

Kewaskum Clinches Lakes Championship; Beats Belles, Butler

Two more victories the past week clinched the championship of the northern division of the Land of Lakes League for the Kewaskum Legion. The team now has a record of 11 wins against only one defeat for the season...

The Legion's victory over the Belles clinched at least a tie for the title and the win Sunday put her on ice. Kewaskum's nearest opponent, Menomonie Falls, already has lost five games and is now out of the running.

Kewaskum's last victory over the Belles was by the smallest margin in the three games—three points. The Legion led throughout the tussle but never by a wide margin. Six or seven points separated the teams most of the time until near the end of the game when the Belles rallied to close the gap to only three points. Kewaskum led 9-4 at the quarter, 17-16 at the half, and 23-16 at the third quarter's end. W. Tessar took scoring honors with 13 points. Schmidt, Belle forward, was next with 10, while Kral dropped in 8. Kewaskum missed 17 free throws, making only five out of 22. Because of the heat in the Belle gym, the teams could not keep up a fast pace and settled down to a defensive game, accounting for the low score.

On Sunday Kewaskum and Butler got together to score a total of 123 points as the home five won, 63 to 55. Sunday's contest was one of the best played and cleanest of the year. Both clubs were really hot in shooting. Although the winners were ahead all the way, Butler's fine team was never too far behind to make it uninteresting. Haltest of the hot was Paul Kral, the Lakes leading scorer, who gave his season's total a big boost by swishing 24 points, through the hoops. Ernest of Butler was next with 16, while his teammate, Gundrum, had 14, as did W. Tessar of the winners. The Legion led 16-11 at the quarter, 31-25 at the intermission and 50-26 at the third period's end. Kewaskum played its entire squad of 10 men in the game.

Table with columns: Kewaskum, FG, FT, PF, Kral, Honeck, etc.

Free throws missed—Kewaskum (17), W. Tessar 4, Kral 7, Honeck, A. Tessar 2, Koth 3, Belles (9), Kippenhan 2, Schmidt, Jaeger, Koenigs 3, Ketter 2, Officials—Wulk and Kalkofen.

Table with columns: Butler, FG, FT, PF, Gundrum, Mammerow, etc.

Free throws missed—Butler (4), Gundrum 2, Mammerow, Kewaskum (3), Koth 2, Officials—Jelich and Holka.

RIVERS TEAM IS DEFEATED THREE TIMES DURING WEEK While the Lakes team was winning two games, the Rivers team had a bad week, losing three games. Last Thursday in the preliminary to the Lakes contest, Kewaskum lost to Campbellsport's seconds, 43 to 26. Sunday night here preceding the Butler-Kewaskum tilt, the Rivers five was beaten by the strong Cedarburg team, 48 to 21. And Tuesday night of this week the boys went to Hartford where they were handed a severe 75 to 50 drubbing by the league leaders. Following are the lineups and points scored in the three contests:

Kewaskum—G. Backhaus 13, Krueger 12, Schiefel 9, Reindl 6, D. Backhaus 4, Elta 2, W. Bunkelmann 2, Geidel 1, Campbellsport—Campagna 14, Mullin 12,

Aug. Ebenreiter Hurt in Headon Collision

A headon collision between cars driven on Highway 53 near Waukegan, by F. H. Jeffers, New London, and August C. Ebenreiter, Kewaskum, resulted in their injuries at 3:45 p. m. Monday.

Ebenreiter was brought to Dr. F. G. Edwards office here and after receiving treatment was removed to the hospital. He sustained a fractured forearm, five fractured ribs, lacerated left knee and bruised nose, and is in fair condition at present. Jeffers was taken to St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, in the county ambulance, suffering head and chest injuries.

Fond du Lac county police blamed icy roads for the mishap. They reported that Ebenreiter, traveling south, sought to make a right turn onto a rural road. He lost control of his vehicle on the ice and skidded across the highway into the path of Jeffers' auto. Both cars were damaged considerably.

Highs Place Three on All-Conference Team

Championship Kewaskum and runner-up Lomira completely dominated the 1947 Fox Valley all-conference basketball selections announced last week. Kewaskum placed three players on the all-conference team and Lomira two.

Sophomore center Johnny Tessar, Kewaskum pivot star and leading scorer in the conference this season, was the lone unanimous choice on six ballots while lanky Don Wierman, Kewaskum, and sharp-shooter Cal Voight, Lomira, won the forward posts. At the guards, Ronald Storr, Lomira, and August Bilgo, Kewaskum, were nominated for the all-star squad.

Named to the second team were Gordon Braun high-scoring Brandon senior, Ivan Baumhardt, Campbellsport senior, Bob Collen, Oakfield sophomore; Bernard Madigan, Rosendale junior, and Dick Edwards, Kewaskum senior. All coaches in the conference selected the squad.

Honorable mention was given to Vande Zande, Senn, Raymond and Marchant, Campbellsport; Biefnick and Harzgerink, Brandon; Bird, Oakfield; Marschall, Klimke and Hollander, Rosendale; Waegerle, Lomira.

Of those on the all-star team, Tessar is 15 and stands 5 feet, 11 inches; Wierman is 17 and 6 feet 1 inch; Bilgo is 17 and 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches; Voight is 17 and 5 feet, 6 inches; Storr is 16 and 18 5 feet, 9 inches.

KEWASKUM PLAYS LAST HOME GAME SUNDAY WITH GRAFTON

On Thursday night of this week the Kewaskum Lakes team played Butler at Sussex and won, 58 to 52 in a good game. The Rivers team played at Cedarburg and also won in an upset. Results of these games will be published in complete next week.

Sunday night the two teams play their last games of the season at home. Both will play Grafton in Lakes and Rivers league tilts. Grafton is the team that handed Kewaskum its only defeat of the season in the Lakes and the locals are particularly anxious to square matters. This is Grafton's only game here, the Legion having played twice there, losing one and winning the other. This is THE game and you should attend for two reasons—it's the home finale and it's against the only club to spoil Kewaskum's record.

The Legion teams will end their season next Wednesday night, Feb. 26, when both play at Menomonie Falls. These games are scheduled for Sunday afternoon, March 2, but have been moved up to Wednesday. Falls and the locals had quite a squabble here recently and this return match should be another hot one.

KRAL LEADS SCORERS Paul Kral, Kewaskum, still leads the Lakes circuit in scoring with 190 points but this total does not include the 24 points Kral scored against Butler last Sunday which give him 214. Honeck is fourth with 165. The five top scorers, not including the past week's games are: Kral, Kewaskum, 190; Boesch, Thiensville 179; Hackbarth, Hustisford, 168; Honeck, Kewaskum, 165; Lamp, Grafton, 162.

Kewaskum Players in Lakes North-South All-Star Games; Major Stars Play Oshkosh

The game everyone is waiting for—Oshkosh All-Stars vs. the cream of the Land of Lakes Major division, will be played at Carroll College gym at Wausau on Friday, Feb. 28. Last year the Lakes came within a few points of victory and with the present array of talent this year's game should be one of the best in this long series between the Lakes and Oshkosh.

Representing the northern teams of the Major league are: Dick Peterson and Vic Ojak of Cedarburg; Bob Casper, Pete Graf and Carl Kuss of West Bend; Bert Liebenstein and George Krier of Port Washington; Robert Leale and Harvey Johns of Oconomowoc; Don McDowell and Glenn Steffen of Waukesha Dales; Wayne Wendt and Don Lawrence of Watertown. Paul Schacht, manager of the pennant winning West Bend Schachts, will manage the Lakes stars.

In the 7:30 game the rival northern Lakes all-stars will meet the southern division stars. Ralph Kohn, Kewaskum, whose team is leading the northern division will manage the following stars: Paul Kral, Way, Tessar and Kilian Honeck of Kewaskum. Will Hackbarth of Hustisford, Elmer Boesch of Thiensville, Lawrence Timler, Dick Koerigs, and Harvey Schmidt of Campbellsport, Harvey Flynn of Butler, Wally Hahn, Ivan Schacht and Hawie Tamms of Menomonie Falls and Bill Lamp of Grafton.

The entire main floor individual seats will be reserved and the fans are able to get excellent seats from your local manager, Ralph L. Kohn.

The entire proceeds will go into the Land of Lakes accident benefit fund to take care of all players injured during the entire season.

County Barley Contest to be Held Again in '47

Washington county barley growers and those in 21 other Wisconsin counties are eligible to compete for $3,880 in cash prizes offered this year by the Wisconsin State Brewers' association, Milwaukee.

State prizes to be awarded at the Wisconsin state fair in August will total $1,660 and will include a grand award of $500, a reserve award of $200, a third prize of $100 and 8 merit awards of $50 each.

In the county contest to be held preceding the state fair, there will be 2 reserve awards of $10 each, and 2 third prizes of $5 each. The grand and reserve award recipients will be eligible to compete in the state fair contest.

Every contestant will be a prize winner to the extent of a case of beer which is to be given gratis by the brewers right after the county contest.

All four popular Wisconsin varieties of barley will be eligible in the contest this year. They are: Wisconsin 28, Oshkosh, Kindred, and Artie. A minimum of five acres must be grown.

County Agricultural Agent Skalicky reports that a local barley contest committee will be appointed shortly and that in the meantime his office will be headquarters for the contest.

He stated further that barley is apparently staging a comeback inasmuch as Wisconsin barley acreage increased in 1946 to 128,000 from a low of 93,000 in 1945, with an average cash-crop return to growers of $57.37 per acre.

Kewaskum, undefeated champions of the Tri-County conference, North Fond du Lac, Winneconne and Slinger high school teams won the opening day games in the WIAA district basketball tournament at Horace Mann gym in North Fond du Lac Wednesday and battled it out in the semi-finals Friday night. The opening games were attended by 1400 people.

Kewaskum easily defeated Rosendale, 42 to 20. John Tessar, with 16 points, and Wierman and Bilgo with nine each, led a smooth-working, efficient Kewaskum five to victory over the Dales. Coach Mitchell's Indians rolled up a long 22 to 9 lead at the end of the third quarter. Kewaskum is defending district champion. In the other evening game the big, fast North Fond du Lac Orioles trounced Lomira, 50-29. In the afternoon contests, Winneconne nosed out Brandon 45-44, and Slinger beat Campbellsport, 41-36.

In the consolation bracket Thursday night Brandon played Campbellsport in the first game and Lomira met Rosendale in the nightcap. In the championship flight, Winneconne and Slinger faced each other in the first game Friday night and Kewaskum took on North Fond du Lac in the nightcap. Coach Mitchell reported that his team would have to be at their very best to stand a chance of knocking off the crack North Fond du Lac team, who have gained victories over many of the bigger, class A schools the past season. Thursday night winners will play the first game Saturday night in the consolation finals and winners of Friday night will play for the tourney championship that night.

Two husbands of Kewaskum fans, along with many others who drove in private cars, attended the Wednesday night games.

MEETING ON LIVESTOCK DISEASE CONTROL HERE

Mastitis and Bang's disease are two dairy cattle diseases that cause large annual losses to Washington county dairymen. Kewaskum-Opera house, Thursday, Feb. 27, 8:00 p. m. Hubertus-Hansen's hall, Friday, Feb. 28, 2:00 p. m. Wayne-Schneider's hall, Friday, Feb. 28, 8:00 p. m. Francis A. $2,400 Collected in Polio Drive; Mrs. Ted Schmidt Frostbitten

With next Wednesday, Feb. 26, being the absolute deadline for final contributions to the 1947 March of Dimes, total donations to date of approximately $2,400 in the North Washington County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis were reported this week by B. D. Rice, West Bend, general chairman of the chapter's fund raising committee.

He pointed out, however, that this figure was only a part of the total contributions expected, since reports were yet to be received from chairmen conducting the campaign in West Bend and Kewaskum industries. West Bend retail businesses, some women's organizations, the village of Barton, and the towns of West Bend, Kewaskum, Trenton, Farmington, Barton, and Wayne.

The general chairman expressed the hope that the foregoing sub-chairmen will send in their collections by Feb. 26 at the very latest in order that he may make his report to Chapter Treasurer Walter J. Gumm, West Bend.

The 1947 March of Dimes in the North Washington County chapter was not without its human interest element, according to Rice, who reported Mrs. Theodore R. Schmidt, Kewaskum village co-chairman, suffered severely frozen fingers while putting forth every effort to make the campaign in her village a success.

According to the story told by the general chairman, subzero weather which came after the recent big snowstorm did not deter Mrs. Schmidt from going out to work on the drive. However, her fingers numb with cold, resulted in a coin box falling from her hand to the pavement, scattering coins, better-skitter in the surrounding snow and ice. In retrieving the precious coins, Mrs. Schmidt seriously froze her fingers.

"Hats off to a captain courageous, and our sympathy goes out to Mrs. Schmidt," the general chairman said. "This incident is characteristic of the outstanding work all the chairmen are doing in North Washington county for this worthy cause—the relentless fight against polio."

WASHINGTON-OZAUKEE REAL ESTATE BOARD ANNUAL MEET

The Washington-Ozaukee real estate board held its annual meeting in Hartford Feb. 17, at the Schwartz. Fifteen members were present and the following officers were elected: K. G. Marsden of E. C. Ziegler and Company, West Bend, president; Ed. Krieger of Ed. Krieger and Son, West Bend, vice president; Fred Schauer of the Schauer Agency, Hartford, secretary and treasurer.

The following directors were elected: John Maas of Hartford, Frank Altendorf of Port Washington, Al Riebe of Grafton, and Ed. Schauer of Hartford. The Washington-Ozaukee real estate board is affiliated with the State Association of Real Estate Brokers and the National Association of Real Estate Boards, thus all active members of the by-county association, by their connection with the state and national association, have become realtors. It was pointed out at the meeting that not all licensed brokers are realtors. Only brokers belonging to the county real estate board, if any, or to a local board, and essentially to the state and national association, are entitled to the word "realtor." This is a coined word, is protected by state statutes and only those brokers with the proper credentials are entitled to the term. One of the slogans of the National Association of Real Estate Boards is "consult a realtor—the name is a pledge."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Serve Casseroles For Late Evening Snacks, Parties

Ingredients for this home style Italian spaghetti are simple and economical. The cooking time is brief but this dish can make you an enviable reputation.

Simple but Satisfying

There's still plenty of nippy weather ahead before spring breezes warm up the days and evenings, and there's nothing more welcome on a crisp evening after the gang of youngsters has been out skating, skiing or coming home from a play than a sizzling hot casserole and a tossed salad.

Or if you have friends over and the evening begins to run out, there's no better way to wind it up than with a nice, homey oven dish to warm up the spirit and satisfy the appetite.

Make refreshments simple by tossing together the salad right after dinner—or at least getting things ready for the toss up. Also, prepare the casserole, store in the refrigerator and then about three-quarters of an hour before serving, slip it into the oven.

While we're watching our budgets, we're all looking for inexpensive dishes for entertaining. Utilize leftovers for casseroles, and make them stretch with such good foods as macaroni, spaghetti and noodles.

Here's an inexpensive but popular suggestion for late evening snacks:

Italian Spaghetti (Serves 6 to 8)

- 1/2 pound long spaghetti
- 1 pound ground beef
- 3 to 4 tablespoons cooking oil
- 1 green pepper, cut fine
- 1 large onion, minced
- 1/2 cup celery, cut fine
- 1/2 cup mushrooms, sliced
- 2 cans tomato puree
- Salt and pepper to taste

Fry onion in oil until lightly browned. Add pepper, celery, mushrooms and cook covered until they are tender. Add tomato puree. Turn fire low. Place on top of sauce the ground beef which has been seasoned and formed into small balls. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes. Turn meat balls once.

Serve this sauce over freshly cooked spaghetti. Cook spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender. Serve with grated cheese and meat balls.

One-Dish Meal (Serves 6)

- 2 cups diced carrots
- 1 1/2 cups diced celery
- 6 medium potatoes, pared and sliced
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup meat stock
- 3 tablespoons sliced onion
- 1 cup canned or cooked peas
- 1 1/2 to 2 cups diced leftover meat
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 3 tablespoons melted butter

Cook carrots, celery and potatoes separately in boiling, salted water until tender. (Leftover cooked vegetables may be used.) Melt butter, blend in flour, add milk and meat stock; cook over direct heat until sauce thickens, stirring constantly. Add salt. Combine sauce with remaining ingredients, except crumbs and melted butter, and pour into a two quart buttered until tender.

Simple meals take less time to prepare and should be the mainstay of the menu if you are a career woman and housekeeper. Use one-dish meals like stews and casseroles which take care of meat, vegetables and potatoes in one dish.

Serve fruits and vegetables raw whenever possible to save time in cooking. That means serving salads often—which is good for health—and fresh fruits for dessert in their natural states. Boost the caloric value in this case, if necessary, with cookies or cake made during your free time.

LYNN SAYS:

Plan Short Cuts to Aid In Meal Preparation

Plan ahead and do everything in advance that is possible. Puddings and most desserts can be prepared in advance; salad fruit and vegetables cleaned and chilled though not mixed together; salad dressings prepared; hot bread batters made and chilled; pans buttered; casseroles may be made ahead; and chilled and the table set.

Simple meals take less time to prepare and should be the mainstay of the menu if you are a career woman and housekeeper. Use one-dish meals like stews and casseroles which take care of meat, vegetables and potatoes in one dish.

Serve fruits and vegetables raw whenever possible to save time in cooking. That means serving salads often—which is good for health—and fresh fruits for dessert in their natural states. Boost the caloric value in this case, if necessary, with cookies or cake made during your free time.

casserole. Combine crumbs and melted butter and sprinkle over top. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 35 to 40 minutes until top is browned and mixture thoroughly heated.

The goodness of apples and ham combine with macaroni in the following recipe to give you a dish for cool, tart evenings:

Ham and Apple Casserole.

(Serves 6)

- 6 to 8 ounces elbow macaroni
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons mustard
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 cup ground ham
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 2 apples
- 3 tablespoons brown sugar

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water for 10 minutes. Drain and rinse. Melt butter, blend in flour, mustard and milk. Cook slowly until thickened, stirring constantly. Combine all ingredients except apples and sugar and pour into a greased baking dish. Dice apples and spread over top of casserole. Sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 30 minutes.

Simple little tricks add a lot of eye appeal to certain simple dishes, such as this one. In this case, the cooked noodles are mixed with minced pimiento and green pepper and placed in a casserole. Then, press a "nest" into the center of the noodles and fill this with a mixture of creamed tuna fish. Serve with a colorful salad of sliced tomatoes and chunks of crisp lettuce, or a tomato aspic ring filled with cole slaw.

Leftovers take on glamor while clearing the refrigerator when used with spicy seasonings in this crumb topped casserole. White sauce helps adults and children get milk necessary in the diet.

Creamed Tuna, Noodle Nest. (Serves 6)

- 8 ounces noodles
- 3 tablespoons each, pimiento and green pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- Salt and pepper
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 1 6-ounce can tuna fish
- 1 cup cooked green peas

Cook noodles in boiling, salted water until tender. Mix with pimiento and green pepper and make nest in casserole. Melt butter, add flour, salt and pepper to taste and milk. Cook until thick and smooth. Add tuna and peas and pour into noodle nest. Heat in moderate oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Here is an easily prepared salad that is rich enough to satisfy winter appetites:

Calavo Beet Salad.

- Calavo half shells
- Lemon juice
- Salt
- Finely shredded uncooked beets
- Thinly sliced green sweet pepper
- French dressing
- Salad greens for garnish
- Hard-cooked eggs
- Mayonnaise (optional)

To prepare calavo half shells, cut fruit into halves lengthwise and remove seed. Sprinkle cut portions of fruit with lemon juice and salt. Dress combined beets and pepper with french dressing. Place calavo half shells on garnished salad plates and fill seed cavities with vegetable mixture. Top each salad with a quarter of a hard-cooked egg. Garnish with mayonnaise, if desired.

Sauces for vegetables and entrees may be made ahead of time if they are chilled.

See that you have enough salad dressings ready in the refrigerator at the beginning of the week so you do not have to take time before meals to put them together.

Some things should never be done ahead. Never squeeze citrus fruit juice, for example, or prepare meat, fish or egg dishes without placing them in refrigerator until cooking time.

Use ready-prepared foods as much as possible. In this group are the canned and frozen meats and vegetables, prepared soups and ready mixes.

Always rinse dishes immediately after dining even if you do not wash them immediately. In this way they will not become too caked with food to wash later.

As soon as you have finished your marketing, clean fruits and vegetables, and they will be ready from day to day. This takes but a short time longer to do than putting them away and is well worth the effort.

WNU Features.

The aura of California sometimes may fade, but it never dies. The subtle influence of El Dorado today is not as vague as the imagined golden treasures of long ago. California is the fable-illuminated land of America where dreams come true.

The treasure of good living in a healthful land where there is opportunity beckons strongly today just as the discovery of gold at Sutter's sawmill in 1848 beckoned. There is a promise of new life, of a kinder providence, in the sight of citrus groves against a background of snow-capped peaks. There is somehow a rebirth of faith in oil wells spouting black gold, in ships going to the Orient through the Golden Gate, in airplanes and factories, and in desert land made to bloom.

The yearning for El Dorado, now known as "California fever," has affected many men of many nations. California is not one state, one climate, one altitude, one picture, or one people. It is the second largest state in the nation. It is scorched and parched desert and cool Lake Tahoe in the mountains. It is Mt. Whitney, 14,522 feet above sea level—the highest peak in the United States—and Death Valley, 200 feet below sea level, both in the same county. It is bathing beauties and movie stars as well as cattle ranches and dairy farms. Fine sands of sweeping ocean beaches, rough and rocky mesas, subtropical areas, frozen Sierra peaks—all are California.

California may mean farming, mining, cattle raising, trapping, shipping, fruit growing, movie making, lumbering, manufacturing, fishing, hunting or a hundred other occupations. It may be the lonely life of herding sheep or the gay rounds of night clubs, society, yachts, race tracks. Or it may mean Chinatown, Palm Springs, Hollywood, big redwood trees or sagebrush!

The average Californian, whether he is a native or an adopted son, may boast—with justification—that his state has the tallest trees, the highest mountains, the fastest-growing population and the most promising future of all the states. And these aggressive Californians really mean it.

State of Progress.

Their energy has built aqueducts from the mountains to make great agricultural areas out of deserts. They have strung power lines from mighty dams to bring energy to cities and factories, dredged great harbors from mud flats and flung the world's biggest bridges across a bay. They have developed cotton plantations below sea level and drilled slopes for oil and gas. Irrigation ditches have turned waste lands into grain fields and pastures, truck gardens and orchards. The forbidding areas of a century ago are green and fertile, with comfortable homes where families dwell.

Gold was the first natural resource to be exploited in California, the discovery turning a Spanish pastoral country into a Yankee land. And the Yankees haven't stopped hunting for treasure—minerals, timber, gas, petroleum, silver, copper, lead, zinc, platinum, tungsten, magnesite, potash, stone, soda, cement and the soil itself. They harnessed the water power and put it to work. They turned to manufacturing and shipping, and dared to start new ventures such as the moving picture industry. California fired their imaginations, and gave them scenery and a wonderful climate as well.

No Gamble in Farming.

California has been unlike any other state in development and sequence of agriculture. The first industry was cattle, derived from herds driven from Mexico by Viceroy Galvez in 1769 for the Mission establishments. Crops were planted, but there was the annual gamble with drought. Since 1885, California's farms have grown smaller in size, and irrigation has become widespread. Farming is no gamble now!

In 1873 two seedless orange trees from Brazil were sent to Riverside, and from these two has sprung the modern orange industry of California.

The state produces limes, tangerines, citrus, figs, olives, avocados, pomegranates, dates and other fruit. California is the only state producing lemons in commercial quantities. Pears, apples, peaches, plums, prunes, cherries, grapes and small fruits and berries are grown widely in the state. The sensational achievements of California's great wizard, Luther Burbank, are well known.

California was the first state to grow sugar beets. It is a leader in truck and vegetable growing and produces enormous quantities of Persian and English walnuts, almonds, pecans and other nuts.

El Dorado is still California. It is a young state, eager to stretch its muscles and do bigger things. "How many Californians will there be in 1950?" is asked. Los Angeles county expects to have 3,371,000. The San Francisco Bay area expects to have 2,000,000. The state expects a total of 9,000,000 people to be fed, housed and employed in 1950. The answer? Factories and new industries!

Almost every California town has ample electric power and sewer utilities—and a vacant space to put a factory. Santa Clara, San Bernardino, Pomona, Riverside, Gridley, Oroville, Lodi and dozens of other California towns are looking for foot-loose factories that can be located where there are raw materials on the spot.

New Developments Noted.

And if factories won't do all the job, what about the new developments in the great Central valley? A new irrigation, flood control and power project there includes Shasta dam on Sacramento river, Friant dam on San Joaquin river and numerous irrigation canals. Nine miles downstream from Shasta, Kenwick dam is being constructed to create an afterbay reservoir for the Shasta power plant and generate additional power itself. This development will take care of thousands more people from Redding to Bakersfield, including the San Francisco Bay area.

Although the motion picture industry was born on the east coast, the movie capital of the world today revolves around Hollywood and its environs—Culver City, Universal City and Burbank. The atmosphere there is so clear that pictures can be taken on about 350 days of the year, while topography and flora afford varied "locations."

Perhaps California has been praised too lavishly, cursed too loudly, loved too greatly and hated beyond all reason. Not many misfits, or modern adventurers, will find California all it is advertised to be. But the strong, the sensible, the industrious, the substantial ones may find in California a greater selection of vocations, interests and opportunities than they have ever known before.

Remember, they do the impossible right along in California!

Winter converts Lassen park into a veritable fairyland.

California Boasts of Romantic and Colorful History

First colonization in California was in 1759 by the Franciscan missionaries under Junipero Serra, with a small escort of Spanish troops. The mission period lasted about 65 years in which over 80,000 Indians were converted, at least a million dollars worth of buildings were erected and stock-raising and wheat-growing were firmly established.

The state passed from Spanish rule to that of the Mexican republic in 1821. The Mexican government "disestablished" the missions and confiscated the property. The Indians were scattered and perished in great numbers. The buildings were plundered and left to decay.

California was seized, practically without resistance, by the United States in 1845 and was ceded by Mexico at the end of the Mexican war. It was admitted to the union September 9, 1850, as a free state.

Rocket Brakes

The jet power of rockets, which has so far been employed almost wholly as a propulsive force, is expected to be used soon in the opposite way—to brake the speed of planes and trains in cases of emergency, says Collier's.

Experts estimate that a train which travels 1,500 feet after the air brakes are applied could be brought to a stop in 375 feet, or one fourth the distance, by the additional braking force of forward-firing rockets installed on the locomotive.

TREE SEEDLINGS AVAILABLE

Evergreen and hardwood seedlings for reforestation are available from the state conservation nurseries at prices ranging from $2.00 to $8.00 per thousand. Purchase orders for such seedlings may be obtained at the county extension office, post office building, West Bend.

Because of the large demand for seedling and transplant trees orders should be placed as soon as possible. Trees will be packed and shipped during the latter part of April. Varieties available this year are: white pine, white spruce, Norway pine, Norway spruce and jack pine.

Anyone wishing only a few trees may obtain them free by leaving a request for them at the county extension office.

JOIN STATE AND COUNTY BARLEY GROWING CONTEST

Plans for the 1947 state and county barley growing contest in which more than $1,000 will be awarded as prize money are now being announced by the State Barley Growers' Association. Last year 102 Washington county growers participated in the county barley contest. They won more than $200 in prizes and received $150 for each bushel sample of barley submitted in the contest.

Rules of contest—All that barley growers need to do to participate in the contest is submit an entry blank with the county agent's office before May 1. Plant five or more acres of barley, and bring a one-bushel sample to the county fair show to be held early next August.

Varieties of barley eligible to compete in the contest include Wisconsin No. 23, Oldenbacher, Kindred or "E" type, and Arctic (O.A.C. 21). It is strongly recommended, but not required, that certified seed be planted for contest competition. It is further recommended that all seed planted be first treated with all improved creosote. This reduces seedling blight and usually "out-takes" seed borne strips and black smut.

Application blanks for participating in the contest can be obtained from the agricultural extension office, post office building, West Bend. Merely phone or write to an application form.

SHEEP—A GOOD SOURCE OF FARM INCOME

The number of sheep and lambs on farms and western ranges is the lowest it has been since 1925. Few farmers in Washington county have been raising sheep because they felt that the dairy cow was a more profitable animal to keep. This may have been true in the past, but what about the future? Present predictions are that better will go downward to near the 50¢ per lb. mark. This means less than $200 per cwt. for fluid milk.

Wool production in this county is considerably below demand. We must import large amounts of wool from foreign countries to meet our general textile and clothing demands. During the war years consumers let their supplies of clothing dwindle to a point where new supplies of clothing must be purchased. This will absorb all that the clothing which industry can produce for at least two more years. Until that point is reached reasonable increase in wool price can be expected.

In view of the above it would appear that sheep raising can be a profitable source of farm income for a few years to come. Furthermore, sheep require very little labor, and they are "tops" in the use of rough feeds to be converted into products that human beings may use. Sheep can and should be a part of farm livestock on many farms in Washington county.

"WORM" PIGS WITH SODIUM FLUORIDE

Sodium fluoride, a chemical that is highly poisonous if it's used improperly, is nevertheless an excellent treatment for non-worms in swine, according to University of Wisconsin livestock specialists who have been testing it.

Until recently, farmers have attacked roundworms in swine by using oil of chenopodium mixed with castor oil. That gave about 75 per cent control. With careful handling the researchers now find that it's impossible to get 99 per cent control under the new treatment without doing animals any harm. The plan they have worked out calls for a one day feeding of sodium fluoride along with dry feed, using one pound of the chemical with 100 pounds of feed.

Pigs can be treated at 5 to 10 weeks of age, with a follow-up treatment at four to six months.

The scientists think a qualified veterinarian should either make the treatment or at least be on hand, because of the possible dangers in using sodium fluoride.

Labor Legislation Holds Spotlight

Union Rank and File Ask Only for Extended Peace

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — Sitting in the committee room where the hearings on the forthcoming labor bills have been taking place I often have wondered how closely they were being followed by the rank and file of the union members. Of course, the leaders were listening with cocked ears to every syllable—were they listening with the same ears as the men?

Baukhage

The reason I ask that is because of a letter I received which asked: "How can the thousands of union members like myself make people understand that what the leaders of our unions do are not the views of the small fry rank and file members?" He goes on to claim that these international officers are elected at a convention attended by a certain few. And we who stay at home and pay their salaries by our monthly dues have nothing to say about who our national officers are to be or what policies are to be followed. The first inkling we have of what is going on is when we read it in the paper."

He points out that people like himself have no huge financial reserves, no way to make themselves heard. "All we want," he insists, is to be "left alone. We want to work. We want to work hard because we are all financially broke. It is our fervent wish that everybody let us alone and let us work in peace."

When I read that letter on the air, another 59-year-old automobile worker (member of a CIO union) wrote in immediately to agree with the sentiments. He says: "All I ask for is 52 weeks' work in a year (including one week vacation with pay), no strikes, no lay-offs and no increase (underlined by the writer) in wages. Industry and farm prices would take away all and more of any increase I might get. I too, wish we could get a secret poll of CIO members on such matters as above, but that is quite improbable—the union leaders would discourage any such vote."

Another listener reminded me of the so-called "Barnes bill" in Massachusetts to compel unions to file certain statements with the Commonwealth—a bill fought by union leaders—which was carried by a large majority that observers figured that more than 50 per cent of the members of unions in the Bay state had voted in its favor. He said: "When I joined the Brakemen, it was a crime. In fact, you had to keep it a secret or off went your head." He characterizes the union man who criticizes his leadership as "a parasite glad to get a raise and better working conditions, but who will let the other fellow pay for his fare."

Of course, there were many who disagreed. One of the most vehement was a 78-year-old Virginian who began work on the railroad in 1886. He described early days when unionization was just getting under way. He said: "When I joined the Brakemen, it was a crime. In fact, you had to keep it a secret or off went your head." He characterizes the union man who criticizes his leadership as "a parasite glad to get a raise and better working conditions, but who will let the other fellow pay for his fare."

An Ohio union member concurs, saying: "When anyone tells you that they do not have a say in what their officers do, they show no respect whatsoever for the truth. They should attend their meetings and help shape their policies, and don't blame their officers for what is done because it is their own fault."

Obviously, situations differ in different unions. When the bill is written by congress, I believe it will be so phrased that it will make it possible for the majority of union men, if not the majority of the leaders, to vote without qualms for the men who wrote it. That seems common political sense.

New Book of Wonders

When I was reminded that there was going to be an Agricultural Yearbook this year (the first one since 1942) I hot-footed it over to the editor because the Agricultural Yearbook is news. Bad news when they don't have one and good news when they do, which is every year since 1863 when Abraham Lincoln signed the bill authorizing establishment of the department of agriculture and outlining its functions.

At this writing the book is still in galley but will be out soon. Circumstances which interrupted the annual publication of this work have combined to make it perhaps the most interesting in the history of the department. Its title is "Science in Farming" and it will reveal some of the tremendous advances which have affected the products of agriculture during and because of the war. The editor is Alfred Stefferud and the authors of the some 150 odd articles which it contains are mostly scientists in the department. Some are staff members of state colleges, state agricultural experiment stations and other government laboratories. As editor Stefferud says, this yearbook will furnish "a wealth of information on how to live better and work better, information about food, clothing, housing, gardens, pests, forests, new processes and many other things."

There isn't room here to list all of the contents but the articles which deal with plants and animal genetics recount tremendous strides made in breeding, feeding and care, and combating insects and diseases. The hen getting her respiration measured in the picture is an example of the studies of conditions favorable to health and well being of poultry, cattle and horses which have been made.

Then there are the new products which have been created out of old ones: Utilization of corn-cobs and stalks and straw; the manufacture of vegetable meals that used to be dumped; chapters on penicillin and rutin showing the new bond between agriculture and pharmacy. I never guessed that rutin can be made from some 35 different plants and the richest in yield is the one that produces those tasty buckwheat cakes that I used to drown in maple syrup in my youth.

Then there is the story of "velva," the toothsome product made of over-ripe fruit. You may or may not know that one of the most difficult flavors to preserve is that of the apple. It was never captured even in candy, successfully. Now, however, it has been anchored and there is an apple flavor as satisfactory as vanilla. Incidentally one of the most fascinating articles is the result of a survey which reveals what Americans eat and why.

After even a rather hurried glance at the contents of this volume I realize how lucky are the people who have a friend in congress from whom they can obtain a copy of "Science and Farming." Under the law 260,000 copies of the yearbook are printed as congressional documents and nearly all of these are delivered to congressmen. It is left to their discretion to distribute them. They also can be purchased from the superintendent of documents of the U. S. government printing office. The price has not been announced at this writing but I imagine it will not exceed $2 this year.

Bio-physicist H. G. Barott of department of agriculture places hen in respiration calorimeter to measure intake of oxygen and output of carbon dioxide and heat.

'KILLED IN ACTION'

Accident Toll Soars to 100,000

CHICAGO. — Accidents took a death toll of 100,000 persons in 1946 with additional millions injured and economic loss as a result of mishaps soaring to $5,600,000,000, according to National Safety Council.

Fatalities represented an increase of 4 per cent over the 1945 toll of 95,918. The 1946 figure was significant because the motor vehicle death toll for the first quarter of the year was up 45 per cent, the council reports.

Home accidents accounted for the greatest number of casualties, 34,000, while motor accidents ran a close

New Polar Lands Mapped; Disarmament Plan Balked

ANTARCTICA: New Discoveries

The vast frigid Antarctic lying at the bottom of the world began to take clearer shape as a result of the Byrd expedition. No less than 125,000 square miles of hitherto uncharted wasteland were mapped by naval explorers in the first five weeks of polar operations. Fliers photographed and charted 4 great bays, eight major mountain ranges, more than 20 islands, 3 important peninsulas and 2,000 miles of coastland. Most important single discovery was a vast bay cutting deeply into the continent from Franklin Roosevelt sea. It measured 180 miles in length and 120 miles in width.

Now on his fourth antarctic expedition, Byrd remained solid on the white-capped continent. He asserted that it contains a treasure-house of raw materials which could supplement U. S. resources depleted during the war.

U. N.: How to Disarm?

Sick of war, the U. S. and Russia remained solid on world disarmament, but as the two great powers in conflicting camps, they locked horns on procedure.

The atomic bomb remained the nub of the problem. The U. S. insisted that no adequate system of collective security could be devised until establishment of effective control over A-bombs, long-range rockets and other mass destruction weapons. The Russians, on the other hand, wanted the U. S. to surrender the A-bomb and disarm at the same time.

PRESIDENCY: Rush Curb

Mustering its full strength, the Republican majority in congress pushed for passage of a bill by Representative Michener (Rep., Mich.) for limiting a president to two terms. Denying Democratic charges that the measure was "anti-Roosevelt," the GOP contended it was designed to curb the growth of autocratic power and put a historic U. S. tradition into law.

Plan for Ruhr

Thrice the victim of German aggression within the last 75 years, France will strive for the permanent emancipation of the reich at the forthcoming foreign ministers' conference in Moscow.

Added to the plan for hebbing Germany politically by breaking the reich up into loosely federated states, the French also propose detachment of the Ruhr from the rest of the country.

STATE DEPARTMENT: Legislative Aims

While Secretary of State Marshall called for early congressional action on his request for full aid to the hungry in war-stricken areas overseas, the senate foreign relations committee indicated it would hold off consideration until receiving ex-President Hoover's report on food requirements for Germany.

Marshall made his request in a statement to the committee listing the department's legislative program. Other action sought included:

- Senate approval of the Balkan peace treaties signed in Paris February 10.
- Authorization for the St. Lawrence seaway.
- Legislation for entry of displaced persons into this country.
- Tax exemptions for persons making gifts to the U. N.

FINANCE: A Comer

Young, a former New York stock broker who catapulted into the national limelight by joining in purchase of control of the vast Van Sweringen railroad empire for only $510,000, heads the Allegheny corporation, which dominates the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Nickel Plate and Pere Marquette.

Operating through Allegheny, Young is said to have increased his holdings in the New York Central to 309,000 shares and bought up almost $18,000,000 in Rock Island securities. Control of these two lines would give him a run from New York to Chicago to New Mexico, from whence he could bargain for track rights to the Pacific coast, completing his dream of a trans-continental line.

An aggressive champion of railroad modernization to keep up with other competitive modes of transportation, Young repeatedly has assailed carrier interests for failure to improve their properties.

United Nations commission take over the mining and manufacturing resources of the region entirely, with Nazi properties confiscated and other German owners indemnified. Profits would be used for reparations to be set up to handle ordinary civic and provincial affairs, but it would not be related to any confederation of German states.

DULL AND POINTLESS

Life is so drab, so dull and pointless, complains Mrs. Perry Allen in a letter, that she fears she will go mad unless something unexpected happens. She has almost everything a woman can rightfully expect; a loving, dutiful husband, two healthy little boys, a suburban home. The family income is adequate for her needs and there are no bills or other financial worries. Nothing really is wrong, but Mrs. Allen is just weary of the routine of household cares, cooking, marketing and all. Her club connections are not interesting enough to give her much diversion. She is looking for something bizarre to give her a new interest in life.

Miss Norris replies that life settles down to a dreary sameness for nearly everyone, in time. Wealth and beauty and fame do not make much difference. The only element, says Miss Norris, that can lift anyone out of monotony and despair, is religion. A realization of the supernatural part of life, she says, transforms everything commonplace and makes it sparkle. The dull, daily routine becomes thrilling.

ashamed, exist in the mansions of Park avenue just as plentifully as they do the crowded tenements of Silver street. Wealth and fame and beauty are only fresh exasperations when they cannot hold a man's loyalty, save a child's life, or build about her the home fireside, the books and friends, the dear sense of being loved and needed that are every woman's dream.

Supernatural Goal.

The history of failures, divorces and suicides among the apparently great and favored prove this over and over. Life—if you live it only in terms of this world, is a dull and discouraging business for everyone. Earthly life isn't enough for us. We are geared to something else. We need supernatural help.

Once sure of that, there is no more dullness. We are the servants then of an invisible master. Nothing is humble then, nothing is monotonous. Life sparkles; the commonplace seven-room house, the two sturdy boys, the garden, friends, club, market—all combine in one absorbing miracle. And the love of a tired, puzzled man, who needs her, who comes home to her at night, is the greatest miracle of all. To make his life comfortable and complete is a daily and secret delight.

Once you come to feel that disillusionment and drabness are the fate of us all, your own share of it becomes easier to bear. You begin to reach about for that hidden alchemy that transforms life in an ordinary city flat into the most thrilling role a woman can be called upon to play. Believe me, the materials are all there, ready to your hand. Or rather, ready to your heart and soul. A ballroom and a swimming pool don't keep hate and fear and despair out of a house. Income has nothing to do with the joy of living. That is something for which you must seek as a certain merchant did his heavenly luster would light all the rest of his days.

Poorest Farmers Have Most Children, Sociologist Says

Large rural families are chiefly on farms in the lower 50 per cent income rating, especially in the South, according to Dr. G. W. Hill, rural sociologist at University of Wisconsin.

These and other reasons why farm labor must continue to be imported were given by Professor Hill in a talk before the department of agricultural labor conference in Chicago. He went on to say that there is nothing inferior about children from poor parents. Given an opportunity, they equal the offspring of more wealthy parents in every walk of life.

The conference revealed that southern plantations lost 106,000 of their Negro population to northern cities between 1935 and 1940, and 189,000 to southern cities.

Migration figures for the war years are not available but they are expected to run much heavier than prewar.

LAST LOVER

BY Helen Jopping Miller

Jill McFarlane, whose father, Richard, disappeared in World War I, falls in love with Lt. Spang Gordon. She is upset when she discovers her brother, Ric, has fallen in love with Sandra Calvert, a divorcee of questionable character.

Jill is thrown from her horse and hospitalized. During her absence, Richard visits her mother, Julia. He tells her he assumed the name of Captain Mackey and is stationed at the same camp as Ric. His father, John I., who has aided Julia in raising the children, denounces Richard. Julia is horrified at his callousness and refuses to take her children to the truth. At camp Captain Mackey tells Ric he knew his father in France during the first war.

CHAPTER XIII

He had to take care of her, Ric decided, she mustn't be hurt again. After the war when men had acquired equality again he'd look up Lieutenant Colonel Win Calvert and hand him a good jolt in the jaw. In her own room Sandra Calvert shed her girlish with a relieved sigh. She wrapped a thin robe around her well-curved body and leaned close to the mirror to touch up a worrisome small line at the corner of an eyebrow. Was she going to get a haggard, old-looking skin this early? She couldn't. She had to be young, as young as that boy, Ricky. Ricky was sweet. And she was so tired. She wanted to be taken care of. She wanted to be young. She was young. Thirty-five wasn't old. Six years ago she'd married Win. Six lifetimes! But now it would be over. Over forever.

"How long were you married to that Bordine fellow before you married Win? Before you got that Mexican divorce? Were you a child bride? I think not." Her eyes flashed viciously. "You cowardly snoop! Go ahead and peddle your tales if you think it will do any good. There are a few things I could tell about you, too." "Nothing whatever that isn't known already," he said, coolly. "Nothing that could hurt me in the least, now." "You tell Ricky McFarlane a lot of tales about me and see what happens. He won't believe you. He'll want to fight you, but he can't because you're twice as old as he is and you've got bars on your shoulders. He'll hate you. He hates you already. He told me he hated you."

"All privates hate their officers. It's the American in them, the fierce individualism in this country. It's for superiority. It keeps them trying. It's what makes this army one that no goose-stepping mob of regimented slaves can lick. Ric McFarlane doesn't hate me. He's thinking about the day when I'll be a captain and he'll be a major, and I'll have to salute him. It's good for them, that feeling. When they lose it, they'll be no good to the army, and if the army loses it they'll be a chain-gang, nothing else. The spirit in it will be dead." "He hates you," Sandra persisted. "He won't believe a word you say."

"Slow, Sandra," she cautioned the woman in the mirror. She'd done a stupid thing, letting Ricky see her in a morbid mood. Men don't like too much emotion in women, not unless it was directed at them. And dragging Win in had been the clumsiest move of all. She had so little time. Soon Ricky would be sent off to officer's school, and she hadn't money enough to follow him. Win would be slow with her alimony, of course. He was always slow. It would stop if she married again, of course. But she was not dubious of the future. She thought she knew how to take care of herself.

Her features contorted, anger, hate and fear driving all the surface prettiness out of her face. Her skin took on a greenish cast, her eyes darkened and receded, behind a curtain of pure rage. "Your insults can't hurt me," she said. "I don't expect anything better from you. And I'm not afraid of your threats. But this interest in "What to gamble on it, Sandy? He may hate me. He may itch to hit me, but he'll believe me. Men don't lie to each other, often—not about women. Think it over." He closed the door without a sound as he went out. Sandra Calvert sprang to her feet, her hands tightened into livid fists. "You—you..." She choked on her fury. Why, when there were hundreds of posts all over the country, had Rod Mackey been sent to Ridley Field? She had chosen the place because it was a small city, not too well known, and the living was cheap. She had followed the corps because for so long her life had been bound up with it, and when Win left she had stayed because she liked being with men with wings on their collars. She had seen Mackey around but had kept out of his way. The unmitigated gall of the man, walking into her room, giving her orders!

"Very pretty, Sandy. You were expecting somebody else, I infer?" "I was not! Go away before I call the house detective." "I think I've got away," he answered coolly. "I came to talk to you." "You're not going to talk to me." Her face was livid. Her eyes blazed. "Get out of my door, or I'll telephone the office." "I don't think you'll do that, Sandy. Stop being dramatic and let me pass—and shut that door."

"All right, I'll wait while you put on a coat or something, and we'll talk in the little parlor down the hall." "And be overheard by a lot of soldiers and their dates? No, thank you. I'm not going to talk to you. We haven't a thing to say to each other. Get out now, will you?"

"Courage is a muscle of the mind." a young private—just a boy at your post, is a trifle amazing. It might be interesting if you'd explain why you're so concerned about Richard McFarlane, all of a sudden.

"I'm not going to talk about old times," he said, amiably. "I'm going to talk about now. About you." She flared at him. "No wonder they broke you! You are the most impossible, offensive person I ever knew."

"What's the matter with me, Rod?" she asked. "Why are you so bitter against me? I'm not bad. I've never been bad. I've had a lot of heartbreak crowded into a few years. I was young when I married Win Calvert. He knew his way around in that wild set over there in the islands. I didn't. I had to grope. I made mistakes. I did stupid things. I made Win furious, but I wasn't bad. Win was bad. He was rotten. You know that. I was only foolish. And then after they sent us home, and I got back into a sane atmosphere again I saw how intolerable it had all been. I saw that I couldn't take any more. So I divorced Win, and he didn't care. I think he was glad. He was glad to be rid of me. Now I've met this McFarlane boy, and he's nice to me, I'm not harming him. There are women who could harm him, but when he's with me he's safe from them. You're threatening to call him in and tell him things about me. Can't you see how useless that would be?"

"You were never a friend of mine, Rod Mackey. I came here to get away from everything that I hated. I was unlucky when they sent you to this post. I don't want to be reminded of anything that happened in the islands. Please go away and leave me alone."

"I'm disappointed in Jill," Julia said. "Didn't I give my children anything at all, John I? Anything but charming manners and average intelligence and good looks? I had courage. I wanted to give them courage."

"I don't have to take orders from you. I'm not in your command." "You'll take these orders, Sandy Calvert!" He was grim now, his eyes were blue ice. "I want you to let that boy alone."

"I'm disappointed in Jill," Julia said. "Didn't I give my children anything at all, John I? Anything but charming manners and average intelligence and good looks? I had courage. I wanted to give them courage."

"You know what I'm talking about. I want you to let that McFarlane boy alone." Her mouth curled scornfully. "Did they assign you to be a nurse to that squadron out there? I suggest that you mind your own business and get out of my room." "Take it easy, Sandy. You show your age when you blaze up like that. Very unbecoming, too. I'm not getting out till you promise to send that boy about his business and not see him again."

"What can I do with her? I can't send her back to school. She's lost interest in other men so parties bore her. She needs something to do when her arm knits, but what?" "Plenty to do right here." "She isn't interested. She'd mope over it and carry that reproachful look around the house all the time. It's because she feels so unsure, so incomplete. If she'd married that young lieutenant—"

No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Eighteen Million Strong

The great army of veterans is growing to that as of December 31, the number of World War I veterans passed the 18,000,000 mark, bringing the total war veteran population to 18,058,000 all under jurisdiction of Veterans administration insofar as administration of veterans' laws is concerned.

VA announced that as of January 20 only one out of every 4,500 G.I. home loans guaranteed by the agency had been in default.

More than 400,000 veterans already have converted their national service life insurance to government 20-year life valued at more than 1.7 billion dollars.

Veterans' administration also has 137,000 veterans or dependents of veterans as wards of the administration.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am writing in regard to money for veterans who farm. I understand they were to get $100 a month for nine months if they farmed. I know of several who tried to sign up but couldn't sign because they didn't have any cattle. Does the government expect them to have cattle when they get out of the army after having served for three or four years? This one I have in mind served 4 1/2 years and was always at home on the farm before he enlisted in 1911. If he had a herd of cattle before he left he wouldn't need anything from the government. Lots of boys are farming and receiving this compensation who never farmed before. I am a World War I veteran and want to see the answer.—A. L. J., Artesian, S. D.

A. If you are referring to readjustment allowances for self-employed under the serviceman's readjustment act of 1944, then the following are the provisions:

A veteran of World War II who is self-employed, that is in business for himself, which includes farming, is eligible for readjustment allowances if his net earnings are less than $100 for the previous calendar month, the amount of the allowance being the difference between his net earnings and $100. The veteran should file his claim on the proper forms which will be provided him at the nearest office of the state unemployment compensation agency. He is not required to register as unemployed, however. He must have with him his discharge or separation papers. If the claim is denied, the veteran is entitled to a hearing before an impartial tribunal of the state agency and this decision even may be appealed to the readjustment allowance agent of the nearest office of Veterans' administration.

Q. I stayed in service in Camp Maxey, Tex., eight months. While there I had an allotment made for my two children. They didn't get one penny. I was discharged with an honorable discharge, but they didn't give me a penny of mustering-out pay and I even had to pay my train fare back home from camp. I would like to know if I am entitled to any consideration.—R. O., Memphis, Tenn.

A. With reference to your mustering-out pay, if you received an honorable discharge, you were in the army for eight months, you are entitled to $200 mustering-out pay and your train fare home. Suggest you write to the finance officer at Camp Maxey about this and, if you don't get results, then write to the Office of the Adjutant General, War Department, Washington 25, D. C. With reference to the allotment for your two children, if this money was taken out of your pay, then write to the Office of Dependency Benefits, 4300 Goodfellow Blvd., St. Louis 20, Mo., and explain the details to them.

Q. How long are you supposed to wait for your terminal leave pay? It's been more than a month now since I was discharged and am beginning to wonder if I'm going to get that money. And I need it.—O. A. McE., Poplar Bluff, Mo.

A. The armed services estimate that about 60 days will elapse between the date of application and the date the veteran receives his bonds or his check for terminal leave.

Q. I sent in my terminal leave papers about five months ago and have never heard a word from them and I would like to know the reason and how I can find out. All my brothers have received their bonds and money.—W. F. G., Iowa.

A. The finance office is swamped with applications for terminal leave pay and the army is several months behind in processing applications. However, suggest that you write to the finance office to which you mailed your application for terminal leave. You might also contact Red Cross.

Q. Can you tell me if week-end or three-day passes are considered leave time under the terminal pay law and if so just what time can be counted in figuring up your leave?—Veteran, Hatfield, Pa.

A. No, overnight, week-end or three-day passes, sick leave, convalescent and rehabilitation leave, and temporary duty are not considered as leave time under the act.

All periods of active service since September 8, 1939, except time AWOL, time over leave or time spent in confinement under sentences of courts martial are counted.

Russia Rich in Resources

Soviet Russia, recently estimated to be the richest of the Big Three in natural resources because of the war's drain on the metal and mineral wealth of the United States and the British Empire, is actually dependent on imports only for tin and silver. Its vast untouched reserves, all within its own boundaries, make Russia a world leader in manganese, vanadium and tungsten, and second in oil, gold, chrome, platinum and asbestos.

Combating Ants

For nests of ants in the soil in the lawn or garden, make holes about a foot apart over the infested area with a broom handle, or similar object, to a depth of two to four inches and pour into each two or three tablespoons of carbon disulphide, closing the hole at the surface by pushing the soil together. In the case of large ant hills, it may be necessary to make deeper holes and pour into them a larger quantity of carbon disulphide.

Fuel Economy

Fuel economy starts in the boiler or furnace. The first step is to see that the heat absorbing surfaces are clean. These surfaces should be thoroughly brushed or scraped. In many cases, the inside of the boiler may need cleaning, too, with a good boiler cleaning compound. When coal is used, the ash pit must be kept clean in order to give full admission of air to the fuel bed. If clinkers form on the grates, they will block the passage of air.

Hybrid Corn

In 1945 more than 58 million acres were planted to hybrid corn varieties, according to the department of agriculture. Since 1938, when 15 per cent of the corn acreage was planted to hybrids, there has been an increase each year of from 8.7 per cent to 8.6 per cent, or close to 7 million acres. In the corn belt states, hybrids are estimated to have increased yields at least 20 per cent over the open-pollinated varieties.

The Kewaskum Alumnae surprised the famous Oshkosh High school basketball team by upsetting them at the opera house Sunday, 31 to 23. Carl Schaefer was at his best and was easily the star. The Oshkosh team was "loaded" for the game, having with them Wilcox, one of the best professional players in the state.

Members of the Kewaskum Concert band will sponsor a grand prize masquerade dance at the opera house Feb. 26. Darwin Schellinger's orchestra will play. The proceeds will go toward the buying of new uniforms for the band boys.

Averages for the first quarter of school at the local public school show that Maude Hausmann had the highest average in the eighth grade with 98. Marc David Rosenheimer led the boys with 91. Allan Miller had highest average in the sixth grade with 96 and Norma Knoebel had next best, 89.

The Kewaskum Girls' club now has 40 members. Officers are Ruth Wollensak, president; Margaret Schlosser, first vice president; Laura Wollensak, second vice president; Esther Baether, treasurer, and Lorraine Casper, secretary. The purpose of the club is to promote sewing, cooking, first aid instruction, physical education and music, and to prepare dramatic productions and pageants for the public. (Editor's note—A picture of the officers of the club accompanied the above write-up).

Ben Janssen, who has been in the service of the U. S. army the past seven years, returned home last week, accompanied by his wife.

On Sunday this section was visited by the heaviest snowfall of the season. Eight inches of snow fell. During the night the temperature dropped to 22 degrees below zero.

A marriage license was issued by County Clerk Kraemer to Miss Velia Dreher, daughter of the Julius Dreher, village, and Wallace Kruever, town of Auburn. They will be married Feb. 28. Cpl. Walter Feltz, who returned home last week from St. Croix, Virgin Islands, was granted an honorable discharge from the marines after serving two years.
