With 'Mix' Marx pitching 3-hit ball, the Kewaskum Utensils shut out the last place Campbellsport Athletics here Sunday, 6-0, for the fourth win in a row without a loss. With the victory Kewaskum took over undisputed possession of first place as the Campbellsport Belles, which had been tied for the lead with the Utensils, were handed a 5-0 shutout by Plymouth, leaders in the northern division.

The game was an airtight pitchers duel until the 7th inning. Kewaskum led, 1-0, until the 7th when they pushed over 5 runs. The lowly Athletics played surprisingly good ball the first 4 innings and their young pitcher, Seidemer, held the Utensils to 5 hits and a lone run until that frame. The local nine scored its first run in the opening inning and was held scoreless after that until they exploded in the big 7th, when a triple, double, 2 singles, a walk and an error gave them 5 runs.

At no time except in the eighth inning did the Athletics threaten to score. Marx retired the side in order in every inning but the second and eighth. His teammates played flawless ball behind him. Leading Kewaskum in the hitting department were Kral and Clayton Stautz, each getting 2 bingles.

NEWS REVIEW

Shipping Crisis Impends; Predict High Feed Prices

Fears of a minor crisis in railway shipping in mid-July have been expressed by federal transportation experts in view of an apparent slowdown in freight car construction.

Contributing factors are mounting industrial production coupled with increasingly heavy wheat export movements, and officials predict that the "minor crisis" could swiftly develop into a major transportation block unless steps are taken to ease the traffic slowdown or prevent it from occurring.

With fate of the now financially embarrassed Office of Defense Transportation still undecided, the Interstate Commerce Commission has been requested to assume full responsibility for continuing orders requiring full loading of boxcars in the event that congress does not extend the life of ODT beyond its June 30 expiration date.

Meanwhile, ODT has sent investigators to freight car building companies to probe reports that allocated steel tonnages have not gone entirely into the 10,000-a-month car construction program.

Reports for the first half of May indicated that only 1,751 freight cars were built, 81 short of the number constructed during the corresponding period in April.

Explanation offered by the car builders is that inadequate steel supplies and strikes within the industry have been responsible for the grave decline in freight car construction. That view, however, is discounted by federal officials who point out that the government forced the steel industry to provide the necessary 200,000 tons of steel for the 10,000-a-month goal.

FEED PRICES: To Stay Up

Prospects for the 1947 feed crops will be an important influence on feed prices, according to a department of agriculture report.

The very strong foreign demand for grain is expected to continue to support prices through 1947 and into 1948; although if production of feed is as large as in recent years, feed prices probably will decline, at least seasonally, in the last half of 1947.

Corn prices this summer, the report predicted, will average higher than the June, 1946, ceilings, but lower than in the summer of 1946 after price controls lapsed.

The department's survey went on to reveal that reports in early May agreement that prices of most types of goods will fall and wage rates will rise between now and January 1, the report pointed out.

Businessmen are unduly pessimistic about other people's trade prospects while encouraged about their own, it added.

Hearings on the nation's economic future will be commenced next week by the committee, which is headed by Sen. Robert A. Taft (Rep., Ohio). Taft said the committee wants to examine businessmen, economists, labor leaders, farm leaders, industrialists and contractors.

The Milwaukee road news bureau respectfully announces that so far this spring it has received no report of robins or other birds nesting in the roof, sides or running gear of any of the cars along its system.

Consequently, the president, general manager, superintendent or other humane official has not issued an order to the effect that a car must not be moved until the eggs are hatched.

It was as if every word he spoke was scraped from the walls of his stomach, left some mark.

THE first thing Celia Brandon noticed about him was the way he sat. As if, she thought, studying the man at the corner table across the top of her menu, he had been propped up in his chair and was likely, at any minute, to go sliding off on the floor.

"How about a coke?" she said. "A pepper-upper, as they say." He turned to the waiter, chuckling miraculously.

"Forget it," Celia said, trying her utmost to spare him. "I don't know about you, but I'm hungry. Let's concentrate on dinner."

word for at least two more years. In the meantime, American farmers are overworking the soil, depleting fertility with bumper crops in the face of a fertilizer shortage and praying for another good year of growing weather.

While some of the 375 million dollar slash in agricultural department funds made by the house committee likely will be restored by the senate, it is somewhat ironical that on the same day the house voted through the 350 million dollar relief bill for needy foreign nations.

There is some agitation in Washington to make terms of congressional reorganization. The theory is that the freshman congressman spends six months of his first year getting acquainted with red tape and then it's time to start electioneering for his next term.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

STASSEN'S EXPORT SCHEME CALLED UNREALISTIC WASHINGTON—Candidate Harold Stassen said all the right-sounding words in his Iowa campaign speech advocating loan of 10 per cent of our national production for 10 years to the world.

Well, our gross national product for 1947 is estimated by the commerce department at 208 billion dollars, based on first quarter earnings. But this includes goods and services which cannot be exported, such things as barbershops and bell-hops.

A $100 BILLION PLAN If Stassen wants to export 10 per cent of this, he has a 10 billion dollar annual program, which singularly enough, is just exactly the same size as Wallace's.

Without mentioning the amount, Stassen wants to lend it sensibly to foreign nations for purchase of our goods, which incidentally are so scarce they have run prices up skyhigh.

Until we get competition in goods, prices will not come down, the senate survey says. But we today are exporting to the world at the same rate Stassen proposes.

Stassen says we should not be expected to be paid in dollars or manufactured goods, because the nations have neither. He says we should be paid in raw materials.

LET'S TALK ABOUT YOU

What to Do With An Inferior Complex You may think that you alone are in possession of an inferiority complex, but nine out of ten persons also have one. Probably most inferiority complexes start in babyhood. There you were, small and weak and helpless and inarticulate, and you looked up. Above you, you saw a creature towering, your mother or father, strong, self-reliant, able, while you were so weak and dependent. Right then and there you acquired the beginning of an inferiority complex, and as you grew older, your complex became stronger.

Medicine Cabinet Intended As Safeguard, Not Menace Although contents of the family medicine cabinet are intended to safeguard the health of the family, frequently the medicine cabinet door opens to a confused and dangerous mixture of old prescriptions, antiseptics and aspirin bottles.

- (1) Keep all medicines properly labeled and in their original bottles. Never mix them. (2) Keep all medicines out of the reach of children. (3) Keep medicine bottles tightly capped. (4) Throw away all medicines as soon as they are no longer needed. Powders and liquids should be flushed down the drain; their bottles should be rinsed out and destroyed. (5) Keep all compounds containing poisons prominently labeled and separate from other medicines.

Equally important are the following rules for taking medicines: (1) Read all labels three times, twice before and once after taking. Don't trust memory. (2) Follow directions on the bottle carefully. (3) Never take or give medicines in the dark. Turn on the light and see what you are doing. (4) Don't give medicines prescribed for one person to another without consulting your physician.

OLIVER PETERMANN HERO IN RUNAWAY TRUCK CRASH

Oliver Petermann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Art. Petermann of the town of Auburn, who is employed as a tractor-trailer driver by the Home Drive-A-Way Co. of South Bend, Ind., heading new automobiles from South Bend to various surrounding states, was acclaimed as "worthy of a medal" by eye-witnesses to a sensational crash in Athens, Ohio, recently.

Running without brakes or power in a wild race, a tractor-trailer carrying four new cars from South Bend into West Virginia, ended up against an Athens building after Petermann had steered it safely over a half-mile down-grade past three busy intersections. Petermann, who was home to visit his folks last week end, sustained only a cut leg in the crash.

The Athens daily paper carried a large page one picture of the accident similar to the one above, which was sent to the Statesman by Petermann, and also printed the following story on the crash:

Twenty-five-year-old Oliver Petermann was afraid Saturday he would lose his job in South Bend, Ind.

But local eye-witnesses to the sensational crash over which the Indianan feared he would "get the axe" were more in favor of bestowing a medal on him.

For Petermann piloted a runaway tractor-trailer on a half-mile down-grade dash Friday that left through three busy intersections, a grocery parking lot and farm equipment display—without injury to himself or scores of bystanders.

The driver's concern over the estimated $6,000 to $7,000 damages resulting from the crash were his main worry, according to Police Chief J. B. Grogan, although he said "I'm sure glad no one was hurt."

"That 'no one was hurt,' Grogan and eye-witnesses said, was due entirely to the skill and courage with which Petermann maneuvered the tons of potential rolling death through the traffic hazards—staying at the wheel to the very last minute.

It all started as the man, carrying four new automobiles from South Bend into West Virginia, reached the crest of the Lancaster St. hill and began to drop down into Athens.

Just over the hill the vehicle's transmission line "went out," according to repairmen, and with it he lost all control, including the vital air brakes.

Petermann was working frantically to "get something going" as he rounded Lancaster onto Carpenter and steamed through the traffic light at Congress.

"I don't remember whether it was red or green, but I do remember getting a green light at the next corner (Court St.)," he related.

As he roared past the last corner, observers said, Petermann's cargo really began to roll. "I could see the terrified expressions on people's faces," the driver recalled.

An Albany driver was waiting on E. State St. but, as the two-way light changed, wisely withheld action as he glimpsed the wide-eyed Petermann and his wild equipment bearing down on him.

"He must have been doing 50 or 60 miles an hour as he crossed E. State," the waiting driver and other bystand-

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Charles Trapp, who passed away two years ago, June 18, 1945:
You left this world of sorrow,
And are free from pain and harm,
And now rest in peace and comfort,
In the blessed Savior's arm.

Some day we will see you mother
Then we will tell you of our grief,
How we missed you since you left us,
When we meet to part no more.

You are gone but not forgotten,
Never will your memory fade,
Loving thoughts will always linger,
Around the grave where you are laid.

No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain,
We have suffered since we lost you,
Life has never been the same.

In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you.

Sadly missed by her sons and daughters,
daughters-in-law, sons-in-law and grandchildren.

MISSISSIPPI

The Magnolia State

(Editor's Note: This is another in the Story of the States series.)

By EDWARD EMERINE

WNU Features

Way down south in the land of cotton, all men have faith in the deep, rich alluvial soil. Like plants and trees, their roots grow deep and they draw their life, from the black earth, the natural means for restoring fallen fortunes and mending the scars of war. Since men first saw Mississippi its soil and climate have inspired them to conquer the wilderness, to defend their heritage with word and sword, and to renew their faith in themselves and their opportunities.

Europeans explored the Mississippi territory for 50 years before Hernando De Soto established a site in the northeastern part, and in May, 1541, discovered the Mississippi river. A century later the French traders and explorers came—Marquette, Joliet and Sieur de la Salle. Through La Salle's efforts, Louis XIV provided ships to move colonists to a proposed site at the mouth of the river in 1684, and an expedition under Sieur d'Iberville established a post at Fort Maurepas, near modern Biloxi, in 1699.

Under many flags, After the Seven Years' war, the French divided their North American possessions between England and Spain in 1763, and Mississippi became a British province. During the 16 years under British rule the territory developed agriculturally, and in 1779 Spain took it over and extended the property already founded. In 1798, Mississippi came under United States control.

The years that followed were eventful—Indian wars, admission as a state on March 27, 1814, the writing of the first constitution by George Poindexter and a population increase of 170 per cent!

In those ante-bellum days, Natchez, high on the bluffs overlooking the river, was the wealthiest town in the South and in the nation. Of the 75 millionaires in the United States, 11 of them lived in Natchez. All of Mississippi had magnificent homes, material riches, able statesmen. Such was the harvest from a bountiful land.

Then dark days came. In 1861 war between the states became an actuality. Jefferson Davis, a son of Mississippi, became president of the Confederate States. In four years of bloody war, Mississippi saw the siege of Vicksburg and the fall of that stronghold on July 4, 1863—the blow that sealed the fate of the Confederacy but ended major fighting in the state. And at the close of the war Mississippi was bankrupt.

Years of struggle. Bitter, disheartening years followed, with confusion in govern-

VETERAN OFFICIAL . . . Thomas Lowry Bailey, who was elected governor of Mississippi in 1944, began his long service in the state's official family in 1915, when he was elected a state representative. He served in the legislature for 24 years, with half of that period as speaker. A native of Mississippi, he is a lawyer by profession.

ment, economic tragedies, depressing political experimentation and a hard struggle for a bare living. Slavery was abolished, but all men, white and black, had to live. Only the deep, black, everlasting soil gave them hope. All men were dependent upon agriculture, mainly cotton.

Progress came slowly. Mississippi could not be rebuilt in a day or in a year. In 1890 the state constitution was rewritten. Subsequently, economic changes made other revisions necessary. It took 30 years for prosperity to become widespread enough to wipe out the state debts, the last of which was paid in 1944. Thanks to Mississippi soil, and to the industry of a willful people!

Mississippi is on the march again. In the state treasury is a substantial balance today. The state's total income from farm crops amounted to $414,691,000 in 1945. From 1940 to 1944, Mississippi led the South with a 201 per cent increase in its farm income. Roads of dirt and mud had been transformed to smooth pavements. Scores of military airports and many others make it an air-minded state. Old Mississippi river carries more water-borne freight today than the packets ever did in Mark Twain's time.

Outlets By Sea. In Gulfport and Pascagoula, Mississippi has two seaport outlets for her products, and towns and cities along its rivers are making surveys for improved port facilities.

Mississippi is—and perhaps always will be—one of the leading agricultural states. Its 10 distinctive types of soils will grow almost anything. Approximately 80 per cent of the population is rural.

Cotton is still the state's greatest source of income. Corn, oats, beans, vegetables, fruits, pecans and other crops supplement cotton. In the Pearl river country alone are grown some 78,000 acres of tung trees, or approximately one-half of the total acreage of tung trees in the United States. Three tung crushing plants are in operation.

The mild climate of Mississippi means more months of grazing, less expensive barns and sheds, and greater profits for its $135,177,000 livestock and dairy industry. With 1,518,000 head of cattle in 1945, Mississippi was ahead of most of her southern neighbors. Hogs, sheep and poultry add substantially to the farm income.

Forestry Ranks High. Next to agriculture in importance is lumber and forest products. Again the long growing season and ample moisture have made Mississippi fourth in the nation in production of lumber products. The state has four pulpwood plants and more wallboard manufacturing plants than any other state. The forest harvest is placed at $82,500,000 annually. Naval stores, paper, pitch, tar, turpentine and other byproducts of the forests also are produced.

And, too, Mississippi's forests are being perpetuated. A state nursery furnishes seedlings for farmers and timberland owners. Nearly 15 million trees are set out each year.

All of the foregoing is fine, says Mississippi, but we want even more—we want manufacturing! Agriculture alone makes a lopsided economy, so the state is doing something about it.

With a great volume and diversity of raw materials at hand, and more than 2,600 industries already operating, Mississippi is going out after more. Annual payrolls are now more than 200 million dollars a year and increasing steadily, while manufactured products are valued at more than 400 million dollars annually.

The good, black land will produce the raw materials, plenty of labor is available and the will to do it strong!

Oil, one of the state's newest natural resources, flows from 23 producing fields in the state. Every town in the state with a population of 10,000 or more people is served by natural gas.

Thus emerges the NEW Mississippi, the pace-setter and leader, still guided by the indomitable spirit that colonized the rich land, raised it to great heights and sustained it through years of heartache. Mississippi is on its way to the mountain top!

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS . . . by Lynn Chambers

Serve Simply; Keep Cool (See recipe below.)

Refreshing Meals

One of the biggest problems which we homemakers will be facing these warm days is that of keeping cool and at the same time serving refreshing foods to the family.

My own rules for keeping cool on these hot days include the following which you might find it helpful to adopt: Select foods which may be served chilled, or those which cook quickly; and another, choose foods that are colorful as they stimulate wilted appetites.

Never choose foods which are fussy and that take long to prepare. Mother can exert much better influence at mealtime if she appears cool and collected, and this is possible only if she has used as many shortcuts as possible.

For your main dish select food to be either broiled or chilled. Two raw vegetables in a salad are preferred to two cooked ones if you want to keep cool. And, as for dessert, try ice cream or fresh fruit and berries, thus cutting preparation time to a minimum.

Majestic Salmon Loaf. (Serves 6)

- 2 cups canned salmon
 - 2 packages lime gelatin
 - ¼ cup vinegar
 - 1½ cups boiling water
 - 1¼ cups cold water
 - 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 2 cups finely shredded cabbage
 - 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
- Place flaked salmon in bottom of loaf pan or mold. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water, vinegar, lemon juice and salt. Pour half of the warm gelatin over the salmon and chill. When set, fill mold with alternating layers of shredded cabbage and sliced eggs. Cover with remaining gelatin, chill until set. Unmold on crisp lettuce; garnish with potato chips, sliced cucumbers and lemon.

These broiled lamb steaks don't take long to cook, so they will be a boon to the hot weather homemaker. The potatoes may be cooked ahead of time (or use leftovers) and broiled along with the meat to heat and become golden brown. Carrots are a colorful addition to the menu, and you may use the canned variety to save cooking time. Dress them up by melting butter and adding a small amount of mint jelly to it, and pour over the carrots before serving.

Broiled Lamb Steaks. (Serves 6)

- 6 shoulder lamb steaks, cut 1 inch thick
 - 3 tablespoons olive oil
 - 6 tablespoons lemon juice
 - 1 minced onion
 - 1 teaspoon salt
- Mix olive oil and lemon juice. Add onion and salt and marinate lamb steaks in this mixture for two hours before broiling. Preheat broiling oven. Place steaks on rack three inches from heat. Turn oven regulator on high. When one side is nicely browned, season with salt and pepper and turn. When second side is browned, season and serve immediately. Allow 6 to 8 minutes for each side.

LYNN SAYS: Here are Tips For Picnics

Fried chicken which may be eaten with the fingers is an excellent food for picnics. Wrap each piece individually in waxed paper, place light meat on one side of the basket, dark meat on the other side, and then dole it out.

Meat loaf is another good main dish for picnics. It is easy to carry in the loaf pan in which it was baked.

When you make potato salad for picnics, make it somewhat sharper in seasoning than for home use. This is easily done by marinating the cubed potatoes in French dressing for an hour or two before mixing with other ingredients.

If you like molded salads instead of fresh chopped ones, make them with cornstarch in place of gelatin so they will not start to melt if they stand in a warm place.

Loaf cakes are another idea for the picnic as they may be carried in the same pans in which they were baked.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

- Majestic Salmon Loaf
- Potato Chips
- Lemon Cucumber Garnish
- Crisp Rolls with Butter
- Sliced Tomatoes
- Peach Shortcake Beverage
- *Recipe given.

Another quick, broiled entree which I know your family will enjoy is hamburger. This may be served with potato salad and tomato stuffed with cole slaw.

Toasted Deviled Hamburgers. (Serves 8)

- 1 pound ground round steak
 - 2 tablespoons chili sauce
 - 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard
 - 1½ teaspoons prepared horseradish
 - 1 teaspoon minced onion
 - 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - ¼ teaspoon pepper
 - 8 slices bread
- Combine above ingredients and spread on slices of bread. Broil for 8 minutes at moderate heat and serve immediately.

Cheese Hamburgers. (Serves 4 to 5)

- ½ pound chuck or round steak, ground
- ½ cup corn flakes
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1½ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup catsup
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- ¼ pound grated American cheese

Combine beef, ¼ cup milk, ¼ teaspoon salt and the pepper and catsup. Form into six patties and saute in 1 tablespoon of fat. Melt remaining fat in saucepan. Stir in flour and mustard, then remaining milk and salt. When smooth, add cheese and cook until it has melted. Arrange hamburgers in a baking dish and pour sauce over them. Bake in a slow oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

If your choice of main dish is a salad, select a good protein food like eggs or chicken. Here are suggestions:

Egg Salad Bowl. (Serves 6)

- 1 clove garlic, optional
- 1 small head of lettuce
- 1 bunch watercress
- 1 cucumber, sliced
- 1 bunch radishes, sliced
- ½ cup celery, diced
- 6 hard-cooked eggs

French Dressing. Rub inside of large bowl with garlic. Break lettuce into chunks. Add all other ingredients to bowl and toss together lightly with French dressing (just enough to hold together). If a more hearty salad is desired, serve topped with strips of cheese, cold tongue or ham.

Chicken Salad I. Mix together the following: 1 cup diced, cooked chicken, 1 cup diced, cooked tongue, ½ cup chopped celery, ½ cup sliced, stuffed olives, and ¼ cup salad dressing or mayonnaise.

Chicken Salad II. Toss together the following: 2 cups diced, cooked chicken, 1 cup minced celery, 1 chopped green pepper. Marinate in French dressing. Drain and mix with mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce cups with pineapple spears.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Good accompaniments for the fried chicken lunch: Pineapple cole slaw, small cherry tomatoes, pickles or olives, fruit salad made of large pieces of fruit, or ambrosia.

Make hamburgers of a larger size when going on a picnic as appetites are bound to be big. To make cheeseburgers, take along some wrapped slices of American cheese, and when the "burgers" are almost done, place cheese on top and remove from fire just after it has melted.

Salads should be made dry for picnics or they will become too "runny" and lose their crispness.

Make certain that carrot sticks, whole tomatoes, celery hearts and such vegetable accompaniments are thoroughly chilled before they go on picnic.

If you are going on a picnic that is far away, make your sandwiches from bread that has some fruit in it. It will stay fresh longer.

Next time you roast weenies at an outdoor fireplace, try putting them into the family corn popper. The long handle will protect your fingers.

HOW IT STARTED

CANDIDATE—In Roman times, a man campaigning for office wore a white toga, so was called candidatus, from the word candidus meaning "glittering," "white." Today, office seekers are still candidates, but the dress is optional.

TARS—In the days of sailing vessels, sailors' hats were made of tarred sail cloth, and were called tarpannets, a name which also came to apply to the wearer. Later this was shortened to "tarn."

PEDIGREE—The word began with the old French pid de grasc, meaning "crane's foot." It is derived from the resemblance of the three lines showing descent in genealogical charts to the footprints of a crane.

Automobile Production

During 1946, only ten countries made motorcars and trucks, totaling 3,971,000 vehicles of which 77.5 per cent were produced in the United States.

MISSISSIPPI ON THE MARCH . . . The old and the new blend in the Magnolia state, as these pictures attest: (1) The white high forehead of this Mississippi home rises above sunlit columns to a height commanding the oak-lined streets about it. House of an aristocratic family, it carries its century of age with dignity. Permanency, authority, classical manners are reflected in its facade. (2) Mechanical fingers and the hum of machinery gradually are replacing the singing "darky" in the cotton fields of mighty Mississippi plantations. Here in the Mississippi delta is raised the finest long staple cotton in the world. (3) White-faced Herefords, which can be raised at a profit in competition with the Plains and Corn Belt states, are opening new vistas of prosperity to farmers. Strange as it may seem, Mississippi has more cattle per acre than Texas. (4) Typical of the state's excellent paved highway system is this stretch of Ole Man River trail, which follows the Mississippi river through some of the South's most scenic territory. The arch of trees overhanging this bit of highway is draped with Spanish moss, found in profusion along the river and on the gulf coast.

Mississippi Ranks as Year Around 'Country Club'

There is no "off season" for vacationists in Mississippi for the state offers its mild climate throughout 12 months of the year. Paved highways are always open to take the visitor through the state's storied and historic lands. The Mississippi river bridge at Vicksburg spans the channel where General Grant's gunboats ran the gauntlet of Confederate batteries on the bluff. The Old Spanish trail lives again in the seawall drive at Ocean Springs. Biloxi bay, where the French established their first capital in Mississippi valley is spanned by Iberville Memorial bridge.

Known as a year around country club, Mississippi offers its rich grass carpets to golfers even when the snow lies deep up north. In April breezes from the Gulf of Mexico open the summer yachting season. Excursion launches carry tanned vacationists to the beaches of Ship Island, where a Civil war fort has been converted into a center for recreation. Fishing is open the entire year.

Like all the people of the South, Mississippians know how to relax, play and enjoy themselves. And with true Southern hospitality, they offer their climate, their beautiful country and their recreational facilities to others.
