

County Legion Meet in Kewaskum Monday

County Commander, Officers to Be Elected; Officers of Posts Installed

There will be a very important meeting of the Washington County American Legion Monday, Sept. 8, at Kewaskum, Post No. 384 being host.

The county commander will present gifts to the highest membership "hound" of each post plus a gift to the highest post of the county.

Election of the county commander and county officers will take place at this meeting. Be there.

All newly elected officers of each post will be installed. It will be the post commander's responsibility that these men are there.

Mrs. Watterlin of Germantown, president of the Women's auxiliary, will install all the newly elected officers of the auxiliary.

A special meeting of the 40 & 5 will be held directly after the county meeting. William Smith of Germantown will be chairman.

A special meeting of all the ladies who served in World Wars I and II will be held directly after the county meeting with George Kolb, chairman.

The concert American Legion band of Hartford will be present.

George Kolb, county service officer, will have a few pointers for all veterans.

Wives, mothers, sisters and lady friends are invited. It is very IMPOR-TANT that YOU attend this meeting.

Lunch and refreshments will be served.

Kiwanians Hear County Agent; 6 More Join Club

At the Kiwanis club meeting Tuesday, Sept. 2, in the Peace church, County Agent E. E. Skalsky delivered a short speech on proposed projects of the Kewaskum club.

Sound movies on agriculture were shown and proved highly educational. An added feature was a brief description by Len Rosenheimer of his trip to the Bemis air races in Cleveland, Ohio.

Six new members were inducted into the local club. They are Morris O. Hammer, Thomas R. Green, Norman M. Jaeger, Albert G. Hron, Charles E. Reigle and Marvin A. Martin.

Next week's meeting will be held in the Republican hotel at 6:15 p. m. on Monday, Sept. 8. Feature of Monday's program will be a timely talk on India, currently very much in the news, by Edward Schmidt, who was stationed there while in service.

Andrew Strobel, 87, Old Resident Dies

Andrew Strobel, 87, of the town of Auburn, Route 2, Campbellsport, retired St. Killian tavernkeeper, passed away at 3 p. m. Saturday, Aug. 30. He had been ill for only two days with a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Strobel was born May 16, 1860, at St. Killian where he conducted a tavern business for many years. He resided there until 1917 when he and his wife came to live with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kaas in the town of Auburn.

The deceased was married to Mary Beisler on Nov. 28, 1882, and she preceded him in death on July 22, 1944. Mr. and Mrs. Strobel celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary on Nov. 28, 1942.

Ten children were born to the venerable couple, five of whom predeceased them. Surviving are Mrs. Wilfrieda Weber, Mrs. Adolph Bishop and Gerhard Strobel of Milwaukee, Norbert Strobel of Appleton and Mrs. Leo Kaas of R. 3, Campbellsport. He also leaves 16 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and one sister-in-law, Caroline Strobel of St. Killian.

Funeral services were held Wednesday from the Miller funeral home to St. Matthias church in the town of Auburn at 9:30 a. m. Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph Lederer officiated and interment was in the St. Killian cemetery.

Six grandsons of the deceased served as pallbearers.

CARD OF THANKS

To our relatives and friends who expressed their sympathy and kindness in so many beautiful and practical ways during our recent bereavement, the death of our dear father, Andrew Strobel, we extend heartfelt thanks.

Special thanks to Rt. Rev. Msgr. Lederer, Father J. B. Reichel, the choir, pallbearers, for the beautiful floral pieces and spiritual bouquets, to the traffic officer, Miller funeral home and all who showed respect by attending the funeral or calling at the funeral home.

The Surviving Children

OSCAR BACHMANN

Funeral services were held Thursday for Oscar Bachmann, 56, of the town of Wayne, who died on Monday, Aug. 26, at his farm residence following an illness of a year and a half.

Mr. Bachmann was born on June 17, 1891, in the town of Wayne, and resided there throughout most of his life-time. He was married to Elsa Schreier in the town of Herman and she survives him.

Other survivors include a sister, Nora, of Kohlsville, and one brother, E. Bachmann, of the town of Wayne.

Funeral rites were held at 1:30 p. m. from the Ritter funeral home, Alton, and at 2 o'clock in Salem's church at Wayne. The Rev. Carl E. Fluecker officiated at the services and burial took place in the parish cemetery.

Truck Owners Invited by Honeck to Attend Showing

K. A. Honeck Jr. of the Honeck Chevrolet garage is making arrangements to attend a showing of special equipment for trucks to be held in the industrial building at the state fair grounds in West Allis on Sept. 9, 10 and 11. The display is being co-sponsored by Chevrolet Motor Division and distributors of special truck equipment located throughout the state.

Approximately 100 Chevrolet trucks—each equipped with a special body or other items of equipment designed to fit that truck to a specialized hauling need—will be displayed. A total of several hundred different items of equipment designed to cut hauling costs, promote driver comfort and increase safety will be available for public inspection, and Mr. Honeck extends a cordial invitation to all truck owners in this area to attend with him.

No admission will be charged, and free parking facilities are available on the grounds.

Mr. Honeck states that this exhibit will prove interesting to truck operators in every vocation, as new developments in bodies and truck equipment have outmoded most types now being used. Extensive use of aluminum permits greater payloads, combination bodies of all types serve dual purposes, comfort, safety and convenience equipment lessens driver fatigue and reduces accidents, and new mechanical devices which make for faster, easier loading and unloading reduce hauling costs greatly. Never before have truck owners in this vicinity had such an opportunity to inspect the newest in hauling equipment and Mr. Honeck urges them to take advantage of this opportunity.

Mr. Honeck is attending on Sept. 9, and anyone wishing to attend on this day should be at Honeck's Chevrolet garage at 15 o'clock noon and transportation will be furnished to this show.

'Kums Win on Forfeit, Clinch Tie for Title

GAMES THIS SUNDAY

Kewaskum at Adell Waucousta at Campbellsport A's

The pace-setting Kewaskum Utensils clinched at least a tie for the championship of the southern division in the Rainbow league Sunday by winning without playing. The team was scheduled at Random Lake but only seven players showed up on the Random club so that team had to forfeit the contest to Kewaskum, 9 to 0.

The Utensils stand a half game ahead of the second spot Campbellsport Belles. The Belles have completed their schedule but Kewaskum still has one game to play. This is a contest with Adell which was postponed earlier in the campaign. The Kewaskum-Adell fracas will take place this Sunday at Adell and the heavy clubbing, third place Adell nine is a cinch to give Kewaskum a hard time.

If Kewaskum wins they will cop the undisputed championship of the southern division. Should they lose they will be tied with the Belles and a playoff between the two will be necessary to decide the winner and which team will meet Plymouth, northern division champs, in a three game series for the grand title. All other teams are out of the running and it will not be necessary for them to make up postponed titles.

The Utensils must win at Adell or else they will stand a good chance of losing the title as the Belles beat them twice this season—the only two Kewaskum lost. Adell is always tough on its home diamond and anything can happen on the hazardous Adell field. Follow the boys Sunday and help them "put 'er in the bag."

Public School Opens With Big Increase in Enrollment; 49 Frosh

The Kewaskum public school opened Tuesday morning for the 1947-48 term with a substantial increase in enrollment. A total of 265 pupils enrolled, 27 more than last year when there were 238. Of this number 159 enrolled in high school, a gain of 17 over last year's total of 142.

In the grades 106 pupils started school, which is 10 more than last year's figure of 96. Again the largest class in the high school is that of the freshmen. The total number of freshmen who started school is 49. Last year there were 47. Enrollment in the other classes is as follows: Sophomores, 42; Juniors, 36; seniors, 32. Principal C. M. Rose reports that two more freshmen are expected to enroll within the next week, which will bring the number of pupils in that class to 51.

The enrollment of 146 pupils in the grades is divided as follows: First grade, 15; second grade, 8; third grade, 13; fourth grade, 11; fifth grade, 16; sixth grade, 16; seventh grade, 15; eighth grade, 12.

The 49 freshmen enrolling for the first time in the high school are as follows: Elaine Bartelt, Eugene Beck, Shirley Birkholz, Paul Blumer, Mary Boegel, Henry Brockman, Jake Brussel, Ferdinand Buchel, Jacqueline Buntjer, Jerry Callen, Joyce Gruber, Sylvester Hawig, Marilyn Heberer, Earl Herricks, Janet Ingman, Irene Kanless, Allen Kempf, Floyd Klug, Harriet Klumb, Howard Koehner, Margaret Kroll, Lorraine Kuehl, Mary Martin, Elvira Meyer, Joan Miller, Vernon Muench, Vincent Nigh, Patricia Perkins, Beulah Prost, Allyn Ramthun, James Riley, Thomas Rodenkireh, Arthur Rose, Albert Sauter, Natalie Schacht, Estelle Schladwiler, Carol Schmidt, Ellen Schommer, Allen Schoofs, Ronald Schultz, Eleanor Seefeldt, Beverly Stahl, Corinne and Cordell Stange.

The 15 children who began school in the first grade are: Carol Bier, Edward Franzen, Marcella Franzen, Knute Hammer, Merril Haug, Henry Justman, Herbert Justman, Cynthia Lawmann, Pamela Nolting, Alice Roehon, Kenneth Rose, David Schaefer, Aldwin Seefeldt, Alice Schwind and Marian Walz.

Other new pupils who transferred to Kewaskum from other schools include: High school—Doris Backhaus, junior, transferred from West Allis Nathan Hale high school, fifth grade, Henry Franzen, third grade, Patricia Franzen.

100 PUPILS ENROLL AT HOLY TRINITY SCHOOL

Holy Trinity parochial school opened a day later, on Wednesday morning, with a total enrollment of 100 pupils even. This number is three less than last year's record enrollment of 103 students.

Of the 100 pupils, 13 entered the first grade. The names of these were published last week. Enrollment in the other grades follows: Second grade, 12; third grade, 12; fourth grade, 15; fifth grade, 19; sixth grade, 11; seventh grade, 7; eighth grade, 10.

New pupils who transferred to Holy Trinity from other schools are Richard, Sylvester and Crescentia Ruppinger, George and James Bonchard, former students at the school, have also returned here.

ELMER SCHABL NEW HIGH SCHOOL MUSIC INSTRUCTOR

Elmer Schabl, who for the last two years was music instructor of the Fox Lake high school, has been engaged as full-time music instructor at the Kewaskum high school for the 1947-48 term. Mr. Schabl will again organize a school band this year. The school has been without a band for the past five years. A very large number of students have already signified their intention of joining the band. Before going to Fox Lake, Mr. Schabl served as music instructor at the Hartford and Pullaski high schools.

ATTEND TWO WEEK COURSE IN CARPET LAYING IN NEW YORK

Joseph Miller and Byron Bunkelmann of Miller's Furniture store are now at the Alexander Smith carpet mills in Yonkers, N. Y., where they are attending a two weeks' course in carpet laying and learning about the proper layout and installation of all types and sizes of carpets. Millers are constantly striving to improve their service and believe this is another step forward in the right direction.

RESUMES TEACHING JOB

After returning from a vacation trip with her mother, Miss Mona Mertes left Sunday for Oregon, Wis. to resume her teaching position at the Oregon School for Girls. During the summer Miss Mertes served as assistant supervisor at Camp Lakemage, Marine on St. Croix, Minn.

Pat Brauchle, Misses Vorpahl, Serwe Brides

Now honeymooning in northern Wisconsin and Canada are Dr. and Mrs. John Norman, who repeated wedding vows before the Rev. Wm. Schwemmer in the Peace Evangelical and Reformed church, Kewaskum, in a three o'clock ceremony on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 2.

The bride is the former Miss Patricia Brauchle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Brauchle, Kewaskum. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Nobel Norman of Millidgeville, Ill.

For the service the bride wore a Palmiro tan suit with brown accessories, with which she wore a tiara of bronze California mums. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Rachel Brauchle, who was dressed in a forest green suit with brown accessories. She wore a tiara of yellow California mums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Robert Norman, as best man. A reception and buffet supper at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. The popular young newlyweds will be at home about the middle of September at 417 W. Bellplain avenue, Chicago.

The bride is a graduate of the Wesley Memorial hospital, Chicago, while the groom graduated from the University of Missouri at Columbia, Mo., and the Northwestern university medical school. He is an interne at the Cook County hospital, Chicago, at present.

FELLENZ-VORPAHL

Holy Trinity church, Kewaskum, was the scene of a wedding ceremony read at 9 a. m. Tuesday, Sept. 2, in which Miss Beatrice Vorpahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Vorpahl, village, became the bride of Benedict Fellenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Fellenz, Route 2, Kewaskum. The wedding vows were repeated before the Rev. F. C. LaBuhl, who also read the nuptial high mass.

The bride chose a white satin gown fashioned with sweetheart neckline, skirted bodice, long sleeves, and lace trimmed skirt and train. Her ensemble was completed with a lace-trimmed veil which fell from a crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Lois Vorpahl, sister of the bride, as maid of honor was attired in a gown of blue nylon styled with a shirred waist and sleeves. She carried pink roses and white baby's breath. A pink nylon gown fashioned with shirred sleeves was worn by the bridesmaid, Miss Adeline Vorpahl, cousin of the bride. Her flowers consisted of yellow roses and white baby's breath.

The groom was attended by his brother, Michael Fellenz, as best man, while another brother, Leo Fellenz, served as groomsman. Ushering the guests to their places were Urban Schladwiler, cousin of the groom, and Frederick Vorpahl, cousin of the bride.

A reception in St. Michael's hall, St. Michaels, preceded a wedding dance at the Lighthouse ballroom. Later the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to western Wisconsin and Chicago. They will be at home on Route 1, Kewaskum, after Sept. 7.

The bride, a graduate of Kewaskum high school, is employed as a bookkeeper in the L. Rosenheimer department store. The groom is employed as an apprentice auto mechanic at Schaefer Bros. garage, Kewaskum.

ROEHRDANZ-SERWE

Miss Virginia Serwe, daughter of the Baltes Serwes of Theresa, and William Roehrdanz, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Roehrdanz of Kewaskum, exchanged wedding vows before the Rev. William Mayer, Milwaukee, in the presence of St. Theresa's church, Theresa, at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The bride wore a gown of white dotted Swiss. The skirt was styled in ruffled apron effect and extended into a ruffled train. Her colonial bouquet of white roses and white carnations was tied with white ribbons.

Ice-blue marquisette styled with bustle-back was worn by the maid of honor, Miss Patricia Serwe, who carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and pale yellow roses tied with yellow ribbons.

Donald Otten attended the groom as best man. Following a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the young couple left on a honeymoon journey to northern Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Roehrdanz will make their home in Milwaukee.

The bride is a graduate of the Mayville high school and had been employed as a stenographer at the West Bend court house. The groom, a graduate of Kewaskum high school, and a World War II veteran, is employed as a mechanic at the S. L. London Music Co. in Milwaukee.

BOWLING MEETING

The Wednesday night bowling league teams will meet Wednesday night, Sept. 10, at Herd's alleys, West Bend, at 8 p. m.

United With Parents After 9 Years in Navy

Lawrence R. Jeske, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erich Jeske, Park street, Kewaskum, has returned to the home of his parents after nine years of service in Uncle Sam's navy. Jeske is married and has one child, aged eight months. The young couple and child were scheduled to arrive in Milwaukee by plane from the east coast sometime Friday evening of this week from where his parents were to bring them to their home in Kewaskum.

Lawrence has been a submarine man for eight years, as has his brother, Harvey, who is still in the service. While in the sub service, Lawrence met Miss Barbara Bell, who later became his wife in Salisbury, Mass.

The young man will take advantage of the G. I. schooling starting the second semester at Tri-State college, Indiana. Meanwhile he and his family will reside at the Jeske cottage on Long lake. He will be employed during this period by Ralph Erdman, Kewaskum, as an electrician journeyman.

Rainbow Loop Nine Plays Boltonville Here Sunday

Kewaskum's Rainbow league team was idle last Sunday but will resume play this Sunday when they tackle the rival Boltonville nine on the home field. This will be a make-up affair of a postponed contest, the regular season having ended. This will be Kewaskum's final game of the season unless a playoff is necessary for the championship.

Kewaskum still holds second place, a half game behind Sheboygan Falls. Newburg is in third place, a half game behind Kewaskum. All three have a chance to win the title. If Kewaskum wins Sunday and Sheboygan Falls loses one of its two remaining games, the two will be tied. If Falls should lose both and Kewaskum wins Sunday, the locals would take the title. If both teams lose their remaining games, Newburg could tie for the top spot. Time will tell which team will be the winner in the red hot race.

RAINBOW LEAGUE STANDINGS

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Sheboygan Falls 9 3, Kewaskum 9 4, Newburg 9 5, Waukesha 7 6, St. Michaels 7 7, Boltonville 5 8, Batavia-Silvers 3 9, Barton 3 10

Scores last Sunday—Sheb. Falls 8, Waukesha 7 (12 innings); St. Michaels 5, Boltonville 1; Newburg 23, Batavia-Silvers 15.

Games this Sunday—Boltonville at Kewaskum, Barton at Sheboygan Falls, Waukesha at Batavia-Silvers.

Big Squad Out for School Grid Team; 8-Game Schedule

Twenty-five upper-classmen answered the call for football this week at Kewaskum high school and are working out in preparation for the opening game, a non-conference tilt with Oostburg Friday night, Sept. 19, at 8 p. m.

Vacancies left by Wierman, Buge, Schaub and Keller of last year's championship team are open to these newcomers. Veterans returning include Koepke, Edwards, McElhatton and Staehler. With the addition of 16 freshmen to the squad next week Kewaskum will have its biggest squad in the history of football here preparing for the biggest schedule ever to be undertaken.

A B team schedule is being planned to give more boys a chance to play in games. This schedule will be announced later.

The 1947 A team schedule is as follows:

- Sept. 19—Oostburg there* Sept. 26—St. Mary's Springs here Oct. 3—Lomira here Oct. 10—Brandon there Oct. 17—Campbellsport here Oct. 21—Kohler there* Oct. 25—Oostburg here Oct. 31—Oakfield there * Night games.

HOG HOTEL—3 FLOORS, 50 ROOMS, 500 GUESTS . . . Once a flourishing "watering place" for dignified ladies and their very proper husbands, the old Hotel Colfax at Colfax, Iowa, now shelters the elite of the hog world—purebred swine which are being developed as seed stock for Midwest farmers. Picture at left shows a sow feeding her brood in the old marble lobby of the hotel. Wayne Fox, former army air corps captain and one of the brothers now running the National Swine Palace, is the man taking notes. A general view of the once ornate hotel is shown at the left, while inset is the old hotel ball room now the scene of livestock auctions where the boars and gilts strut their stuff.

GILDED PALACE

Once Ornate 'Watering Place' Harbors Elite of Swine World

WNU Features.

COLFAX, IOWA.—Pigs in the parlor? No, sir! As any housewife will testify, a parlor is no longer good enough for them, particularly in view of prevailing pork prices. They should reside in a gilded palace these days. And that's just what's happening. Pigs are living in a pretentious palace.

Here at Colfax hogs are housed in the old Hotel Colfax, once fashionable and famous "watering place" of the Victorian era, and now re-named the National Swine Palace.

The occupants of these plush surroundings, of course, aren't just any old hogs, nor are they just any old purebred hogs. Only special strains of certain breeds of purebreds are admitted—strains that the owners of the palace are developing to produce pork at lower costs against the eventual day when low prices again force farmers to begin squeezing every cent out of their food bills.

Mecca for Millionaires.

Once a flourishing hostelry, Hotel Colfax was built in 1877 and later remodeled at an estimated cost of between $600,000 and $700,000. It lists on its yellowed hotel registers the names of widely known and still prominent families of the Middle West.

Guests would arrive in high-wheeled horseless carriages and linen dusters, staying for days and sometimes weeks to bathe in the healing mineral waters, bubbling from springs scattered over the ground.

By the time World War I came along, however, the bathing public seemed to have lost interest in the hotel's health-giving waters. Shortly thereafter the government leased the hotel as a veterans' hospital at a rental of $45,000 a year. Huge sums of money were expended in remodeling the building to suit the ideas of army officers. A Turkish bath costing $20,000 was torn out and elaborate apartments were built for the officers in charge. Officers' parties were "the talk of the town."

Stamp of Identity

Fingerprints Reveal Startling Tales

Loops, whorls and arches on the ends of a person's 10 fingers irrevocably spell out his identity, no two sets of fingerprints in the world being identical. That is the basis on which the far-flung activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's identification division are carried out.

Many unusual stories lie behind the more than 103 million fingerprints now on file in the FBI's identification division. One set of inked finger impressions may tell of a long-sought murderer captured when his prints were checked with the FBI. Another set establishes the identity of an amnesia victim, restoring a loved one to his family. A third identifies a victim of a fatal plane crash.

In addition to criminal prints the FBI's fingerprint files contain personal identification prints, army, navy, marine, civil service and alien prints. Daily, thousands of new prints are being forwarded to the identification division by local law enforcement agencies.

Many Strange Cases.

The story behind the fingerprint card of Charles Sidney Worthington is illustrative of the many strange angles encountered by FBI fingerprint experts in making identifications.

Wanted for violation of the theft from interstate shipment statute, Worthington had been a fugitive since 1934. When he was arrested hospital. The 30 remaining patients were transferred to another veterans' hospital and the once luxurious hotel saw the end of its role as an instrument of mercy.

Abandoned for Years.

Since 1922, the structure has stood empty. A large wing was torn down and the rest of the hotel was dismantled.

When the postwar housing shortage developed, plans for remodeling the building for returning G.I.s and their families were heatedly discussed, but finally abandoned as impractical. It was then that the National Purebred Livestock exchange purchased the building and grounds. Purchase price was $75 per acre for the 160 acres of land, with the once ornate palace "thrown in for good measure."

Down in the hotel basement where dignified ladies and their very proper husbands once took Turkish baths (men to the room on the left, prime specimens of Yorkshires, Durocs, Tamworths and other breeds, now snore in deep beds of wood shavings.

In the kitchens where rich foods for the guests once were prepared, hogs are spoon-fed on a carefully balanced diet of proteins, vitamins, minerals and carbohydrates.

The newly-painted ball room has been converted into a sales pavilion where livestock auctions are held. It is complete with show ring and runways, all ankle deep in clean sawdust and with upholstered theater seats for the bidders. Across the lobby a spacious, glass-enclosed sunroom now serves as a maternity ward where sows and their little pigs convalesce after the trials of farrowing.

Still Pioneering.

The man behind the palace is general Frank Fox, pioneer Iowa resident and twice candidate for congress. As the founder of an old, progressive feed manufacturing concern, he is known personally to thousands of Midwest farmers for his pioneer work during the past 40 years in promoting balanced rations for livestock. He still speaks two or three times a week at farm meetings throughout the corn-hog belt. Although question periods following his talks often last until 1 or 2 a. m., Fox thrives on the sessions. His friends claim they are seldom able to get him off the subject of livestock but they readily testify that the stories of his experiences "keep them sitting on the edge of the chair." When they do get him off the subject of livestock, talk inevitably swings to politics and economics, where he also is classed as a "pioneer thinker."

And now he is pioneering once more. His idea is that the average farmer—the farmer who grows the meat—must have the best producing strains of purebred livestock available. This, he contends, is essential if livestock growers are to avoid the starvation income so widely prevalent among them during peacetime.

Arrangements were made recently for a harried father to visit the FBI as a casual section. The father, although notified of his son's death in action during the battle for Southern France in 1944, refused to believe that the deceased had been his son.

Congressman Robert L. Doughton of North Carolina is the new president of the octogenarians club. He is 83, the oldest member of either house since the recent death of 86-year-old Joseph Mansfield of Texas. Congressman Doughton has handled more tax bills than any other man in American history as chairman of the ways and means committee during the 14 years of the Roosevelt administration.

His FBI fingerprint expert set his mind at rest. The father was shown his son's army fingerprint card and the prints taken of the deceased. The expert gave a detailed explanation of the two forms and pointed out that they were identical.

Doggone—Ditto the Big Deal

KANSAS CITY, MO.—It's a doggone shame but this, in reality, is the way a local realty deal went. A Kansas City real estate salesman's prospect was a dog-lover interested in a certain property because it was in a quiet neighborhood where a lack of traffic seemed to assure a safe place for his favorite dogs. Several dogs near his home had been hit by motorists and he was anxious to move.

The salesman assured him that any occasional automobile mauling in the new neighborhood proceeded at a snail's pace. "It's a deal," the prospect said. "Draw up the papers." Just then a squeal of brakes and a dog's yelp came from the street. Both men ran out. There lay a dead dog. The deal was off.

Replacement

The senate was investigating committee didn't cut too graceful a figure in the recent Howard Hughes warplane contracts investigation. There were too many critics, too many monkey wrenches flying from all directions to lodge in the machinery.

Possibly as a result of this, Sen. Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.), chairman of the sub-committee on the Hughes case, has suggested that the group be junked, to be replaced by a permanent joint board.

Ferguson opined that such a committee could do a better job than the present outfit. A joint group, he pointed out shyly, could maintain a staff of experts to prepare all cases which are to be given public hearings.

Could that be wishful thinking? The war investigating committee has certainly demonstrated its need for a corps of experts of some kind—even if only an advisory group to cope with Johnny Meyer's double-talk.

Don't ever say congress didn't do anything.

Among a recent batch of bills signed by the President was an act to grant a patent in fee to Daniel Broken Leg, and another for the relief of P. K. (Spud) Murphy, owner and manager of Spud's Tailors, Laundry and Dry Cleaning Works. It could be that Broken Leg invented something to make Spud's washdays less exhausting.

This must be why you feel more poverty stricken now than a year ago (if you do):

The treasury department, coming out of a bundle with its statistics, says that Americans averaged $3.12 less cash in their jeans on June 30 than they did on July 31 last year. Actually, though, there is less money in circulation. It's just that the population has increased so that each person's share is less. Your share on June 30 was $196.66. One word of warning. Don't try to collect it; you'll end up with nothing but a handful of shreds.

Meat Myth

According to the American Meat Institute, the high price of meat is largely a myth. Says the institute, with the incisiveness of a butcher knife, the average industrial worker could, with his week's wages, buy more of five out of seven popular cuts of meat in May of this year than he could in May, 1939. Omar Khayyam would love to know that a week's wages can now buy 80 pounds of leg of lamb. Trouble is, there's no money for bread.

Soap Operas

The soap opera is slipping, probably on its own soap. In December, 1940, there was a horrid total of 61 quarter-hour soap opera broadcasts daily—in day and out, ad infinitum. Now there are only 33. But they have taken their toll, according to one medical writer, who charged that radio's soap opera drive countless normal persons to the doors of psychiatrists and psychoanalysts. At least there's a boom for psychiatrists.

Election Is Cinch; He's Sole Survivor

SPOKANE, WASH.—No spirited campaign was necessary when Hiram Gale, 100-year-old past national commander, ran for office at a Grand Army of the Republic convention. Business of the day was election of a new GAR commander for Washington-Alaska. Gale nominated himself, cast the lone ballot and swept himself into office. He was the only survivor present.

DANIEL TOBIN, president of the Teamsters union (AFL), gave voice the other day to an idea which labor leaders supposedly have been coveting for some time. What Tobin said was this:

Third Party

The American labor movement conceivably may become the basis for a third political party in the United States.

Then he qualified himself by adding that labor factions must first undergo unification. On the surface, a unified labor party, 37 million strong, would be a great, potent political force. Actually, of course, labor is just such a power now operating as a pressure group just as do real estate interests, retail interests, industries, manufacturers.

But can it ever be more? Would it ever be possible for labor to enter the political lists, boot and spurred and outspokekenly bannered as the Labor party? It is extremely doubtful. The labor vote, as a political force, would say virtually impossible.

They would say that the strongest part of America's democratic backbone is its two-party system, based on two sets of general principles. There simply aren't enough principles to go around for three parties.

It would be as logical to ask whether the National Association of Manufacturers will ever become a third party. No single vested interest could ever appeal to enough voters at one time to set up shop as a political rival—at least today.

Myrna Loy

Myrna Loy's co-starring appearance with Cary Grant in "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer" worked out so well that she'll report at RKO in mid-September to make "Mr. Blanding Builds His Dream House" with him.

Paramount is really going to lay it on for C. B. DeMille's "Unconquered," starring Gary Cooper and Paulette Goddard. The advertising campaign, which will extend through November, will be the biggest and most extensive ever given a Paramount picture. All calculated to make the public rush to see it during the general Thanksgiving Day week release.

Bing Crosby's wife and sons thought he ought to do it, so he did; he's ordered 16-millimetre prints of his 36 motion pictures, from "The Big Broadcast of 1932" to "The Emperor Waltz" and "Road to Rio." He says it'll be fine for the boys, who never saw some of the stars who appeared with him—W. C. Fields, for instance, who was in "Mississippi" with Crosby.

With "Duel in the Sun" grossing more than ten million dollars so far, other studies are following where David O. Selznick led. MGM likes the idea of showing "The Hucksters" simultaneously in hundreds of theaters, and 20th Century-Fox will do it with "The Captain From Castille" and "Forever Amber." Ten million dollars is a nice mark to shoot at!

When Abigail Adams was under contract to MGM she spent her training period correcting her Southern accent—she hails from Greenville, S. C. She made a screen test with Lee Bowman the other day, and as a result signed a contract with Columbia. She has had excellent experience—you've been hearing her on the air in radio dramas with Orson Welles.

On the eve of releasing "Song of Love," MGM asked the Motion Picture Research Bureau to poll a cross-section of the public on the ten greatest love stories. "Gone with the Wind" led, with "Romeo and Juliet" second.

When Gary Moore decided to go it alone, after five seasons with Jimmy Durante, nobody knew what he would do. He landed the Phil Baker spot on "Take It or Leave It" because his audition records were exceptionally good.

Because New Orleans jazz says musically what the makers of RKO's "Crossfire" wanted to say visually, Kid Ory's Creole Jazz Band was engaged to record two numbers; they aren't seen in the picture, just heard.

It's said Boris Karloff wants to leave ABC's "Lights Out" because his roles are too grisly. But Luther Adler is withdrawing from NBC's "Mystery Without Murder" because his roles are too genteel for him!

ODDS AND ENDS—John Littel, the father in Paramount's "Aldrich" series, has a top role in the Bob Hope-Jane Russell "The Paleface." . . . Guy Madison gave Gail Russell an archery set which he had made; now he's giving her archery lessons. . . . Douglas Kenwood is a popular leading man for screen tests at Warner's; so far this year he has made tests with 10 girls, 8 of whom were successful. . . . The accepted average is 1 out of 15. . . . Arthur Godfrey, whose "Talent Scouts" program is flourishing, has had as many as 88 sponsors at one time and kept them all happy.

Robert Steves resumes his real name, Robert Kellard, as star of Columbia's new serial, "Tex Granger." That's because his father, Ralph Kellard, was a serial hero way back in the days of silent films.

Jack Carson's original ambition was to be a singing cowboy, in Westerns. He gets part of that desire in Warners' "Two Guys From Texas"; that is, he sings and rides—but he's mounted on a steer, not a horse.

HOW IT STARTED

CHARLEY HORSE (referring to a sore, stiff muscle)—Back in 1886 one of the players on the Chicago White Sox named Charley and touted it as a "sure thing." The boys went for the tip heavily. At the race Charley limped home a dead last. Next day Billy Sunday was coaching along third base when George Gore, in stealing third pulled a tendon, only to be tagged out. As he limped back to the dugout, Billy turned to his mate and yelled, "Look, boys! Here comes another Charley Horse!"

BLIZZARD originally means a blow with a fist. It was first used by a reporter to describe a snowstorm in Iowa in 1829.

Household Hints
When sanding unfinished furniture for painting, sand thoroughly with fine sandpaper wrapped around a padded wood block. Wipe off with a soft lintless cloth.

When winding a hank of wool, wind it on a moth ball. Then, if the wool isn't all used or is put aside for awhile, the moth ball discourages moths.

To clean glass straws, use an ordinary pipe cleaner. For the larger size glass straws use two or three cleaners twisted together. Cleaners may be used a number of times.

Backless summer dresses should be made with a jacket, if you want to get full service from them. On cool nights a light bolero jacket will protect your back.

Serve hot cakes or waffles with heated honey and butter mixed together. For extra flavor, mix a little orange juice and grated rind with the honey before heating.

Shake Turkish towels vigorously before hanging to dry. This will remove wrinkles and raise the nap.

Use a carpet sweeper daily and a vacuum cleaner once a week and beating, which causes carpet threads to weaken and break, will not be necessary.

Your brown and white saddle shoes should be cleaned each day. Sloppy shabby shoes are never a sign of good styling.

Here's RESERVE POWER...
MASSEY-HARRIS "55"

HUSKY... HEAVY DUTY 4-5 PLOW POWER...

Mighty monarch of the Massey-Harris line, the new "55" is waiting for a chance at your heaviest farm jobs. Four-cylinder, vertical type engine has a 4 1/4 inch bore, 6-inch stroke, displaces 382 cubic inches. It's a bear for work... takes 4-5 plow jobs in stride with reserve power ready when you need it. Yet, big brute that it is, the "55" handles easily, has all the convenience features ordinarily found only on smaller tractors; and maintenance costs are surprisingly low.

Equipped with "VELVET-RIDE" SEAT

The new Massey-Harris "55" is regularly equipped with the shock-absorbing "Velvet-Ride" seat. It takes the jabs and jolts out of tractor riding and eliminates "tractor back"—those sharp pains and aches you've suffered after long hours on a conventional tractor seat. For tractor riding "smooth as velvet" make it a Massey-Harris!

Presidential Travel Is Major Project.

Chief Executive Zealously Guarded by Secret Service

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—When President Truman finally announced that he was going to Brazil, he was immediately asked if he contemplated any trips across continental United States. He answered in the negative.

A reporter piped up: "This year or next year?"
"THIS year," the President replied.
That gave the White House press and radio conference a short interlude of laughter. For the reason that whenever a president is forced to drop his role of chief executive to assume the functions of candidate, it is funny. Frequently it isn't funny for the candidate, especially when he has been used to the respect spontaneously and (except in election years) almost universally tendered his office.

A presidential trip may be, in many cases, fun for the President, but it isn't much fun for a lot of other people.

Not that all Presidents have had easy traveling.

It was an ordeal for the early heads of the nation just to get home in the stagecoach and tavern days. President Garfield was shot in a railroad station; McKinley was killed by a half-mad anarchist on a trip to the Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo; Harding died in San Francisco on his way back from a swing-around that had taken him to Vancouver, Canada; Wilson suffered a stroke in his Pullman; Theodore Roosevelt was wounded while he addressed a meeting on a visit to Milwaukee.

Baukhage

Furthermore, it has been recently revealed by the head of the secret service, Mike Reilly, in his book "Reilly of the White House," that Franklin Roosevelt, who disliked air travel, nearly cracked up in Malaga, and might have been assassinated in a park in Miami had he not taken out of his car to take a telegram (Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago was killed and four other persons wounded).

Stayed Within Nation's Borders

Up to Franklin Roosevelt's time, Taft was the most traveled of presidents, and in 1901 worked all the constitutionalists (unfamiliar with the Constitution) by visiting the Canal Zone. However, he was scrupulously careful to stay on board the American warship which touched only American soil. It had been considered an unwritten law since George Washington's time (he refused to enter Rhode Island until it was admitted to the Union) that a president while in office couldn't leave the country. When Woodrow Wilson went to Paris and Vice President Thomas Marshall had to preside at cabinet meetings, the vice president made it clear he was officiating only at the request of Wilson and that he didn't consider Wilson's leaving the country vacated the presidency.

Travel has become a presidential must, and Mr. Truman's trip to South America is just routine.

But it is complicated routine for a whole army of people.

What these people do is little known to the public, especially the secret service. One out of every 10 of our presidents has been assassinated up to the time congress turned the job of protecting the chief executive over to the secret service. Since then no president has been assassinated.

Theirs (the secret service) is a heartbreaking job, and never have the details been so thoroughly revealed (to the discomfort of some of his former colleagues) as by Mike Reilly in the book I mentioned.

Of course in wartime the job was vastly more complicated, and the army and navy worked closely with the secret service. A special air raid alert system was designed. Reilly says "to protect FDR anywhere in the United States."

When a spotter or watcher, either civilian or military, spotted an airplane he or she was unable to identify "any place from Greenland to the Straits of Magellan," the information was radioed immediately to the army air force headquarters at Mitchell Field, N. Y.

The information was immediately evaluated and conveyed by radio and land line to the secret service communication system where men were standing a 24 hour watch. This system tied together Mitchell Field, Bolling Field, the homes, offices and automobiles of various secret service agents, field offices throughout the country, all secret service mobile units, the President's train, Shangri-La, and the President's room at Hyde Park.

President Kept Informed Constantly

But keeping the President alive is only one activity. Keeping him in touch with his job is another.

Once when a bullying congress demanded of President Grant which if any of his duties he performed in Washington, he replied that his business and where he did it was his own affair. Now a president's out-of-town business is a lot of people's affairs.

In wartime this signal corps detail had the mission of speeding the President's top-secret communications "from the highest level communication tables to installations in the field."

"Today," as Major McNally puts it, "wherever the President travels, the White House signal detachment continues its task of weaving deftly an intricate communications net, which enables the commander-in-chief (and, he might have added, a traveling candidate) to keep himself constantly informed and in touch with the nation."

The work of weaving this "communications net" is an exciting story too long to recount here, but let me quote Major McNally briefly to show how continuous communication was maintained when President Roosevelt made one of his frequent trips to Hyde Park.

"A 50-watt frequency modulation station was modified and installed on the secret service car attached to the presidential train. Army vehicles, radio equipped, were spotted at strategically plotted points along the route between Washington and Poughkeepsie, so that the train was in constant touch with the White House all the way. Another FM radio link was installed in the old stable on the President's estate at Hyde Park. By means of a direct telephone line to Washington and frequency modulation radio, the White House was kept informed of the President's whereabouts at all times."

The speed with which messages could be dispatched and answers received was astounding. When Winston Churchill was making his second visit to Hyde Park, he and the President who were keen competitors as well as close collaborators decided to make a speed test on the communications facilities. Each sent identical messages to Australia over the respective British and United States facilities. The President had an answer in less than two hours; the Prime Minister got his the next day.

CAUTION TO THE WINDS

Sharp Rise in Buying Noted

Swinging sharply away from its previous cautious attitude of economy-minded discrimination, the U. S. buying public has launched itself on a relatively liberal purchasing spree.

Virtually all fields of trade have reported a clear-cut trend away from passive waiting for lower prices, and purchases are increasing all over the country.

The change has given rise to a certain amount of alarm over the possibilities of a new inflation spiral which may develop as a result of indiscriminate buying. It has become the subject of much discussion among business leaders, bankers and economists, some of whom express concern that the movement

NEWS REVIEW

Hint American Aid Plan; Truman Acts for DP's

THE AMERICAS:

Aid Promised

"We must reject an encroachment upon the fundamental rights of the state. I am confident that we all agree that the state exists for man, not man for the state—and that we abhor any limitation upon the freedom of expression of men throughout the world."

Thus, in his first address before the inter-American conference at Petropolis, Brazil, U. S. Secretary of State George Marshall issued a reaffirmation of democratic principles in the western hemisphere and then bulwarked his expression of idealism with specific assurances of U. S. economic aid to Latin America.

He told the delegates that the U. S. government "will continue to take up economic questions with its sister republics and seek a sound basis for practical cooperation."

Marshall at Rio . . . the state exists for man . . .

That was interpreted as meaning that the U. S. is willing to help solve Latin America's economic problems through a series of bi-lateral pacts. There was also a hint that the big northern neighbor is counting on sending down its capital.

DP SHUFFLE:

Truman Acts

President Harry Truman, in a renewed effort to alleviate the "tragic plight" of Europe's displaced persons, ordered a three-way shift in the top command of the U. S. immigration and naturalization service.

In addition, it was disclosed that administration officials in Washington have resumed their review of the problem of displaced persons.

Most important personnel shift involved the transfer of Ugo Carusi from his post as commissioner of immigration to a position in the state department where he will survey all "critical" problems relating to displaced persons, particularly their resettlement.

This is expected to result in added stress being placed on a directive Mr. Truman issued in December, 1945, calling for coordinated action by federal officials to admit as many displaced persons as possible within quota limitations.

Watson B. Miller, federal security administrator, succeeds Carusi as commissioner of immigration, and Oscar Ross Ewing, New York lawyer, replaces Miller.

President Truman's action was taken in the face of congress' refusal to act on his proposal to relax immigration quotas.

Headliners

IN DALLAS . . . Mrs. Warren J. Woodward, 24, housewife, got up in arms about legs. She organized the "Little Below the Knee club" for women who oppose the long skirt now in style. The girls organized a parade and walked through Dallas streets to give emphasis to their protest.

IN LAS VEGAS . . . Senator McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) put the bite on congress for its "do nothing" attitude toward veterans. Congress, said he, "did foully by our disabled veterans, their widows and dependents."

IN BALMORAL SCOTLAND . . . Princess Margaret Rose of England, just turned 17, received as a birthday present her first military title—colonel-in-chief of the Highland light infantry.

CRYSTAL BALL:

Next President

General Douglas MacArthur will be the next president of the United States.

That, at least, is the occult prediction of a 75-year-old Japanese fortune teller, Kakudo Tomioka, who enigmatically: "MacArthur has a glorious future in store for him."

Tomioka, who is said to have a record of several accurate predictions, placed the general on a plane with Mohandas Gandhi in the field of social welfare.

"There presently are two living men who have succeeded in realizing a peaceful revolution," he said. "They are MacArthur and Gandhi. But, then, Gandhi's mission is over. And MacArthur has his most glorious task to accomplish for the world in the future."

It was not immediately known whether MacArthur would use Tomioka's recommendation as a plank in his platform if he runs in 1948.

SURPLUS:
Budget Review
President Truman's budget business made big news again when the chief executive (1) forecast a record treasury surplus next June of nearly five billion dollars, and (2) hurt Republican feelings by telling the nation that congress trimmed the 1947 budget estimates by only 1.5 billion dollars.

His mid-year budget review estimated tax receipts this year at $41,867,000,000, which is 2.1 billion dollars more than any previous forecast.

Mr. Truman made his announcement coincidentally with a bureau of labor report which indicated that the U. S., far from being in a business depression, can look forward to a period of prosperity continuing "indefinitely."

ventories a year ago are placing orders to replenish their stocks.

As a result of the widespread buying trend, previous opinions that industry and business were in for at least slight setbacks in the last half of this year are being revised. Current forecasts are optimistic concerning high levels of business activity during the third and fourth quarters.

Belief now is that prices generally will move upward, or at least hold their present heights, until well into next year. Cash remains abundant, and the influx of large amounts of money from veterans' terminal leave bonds and state bonuses will be added contributing factors to the inflationary trend.

NEW CARS GAIN

There were 1,534,918 new automobile registrations in the United States during the first six months of 1947, according to automotive industry statisticians. That total for the first half of the year, the survey reported, was three times greater for the first six months of 1946, when only 493,299 new car registrations were recorded. New truck registrations totaled about 436,000 for the same period.

"Babs tried to mix pancake flour for me yesterday; flour everywhere—on her arms, on the table—everywhere."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THERE is a woman in our town who talks constantly of the help she needs, and yet who won't have help. I've known her fairly intimately for twenty years, and I know now that she never will get out of the discontented complaining rut in which she is entrenched.

She has four children, a not-too-successful husband, and a large house. Two rooms in the house are occupied by boarders. That represents a lot of work; Hannah Woods does it all.

She gets up at 6, or even earlier if unfinished jobs spoil her sleep. Her first hour in the kitchen is one mad whirl: coffee pots, griddle, orange squeezer, sugar bowl, table-setting, toasting, breaking eggs. She sets the tops off milk and cream bottles, whips plates into the oven, rushes to stir bacon, rushes back to put spoons and sugar on the table. The family and the boarders struggle in, and sometimes the girls dawdle to the sink with their emptied plates and cups, and sometimes they don't.

Nancy and Babs go off to office jobs, Stan to college and Bill to school. Hannah clears the table, piles things in the sink, goes upstairs to struggle for a long hour with beds, linen, bathrooms. Yes, and does all the incidental things; laundry must be gathered; the flowers in Babs' room are faded; Bill has left broken glass on the bathroom floor.

Down goes Mother, heated and weary by this time, to dust the parlor, put the records back in their places, straighten the chairs, carry pop bottles out to the kitchen. Then to the kitchen itself, and she is often still there when Bill comes in for twelve o'clock lunch.

Dozens of Tasks.
It isn't only the dishes. It's the interruption of telephone, grocery deliveries, tailor, odds and ends of extra cleaning, consolidating food, planning meals and scraping vegetables for them, mixing desserts.

Hannah is a good cook, her family of eight praises her generously. But the pattern of steady house-keeping, steady routine work, week out and week in, exhausts her—body, mind and spirit. She does rest sometimes, in the afternoons, but it is rest punctuated by uneasy thoughts about the extra cream, the time the smoked tongue will take to cook, the non-delivery of Stan's sweater, the promise she made to telephone Bill's gym teacher. She looks wearily at the magazines coasting from their stand, at an overlooked ash tray, at the rip in the window shade.

In short, Hannah Woods has made her life into the pattern in which a devoted, hard-working, stupid, unsympathetic woman often struggles for years, and she doesn't know the way out.

She loves her children better than her own life, but she has carefully raised them not only to wreck her marriage, but some day to make failures of their own. Sally, Babs, Stan and Bill have never been trained or asked to help. Mother. They would be innocently shocked to know how deeply they have failed her and how cruelly she has failed them.

These boys, who could toss open their own beds, hang up towels and pajamas, wipe the line from the bathtub and brush the porches, answer the telephone, stop in downtown and pay bills, send home unexpected additions to the home tables, do absolutely nothing at all. They stretch newspapers, cigarettes, ashes, garments, bottles about the house as they would not dare scatter them in a public park.

Girls Never Help.
The daughters, 19 and 21 now, old enough and capable enough to systematize the work of the house so that no one felt the burden, drift aimlessly through the domestic scene like absent-minded automatons. They are amiable girls, who set their hair on Sunday mornings and go out with their young men Sunday afternoons, and regard Ma as just a darling old self-sacrificing angel. And unquestionably Ma regards herself somewhat in this light, too, instead of the slack mother and housekeeper she really is.

Twenty years ago, when these children should have been receiving their training not only in helping, but in seeing for themselves what there was to do, Hannah's attitude was one of indulgent impatience. "Oh, laws, they're more trouble than they are help," Hannah would tell me, as she bustled capably about. "If you could see the way they make bed! The sloppy way they wipe dishes! Babs tried to mix pancake batter for me yesterday, flour everywhere—on her arms, and the table—everywhere. I asked Stan to peel some peaches the other day, I wish you could have seen the mess. And Nancy, with her crowd, making candy! Well, I could have made four batches of candy in half the time and with half the fuss."

Hannah didn't expect the children to get through all their schooling without help, patience, guidance. But because they were not experienced housekeepers in their early teens she drove them from the kitchen, took tasks out of their hands, assured them that they were more bother than help, and played her hand alone.

Now she has to play it alone to the end of the story.

Free School Lunches
School meals and welfare food schemes begun in Great Britain several years ago already are showing results. British children are now heavier and taller than in 1939.

Under the school program, 2,250,000 children in England and Wales receive mid-day meals free, or at very small cost. The improvement among the children is indicated in the 9 of 14-year-old group, which is now about a half inch taller and two pounds heavier than the prewar average.

TRAIN THEM EARLY

Household tasks require a certain skill; cooking even more. Many mothers think it is easier to do the work themselves than to teach their daughters to sweep and dust and mend, to prepare meals and buy food. The girls grow up without any sense of responsibility. They are accustomed to having mother do everything. The boys in the family are even less concerned with the house. They are careless by nature. When they know that they can leave their clothes and other things lying about, confident that mother will pick everything up, there is no incentive for them to do even a small share of the housework.

Hannah, about whom Miss Norris writes today, is just such a mother. She has four children, a husband and three boarders to care for. Her life is one long round of cooking, bed-making, sweeping and dusting. Nobody does anything for her. No one even makes his own bed, or bangs up his clothes. The girls both work; the sons are in school. A little help from everyone would lighten the burden on Hannah tremendously, but she doesn't get that little help. It is largely her own fault, comments Miss Norris.

ble, do absolutely nothing at all. They stretch newspapers, cigarettes, ashes, garments, bottles about the house as they would not dare scatter them in a public park.

Source of Rare Acid
The waxy skin of cranberries is the only known source of urolic acid, extracted from the pulp and skins left after the berries have been made into processed cranberry products. The rare acid is extremely valuable as an emulsifier.

Tree Damage by Beavers
The beaver is a true resident of the forest, sometimes to the regret of foresters. In the big spruce bog section of north central Minnesota these animals are entering into direct competition with forest production. Many black spruce stands, merchantable for pulpwood and Christmas tree areas, are being flooded and killed by the beavers occupying the drainage ditches in that area. Prior to draining the bog area, there were very few beavers because natural waterways and suitable food were not available.

Water or Electricity
Prompt cooling of milk during hot weather is essential if losses are to be avoided. There should be four times as much cold water as milk available for this purpose, unless electrical refrigeration is utilized. Water cools milk many times faster than air at the same temperature. When an overflow pipe leads from the milk house to the water trough the surplus may be used without loss. If electricity is available it should be used to cool the water.

Electric Driven Tractor
Electrically driven tractors have been tried out successfully in Russia, according to reports from the Moscow Institute of Mechanization. The tractor is mounted on a standard Stalingrad or Kharkov chassis and is powered by a 54 horsepower electric motor. Electricity to operate the motor is carried by cable from portable generating substation which can be moved to convenient locations on the farm.

Making Cakes Smooth
Housewives who like to have their cakes look smooth and neat around the edges after frosting should cut a piece of fairly heavy paper just a bit larger than the cake plate, then cut the paper into quarters. Place the paper under the cake and apply frosting. After the frosting has "set," the paper should be removed and the cake plate will be free from drippings.

Tree Farmer's Need
A tree farmer needs about 20 acres of growing timber to produce an average annual revenue equal to what one acre will produce in such crops as wheat or corn. But trees may be profitably grown on land unsuited to grains or other farm produce and once a tree farm is in growth it will bear perpetually with nature doing the work of planting.

New Fish Product
Blue marlin, heretofore known only to sporting fishermen vacationing off the west coast, has made its debut to the general public in tin cans. Canned in brine, the pink-fleshed marlin may become a favorite along with the salmon and tuna that were unknown to the public less than 35 years ago.

Change in Writing
In early forms of writing, the letters ran on continuously in lines, and it was only by degrees that words became divided up by spacing within the line, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica. Distribution into sentences by punctuation came even later.

The FICTION Corner

BETTER LATE
By EDWARD STEVENSON

WELL, I'm certainly glad you're not seasick. When I first saw you leaning over the railing, I said to myself that you must be seasick, though I couldn't see how anybody could get seasick with the water so calm the way it is. Our room steward says that anybody that gets seasick in this kind of weather wouldn't be safe on the lake in Central Park. He's a regular comedian.

And that reminds me, how much do you think I ought to tip him—the room steward, I mean? I'm not one that don't want to do the right thing as to tipping.

You see, this is the first time we've been on a boat—my wife and me. Of course we've taken a trip up the Hudson with the kids, but I guess you wouldn't mention the Hudson River Day Line in the same breath with the S. S. Goliath, would you? The kids thought it was grand, though. They're grown up and married now, with kids of their own—except Arthur, that is, and she hardly had time to have a baby, but she married quite a year yet—but it don't seem more than yesterday that they were running about like a bunch of wild Indians and getting into all sorts of mischief. Time certainly flies.

her deserved better, and I told her so. A big wedding, a reception at the Waldorf—the old Waldorf, you know—and a honeymoon at Niagara Falls was little enough to her. But she just laughed. "If I wanted such truck," she says, "I'd've married Mr. Astor and not Johnny Bentham." That's the way she is. I didn't mind so much not having a big church affair, or a reception afterwards, but gosh, what's a wedding without a honeymoon? I mean, it made me feel kind of low, not being able to provide even that. You know, marrying Ellen was the making of me. I was just a shipping clerk at the time, but she made me study bookkeeping and when an opening in the company

Well, last year our company did pretty well and they gave all the old employees a month's pay for a bonus at Christmas—first bonus we'd had in years. So what did I do? Well, I figured with all the kids married and no one to take care of but ourselves, that we didn't have any real need for the money, so I didn't bread a word about it to Ellen. You see, I'd been seeing these cruise ads in the papers and I thought to myself that's just the thing for Ellen and I. Twelve days, Nassau, Jamaica and Cuba. $125 and up. I didn't say anything till about two weeks before we were to sail. Then I broke the news. Well you could've knocked Ellen over with a feather.

"First thing I knew she threw her arms around me."

When it's getting hot, isn't it? We must be coming into the tropics from the way it feels. Ever been down here before, Mr. — I don't think you mentioned your name, did you? . . . Arthur? . . . Well, I'm glad to know you, Mr. Arthur. My name's Bentham. I'd like you to meet my wife some time, too. That's her laying in that deck chair down at the end. She's making believe she's reading that book, but she's sound asleep. The salt air seems to tucker her out.

As I was saying, time certainly flies. Now, you take me. Why, it seems it's only the other day that Ellen and me were getting married; and here we are, grandparents of six already.

We've been married thirty-five years. It don't seem possible, but that's what it is, all right. Why, say, I can remember the wedding just as plain as if it happened last week. It wasn't much of a wedding—you know, no fuss and feathers. Besides Ellen and I and the minister there was only the minister's wife and the church janitor, for witness. But I can still see the five of us standing there in the chapel, with the sun coming through a high window and falling all around us and turning everything golden. I remember Ellen specially. She was so pretty and little.

When I look back, I think Ellen and I must've been crazy, getting married the way we did. My gosh, I didn't have a cent to my name—it was all I could do to scrape up the money for the wedding ring. Engagement rings and honeymoons and all the fixings were out of reach as far as we were concerned.

I felt pretty bad, taking her right from church to a $2.50-a-week furnished room. A wonderful girl like came along I stepped right in. I'm head bookkeeper now. Of course that isn't so much—there's only one other bookkeeper—but being head of anything is pretty good these days, I always say. A couple of years back when I'd been with the company thirty-five years they put on a dinner for me at Jack Dempsey's and gave me a watch. Here it is. See what it says. "To John W. Bentham—that's my full name—" "For thirty-five years of devoted service. Atlas Paper & Supply Co." Mr. Stover, the president, made a speech. I did too—but I was too choked up to say much. You can bet I'd never've stuck around to get that watch if it hadn't been for Ellen.

And the kids, too, of course. When you get to be a family man you got to tend to business. Kit—that's short for Christopher—was the first; then Roger, Cynthia, Anthony, and Judy, the baby. Nice names, ain't they? Ellen picked 'em out. They're all grown up now—fine young men and women, if I do say so myself—but there was times when you just wondered if they ever would. It was just one thing after another. Sick or healthy, they had you up to your neck in bills.

"Johnny Bentham," she says, "are you out of your mind?" "No," I says. "And I haven't robbed a bank, neither." So I told her all about the bonus.

Well, she still thought I was crazy. "Spending all that money on a little trip," she says. "Do you think we're millionaires? Johnny, I'll never put foot on that boat."

"Now, that's a fine howdydo!" I says, making out I'm insulted. "A woman refusing to go on a honeymoon with her husband!"

Well, she just looked at me and I just looked at her, and first thing you know she threw her arms around me and began kissing me, and what did the two of us do but end up laughing and crying like a couple of kids.

"Gosh, Mama," I says. "It's better later than never, ain't it?" . . . Say, will you look at them porpoises!

Budget Pointers

There's a tendency to go along with the crowd when it comes to spending money, especially on food, instead of seeing what can be done to stretch the food dollar. Getting the most out of the food dollar does not, fortunately, mean that we have to tighten our belts; it just means a bit of maneuvering.

In the midst of soaring food costs, there's plenty of help for the woman who wants it, and today's recipes are designed to give you plenty of food for thought. Give your family a change of menu, and give the budget a chance to stay within its limits at the same time.

There are several general rules to follow: Buy wisely; don't overbuy and let food go to waste; serve and cook whatever you have properly, and don't toss away good leftovers.

For main dishes you can call on good quality proteins for front line duty; they're cheaper than the expensive cuts of meat and do just as much for you.

Macaroni-Cheese Souffle

(Serves 6)

- 1 cup cooked macaroni
- 1 cup sweet cream or condensed milk
- 1/2 cup butter or substitute
- 2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1/2 green pepper, minced
- 1 medium green onion, minced
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
- Salt and pepper
- 4 eggs, separated

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain; scald milk and add other ingredients. Stir in beaten yolks, then fold in stiffly beaten whites. Turn into a greased casserole and set in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven for one hour. Serve with mushroom or pimiento cream sauce.

Eggs Foo Young

(Serves 6)

- 6 eggs, beaten
- 1 No. 2 can bean sprouts
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 1/2 cup shredded onion
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced, if desired

Add salt and pepper to eggs and beat well. Add remaining ingredients. Taste and add more seasonings if desired. For each cake, measure out 1/2 cup of the mixture and use 1 tablespoon of fat for frying. Pour mixture into skillet, leveling vegetables evenly over the surface of the cake. Brown on both sides, turning once. About five minutes are required to cook each cake. Serve with soy sauce.

Rice Nests With Egg

(Serves 6)

- 1/2 cup butter or substitute
- 1 1/2 cups cooked rice
- 6 slices bacon
- 6 eggs
- Salt and pepper

Butter a baking dish and place rice in it, forming nests out of it with a spoon. Broil the bacon and place one strip around each nest, holding it in place with a toothpick. Break an egg in each nest and sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven until the white of the egg is cooked but the yolk tender. This will take five to six minutes.

Among the kind-to-the-budget items is corned beef hash that comes canned and ready-to-serve. It's easily dressed up in pinwheels of baking powder biscuit dough, and certain to be a favorite with the men of the house.

*Corned Beef Hash Rolls

(Serves 4)

- 1 cup sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup milk
- 1 pound can corned beef hash

Mix dry ingredients together and sift. Work in shortening. Add liquid gradually, mixing to a soft dough. Roll to a thickness of about one-fourth inch. Spread corned beef hash on dough; roll and cut in four parts. Place on a greased cookie sheet (lifting with a pancake turner). Bake in a moderately hot (400-degree) oven for 30 minutes.

*Sweet Sour Green Beans

(Serves 4 to 5)

- 2 strips bacon
- 1 small onion
- 1 No. 2 can green beans
- 2 teaspoons sugar
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 cup vinegar

Cut the bacon in half inch pieces. Brown lightly with diced onion. Add liquid drained from green beans. Cook down to about 1/2 cup. Add remaining ingredients and beans. Heat and serve.

*Date-Nut Custard Pudding

(Serves 6)

- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1 8-ounce can date-nut bread

Beat egg slightly, add milk, sugar and salt. Cook in a double boiler until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from hot water and stir in lemon rind and cinnamon. Cut date-nut bread into pieces and combine with custard. Chill.

Peanut Brownies

(Makes 3 dozen)

- 2 egg whites
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon maple flavoring
- 1 cup pecans, chopped
- 1 cup fine dry bread crumbs

Beat egg whites until stiff, add sugar and flavoring. Stir well, then fold in nuts and crumbs. Shape into small balls, place on a greased baking pan and bake in a slow (325-degree) oven for about 20 minutes. Released by Western Newspaper Union.

LYNN SAYS:

Serve Simply But Season Well

Fill pans with camembert cheese and serve as a salad with french dressing.

Like your tomatoes served simply? Try a very few herbs, a bit of oil and vinegar as a dressing.

Poach peaches in a bit of honey after you've sprinkled them with lemon juice and you have a real dessert treat. A bit of whipped cream goes nicely, too.

When serving clear soup, or even just tomato juice heated as a first course, always spice it up with a wedge of lemon.

Have trouble getting rid of juices from canned vegetables? Mix with a bit of tomato juice and serve hot or cold. This is vitamin rich, and a good first course besides.

Try scrambled eggs made with a bit of tomato soup instead of milk or cream for a change, or add a few tablespoons of deviled ham to the scrambled egg mixture before cooking. You'll enjoy the lift in flavor.

THE CAMPBELLS ARE COMING—
Glen H. Campbell (Dodd, Mead & Co., $4).

The origin of the Clan Campbell and the history of Scotland are synonymous and here the author, as a bearer of the famous name, takes the most interesting aspects of each and has woven them into a skillfully drawn account of the Campbells' hand in Scottish affairs.

Liberally illustrated, the book contains historical information written in an absorbing narrative form. In every Scotch crisis a Campbell had a responsible role in the ultimate outcome. One of the best chapters in the book concerns the story of the ill-fated Mary, Queen of Scots, on whose side the Campbells remained loyal with almost disastrous results.

The author, an advertising executive of Cleveland, O., took many pains to bring his readers an accurate, descriptive history of the Campbells. Not content with a long and diligent research in local libraries, he travelled to Scotland and covered personally the territory about which he writes. While the book is of primary interest to the Campbells themselves, many of whom know nothing of the fascinating background of the clan, every individual of Scotch descent and scholars of every nationality will find something appealing in its pages.

Book Reviews In Brief

National Park Ideals

National parks in the United States, created by act of congress, are areas of national significance distinguished by superlative natural scenery, set aside for preservation as nearly as possible in unimpaired condition and dedicated to the use and inspiration of the people. In establishing the Yellowstone, first national park, congress quaintly designated it "a public park or pleasuring-ground for the benefit and enjoyment of the people" and provided against "injury or spoliation of all timber, mineral deposits, natural curiosities or wonders within said park, and their retention in their natural conditions. In establishing national parks no thought is given to geographic location. The area proposed for national park use is considered primarily from the standpoint of whether or not its principal features are of broad, national interest.

run with this size crew, the men used two wagons, each driver helping the other to load and unload. They hauled the corn a distance of 100 rods from the field to the farmyard, cut 53 tons of ensilage and filled to capacity a 37-foot silo, having a diameter of 10 feet. The entire job took 18 hours. The electrically operated cutter and blower was in use 7 1/2 hours, with 7.7 tons of ensilage being blown into the silo per hour. Electricity consumed totaled $1.98.

Soft Corn Can Be Saved

By Proper Management

A wet spring may mean soft corn in the fall. There are two ways of salvaging high moisture content corn.

One is to store the corn in a crib with a slatted floor under which air can be forced by means of a fan. Air, rising up through the corn and out vents in the top of the crib, is effective in drying corn in temperatures as low as 50 degrees. And there must be vents in the crib to permit use of this type of system.

The other accepted way to salvage immature corn is to make it into ear corn silage. Silage of this type makes a good feed for fattening beef cattle, according to tests conducted at Iowa agricultural experiment station. Two men can conduct a silo filling operation satisfactorily with the aid of an electrically operated ensilage cutter, equipped with a blower. In a test

Veterans' SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This Newspaper through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

State Bonus Laws

Because of the numerous queries received on the subject, Veterans Service Bureau has made a quick survey and learns that 13 states have already approved or passed veterans' bonus laws subject to referendum. In addition, 12 more states have the question up for consideration by their state legislatures this year.

Due to the fact that the plans vary to such an extent both as to amount of bonus and method of financing, this column will not attempt to go into detail concerning the various plans.

Connecticut, Illinois, Michigan, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont and Alaska have provided bonuses and have authorized more than 800 million dollars for payment.

In six other states, Ohio, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Indiana and New York, legislatures have authorized bonuses but they are subject to referendums of the people.

Generally, the proposed method of finance is the issuance of long-term bonds to be retired by increased taxes. As an example of two of the plans, Connecticut provides $10 per month of active service up to a maximum of 30 months and lump sum payments up to $300 to eligible survivors of veterans who died in service. The Ohio plan provides $10 per month for domestic and $15 per month for overseas service, up to $400.

Questions and Answers

Q. My husband receives 100 per cent disability compensation. He has applied for training under the vocational rehabilitation act (public law 16). Will his compensation continue while he is engaged in such training?—Mrs. J. R. G., Oklahoma City, Okla.

A. Your husband will be entitled to receive the full amount of his disability compensation while training under public law 16. His compensation will not be reduced because he is engaged in such training. Only reason for a reduction in compensation would be a decrease in the degree of disability or the fact that the disability has been cured.

Q. I am the owner of a small machine shop and have several disabled veterans in on-the-job training in my shop. Can you tell me how much Veterans' administration supervision and assistance they are supposed to receive?—W. T. McK. Jr., Hayes, Kan.

A. According to Veterans' administration, their training officers inform and assist veterans who are taking on-the-job training in all matters affecting their training. These VA officers are continually on the alert for circumstances that might prevent a veteran's proper progress and they exert every effort to remove those obstacles.

Q. I have just been discharged from the navy but received a so-called yellow discharge. Am I eligible for veterans benefits under the G.I. bill?—J. L. B., Union, Utah.

A. You are not necessarily ineligible since a yellow discharge may be either dishonorable or other than honorable. If it is dishonorable you are not eligible for benefits. If it is other than honorable you are entitled to file a claim with Veterans' administration and the agency then will determine whether or not you were released under circumstances which permit your receiving G.I. benefits.

Q. I am a veteran of the South Pacific campaigns and have been out of service for more than a year. My young daughter needs an operation. Will Veterans' administration pay for her medical care?—D. M. R., Valparaiso, Ind.

A. No. Under existing laws only veterans are eligible for VA hospital care.

Q. What is the deadline for filing for enlisted men's terminal leave pay? Do I still have time to do so? I was discharged in November, 1945.—A. D. F., Brooklyn, N. Y.

A. Filing deadline for applications for terminal leave bonds has been extended from September 1, 1947, to September 1, 1948.

Q. When an enlisted man is discharged from a Veterans' administration hospital with a disability rating of 70 per cent, is that rating continued indefinitely or is there an automatic reduction at some future time?—D. R. P., Tacoma, Wash.

A. A temporary disability may be reduced at the discretion of Veterans' administration if the disability has decreased or been cured. There is no specific length of time applicable to all disabilities in which the degree of disability may be reduced or discontinued. Any decision depends upon the circumstances.

Q. I am writing to find out whether or not the state of Ohio has paid its veterans a state bonus and if not are they passing a law to pay one?—L. P., Fort Gay, W. Va.

A. Suggest that you write direct to the secretary of state for the state of Ohio at Columbus, Ohio.

Q. Is there any information available about whether the navy intends to retain the Seabees in the service?—C. M. B., Gary, Ind.

A. The Seabees (construction battalion units) will be retained as a permanent part of the regular navy.

Gems of Thought

I sometimes wish that people would not a little more emphasis upon the observance of the law than they do upon its enforcement.—Calvin Coolidge.

Errors, like straws, upon the surface flow; he who would search for pearls must dive below.—John Dryden.

Have some aim in life: be not simply good, be good for something.—Thoreau.

Questions About Your Government Answered

Facts About The U. S. Will Fascinate You

HERE'S MORE to our government than the dull facts and figures contained in text books. Did you know, for instance, that four pairs of our Presidents were related?

That the "Star Spangled Banner" did not become our national anthem until 1931? That a President can be impeached, but a congressman cannot? Do you know who "capitol" and "capitol" are spelled differently? Hundreds of interesting questions about the government are answered in booklet No. 202. That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—the risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, pain, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

COUNTY POTATO FIELD DAY AT SCHUSTER FARM SEPT. 14

The Washington county potato field day will be held on the Earl Schuster farm (Dheinsville) on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 14. The program will start at 2:00 o'clock and will be followed with a tour of the county demonstration plot. The Schuster farm is located two and one-half miles northwest of Germantown on Highway 55 and County Trunk P. (Holy Hill road). Twelve of the popular Wisconsin varieties of potatoes are planted in the plot this year by Schuster and the cooperation of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association who supplied the seed.

 Further information regarding the appearance of the various varieties in the demonstration plot and the speaking program to be presented will be given in next week's paper.
