The Lakes team trailed Meno, Falls by 12 points with only four minutes left to play and fans had given up all hope of winning.

It was a great victory for Kewaskum, and a heart breaker for Falls to lose after leading most of the contest.

The Amvets led the Legion, 16-10, at the quarter but Kewaskum made up the deficit in the second period to take a slim 26-25 advantage at halftime.

The Legion has been bolstered by two new players for the torrid home stretch. They are Fred Dorn and "Barney" Prost, both of whom are veteran performers with Kewaskum teams of the past.

He was charged with striking a woman and the judge asked him why he did it. "Well, sir," the culprit replied, "she got on the bus and sat down, opened her bag, took out her purse, closed her bag, opened her purse, took out a penny, closed her purse, opened her bag, put back the purse, and closed her bag. Then she noticed the conductor was going upstairs, so she opened her bag, took out her purse, closed her bag, opened her purse, put in her penny, closed her purse, opened her bag, put in her purse, and closed her bag. EDISON CENTENNIAL

Early Efforts Backfired but Lessons Brought Lasting Fame

During his lifetime Thomas A. Edison found time to root around in about everybody's backyard, dopping out a gadget or a machine or a formula that would help his neighbor. He was crammed with ideas about many things, some of which, as everybody knows, brought him enduring fame. There were some, however, that his 84 years did not give him time to perfect. As the 100th anniversary of his birth, on February 11, 1847, approaches, there are probably very few people who know that Edison once won a patent on a "flying machine." Back in 1810, he doped out an idea on a helicopter, in which field he thought the future of aviation lay. On another occasion he was granted a patent on a method of preserving fruit, and when he died he was working on a formula for extraction of rubber from the lowly glendoid.

'Wizard' Was Human. Edison once even worked on an insecticide, and this experience shows a human side that belies any suggestion that he had a "magic thumb" in the inventive business. He was just coming into fame as the "Wizard of Menlo Park" when he was approached by a neighboring farmer whose principal crop was threatened with destruction by an invasion of potato bugs. The year was 1878, Tom was 31, and he already had to his credit such inventions as the phonograph and a score of telegraph patents. The farmer allowed as how an up-and-coming young inventor ought to be able to find a way to kill off the potato bugs.

Accepting the challenge, although he knew relatively nothing about bugs and plants, Edison collected a quart bottle full of potato bugs and set forth to compound a lethal potion. Testing every chemical in his laboratory, he hit upon bisulphide of carbon as a sure-fire potato bug killer. Jubilantly, he and the farmer sprinkled the infested potato vines and waited to tabulate the results.

The bugs died like flies—but so did the potato vines; and Edison had to pay the farmer $300 damages for, as he put it, "not experimenting properly."

He never again made the mistake of not experimenting enough. Consequently, some of his inventions took him years to perfect, and because of his patience the world has become a much better place in which to live. His invention of the electric light made necessary a system of electrical distribution which brought not only light but also scores of electrical gadgets to the farm home as well as city residence. His phonograph put the best music into the home, and his numerous other inventions, including the motion picture, made life easier, more comfortable and entertaining.

Worked Too Well. There was one other of Edison's creations which backfired, but it wasn't because he hadn't perfected it; this one, on the contrary, worked too well. At one time he was working as night telegraph operator in the Grand Truck railroad station at Stratford Junction, Canada. One of the requirements of the job was that Edison, then 17, must check in on the wire every half hour by sending the signal 6 in Morse code to the train dispatcher at a nearby station. Edison deplored this arrangement because it prevented him from catching up on the sleep he wasn't getting during the daytime, which he spent in study and experimentation. So he rigged up a device for automatically sending out the signal 6. He hooked up the instrument to the office clock so that every 30 minutes the signal went out over the wire, thus reassuring the dispatcher that Edison was on the job whereas, in fact, he was sound asleep.

This ruse was successful until one night the train dispatcher tried vainly to contact Edison on the wire during one of his catnaps. Alarmed by the prospect that the Stratford Junction telegraph office was unmanned, the dispatcher made his way to Edison's office on a handcar. He arrived just in time to find Edison blissfully sleeping while the young inventor's machine obediently dotted-and-dashed the prescribed signal. The next day Edison started looking for another job, but the experiment proved of incalculable value because it started him on a train of thought that led him first to the invention of a stock ticker and an automatic telegraph, thence to the phonograph and later to the motion picture camera.

Earns First Money. With the idea planted in his mind of constructing telegraph apparatus that would automatically send and record messages, Edison invented and patented an improved stock ticker. It was so much better than the crude tickers which antedated his that a telegraph company paid him $40,000 for it—the first money Edison ever received for an invention.

With the $40,000 Edison established a shop in Newark, N. J., in 1870, and began the manufacture of stock tickers. He was 23, and for the first time in his life he had enough money to experiment with the hundred and one ideas that coursed through his agile mind.

One of a score of telegraphic patents he took out as a result of his experiments in Newark was on an automatic telegraph, which could send and record messages on a strip of paper tape at a rate far beyond the speed possible in sending and receiving by hand. In seeking to improve his first automatic telegraph, Edison experimented with a machine employing a turntable covered with a paper disc. Perforations in the paper disc sent out dots and dashes when the turntable was rotated. One day, however, the turntable was operated at an excessive speed and, instead of dots and dashes, the result was a musical hum. Edison was quick to sense the possibilities of his discovery, and on July 18, 1877, he made the following entry in one of the 2,500 notebooks he filled with scientific data and reports before his death at 84 on October 18, 1931: "Just tried experiment with a diaphragm having an embossed point and held against paraffin paper moving rapidly. The speaking vibrations are indented nicely and there is no doubt that I shall be able to store up and reproduce automatically at any future time the human voice perfectly."

Less than a month later he did just that. First Movie Was 'Talkie.' Ten years later, in 1887, Edison set out, as he later commented, "to do for the eye what the phonograph did for the ear." The result was the birth of what today is probably the most glamorous industry in the world—the motion picture industry.

Thus it was that the germ of an idea which took root in Edison's mind when he was fired as a telegraph operator ultimately led to invention of the stock ticker, the automatic telegraph, the phonograph and the motion picture camera. Edison probably is best remembered as the inventor of the first practical incandescent lamp. The lamp was a handy symbol of achievement seized upon by the public, but actually it constituted only a small portion of his work in the

Boy Peruses Comics As Home Fire Flares

CHAMPAIGN, ILL. — Even a fire in his own home could not induce seven-year-old Bernard Burke to abandon his comic book. Firemen called to the Burke home to quell a blaze, found Bernard in the bathtub reading a comic book. To anxious queries, Bernard calmly explained: "I'm busy. The firemen will put it out." After the blaze was out, Bernard was still in the tub.

Courthouse Cupola Ends Housing Quest

GOLD BEACH, ORE. — Add novel solutions of the housing problem: Miss Virginia Blais, forced to find living quarters or quit her job, is living in the cupola of Curry county courthouse. Miss Blais was about to resign as welfare administrator when she and county officials decided the courthouse tower, five flights up, might serve as an apartment.

West's Ghost Towns

Charleston's fate was sealed in 1839, when John Hefner began selling land at nearby Mt. Etna. He enticed clients from Charleston, practically all the residents buying property and moving to the new community of Mt. Etna. In a few years all the original claims and houses had been removed, leaving no trace of Charleston. The site reverted to farm land, blasting Wire's dreams.

"How now?" we asked the Man Who Built a Better Mousetrap. "What's the situation?" "Everything's going good," he replied. "We're in full production."

"The quiz program has been a great thing for industry," we suggested. "In the old days a slump could not be cushioned by merely getting a lot of people into a studio and seeing if they knew the name of the bridge Steve Brodie jumped from."

"One thing is not clear," we said. "Isn't there a terrific public demand for most everything manufacturers produce today?" "Oh yes."

Presidential Campaign And Television. More bad news! The candidates and orators in the 1948 presidential campaign are coming to us by television!

Candidates should be heard but not seen. Only one in a million has a face that the interior decorator would call essential. Under simple radio, there was always the comforting thought a candidate might not look as bad as he sounded.

We predict right now that television will cancel out the women's vote. It took 150 years for them to get the ballot. Under television they may give it back.

Household Hints Use a two-inch paint brush for dusting grooves and corners in furniture.

Removing rust spots on refrigerator: Sandpaper until the metal is bright. Wipe with turpentine and apply coat of red lead paint. When this is dry apply an undercoat of enamel, then a good grade of surface enamel.

Before washing scrim curtains fold each curtain down the center and baste the edges together. This will keep the edges straight.

Seams can be ripped out more easily if you use a pair of tweezers and save your finger-nails. Tweezers hold a firm grip on the long threads and pick out small ones easily.

If a porcelain teakettle or coffee pot becomes stained, rub the stained portion with a cloth dipped in baking soda until discoloration is removed. Then wash thoroughly.

Protein foods, such as ham, fish or eggs, lose their food value when allowed to boil at high temperatures. Simmer them.

Remove onion odor from a knife by drawing the blade through a raw carrot two or three times.

Slip oil silk covers over the bottoms of hanging plant pots to prevent water from dripping out.

Brushes which have been used for shellac should be cleaned with denatured alcohol and not turpentine.

If your small throw rugs wrinkle up under the cleaning, try using the vacuum crosswise instead of lengthwise.

Kathleen Norris Says:

What Is Ahead of You?

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"I talked of a job, but couldn't be spared at home. Amanda talked of Hollywood, but as a minor couldn't try that."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

RIGHT in the middle of times so bad that they seemed absolutely frightening," writes Mrs. John Porter of Minneapolis, "they suddenly grew worse. I know just how depressing this sounds to many women who are finding today's times hard and puzzling enough, but that is the way it was with us, and will be with others. One year ago, when prices began to skyrocket and we were practically evicted, the nightmare of house-hunting, the piling-up of bills, the strain upon my husband and the children's discontent, were giving me long wakeful nights and anxious, fretted days.

"We have raised three children in a city apartment. Amanda is now 17, the boys 19 and 9. For long summers and many weekends we took them to a mountain cabin, where they could have swimming, fishing and hospitality. That hospitality! It doubled my bills, of course, but it meant that the children could return winter favors, theaters, dances, skating parties. We have beds for 14 at the lake, and all summer long they were never empty. I struggled to keep up; Amanda's clothes must be fresh and smart; Jack needed tennis rackets and college fees; it was too much for John and me, yet it wasn't enough.

"One car wasn't enough, Jack said. One sitting room wasn't enough for Amanda. I talked of a job, but couldn't be spared at home. Amanda talked of Hollywood, but as a minor couldn't try that. It was an impasse, with John and me rolling away one stone, only to have another block our path.

Disaster Struck.
"Then, when meat and butter were at their maximum, little Jimmy quarantined with mumps and Amanda desperate because she was not included in a certain dancing class, the blow fell. John was brought home helpless, never to be fit for work downtown again, and for a few weeks we were shipwrecked indeed. Jack was offered his father's job as salesman in a linoleum firm and accepted it bitterly, 'only for vacation.' But he has had to keep it; his college days are over for the present.

"I took a job in a hotel, making beds, for $160 a month, and—well, we ate. The children were so outraged that they hardly spoke when at home, but we didn't die. Amanda cried for days, then she got ashamed and rose to the situation, calmly announced that she was quitting school, and took over at home. We were more than three thousand dollars in debt, and I showed her just where the money had gone. Her comment was made gravely, 'I think you and Dad were to blame. We kids aren't half-wits.'

"Last October I moved us out to the country; no, not the smart country, not the lake either. The lake cabin is rented. Amanda teaches in a private school five days a week, boards in town with an older teacher, comes to us Fridays. Jimmy goes to public school and loves it. Jack is doing nearly as well as his father ever did, and we'll be out of debt in exactly 23 more months if all goes well. Amanda has boy friends; boys who work hard and know the value of money. John is quietly busy all day with vegetables, chickens, cat, dog, fowers, plants. I am happier than I have ever been in my life. Our place was an abandoned farm. It will never

A chemical that reduces shrinkage better in woolen cloths, and another that gives a permanent starch to dress goods and curtains, are announced by the Naugatuck chemical division of United States Rubber company. ### MEETING THE TEST

It is very hard and painful for a prosperous, upper middle-class family to drop in the scale to what seems a poverty level. It happened often in the early years of the depression, in the 1930s, but not many people have had to face this crisis during the war years. The Porter family of Minneapolis, however, had to readjust their living standard radically when John Porter fell chronically ill and had to give up his job as a salesman.

Mrs. Porter had to make swift, stern decisions. The children had to give up all the glamorous social life, all the expensive frills that had come to be all-important to them. Jack quit college and went to work in his father's firm. Mrs. Porter found a job in a hotel. Amanda left school and took over the housework. They bought a place in the country; a worn-out farm that provides a pleasant home, with plenty of fruit and vegetables.

make money. But it pays taxes and insurance and the children bring in more than the little we need here.

"Went Through the Fire."
"We went through a terrible time, when we had to endure our children's bitter disappointment and suffering when we had to act in a way that seemed to them nothing short of cruel. I had to make decisions that even to John seemed too sweeping. Sweeping! That's the word. I had to sweep pride aside, sweep away pretense and show. I had to let our friends know that we were ruined, that we could not do for our children what luckier parents could do. We went through the fire, and it was worth it. The whole thing, to me, was worthwhile when I knew, not at first, but after a while, that my children had heroic stuff in them, that they had common sense, that down in them was affection and loyalty to their father and me.

"The private schools, the tennis rackets and college frats and smart cotillions can be swept away. These things leave no mark on their lives, except perhaps to weaken and spoil them. But to face the ultimate questions of food and shelter and learn what they are worth, that is a lesson they never will forget."

I agree entirely with Mrs. John Porter. We don't have to manufacture difficulties and sacrifices for our children, but if honor demands them, surely we are wronging those children by refusing them their share of the great battle that is life today. And by honor I mean the paying of bills, the facing of responsibilities, the adjustment of family burdens so that one person does not carry the whole load.

Perhaps Mrs. Porter is pessimistic in prophesying that hard times are ahead for many of us. But a good many wise voices are reminding us that these are good years in which to harden the youngsters of the family to reality. This should not be done by fretful and sporadic complaint about this extravagance or that demand, but by a rational and serious discussion of present assets and future liabilities. If it proves unnecessary, at least it will do no harm. And if yours is a family still insecure as to its financial, social and provisional outlook, it may do great good.

Two Firestone CHAMPIONS

ROYAL JUPITER, Grand Champion steer at the 1946 International Livestock Exposition, best shows today's demand in beef cattle. And on American farms, the New Firestone Champion Ground Grip is the Champion among tractor tires.

As the Champion, this new tractor tire cleans up to 100% more effectively... pulls up to 62% more at the drawbar... lasts up to 91% longer... and rides smoother on the highway.

There are sound reasons for this. The curved traction bars flare outward from the center, making a wider opening at the shoulder from which mud and trash fall easily. The connected bars take a powerful "center bite" in the heart of the traction zone. The extra-deep, pyramid-like curved traction bars cut sharply into the ground with a cleaving action. The extra height, plus buttressing at the base and Triple-Bracing near the center, give the bars greater strength and stability. Continuous bars give the Champion smoother contact with the highway... lengthen tire life.

When you order tractor tires, or a tractor, ask your Implement Dealer, Firestone Dealer Store, or Firestone Dealer to specify Firestone Champion Ground Grips.

Not One-Third of Vets Have Applied for Unused Leave

Less than one-third of the veterans of World War II have asked for their unused leave according to information received from agencies processing applications.
 While veterans have until Sept. 1, 1947, to make application, and, in most instances, will receive a bond which cannot be cashed for five years, it should be pointed out that the bonds may be used immediately in the payment of premiums on national service life insurance.
 Veterans who have allowed their national service life insurance to lapse may re-instate without an examination if application is made before Feb. 1, 1947. The veterans administration will accept the veteran's statement that he is in as good health as at the time of separation from the service. Two monthly premiums must accompany the application and no interest is charged by the veterans administration.
 Three new policies are offered in addition to the ordinary life, twenty-pay life and thirty-pay life formerly available. The new policies are twenty year endowment, endowment at age 40, and endowment at age 65. The veteran is also allowed to carry his term insurance at the same premium rate as he paid in the service for eight years from the time he became insured.
 All restrictions as to choice of beneficiaries have been removed, and the insured may elect a settlement in a lump sum. For a small additional premium the insured will receive monthly payments if he is totally disabled for as long as six months and premiums are waived for so long as he is so disabled.
 For complete information regarding national service insurance or in fact any other matter pertaining to their return to civil life, veterans are urged to see George A. Kolb, Washington county veterans service officer.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Treichel, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Treichel, Frank Treichel and Gust Zumach of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schaefer, Mrs. Amelia Butzlaef, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Butzlaef and family visited with Herman Butzlaef Sunday.
 —Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bauer, Russell Belger and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bolger of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Binder of near Boltonville, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Klein and son Ralph of Town Scott spent Sunday with Louella E. Schenry.

New winter accident facts, based on research and tests by National Safety Council, reveal alarming increase of skidding and poor visibility crashes during snowy, icy weather. Authorities urge equipped drivers using tire chains, windshield wipers, defrosters, good lights and low speeds to minimize the added seasonal hazards of inadequate stopping traction on snow or ice and reduced visibility.

Colorful Garb Marks Florida Indians

Seminole Misrepresented By Sensational Writers

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

(This is the second of two articles based on visits to the Seminole Indian reservation at Brighton, Fla.)

SOMEWHERE NORTH OF THE EVERGLADES — Whenever one tries, as I did, to study the human side of the Seminoles—that nation which has left so little written record of its short but historic life—yet is deluged with information and misinformation of the type on which the Sunday supplement writer feeds.

For example, examine the contradictory data on the Seminoles and snake killing:

When I called on Agent Boehmer, his wife reported how a greatly excited Indian had appeared one day on their doorstep to announce his pressing desire that Boehmer come to the Seminole camp—a 100 rods or so distant—to kill a rattler.

Boehmer obliged. He carefully avoided carrying the corpse through the camp (a Seminole taboo), and he noted the usual fire lighted at the point where the victim fell. As usual, the Indian children had cooperated with him, without actively participating in the execution.

There are two explanations as to why the Seminoles would not themselves kill the snake. One is that once in the past the Seminoles were ordered by the White Man to leave Florida for points west. They prepared to remain even though it meant retreating deep into the Everglades. However they decided it would be a good idea for both parties if they made a treaty with the snakes. They did so on a "live and let live" basis. This is one explanation.

Or it may have been one of those common sense arrangements embellished with the authority of mysticism. There are few snakes which, if left alone, won't renege.

Another interpretation may be that when a white man attacks the rattler, the chances are that if anyone is bitten, it would not be an Indian. I understand Seminoles do kill snakes when it seems necessary.

Boehmer, whose opinion I learned to value as I pursued this subject, thinks the rattlesnake situation is interesting, but I couldn't get him to say it meant the Seminole was superstitious.

Gaudy Costumes

Intrigue Observer

Like every observer, I was impressed by the Seminole attire. Not by the men's—they wear conventional garments lightened by a gay handkerchief about the neck when they pursue their daily tasks, hunt on the reservation or loaf in camp. They have shortened the long skirt-like garment (comparable to the woman's cape) to sport-shirt length, even in ceremonial dress.

I found only Sam Huff, reputed to be a medicine man as well as the handy man at the school, wearing the long skirt-like garment, plus the blouse. Some say Sam clings to this outfit merely because of his love for the past; others say it may have something to do with his special function as a medicine man; there is a whisper that it is a badge of repentance or punishment for some past sin. Sam is a grandfather today. He still lives in the nearby camp with the rest of his three generations.

The younger men save their gay shirts for dress up occasions (the annual green corn dance and the hunting dance), but they have adopted modern trousers. Their shirts are covered with complicated geometric tracery; their scarves are bound by a metal or wooden clasp; they wear beads or other brightly-decorated fobs.

The most striking piece of Seminole clothing is the woman's billowing skirt, next come the beads which cover her neck from shoulder blade to ear tips; then her hair-dress.

Unlike the men, the Seminole women (except those who have been completely converted to modern ways) wear their special garb and wear it all the time. Consequently, they always look "dressed up."

The hairdress, an innovation and a highly practical one, dates back only some six or seven years. The woman's smooth black hair is brought forward over a semi-circular cardboard form like the wide peak of a cap. This gives her the appearance of peering at you from underneath a wide, circular hat brim, and is achieved easily without the aid of the beauty shop and virtually without mirrors. Furthermore, the coiffure is one developed that has no connection with the White Man's culture.

Women's Skirts Are Real Art

Unlike the halldo, the Seminole skirt and cape haven't changed except to grow more artistic and more intricate with the advent of colored textiles. They likewise have become less difficult to create, thanks to the hand-driven sewing machine. This gadget long since has been as common in tepee, hogan or even igloo as an ice-pick in a modern flat.

The skirts are made of parallel bands of a brightly colored patchwork design which experts claim are real art. They are fashioned of hundreds of separate pieces of colorful cloth, blended or contrasted to make a barbarically splendid whole. The skirts bell out, widening in circumference as they approach the hem which, according to regulations, must trail at least three inches or thereabouts on the ground.

How can this be a practical everyday dress in a country of swamps and morasses, of barbed and cutting underbrush? That is the first question I (and every ignorant observer) asks. But they are practical, say the experts who have seen them in operation. Through wet going and wading, they are "histed" (there are no undergarments to complicate matters). Traveling over the dry and dusty fields, rife with snakes and other annoying reptiles, they protect the bare feet and shins. As Miss or Mrs. Seminole moves forward, loeing in slightly, according to good Indian custom, she gently kicks the dragging rim forward without baring the bare feet to inquisitive eyes or any flora or fauna that might obtrude.

The only other cloth garment is the cape. This is usually a single solid and bright color matching the skirt.

The Seminole beads remain a mystery. So far, I have been able to learn little concerning the origin, purpose or excuse for them beyond the explanation offered by Agent Boehmer and supported by his wife: "They wear them because they think they're pretty." And what better reason in any woman's lexicon?

It does seem strange, though, to see a comely Indian matron, her skirt tucked high before a roaring fire on a hot Florida day, or working vigorously in a tomato patch, or even strolling through a shop among sweltering whites in low cut dresses or open sport shirts, with perhaps 25 pounds (they have been weighed) of beads in a solid collar rising as high as the whalebone-enforced "chokers" American girls wore in the first decades of the 1900s.

TEMPORARY TREND

Marriages and Births Hit Peak

WASHINGTON.—Return of war veterans was largely responsible for boosting marriages and births to record highs in 1946. Viewing the trend, population experts are trying to figure out how long the United States can support large population increases, but Guy Irving Burch, director of the population reference bureau, believes the rise is only temporary.

Births in 1946 were one per cent greater than in 1943, previous record year, according to the office of vital statistics.

Births seemed toward a peak 11 months after a record high in the number of American marriages. The trend still is upward.

Family Size Drops. Before the 1946 rise in the birth rate the average size of the "completed" American family was about 2.5 children. It is estimated that

Nancy, shown relaxing in a warm bath at her home, made a splendid recovery after being stricken with polio in July, 1944.

NEWS REVIEW

Marshall Gets Key Post; Labor Reforms Studied

STATE DEPARTMENT:

Happy Day

"There are two happy days a man has in public life," former Secretary Byrnes told British Ambassador Kerr. "There is the day a man is elected to office. Then there is the day he quits."

January 7, 1947, therefore was a happy day for the dapper little South Carolinian when he stepped down from his high post in the Truman administration. It was a happy day, too—under the Byrnes standard—for General of the Army Marshall who was named to succeed him.

But as Byrnes implied, Marshall's cheer was destined to be short-lived as he took over direction of the nation's international affairs. Byrnes had a tough time tussling with the Russians over completion of peace treaties for the axis satellites and Marshall faced the even tougher job of framing pacts for Germany and Austria.

Although friendly with Russian leaders, Marshall is no admirer of Communism or Communist tactics. Just before being named to office, he blasted Chinese Reds for risking the welfare of their country to obtain power and resorting to untruths to tar the U. S.

Some observers also read in Marshall's appointment an effort by President Truman to build the general up as his successor in 1948. Should Marshall make a name for himself in the state department, his work there plus his prestige as the No. 1 military chief in World War II would give the Democrats a strong candidate to offset dissatisfaction with the Truman regime in the reconversion period.

CONGRESS:

Sharpen Payroll Axe

Economy-minded GOP house members, axe in hand, were eyeing the big federal payroll in their announced drive to scale U. S. expenditures 12 billion dollars below the 1946 budget of 41 billion dollars.

Declaring that there is hardly a government department that does not have twice as many employees as needed, Representative Taber (Rep., N. Y.), chairman of the house appropriations committee, asserted that 1,000,000 workers could be chopped off the payroll of 2,300, 000 without seriously impairing services. Not more than 500,000 employees in all are needed, Taber said.

Labor Reforms

Sen. Joe Ball (Rep., Minn.) and Rep. George Case (Rep., S. D.) pushed labor reform in early sessions of the 80th congress, Ball proposing sweeping measures for corrective legislation.

First, Ball called for prohibition of secondary boycotts and making labor organizations liable for violating contracts.

Then, he introduced legislation to ban all union and closed shop agreements and maintenance of membership contracts.

Finally, Ball proposed to decentralize collective bargaining to prevent the tieup of an entire industry through general negotiations.

The new Case bill introduced in the house permits issuance of injunctions to prevent strikes impairing the public welfare; forbids unions to coerce employees, seize property in disputes, withdraw essential maintenance workers, or order walkouts with majority approval of members; and makes union liable for damages resulting from breach of contract. The bill also grants the states authority to ban the closed shop.

ECONOMICS:

President Reports

In the first annual economic report issued by the President under the employment act of 1946, Mr. Truman set forth the principles for a prosperous America. Drawn by a three man council of economic advisers, the report called for continuation of the traditional free enterprise system supplemented by constructive government assistance where necessary.

Long-range recommendations include maximum use of labor and productive facilities, prevention of economic fluctuations, cooperation in international trade and finance, and promotion of welfare, health and security.

Because of their immediate bearing, the short-range recommendations were of greater interest. The report asked for the maintenance of present tax rates to provide for substantial retirement of the national debt; lowering of prices wherever possible to increase consumption; moderation of labor demands to head off additional price rises; increase in the minimum wage above 40 cents an hour, and extension of the fair labor standards act to workers now excluded.

"If you are still in service consult your commanding officer or company finance officer. If you have been discharged and the money for the bonds was regularly taken from your pay, write to Bond Division, U. S. Army, 4200 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo., and give them all details of your purchase."

Q. I see in your column that you say many loans are being made to G.I.s. I would like to know how they get them for I am a G.I. and have two years' service, with necessary qualifications and everything. I have tried every way I know to get a home loan and, because I don't have over half the money to pay down, I can find no one who will grant me a loan. Have you anything to suggest that will help me?—R. P. Winchester, Ind.

A. Yes, there are many G.I.s obtaining home loans under the G.I. bill of rights, more than 386,000 of them to date. However, the law puts the question of making the loan directly up to the local lender and so the loan must be granted by your local bank, building and loan association or other lender before VA can approve the grant. If you want a small farm, you might try the Farmers Home administration in your own or adjoining county.

Q. I am writing to see if I can find out why I haven't received my bonds. I went into service on April 27, 1945. I reenlisted on November 27, 1945, and after I went overseas I received only three bonds, two $10 bonds and one $20 bond, and I want some information way to do about it and where to write.—J. C. F. Gurley, Ala.

A. If you are still in service consult your commanding officer or company finance officer. If you have been discharged and the money for the bonds was regularly taken from your pay, write to Bond Division, U. S. Army, 4200 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo., and give them all details of your purchase.

Q. I have just been discharged from the army but I have only 38 days of actual service and was sick most of the time I was in the army. Am I entitled to any privileges of the G.I. bill?—A. R. T., Albion, Ind.

A. Although the law requires at least 90 days' service, if you were discharged for an actual service-connected or incurred injury or disability before 90 days, then you are entitled to all benefits of the G.I. bill. Would suggest that you consult your local Red Cross or Veterans organization.

Wage rates paid to hired workers on farms reached new highs in 1946, according to the department. The nationwide average for farm laborers receiving board was $91.40 on October 1, 1946.

Veterans SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street N.W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his sons. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Disability Insurance

Recent legislation has authorized Veterans' administration to insure veterans who carry national service life insurance against total disability, upon application, proof of good health and payment of an extra premium.

Premium rates for the disability coverage are not prevented from 94 cents a month per $1,000 of insurance, depending upon the insured's age and type of policy.

Disability benefits are at the rate of $5 a month for each $1,000 of insurance and are payable after the veteran has been totally disabled continuously for six months or more. Monthly benefits will continue to be paid as long as the insured remains totally disabled. However, the disability must commence before the veteran's 60th birthday. One of the principal features of the new disability benefit, VA officials say, is that the face value of the veteran's policy will not be reduced by any disability payments he might receive. Veterans with service-connected disabilities, less than total in degree, are not prevented from taking advantage of the new provision, provided they apply for it before January 1, 1950. In these cases, such disabilities are waived if they are the only bar to meeting the health requirements.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am not satisfied with the discharge I received from the army and because of the nature of it, I have been turned down by the local board for readjustment compensation. Is there any authority under which I could get my discharge changed or corrected?—S. A. H., Sikeston, Mo.

A. Yes, under the 1944 servicemen's readjustment act itself there is a provision which establishes in the war, navy and treasury departments respectively, boards of review composed of five members each, whose duties shall be to review on their own motion or upon the request of a former officer or enlisted man or woman or, if deceased, by the surviving spouse, next of kin or legal representative, the type and nature of a discharge or dismissal, except a discharge or dismissal by reason of the sentence of a general courtmartial. Such review shall be based upon all available records of the service department relating to the person requesting such review and such other evidence as may be presented by the person. Suggest you contact your nearest Veterans' administration office for consultation as to filing your application for review if you desire.

Q. I see in your column that you say many loans are being made to G.I.s. I would like to know how they get them for I am a G.I. and have two years' service, with necessary qualifications and everything. I have tried every way I know to get a home loan and, because I don't have over half the money to pay down, I can find no one who will grant me a loan. Have you anything to suggest that will help me?—R. P. Winchester, Ind.

A. Yes, there are many G.I.s obtaining home loans under the G.I. bill of rights, more than 386,000 of them to date. However, the law puts the question of making the loan directly up to the local lender and so the loan must be granted by your local bank, building and loan association or other lender before VA can approve the grant. If you want a small farm, you might try the Farmers Home administration in your own or adjoining county.

Q. I am writing to see if I can find out why I haven't received my bonds. I went into service on April 27, 1945. I reenlisted on November 27, 1945, and after I went overseas I received only three bonds, two $10 bonds and one $20 bond, and I want some information way to do about it and where to write.—J. C. F. Gurley, Ala.

A. If you are still in service consult your commanding officer or company finance officer. If you have been discharged and the money for the bonds was regularly taken from your pay, write to Bond Division, U. S. Army, 4200 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo., and give them all details of your purchase.

Q. I have just been discharged from the army but I have only 38 days of actual service and was sick most of the time I was in the army. Am I entitled to any privileges of the G.I. bill?—A. R. T., Albion, Ind.

A. Although the law requires at least 90 days' service, if you were discharged for an actual service-connected or incurred injury or disability before 90 days, then you are entitled to all benefits of the G.I. bill. Would suggest that you consult your local Red Cross or Veterans organization.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE

IT TOOK just three short seasons for Jimmy Carroll to come up from the ranks of radio to being featured tenor on the CBS "Family Hour," starring Rise Stevens. Jimmy was buying women's sportswear in 1939, but he'd always sung and wanted to do nothing else. Also, he'd just been married, an added incentive to do something big. He landed in the Ben Yost chorus, then on the Star Theater, and on a few hours' notice substituted for James Melton, later for Morton Downey, Frank Parker and Dick Brown. He got his own program, "Jimmy Carrol Sings," did guest appearances, sang on the "Pot o' Gold"—first thing you know, he'll have a big program all his own.

Ida Lupino, currently starring in Warner Bros.' "Deep Valley," has her studio bosses sort of worried. She's talking about sailing her 42-foot yawl to Hawaii when the picture's finished—and she has a habit of doing what she says she's going to do!

While Ray Milland was in London for that Royal Command Film Festival he turned columnist; did four articles on his impressions of the city, where he was a member of the Royal Horse Guards before he came to America and headed for Hollywood.

When Bob Hope finishes "Road to Rio" (which he's doing with Bing and Dorothy Lamour, of course) he's booked for "Pale Face." A travesty of the usual Old West pictures, it'll show that in those days life wasn't all hardships and pioneering.

When you see "Saigon" you'll see Alan Ladd playing sit-down scenes that weren't in the original script. During a tense moment shared by Veronica Lake he hit his leg against the sharp corner of a table and chipped his knee bone—couldn't walk, after that, without grimacing with pain. And this tale of adventure and romance didn't call for Ladd to make faces, so he acts sitting down.

Millions of people hear her sing every Tuesday night over NBC, on the Bob Hope show, but only a few friends know that Pauline Byrnes is the "Miriam-Irium" girl of the show's singing commercials. She's pretty, blue-eyed, dark-haired, hails from Yakima, Wash.

Lurene Tuttle, who's appeared on the air opposite nearly every top male movie star, makes her film debut in "Heaven Only Knows," which stars Robert Cummings and Brian Donlevy. She's done more than 3,000 broadcasts since coming to Hollywood in 1937.

A new series of six short subjects in the popular "Joe McDoakes" comedy series has been scheduled at Warners', with George O'Hanlon, who starred in the initial series, continuing as comedy lead. "So You Want to Be a Salesman" will be the first one.

Kenny Baker, who can out-do Bing Crosby when it comes to loud sports shirts, wore an especially gaudy one to a recent broadcast of the "Kenny Show." He thought he really had something, till a man in the audience challenged him to take off his coat. Proudly Kenny obeyed—whereupon the man removed his coat, and displayed a shirt that was a duplicate of the one on Kenny.

Jane Greer spent six years studying dress design at the National Arts School in Washington, D. C.—so now she's playing one of the featured supporting roles in "Sindbad the Sailor," starring Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Maureen O'Hara and Walter Slezak.

ODDS AND ENDS—Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Rogers, who won $7,790 on "Break the Bank," almost didn't go to the broadcast; he said he was too tired to go, but Mrs. Rogers talked him into it. The Walter O'Keefe "Little Show," set for CBS, will ban studio audiences and give the time taken up by applause to added entertainment. . . . Radio actress Lurene Tuttle, frequently heard on "Suspense" and "Hollywood Players," is getting a big build-up from her film studio for her first screen appearance in "Heaven Only Knows." . . . The new "March of Time" is "Nobody's Children"; it deals with the adoption situation in this country today.

Ron Randall, Australia's top film star, makes his American movie debut in Columbia's "Bulldog Drummond at Bay." The character's slated to go on and on indefinitely, apparently; Randall's next will be another in the series.

One of the first shorts to be produced this year for Columbia by Ralph Staub will dramatize show business' three major charitable institutions: the Motion Picture Country Home, the home at Saranac Lake, and the Variety Club.

Top Hoax

No hoax of its kind compares with the one perpetrated on the editors of the 1886 edition of Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography, says Collier's. As they accepted in good faith all material received by mail, some unknown person sent them the biographies of 84 fictitious people, which were published.

Although these individuals, their achievements and the books credited to them were supposed to be well known, the hoax was not discovered for 33 years.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination, sometimes with a stinging feeling, are signs that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling. Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended by the country over. HIGHWAYS:

Despite many retarding influences, the 1946 highway program doubled that of 1945, according to the American Road Builders. Of an estimated two billion dollars public works expenditure for 1946, about 600 million was spent on highway construction.

While the federal aid highway program has not moved as fast as would be hoped, a start has been made and should show improvement in 1947, it was said.

About one out of every five persons in the U. S. lives on a farm and another fifth of our population lives in rural areas strictly dependent on farms.

Wage rates paid to hired workers on farms reached new highs in 1946, according to the department. The nationwide average for farm laborers receiving board was $91.40 on October 1, 1946.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

J. Mertes; secretary, Jos. Schmidt; assistant secretary, Theo. Schmidt; treasurer, L. P. Rosenheimer; clerk, Miss Edna Schmidt.

The Kewaskum high school is planning to publish an annual for the present school year to be named "Hiawatha."

The annual meeting of the Farmers and Merchants State Bank was held Jan. 10. Christ. Schaefer Jr. was re-elected president, Louis D. Gutli, vice-president, and Edwin Romaine cashier. Directors are Christ. Schaefer Jr., Geo. M. Romaine, Aug. Heberer, Herman Melahn, Arthur Koch, Emil Backhaus, Jos. Umbs, A. L. Simon, Wm. Kippenhan, Louis D. Gutli and Elwyn Romaine. At a meeting of the village board a resolution was passed providing for the construction of a sanitary sewerage system in the village embracing all the lands within the limits.

The next meeting of the girls' club will be held Jan. 26. The following program will be given: Vocal solo, Viola Casper; current event topic, Isabella Miller; piano solo, Grace Krahn. Just arrived—a carload of sugar at L. Rosenheimer, $5.69 per hundred pounds.

A resolution passed by the county school superintendents of the state in their annual convention at Madison will do away with all jazz music in all Wisconsin rural schools. It was agreed that all phonographs will be watched closely for fear that uncensored symphonies might be broadcasted among the students.

Frank Rose of near Kewaskum was a West Bend business caller last Monday. He is busy at work this winter making ax handles. Mr. Rose told us that he had to kill his faithful old horse, Jim, the spotted Arabian. The horse was 23 years old and was raised by Mr. Rose. For 20 years Frank has driven his best friend which faithfully took him to many a skat tournament and other trips and always brought him home safe. He thought so much of the old nag that he had to hire someone to kill the animal as he didn't have the heart to do it himself.

On Jan. 19, a pioneer citizen of Kewaskum, Libert Jaehning, died at the home of her son, John Klessig. Mrs. John Schultz of the town of Auburn also died on Jan. 19.

Mr. Yelle of Fond du Lac has been engaged by the Kewaskum Aluminum Co. as salesman to demonstrate the efficiency of their brand of excellent aluminumware along the west coast.

45 County 4-H Leaders Attend Dinner Meeting

Forty-five Washington county 4-H leaders last Tuesday evening, Jan. 14, enjoyed a delicious chili supper prepared and served under the direction of Mrs. Harlan DeLuge, county home agent, and Miss Olga Pischounik, electric company home demonstrator.

The supper was followed by an interesting program on adequate wiring presented by Ben Auehter, also of the Wisconsin Gas & Electric company. Announcement was also made of a new 4-H electric contest for Wisconsin.

The annual business meeting under the direction of Paul Cypher, Barton, leaders' president, concerned itself with election of a five man executive committee for 1947. Those elected are: For two years—Marion Mayer, St. George; Ed. Campbell, Kewaskum; Mrs. George Arnold, Germantown.

For one year—Martha Kopp, Kohlsville; Mrs. Walter Ohmann, Myra. Retiring is the following executive committee: Paul Cypher, Barton; Mrs. Wallace Kulaup, Jackson; Mrs. Daniel Wagner, West Bend; Mrs. Henrietta Schickert, Hubertus; and Mrs. Marvin Timm, Colgate.

A program of work was outlined for 1947 by Kenneth Wedin, county 4-H club agent, and Mrs. Harlan DeLuge, county home agent. Formal approval by vote was the only action taken by the group.

Plans have been made for a series of officer training schools for local 4-H club officers in February and also for the first meeting of the new 4-H members council which will be made up of a boy and girl representative from each club. Formation of a state 4-H members council will be accomplished sometime this year.

County 4-H members and leaders plan to celebrate National 4-H Club Week March 1-8 at which time it is hoped that the majority of enrollments will have been completed and work actively begun. Beef feeding school and coat schools for members and leaders will also be held in March.

The leaders have planned a big year of 4-H work for 1947. The continued support of this work throughout the county will be appreciated.

Introduced at the meeting were Walter Dobberpuhl, a new leader of the Cedar Valley 4-H club; Mrs. Julius Wegener and Mrs. Brahender, new leaders in the Boltonville club, and Mrs. Theo. Gundrum, Theresa, leader of a new club being organized in the Rock River school area west of Kohlsville.

VETERANS URGED TO HAVE PHYSICAL EXAMINATION

Veterans of World War II are urged to have a complete physical examination within a year from the date of their discharge by George A. Korb, Washington county veterans' service officer.

If a disease of a chronic nature has developed to a degree of 10 per cent or more within a year from the date of separation from active service, it is presumed to have been incurred in or aggravated by service.

The veteran, of course, will have this examination at his own expense.

If, in the opinion of the examining physician, a chronic condition has become manifest the veteran should secure a sworn statement of the findings on the letterhead of the doctor. With this statement as supporting evidence your county veterans service officer will help him file a claim with the veterans administration.

"According to physicians, it is just good common sense for all of us to have an annual physical check-up," says Mr. Korb, and he added, "it should, perhaps, be compulsory for veterans who have been discharged less than one year."
