

State Beagle Club to Hold 25th Field Trial and Bench Show Here

The Wisconsin Beagle club will hold its twenty-fifth annual (silver anniversary) American Kennel club licensed field trial at Kewaskum again beginning next Friday, Sept. 26, and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 28, and possibly Monday, Sept. 29.

The trial will get under way Friday morning at 7:30 a. m. with the 13-inch all-age dogs, followed by the 13-inch all-age female class something the same afternoon. This will be followed on Saturday and Sunday by the 15-inch all-age males and 15-inch all-age females.

The trial will get under way Friday morning at 7:30 a. m. with the 13-inch all-age dogs, followed by the 13-inch all-age female class something the same afternoon. This will be followed on Saturday and Sunday by the 15-inch all-age males and 15-inch all-age females.

Ribbons will be awarded for first, second, third fourth and reserve in each class. Also a heart figure trophy will be awarded for first in each class as well as AKC (American Kennel club) championship points. Field judges will be W. D. (Bud) Lancaster of Springfield, Ill. and Herb Giant of Fort Wayne, Ind. Herb Giant will also serve as judge at the specialty show Saturday evening. Entry fee for each class will be $2.00.

Entries for the specialty show closed last Saturday, Sept. 13. The new AKC rules require that entries close two weeks prior to the show, according to E. A. Kopp, Johnson Creek, secretary-treasurer of the club. R. G. Aulik of Madison is show superintendent.

Seventy Growers Attend County Potato Field Day

The potato field day, held Sunday on the Earl Schuster farm at Dheinsville, was attended by about seventy commercial potato growers from Washington and surrounding counties. Of special interest was an inspection of the nine different varieties growing in the demonstration plot. Two new varieties, the Menominee and the Russet Sebago, proved to be of special interest. This was the first introduction into the county of these varieties.

Because of the dry weather in many sections of the north potato growing area, the crop will be somewhat below average. J. C. Milward, secretary of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association, said. Growers in southern Wisconsin will find a ready market for their crop as soon as harvesting operations can be carried on. R. E. Vaughan, extension plant pathologist of the College of Agriculture, who spoke on insects and disease problems said that as far as is known, there was no late blight in the state. However, he cautioned growers to continue with their spraying or dusting program as late blight can spread very rapidly when it once gets started.

CONFERENCES FOR COUNTY TEACHERS BEGIN TUESDAY

The annual fall conferences for teachers of the rural and state graded schools will start on Tuesday, Sept. 23. The schedule is as follows: Sept. 23, Jackson state graded school; Sept. 24, Janesville state graded school; Sept. 25, Lincoln school; Sept. 29, Richfield state graded school; Sept. 30, Kewaskum graded school.

At these conferences, sponsored by M. T. Buckley, county superintendent of schools, the Washington county visual program, which was written up in a national visual magazine early this year will be discussed in detail along with the problems of curriculum building and the current news program. Miss Gladys Salter, county nurse will present the county health program.

The annual fall workshop will be held on Oct. 10 and 11. The reading and arithmetic program in Washington county will be discussed by authorities in the particular fields.

Mr. Kenny will direct the work in the city of West Bend in addition to his responsibilities as captain of the county.

FIRE AT BACKHAUS FARM FROM OVERHEATED MOTOR

A call to the Loran Backhaus farm a mile north of Kewaskum was received by the Kewaskum fire department at 11:50 a. m. Wednesday. Mr. Backhaus and son Glen were filling silo when the motor on the blower apparently became overheated and caught fire. The motor, gasoline tank and its contents, and tires on the machine burned, as well as a patch of grass around the machine. Mr. Backhaus and son pulled the machine away from a barn and other farm buildings with a truck before flames arrived. The firemen made a hurried call and a few squirts of the new CO-2 on the machine put out the flames.

Ten More New Homes Going Up in Village

Kewaskum keeps growing steadily as the building of new homes in our little city continues. Very many new homes have been constructed here during the past couple of years and right now work is progressing on ten more new houses as more building materials are made available.

Four of the new homes going up are being built in the Bilgo addition east of the high school athletic field. The first home on this new street is being put up by Mr. and Mrs. August Bartlett of Forest lake. Work on this residence is nearing completion. Work on the exterior of the building is practically finished although there is still quite a bit to be done on the interior. The second dwelling on this street is being erected by the Ralph Remmel family and construction is well under way. Next to the Remmel home is a new one being built by Mr. and Mrs. Christian Backhaus of the town of Kewaskum. Work on the foundation has been completed and carpenters at present are busy on the first floor. The fourth building is a home being erected by Mr. and Mrs. David D. Korth. Work on this structure also is well advanced.

K. A. Honeck Sr., who has built many new homes in the village, is having another new one put up on the west side of Stark street in the Stark addition at the east end of the village. The majority of new homes have been built in this section, which is gaining the appearance of a little city by itself. The foundation of this home is finished and carpenter work is under way on the rest of the house.

On the west side of Kewaskum street in the same block, the foundation has been completed and erection is under way on a new residence being built by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson and family, at present living at Long lake. Mr. Johnson is in business here and his wife is a daughter of the John H. Martins.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Kumrow of the town of Kewaskum are going to put up a new dwelling in the north side of East Main street just west of the St. Lucas Ev. Lutheran church cemetery on the corner Walter Belger property. Excavation of the home has been completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Math. Wolf and daughter have had excavating finished for a new home on the east side of East Water street on the lot which they purchased from Otto Backhaus.

Work is well along on a new residence being erected by Mr. and Mrs. Al. Runk and family on the south side of Park street, located at the rear of Holy Trinity church, next to the new Tom Bouehard home. The tenth new home, on which work is nearly completed, has been built by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Backhaus on the east side of East Water street, on what is known as the River road.

School Gridders Open Play in Night Game at Oostburg

Kewaskum high school's 1947 football team will open its season with a non-league night game under the lights at Oostburg Saturday, Sept. 20. Coach Mitchell has been working with a squad of 35 candidates since Labor day. The first home game will be played Friday afternoon, Sept. 26, when St. Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac comes here.

Kewaskum's revised eight game schedule is as follows: Sept. 20—Oostburg (night) Sept. 26—St. Mary's Springs here Oct. 3—Lomira here Oct. 10—Oakfield here Oct. 17—Campbellsport here Oct. 21—Kohler (night) Oct. 25—Green Lake here Oct. 31—Brandon here

Lomira, Oakfield, Campbellsport and Brandon are conference games.

MISSION FESTIVAL AT ST. LUCAS CHURCH ON SUNDAY

Sunday, Sept. 21, St. Lucas Evangelical Lutheran church is again observing Mission Sunday. To celebrate the occasion, two services have been arranged. The morning service, beginning at 9:30 is German, and will have as its speaker, Pastor Walter Nommensen of Kohlsville; the evening service, beginning at 8:15 is English, and will have as its speaker, Pastor Arnold Schroeder, our institutional missionary in the Milwaukee area. It can assure you that the messages of both men will be worth while hearing. All are welcome and bring your friends for the occasion.

Pastor: Gerhard Knies

—Mr. and Mrs. Nobel Norman and family of Milledgeville, Ill. visited last Thursday with Dr. and Mrs. Leo Branch. They were accompanied here by their son, Dr. John Norman and wife, the former Pat Branch, who spent several days with her parents after returning from their honeymoon in northern Wisconsin.

Kewaskum Trounces Plymouth in First Game of Playoffs

Upset Cheesemakers by 10-5 Score; Second Game of Championship Series Here Sunday

In the first of a three-game series for the grand championship of the Kettle Moraine league played at Plymouth Sunday, the Kewaskum Utensils, southern division champions, upset the Plymouth Cheesemakers, northern champs, by a 10 to 5 score. The contest was played before a large crowd of noisy spectators from all over the league. Nearly half of the rovers were from Kewaskum.

The second game of the series and what may prove to be the deciding game, will be played at Kewaskum this Sunday, starting at 2:15. The Cheesemakers must win to stay in the series and keep their chance for the K-M title alive. A victory for Kewaskum will end the series and give the Utensils the championship. If a third game is necessary to decide the playoffs, it will be played at Kewaskum.

As a result of their season's record of 13 games won and 1 lost, and by virtue of a 5 to 6 drubbing they handed the Campbellsport Belles earlier in the season, Plymouth was picked by some as the favorite in the playoffs. Many bets were on the Cheesemakers to take two straight. But Kewaskum surprised the dopesters. They had it all over Plymouth there Sunday and came through like a championship outfit.

The Utensils, with a record of 12 wins and 2 losses, led the southern division all season. Their only defeats were suffered when the regular pitcher was unable to throw because of an injury. Shoddy defensive play and a weak performance at the plate cost Plymouth the first game. Marx held the Cheesemakers to 7 hits and they committed 8 errors behind their pitcher, Hal Koopman. Vic Meerstein and Jerry Verhulst were charged with 6 of the 8 bobbles. Marx set down 10 Cheesemakers on strikeouts. The Utensils pounded Koopman for 19 hits. Leading the onslaught were Clayton Stautz and Paul Kral, each of whom pounded out 4 bingles. Stautz got 4 for 4, one a double, while Kral's 4 hits were in 6 trips. Barney Frost followed them with 3 hits, one a double. Vic Meerstein and Werner "Soup" Finke got 2 safeties apiece for the losers.

Kewaskum drew first blood with a run in the second inning on 2 hits and 2 errors. Plymouth failed to score until the fifth when Andrews' double and Fink's single knotted the count. The Utensils tallied 2 more in the sixth. Singles by Jerry Stautz and Frost and a walk to Honeck filled the bags. Clay Stautz was hit by Koop, forcing in 1 run and Bath's single drove in another. Plymouth netted 1 marker in the same inning, making it 3-2. Utensils.

Kral's single and Frost's two bagger gave the "Kums their fourth run in the seventh but the losers tied it up in their half at 4-4 on a single, fielder's choice, a walk and another single. Six singles, by Held, H. Marx, Kral, Tessor, Frost and Clay Stautz, a sacrifice by Bath and an error gave the Utensils 3 runs in the eighth which led the victory. Plymouth came back with 1 in the eighth to make their score 5 but the "Kums counted 3 more in the ninth to pull away. Clay Stautz led off with a hit. Bath and Held were safe on errors and "Mix" singled for the runs.

Mrs. Albert Struebing, Nee Kleinhaus, Dies

Mrs. Albert Struebing, 65, nee Clara Kleinhaus, of Campbellsport, a native of Elmore, died at 4 a. m. Tuesday, Sept. 16, at St. Agnes hospital, Fond du Lac, after a short illness.

Mrs. Struebing was born Nov. 10, 1877, at Elmore, town of Ashford, a daughter of the late Frank Kleinhaus and Mrs. Regina Kleinhaus. She was married to Albert Struebing on Feb. 14, 1904, at Campbellsport. The couple lived in the community all of their lives.

Besides her widower and mother, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Anita Kramer of Campbellsport, four grandchildren; six brothers, Frank and Alvin Kleinhaus of Milwaukee, Norman Kleinhaus of the town of Wayne, Paul Kleinhaus of West Bend, and John Kleinhaus of St. Kilian; and two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Heisler of Campbellsport and Mrs. M. T. Kohn of Elmore.

Funeral services were held at 8:30 a. m. Friday from the Berge funeral home, Campbellsport, where the body was in state, and at 9 a. m. at St. Matthew's church there. Burial was in the church cemetery.

National Cancer Society Organizes County Branch

The American Cancer society has established a new Washington county branch, and to serve its purposes an organization meeting to form a county committee was held at the Linden Inn, Big Cedar lake, Thursday evening, Sept. 11. The meeting was called by D. J. Kenny, West Bend, who was recently appointed county chairman by Mrs. G. E. Stoddart, Beaver Dam, commander of the state division of the society's field army.

Attending the meeting were Dr. R. G. Edwards, Kewaskum, president of the Washington-Ozaukee County Medical society; Dr. P. M. Kauth, West Bend; Mrs. Stoddart, and Mrs. A. G. MacHoiz, Beaver Dam, state adjutant of the Wisconsin division field army.

The county organization named consists of Kenny, chairman; Charles G. Harris, Hartford, vice-chairman; Miss Ruth Hess, West Bend, secretary; Arthur E. Kuehthaus, managing editor of the West Bend News, publicity chairman, and a chairman for each city, village, and township in the county. Chairmen for the various township, villages and cities are listed in another cancer society item elsewhere in this issue.

The gist of a message by Mrs. Stoddart at the meeting was that the purpose of forming a cancer organization in Washington county is twofold—first, as a means of instituting an educational program to aid the people of the county in early detection of cancer because at present its only cure is removal in its very early stages, and second, to raise funds for medical and scientific research and to finance the educational program.

Kenny related that there were 57 deaths from cancer in Washington county in 1945 and approximately 40 in 1946, and that statistics have disclosed that at the present time one out of every eight deaths is due to cancer.

Dr. Edwards spoke of his experiences in the discovery and treatment of cancer. Principal speaker was Dr. Kauth, who stressed the absolute necessity of discovering cancer in its very early stages. He explained the symptoms in the various parts of the body which show cancer is present in an early state.

Following the formal meeting, it was decided by the committee members present that an educational program be carried out, including distribution of literature and lectures by Washington county physicians, and that a campaign for raising the county's 1947 quota be held concurrently with community chest drives in October.

Kenny, who actively promoted the cancer control fund raising campaign this past year as chairman of business and industry in the county, declared that such fraternal, business, social, farm, and civic organization in the county will be requested to sponsor an address on cancer by a physician so that by literature and the spoken word the people of Washington county may be helped in the early discovery of cancer and encouraged to promptly procure medical and surgical attention.

Sheb. Falls Wins Rainbow Title; Kewaskum is Second

Sheboygan Falls copped the Rainbow league championship by defeating the Batavia-Silvers in their final game Sunday. Falls ended up a game ahead of Kewaskum which placed second. The league lead was held by Falls or Kewaskum most of the season but an upset at Barton late in the season knocked the "Kums out of the championship.

On Sunday, Sept. 21, Newburg will be the scene of this year's annual loop all-star game. The contest will match together the championship Sheboygan Falls nine and a team of all-stars chosen from the remaining seven clubs in the circuit. The game will officially end the season. Game time is 2:15 p. m.

Miss Helen Cechvala Weds Donald Beggan

In a ceremony performed in St. Michael's church, St. Michaels, at 9 a. m. Saturday, Sept. 13, Miss Helen Catherine Cechvala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cechvala, Route 2, Kewaskum, became the bride of Donald Beggan, son of Mrs. C. Beggan, West Bend. The Rev. R. G. Kastner read the nuptial mass.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a train, lace edged the train and yoke of the dress and orange blossoms and lace trimmed the sleeves and skirt. She wore a fingertip length veil and carried a white prayerbook with an orchid.

A gown with a yellow broadcloth bodice and peplum and a taffeta skirt was worn by the matron of honor, Agnes Rome. She wore white baby mums in her hair and carried a bouquet of blue and white mums. The bridesmaid, Miss Anna Cechvala, sister of the bride, and Miss Margaret Beggan, sister of the groom, wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor. They wore white mums in their hair and carried bouquets of blue and white mums. Barbara Rome, niece of the bride, served as the little flower girl. She was attired in a yellow taffeta frock and wore white baby mums in her hair. Her bouquet consisted of blue and white mums.

James Beggan served as best man for the groom, while Paul Cechvala, brother of the bride, and Harry Black were groomsmen. Frank Cechvala and Francis Beggan ushered. Gary Cechvala, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

A 12:30 o'clock wedding dinner was served at the Barton Opera House to 75 guests. A reception was held there from 4 until 6 p. m. and this was followed by a supper. The couple will reside on the John Cechvala farm, R. 2, Kewaskum, after returning from a wedding trip to northern Wisconsin. The bride is a graduate of the West Bend high school, is employed as a stenographer at the Enger-Kress company, West Bend. The groom, who graduated from the Waldo high school, is employed as a machinist at the West Bend Aluminum company.

Kickoff Dinner of Boy Scouts Attended by 75

The kickoff dinner of the Kewaskum Boy Scout troops was held Tuesday evening at the Kewaskum high school, with about 75 scouts, cubs, parents and guests in attendance. Speakers were Ralph Olson, who attended the world scout jamboree at Paris, France, recently, and C. E. Nielsen, West Bend, who is active in scouting. Ralph Olson spent the summer with the Rosenheimers here.

The first regular meeting of the local scout troops will be held in the scout rooms in the basement of the village hall on Monday evening. Scoutmaster Tom Green is being assisted this year by Bob Ours and Mike Gnaclinski, both of this village, as assistant scout leaders.

200 Attend Kiwanis Club Charter Night; 14 Clubs Represented

Charter night for the Kiwanis club of Kewaskum proved to be a huge success Monday evening, Sept. 15, in the Holy Trinity church parlors.

This gala event was attended by nearly 200 people, representing visiting clubs from West Bend, Port Washington, Milwaukee, Bay View, South Milwaukee, West Allis, North Milwaukee, Racine, Manitowoc, Wauwatosa, Sheboygan, Plymouth and Chilton. A large attendance would have been possible if the limited facilities would have permitted.

The festivities were presided over by Clyde L. Bartman, lieutenant governor of the Milwaukee division. Presentation of the charter to the new Kewaskum club was made by Earl M. Wanecek, Kiwanis district governor. The charter was accepted for the club by President L. N. Peterson.

Several vocal numbers were given by Mrs. Ted Leuck of West Bend, accompanied on the piano by Marilyn Miller. Another musical treat was provided by Robert Lockman of West Bend, who favored the gathering with renditions on the marimba. Communitary singing was led by James McCormick of the West Allis club.

Harrison U. Wood of Racine, vice-president of Kiwanis International, spoke briefly as did some of the other distinguished guests.

Many gifts were received from visiting clubs, displaying the fine spirit which is prevalent among Kiwanis clubs and club members.

Next week's regular meeting will be held in the Republican hotel at 6:15 p. m. Monday, Sept. 22, and will be featured by the showing of a war department film about conditions in Europe, "Seeds of Destiny." Following the program, a meeting of the board of directors will be held.

COMPLETE TWO WEEK CARPET LAYING COURSE IN NEW YORK

Yonkers, New York, Sept. 16—Joseph M. Miller and Byron Bunkelmann of Miller's Furniture store, Kewaskum, Wis., have completed a course in the principles and installation techniques of carpet laying conducted here by the Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet company.

The carpet laying school was established in March of this year to provide specialized training to employees of retail stores in modern workroom techniques. Classes are attended by men from all parts of the country who spend two weeks at the Alexander Smith mill, where they gain a first-hand knowledge of rug and carpet making.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS by Lynn Chambers

Transform Vegetables Into Savory Dishes For Lunch or Supper

Asparagus takes on a pleasing look as well as extra flavor when green tips are tucked in between layers of cheese biscuit, topped with sauce and garnished with slices of hard-cooked eggs.

Remember when we just cooked vegetables in boiling, salted water and put them on the table without any thought as to subtle seasoning or attractive serving? Thank modern cookery experts for realizing the infinite possibilities of vegetables and for transforming vegetables into one of the glamorous groups of cookery.

First of all, there are innumerable sauces you can use with "perfection cooked" vegetables to bring out all their hidden flavors. Then, if you want to forego the sauce, you can combine vegetables with other foods to make them palatable and tempting.

Golden Cauliflower (Serves 6) 1 medium head cauliflower 1 cup raw carrots, diced 1/2 cup onions, chopped 1/2 cup paprika 2 tablespoons butter, melted 1 cup rich milk 1 cup Wisconsin Natural American Cheese, grated

Break cauliflower into flowerets. Arrange cauliflower and carrots in buttered casserole. Cover with onion, seasonings and butter. Pour milk over contents. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour, removing cover the last 15 minutes.

Red Cabbage and Apples (Serves 8 to 10) 2 quarts red cabbage, shredded 1 cup apples, pared and chopped 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup butter 2 tablespoons flour 1/2 cup vinegar 1/2 cup brown sugar

Buttered crumbs Cook cabbage with apples 10 minutes in salted water, drain (save water). Melt butter, add flour, mix. Add 1/2 cup drained water, vinegar, and brown sugar, stir until thickened. Add apples and cabbage. Bake in buttered casserole in hot oven (400 degrees) until crumbs are brown.

Sweet Potato Cecelia (Serves 8 to 10) 3 pounds sweet potatoes 1/2 cup butter 1/2 cup salt 1/2 cup pepper 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or mace 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 to 1 cup apple cider

Mash cooked sweet potatoes. Add 1/2 cup butter, seasonings, and cider, mix well. Put in buttered baking dish, dot with remaining butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 30 to 40 minutes, until top is brown.

LYNN SAYS: Spice, Seasoning Legend New Tang to Foods If you want a really delicious sauce for your fish, melt butter, add flour, and in place of milk, blend in sour cream. Add to this a bit of salt and pepper and chopped chives.

A blade of mace and a few cloves heated with the liquid when making orange or lemon jelly will give it added spice. Strain the liquid to remove spices.

Soak fresh salmon in milk overnight (refrigerated, of course!) Then bake with a dusting of salt and pepper.

Scrambled eggs take on a finishing touch when served with thin slices of fried ham. Garnish with a dusting of chives.

Put oysters on a skewer after they have been wrapped in bacon and then broil. Makes a nice Sunday night snack.

LYNN CHAMBERS' MENU

Baked Spareribs Red Cabbage and Apples Baked Sweet Potatoes Molded Pear in Lime Gelatin Cornbread Butter Lemon Chiffon Pie Recipe given.

Stuffed Eggplant

Cut a lid from one large eggplant lengthwise, scoop out pulp and cook in boiling salted water until tender, drain and chop fine. Sauté one small minced onion in butter until soft, not brown. Add eggplant, one half cup of bread crumbs, one half cup of chopped pecans, and two well-beaten eggs. Mix well with seasonings. Lastly add enough water in which the eggplant was cooked to make the mixture quite thin. Fill shell and sprinkle with bread crumbs and dot with butter and bake about twenty minutes.

Spinach Balls

Wash one peck of spinach in several waters, then cover tightly and steam with just the drippings from the washing for about fifteen minutes. Squeeze as dry as possible. Chop and press through a coarse sieve. Into this puree mix two slightly beaten egg yolks, one tablespoon of grated onion, one tablespoon of olive oil, and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well and form into balls, dip in beaten egg, then in fine bread crumbs, and fry in hot fat to a golden brown.

Asparagus-Cheese Shortcake (Serves 6 to 8)

1 No. 2 can asparagus tips 3 tablespoons butter 1 tablespoon minced onion 4 tablespoons flour 1 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 2 cups milk 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced for garnish

Melt butter in saucepan; add minced onion and cook slowly for 3 minutes or until tender. Add flour and seasonings and blend. Gradually add milk, while stirring; cook over low heat until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly.

Cheese Biscuits

2 cups biscuit mix 1/2 cup grated cheese 1 cup milk

Add grated cheese to biscuit mix and blend. Add milk, mix with fork. Roll out to 1/4 to 1/2 inch thickness on floured board and cut into squares or circles. Bake on a greased pan in a hot oven (450 degrees) 12 minutes. Split and place hot asparagus tips between biscuits. Pour hot cream sauce over the top and garnish with hard-cooked egg slices.

A vegetable bowl of snowy, white cauliflower surrounded with green peas is hard to resist.

Tasty butter sauce variations will add sparkle to humdrum vegetable dishes. Here are two possibilities:

Lemon-Butter Sauce 1/2 cup butter Juice of 1/2 lemon 3 tablespoons parsley (if you prefer)

Melt butter, add lemon juice and blend thoroughly. Add parsley and serve hot with vegetables. An extra dish of the lemon-butter sauce may be served on the side.

Brown-Butter Sauce 1/2 cup butter 1 tablespoon chopped parsley 1/2 cup salt 1/2 cup pepper 3 tablespoons lemon juice

Melt butter in a frying pan and stir until a golden brown. Add chopped parsley, lemon juice, and salt and pepper to taste. Serve hot on vegetables or fish.

Don't forget that dates added to muffins make them a party treat.

When you're using clams, don't forget that a pinch of thyme will do wonders.

Crabmeat and mustard with mayonnaise makes a nice salad for a light luncheon.

When you want to add a different touch to frankfurters, they can be stuffed with all variety of things—mashed potatoes—strips of cheese, bread dressing, sauerkraut or pickle relish.

Give the children their iron with a "molasses and iron" egg nog.

Strawberry mousse or ice cream makes a simple dessert since it is prepared ahead of time. Fruit gelatin with sliced strawberries provides another easy-to-prepare dessert. It can be used as a dessert sauce, too.

Have your served strawberries with their hulls left on around a mound of powdered sugar? If not, try it when you want a light dessert after a hearty meal. Cones of pineapple alternating with the berries are an attractive variation.

Star Dust STAGE SCREEN RADIO

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

By INEZ GERHARD

HERE is a story that is exclusive—at the moment. Bing Crosby has already cut the records for his first three radio shows this fall, and will start the new season with Gary Cooper as his guest star. Cooper, who doesn't make many appearances on the air, will cut loose and sing, with Bing. That will be the October 1 broadcast. Al Jolson will be on the second or third program, which puts to rest the rumor that he'd never work with Crosby again because Bing was annoyed by the gossip that he'd never had a Hooper rating till Jolson did that first guest spot on his program.

Ann Shepherd, star of "Big Sister," is a girl who made good in radio despite the fact that she couldn't pass a New York network audition. It took an Arch Oboler script to prove to the radio big shots that she was a fine actress.

ANN SHEPHERD

Farley Granger is in pictures because he answered a want ad. Samuel Goldwyn, looking for a romantic juvenile to play opposite Anne Baxter in "North Star," ran the ad; the young actor saw it, got the role and a seven-year contract. Then he was in "Purple Heart"; next, he joined the navy. His first film since his discharge is RKO's "Your Red Wagon."

Maybe the decision won't stick, but Eddie Cantor insists that "If You Knew Susie" is not only his best picture, but his last. From now on he will make himself available to any cause where he is needed; his record in philanthropic work is already an impressive one. His radio show returns September 25, with the entire cast working without scripts.

Parks Johnson had quite a day—caught a three-pound bass and signed up with a new sponsor for his Vox Pop show during just a few hours. He was fishing, with no luck, on his Texas ranch, when his partner, Warren Hull, called him from New York. A messenger summoned Johnson to the phone, five miles away; he gave his consent to the deal, went back and caught the bass.

"Silence—on the Air" it says on the doors behind which a radio program is being broadcast. The new March of Time takes you behind those doors, in "Is Everybody Listening?" shows you the stars at work, lets you see broadcasts that never have studio audiences, gives you a comprehensive view of what goes on behind what you hear on the air.

Robert Mitchum has a fan club made up of girls who have never seen him in person or on the screen; the president of the New York club sent his photo to a cousin in Czechoslovakia, who founded the club.

Ann Miller will start her new MGM contract with a role that many a girl will envy her. It is the lead in "Words and Music," based on the lives and music of Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. She'll sing the songs, dance to the music.

If you like old songs you certainly must see "I Walk Alone," headlined by Elizabeth Scott, Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas; it includes eight 1930 tunes.

"Dear Ruth" has set quite a record. Paramount's top holdover picture of the year, every one of its first-run engagements has resulted in its being held over all across the country. William Holden and Joan Caulfield co-star.

When Shirley Lauck married and moved to Pennsylvania recently, her father, "Lum" and Abner, "lost" a very efficient office assistant.

ODDS AND ENDS—Despite the British tax situation, Warner Bros. is beginning the heaviest fall schedule in the history of the Burbank studio. . . . Berry Kroeger of "Big Sister" has been told he resembles Orson Welles, Charles Laughton, Harvey Stephens and Howard Osmer; doesn't know whom to believe. . . . A recent "Welcome Traveler" contestant reached Los Angeles in time to participate in Tom Breneman's "Breakfast in Hollywood" the same week. . . . Undiscouraged by his failure to land the MG berth on "Take It or Leave It," Groucho Marx is reported planning a radio show of his own.

Back in Hollywood after two weeks in Springfield and Milwaukee last month, the "Queen for a Day" troupe is still talking about the size of the audiences they played to at the state fairs—6,000 people each time!

Bob Hope is in the market for new writers; "Any guy with some new ideas, send him along," is the message that came through. He already has a new orchestra, with Les Brown leading it—rated among the top ten bands of the country.

Kathleen Norris Says: The Old-Fashioned Mother

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"The children escape from home on every possible opportunity; drug store dates, movies, riding about in somebody's car, dancing, country club—anywhere and everywhere but home."

THE wonderful thing about the old-fashioned mother was that she made home wonderful. She might be fat or thin, pale or rosy, socially gifted or plain, but her object in life was to make home comfortable, make us all glad to get there, let us know with every action of her life that she loved us.

Many mothers were fine cooks, whose pie crust, fried chicken, strawberry shortcake called forth shouts of approval. It was a real joy to these lovely women when asparagus and corn and blackberries appeared in the market—how Dad and the children liked them! A wet winter night, to them, meant a challenge to create coziness and warmth; lamps lighted, a fire blazing, good smells of dinner permeating the comfortable old living room.

The fastidious little daughter found her bureau always full of freshly ironed ruffles and frills; the book-hungry boy discovered new volumes beside his bed, the smaller children were helped with homework, comforted in the thousand crises of their lives. And for the older folk, the visiting aunt, the grandmother, Mother had special thought; Grandma's chair and Grandma's lamp were sacred; when Aunt Margaret came we must remember to have orange cake.

The claims of Father, however, came before all of these, and the children knew that it was his house, that he was important, that things were run as he liked them. In this considerate atmosphere they grew up to be considerate themselves; sisters did things for brothers, brothers for sisters. There was a general attitude of cooperation and help in the old-fashioned home.

Of course, all fathers were not good and loving providers, all mothers were not thoughtful and tender women. But the general run of them was that way; conscientious, affectionate, intelligent, home-loving and book-loving, the sort of persons who made America the heaven of plain folk.

Modern Comforts Doom Homes. Nowadays there are fewer of these real homes; the trend of science and invention is against them. Soft, even furnace heat, plentiful light, lessened household jobs of canning and cooking, fire-making and sweeping, washing and baking, have taken the very center of the household away. Where the girls used to stay home and help, they now are off on jobs. Where amusements were home-made, about the evening lamp, they were scattered far and wide. The children escape from home on every possible opportunity, drugstore, dates, movies, riding about in somebody's car, dancing, country club—anywhere and everywhere but home.

And Mother, consequently, isn't the cook she used to be. Dinner used to be important, it used to be an end, not a means to some other end, not just a hurried pause on the way to freedom. It was worth Mother's while to please everyone. Now a stop at the bakery and the purchase of a few cans does just as well; the office girl is dieting, the boy is off to his sweetheart, and the children had whole cream pints of milkshake at 4 o'clock. Dad will eat anything.

Of course, this short-cut substituting for home life is wasteful and harmful. We can't go back. But I think a good many homekeeping women have made a serious mistake in not preserving the spirit of the old ways, even though the letter is so wholly changed. It is all-important to hold families together, to make home a place to which everyone loves to come, even though our dependence upon each other seems so much less than it used to be.

Everyone Needs Home Ties. It really isn't less. Children, young persons, and above all, Dad, all need home ties. They make our past; they knit tight our future; they are the only safeguards we ever will know.

Living near me a few years ago was a rather poor family. Poor by American standards, that is; Dad and the oldest girl worked, but there were four younger children and an old grandmother. The combined income came to about $350 a month.

On this they all had a royal time. They were not reactionary; Ma liked the radio and movies, everyone talked politics, there were memberships in libraries, there were a gas stove, a washing-machine, a telephone and two collapsing yet efficient cars in the family.

They used to have summer suppers in the garden, and walking by, I would see them sitting in the dusk, absorbed, laughing, delaying the pleasant meal to the last possible minute. In winter the simple low-ceilinged sitting-room was filled with freight, lamp-light, books, big chairs. As the children grew up, they made dates, of course. They went away into their own homes. But they always came back, with the sons and daughters-in-law, and the babies. The mother of that family possessed some secret for happy living; they didn't miss anything else in modern interest or entertainment, but they had home, too.

A safe, happy home, in which he is beloved, is the right of every American child. Don't be surprised if the child who is robbed of it goes pretty far off the track.

Many mothers were fine cooks. . .

Jewelry Purchases Reach All-Time High Figure

Americans spent $1,709,000,000 for more jewelry last year, according to figures compiled by the U. S. Bureau of Mines. This great sum was an all-time record.

Necklaces, like skirts, are becoming longer—and the vogue of pendants from earrings has increased. Jewelry styles are changing only slightly, but the trend is away from massive designs toward "lacy work with a fragile look."

First Horse Pistol Simeon North, working in Berlin, Conn., as early as 1795, was the first official pistol maker in the United States. A government contract for 500 horse pistols granted to North in 1799 is on record.

U. S. Tariff History The U. S. Tariff commission was created by congress in 1916 to make special studies and recommendations on the tariff. The constitution forbids the individual state to impose tariff on imported goods.

Cropland in United States There are at present only two and one-half acres of harvested cropland for every man, woman and child in America, compared with three and one-fourth acres 25 years ago.

Paper Making Machine The first Fourdrinier machines manufactured in the United States for making paper were produced in 1829 in South Windham, Conn., by Phelps and Spafford.

This is Motor Age One worker out of every seven in the United States receives a pay check because his job is, in some way or another, connected with manufacture of the automobile.

How Many Hands High? The measurement of "hand" still is used when talking of horses. A hand is the width of an average hand, or four inches. The height of a horse is measured to the top of his shoulder.

Uses of Wood More than 16 different types of wood are used in building the modern sky-line. Douglas fir does its part. A mile of veneer for plywood can be peeled from a single Douglas fir log eight feet in diameter.

Keep Linoleum Clean To keep your linoleum floors clean and spotless, pour a little floor wax in your scrubbing water. This will make the floors easier to clean and will help preserve the linoleum.

Add Corner Cupboard When remodeling don't overlook the possibilities of corner cupboards in the dining room. They utilize space otherwise largely wasted and provide a wealth of storage space.

Filling Thermos Bottle Before filling a glass-lined thermos with hot liquid, warm the thermos gradually by rinsing it in lukewarm and then in hotter water to prevent cracking the glass.

Fish Below Rapids Pools at the foot of rapids and riffles are good places to fish, for the reason that swift water deposits food in such spots, and fish wait there for it.

Punctilious Shaw

A producer of a radio show in America, wishing to broadcast a scene from George Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House," phoned Shaw's home in Ireland. "I'm sorry, sir," Shaw's maid replied, "but Mr. Shaw never answers the telephone before 6 p. m."

At 6:15, the producer again put in a transatlantic phone call to Shaw's house. This time the maid replied: "I'm sorry, sir, but Mr. Shaw never answers the telephone after 6 p. m."

"But I phoned earlier, and you said Mr. Shaw doesn't answer the phone before 6 p. m. Now you say he doesn't answer the phone after 6 p. m."

"That's right, sir," replied the maid. "Mr. Shaw said to tell you that he answers the phone only at 6 p. m."

Australia to Standardize Rails Over 13,000 Miles

Australia's independent state railroads now plan to adopt the standard gauge, which means relaying the 18,000 of the 24,000 miles of tracks that are using other gauges. This chaotic situation, which requires passengers and freight to be transferred from one system to another as many as four times between certain cities, has existed for 94 years, incurred an economic loss of $2,400,000,000 and will cost to correct nearly $800,000,000.

Old Age Need Hold No Terrors

Finding Useful Work Is Formula for Happiness

WASHINGTON.—Latest figures from the census bureau have revealed that the postwar period has produced a record baby crop—3,260,000 estimated for 1946, almost a million more than were born in 1940.

This situation poses a number of problems for the nation, and also emphasizes the personal problem: The problem of growing old.

Wise men have known this for a long time and lived to a happy old age. Others who didn't know it have worried their friends and themselves to early deaths, by sitting down and weeping over their lost youth instead of getting up, learning to take old age in their stride and liking it.

When I grasped the theme of this pamphlet, it stirred classic memories. I remembered that a gentleman who considerably predated Browning had said the same thing in his essay "On Old Age," written in the year 44 B. C.

NEWS REVIEW

Farmers' Income Zooms; New Crisis Hits Europe

FARM INCOME: Great Gain

Latest round in a heavy barrage of statistics apparently destined to make the American farmer feel that he is an unbelievably fortunate man was an agriculture department report that the nation's farm owners are taking in more money than ever before.

The report said that the average farm operator realized a net income of $2,541 from agriculture and government payments in 1946, and this year farm income skyrocketed still higher as a result of continuing unprecedented demands for produce.

BONDED Vets Cash In

Draft time had rolled around again for millions of ex-G.I.s, but this time it was more in the nature of a bank draft as veterans all over the nation fell happily into line to cash their terminal leave pay bonds.

THE FICTION CORNER

OUT OF THE EMBERS

By NORMAN STANLEY BORTNER

"LET'S talk this thing out," Janice had said. "For good and all." And he had agreed. Not enthusiastically. He thought he knew what it would be like. She was going to be very calm, very noble, very much the long-suffering, patient wife who will go no farther. All right, my dear. If you want one more talk, I'm game. Just so it doesn't end in another row.

He became slightly noble himself. Now that it was all over with them he was suddenly courteous. He spoke to her in a tone he might have used toward any good-looking woman not his wife: "Where would you like to sit while you pronounce sentence?"

She knew at once. She must have been thinking about that. "Not here," she said. "Would you mind if we went down to the cabin?"

The cabin. How long had it been since he had seen the inside of that two-roomed affair beside the river?

And what could have made her want to go there, of all places? "Not in the least," he said. "We'll need wraps."

They dressed for the raw December day and went out the west door. Crossing the lawn she took his arm. That was unexpected. And also a little uncalculated, he thought, under the circumstances. Why should she make a game out of splitting up? Thinking that, he stiffened and she felt it. But she did not release his arm. "Remember the first time we came down here together?" she asked.

"Can't say I do."

"You mean you don't want to. It was after our honeymoon. And you held MY arm." Her voice was low and uneven and somehow queer.

"Oh," he said. "What's the matter? Getting a cold?"

"No. Not used to fresh air, I suppose. It'll be all right soon."

"In the Nevada climate, you mean?" She did not answer. Maybe she hadn't meant that. To speak of the advantages of Reno while he remained East would not fit her present mood. There had been times—plenty of them—when the important small niceties of conversation between them had been forgotten, giving way to bitterness and recrimination. But he admitted she had never been crude. To cover his own remark he said: "Has the cabin been kept clean?"

"Quite. It's always in good order. No telling when someone might want to use it. There's some wood there, I'm sure. And you remember how that fireplace heats, Will?"

"That's right. I do remember." The worst of it was that he remembered too, well, all at once. They had lived there—he and Jan—for a while after their honeymoon. The big house was too big. Too many people around. Too many distractions from each other. So they had moved to the cabin. . . . They had changed a great deal since then. Not in looks. Ten years wasn't very long. In themselves, somehow.

But the cabin had not changed. It was precisely as it had been then. Seemed a bit smaller, but then time always does that to distances and dimensions. He busied himself with the kindling. There was only one big chunk of wood. Enough for a little while. The fire caught nicely.

Jan held her hands to the growing flames. "Feels good," she said. And carried me through the doorway, Will. I remember thinking, while you held me in your arms, that no girl could have been happier than I was at that moment. No two people could have been more in love. We were—don't laugh, please—we were like that fire is now. Just one consuming blaze of love for each other."

He couldn't help smiling at that. Jan really was in a state, to talk like that. But it disappeared when he turned toward her. She was so close to tears.

"And now, Will, look at us. We've made a wretched mess of things, haven't we?"

"Damned if we haven't." He was nearly noble enough to admit, furthermore, that it had been almost entirely his own fault, but he didn't. She might have agreed with him, and then the row would start. He was quiet for a long while, and then he said: "But fires do go out eventually, and I guess ours has."

"Yes. And what's the use of blowing on cold ashes? . . . But that's why I brought you here to the cabin, Will. I had the wild idea that somehow we could patch it up. Try again. But we've done that too often, haven't we?"

"Too often, Jan."

The room was hushed, except for the crackling of the one big chunk and the rush of air through the chimney. And even that slowly decreased. The fire he had built and not replenished was burning out. Just like the fire Jan had spoken of.

Burning out. It was a simple thing to throw more wood on a fire. But was it so simple to rekindle their own flame? He decided he was getting morbid.

There were only deep red embers between the andirons when she rose. "I told you last night that nothing would keep me from Reno," she said. "I meant it, then, but—Will, I'll stay if you want me. I'll do my best to make us happy. We were once. Maybe, in some way, we could be again." She waited. He did not move; did not raise his eyes. The embers glowed.

"Will, I said I'd stay if you want me to."

"Must I get down on my knees to you? Is that what you want?"

Glowed dully.

"Too late, then. . . . All right, dear, I'll be packed and on my way in an hour. Would you—do you mind if I kiss you goodbye? Just for old times sake. I—won't bother you any more."

He permitted it quite nobly, and when she had leaned and kissed him full on the lips he turned away from her and toward the fire once more. The door closed behind her.

AN HOUR, she had said. Well, he would wait that long before going back to the house. No use having more farewells.

He did not stir for a long while, frowning at the fireplace. The one big chunk had only a tiny bit of redness along one edge. The rest was cold gray ash, smoking fitfully and not pretty to look at. She had been right. They had been exactly like the fire, blazing up for a time and then cooling to drabness.

"I won't bother you any more." What had she meant by that? Never see him again? He realized suddenly that he WANTED to see her again. It wouldn't be right to do. You can't live with a person ten years and simply forget it, like that. Maybe they could even be good friends, after the divorce, and have some of the fun they missed before. Without the ties of marriage, or the restraints—

He knew he was being very foolish, thinking things like that. It was all over, and she would be strange and distant whenever—IF ever—they met. Friends? Hardly. Jan was out of his life for good—that was settled.

The cabin was getting cold. He had no idea how long he had been sitting alone. Was the hour up? He rose to stir his aching legs and considered hunting more wood for the fire. With the tongs he probed at the ash which had seemed so cold—so lifeless—jumped into flames, warm, surprising, beautiful.

A single touch had done that. HIS touch.

He gazed open-eyed. And then in quick, bounding leaps he ran up the hill and into the house. Up the stairs. Through a door he had not opened for so very long. The hour was not yet gone.

"Jan," he said. "Jan. You're as slim as you ever were. I'll carry you over, again."

Co-Op Probe Curbed

THE inside story is that farmers need not be unduly alarmed over the house small business committee inquisition against farm cooperatives. Despite advance promises of a battle to the death by Representative Walter C. Ploeser (R., Mo.) and pressure of big business and the National Tax Equity association, it is predicted that the outcome of hearings over the country will amount to little and the probe will be more or less a "face saving" device on behalf of Chairman Ploeser and the Republican party leadership.

So if Congressman Ploeser had any dreams of becoming a knight in shining armor and a crusader against farm cooperatives, either producer or consumer cooperatives, he has been effectively unhorsed by the GOP leadership.

The reason is obvious. With a national election in the offing the Republican party does not dare alienate the traditional support of the farm and rural vote despite the tremendous pressure brought to bear by so-called independent business and the big business interests friendly to the Republican party.

As a matter of fact, word has gone out from farm leadership in Washington that the GOP is anti co-op and that unless this campaign against the farm organizations is toned down farmers will vote Democratic in 1948.

That Representative Ploeser was all set to take dead aim against farmer cooperatives until he was called on the carpet by the GOP leadership is indicated in his selection of lawyer Willis Ballinger as counsel for his committee. Ballinger is an out and out enemy of any kind of a cooperative, the author of a book called "A Vote by the People," in which he declares that cooperatives "are a technique for building a socialist system in America," and of a pre-hearing statement that the house small business committee would prove that cooperatives were both communistic and monopolistic.

Study Farm Plan

The house agricultural committee, under chairmanship of Congressman Clifford R. Hope of Kansas, is scheduled to resume hearings October 7 on an over-all agricultural program to be considered by the second session of the 80th congress. At the same time the National Grange, the Farm Bureau federation and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives are scheduled to meet to discuss general farm issues, particularly the question of changes in parity.

The outlook is that there will be no unanimous agreement on this subject since it is fairly obvious that any change in parity payments will be upward and there is reason to believe that with prices of all foods at the highest level in history further increases occasioned by higher parity payments would not be popular with the public.

Budget Requests Pared

President Truman has announced that all departments and agencies of government must hold their 1949 budget requests below the 1948 total. At the same time the president predicted a $4,700,000,000 treasury surplus in 1948, which he declared must be used to reduce the national debt and for an emergency reserve surplus. Despite this huge surplus, he still asserted he was against tax reduction because of the fact that this nation's commitments in view of the foreign situation could not be known at this time.

Although farm population has increased 2,360,000 in two years, the bureau of agricultural economics points out that present population is still 2,719,000 under the prewar level of 30,269,000 in January, 1940. The decline is attributed largely to wartime emigration from the farm to the cities and failure of many discharged servicemen to return to their farm homes.

Strategic Campaign

Strategy of the Democrats in the belated trust-busting campaign is to blame big business for high prices and since big business already is normally Republican, they will lose nothing and may gain votes by attacking big business. Even if the anti-trust suits go through the legal routine, it would take some five years to work the cases through the courts. In the meantime, it is likely that prices will have dropped but certainly not due to the anti-trust suits.

Committee Discredited

With the Brewster committee pretty well discredited as a result of the sensational Howard Hughes hearing, it is no surprise that Senator Brewster says his committee will be dissolved upon convening of congress in January. It is likely, however, that the house expenditures committee may take up probe of war contracts. Congressman George Bender of Ohio has said this committee certainly will go into contracts where the general accounting office has indicated fraud.

"SPEED" IS KEY TO LUCK IN FREEZING

Frozen fruits and vegetables can be almost the equal of fresh produce in food value, according to O. B. Combs, garden specialist at the University of Wisconsin. It all depends on how well they are harvested and handled.
 Harvest vegetables at the right stage of ripeness. Ideal maturity for freezing may be slightly earlier even than for canning or ordinary home use.
 Prepare vegetables as if they are to be eaten at once. Then scald, package, and freeze. The faster this is done, the better will be the results.
 Fruit for freezing needs to be firm, though fully ripe. Again speed is important, and the quicker fruit is in the locker the better.

WE HAVE A GOOD JOB FOR YOU

MEN!
 WOMEN!

A STEADY FULL-TIME JOB with all of the many advantages enjoyed by our employees.

A TEMPORARY JOB for farm workers and others interested in working only during the fall and winter months.

Yes, we've got a good job for you . . . permanent or temporary . . . doing factory production work. You'll get good pay from the day you start—and your wages will increase as you gain experience.

Farm Workers

We'll have a job for you just as soon as the harvest is over and until you're needed back on the farm next spring.

Night Office Hours

For your convenience, our Employment Office at West Bend and Hartford will be open on Tuesday and Friday from 7 to 9 P. M., in addition to our regular hours. Stop in for a friendly visit and we'll talk about a job for you.

YOU DON'T NEED EXPERIENCE

We'll train you on the job. Even if you've never worked in a factory before, you'll like helping to make our nationally famous products. The nature of the work is light—in safe, pleasant surroundings. We are now working a 48-hour week, and, if you are interested, there is opportunity for additional overtime.

WE INVITE YOU to visit the Employment office at either the West Bend or Hartford plant—whichever is more convenient. There are job opportunities at both plants.

ABOUT 25 PIGS SOLD AT MONTHLY STOCK FAIR

The grand opening of the West Bend monthly stock fair helped more than 250 feeder pigs find a new home. A volunteer report of the sales made listed the following as transactions having been completed during the morning fair: 249 feeder pigs, two brood sows, twelve puppy dogs, and considerable garden produce.

SILG FILLING—MAJOR FARM WORK NOW

Because of the prevailing cool weather as these items are being written, many farmers will begin the silo filling operations. Others who made an earlier start will speed up the work. Because of the fact that there is still much green corn that will not mature sufficiently for snapping or hatching purposes, silage should be filled to its most capacity this year. Silage is about the best use that can be made of immature corn. Farmers who have fields of alfalfa, red clover, or sudan grass can ensile it with corn and have excellent silage. The recommended mixture is two loads of corn fodder to one load of alfalfa or clover. No additional preservative is needed.

GRAIN PRICES TELL WHICH TO FEED

Corn may be king, but other grains will fatten hogs about as well. Grain prices are all high and no matter which one is fed to livestock, the gains in weight made will be costly. It will pay farmers and livestock feeders to watch the market and feed those grains that are most economical. Here are suggestions to keep in mind.

What is as valuable as corn for putting a pound of grain on hogs. In fact, wheat has a slight advantage over corn because it is higher in protein. The two grains, corn and wheat, may be interchanged without upsetting the value of the ration. Wheat should be ground or cracked before feeding. Oats is worth about 85% as much as corn. It is higher in protein than corn, but contains too much bulk for fattening hogs. It is, however, desirable to use oats in the growing ration. Barley is worth more than oats, but less than corn for fattening hogs. Ground rye is about as good as corn in the fattening ration but should make up only about one-third of the grain mixture.
