SCORES LAST SUNDAY Kewaskum 11, Adell 10 (11 Innings) GAME THIS SUNDAY Kewaskum at Plymouth (First of 3-game playoff series for grand championship)

In a thrilling slugfest at Adell Sunday that went 11 innings before the winner was determined, the Kewaskum Utensils won, 11-10, and with it the championship and pennant in the southern division of the Kettle Moraine League.

The Utensils finished the season with a fine record, having won 12 games while losing only 2. They finished one game ahead of the Campbellsport Belles, Adell copped third place, Kewaskum had to win at Adell; a defeat would have dropped the team into a tie with the Campbellsport Belles.

Almost everything in the books happened at Adell Sunday and the same kept fans in a roar of excitement and suspense. Both teams were out for blood and the lead changed hands several times. There was plenty of hard base knocks, sensational playing, erratic pitching, food pitching and bad, alert and sleepy ball, keen rivalry, arguments and maybe just a little bad blood between the teams.

A combined total of 29 hits were made, 15 by the Utensils and 14 by Adell. Thirteen errors were committed, 6 by Kewaskum and 7 by the losers. Marx went the route for the winners and whiffed 8 Adell batters. Helming and Schultz shared hurling duties for Adell and struck out 6 between the two of them. Clayton Stautz paced the winners with a double and 2 singles, while 5 others on the Kewaskum team connected for 2 hits. Helming got a triple and 2 singles for Adell and 5 of his teammates also got 2 hits apiece. The big blow of the inning were Tessar's triple in the 6th inning with 2 men on base and Zueniger's home run with a mate, aboard in the 8th frame, which tied the score at 10-all. Zueniger's homer was the longest hit we've seen all season, the ball sailing high and wide on top of the school house in center field.

Adell didn't waste any time, teeing off for 3 runs in the first inning. Featuring the splurge was Helming's long triple to left center with 2 men on. This was a bad start for the Utensils but they returned the compliment in the second inning, when they knocked the score with 3 runs. Two more markers in the third gave the Kums a 5-3 lead. An Adell run in their half of the same inning brought it to 5-4. The Utensils made it 7 runs in the fourth with a pair of runs but Adell scored 4 on the same inning to go ahead again, 8-7. They held the advantage until the sixth when Kewaskum broke the ice again with a 2-run rally to take a 10-8 lead. This lead looked mighty good so late in the contest but Adell wasn't fazed by the splurge. Zueniger's big homer with a runner on base in the eighth knotted it again at 10 apiece. The ninth and tenth were scoreless but in the eleventh "Red" Stautz was safe on Zueniger's error and Prost swung him to third. With Honeck at bat Stautz attempted to score on an expected hit but the ball wasn't hunted and "Red" was caught off base. Then Honeck hit a long fly to center which backed center fielder Sauter against the school house steps and he was unable to hang onto the ball. Prost romped home with a run and Adell was held scoreless in their half of the eleventh.

Rider Hurt When Horse Rears, Falls Onto Auto

Charles Barton, 18, Milwaukee, suffered bruises on his right leg, cuts on the right hand and two cuts above the right eye at 12:30 p. m. Sunday when the horse he was riding on County Trunk GGG in the town of Auburn, near the Bar-N Ranch, reared and jumped against the side of a car driven by Raymond H. Theis of Random Lake.

Leo Treleven, Fond du Lac county ambulance driver, brought Barton for his injuries and then brought him to the office of a Kewaskum physician. According to Treleven, Theis was driving his northbound vehicle at a speed of about 30 miles an hour when he noticed the horse and rider. He slowed to about five miles an hour. As the vehicle came abreast of the horse, the animal kicked and jumped against the side of the vehicle.

Barton was thrown to the ground and the horse, with a deep cut on its right front quarters, limped to one side of the road. It was not mortally wounded, however. The left front section and left door and fender of Theis' car was damaged.

Marjorie Koepke and Ellsworth Prost Wed

An altar of white gladioli was the setting on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 6, in the Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, Wayne, when Marjorie Hilda Koepke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Koepke, Kewaskum, R. 2, became the bride of Ellsworth W. Prost, son of Arnold Prost, Kewaskum, R. 2. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Carl Flueckiger.

A deep sweetheart neckline, tiny satin rose buds and lace insets detailed the fitted bodice of the bridal gown. The full skirt ended in a train. A crown of seed pearls secured her full length veil. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. White roses, asters and baby's breath were the flowers in her shower bouquet.

A sister of the bride, Miss Lillian Koepke, was maid of honor. Bridal brides were Miss Betty Jane Petri and Miss Betty Ann Prost and Joan and Gloria Koepke, sisters of the bride. A white ruffie formed an off shoulder neckline of their mousseline de sole gowns. The yellow roses and white gladioli of the maid of honor's bouquet lent a contrast to her green gown. The bridal aides carried American Beauty roses with their dusty rose gowns. Matching flowers were fastened in their hair. The girls wore matching chokers and earrings, gifts of the bride.

William Maurer, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man, while Kenneth Koepke and Wilford Prost were groomsmen. Lloyd Koepke and Melvin Krueger ushered.

During the ceremony Armand Mertz sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

A reception for 75 guests at the home of the bride followed the ceremony. Upon returning from their wedding trip in northern Wisconsin, the newlyweds will reside at Campbellsport, rural route.

Rainbow Nine Tops Bolts in Finale; Cinch Second

Kewaskum's Rainbow league team clinched second place by defeating Boltonville, 8-2, here Sunday in the final game of the season. Kewaskum finished the season with 10 wins and 4 losses, while league leading Sheboygan Falls has won 10 and lost 2. However, Falls still has a postponed game to play with the Batavia-Silvers Sunday and should they lose, Kewaskum can still gain a tie for first place.

While Kewaskum was disposing of Boltonville in easy fashion Sunday, Sheboygan Falls had a tough time of it in defeating last place Barton. The game went 11 innings before Falls finally nosed out Barton, 2-1. Barton outly Falls and an enigma run on an unusual lucky break gave Falls the victory in the 11th. This fluke run probably decided the Rainbow championship. The scrappy Barton nine upset Kewaskum two weeks before to knock them out of the loop lead.

Woman Injured When Auto Rams Into Tree

Mrs. Rufus Bagg, 71, of 16 Brookway st., Appleton, sustained internal injuries and a cut on the left knee at 9 a. m. Tuesday when the 1949 Packard 4-door sedan she was driving left the highway and crashed into a tree in front of the Legion clubhouse on North Fond du Lac avenue, village. Mrs. Bagg was traveling south at the time.

The driver told Officer Edmund Taack, who investigated the accident, that she saw the 25 mile an hour speed limit sign as she entered the village and that she was traveling at that speed. She claimed that after that she did not remember a thing until she was being placed in the Miller ambulance to be taken to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend. The auto crossed the highway and struck the tree on the left side of the road. It was believed that Mrs. Bagg fell asleep at the wheel but she thought she must have fainted, claiming that she had not been sleepy.

The front of the auto was badly damaged. Property damage was estimated at several hundred dollars.

Alvin Wietor Critically Hurt in Fall on Buzz Saw

Physicians earlier this week gave Alvin Wietor, 21, of Route 1, Campbellsport, an even chance to live as the result of two blood transfusions given him over the week end. Wietor was critically injured late last week when he fell onto a buzz saw while working at the farm of his brother-in-law, Alvin Straub, also of Route 1, Campbellsport.

A piece of wood that Wietor was sawing became lodged in the machine, causing its handler to lose his balance and fall, his face hitting the rotary saw. The whirling saw caught him in the left cheek, practically removing the cheek and almost severing the left eyeball.

The accident occurred in a woods some distance from the Straub home. The victim walked to the house and from here was removed to St. Agnes hospital. Physicians worked over him for two and one-half hours.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wietor, Fond du Lac.

By EDWARD EMERINE

No other civilized area on earth has such consistently fertile soil. That, in itself, is a description of Iowa! That's why the corn grows tall. That's why the proportionate area under cultivation is greater than in any other state. That's why the diversity of crops outranks any other spot in the world. And that may be why so many Iowa people have attained national prominence, and all of them, regardless of their niche in life, have such a proud and confident bearing.

Iowans are aware of the many firsts held by their state—agricultural products per capita, cash farm income, corn production, cattle value, number of hogs, grade A land, oats production, poultry numbers and many others. But there is another "first" that must command attention: Iowa people have the highest literacy standing in the United States! Only 8 per cent are illiterate. Therefore, back of Iowa's greatness is intelligence, training and industrious application of their talents.

The state of Iowa is one of the healthiest in the nation. The dry, pure air of its rolling prairies is invigorating. There are no longer any swamps—and, unfortunately, there are few natural forests remaining.

Several of the streams in the northwestern part of the state have rocky channels and are clear. The northern part of the state is a continuation of the many clear, pebbly lakes of Minnesota in glacier-scored pits. The largest are Spirit lake and the two Okoboji lakes in Dickinson county and Clear lake in Cerro Gordo county, all popular summer resorts. Yes, Iowans know far more enjoyment than working in a corn-field.

Shifting Allegiance.

The flags of France, Spain and the United States have flown over Iowa. Father Marquette, the missionary, and Joliet, the fur-trader, were the first white men known to have touched Iowa soil. That was in 1673 when they landed near the mouth of the river now known as the Des Moines. But before them were the Ioway and Illini tribes of Indians, later driven out by the Sacs and Foxes. In 1788 a party of 10 white men under Julien Dubuque established the first white settlement on the site of the present city of Dubuque. They were attracted by the lead deposits in the area and opened small mines.

France ceded the area to Spain in 1763, but the country was returned to France in 1800. In 1803 all the territory known as the Louisiana Purchase, which included Iowa, was obtained by the United States. Iowa was a part of Louisiana in 1805, of Missouri in 1812, of Michigan in 1834, of Wisconsin in 1836, finally becoming an independent territory in 1838. Iowa was admitted as the sixteenth state of the union in 1846.

Mississippi and then pushed westward to the Missouri river. The land was rich and they were pioneers. They cleared and plowed and planted. They knew the log cabin, the sod shanty, the fear of Indians, the cold of winter, the cry of wild animals. Pioneering in Iowa was a rugged life. But the settlers stayed and built—and prospered.

Friendly Inhabitants.

Iowa is a hospitable state with friendly people. It is a beautiful land, the wild rose its state flower, the goldfinch its state bird. Des Moines, the capital, is a city of parks and drives, industries and stores, homes and memorials. There are 48,000 miles of surfaced roads within Iowa's borders, all leading to something of interest and beauty.

The state of Iowa produces 10 per cent of the food for the nation. Its manufacturing is based largely upon food manufacturing and processing, making up 50 per cent of its total. But machinery and tools, metal products and drugs, chemicals and paints, clay and stone, cement and glass, textiles and paper, leather products and washing machines, motor vehicles and parts, rubber and tobacco—all of these are included in Iowa's industries too.

There is clay for pottery, sand for glass, walnut for furniture, and coal for 10,000 years! There are poultry packing plants, hatcheries, tree nurseries, seed houses, packing plants, hybrid seed corn farms, purebred cattle, draft horses, hogs and pork products, county fairs and community celebrations. Level though the land may be, there's nothing monotonous about Iowa.

For recreation there are 34 state parks and reserves, 13 state monuments, seven waysides and 10 forest reserves. They vary in size from an acre by the roadside to 4,000 acres with streams and lakes. Iowa has 65 public lakes and some 800 miles of banks along its streams which have been acquired for enjoyment of the public. Prior to World War II more than 2,500,000 persons annually visited Iowa parks.

Exceeds Alaska.

Iowa's fur crop in 1946 exceeded Alaska's by more than a million dollars! Yes, there is game in Iowa, including raccoon, mink, civet, red fox, weasel, coyote, beaver, opossum, badger, deer and others. There is always plenty of fishing in the lakes and streams.

Three great state schools in Iowa are famed in fields of higher education—the State University at Iowa City, the Iowa State college at Ames and the Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls. Private colleges and universities include Coe college at Cedar Rapids, Drake university at Des Moines, Grinnell college at Grinnell, Iowa Wesleyan at Mount Pleasant, William Penn college at Oskaloosa, Luther college at Decorah and a dozen others. There are 12,000 public schools in Iowa, from kindergarten to senior high schools. Religious denominations maintain more than 20 schools of higher education in Iowa.

Lewis and Clark knew Iowa. John Brown trained men in Iowa for his attack on Harpers Ferry. Buffalo Bill, the famed William F. Cody, was born at LeClaire in Iowa. The old hymn, "Little Brown Church in the Vale," was written for a church at Nashua. More than eight million Delicious apple trees sprang from the original grown at Peru, Iowa. Antonin Dvorak, famed Bohemian composer, brought renown to little Spillville. Mark Twain lived for a time at Keokuk. The Mormon trail crossed 11 counties in Iowa.

And so Iowa remains, the heart of America's bread-basket, the source of much national wealth, food and comfort, and the home of a proud and intelligent people. Iowa is more than a place where the tall corn grows.

Familiar Farm Scenes in 'The Land Where the Tall Corn Grows'

Products of Farms and Fields Enrich Iowa's Coffers

The people of Iowa have to be learned in arithmetic to add up the totals of their crops and compute their worth!

Iowa corn production in 1944 reached an all-time high of 807,608,000 bushels from 11,252,000 acres. The state ranked second in oats production with 144,270,000 bushels, thirty-first in wheat with 2,245,000 bushels, third in soy beans with 42,580,000 bushels, first in timothy seed with 742,000 bushels. A total of 22,069,000 acres of good Iowa soil is farmed.

Iowa feeds approximately a million head of cattle each year, and the number of all cattle on farms is estimated at 5½ million head. Iowa's packing plants slaughter 15 million head of cattle each year and employ 21,500 men.

Iowa has led the nation in pork production for more than half a century. Approximately 12 million spring pigs and 6 million fall pigs are produced each year. Returns from the swine industry represent 40 per cent of the total farm income of the state and 25 per cent of the federally inspected U. S. kill.

And added to the above is Iowa's great dairy industry, its poultry and eggs, and other products from its farms and fields!

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Serve Chicken for Economy's Sake
(See recipes below.)

Chicken Cookery

According to the Commodity Index, which records the rise and fall of wholesale prices, poultry today is selling at prices we were paying in 1928. Needless to say, this means that at a time when other foods have soared, poultry is at a low level.

With a favorable supply and price, you can plan to use a lot of poultry now, and give your family something of a treat with unusually prepared chicken dishes.

Chicken should be cooked to "fork tenderness." There is little excuse for underdone or overdone chicken if you follow the recipes given today, with particular care to temperatures and time for the cookery. A moderate temperature is best to use for chicken so as not to shrink it too much, make it dry or tough.

Most people who like chicken say there's no better way to cook it than to fry it. The generally accepted method is as follows:

1. Rub seasoned flour into pieces. For each pound of chicken, blend ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon salt, and scant ½ teaspoon pepper. Save left-over flour for gravy.

2. Heat enough fat in a heavy skillet to give a depth of about ½ inch, using any desired fat. A drop of water should sizzle when temperature of fat is just hot enough.

3. Start meaty pieces first, slipping less meaty pieces in between as chicken browns. Avoid crowding; use two skillets if necessary.

4. As soon as chicken begins to brown, about 10 minutes, reduce heat, and cook slowly until tender, 30 to 60 minutes, depending on size of pieces. Cover tightly as soon as it is a light, uniform tan.

5. Turn 2 or 3 times with 2 spoons or fork and spoon to brown and cook evenly. Avoid piercing with fork.

6. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons water before covering, especially recommended if pan cannot be covered tightly, or if bird is heavier than 3 pounds.

7. Uncover last 15 minutes to re-crisp skin if desired. The liver and precooked heart, gizzard, and neck may be floured and browned with chicken the last 15 minutes.

8. Lift fried chicken to hot platter. Prepare gravy in pan drippings.

Huntington Chicken
(Serves 6 to 8)

- 2 cups macaroni
- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup flour
- ½ cup cream, scalded
- 1 cup cream cheese
- 3 tablespoons pimiento, finely cut
- 1 cup hot chicken broth
- 2 cups cooked chicken, diced
- Salt
- Pepper

Cook macaroni. Make cream sauce of butter, flour, and cream. Add cheese, pimiento, and chicken broth; mix. Add chicken and macaroni, add seasonings. Pour into buttered casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 45 minutes.

LYNN SAYS:
Know Cookery Terms For All Recipes

To bake means to cook in an oven at a required temperature. Use an oven regulator or an oven thermometer if you have no other control.

To blanch means to dip in boiling water, usually for the purpose of loosening the skins.

To fricassee means to fry in a small amount of fat and to serve with a sauce.

To sear means to subject the surface of a food to great heat. Scalding is allowing something like milk to heat to just below the boiling point.

To pan broil means cooking in a pan on top of the stove. Heat pan and if necessary, grease only lightly.

To boil is to cook in boiling water. Slowly boiling water is better and more effective than rapidly boiling water because there is less evaporation and thus a need of replenishing the supply and bringing it back to a boil again.

Chicken Chop Suey with Mushrooms
(Serves 6)

- Cooked meat from 4 lb. fowl
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 1 cup shredded carrot
- 3 cups diced celery
- 1 green pepper, shredded
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 scant cup chicken stock or water
- ¼ to ½ pound mushrooms
- 1 cup sour cream
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 4 tablespoons water or stock
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 3 cups boiled rice or fried noodles

Cook onion in fat until light yellow. Add carrot, celery, green pepper, salt, and the 1 cup water.

Cook until vegetables are barely tender and liquid is fairly well absorbed, about 15 minutes. Add mushrooms (sliced or whole), sour cream and chicken pieces and bring to a boil.

Blend flour and 4 tablespoons water and stir into mixture. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Season to taste. Add soy sauce or serve it at table. Serve "bubbly-hot" with hot rice or fried noodles.

Barbecued Chicken
(Serves 2 to 4)

- 1 young chicken, 1½ to 2½ pounds cut in half
- Giblets and neck

Barbecue Sauce

- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 1 cup catsup
- ¼ cup fat
- ½ cup giblet stock or water
- ½ cup lemon juice or vinegar
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Clean and cook giblets by simmering in seasoned water for 1 to 2 hours or until tender. Prepare Barbecue Sauce by blending salt, pepper, paprika, and sugar in saucepan. Add onion, catsup, fat, and water. Heat to boiling. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce. For basting during cooking, blend ½ cup sauce and ½ cup giblet stock. Set aside remaining sauce for serving with cooked chicken.

Place neck and halves of chicken in skillet or Dutch oven. Baste both sides of chicken with the diluted sauce. Cook tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 1 hour. Baste once or twice. Remove cover, baste with diluted sauce and continue cooking uncovered until chicken is tender and browned, about 1 hour.

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

To pan fry is to cook in shallow fat in a skillet. This is sometimes called sauteing.

To broil or grill is to cook over or under a clear fire or in a broiling oven. Do not pierce broiled food with a fork or they will lose their juices.

Creaming means letting food stand at room temperature until it is softened and then working with a wooden spoon or an electric mixer until it is creamy. The phrase is often used of butter.

When the leather on chairs becomes sticky, it can be easily remedied by moistening a piece of cheesecloth with banana oil and rubbing it into the leather. Wipe with a clean, soft cloth.

Class cooking utensils should be thoroughly dry on the outside before they are placed on the stove. Even a few drops of water on the outside of a glass coffee-maker, for instance, may cause uneven heating and result in cracking or breaking.

ABOUT OUR PRESIDENTS

TWO PRESIDENTS, William Henry Harrison and Zachary Taylor, have died in the White House. Harrison died about one month after taking office. Franklin D. Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, at Warm Springs, Ga. while on a brief vacation.

THE UNITED STATES SENATE sat as a court of impeachment in the case of a President but once, that of Andrew Johnson, 17th President. Johnson was acquitted.

IN THE CAMPAIGN OF 1880, the two leading opposing candidates for the Presidency of the United States, Garfield and Hancock, were major generals in the Civil war.

Big engines... long trains mean lower cost to you!
But union leaders want "half-trains"—double crews!
 Big locomotives are built to do a big job in the big country which is America—a big job in peacetime as in wartime. They are built to pull long trains.
 Long freight trains can handle more goods at less cost—to you—than short trains.
 Long trains mean fewer trains—fewer chances for accidents—fewer interruptions to traffic.
 But a few railroad union leaders oppose long trains—among their current 44 demands for changes in rules is one limiting the length of freight trains to 57 average cars. Why do they demand this?
 For "safety," they say. But is it? Government figures show definitely that long trains mean greater safety to railroad employees and public alike.
 Then, if safety is not the real reason—what is the reason behind this demand? It is to make more jobs which are not needed—to get more pay! This "made work" would be sheer waste. Think of big, modern locomotives using only half their power.
 For this waste, you—the public—would have to pay. Higher costs mean a lower standard of living for everybody. Nobody wants that!
Here's the record...
 In the quarter century... 1921-1946...
 Average length of freight trains has gone up..... 39%
 Average speed of freight trains has gone up... 39%
 The rate of injuries to railroad employees has gone down..... 60%
 Average wages paid railroad workers have gone up..... 84%
 Price of railroad materials and supplies has gone up..... 58%
 Railroad taxes have gone up..... 76%
 But the average charge by railroads for hauling a ton of freight one mile has gone down..... 23%

Let's Face Hard Facts

SOME DAY these good times will be over!

SOME DAY production will catch up with demand, employment will be down and most of the world will be looking to us for a handout. Taxes will be terrific.

Isn't it plain horse sense to save now for the rugged days that lie ahead. We don't mean to hoard, but lay something aside for the time when money won't be so easy to make.

If you don't have a bank account please accept this invitation to get started. It's the best move you'll ever make.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Marrying Him to Reform Him

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"He drifted about my boarding house, gray-headed, a sad shadow of his old self, borrowing money where he could."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"I THOUGHT my husband was a man of honor, and would keep the solemn promises he made before we were married," writes Norma Elson from South Carolina. "Frank was absolutely honest with me. He told me he had a bad record, when we first met. Or rather, he didn't have to tell me, as everyone knew about it. He was a great figure in our town, a good deal older than my crowd of sophomores in college, a gambler, drinker, fast driver, but fascinating, or we thought so then. Any girl in town would have been flattered to go out with him."

"When he took me out it was to the smartest and most exciting places, and when he asked me to marry him it was with the solemn promise that he would stop drinking, betting, and going with the worst element in town. "But he did everything with great dash, and he was handsome then; anyway, we were married, against my parents' desperate protest. I was 19, Frank said he was 36, he was really almost five years older."

"Well, of course, once we were married he completely gave up all efforts to reform. He hadn't gotten very far with them, and he never tried again. At the slightest suggestion of improvement or self-control he grew furious, and I soon learned to avoid occasions of criticism. He came and went, gambled, drank, wasted money as he pleased. From my expectation of excitement, drama, change I sank to a quiet, long-suffering wifehood that asked only for peace. Frank was jailed for house-breaking when our boy was two years old, and served seven years."

"Had Same Old Vices. "When he came out his life was over, although he lived for eleven more. He drifted about my boarding-house, gray-headed, a sad shadow of his old self, borrowing money where he could, still the same restless, wasteful, intemperate man. I stuck to my bargain, from sheer pride, and perhaps because it was the line of least resistance, but my heart was broken over and over again. My only comfort is that during the long years of keeping boarders I have now and then come across girls who were in the line of making the mistake I did, and whom I have been able to influence. Some times girls will listen to a stranger when their own mothers cannot guide them; if I have saved a few of these, I am repaid. But I hate to look back across these thirty wasted years, and remember the confidence and ignorance with which I threw my life away."

This letter came to me some months ago, but I was reminded of it lately when I read of the young wife of a man whose criminal record she knew perfectly well when she married him a few years ago. While she was still in her bridal year his petty thefts went on, so that her life was one of continual terror of the law. Finally he committed a more serious robbery, rushed into a crowd, and while the horrified bystanders took to flight, was shot down like a dog by a policeman's gun. More fortunate than Norma Elson, whose letter is quoted above, this young wife is freed from her mistake already, and can withdraw to get over the shock of her marriage, and perhaps make a wiser choice sometime. Norma had 27 years of wretched marriage, and when she emerged from them her youth, energy, hope, ambition were all dead.

"He gave up all efforts to reform..."

Record Makers Reach Children With Fairy Tales
Phonograph record makers are studying their nursery rhymes and fairy tales. Disk makers describe the new-found children's market as phenomenal and say it has been largely neglected in the past. They are reluctant to estimate current sales, but agree the popularity of children's disks has grown rapidly since the war's end. Success of recording of Prokofiev's "Peter and the Wolf," which combined a good story with a

THEY DON'T CHANGE

The free-spending, high-flying type of man is attractive to many women. His stylish clothes, dashing manner and general charm blind her to his faults and vices. Miss Norris quotes a letter from a woman who married one of these handsome men-about-town. He was more than twice her age, but she laughed that off. He freely told her about his past, although most of it was common knowledge. But he swore that he would reform; quit drinking, gambling and traveling with the town's underworld characters.

Soon after their marriage, however, he quit all pretense of amending his ways. He became a petty thief and then a house-breaker. For this offense he served seven years in jail.

This unfortunate woman tells Miss Norris that her only happiness during those sad years was that occasionally she has been able to save some foolish, headstrong girl from making the same mistake that she made.

Many a sensible-seeming marriage goes on the rocks, and many an apparently reckless venture succeeds. But in all my years of study of matrimony I have never known a drunkard, a gambler, a wastrel really to reform. If he is capable of reform, he will manage it without the promise of help from a lovely, trusting girl. How many men would marry weak immoral intemperate women on their fearful promises of improvement? No sane man would consider it.

Attractive Rascals. But, unfortunately, too often the lawless boy is the attractive boy. Where other young men are careful about spending, scrupulous about keeping office hours, serious and perhaps dull when planning the future, the fascinating scamp gives life an impression of gaiety and daring. He usually isn't working hard, he has no plans. He is spending other people's money, and so it flows easily. Audacity has always paid high interest for awhile. Gambling and borrowing and drinking lend a certain glamour to youth—for a while. Contrasted with the younger, less sophisticated men, the Byrons of society cut a brilliant dash.

But no woman in the world has so wretched a life as the one who marries a rake to reform him. She'll never change him, but he'll change her. He'll so steep her in anxieties, humiliations, bewildering, fear, that she'll not dare open her mouth.

A young San Francisco girl married an actor some twenty years ago. That is, he said he was an actor, but the only part he ever had was the one he was playing when she married him. She was alone in miserable lodgings when her four children were born; she was alone when a three-year-old girl, who had never known proper housing, food, or care, died in her arms. Wally came and went as carefree as a butterfly. But he never dined at home. "Kid and women food," he said, wasn't good enough for him. It was this man of whom his wife wrote me, in her engagement days. "I'd rather have him untrue to me, than have another man true; I'd rather starve with him than live in luxury with anyone else. He's jealous, he's a spendthrift, he's false to me already—and I love it! Other girls may exist; I'm going to live!" Well, she looks today as if she'd lived—a thousand years.

Small Russian Cars
Factory tests have been completed on the first 100 Moskvich low-powered, low-priced automobiles, and they will go into mass production soon. The new car, which bears some resemblance to the British Austin or the American Crossley, carries four passengers, has a 23-horsepower motor, develops a speed of 55 miles an hour, and gets 30 miles to a gallon of gas. Rate of production is expected to reach 60,000 annually eventually.

Roosevelt Family Turns to Farming

Elliott and Eleanor Begin Back-to-Land Movement

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON. — Moses Smith, I understand, has retired. He is leaving the 140 acres he has been farming for 27 years. His landlord's widow and her son are going to work it from now on.

The last time I saw Moses Smith he was dressed in his Sunday clothes. We were both up in his former landlord's bedroom, with some of the neighbors. It was a sad occasion. It was the boss' birthday anniversary but he had been dead nearly two years. The room looked the same to Moses and his friends who had seen it often when they came up there to talk over farm and other business. The former occupant's dressing gown was lying on the bed, his slippers were by the couch. The boss was one of the landlords that tenants like. Moses told me that, five years before, when I visited him at his white-painted farm house.

"I've rented from him for 22 years (that was 1941)," he told me then, "and he has yet to find a fault. Whenever he comes over here to say 'hello' and 'goodbye' but he doesn't find fault. And I've made mistakes, too. Nobody is perfect."

The landlord had a pretty good opinion of the tenant, too, as I learned later. Smith knew that and that didn't do to his head. He is a typical, independent, self-respecting up-state New York farmer. I remember he said to me that day, sitting on the front stoop, in 1941:—

"The President drove over here a little while back, with Princess Juliana. He told her about this house being over 100 years old and I told him about the well-water. It had gone bad. So he said go ahead and dig a new well." Smith and I walked over to the new well. It was 100 feet deep. "It will last 100 years," said Smith with the pride you find up that way in good things that last.

By this time you have guessed that Smith was a tenant on the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N. Y. I take it he is a comfortably retired farmer now, living in the nearby village of the same name. And Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and her son, Elliott, have taken over. I don't know who will live in the farm house. The old Roosevelt homestead is a museum now—but the Roosevelts have other dwellings.

I don't know who will live in the farm house. The old Roosevelt homestead is a museum now—but the Roosevelts have other dwellings.

Elliott's friends are having sights of relief to hear that he is going in for something constructive. War takes a lot of courage and skill, too, but it isn't very constructive. Neither is night life.

"This is a challenge," Mrs. Roosevelt explained in her column, "which Elliott and I will enjoy." Every farmer knows she's right about the "challenge."

They aren't going to try to raise wheat, corn, potatoes, or attempt to keep 14 cows, as Smith was doing when I visited him. They are going to continue raising Christmas trees, a venture which the late President started and seriously pursued for several years. Smith's 140 acres, which were devoted to general farming, are only a fraction of the more than 1,000 acres, much of which is wooded, and part of which has been devoted to a scientifically-cultivated evergreen crop, which make up the estate.

Mrs. Roosevelt explained that she and her son couldn't afford to keep the estate as a country place, as her mother-in-law had.

I noticed that the New York Herald-Tribune made editorial note of Mrs. Roosevelt's plans and mentioned that a lot of acres along the Hudson "were untended."

It mentioned that Dr. Samuel Bard, a wealthy retired physician, had a place not far from the Roosevelt estate where he carried on valuable experiments which made an important contribution to agriculture. Mrs. Roosevelt hopes to conduct similar experiments.

"If Mrs. Roosevelt," says the Herald-Tribune, "does no more than fasten remembrance on the fact that land endures... that stability of farming is that of a renewable world in which seedtime and harvest are still more lasting than dynasties and dictators... the new farming partnership will have done much of value before the first furrows are turned."

I wonder if you feel the way I do. I think, regardless of the color of one's political sentiments, anybody who loves the soil can offer his well wishes to this venture with the hope that the young man will do as well with his hands in the earth as he did with his plane in the air.

Tragedy in the Forests

It was a coincidence that while I was reminiscing on the subject of the Roosevelts' new adventure in tree-growing, my neighbor in the building across the street presented me with a couple of typewritten pages containing some striking facts about tree destruction. They are apropos, I think, now, as we move toward the close (we hope) of the worst season of forest fires in a decade.

This period of holocausts began before the ink was dry on bills passed by congress making deep slashes in the interior department's appropriations for fire control. Many of the cuts later were restored, but not in time to save thousands of acres of timber in some areas of America, notably Alaska.

"The sawtimber burned in a single year in this country," says my friend's memorandum, "would be sufficient, if converted to building materials, to replace every private house in the cities of New Orleans or Minneapolis."

"If the wood below sawtimber dimensions could be manufactured for paper, it would provide a 25-year subscription to a monthly pocket-size magazine for every man, woman and child in our 142 million population.

If it could be converted to rayon pulp, it would provide material for more than a hundred new dresses for every woman and girl in America.

"In terms of dollars, our annual forest fire loss amounts to 35 million dollars in payrolls lost to woodworkers and three-quarters of a billion dollars worth of wood products. "The tragic part of all this is that 9 out of 10 forest fires could be prevented. Nine out of 10 are traceable to human causes—to incendiaries, causing more than 25 per cent of all fires; to smokers, careless debris-burners, railroads, campers and woodworkers who are responsible in the order named." Well, those are the sentiments of my neighbor, who is trying to establish a "balanced cooperation" among the men who make their money out of trees, one way or another, the people and the birds and the bugs who need to have trees, and the government and others who try to protect and preserve them.

One non-cooperating match tosser can undo a lot of his work.

Parachute jumpers are one of the most important factors in getting forest fires under control swiftly. Here, Dick Tuttle, near top of 100-foot lodgepole pine snag, is about to be assisted by Francis Luskin, forest guard.

FIRST VICTIM

Deflation a Threat to Farmer

Producers of farm commodities, although strongly entrenched in the present economy and apparently destined to remain so, at least for the immediate future, may be the first group to feel the full impact of any reversal of the current inflation trend. That warning was issued by federal reserve board researchers in a midyear study of the position of agriculture, indicating that, even in flush times, the well-being of farmers is in a state of delicate balance. If the present boom were to develop into a tailspin, price falls in the agricultural commodity field probably would be greater than in other areas of the economy, the report points out. Record returns to

LESSON IN WARFARE... Army cadets and navy midshipmen observed combat battalion of marines stage mock beach landing operation as part of operation Camid II. After its completion, the observers inspected the phases and talked with the marines, some of whom were still in foxholes.

NEWS REVIEW

Joint Defense Pact Set; Fear Large Corn Loss

POLE-TO-POLE: Mutual Defense

James Monroe, fifth President of the United States, had his say, in spirit, at least, at the inter-American defense conference at Petropolis, Brazil, in August, 1947.

When the conference agreed on a mutual aid treaty for North and South America and their territorial waters, and set up a vast, North Pole-South Pole hemispheric security zone, the celebrated Monroe doctrine was developed to its logical conclusion 124 years after its inception.

This was the burden of the Monroe doctrine in 1823: "It is only when our rights are invaded or seriously menaced that we resent injuries or make preparations for our defense... in this hemisphere..."

Today, the Americas are making preparations for hemispheric defense in advance of any menace or invasion of their rights. The mutual defense treaty embodies three main points:

1. In the case of armed attack from outside the hemisphere, all nations have the automatic right to meet the attack with military measures.
2. If military attack occurs inside the hemisphere, American nations may go voluntarily to the aid of the victim, with consultations to follow.
3. If attacks occur both inside the hemisphere and outside the security region, immediate consultations will be called.

Thus, despite the opposition of some Latin American nations to the U. S.-sponsored "Monroe doctrine," it appeared certain that the "hands off the Americas" policy was in for a big revival in the atomic age.

TORRID ZONE:

Corn Declines

Thermometer-happy Americans, struggling feebly in the moist clutches of a record heat wave, could take cold comfort from the fact that temperatures were being exceeded in height only by the price of corn.

With abnormally hot weather prevailing over most of the nation, grains continued to deteriorate from lack of moisture and prices of both corn and oats hit new record highs. September corn was selling at $2.45 a bushel and September oats zoomed to $1.08 3/4.

The grain market prices went through the roof following a department of agriculture report that the country's heat-seared corn crop would produce only 2,437,000 bushels, a 223 million bushel drop from the August 1 estimate.

Although agriculture department officials had hoped earlier this year for a 3 billion bushel corn crop to keep food production high, weeks of hot, dry winds shriveled that hope, and the crops of Iowa and Illinois, major producing sections, continued to decline steadily.

HEADLINERS

IN WASHINGTON... John Sampson Kirby, 69, (above) of Tennessee was placed under observation after police had nabbed him packing a pistol in the capitol building and declaring loudly that he had "just been elected president of the United States."

IN NEW YORK... Virginia Walton Brooks, 14, just returned from an African hunting trip with her parents, proudly revealed that she had shot not only an elephant and a lion but also such esoteric creatures as a kongoni, two gerenuks, an oryx, a bat-eared fox, an impala, two dik-diks and a klipspringer.

IN CHICAGO... Mrs. Anna Metzger, 47, had had a pain in her leg for 40 years, finally became curious, pressed the irritated area and pulled out a two-inch sewing needle.

SAY UNCLE:

Ford Gives Up

Abandoning his laudable, if non-conforming, efforts to stabilize automobile prices, Henry Ford II announced that prices on "most models" of Ford passenger cars and all truck models would be boosted from $20 to $97, effective immediately.

It was an average increase of 4.2 per cent, the announcement said, the rise being dictated by "the simple necessity of keeping Ford Motor company on a sound economic basis."

The action, following price increases by virtually every other automotive manufacturer, marked the defeat of Ford's lonely stand against the forces of inflation.

All this gave rise to a disturbing question: If the Ford dynasty is unable to hold the line against inflation, what, if anything, can?

THE SWIFT:

Oysters Lose

Oysters simply aren't fast enough to get away from predatory snails whose pace has been clocked officially at .00363005 miles an hour.

Flooding along on a treadmill at the University of Maryland fish and wildlife laboratory, a test snail covered 22 feet and 1/2 inch in 11 hours and 30 minutes—a pace swift enough, at least, to overtake an oyster.

Purpose of the laboratory's snail-timing experiments is to slow the little creatures up even more. As things stand now, they're doing too much damage to Chesapeake Bay's oyster crop.

Cane and Beet History
Cane had been grown in the tropical areas of the New World generations before sugar extracted from the beet root made its first appearance in Europe. That is not to say, of course, that the parent of the present sugar beet was unknown in bygone days. On the contrary, many scholars believe it was eaten by the laborers who piled up the pyramid of Cheops, and as evidence of the ancient lineage they quote a passage from Herodotus, who lived in the fifth century before Christ.

Women Now Wear Trees
Wood provides the source of the second most important textile fiber used in the United States—rayon. Only cotton exceeds rayon as a fabric material. In 1945 the United States produced 792 million pounds of rayon. Most American women wear clothes made from trees. Statistics show that two-thirds or more of all women's dresses sold in the United States today are made of rayon or contain rayon blended with other fabrics.

Kill Them Very Young
An active and vigorous plant in the early stages of growth will respond more quickly to 2,4-D, the new weed killer, than a mature plant. The usual response is a curling and twisting of the leaves with a gradual dying in three to four weeks. As soon as the weeds after the weeds have died, a fertilizer should be used to encourage the grass to fill in the bare spaces left by the weeds.

Agriculture Stood Still
For some 2,900 years, from the beginning of recorded history, the mass of the human race had suffered continual hunger. In 1800 the art and science of agriculture stood practically where they did in the time of Julius Caesar. True cast iron plows replaced iron-covered wooden plows, but this improvement just about measures the entire advance.

Facing the East
Throughout the ages it has been the custom of many races to bury their dead facing the East. The sun worshippers followed the practice as it was the direction from which their deity returned each morning. For the ancient Greeks it was the way to Elysium or paradise. To the Christians, it is the direction from which Christ will come on Judgment Day.

What Is a Good Horse
About 400 B. C., Xenophon, a Greek historian and soldier, wrote a description of a good horse, explaining how one might be least deceived in buying a horse. In 1538, King Henry VIII of England had laws passed for selection and mating to improve horses and to eliminate scrubs.

Haggis Now Sausage
A national Scotch dish which consists of a well-cleaned sheep stomach filled with minced, blanched and cooked sheep's heart, liver and lungs, mixed with oatmeal, onions, beef suet and herbs, was cooked for two to three hours. Haggis is now sold in thick sausage form.

Source of Gelatine
Gelatine is obtained from various animal substances, such as skin ligaments and bones of animals, by treatment with boiling water. It is commonly obtained when making soup where considerable bone is used. While it is a protein, it is not a complete one.

Per capita income of Americans hit a new peak of $1,200 in 1946, with a gain being registered in almost every state, the department of commerce has reported. That average is more than double the $575 income per man, woman and child in 1940, and is 9 per cent higher than in 1945. Total income paid to individuals last year was a neat 169 billion dollars. The 1945 total was 155 billion dollars.

Silent Popcorn Bag

Civilization has advanced at least one pace with the invention by Irving M. Levin, San Francisco theater manager, of a noiseless bag for popcorn. He describes it as the answer to theater-goers' prayers. "The lamination cuts out the 'crack-a-ackle,'" he claims, "which always swells to a crescendo just when Charles Boyer begins, 'Cherie . . .'"

THE FICTION CORNER by Rube Goldberg

"HERE, take your pineapple juice," gently persuaded Koppel, the male nurse.

"Nope!" grunted Collis P. Ellsworth. "But it's good for you, sir."

Doctor Caswell went to his friend, Judson Livingston, head of the Atlantic Art Institute, and explained the situation.

Collis P. Ellsworth sat in a huge over-upholstered chair by the window. He looked around as Doctor Caswell inquired.

Wrinkles deepened at the corners of the old gentleman's eyes as he asked elliptically, "Well, what do you think of it?"

"I was thinking—could you spare the time to come twice a week or perhaps three times?"

Two students giggled at the raucous splash of color on the wall, and Swain fled.

When the late spring sun began to cloak the fields and gardens with color Ellsworth executed an awful smudge which he called "Trees Dressed in White."

When Doctor Caswell called Ellsworth would talk about the graceful lines of the andirons.

Democrats, naturally, will scoff at that claim. Their assertion is that the Republican congress deliberately under-appropriated in order to make a good record.

But for the disinterested bystander (if he exists) there is a third point of view provided by the actual figures in the case.

More and more people are coming to feel that congress, like a dowdy woman, really should do something about itself.

"Hoppers" Are Plentiful in Washington County

The lowly grasshopper has lifted itself to the exalted rank of making the headlines in most of the daily papers in the state during the past week.

It appears that grasshoppers are plentiful in all sections of the county, according to E. E. Skallskey, county agricultural agent, who says he had been in all thirteen townships checking on this menace during the past few days.

Are the "hoppers" causing damage to farm crops? The answer is yes, but the damage so far is not on a large scale. One reason for this is that there is so much green forage for them to feed upon.

Perhaps the most severe damage caused by the "hoppers" is the loss of much of the alfalfa seed where the second cutting of alfalfa is allowed to go to seed. This year, because of the plentiful first cutting of hay, many farmers are allowing the second crop to go to maturity and produce seed.

County Chapter Ready in Event of Polio Epidemic

Although the nation apparently is facing its fifth consecutive year of severe infantile paralysis epidemics, Washington county thus far has escaped very lightly.

Judge Bucklin pointed out that due to long range planning the national foundation and its chapters are prepared as never before to meet epidemic demands.

"While our county has been fortunate so far," he said, "we never know when we shall be called upon to combat serious outbreaks of polio such as are occurring right now in other parts of the nation. However, no local infantile paralysis victim need go without the best possible care and treatment for lack of funds."

Should the caseload become so great that the north county chapter's treasury would be exhausted in giving service to patients in its area, Judge Bucklin said, national headquarters of the national foundation stands ready to send in supplementary financial aid and also to help provide every possible facility in the form of equipment and skilled professional personnel to cope successfully with the situation.
