves caught to a point at the wrist. Her long lace edged veil was held by a crown of sequins and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of Kilarney roses, white sweet peas and pom poms, centered with three gardenias.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Richard Jungers, as matron of honor, and Miss Lauretta Klein, cousin of the groom, was bridesmaid. Yvonne Sauter, cousin of the bride, served as junior bridesmaid. The three attendants were dressed alike in white, satin gowns with full skirts of net and three-quarter length sleeves. They

Village to Declare War on Rats Monday

On Monday, Oct. 23, the village of Kewaskum declares war on rats. All rats in the village limits of Kewaskum must go.

On Monday morning a village employee will deliver to your door a package of rat bait; this bait has been paid for by the village; all we ask is that you place the bait.

Place the bait where you think rats will feed upon it, such as runways, feed troughs, burrows, behind boxes and boards, and under buildings known to inhabit rats. The secret of this campaign's success is that we all do it not later than Monday night.

Lets all get behind this campaign 100% and remove the rat from our midst.

wore sweetheart bonnets of tulle to match and carried bouquets of American Beauty roses and net to match.

The groom was attended by his brother, Myron Belger, as best man, Ralph Mehlos, brother of the bride, acted as groomsmen, while Roger Bilgo and Edward Bretschneider ushered. Mark Le Fever was ring bearer, wearing a black velvet suit with a white satin blouse, shoes and socks. He carried the rings on a white pillow.

The nuptial ceremony was followed by a 6 o'clock supper at the Badger club, Random Lake, and a reception for relatives and friends at the Batavia Firemen's hall in the evening. Later the young couple left on their honeymoon, intending to return about Nov. 8. They will be at home after Nov. 5 in Kewaskum where the groom is engaged in farming.

The bride is a graduate of the Random Lake high school and Sheboygan County Normal school. Before her marriage she was engaged as a teacher at the Beechwood and McKinley schools. Her husband is a graduate of the Kewaskum high school.

SMITH-BECKER

Holy Angels church, West Bend, was the scene of a 10 o'clock wedding ceremony read by the Rev. John Gobel on Saturday, Oct. 19, in which Miss Dorothy Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar H. Becker, Route 4, West Bend, became the bride of Robert E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Smith of West Bend, former residents of Kewaskum.

The dark haired bride chose a white taffeta frock with net yoke. A lace bonnet held her illusion veil and her bouquet was composed of white mums.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Leroy Becker, and the junior bridesmaid, Arlene Becker, were attired in yellow. Identical frocks of aqua were worn by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Nick Leb and Miss Florence Lehn, together with Dutch bonnets. The gowns were of brocade taffeta. The attendants carried yellow and bronze mums.

Armand Becker accompanied his twin sister as junior groomsmen.

The groom was attended by his brother, Lloyd Smith, as best man, while Nick Leb and Allen Becker were groomsmen. Ushers were Robert Becker and Raymond Smith.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served at the Jackson village hall and in the evening a wedding dance was held at West Park ballroom, West Bend.

The newlyweds left on a honeymoon in the East and South. Returning from their wedding trip, they will reside on Route 4, West Bend. The groom, a graduate of the Kewaskum high school, is an employee of the West Bend Aluminum company.

BUTZKE-TONN

St. Johns Evangelical Lutheran church, New Fane, was the scene of the marriage Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 1:30 p. m. of Miss Shirley Tonn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Tonn, Route 3, Campbellsport, and Raymond Butzke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Butzke, Route 2, Campbellsport. The Rev. Elmer J. Zanow performed the service and "The Lord's Prayer" was sung during the ceremony.

The dark haired bride wore a gown of Old English champaign lace over ivory satin with a fitted bodice, a sweetheart neckline and a fingertip veil. Her shower bouquet was of white mums, white roses and pom poms. She wore a necklace, a gift of the groom.

The maid of honor, Miss Carol Fox, cousin of the bride, wore a light green dress and pink pom poms in her hair. Mrs. Elmer Kuehl, sister of the bride, Mrs. John Kempf, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Elroy Butzke, sister-in-law of the groom, were bridesmaids in gowns of pink, blue and peach marquisette. Correspondingly colored plumes were worn in their hair. Their flowers were pink and white mums and they wore ear rings, gifts from the bride. The flower girls, Joanne Kempf and Bonnie Butzke, nieces of the groom, were in white nylon dresses and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white Kewaskum's third conference victory of the season highlighted the annual homecoming celebration here Friday. A fighting Oakfield team bowed to the Indians by a decisive 52 to 24 score. The victory clinched a tie for the title for Kewaskum which is undefeated in first place.

Kewaskum took an early 26-0 lead in the first quarter on two touchdowns by Wieman, one by McElhatton and one by Bilgo on an 80-yard run on a pass interception. In the second quarter the Indian reserves yielded to two scores while Staehler plunged over from the 3 yard line to bring the half-time score to 34-12.

A spirited Oakfield squad scored twice in the third quarter before the locals could recover their fire and closed in to bring the score to 34-24. Then the Indians again went on the warpath and a touchdown by Keller, who also booted 6 points after touchdown, brought the end of the third quarter score to 40-24. In the final period Schaub and McElhatton each scored again to make the final score 52-24 and clinch the victory. Coach Mitchell used three teams in the game.

A spectacular parade in which the whole school participated preceded the game. First prize went to the senior float, music by Herbert Buhk's orchestra featured the homecoming dance in the evening at the high school gym.

This Friday the 47-point-per-game Indians were guests at the Campbellsport homecoming. Although the Belles twice defeated the games were close and Kewaskum looked for its toughest game of the season.

Late Fair Brings Out Quality Fruit

The late fair, which is largely an apple show, was held at the fairgrounds at Slinger last Saturday. About thirty trays and more than 200 plates of very choice apples were exhibited. The show was judged by Hugo G. Klumb, principal of the Racine County Agricultural school, Mr. Klumb, a former Washington county resident, made frequent comments as to the quality of the apples shown. Such quality fruit, he said, shows the worthwhileness of a well planned pruning, spraying, and fertilization program.

Among the principal fruit exhibitors may be mentioned the names of: Elias Koop, John and Martha Koop, Route 3, West Bend; Joseph L. Morawetz, Route 4, West Bend; Ted J. and Joe. Schoofs, Route 2, Kewaskum; Henry Kohl, Route 3, West Bend; Mrs. Ernest Gilbert, Route 2, West Bend; Lenore T. Zinn, Route 1, Hartford.

EDITORIAL

WOULD YOU PASS THEM?

It will take you just sixty seconds to read this. One minute—but long enough for a school bus to pass a group of children walking on the public highway. These children are on their way to a rural parochial school, and they walk, regardless of the weather and the traffic, because Wisconsin has made no provision for them to ride.

The state, which compels parents and guardians to send their children to the school of their choice, whether public, parochial, or private, provides transportation to only one, although taxpayers continue to pay for service they do not receive. In justice, parochial and private schools, which bear a great part of the education burden in the state, deserve bus transportation for their pupils.

Have you ever stopped to think what would happen if the rural, parochial or private schools suddenly decided to close their doors? This could happen. It would then be up to the public schools to accommodate all the pupils of these schools. This would cost the state millions and millions of dollars for new schools and in building additions and enlarging the present public schools.

A ballot, given to each Wisconsin voter in the Nov. 5 election, will decide whether children continue to walk to parochial and private schools throughout the state, or whether they share in bus transportation wherever it is available for public school children. If you believe these children equal before the law, mark your referendum ballot "YES."

Serve Sandwiches the Family Likes
(See Recipes Below)

Sandwich Magic
Sandwiches, those mighty Ameri- can favorites, are a wonderful food for lunches, snacks or entertain- ing. To think that two slices of bread with a delectable filling can contain so many foodstuffs good for health is indeed a great achievement.

Almost any type of filling may be used, depend- ing upon the use of the sandwich. There is no limit on the type of bread to be used, either, and buns are often used to great advantage in ham or cheese sandwiches, or soft-filling sandwiches.

Probably the most popular use for the sandwich is as a snack or a lunch box item, but there are daintier types to use with salad for entertaining.

Here are several interesting types of fillings that go well with school lunches. All the recipes make enough for several sandwiches, and fillings may be kept in a jar or covered dish in the refrigerator so they will last.

1 sweet cucumber pickle, minced
1/2 teaspoon chopped onion
Salt and pepper to taste
Mayonnaise

Combine potatoes, eggs, pickle and seasonings. Moisten with mayonnaise to a spreading consistency. Use for white or whole wheat bread.

Deviled Peanut Butter.
1/2 cup deviled ham
1/2 cup peanut butter
2 tablespoons chopped pickle
Mayonnaise

Combine peanut butter, ham and pickle. Season to taste and moisten to spreading consistency with mayonnaise. This is good with a graham or dark bread.

Egg and Celery Filling.
4 hard cooked eggs
2 dill pickles, chopped
1 tablespoon vinegar
Salt and pepper

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENUS

Scalloped Ham and Noodles
Green Peas
Cabbage-Carrot Slaw
Graham-Nut Bread Beverage
Pineapple-Chiffon Pie

1/4 cup diced celery
1 tablespoon minced onion
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
Separate yolks and whites. Chop whites and combine with celery, pickles and onion. Mash yolks and add vinegar. Combine with first mixture and add mayonnaise. Season to taste.

Liver Filling.
1/2 pound liver sausage
4 tablespoons chili sauce
1/4 cup celery, chopped
2 tablespoons melted butter or substitute
Mash liver and add remaining ingredients. Season to taste. Use on white or rye bread.

Salmon Filling.
2 cups shredded red salmon
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup mashed potatoes
1/2 cup chopped cucumber pickles
Salt and pepper
Mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine all ingredients, season to taste and add enough mayonnaise to make of a spreading consistency. Use with white or whole wheat bread.

Tuna Fish Filling.
1 cup shredded tuna fish
1 cup finely chopped tomato
1/4 cup diced cucumber
1 teaspoon minced onion
Salt and pepper
Mayonnaise

Combine all ingredients, season to taste. Add enough mayonnaise to thin to spreading consistency.

Raisin-Honey Filling.
1 cup chopped or ground raisins
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons honey
1/4 cup chopped nuts
1 1/2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Mix all ingredients together and use as a filling between thin slices of brown or white bread.

Cheese-Marmalade Filling.
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1/2 cup orange marmalade
1/4 cup cream
Prepared mustard
Combine cheese and cream, then add marmalade. Spread on bread with the thin film of prepared mustard.

When you serve sandwiches for entertaining or with salads, the open-faced variety are very popular. Use only very fresh bread and buttered. Here are spread suggestions:

Mushroom-Ham.
Cover very thin slices of boiled or baked ham with mushrooms which have been peeled and halved. Broil until the ham is browned delicately and the mush- rooms are soft.

Cucumber Topping.
1 medium cucumber
4 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1 teaspoon minced onion
Mayonnaise
Salt and paprika
Peel cucumber and slice length- wise. Remove seeds and chop fine. There should be about 1 cup pulp. Add onion and eggs, moisten with mayonnaise to spreading consistency. Season to taste.

LYNN SAYS:

Use these short-cuts: If a recipe calls for soured milk and you do not have any at home, use 2 teaspoons of vinegar to 1/2 cup of evaporated milk and let stand until it sours.

When broiling steaks and chops, place 2 slices of bread in the pan under the broiling rack to prevent fat from splattering in broiler.

In cleaning fish, prevent the odor from clinging to the hands by rinsing them in chilled water before touching fish. Wash after- wards in a solution of as hot as possible salt water.

To sugar dates, doughnuts, etc., place sugar in a paper bag, add dates and shake.

When preparing green, or wax beans, it is quicker and easier to cut them crosswise with scis- sors, than trying to cut them with a paring knife.

To warm leftover rolls, sprinkle with hot water, place in a paper bag and set in oven for a few minutes.

Air-Conditioning for Future Holds Promise of Easier, Cleaner Living

By MARION ATKINS

Reading the advance information from the air conditioning people in- duces that rosy feeling one has when informed he had inherited a fortune—the feeling that everything is going to be smooth as cream. Some of the advantages promised, once air conditioning is installed in a home, sound almost better than a fortune!

A regulated humidity prevents antiques from drying out, mold from forming on carpets, doors and desk drawers from warping. The family piano stays in tune longer—curtains and draperies stay clean- er and fresher. In air conditioned bedrooms sleep will come more quickly when you can pick the de- gree of temperature and humid- ity most sleep-inducing.

All too lovely! And when does this millennium arrive—and how much does it cost? Air conditioning is a broad term. It may refer to

This Home-Mixed Cough Relief Is Truly Surprising

So Easy. No Cooking. Big Saving.

You may not know it, but in your own kitchen, you can easily prepare a really surprising relief for coughs due to colds. It's old-fashioned—your mother probably used it—but for real results, it's hard to beat.

First, make a syrup by stirring 3 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 3/4 ounce of Pinex from any drugist. This is a special com- pound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action in throat and bronchial irritations.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of splendid cough syrup, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils. Children love its pleasant taste. And for quick relief, it's a wonder. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irri- tated membranes, eases the soreness, makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Line cupboard drawers with oil- cloth. Then a once-over with a damp cloth now and then will keep them clean.

When putting away household linens from the weekly wash, place them at the bottom of each pile so that all have an equal amount of usage.

When in a hurry to get at your ironing, dampen the clothes with hot water instead of cold. They will dampen more quickly.

Your "extra special" china should be put away with care so that it will not scratch. In be- tween each piece of china place paper dollies a little larger than the piece being stored.

"COLD BUG" GOT YOU ALL STUFFED UP?

Nostrils clogged up—breathing difficult? Quick—reach for Mentholatum. Instantly it starts to loosen congestion, thin out mucus. Soon you can b-r-e-a-t-h-e! Don't let the nasty old "Cold Bug" keep a strangle hold on your breathing—get Mentholatum!

Red Feather Flown as Symbol In Social Service Fund Drives

Badge Is Beacon Of Hope To Sick, Weary, Homeless

For centuries the red feather has been accepted as a badge of courage and generosity. Robin Hood awarded red feathers to his followers for heroic and generous deeds...

This year, in cities throughout the United States, the Red Feather will mean hope for the sick, homeless and friendless. Community Chests of the country have adopted the Red Feather to designate services to orphans, the aged, the blind, crippled children and the sick.

In previous years the welfare fund raising organizations from coast to coast have been known by a variety of names and their symbols have been many and varied. In 1946, for the first time, practically all of them are known as Community Chests and all fly the Red Feather.

Many Join Movement. Last year, 849 cities in the country raised close to a quarter billion dollars through community fund raising campaigns. These cities each conducted a single campaign to raise funds to support multiple welfare agencies.

It was in Cleveland, Ohio, that the Community Chest plan was born in 1913. A group of Cleveland business men, aware of the many fund drives held each year and of the vast sums spent annually to raise money for welfare purposes, evolved a plan to budget the city's welfare needs and to hold one campaign annually to obtain the money to meet these needs.

Before Cleveland held the first Community Chest campaign, 6,000 persons were contributing money for welfare purposes. During the 1945 Community Chest campaign, 606,000 residents of Greater Cleveland made pledges to support 100 hope front agencies and 22 units of the national war fund.

Support 100 Agencies. This year, the Cleveland Community Chest is campaigning in October for a goal of $4,880,000. Proceeds will be used for the support of 100 Red Feather agencies, including 21 youth and recreation groups, 19 organizations aiding dependent children, 17 hospitals, 14 family welfare services and other welfare organizations.

Throughout the nation, the story of the Red Feather is being told as Community Chests wage their annual fund-raising campaigns in October. Chicago, which has the largest Community Chest fund in the nation, has a goal of $7,939,000 in the current drive. From Community Chest coffers will come 50 per cent of the operating costs of 192 Red Feather agencies. An additional $906,000 is sought to continue USO activities for the final year.

One of the main objectives of Community Chests is to assure a good start in life for all children. Red Feather youth agencies universally strive to prepare annually for the needs of their responsibilities as citizens of tomorrow.

To carry out this objective, Philadelphia, for example, will allot the largest percentage of its campaign funds, more than 20 per cent, to its Red Feather youth recreation services and another 11 per cent to its child care agencies. Last year, the city's 39 Red Feather youth agencies served more than 139,714 boys and girls and provided 183,593 days in camps.

Returns Near Peak. As the birthplace of the Community Chest idea, Cleveland has attained one of the best records in the nation for its annual fund drive. Total goal of the past 27 Community Chest campaigns there was $115,688,845, of which $12,943,489, or 97.7 per cent, actually was raised.

In Cleveland Community Chest hospitals contain two-thirds of all the city's public and private hospital capacity; their dispensaries annually give approximately 200,000 free or low cost treatments; all of the maternity homes for unwed mothers are chest supported; institutional care of 1,125 Cleveland orphans is given only by chest agencies, and 672 children are under foster home care through chest auspices.

A high degree of co-operation is essential to success of the Community Chest drive. That sort of co-operation is characteristic of Cleveland's annual fund raising event. Solicitation of chest pledges is carried out by a corps of 25,000 volunteer workers. City officials authorize decoration of downtown thoroughfares; the transit system and railroads permit campaign advertising; stores feature window displays stressing the work of chest agencies; radio stations, newspapers and theaters tell the story of the Red Feather organizations.

For the sick and troubled of Cleveland, as well as those of 849 other cities in the United States, the Red Feather this year means hope. For the greater number of persons who wear the Red Feather as Community Chest contributors, the brighter the outlook for those who need a "helping hand."

Veterans SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Veterans News-Paper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Vets Subsistence Allowance

Recent legislation placing a limitation on subsistence allowances for veterans enrolled under the G. I. Bill for education or training who are obtaining compensation on the side has brought a flood of inquiries about the new VA regulations concerning this phase. Briefly, the new law provides that "in no event shall the rate of such allowance plus the compensation received exceed $175 per month for the veteran without dependents or $200 per month if he has a dependent or dependents."

Veterans administration says that for perhaps three months, perhaps longer, veterans will get the same amount they have been getting in the past, but that enclosed with each check mailed up to October 31 will be a notice from the VA describing the changes in the G. I. Bill and warning each veteran that he later may have to return some of the money he now is receiving in subsistence allowance during his interim period. The same notice asks each veteran to give his training officer or regional office not later than November 5, a statement of his earnings during August, September and October. Veterans are warned that further checks will be delayed until this notice is received, so they should be sure to meet the November 5 deadline. After the veteran has turned in his notice, the VA will start making adjustments in any subsistence allowance that requires changes. If there is a refund due the government, however, no time limit is set for returning this money.

Questions and Answers

Q. My husband served 14 months in the merchant marine, 12 months of this overseas. Is he eligible for the draft?—Mrs. R. M. B., Pensacola, Fla. A. If you do not have any children and your husband is between 18 and 26 years old and unless he has served for a period of not less than 32 months beginning on or after May 1, 1940, on active duty not less than 75 per cent of the time and unless he applied for and received from the war shipping administration a certificate certifying that he has completed a period of substantially continuous service in the merchant marine, he is subject to the selective service law and may be drafted.

Q. I am a widow with six children under 18 years of age and I am 50 years old and not able to do much work. I had a son killed in France in 1914. I was dependent on him. His wife has remarried. He had his insurance made to her, but he told me he wished he had never did it to me although he never did. Can I get a part of it now?—Mrs. M. O., Cincinnati, Ohio. A. No, you cannot obtain the insurance. If you are a dependent mother, however, you are entitled to a pension for the death of your son killed in action. Suggest you contact your Veterans' administration office in Cincinnati and give them the details. Your local Red Cross or any American Legion post will help you.

Q. My boy friend has re-enlisted in the army for a three-year period. He has married but separated from his wife and now he wants to get a divorce and marry me. Can he apply and receive this while still in service, now stationed in Germany?—S. P., Havre de Grace, Md. A. Yes, his papers may be filed in either his own home county or that of his wife. He may designate some person with power of attorney to file his papers and act for him. In most towns the American Legion has a legal committee from which legal service is furnished free to soldiers. Suggest you contact the legal committee of your American Legion post.

Q. Could you give me some information about the 615th port company? When did it land in the states and where is it now?—V. S., Conder, N. C. A. The army says that the last address of the 615th port company was APO 435, San Francisco, and it was inactivated on the island of Luzon at Manila.

Q. Can a former serviceman apply for a G. I. loan guaranty while he is on terminal leave?—Veteran, Vinita, Okla. A. I should think so if he is otherwise qualified or eligible.

Q. My husband is in Germany and his father is seriously ill in the marine hospital in Baltimore, Md. If we secure my husband's return through Red Cross, would he have to go back overseas after his father's recovery or death? He has served four months overseas.—Mrs. G. E. J., Ft. Barrancas, Fla. A. That would be a question for his commanding officer to determine and the chances are he would have to go wherever sent, unless he can prove by evidence that to do so would prove a hardship case. He should consult his c. o.

Vet Students Replace Navy 'Boots'

FARRAGUT, IDAHO—In an attempt to crack the national bottleneck in educational facilities, particularly for ex-G.I.s, education-hungry veterans have opened their own college here. At the site of the sprawling naval training station here, the veterans opened a privately operated, non-profit, co-educational college and technical institute this month. When the navy declared the huge training station surplus, veterans' organizations went into immediate action. They saw the station's vast dormitories, apartments, classrooms, laboratories, machine shops and recreational facilities as the answer to two major veterans' problems: Lack of educational facilities and housing accommodations while attending school.

Backed by local business men, encouraged by the United States department of education and other federal agencies, veterans' organizations in north Idaho and eastern Washington formed a private non-profit corporation. They called it Farragut College and Technical Institute, Inc., and set out to raise an initial operating fund of $250,000. Veterans' groups plunked down sums like $10,000 and $15,000 to start the ball rolling. Private clubs and individual citizens came across. The veterans hired a college president, Dr. Joseph H. Kusner, formerly of Florida, who is a veteran. He rounded up a faculty.

The school was chartered by the state of Idaho and acceptable credits were assured. Federal problems of acquiring the property were hurried. In Picturesque Country. Farragut, where hundreds of thousands of United States naval men were trained during the war, is on the shores of Lake Pend Oreille—a picturesque spot in the heart of north Idaho's timber and lake country. It has ample facilities for 15,000 students, including housing for single students, married students and faculty. Courses in the liberal arts and in the technical and trade fields will be taught by streamlined methods.

Erosion Raids Take High Toll

CHICAGO.—Erosion's raids on soil fertility are costing the United States nearly four billion dollars annually, according to the Middle West Soil Improvement committee. "The extent of this yearly damage is indicated by recent U. S. Soil Conservation service estimates that wind and water erosion removes 21 times as much plant food from the nation's farm soil each year as is taken out by crops sold off that land," the committee reports. Dr. H. H. Bennett, chief of the conservation service, places the annual loss as a result of uncontrolled erosion and water runoff at $3,844,000,000. He estimates that nearly one billion acres of the nation's farm lands need soil conservation treatment to protect them from erosion and to maintain their productivity. It is clearly evident that eternal

Water Brings $1 Barrel in Drouth

AUSTIN, TEXAS.—Fall rains have alleviated a drouth which turned up many eccentricities during the summer months. At Aspermont in the high plains area drinking water sold for a dollar a barrel. Also near Aspermont, the Salt fork of the Brazos, the state's mightiest river, became a dry channel one day, then was running 25,000 cubic feet a second the following day. Two large reservoirs of the Lower Colorado river system had evaporated in excess of inflow. Wichita Falls, busy wheat and industrial city, prepared for a drouth by completing an additional reservoir capable of holding 100,000 acre-feet of water. But the branch of the Little Wichita river, which was expected to fill the reservoir, failed to respond.

Every Day Is July 4 At Ordnance Depot

TOELE, UTAH.—Not once a year but every day it's Fourth of July at the Tooele Ordnance depot, at least insofar as fireworks are concerned. Unserviceable explosives—American, German and Japanese—which have accumulated at the depot must be destroyed. Depot officers do the task scientifically, placing about 50 tons of explosives in a crater to detonate them.

College Freshmen Get Own Housing

MONETT, MO.—Providing their own solution to the housing problem, three Monett youths took their house with them when they went to Stillwater, Okla., to attend Oklahoma A. and M. college. The boys, all freshmen, were unable to find farm lands, so they purchased a house trailer. Aided by their mothers, they converted it into living quarters.

Youths Turn Pickets To Regain Footballs

CHICAGO.—A new reason for picketing has been originated by a group of 5 to 11-year-old youngsters, who may go down in history as the youngest group of picketers. To them, the price of peace is footballs and rubber balls. The youths paraded in front of the home of Mrs. Steve Goszkowski demanding return of balls which she had confiscated when children trampled her flowers.

WHAT A "YES" VOTE ON THE SCHOOL BUS AMENDMENT MEANS

"It is in my mind but fair, that he who protects a State should have a reciprocity of privileges; that no man should be made familiar with its burthens, and at the same time be told that he must remain a stranger to its benefits." —Phillips.

Correction of an injustice existing at the present time in the school bus situation.

Extension of a modern health and safety service to private and parochial school children, which only public school children now enjoy.

The adding of Wisconsin to the list of 22 progressive states that now make some provision for transporting private and parochial school children.

Fundamentally, a "yes" vote on this amendment does not mean that the private or parochial school will be the beneficiary, but all children, future citizens of the state, will benefit equally.

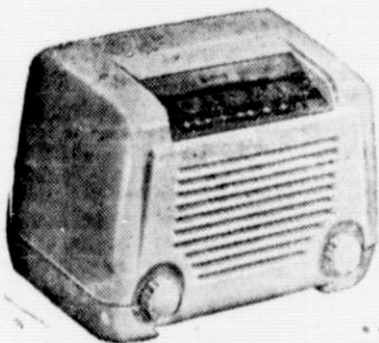

Every citizen who weighs the question of bus transportation in a spirit of fairness and justice will vote "yes" on the referendum on November 5th.

White House Needs Business Basis

President of the U. S. Has Biggest Job in the World

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Once more events bring up the so far unanswered problem of how can the White House be put on a business basis?

The White House executive offices are the headquarters of the biggest organization in the world. The President of the United States is the head of this tremendous administrative set-up. Few people realize the extent of his functions, most of which aren't even suggested in the constitution, and few laws define them. They have grown like Topsy.

Baukhage

We are reminded of the scope of the presidential duties by Willard Kiplinger in his "Washington is Like That." He points out that the President as leader of his party runs the party policies through the national committee. Some times the party line isn't working. You recall the stew over meat? A meeting of Democratic party leaders, at the moment when the President was preparing to announce at a news conference that he opposed removing the controls on meat prices, passed a resolution asking Chairman Hannegan to confer with administrative officials concerning the removal of such controls.

The President, as the top executive, heads the executive set-up and he appoints the men who run the executive machinery. He can't talk to each one every day. When there is friction a hot-box often develops. There are plenty of examples in history from Ickes and Wallace, back to Lincoln and Seward, and before.

Chief Executive's Task Never Ends

The President issues "executive orders"—which someone has to write for him but which have the force of law—and the President must see that they are properly interpreted. Again there is trouble if these decrees tread on congressional prerogatives.

He has to get bills which he favors, passed. Frequently he writes the first drafts of such bills with the help of his legal advisors. He is expected, if necessary, to "put the heat on" to get them through congress. This means a lot of work in conference with congressional leaders on the phone and through his personal agents. A tactless agent can easily upset the applicant. Remember how Tommy Corcoran used to get under the skin of congress? Many others, well intentioned and otherwise, who came and went, might be named.

The President has to make up the budget, with the help of the budget director. If the director makes mistakes or asks for too much or too little, it is the White House that takes the rap. This involves billions.

He appoints the Justices of the Supreme court and federal judges. A bad choice may be fatal, and yet one person can't know the personal history of every likely candidate. In this sense the President forms the legal thinking of his era.

He is not only his own and his party's but also the nation's chief publicity man. A slip of the tongue not only can lose an election, but also could start a war. If war comes, he has to run it, for the strategy in the field is based on broad objectives decided at home. It was by no means merely military opinion which decided when and where the invasion of Europe took place.

These are only a few of the things a President has to think about. We have omitted mention of many minor but time-consuming matters such as whether the architect or the beauty of the White House shall be altered with a new wing, or where some visiting potentate shall sit at the table. All full of dynamite.

It was the death of Woodrow Wilson which brought the presidential workload to public attention. He had as much from overwork as from his disappointment over repudiation of the League of Nations. Serious study of the problem of furnishing a means to lighten the presidential burden began shortly thereafter, but it was not until 1939 that a specific plan was drawn up and submitted to congress. Among other suggestions for various departmental reorganizations, the plan created a presidential staff of "executive assistants."

About all the public knows about this corps of assistants is that they are supposed to possess a "passion for anonymity." The other thing about them, which isn't usually admitted, is that they have never functioned properly. That, at least, is the private opinion of one insider who has watched them come and go from the beginning. The reason is simple; people who expect a decision on an important matter won't take it from anyone but the President himself.

Must Keep Close Check on Aides

A pitiful example of the breakdown of the White House machinery was the recent Wallace ruckus. The President never need have been placed in the position he was.

It is not a President's job to read over every document submitted to him. No head of a business as big as the government would dream of trying to do that. But somebody should have read both the Wallace memorandum on foreign policy and the Wallace speech and apprised the President of what they contained and implied. Whether it is the President's fault that he didn't have properly experienced hired help, is another matter. That his hired help didn't function, caused the damage.

An explanation, if not an excuse, has been offered in this case. The job of reading over public statements of administration members to see that they didn't conflict with the OWI during the war. Before that the White House machinery had always taken care of such matters. That machinery had not been again set in motion when OWI ceased to function.

The fault was not that the President didn't prevent the Wallace-Byrnes clash, but that he was not prevented from preventing it. I can think of only one similar bad mistake made by President Roosevelt which parallels the Wallace mix-up and it was due to a similar but not the same cause. It involved the highly technical question of the public debt. An "assistant," supposed to be an expert, furnished the figures on which the President based an important public statement. The eagle-eyed financial writers caught it. The "expert" was called to account; he furnished new figures, was wrong again and caught again. The President was forced to make a second public correction.

The duties of a President are simply too great for any one man. So President Roosevelt always had personal advisors, some times they were given an office, some times they had no official title—like Colonel House in the Wilson regime. To-day we hear little about presidential "administrative assistants" but we hear a great deal about a group of "advisors" who have failed to function properly in spite of the fact that unlike the executive assistants they lack authority. These advisors are too "close" to the President. And they have been criticized by other members of the administration for standing between department heads, the congressional and party leaders. They are all old, close, personal friends of the President. They are inexperienced in government.

Whether President Truman's little circle of "cronies" has helped or hindered him is beside the question. No one can dispute the fact that they were chosen because of their loyalty rather than because of their experience. The question is whether presidential duties, as they exist today, can be delegated even to well-trained, highly capable staff. They can, is the answer, if such a staff is not blocked by higher authorities who, from motives of love, hate, politics, religion, temperament, taste or previous condition of service, use such authority, other than in the public good.

Telephone calls at the rate of four a minute asking answers to radio quiz questions were reported destroying the morale of a Brooklyn library. From now on the line is quizzy.

The President has a new "Sacred Cow." The winged ruminant as it browses in the Washington airport puts the other big transport planes in the calf-class.

OPTIMISTIC OUTLOOK

Peak Income Predicted in 1947

WASHINGTON.—Our national income will climb to a peak of 175 billion dollars in 1947 but will start tapering off toward the end of that year, according to a prediction of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The predicted income would represent an increase of six per cent over this year's estimated 165 billion dollars, which is highest on record to date.

The bureau's 1947 estimates were contained in a report prepared for the agriculture department's outlook conference of farm officials. The bureau said a high level of domestic industrial activity and relatively full employment in most of 1947 will contribute substantially to higher consumer incomes.

Farm income drops. While forecasting the rise in national income, the bureau said the net income of agriculture may be reduced as much as 10 to 15 per cent from 1946.

The farm income forecast is based on: (1) the premise that consumers will devote a larger part of their buying power to industrial goods which have been in short supply and less to food; (2) higher farm production costs.

Income of non-agricultural labor, on the other hand, is expected to increase 10 per cent next year, the bureau said, reflecting higher employment in the major part of the year and higher wages. The bureau said unemployment is expected to be somewhat heavier in 1947 than at present.

VERSION OF NEW GERMANY . . . Baseball, favorite pastime of American youth, now is being played by the younger generation of Germans. American troops direct youngsters in a game of ball in the very shadows of Nuernberg jail, where top Nazi criminals were tried.

NEWS REVIEW

Parley Approves Italian Peace over Red Protest

PARIS: Italian Pact

Following a pitched warning from Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov against the division of the world into eastern and western blocs, the Paris peace conference approved the proposed treaty for Italy.

Molotov

Because it considered the treaty opposed to the interests of its Yugoslav ally, Russia led the bitter fight against adoption of the pact. Championing Yugoslavia's cause, Molotov shouted that Russia would not permit the western powers to dictate to the "new Slavic democracies," and reiterated Lenin's axiom that "a people which takes its destiny into its own hands is invincible."

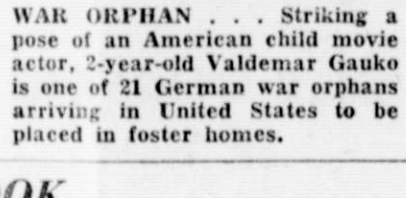

The Russian bloc's objections to the treaty centered against establishment of a strong, neutral governor for the key port of Trieste, and creation of a new Italo-Yugoslav border.

A strong governor would deprive the mixed Italian-Yugoslav population of its self-rule, Molotov declared in calling for a powerful constituent assembly. An alliance of Italian Yugoslav Communists would have given the Reds control of the strategic city.

MEAT: Predict Plenty

WAGES: Production Bonus

In addressing the American Management association in Boston, F. D. Newbury, vice president of Westinghouse Electric corporation, advanced a new formula for keeping postwar wages and prices within bounds.

Newbury's plan calls for maintaining basic wage and salary rates at their present level and payment to employees of additional income in proportion to increased volume of production, ability to pay and efficiency of the individual organization.

Stating that the proposal could not be called a profit-sharing plan, he said that the bonus payments would be considered as part of operating costs, with employees entitled to the maximum a company could afford to pay. Terming the plan highly flexible, Newbury said that an enterprise could easily readjust its wages if business declined.

Encase B-29 in Plastic Cocoon

Will Make Impenetrable Barrier Against Rust and Various Vapors.

PHILADELPHIA.—Fourteen hundred B-29s are going to be wrapped in plastic packages at a Georgia airfield.

At the same time 1,125 vessels of the U. S. navy will be similarly packaged at Hudson river and other anchorages.

Exhaustive tests have shown that the mineral asphalt plastic will be an impenetrable barrier to rust, corrosion, fungus and every known type of vapor for the next half century.

Since development of the plastic and its use by the army and navy, the joint chiefs of staff have announced that implements of war will be in constant readiness under the protective coverings of this new plastic.

Until February 6 of this year, the discoverer and developer of what has been trade-named "Cocoon," lived almost in isolation with his restricted formula while the navy carried out exhaustive laboratory experiments on its potentialities and possibilities.

The discoverer is former Lt. Comdr. William H. Holst, an industrial chemist, formerly connected with the Atlas Powder Co. He now is associated with the coatings laboratory of the R. M. Hollingshead Corp. in Camden, sole possessors of the manufacturing rights of the plastic.

Sprayed on Guns. Holst, who made his discovery at the naval ordnance laboratory at Silver Springs, Md., said its vast exploitable future is "unpredictable, its uses thousandfold and its improvement beyond the realm of scientific imagination."

The second step of Holst's discovery was completed by G. Russell Hiersam, a civilian engineer at the Silver Spring laboratory, and associated with the consulting firm of Butler & Co.

Hiersam studied the fundamentals grouped by Holst and painstakingly assembled them into a process. He in turn gave his adaptation to Maynard L. Adams, a young naval officer, who developed important application methods.

Then the navy started its experiments, using small guns for the initial spray method and concluded its tests by wrapping a destroyer escort in a plastic package.

The army was curious. It applied for and received permission to use the processed asphalt mineral on the small guns, graduated to the anti-aircraft type, and finally proved the adaptability of the plastic by spraying a small pursuit plane into a package.

On Restricted List. Meanwhile both branches of the service kept "Cocoon" on the restricted list until last February when the Hollingshead Corp. acquired the formula and the formulators to guide its future destiny. Along with Holst, Hiersam and Adams now are employed by the company.

R. M. Hollingshead, chairman of the board of the Camden company, said the finest piano made can be first covered with a paper wrapping, sprayed with the "Cocoon" plastic, and immersed in a lake until the buyer finds a house to put it in, and the piano will be as perfect as when it was inspected at the factory.

The finished plastic covering has a rubber-like texture and has a tensile strength of 2,000 pounds per square inch.

To remove the covering, only a sharp knife is needed and none of the "Cocoon" webbing—that's the first coat—clings to it. The machine is ready for immediate service.

When China bought the machinery layout of the Lycoming Motor Corp. in Williamsport, a short time ago, the buyers had each machine wrapped in the same plastic package.

Call for Surplus Jeeps Far in Excess of Supply

WASHINGTON.—So many veterans are trying to buy surplus jeeps, trucks, tractors, and cranes that war assets administration decided to quit issuing certificates for such purchases.

WAA officials said that the chance of any new applicants finding a surplus jeep was about one in 30 or even less because of short supply and heavy demand.

WAA said certificates already issued far exceeded existing supply or any additional surplus that might be set aside. The jeeps, trucks, tractors and cranes will continue to remain on a set-aside list for sale only to veterans.

Build 35,000 Trailer Homes This Quarter

About Half of Them to Get Vet Housing Priority.

CHICAGO.—Approximately 35,000 trailer coach homes will be built in the last three months of this year to reduce the housing shortage, H. L. Bartholomew, Chicago, president of Trailer Coach Manufacturers Association, said.

About half will be built under veterans' priorities established by the veterans' emergency housing program and will be available to veterans, educational institutions providing veteran housing, and to public organizations for local emergency housing situations, Bartholomew said.

The priority trailers will retail for not more than $2,500 with minimum standard equipment and for less without standard equipment. The coaches will be produced by approximately 100 manufacturers, largely in the middle west and on the west coast.

The VEH program permits trailer manufacturers to apply to the national housing agency in Washington, D. C., for priorities on such scarce materials as hardwood flooring, lumber, millwork, construction plywood, plumbing fixtures, building board, builders hardware, nails, electric wiring devices, and other items.

Although preference will be given to actual war veterans, a number of other classes of persons also will have certain priorities. These include wives of deceased veterans, United States citizens who served in the military forces of an allied nation in World War II, United States citizens who were interned or held prisoner by any enemy nation, and persons who have a certificate of continuous service in the United States merchant marine.

Bartholomew said trailer manufacturers since the war ended have urged their dealers to follow a policy of veteran preference in disposing of short quotas of the vehicles.

Explosives Factory Turns to Fertilizer

PITTSBURGH, KANS.—Tiny white pellets to enrich midwestern soil are pouring from the same machines in a Kansas factory that a year ago were turning out deadly explosives.

Without interrupting its 24-hour-a-day schedule, a huge, warborn chemical plant on the prairie has turned the steady flow of ammonium nitrate from blockbuster bombs to the production of harmless fertilizer.

Now it ranks as one of the world's largest producers of fertilizer-grade ammonium nitrate.

No visible change came over the sprawling Lyshaw ordnance plant, 22 miles south of here, when it became the Spencer Chemical company.

Most of the 550 employees didn't even know when their machines stopped turning out material for explosives and began producing it for fertilizer.

Woman Tosses Money Out of Hotel Window

NEW YORK.—Police and ambulance attendants, rushing to the sixth floor of the Paramount hotel to investigate a report that a woman was about to jump, found a Cincinnati, Ohio, matron amiably throwing money out of a window.

Police, who summoned six radio cars and an ambulance to the scene, identified her as Mrs. C. Betzner. Thomas Baker, house officer, said Mrs. Betzner, clad in a black negligee, had one foot on a window ledge when he entered her room and seized her.

She pushed him away, Baker said, but when an elevator operator arrived to reinforce him he got her away from the window.

"Jump out the window? Don't be absurd. I was having lots of fun," Mrs. Betzner told police.

1946 Lumber Output Expected to Top Goal

WASHINGTON.—Department of commerce predicted that the output of lumber in 1946 would exceed the goal of 32,000,000,000 board feet.

It also reported "substantial increases" in the production of most key construction materials during the first half of 1946 as compared with the first six months of 1945. However, it emphasized that in many cases output is inadequate to meet demand.

Virtually one-half of the lumber goal was reached during the first six months, the department said, adding that production normally can be expected to be greater during the last six months.

BARBS . . . by Baukhage

A Holland-American liner departed recently with more than three and a half million eggs aboard—first egg cargo of its size since shells ceased bursting.

Discords come from Russia, where critics claim Shostakovich's ninth symphony doesn't follow the party lines. The point is that the counterpoint is counter-revolutionary and some of the semi-demi-quevers claver with reactionary overtones.

The Sweeping Tides

By H. M. EGBERT

W-N-U SERVICE

Mark Darrell, young American lumberman, is boss of a lumber camp near St. Victor, Canada. Nat Page is his assistant. Madame Madeleine Kinross, the young widow who owns the timberland, is trying to persuade Mark to cancel the lease.

CHAPTER V

"Tell them they made a mistake," he said. "I'm not going to reward them for making a mistake. Next fall, when the work begins in earnest, I may consider a fifty cents raise. If they come back now, they come back at two dollars."

Louis interpreted rapidly. "If they want to come back," Mark continued, "tell them they can move back into their cabins as soon as possible, and get that load of lumber put through the mill."

But the men understood. Grins of gratitude and eagerness, Louis marshaled his men to form them in column and march them away again—Louis had once been a corporal in France.

Nat said, as he watched the departing crowd, "I didn't think you'd put that across, Mark."

"I had a hunch that money was going to talk even with Broussac here," said Mark. "I guess he'll be on the job soon."

"Would you sell if he made you a real offer?"

Mark shook his head. "I'm here to stay," he answered. And then he knew that he was thinking of Madeleine Kinross.

Broussac didn't delay. He came next morning, driving up in a rig with a spirited horse. All the mill the dynamos were revolving, the barkers whirring, the chain drag traveling up the flume, carrying its load of logs. Pikesmen, standing on the rafts, were spearing the logs and attaching them to the mechanism that started them on their journey millward.

Underneath the roasting mill, showers of bark chips were accumulating on the shingle, to be washed out into the Gulf at each high tide. Beyond the mill, a steady line of peeled logs was dropping into the hold of one of the waiting lumber schooners.

Broussac got out of his rig and came forward, hand outstretched. Mark hesitated an instant, and then took it again. The lawyer entered the office and dropped into a chair. He looked at Mark with a cynical smile upon his lips.

"You appear to have won, Mr. Darrell," he said.

"My understanding was that there would be no opposition from you," said Mark.

"Violence," corrected Broussac. "I guaranteed that St. Victor should treat you with the consideration due to you. I should make it plain to you that it is not my own opposition you had to encounter, but that of the whole town, which is loyal to the wife of its late seigneur."

Mark, sitting silent, looked into the keen, intelligent face of the lawyer. Broussac had come to make some offer, of course. But why? What was the element behind his opposition that Mark didn't understand?

"I want to ask you a question," said Broussac. "Just why do you attach so much value to your leasehold rights, if adequate compensation for them were allowed you?"

"I might ask you," Mark returned, "why you attach so much importance to getting me out of St. Victor. But I'm not going to ask you that question. I prefer to answer yours. I have undertaken a job, and I have a liking for staying on it, Monsieur Broussac."

"Ah," said Broussac. "I thought you Americans regarded everything from the monetary point of view. But let me make my own position clearer. I was raised, a poor boy, in the slums of Quebec. All my life I have sought position, wealth, ease, a settled place in the world. I have gained these, for I am going to marry Madeleine Kinross."

Mark Refuses a Tempting Offer

Mark felt something like a stab at his heart as he looked into the lawyer's face. He had guessed it; but that didn't make it any the easier to take.

"You see, Mr. Darrell," Broussac went on, "we want the rights back, rights that were leased to you under rather desperate financial circumstances. At first, when you refused my offer, I thought you were bluffing, in the American way. But I no longer think you were bluffing. I think you are an obstinate young man. Mr. Darrell, I want you to leave St. Victor. And I have come to make you another offer. Fifteen thousand dollars, plus the proceeds from the sale of that lumber."

Mark shook his head. "Frankly, no," he answered. "My backers have authorized me to go ahead. They would not understand any such arrangement, and they would withdraw their support from me. No, Monsieur Broussac, I am not prepared to accept your offer—or any other."

Broussac's mouth opened. He stared, then nodded his head gravely, rose, and went back to his rig. In another minute he was driving furiously back toward St. Victor.

Mark left Nat to take charge of the operations. He packed a blanket and a little food, and started out alone to look over his limits, with the intention of spending a night or two in the open.

Back from each of the skids was a logged space, big stumps and small uncut spruce, extending for a considerable distance. Some distance beyond was virgin forest. Trees that had been growing for more than a century, some of the finest pulp timber that Mark had ever seen.

The limits were not marked out.

Her lawyer, Horace Broussac, has offered Mark $5,000, but Mark refuses to give up a good thing. At a critical point in his lumbering operations, the French-Canadian workmen strike for double wages. Mark pays them off. A log jam threatens to ruin his hopes, but with the aid of the foreman, Larousse, Mark saves the timber. By a clever stratagem, Mark gets his men back to work at the old pay scale. He suspects Broussac was the fonder of his labor troubles.

There would be plenty of time to do that the next year, or the next, when the axemen might be approaching the boundary of Mark's three thousand arpents. Mark inspected the corduroys and the trails, along which the logs were dragged. Everything was old and obsolete, but he would have the whole summer for repairs.

He strode along trails under the aged-old trees, at the tips of whose branches the buds of that year's tender green were already beginning to expand.

Mark wondered whether Broussac's explanation of his motives was actually true. And then he discovered that he wasn't thinking about that. He was thinking about Broussac's declared intention of marrying Madeleine Kinross, his enemy, who had nevertheless saved his lumber for him.

Barely sixteen when she married Kinross, half-an-hour before the seigneur sailed to his death aboard his sealing-schooner!

Mark remembered the white face she had turned upon him when he staggered ashore, after Louis had pulled him out of the foaming water. "I'm glad! I'm glad!" she had cried.

Then Mark had known he loved her. But unconsciously he had known it from the first night, when he saw her big, gray eyes fixed upon his in anger.

Mark hadn't thought much about love for three or four years. Of course, he had gone through his experiences, but the woods had become an absorbing passion with him.

He awoke at dawn, stretched himself, and realized how good life was, and how petty were the things that had been troubling him. In the distance he could hear the St. Victor thundering through the gorge toward the St. Lawrence. A faint whirring sound came from the mill, and, more distinctly, the thud, thud of the stripped logs falling into the hold of the lumber schooner, whose white sails were visible, far away, through the trees. That night spent in the woods had given Mark a new outlook on life.

He built a fire, cooked a few strips of bacon, made tea and ate the stale bread that he had brought with him. Afterward, he ascended a slope above him to get his bearings.

The river ran on his right, foaming down to the flume. On his left, to his surprise, he saw the natural bridge that connected the seigniorial with the all-but-island on which stood the lighthouse. And beyond this, through a dense growth of trees, Mark could see the slender shaft of the lighthouse, on its base of rocks.

Madeleine Tells Cousin Broussac to Get Out

Suddenly again the remembrance of Madeleine Kinross flooded him with tenderness. The idea came to Mark to go and see the girl, and try to make his peace with her. There was no doubt that she was influenced by Broussac. And his own tenure of the seigniorial lands would be but for four or five years, during which she would be getting stumped money from him. There wasn't any reason for the opposition she had shown him.

If he could make his peace with her, that would mean the end of the fight with Broussac.

That was the nature of Mark's reasoning. Actually—well, he knew he just wanted to see the girl again. He made his way along the trail toward the rock bridge, which towered ever higher as he approached it. The sun was well up in the sky before he set foot upon it.

Then down the roughly terraced steps toward the lighthouse and Madeleine's cottage.

Then a roughly dressed figure emerged from the scrub and stood confronting him, an ancient pistol in his hand. It was Andre Galpeault, the lighthouse-keeper, his face convulsed with fury.

"You do not come here. You go back! Nobody wants you here!" the old man shouted.

"Suppose you tell me what's the matter," Mark suggested.

"You go, you spy, you Quebec detective. The seigneur is dead. He died in the fog, when the piece of ice broke away and he was left on it. I protect the lady of the seigneur!"

He leveled the old pistol at Mark's heart. Mark saw his finger trembling upon the trigger, and leaped. There followed the roar of the discharge, and the heavy ball whirled over Mark's shoulder. Mark tore the weapon from the old man's hands and sent it crashing into the scrub.

"You are an old fool, Andre," he said. "If you had killed me, you'd have swung by the neck in Quebec jail."

Old Andre's face was convulsed with terror. "Ah, mon Dieu!" he muttered. "The seigneur is dead, and you—you come here—to—"

Mark passed on, leaving the old man muttering by the roadside. The cause of his hostility was utterly meaningless to him, but it made it the more imperative to try to come to an understanding with Madeleine Kinross.

Broussac's smart rig was standing at the door of her cottage. Broussac and Madeleine were standing in the doorway. They were so absorbed in conversation that neither was aware of Mark's approach.

"You married Kinross in order to save your father's little property," came Broussac's taunting voice. "Now you can marry me, to save the seigniority."

"I tell you, no, no," cried the girl. "A thousand times, no, never! I trusted you as my guardian, because you were related to the seigneur, and now you come to me like this."

Broussac's hands shot forth and caught the girl's wrists. "You're all wrong, Madeleine," he said in a taunting voice. "You're going to marry me this summer!"

The crunch of Mark's feet upon the gravel before the door startled them. Broussac let Madeleine's hands fall, and swung about. For a moment his face was devilish in its sneer of hate and malice.

"I'm sorry to interfere," said Mark. "I called to see Madame Kinross."

"It might occur to you that Madame Kinross and I have some important business to discuss," sneered Broussac.

"No!" cried the girl. "I have nothing more to discuss with you, Cousin Horace. I ask you to go!"

"Then I guess I'm not interfering as much as I thought I might be," said Mark.

Broussac whirled upon him. "You have done nothing but interfere," he shouted. "You are not wanted in St. Victor. I have offered you a good sum of money to rescind the contract. I shall not go any higher. Now you are interfering in a wholly private matter concerning Madame Kinross and myself. You will go! You will go at once!"

"Of course I'd go," said Mark. "Only I've got an idea that Madame Kinross doesn't want you."

"And that is true," cried the girl. "I am through, Cousin Horace. You can do anything you please. I only ask that you will go."

"Then you see it is you who will go," Mark addressed the lawyer. "And at once, please!"

Broussac lost all control of himself. He shook his fist in Mark's face. "You order me away!" he shouted. "You interlope! You will regret that you ever set foot in St. Victor! You will be fortunate if you escape from it alive!"

Why Madeleine Believes Her Husband Still Lives

"Meanwhile—" said Mark, indicating his decision with a very vigorous gesture of his fists.

Broussac leaped into his rig and slapped the reins across the back of the horse, which started off up the hill.

Mark watched the lawyer drive away, turned back toward Madeleine Kinross, who was staring at him with frightened eyes. "I'm sorry," he said grimly, "but I seem to have come at an appropriate time."

"He made love to me. He wanted me to be his wife. And I had trusted him."

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

By VIRGINIA VALE

IF YOU think an actor's life's an easy one, listen to what happened to Frank McHugh. On the Thursday of his opening as star of the CBS "Phone Again, Finnegan," he reported for work at noon on the set of Century-Fox's "Carnegie Hall," at Carnegie Hall. Shooting kept him there till 7 p. m., so he was an hour late to rehearsal of the radio show, was still in make-up, and had had no dinner. Eating a sandwich between scenes, he worked straight through until the program went off the air at 11 p. m., then rushed to his hotel for a night's sleep, so that he could get up early enough the next morning to be on the movie set at 8 a. m.

In 1936, during rehearsal of a radio show, Kenny Delmar strolled into the studio, said he was an actor and wanted a job. Homer Fickett, the director, put him to work, and he had a number of starring roles.

KENNY DELMAR

Recently for old time's sake he did two small parts, a salesman and a bartender, in "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," which Fickett directed for "The Theater Guild on the Air." Few in the audience recognized the actor-announcer who has made such a hit as "Senator Claghorn" on the Fred Allen show.

Ann Sothern, of the CBS "Maisie" and the movies, is having automobile trouble. Two weeks ago she got a red-topped convertible. Last week she started off the Metro lot in a red-topped convertible, only to discover that it was Lauritz Melchior's. Then, at CBS, Red Skelton drove off in Ann's car, thinking it was his. And now she's learned that Tommy Dorsey has one too!

Little Marlene Aames, the 7-year-old who recently made her debut as "Cookie Bumstead" on the "Blondie" airshow, has had her movie contract option taken up by the Goldwyn studios as a result of her work in her first picture, "The Best Years of Our Life."

That realistic thunder you'll hear in "Pursued" came easy. They were shooting an artificially created lightning sequence at Red Rock Mesa, some 10 miles from the Army Ordnance Depot at Fort Wingate, N. M., where huge piles of obsolete ammunition was blown up. Technicians recorded the terrific explosions, synchronized them with electrically controlled lighting—and there's your storm!

For the first time Lauritz Melchior and his wife will spend Christmas in Hollywood; he completes a concert tour December 5, and isn't due in New York for more concerts and appearances at the Metropolitan, until January 7. Which means that Hollywood will be treated to a Danish holiday series of parties in true Danish fashion, till he takes off again by plane January 4.

All summer Ted De Corsia's voice made friends for him, when he starred on NBC's "McGarry and His Mouse," replacement for "Duffy's Tavern." Then he got an urgent call from Orson Welles and departed for Hollywood, for a featured role in Welles' newest picture, starring Rita Hayworth. It is Ted's first movie role, and folks predict that tall, dark and a little Ted may be sensational.

Mickey Rooney, after finishing his role in M-G-M's "Summer Holiday," launches a personal appearance tour in vaudeville October 24. At the head of a complete show, he'll play theaters in Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati and Cleveland. In addition, he plans to visit army hospitals in the vicinity of his stops and stage shows for the patients.

ODDS AND ENDS—When Joan Crawford's young daughter, Christina, attended a costume party dressed as an angel, she insisted that her wings be spangled with sequins. . . . Sturgeon on rye, with garlic and a pickle—Greta Garbo's favorite sandwich. . . . Jamaica Junk has been recreated at 29th Century-Fox. . . . Eileen Palmer of "Road of Life" gets a lot of fan mail, but she plays a very unpleasant woman, most of the letters request that she be dropped from the show. . . . Even the workers in Warner Bros.' fan mail department were startled when a man brought $14 worth of pictures of Janis Paige, all for himself.

Friends have given Ginny Simms a press release for her infant son, David. Besides clippings about his birth it contains headlines, fashions and editorials, so that when he grows up he can see what went on the day he was born.

If you know any sure cures for seasickness send them to Ed Gardner, of "Duffy's Tavern." Ed has a new yacht, but his wife gets seasick! So far he's had to turn back to land on every trip on which she went along.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

DEMONSTRATORS GIRD TO HOLD SLIM CONGRESSIONAL EDGE

WASHINGTON. — The crisis in Democratic politics brought the Chicago boss Ed Kelly down to Washington for three days, ostensibly to see someone here about his airport. Actually he came to try to get Messrs. Truman and Hannegan out of the glue barrel into which they had hopped gracefully with Mr. Wallace and from which they extricated themselves ungracefully, leaving Mr. Wallace therein.

Kelly went back to Chicago with the official sub-rosa Democratic story that after all, you know, it is possible Messrs. Truman and Hannegan may have planned this exploit in a glue barrel just to get rid of the commerce secretary. This is quite a tall story, one of the highest, if not the soundest, of the campaign thus far, but it was accepted without a grimace in some quarters, where certain Demos were glad to be relieved of the Wallace burden.

In such ways, the leaders have managed to make themselves somewhat happy about all this.

For this or other reasons, their confidential figures on the election show they expect to lose a few more seats in the house but are convinced they can retain the majority. They cannot afford to lose many of them; they have only 21 above a majority (plurality 47). The latest house lineup shows 239 Democrats, 192 Republicans and 4 others. The Republicans must gain 24 seats to win a plurality.

DEPEND ON UNIONS

A few Democratic senators likewise have been checked off as beyond rescue, but the average conclusion of the high command is they will be able to rescue their congress from the electorate with only some shavings missing.

Their technique of political exploitation is running just about the same as the old Roosevelt surething election tactics. At bedrock, it is simply an alliance between the unions and the city machines. The question has been whether the unions would go along this time as in Roosevelt days. Demo bosses who have talked with Phil Murray, president of CIO, say it is a certainty they will. His left wing branch of the unions, they assert, will join in as usual on election day, no matter how far they have strayed from the political banner of the administration, or indeed how much they have tried to tear it down during the recent strikes. Now I do not guarantee that I am merely reporting the confident expectations of the Truman strategists.

Naturally if they get all the unions back into their camp, they can stage what might be described as a prewar Roosevelt election. Personally, however, I am far from convinced that the unions will come around for them in a group as usual, and I have in mind particularly the new antagonism of the railroad brotherhoods and the CIO economists.

Not until returns from the union districts are available, the day after election, can anyone be convinced, in the face of such recent evidence to the contrary as the defeat of good labor friends like Wheeler and La Follette in the primaries. Certainly bits of electoral evidence thus far have suggested the unions are not subject to one-horse leading.

A BID FOR RED VOTES

Some information from the electoral feedbacks, however, suggests Kelly may have had something to do with National Chairman Hannegan's bringing not only Wallace but Senator Pepper back into the list of official speakers with glue still fresh and running from them. Wallace always has been characterized generally here as a mystic, a rather innocent one between elections, but Pepper is strictly paprika. The color shows through.

Now the Demo side of the story (and I am telling the inside of only this one today) is the familiar tale that the Communists do not amount to much but their vote may come in handy. Pepper and Wallace, they say, are being held out to the Communist element as two cakes of sugar (the mix-up of metaphors in this yarn is not mine but a proper contrast between objectivity and the viewpoint of the politics involved).

You may recall Pepper was roundly applauded by the Communists when Wallace was booted. He could not be anything but Communist sugar-bait in this situation because he has no organization in Florida which means anything to the Democratic command. Lately it has been rather weak there (few Floridians talk much about his antics). Even if he had an organization, his state is not in doubt in this election and therefore his support at home means nothing to the administration.

Indeed, Florida will elect a new and better senator—Holland (former governor) who is anything but pro-Pepper. The explanation of Pepper's inclusion, therefore, is that he is not up for election this year, but has four more years to run in office, which gives him leeway to be an advocate for nearly anything, including Russia, without fear of immediate retribution.

On the senate side, the Demos have a majority of eight (lineup 56 Demos, 39 Repubs, 1 Progressive). The Republicans need nine more seats to win.

ST. JOSEPH'S COMMUNITY HOSPITAL

SISTERS OF THE DIVINE SAVIOUR

Located at 550 Ridge Road in West Bend—Phone 800

The word "hospital" comes from the word "hospes," meaning guest. In the early Christian era, there were no hospitals but there were shelters where the sick were received as guests in the name of Christ. The most profound, holy and potent program ever proclaimed for social good and for the blessing of mankind is exemplified in that wonderful field in which men and women carry out the healing mission of Christ—the modern hospital where the finest ethics are upheld and practiced. Such an institution is St. Joseph's Hospital.

Caring for the sick and giving them healing are Christian traditions. In the early church, a portion of many a bishop's house was set aside for the care of the sick who had no shelters and sometimes the bishop was also a physician who treated the ills of the poor. Out of this custom grew the hospital of today. A fine example is St. Joseph's Hospital in West Bend.

This hospital is a haven of rest as well as a center of scientific care and treatment. In this review we wish to recommend St. Joseph's Hospital to our readers and we desire to point to its directors with pride for the untiring efforts they are putting forth in making this hospital an institution for the healing of the body.

7-UP BOTTLING WORKS

WEST BEND, WISCONSIN
Located at 413 Washington—Phone 4

The products of the 7-Up Bottling Works in West Bend are well known over this entire section for their uniform quality and fitness of flavor. Probably no beverages enjoy a greater popularity than these made at West Bend.

Their plant is strictly modern. It is equipped with sterilizing machines and the necessary bottling machinery to insure a wholesome drink. Under these sanitary conditions it is little wonder that their 7-Up beverages have become a favorite throughout the territory.

Only the purest ingredients go into these products and their patented method of preparing and mixing these elements gives it that famous distinctive flavor. When ordering refreshments, ask for those bottled by the 7-Up Bottling Works.

These beverages have a certain amount of food value. They are appetizing and healthful for old and young alike.

The management of this firm is in the hands of people who take an active part in the progress of the community. It is a pleasure to commend these high grade products to all our readers.

Amity Leather Products Co.

WEST BEND, WISCONSIN
Buy locally made products!

The history of progress in any community or city in the United States that has made any progress of note, invariably shows that their growth and expansion can be attributed to manufacturing industries. Those towns and cities which have forged to the front as leaders have had alert and progressive business men who pioneered in various industrial plants.

The payrolls of this firm are a great help for the economic life of the community. For these reasons, the Amity Leather Products Co. is an institution of real value to this community. While only a very small percentage of their output is purchased in this section, the manufacturing cost of their entire output is represented to a great extent by wages paid to employees, and this money is distributed in this territory.

The Amity Leather Products Co. is a heavy contributor to county and municipal expenses through taxes on their property.

The above are some of the reasons why this institution is an important asset to this section and why you should always support, patronize, and boost for this important concern.

H. E. Cooley & Sons

McCormick-Deering Farm Machinery—International Trucks
Located at 117 Wisconsin in West Bend—Phone 8

A hundred years ago, while men and women toiled in the field of the world for their daily bread, Cyrus Hall McCormick built a strange machine which did the work of several men. That machine was the McCormick Reaper. On the heels of the Reaper both agriculture and industry leaped forward with great strides.

Out of that famous invention has grown the International Harvester organization which has developed almost numberless new machines for the future betterment of Agriculture. H. E. Cooley & Sons are proud of their close affiliation with this organization. It is their constant aim to stock, sell and service at all times, the modern and efficient equipment put out by the International Harvester organization.

They offer the best of service possible in these times on replacement parts and can save you both time and money on any needed parts.

The majority of people are well acquainted with the McCormick-Deering line and the absolute dependability of every International Harvester machine. Drop in today, and let H. E. Cooley & Sons show you the later developments, parts, and supplies. They'll give you a square deal.

AUGUST A. MOTHS & ASSOCIATES

REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE
Located at 126 North Main in West Bend—Phone 860-W

No service is of more importance than this real estate and insurance office.

They devote their personal attention to farm property. Their experience is wide and varied and they are very familiar with farm values. This knowledge enables them to cite to you many advantageous buys.

August A. Moths & Associates are absolutely dependable and it will be to your advantage to see them when selling or buying.

This office has listed city property, farms and farm property all over this territory, and is one of great value for those who are seeking farm lands or those who wish to sell their farms.

There is no better investment for your money than farm land. There is no depreciation on it—on the contrary it increases in value from year to year.

If you are looking for acreage or if you are contemplating selling your farm or city property and are desirous of realizing its full value it will be to your advantage to see August A. Moths & Associates in West Bend.

In this Review we recommend our readers to call on this office when you wish to deal in city or farm property.

VOGELSANG STUDIO

PORTRAIT AND COMMERCIAL PHOTOGRAPERS
Located at 133 North Main in West Bend—Phone 795

Do you realize how we have ascended from the old fashioned photograph gallery of stiff, unnatural poses to the modern photograph studios of the present day?

Today the very atmosphere of the studio makes you feel at home. You may merely stroll in as if you were making a call on a friend, sit down, forgetting that you are in front of a camera and be photographed gracefully and flatteringly. You will find it a very delightful experience to be photographed at The Vogelsang Studio in West Bend.

Many people who have thought they did not photograph well have had successful photographs made in this studio. They seem to be able here to catch the gleam of light and life that your friends see and love. In this homelike studio, lifelike portraits are produced always.

A photograph of yourself, of a baby, mother or any member of the family makes a lovely gift and is always appreciated.

You must have the children photographed; it is the only way to hold the memories of the baby days and those of early childhood. Let The Vogelsang Studio photograph them regularly.

We take pleasure in complimenting The Vogelsang Studio upon their success and recommend their professional work to you.

Stan's Bamboo Club

STEAK AND CHICKEN DINNERS
Located on the north edge of West Bend—Phone 1089

If you are one of the many that follow the crowds, you are spending your leisure time at Stan's Bamboo Club. If you're not, you're missing some of the most pleasant times and joyous parties that this section affords. Here the spirit of fellowship and good times prevails throughout the evening, and no matter what time you arrive you will always find your friends there enjoying the pleasant surroundings and delicious food.

Stan's Bamboo Club has made a definite mark on the amusement life of this section. Moderate prices are one of the reasons for its popularity; its advantageous location is another. People from many miles around prefer going there because the management is at all times endeavoring to please the public.

The management must be complimented upon their efforts in making Stan's Bamboo Club a distinct social asset and merit to the community. This night club is an ideal recreation center and in this Business Review we compliment the management on its record and on the opportunity it affords the people of this section a friendly and refined place for a good time.

Riverside Cafe

"GOOD FOOD—MODERATELY PRICED"
Located at 261 S. Main in West Bend—Phone 1082

There is something about the Riverside Cafe in West Bend that sets it apart from other eating places and makes it highly satisfactory. The cooking, serving and arrangement creates a dining room to be visited regularly.

You'll like the surroundings. They are attractive, comfortable and refined. The food is good, it is temptingly delicious, prepared in a spotless and sanitary kitchen. The cooking is done in a modern and scientific manner.

You must learn for yourself what pleasure it is to eat at the Riverside Cafe.

The management assures you that good food is combined with moderate prices. Proper food well cooked is essential to good health. Their food is not only health building but deliciously appetizing as well.

The restaurant is not only popular in this locality but among those who make shopping trips through this territory as well. Many make it a point to reach the Riverside Cafe for dinner.

In making this Business Review we desire to compliment this restaurant on the commendable manner in which they have served the public and recommend it to you.

Brittingham & Hixon Lumber Co.

LUMBER—WOODWORK—BUILDING MATERIAL
Located at 107 Water in West Bend—Phone 325

For many years the Brittingham & Hixon Lumber Co. has served this community with the best in lumber and building materials.

Few lumber companies in this section of the country have attained the prominence that this company has. They maintain an up-to-date establishment for accommodation of the public and have the enviable reputation for fair prices and good quality. This popular firm has long been famous as a firm with a complete service to the builder. They will be glad to go into detail and explain the many merits of this service.

Now is the time to repair your buildings and keep them in as good condition as possible. Because of the curtailment of building it is more necessary now than ever to take good care of what we now have. They are always glad to assist you and give you any information relative to any repairing work and this advice will cost you nothing. We heartily recommend the Brittingham & Hixon Lumber Co., its merchandise, and its sound business policy to our readers. And remember—'You'll need a home as long as you live.'

West Bend Aluminum Co.

COOKING UTENSILS—GIFTWARE—OUTBOARD MOTORS
Located at West Bend and Hartford

Many citizens get into the habit of taking the essential service of such important industries as this one as a 'matter of course' and in this edition we wish to make special mention of this concern as one of the vital factors in our industrial organizations.

While quality products have always been the fundamental basis of the management of the West Bend Aluminum Co., their wide experiences taught them that quality alone would not bring them into the leading position they occupy today in the manufacture of aluminum products. With wise business foresight they developed a system of production that has enabled them to maintain the highest standards of quality at a production cost which permitted them to render their patrons a modern service at prices which cannot be quoted by other concerns who are not so well equipped and organized.

We want to aid you in appreciating what an important part it plays in the industrial life of this section, and wish to direct your special attention to the fact that your civic pride in your home territory should urge you always to patronize, support and boost for the West Bend Aluminum Co. in West Bend and Hartford.

If you are in need of cash loan on your livestock, or personal security, see the Friendly Finance Corp. We recommend this office.

Boost for home industry!

The products of the Gehl Bros. Mfg. Co., meeting with almost universal approval, are going to all parts of the country and with the dawn of new prosperity in the nation, the future will see this industry one of our busiest.

This territory has no establishment with a greater commercial value than this one. Its directing head and its associates have opened up channels of trade that were heretofore unknown to local industry.

Their products have gained a wide reputation for excellence and are considered standard products among the people the country over.

By doing business in a progressive and straightforward manner, this firm has won the patronage and confidence of the people and are conspicuous figures in the commercial and industrial life of this section.

It is hardly necessary to say anything here about the products of this company for their products are so well known everywhere.

This factory gives employment to our people, who in turn trade with our local merchants, thus keeping more money at home.

The Gehl Bros. Mfg. Co., through their extensively advertised products, has spread the name of its home town far and wide.

The products made by the Gehl Bros. Mfg. Co. carries our recommendation.

JAEGER BROS. Northern Gravel Pits

Sand—Gravel—Excavating—Stone Dust—Leveling—Filling
Located in West Bend Phone 333

Jaeger Bros. have aided in the building of good roads and modern buildings by furnishing the very best products obtainable. It is fitting and proper that prominent mention be made of this firm which has been one of the vital factors in the development of this section.

Their sand and gravel have no superior. Vast quantities are being shipped at all times, having met the commendation of purchasers everywhere and having greatly aided in building up this section.

There is nothing more important than the development of good roads, streets and buildings. Jaeger Bros. have furnished large amounts of gravel and sand for this purpose in the community, being one of the firms that has been selected by the contractors to supply them.

The management is thoroughly conversant with every feature of their business. They have always been real boosters. They have even been ready and willing at all times to lend their business wisdom and personal assistance to all undertakings for the building of this section.

In this Business Review we urge our readers to buy locally produced products sold by home-owned firms and support local industry.

West Bend Consumers Co-Operative

Petroleum Products—Feed—Seed—Fertilizer—Groceries—Paint
Located on the Decorah road, Route 1, West Bend—Phone 947
Among the progressive and wide awake institutions of this community, there is none more worthy of mention than West Bend Consumers Co-Operative. It forms an important industrial factor in the agricultural life of this section.

This concern, starting on a small scale, has grown until it is a commercial asset to this territory.

They have worked up a large patronage among the farmers. The farmers know they can depend upon West Bend Consumers Co-Operative.

They carry a full line of feed & petroleum products. A large part of their business is devoted to feed and seed.

In making this Business Review we desire to compliment this establishment upon the commendable manner in which they have served the farmers in this territory.

The West Bend Consumers Co-Operative carries our full and most hearty recommendation.
