On a two weeks honeymoon to northern Wisconsin are the newlyweds of Saturday, June 7, Miss Irma Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Monroe of Route 1, Hancock, and Roger Reindl, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reindl of this village. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Weix at Wautoma on Saturday morning.

For her marriage the bride chose a white satin gown with peplum and nylon skirt. A headpiece which matched a silver design on the skirt held her fingertip veil. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and red roses.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Florine Monroe, while Mrs. Jacob Brussel Jr., sister of the groom, served as bridesmaid. The attendants wore floor length gowns in yellow and blue respectively fashioned with gathered bodices and puffed sleeves. Both wore delicate matching headpieces which held short veils, and carried arm bouquets of yellow roses and blue delphiniums. They also wore pearl car rings which were gifts of the bride. The little flower girl, Joanne Jaeger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jaeger of Kewaskum, wore a ruffled floor length white frock and carried a miniature bouquet similar to that of the bride.

The groom was attended by his brother, Gilbert Reindl, as best man, while Norman Monroe, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony dinner was served in the community building in Hancock and then the wedding party returned to Kewaskum where supper was served at the Kewaskum Opera House. Later a wedding dance was held at the opera house.

After returning from their wedding trip the newlyweds will reside in the upper flat in the Wm. Before her marriage the bride held a teaching position in a rural school near Kewaskum.

The Kewaskum Utensils made it three straight victories without a setback and kept their first place tie with the Belles of Campbellsport Sunday when they invaded the northern division of the league to upset the heavy hitting Sheboygan Falls nine, 8-5. In other games the Belles narrowly pulled through to nose out Adell, 7-6, and remain undefeated and Waucoista's 16-year-old pitcher, Sook, pitched a one-hitter as his team downed Random Lake, 4-0. Two weeks ago Marx of Kewaskum hurled a no-hitter against the same Random Lake team.

For the third straight game the heavy slugger of Wayland Tassar was the thorn in the opposing team's side. Tassar connected for 4 hits in 5 times at bat and scored 3 runs. He now has 10 hits in 14 times at bat for a fat batting average of .714 for the season, half of which is even a juicy average. The Falls cleanup batter, Klausner, got 2 singles to top his team.

Marx went the route for the winners and after being greeted with 2 triples in succession in the very first inning he settled down to pitch fairly steady ball. He gave up 8 hits and whiffed 11 Falls batters. Five errors were committed behind him. Kewaskum's scoring was spread out over 5 innings.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Harvey Melios, whom God called home June 16, 1942: Today recalls sad memories of a daughter gone to rest. And those who think of her today are those who loved her best.

She did no one farewell—she said goodbye to none. God saw that she was suffering and the road was hard to climb. So he closed her weary eyes and whispered "Peace be Thine."

Since death, its gloom, its shadows cast Within our home, where all seemed bright. It took from us our shining light. We miss that light and ever will. Her vacant place no one can fill. Oh for the touch of her vanished hand; The sound of her voice that is stilled. Her memory is as dear today As in the hour she slept away. Deeply missed by her surviving family.

Rainbow Nine Tips Waubeka in Battle for League Lead

One big inning, the second, in which all of their 5 runs were scored gave Kewaskum a 5-2 victory over Waubeka here Sunday in the Rainbow loop. The contest was for the league lead between 2 undefeated teams. Waubeka had won 3 straight before Sunday and Kewaskum 2. The win gives the locals the undisputed lead. A nice crowd attended the game.

The contest was a pitchers battle between Glen Backhaus and R. Ruskart. Backhaus allowed 6 hits and struck out 9, while Ruskart gave up only 5 hits and whiffed 7. Backhaus didn't allow a hit until the seventh when he gave up 4. Bilgo of the winners and John Hames of Waubeka each banged out 2 hits.

This Sunday Kewaskum is idle, their game at Barton being pushed back until the end of the season because of the firemen's doings at Barton.

Kathleen Norris Says:

The Old Lady of the Family

Bell Syndicate.—WNU Features.

"There are old ladies who are unmitigated pests, and there are old ladies who are angels, filling in all the gaps in the younger household."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

IF YOU are the old lady of the family, stop now and then and take stock of yourself. Ask yourself what you are doing that annoys the family, or any member of it, and helps make trouble.

The position of an old lady who is dependent upon her family, and living with son or daughter, is an extremely hard one. It is bound to be full of small vexations, humiliations, limitations of which the younger crowd doesn't dream. They try—to a greater or lesser degree, depending upon the type of people they are—to be considerate and generous, but most of the time it just isn't possible; life sweeps on at today's rapid pace, and Mama just has to take it, and make the best of it.

So Mama has real reason to feel aggrieved, and she nurses her troubles and exaggerates them until they break out on the surface. They break out in sharp and bitter little jabs at the younger people, in complaints, in comparisons, in long sighs and periods of depression, and all these lower the home average of content and serenity, and give everyone a chance to mutter impatiently, "Oh, it's just Mama again!"

Now, since George and Marjory, wonderful as they are, are not going to change, and the children can't be expected to grasp the situation at all, it is decidedly up to Mama to be the one to make the concessions. It isn't fair, of course, for Mama once was a strong and loving and protective influence in her children's lives, ready to sacrifice everything she had for their benefit. Once she was mistress of a handsome house than Marjory's is, once she was the one to decide and give orders, and spend money. It isn't easy for her to agree with Marjory's ideas, even when Marjory is her own flesh-and-blood daughter. When Marjory is her daughter-in-law instead, of course, it is ten times harder.

Forget Comparisons, Justice.

But just the same, if Mama wants to win for herself a happy old age, now is the time for her to abandon all thoughts of comparison, all resentful memories of the past, all sense of justice, indeed. Now is the time for her to study every member of the family, and every event of the domestic day, and think how she can make herself more quietly useful, sympathetic, loving. This is a hard ruling, but Marjory will come to it, too, someday, and even baby Marjory, delicious now at three years old, may someday find herself superfluous, dependent and alone in the midst of her own people.

So, Mother, if that is your position, use your imagination and try to see just how the family regards you. Check up on yourself. There are old ladies who are unmitigated pests, and who keep a house shrill with argument and complaint. And there are old ladies who are angels, filling in all the gaps in the younger household; there to mend small garments, to put away laundry items, to answer telephones, to slip into the kitchen and help with dishes after the party, to sit with the babies at night, to supplement the work of the nurse in a crisis, to quietly fill the home atmosphere with service and love.

She breaks out with criticisms . . .

Savant Fears Reversion to Dark Age Culture

Comparing the world today with Europe in the seventh and eighth centuries, when there had been "a period of barbarian aggression not unlike that which we have recently been through," Prof. C. Rufus Morey, cultural attaché for the state department in Rome, warned 100 scholars at the Princeton Graduate college that we are heading for a humanistic depression.

Dr. Morey called upon his audience to keep the light of humanistic

FITTING IN GRACEFULLY

The old lady who must live with her grown children is often in a sad position. She feels useless, in the way, and out of step with the times. If she is unwell, she finds it hard to try to be cheerful, and to do what she can to help with the housework. She thinks she is entitled to support and consideration of her ways because of the long years of care she has given her children.

On the other hand, many old ladies have a fine time. They are wise enough to fit in gracefully, doing all they can to be useful, and making every effort to avoid annoying those around them. These women are welcome helpers with the youngsters, in the kitchen, and sewing room. They accept the fact that times change, and that nothing can be done to alter the personalities of grown sons and daughters—and sons and daughters-in-law.

Miss Norris gives some advice to the old lady who must get along with people much younger. All those annoying little habits like talking too much, recalling the past and sighing, complaining about poverty, interfering with the discipline of the children, should be avoided. In this way, harmony can reign, says Miss Norris.

"If only Mama wouldn't talk all the time," says a letter now on my desk. "She drives us all wild, and yet Dan and I can't shut her up as we would the children. She's so good, and we both do love her, but her voice never stops—she describes everything she is doing whether it's dusting the stair rails or trying for a telephone number."

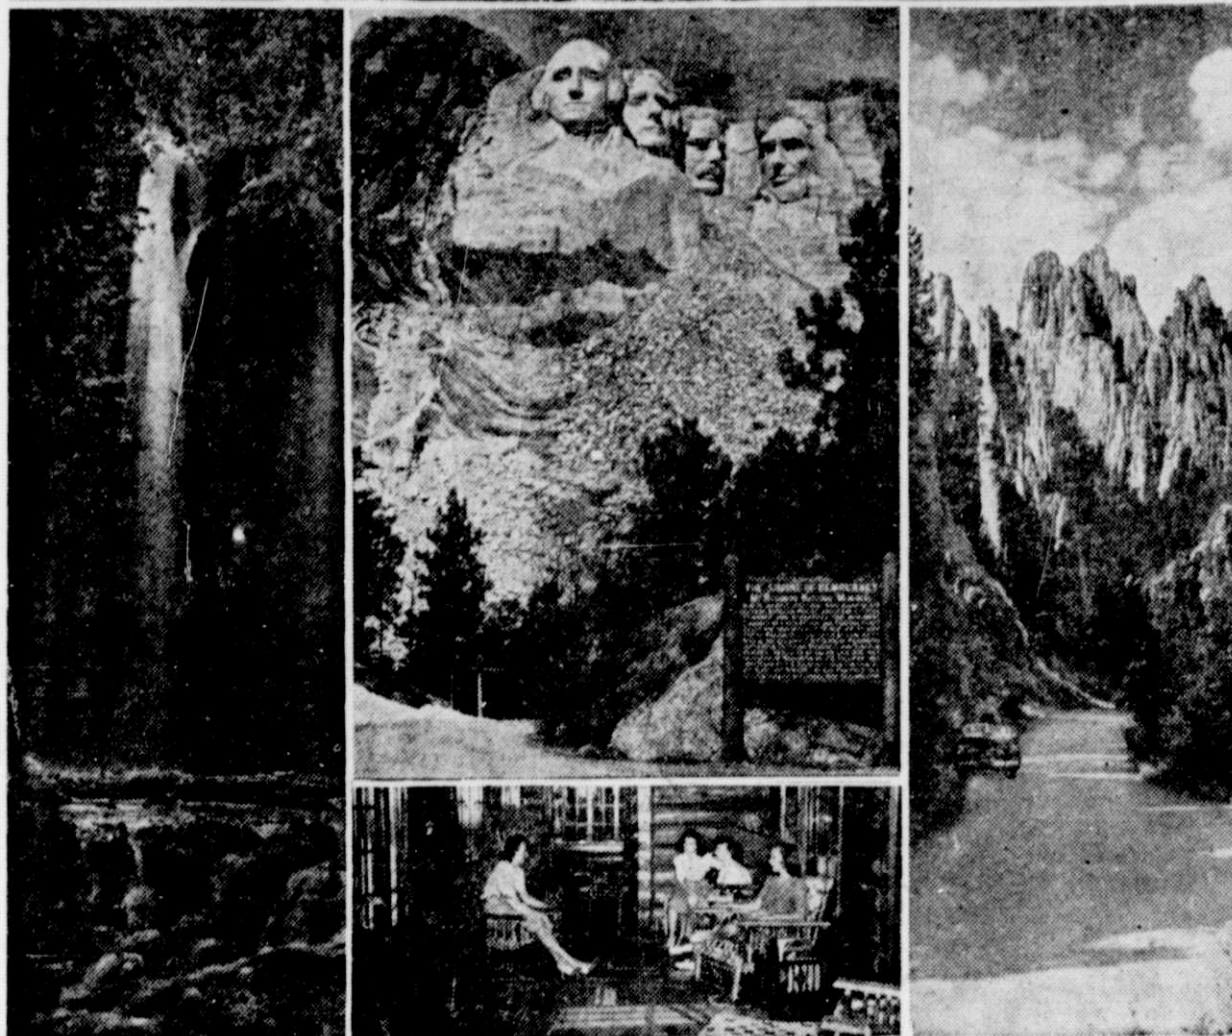

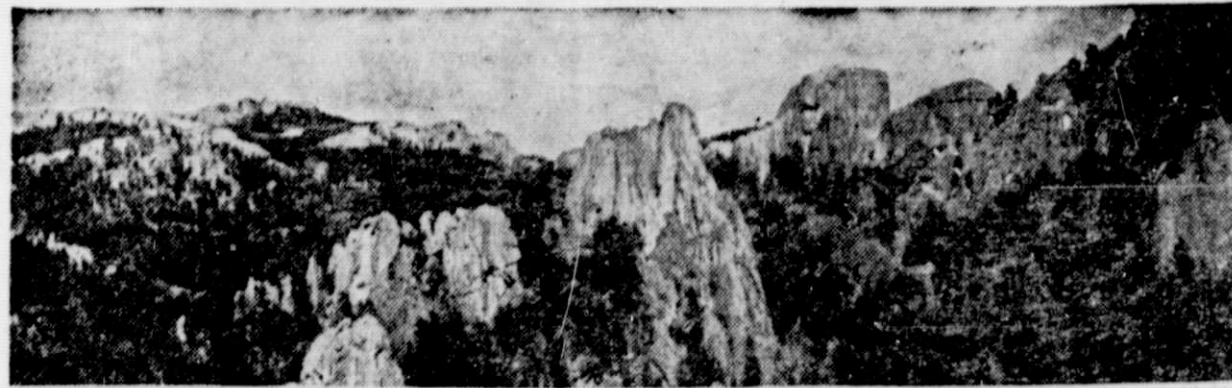

Annoying Traits.

"Mother always elects to take a bath right after dinner, and we have only one bathroom," complains another letter. "My husband's mother differs with him politically," says a third. "Dinner times are simply dreadful when Oliver is tired, and his mother breaks out with criticisms of his favorite candidate or some detail of world affairs." "Mother can't let the children alone," writes a Los Angeles woman. "I don't think my brothers and I were angels, twenty years ago, but to hear mother talk you'd think we were." "Mother fights with Paul every time there is a question of punishing our boy," one woman says, and another reports, "Mother is so sensitive that if my husband mentions anyone over forty in any critical sense, or speaks of finances, or of some older woman who is making a success of anything, there are tears and Mother leaves the table."

Are you doing any of these things, or a thousand others that ruffle the home current? There is no harm, at least, in thinking it over, and perhaps surprising the persons you love most in the world, with a change for the better.

For Graying Hair

Be careful of the dress colors you choose, if your hair is going through the graying stage. What you want to rule out of your wardrobe are browns, tans and yellows. These seem to emphasize the unwanted tinge in hair. By picking powerful opposites in dress colors, you can play down the undesirable tone in your hair. Navy blue and dark-blue greens are usually good. A very dark gray dress color can dominate hair tones with a yellowish cast.

MOUNTAIN PLAYGROUND

Land of Variety, Black Hills Offer Solitude of Old West

WNU Features.

STURGIS, S. D.—For the adventuresome vacation traveller, the mountainous Black Hills of western South Dakota excite fanciful dreams of the frequently-contemplated but seldom-experienced retreat into solitude.

In this pine-covered 100-mile-square area of mountain lakes and streams on the cool, northern routes to the Pacific Northwest, there are endless miles of forest sanctuary, quiet canyon retreats and legions of wildlife in their native habitat.

There are long, sunny days for hiking, horseback riding or casting for the elusive brook, lockleven or rainbow trout. There are cool, mosquito-free evenings for sitting around a campfire or before the fireplace in a secluded cabin.

There are freer roads through the Black Hills and Harney National forests that open new vistas of breath-taking scenery at every turn as the vacationist gets deeper into the mountains, instead of through or around them as is customary on main-traveled thoroughfares.

Wild Life Abounds. Besides the finny inhabitants of the lakes and streams, there are wild deer, elk and antelope and on the broad expanses of rangeland in Wind Cave National park and Custer State park there is the largest free herd of buffalo in America.

There are many luring invitations to interrupt this sequestered type of vacation and the tourist needs an unshakable resolve to shun the innumerable recreational activities planned for his enjoyment if he is to seclude himself from the crowds.

Beginning in early July, there are western rodeos, historic reenactments of the gold rush days of 1876, pari-mutuel horse

Fire Lassie of 64 Climbs High Tower Twice Every Day

SCITUATE, R. I.—Undaunted by her 64 years, Mrs. Walter Ide twice a day climbs the 64-foot tower on Chopmist hill to scan the countryside for the little puffs of smoke from which raging forest fires grow.

In addition to being the oldest fire observer in Rhode Island, Mrs. Ide also has the longest service—17 years—among the state's tower observers.

The daily double climb fails to weary Mrs. Ide. In addition to these observations, she also must test for fire danger with an examination of the station's rain gauge and collect sticks from nearby woods to check on moisture content. Her duties also include recording the wind velocity and the amount of precipitation.

Along with tracking down forest fire danger, Mrs. Ide has brought up five children on her husband's small farm on Chopmist hill.

classes, air fairs, motorcycle races, boat races and real western chuck wagon feeds that attract hundreds of thousands of visitors annually to this mountain playground.

Theatrical productions of the Black Hills playhouse in Custer State park, religious drama of the Passion Play at Spearfish amphitheater and the invigorating eight-day horseback ride from Belle Fourche to Devils Tower all beckon the "recluse" away from his hermitage.

'Shrine of Democracy.' Practically irresistible is the call to look upon the faces of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, carved high in the granite face of Mount Rushmore—to travel over Iron mountain highway with its pigtail bridges and tunnels that make picture frames for the "Shrine of Democracy"—to marvel at the volcanic action that centuries ago thrust up the masses of stone of Cathedral Spires on the famous Needles highway—and to drink in the cool emerald blue of Sylvan lake, rock-bound and enclosed by Ponderosa pine forests.

Another exciting adventure also awaits the tourist in the big Bad Lands, where countless ages of erosion have left exotic formations of multi-colored clay and exposed remnants of marine life that once inhabited the ocean floor.

Real western hospitality prevails in the many resorts, lodges and cottage camps that dot the network of hard-surfaced highways, and there is a strong temptation to relax into this life in indolent ease with its accompanying modern conveniences.

For the family-type extended vacation—peace and quiet for the parents and excitement and thrills for the youngsters—the Black Hills offer a land of infinite variety and recreational advantages.

It's Cold—But Results Are 'Hot'

Look to your drug store, your pet shop, your bank or your motor car dealer, and soon you may find:

Cough syrup in bags instead of bottles.
Puppies or kittens that are free of germs.
Records and documents that are free of dust and deterioration.
Longer lasting automobiles that are cool in summer as well as warm in the winter.

Random, unrelated selections in a forecast of the future? Not at all, say engineers in the refrigeration industry, for all have a single factor in common. In each case, the innovation is the result of a new application of mechanical refrigeration or its companion, mechanically refrigerated air conditioning. Together, they represent typical examples of the industry's expansion in widely varied fields.

While Johns Hopkins scientists are probing new paths of research at 400-odd degrees below zero, refrigeration engineers are delving only in the more temperate zones, warmer than 100-below, for their more practical developments, according to reports to Refrigeration Equipment Manufacturers association.

In the case of the cough syrup, a Chicago research organization found that by freezing an even dose of cough syrup into a pellet form it was easy to package the dose in a cellophane bag. When packaged the dosage returns to liquid—convenient to buyers who prefer syrup to capsule or lozenge.

Germ free pets are a possibility as a result of the project at University of Notre Dame, where Prof. James A. Reyniers is raising germ-free monkeys, guinea pigs, rats, mice, dogs and cats for laboratory use.

The individual who regards "old papers" as dusty and musty and perhaps brittle with age will find different conditions in the modern bank vault. A Chicago bank is air conditioning its vaults as well as its banking rooms and offices. Documents and records will be kept clean, and regulated temperature and humidity will help preserve paper and printing.

Air conditioned automobiles, refrigeration engineers declare, are not too far distant.

It is in the automobile industry, too, that manufacturers are using mechanical refrigerators to test parts at temperatures down to 100 degrees below zero and colder.

Other phases of the transportation industry, including airplanes, railroad rolling stock and ships, are being made safer and longer lasting as a result of cold tests conducted with full-scale models in large refrigerated rooms where the temperature may be lowered to more than 100 degrees below zero.

About Our Presidents

SINCE TYLER'S TIME, six other vice presidents have become President through the death of a President. They are: Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, Coolidge and Truman.

PRESIDENT ANDREW JOHNSON was a tailor, seven years before he learned the alphabet.

MARTIN VAN BUREN was secretary of state under Andrew Jackson before he succeeded him as President.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

In working with plywood it is well to remember that even the very best grades have defects on one side while the other side is nearly perfect.

When ripping snap fasteners from discarded clothing, keep the pairs together by punching a small hole in a card and snapping the fasteners in this.

To clean black or dark blue felt, use a teaspoonful of ammonia mixed with half a cup of cold tea.

Pin hankies on the line along the top of the sheets. They will dry faster, and the extra pins will help keep the sheet from blowing away. This also saves line room for other pieces of clothing.

Cook meat longer at a low, constant temperature if you want to avoid shrinkage. You'll get a golden brown surface on your roasts this way too.

The proper way to use a hammer is to grip the handle close to the end.

Keep tablecloths from wrinkling by folding them once and winding them on a large roll of newspaper.

When sending things to the cleaner, if possible tell him the history of spots on the garments to be cleaned.

It's Sankey (Not Watch) That Ticks

GREENSBORO, N. C.—That ticking you hear around Sankey Flynn isn't his watch—it's Sankey himself.

In the vernal cases of the medical profession, Flynn has one of the world's three known cases of objective tinnitis aurium. More simply, he ticks. You can hear him three feet away.

The noise, his physician explains, comes from the spasmodic contraction of muscles in the roof of the mouth, which constantly snaps his eustachian tubes open and shut.

Flynn, who is 29, isn't bothered by the constant uproar in his head. Until he was 19 years old, he thought everyone else ticked too.

He served 18 months in the army and the medical officers failed to discover the ticking noise at any examination. He didn't tell them about it until he was discharged.

Gas Truck Goes Dry; Driver Hikes for Fuel

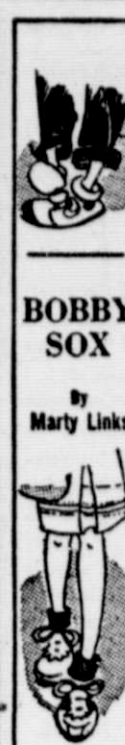

ARKANSAS CITY, KAS.—It just had to happen sometime, Henry Broderson consoles himself. After 24 years of hauling gasoline, he ran out of gasoline while driving a truck loaded with several hundred gallons of it. As the gasoline already was sold, Broderson hopped a ride to a filling station and returned with gas. Then he delivered his load—to the same station.

CROSS TOWN
By Roland Coe

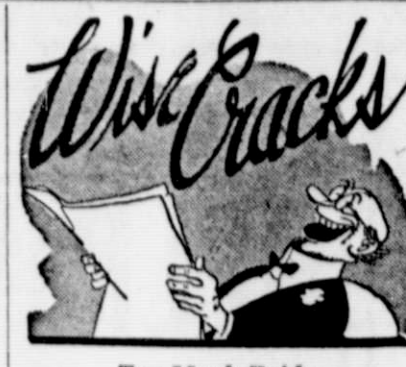

"First time in my life I've ever entertained the feeling of being overdressed!"

BOBBY SOX
By Marty Links

"Are you SURE we can't go to the show without that time?"

Too Much Pride

Two tramps sat with their backs to an old tree. Before them was a rippling stream. The day was grand, but one of them looked down in the mouth.
"You know, Jim," he said, "this business of tramping around ain't what it's cracked up to be. Think it over; nights on park benches or in a cold barn. Traveling on freight trains and always dodging the police. Being knocked from one town to another. Wondering where your next meal will come from. Wandering, unwanted everywhere, sneered at by your fellow men..." His voice trailed off as he sighed.
His companion shifted slightly. "Well," he said, "if that's the way you feel about it, why don't you go and get yourself a job?"
The first sat up with a jerk. "What?" he scowled. "And admit I'm a failure?"

Racking Tie
Knitted ties need a little special attention since they should be rolled instead of "hung" when they are not around the wearer's neck. For ties made of other fabrics, a rack should be used for neat and correct storage.

Buying Ties
Buying ties has its five points. For example, select durable and long wearing fabrics with linings that are of a construction that will resist wrinkles because such ties make for better knots and prolong the actual life of the ties.

Save Cleaning Time
By using both hands as a team in performing many household tasks such as washing woodwork, dusting, setting the table and putting away dishes, homemakers can save much time and energy.

Feed Sack Handicraft
Hairpin lace can be made from thread unraveled from feed sacks and used in the ornamenting of handicraft articles which are made from feed sacks, according to home industries specialists.

Heating Coils
When food is spilled on the heating unit of an electric stove it should be allowed to char and then washed off. Washing the coils may cause a short circuit.

Saving Flower Seeds
If you are saving flower seeds from one season to the next—dry them thoroughly and place in pockets in the attic.

Pennsylvania Eggs
In 1945, Pennsylvania ranked third among the states in the value of egg production. The total value was $84,000,000. Pennsylvania's egg production, according to the 1945 Census of Agriculture, has more than doubled in the last 25 years.

Excess Serving
In many homes, as well as in restaurants, much food is wasted simply because too much is put on the plates. In the home, portions of food can be made the right size for each person, so that none is left to be thrown away.

Hand Lettered
Letters in the first books printed from movable metal types by Johann Gutenberg of Mainz, Germany, in the middle 15th century were modeled after the hand letters of medieval scribes.

Davy Jones
The name of Davy Jones, the sailor's mythical ruler of the sea bottom, is supposed to have come from Dupuy—West Indian for ghost—and Jonah, a name that turns up often in sea legend.

Pressure Saucepans
Pressure saucepans cook foods in a very short time. Vegetables can be cooked in one to five minutes. Meats can be cooked to tenderness in 35 minutes.

Liked Balls
Buffalo Bill thought so highly of the Balls that he once tried to get a colony of Lithuanians to settle on land he owned out west.

EASIER TO STAND

"Stackpole, I hate to encounter a bad loser."
"Yes, Murgatroyd, but I had rather play the worst loser than the best winner, any day."

Neat Trick, Too
Two stews, wandering about the waterfront, stopped at the edge of a pier. The first drunk peered into the water and then turned to his pal.
"Betcha five dollars," he drooled, "that I can shstay under water for 10 minutes."
The second drunk waved a hand. "Thash a silly bet," he said. "If you shstay under water 10 minutes, you'll drown yourself."
The first drunk looked at his pal. "Ah," he hiccupped unhappily, "somebody told you the trick!"

Disappointment
The little girl wanted to see the dog doctor. The family pet had been sick and had to be taken to the vet and she wept because she missed going along.
The next time the dog took sick she coaxed and was permitted to go too. But when she came home from this visit she seemed just a little deflated in spirits and her mother asked her why. "Well," she explained, "that doctor wasn't a dog at all; he was just a man."

The Higher Things
The new maid had a habit of leaving the kitchen radio on from morning to night, so that her mistress was almost driven crazy with the constant blaring of soap operas.
Finally she gave orders that the radio was to be silenced, whereupon the maid gave notice.
"I do not care to work," she said with simple dignity, "in a home where there are no cultural influences."

The Test
She (to husband after employing a gardener)—Why did you want me to hire the short man? The tall man had such a kind face.
Husband—My dear, when you pick a man to work in your garden, judge him by his overalls. If they're patched on his knees, you want him; if they're patched on the seat, you don't.

EASY TO CATCH
A man in the insane asylum sat fishing over a flower bed. A visitor approached, and wishing to be affable, asked, "How many have you caught?"
"You're the ninth," was the reply.

Still Two to Feed
"At last, my angel," said the happy man, after he had settled with the minister, "we are really and truly one."
"Theoretically, yes," rejoined the modern bride; "but from a practical standpoint it will be advisable to order dinner for two."

Where It Belongs
The tramp had just finished his repast and the lady of the house remarked: "Just as a suggestion, there's a woodpile in back."
"You don't say," said the tramp. "What a splendid place for it!"

Logical Conclusion
Lawyer—Now, tell the court how you came to take the car.
Defendant—Well, the car was standing in front of the cemetery, so naturally I thought the owner was dead.

Controls Necessary in Food Crisis

Export-Import Regulations Vital for Curing World Ills

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WNU Service, 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

ly was he back from the Golden Gate when he was ordered to Potsdam. He already has become our "flyingest" chief executive. The Mexican trip was scarcely over when he was called to the wearying vigil at his mother's bedside.

There are two important facts: 1. Two years have passed since the end of the war and the world food situation is no better. 2. Although congress (the people) has been willing to vote huge funds for relief, it appears unwilling to continue certain controls on business.

Humanity Is at the Crossroads

Two reports in the news recently caused some interesting comments in Washington on the international situation.

Charles Reese, extension apiarist of University of Ohio, recently reported that because of the late season and resultant scarcity of pollen on which bees feed, many of the drones (who do not work and are preserved for social purposes only) have been pushed out of the hives by the workers.

"The housing shortage today is worse than a year ago," he said, "and it will continue to grow progressively worse for some time."

APPALLING WASTE

Mounting Fire Loss Predicted

CHICAGO.—With fire losses continuing to mount, damage may exceed the billion dollar mark by 1950. Frank A. Christensen, president of National Board of Fire Underwriters, warns in urging support of the federal action program to save life and resources which was the result of President Truman's conference on fire prevention.

It is impossible to estimate the "destruction" in terms of what has happened to social and political values.

As to point two, that becomes a concrete issue which ought to be in debate before these lines are printed; namely, the question of extending certain wartime controls over exports and imports.

Fortunately there are also a lot of "selfish-interest" reasons for controlling some exports. It's this way: The man who extracts oil from soy beans, although he is quite willing to have his oil exported, probably can sell it here anyway.

But when it comes to imports, it's a different story. Take fertilizer. Britain and the United States, straining to increase production, now are using twice as much fertilizer as in prewar years.

HOUSING: Unfounded Hope

Popular belief that any substantial reductions in the cost of new housing will occur in the near future is not founded on realities.

"The housing shortage today is worse than a year ago," he said, "and it will continue to grow progressively worse for some time."

NEWS REVIEW

Farm Budget Cuts Hit; Train Fares Increased

FARM FUROR: Stormy Weather

Possibly the most violent storm of the year, according to the economic and political barometer, is the one which was raised when the house appropriations committee recommended a 32 per cent cut in department of agriculture funds for the coming year.

Anderson

Slashing more than 383 million dollars from the amount asked by President Truman, the committee opened the floodgates for a deluge of protests from Clinton Anderson, secretary of agriculture, and Democratic congressmen, who claimed they would fight the action right up to next year's elections, if necessary.

TRAVEL PAY: Train Fares Up

To offset increased operating costs, Interstate Commerce commission authorized an approximate 10 per cent increase in basic passenger fares for 60 railroads operating east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers.

The change will boost one-way passenger rates from 2.2 to 2.5 cents a mile in coaches and from 3.3 to 3.5 cents a mile in sleeping and parlor cars.

IT'S WONDERFUL: Long Time Peace

Announcing the immediate abolition of capital punishment in Russia, Soviet authorities explained the move on the grounds that it was made possible by Russia's growing strength, the people's patriotism and the certainty of peace "for a long time."

Said the Moscow radio: "The international situation during the time after Germany's capitulation and Japan's capitulation shows that the cause of peace can be considered secure for a long time in spite of attempts by aggressive elements to provoke war."

Meanwhile, Herbert Hoover looked on the other side of the mask to charge Russia with attempting to bring the United States through relief channels and blaming her for the economic paralysis of Japan and Germany.

He declared that further relief would remain necessary as long as the Soviets continue their obstructionist tactics and demands for reparations, thus blocking peace treaties with the two countries and keeping their economies paralyzed.

Vincent Auriol, president of France, decorates opera singer Lily Pons with the rosette of the Legion of Honor.

According to the poll in the June Woman's Home Companion, it's women of 36 and under who are largely responsible for the rise in movie popularity of psychological dramas.

JOHN PAYNE, Maureen O'Hara and the rest of the cast and crew of "Miracle on 34th Street" had several unscheduled incidents to cope with while working in New York.

tract, and a bit in the Clark Gable "Adventure," in which she just acted. Now, in "Honeymoon," she's promoted to playing a Mexican aristocrat who's jealous of Shirley Temple.

Producer Sam Bischoff (now busy with the George Raft starrer "Intigruie") has concluded a deal with the Societe Nouvelle Pathe Cinema of Paris to join with them in filming "Adventure in Morocco," a story of the French Foreign Legion, on location in French Morocco.

It's Meredith Willson who steps into the coveted, Ford-sponsored spot left vacant by Dinah Shore, on June 18th, with a show that basically will follow his "Sparkle Time," including his "Discovery of the Week," "Talking People," etc. Paulina Carter will be featured at the piano, Ben Gage will double as announcer and vocalist.

So far, more than 40,000 persons have applied to play the title role in "The Life of Rudolph Valentino," 150 screen tests of candidates have been made, and only one possibility discovered.

Jean Heather and Carol Thurston, who both gave up promising careers for marriage two years ago, return to the screen in Gene Autrey's first film for Columbia, "The Last Round-Up." Carol was "Three Martini" in "The Story of Dr. Wassell."

Paula Truman, currently starring with Billie Burke at a Los Angeles theater in the play, "Accidentally Yours," was signed recently by William Cagney to appear with brother James and a star-studded cast in "The Time of Your Life."

According to the poll in the June Woman's Home Companion, it's women of 36 and under who are largely responsible for the rise in movie popularity of psychological dramas.

ODDS AND ENDS—"War Party" is the title of Argosy Productions' forthcoming picture; Argosy is headed by John Ford and Merian C. Cooper. Henry Fonda will have one of the leading roles...

Isabell Jewell, after devoting herself exclusively to stellar roles on the radio for the last two years, is returning to the screen in a featured role in Samuel Goldwyn's "The Bishop's Wife," which co-stars Cary Grant, Loretta Young and David Niven.

Cary Grant and Myrna Loy will probably be co-starring in the RKO "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House," based on the book about a man who didn't know enough to have his land title insured.

THE FICTION CORNER

THE HURRICANE CANDLE

By EDWIN RUTT

THE landlord was very old. He moved with slow, tentative steps as if afraid that his legs might buckle and collapse under the weight of his great, shrunken body.

ten, twenty—Tom's thirty-five now if he's a day. He ain't been home for seven years. Something like a sigh sounded. "But he'll come. The Hendrickses always come back. He'll take the inn here when I'm gone. He'll marry and have sons. And like as not he'll burn the candle for 'em when they grow up and go away to sea."

"It's a nice custom," I said inadequately. "Custom?" said the old man. "Yes, that's what it is. A custom. Always done it. And I expect we'll go on doing it. Until we don't own this old inn any more or, maybe, until all the Hendrickses are gone. I don't know." His voice trailed. "I don't know."

"What's that?" he asked. You had to raise your voice when you spoke to Mr. Hendrickson.

"That's a hurricane candle," he explained. "They use 'em in the tropics. My grandfather brought this one from the West Indies. That was a long time ago now."

"But why put it in the window?" Hurlow pursued.

"For a moment the old man looked at him blankly.

"Why?" he said at last. "Um. I don't know as I rightly know why. Because it always has stood in that window at night, I expect. For four generations. As long as we've owned this inn. As long as there's been Hendrickses at sea."

"And are there Hendrickses at sea now?" I ventured.

"There's one. My son, Tom. Been on boats since he was eighteen. Same as me. Same as my father and grandfather before me."

"I don't like to pry into his business. But I was curious about this queer custom of burning the candle. "How old would your son be now, Mr. Hendrickson?" I asked.

room. The old man never stirred. The candle flame wavered again. "Let's take that candle away from the window," I said. "The wind must be getting at it through the chinks."

"How can it with that glass dingus?" said Hurlow. "Ah ha, here's a news commentator."

The news commentator came on crisply. A strike in Minneapolis. I listened without much interest. Suddenly, unexpectedly, the news commentator's voice rose higher.

"Port of Spain, Trinidad. A violent hurricane struck Trinidad this afternoon, destroying property valued at half a million dollars. But so far as can be learned only one life was lost and the man, unfortunately, was an American. Able Bodied Seaman Thomas Hendrickson was swept by his death from the tanker Pocohontas when the gale struck Port of Spain harbor. . . ."

THE words seemed to crash like a stray lightning bolt into the room. For a second we stared at one another in stunned silence. Then Hurlow gasped, "Hendrickson" and snapped off the radio.

"The remains will be transported on reconverted liberty ships either to New York or San Francisco and then will be sent on reconverted hospital cars to a distribution center nearest the point to which next of kin has requested remains to be sent. From the distribution centers remains will be transported with military escort either by rail, motor or water transportation to point designated. The government will provide a flag to be used for proper draping of the casket. The flag will be presented to next of kin if present at time of final interment. Those who have questions concerning the programs should write to Memorial Division, Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington 25, D. C."

I wheeled around then. The old man was still in his chair. But his head seemed to have dropped further on one side.

"Have you any other sons?" inquired Hurlow.

"No. No more sons and no daughters at all. Just the one, Just Tom."

"Outside the sea was banging the cliff with more force. Ponderous, smacking blows. There was a whine in the wind.

"It's getting rough out there," Hurlow said.

I looked at the old man. He had fallen asleep in his chair.

"He's pretty ancient," I said. Hurlow was walking around.

"This is an eerie place," he said. All at once the candle flickered. "That candle's getting low," I remarked. "Think we ought to wake him?"

"Why?" "I don't know. But he mightn't want it to go out."

Hurlow began exploring in a corner.

"Hello," he said presently. "A radio."

"Turn it on and you will wake him," I said. "I doubt it." Hurlow spun the dials. Low silky music stole into the

Veterans SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be given by mail, but they will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Return of War Dead

Cost of returning America's war dead to this country upon requests of next of kin will be approximately $20 million dollars, according to estimates of the office of the quartermaster general. First return of the remains of these soldiers is expected late in the fall of 1947.

There will be no priorities and remains will be returned when request is received, without regard to rank, race, creed or color. Exhumation will be conducted according to a well-planned schedule and the bodies will be placed in seamless steel caskets, hermetically sealed, of lacquered bronze, seal brown color with interior upholstery. Cases are to be of plywood, earth brown, lined with zinc-coated steel and with metal handles. Cost of returning each body to the United States will be about $600.

The quartermaster general says that after requests have been received, the next of kin will not be notified regarding disposition of remains until they have been positively identified. From time of exhumation until reception by next of kin or final burial, the bodies will be under constant military escort.

The remains will be transported on reconverted liberty ships either to New York or San Francisco and then will be sent on reconverted hospital cars to a distribution center nearest the point to which next of kin has requested remains to be sent. From the distribution centers remains will be transported with military escort either by rail, motor or water transportation to point designated. The government will provide a flag to be used for proper draping of the casket. The flag will be presented to next of kin if present at time of final interment. Those who have questions concerning the programs should write to Memorial Division, Office of the Quartermaster General, Washington 25, D. C.

Questions and Answers

Q. My brother was in the army about seven months and overseas about one month. When he left in January, 1945, I received a couple of letters from him and he was somewhere in Belgium. On March 3 we received a telegram saying he was missing in action and three days later they stated he was killed in action on the same day he was reported missing. That was March 3, 1945, and now it is April, 1947, and I never have heard anything more about him. I would like to know if you will help me find out something more about him. I have never been able to find anyone who was with him overseas and I would like to have some home addresses of men who were in his company and his division. Can you help me find some of them? His name was Pvt. James E. Burden, SS15742, Company A, 310th Infantry, APO 78, New York. He was with General Patton's Third Army with the 78th Infantry Division.—E. M. E., Equality, N. Y.

A. To any men of the Company A, 78th division, who knew James E. Burden, write to his sister, Emma Mae Evans, Equality, N. Y. To E. M. E., suggest that you write Memorial Division, Office of the Adjutant General, giving your brother's full name, serial number and all you know about him and ask them for further details. If they have information they will send it to you.

Q. Can you tell me whether or not this congress is going to pass a bonus bill for World War II veterans—A. L. S., Charlottesville, Va.

A. There is no way of knowing what congress is likely to do. There has been no bonus bill passed as of this date. However, a good guess would be that there will be a bonus bill passed at this session.

Q. Please tell me whether a veteran of World War II can draw any more disability money after he is married.—R. J., Blount Springs, Ala.

A. Whether or not a veteran is married has nothing to do with his disability compensation, which is based on his rate of disability and not on whether he is married or single.

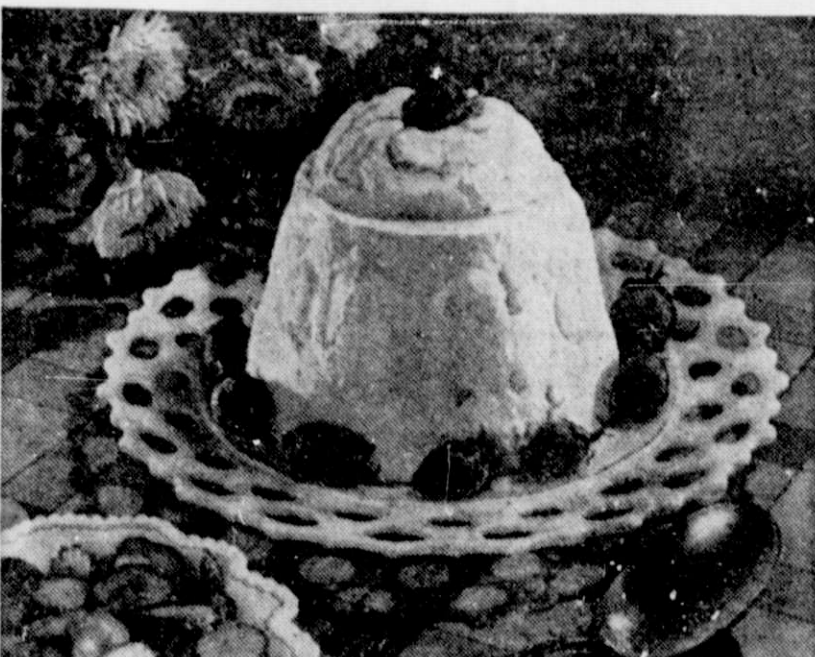

Q. Our son served for three years in the Pacific area, was wounded twice and was ill with fever for some months. Since his return home he apparently has been well enough and entered school under the G. I. bill. He has, however, become so nervous that he cannot study and we fear he is suffering from a nervous disorder of some kind. What can we do?—Mrs. J. A. L., Bloomington, Ind.

A. Would suggest that you contact the Veterans' administration office. Likely your nearest office is in Indianapolis.

Q. Would my 18-year-old son get an allotment for me and his eight brothers and sisters, all under 18 years old, if he went into the army? He is my sole support for the family.—Mrs. A. E., Saucier, Miss.

A. If you and the eight brothers and sisters are dependent upon your son for your chief support you would be classified as B-1 dependents. If the son can prove that you are dependents, you would be entitled to $68 for yourself and one child and $111 for each additional brother and sister each month, possibly a total of $145 per month.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Grapefruit Sponge—a Refreshing Dessert (See recipe below.)

Fruit Magic

When lazy warm weather comes upon us and foods don't tempt the appetite, Mrs. Homemaker is hard pressed to provide her family with enough nourishing food to sustain them. Families seem to prefer the lightest of food, and it sometimes is hard to build up the calorie count on salads and cold meats.

But fruit and rich milk or cream can come easily to the rescue when other means fail.

There are so many delectable refrigerator desserts made of fruit and berries and cream that it will take more than a season to try them all.

First of all there's the shortcake variety. Bake your biscuits golden brown, split and butter them and then drizzle luscious crushed and sweetened fruit or berries between the biscuits. Drizzle them in cream, either plain or whipped, and watch them disappear.

Then, too, there's an amazing variety of frozen desserts which take their share of fruit and cream. These take but a few minutes to make and keep well for several days in the refrigerator.

If you're shy on sugar use preserves or fruit sauce and you won't have to dip into the sugar bowl at all.

TRY SOME of these recipes and your warm weather problem will be solved:

- Apricot Sherbet. (Makes 1 quart) 1 cup evaporated milk thoroughly chilled 3 tablespoons lemon juice 1 cup apricot preserves Whip chilled milk very stiff. Beat in lemon juice. Then fold in preserves. Pour at once into cold freezing tray and chill for several hours.

- Apple Sherbet. (Makes 1 quart) 1 cup evaporated milk thoroughly chilled 2 tablespoons lemon juice 2 cups sweetened applesauce, chilled Dash of nutmeg Whip chilled milk very stiff. Beat in lemon juice. Fold in applesauce and nutmeg. Pour at once into cold freezing tray and chill well.

- Orange Ice Cream. (Serves 8) 20 marshmallows 1 cup orange juice Grated rind of 2 oranges Juice of 1 lemon 1/2 pint whipping cream Add 2 tablespoons of water to the marshmallows and place them in the top part of a double boiler. Stir constantly until the marshmallows are half dissolved. Remove from heat and stir until creamy. Cool, add orange juice, rind and lemon juice. Whip cream until thick and add to the mixture. Place in tray and freeze, stirring often, until firm.

- Fresh Peach Cream. (Serves 8 to 10) 2 cups fresh peach pulp 1 cup granulated sugar 1/4 teaspoon almond extract 1 tablespoon lemon juice 3 tablespoons cold water 1/2 cups coffee cream Combine peach pulp, sugar, extract and lemon juice. Add coffee cream. Pour into tray and freeze. Remove tray and stir once during freezing process. The stirring may be done in the tray.

- Pewter cleans best when rubbed with a paste made of whitening and lemon oil. Wash in hot water, rinse in hot water and then polish for lustre.

- Summer curtains keep cleaner if the screens on the windows are cleaned of cobwebs and dusted with a clean dry cloth. Waxed artificial flowers are cleaned easily by dipping in cleaning fluid several times, then allowing to dry.

- To remove white spots from a shellacked surface, wipe with alcohol. If you have a small sponge mat on which to rest your feet while you iron, the feet will not get tired so easily.

KEEP A GOAL IN SIGHT

In one of the largest cities in the United States there is a doctor who has had considerable success in putting distraught and unhappy people back on the right track to happiness and success. His method is beautifully simple.

Whenever a person, feeling he needs a doctor's advice, comes to this doctor, the doctor puts pieces of plain white paper and a sharpened pencil in front of the patient.

"Before we start with your case," he suggests, "I want you to write down on that paper your goal in life. When we get it down in black and white I believe we can really go somewhere."

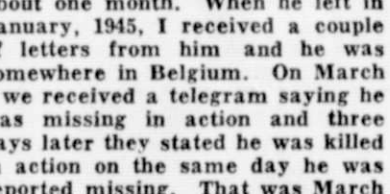

Nine persons out of ten cannot define their goal at all, much less write it. In other words, nine out of ten men and women lead purposeless, goalless lives. The doctor believes they can find happiness until their goal is clear and in full view.

"If your goal in life is clear, you will adjust yourself to the goal, but if your goal isn't clear or if it's an unworthy goal, how can you expect to be very effective or attractive to others?" he asks.

I realize that what I have said here might sound a little bit theoretical and academic to you. I assure you, however, that it is neither. Setting the goal and keeping it in sight is one of the big secrets of attaining the kind of personality and winning the kind of success and happiness that you most want.

Suppose your goal is the general goal of a business and social success. That's a very common goal. All right. It's worthy. Write down exactly what you want to get out of life—write down your goal boldly.

To attain that goal you've just written down, you know that you have to make yourself acceptable to certain persons—perhaps to customers in your business or to the kind of men and women you want to associate with in society.

IT'S YOUR TURN TO TAKE A GOAL IN SIGHT

Write down your goal in life. When we get it down in black and white I believe we can really go somewhere.

Nine persons out of ten cannot define their goal at all, much less write it. In other words, nine out of ten men and women lead purposeless, goalless lives.

"If your goal in life is clear, you will adjust yourself to the goal, but if your goal isn't clear or if it's an unworthy goal, how can you expect to be very effective or attractive to others?" he asks.

To attain that goal you've just written down, you know that you have to make yourself acceptable to certain persons—perhaps to customers in your business or to the kind of men and women you want to associate with in society.

To be acceptable to them your personality must be the kind which they will approve. It must include certain traits—generosity, charm, graciousness, magnetism, other positive qualities.

The next thing you have to do is spend an honest half hour in self-inventory, trying to decide what, in the final analysis, you have to do to attain the goal which you set for yourself.

Drive Launched to Foster Vacations Throughout Year

Removal of the seasonal shackles from the vacation habits of more than 34 million U. S. workers who now receive vacations with pay is the major objective of the committee on year around vacations of the National Association of Travel Officials.

Launching a national campaign to obtain more widespread enjoyment of the spring, fall and winter seasons, as well as summer, the committee pointed out that its program is designed to benefit vacationists, business and industry.

gone tremendous changes during the war. Even before the war, they say, certain trends were developing to permit employees to select their annual vacation periods ranging throughout the entire year.

First step in the year around vacation program will be a survey of current business practices in the granting of vacation time and the collection of data on the effects of granting early and late vacations and winter vacations.

Members of the committee point out that vacation habits of individuals and the vacation practices of business and industry have under-

Wisconsin Dairy Farmers

Take Action in JUNE!

Wisconsin dairy farmers are determined not to run the risk of price-wrecking surplus. United in their own American Dairy Association, they're out to expand markets and build sales for cheese, butter, milk, ice cream, evaporated and powdered milk with:

- NATION-WIDE ADVERTISING... tempting the millions to buy more dairy foods!
- Advertising in magazines, newspapers, on the radio and billboard!
- MERCHANDISING... working with retailers to sell more dairy foods!
- RESEARCH... finding new ways to sell more dairy foods!

Dairy farmers get all this in their sales-making ADA program—supported by payments of one cent per pound of butterfat, or its equivalent, in June. Collections are made at dairy plants. All dairy farmers have a part in ADA. All benefit. Do your part! Pay once a year, get action all year.

Your dairy plant will make the ADA deduction in June!
