

Joseph Bauer Sr. of Campbellsport Dies

Joseph Bauer Sr., 75, an early hotel and tavern operator at Campbellsport, died in his sleep early Tuesday, Nov. 11, at his home in that village.

Born Sept. 8, 1872, at Neudorf, Austria, a son of John and Mary Bauer, he came to this country with his parents when a small boy, settling at Greys Lake, Ill., and later moving to Germantown. He was married Nov. 7, 1894, to Anna Kurzwil, the couple moving to Campbellsport in 1910 from Necedah.

Mr. Bauer established the hotel now operated by his son, Edward M. "Mush" Bauer.

Surviving Mr. Bauer are his widow; four sons, Edward M., Joseph Jr., Floyd and George, all of Campbellsport; four daughters, Mrs. Theresa Farrell of Campbellsport, Mrs. Killian Sprankel and Mrs. Viola Scheid of Milwaukee and Mrs. Florence Mitchell of Plymouth; 10 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren; a brother, George Bauer, of Plain, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Zipsel of Milwaukee. Nine children were born to the Bauers, one of whom predeceased him.

Funeral services were held at 8:30 a. m. Friday from the Berge funeral home, Campbellsport, where the remains lay in state, and at 2 a. m. at St. Matthew's church there. Burial was in the parish cemetery.

MRS. MARY CALVEY BROWNE

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 5, for Mrs. Mary Calvey Browne, widow of Adam Browne, retired Dunat the home of her daughter, Mrs. George R. Twohig, Armstrong, with whom she had resided the last three years.

Mrs. Browne, who observed her 90th birthday Aug. 6, was born in Glenbeulah, the daughter of Cecilia Green and Edward Calvey. She attended school there and at Escanaba, Mich. After being graduated from high school at Escanaba, she returned to her home at Campbellsport and taught school, both in Fond du Lac and Sheboygan counties.

Her marriage to Adam Browne took place Nov. 8, 1876, in St. Mary's church, Cascade, the Rev. Fr. Casey officiating. The couple lived on a farm at Dundee, where Mrs. Browne lived until five years ago. The couple celebrated their 50th wedding in 1926.

Surviving besides Mrs. Twohig are three other daughters, Mrs. Frank Bergan of West Bend, Mrs. John Pesch of Campbellsport, and Mrs. William Hayes of Araboo; two sons, Joseph and Clement Browne of Dundee; two brothers, Daniel Calvey of Town Mitchell and William of Fond du Lac; 25 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren. Mrs. Browne was preceded in death by her husband, three daughters, Mary, Mabel and Laura, Murphy, her parents and nine brothers and sisters.

The funeral rites were held from the Twohig residence at 9:30 a. m. and at 10 a. m. at Our Lady of Angels church, Armstrong. Burial was at Dundee.

JOHN F. SCHRAUTH

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 5, for John F. Schrauth, 72, who died the preceding Friday at his home at Campbellsport after a lingering illness. The rites were held at 8:30 a. m. from the Berge funeral home and at 9 a. m. at St. Matthew's church, Campbellsport, the Rev. A. C. Biver officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Schrauth was born Nov. 25, 1871, in the town of Ashford, son of John and Catherine Schrauth, who resided on the property known as Schrauth's pond (now Lake Bernice). Mr. Schrauth was married to Christine Bach Nov. 16, 1892, at Campbellsport. After their marriage they made their home at Schrauth's pond until March, 1916, when they moved to Campbellsport.

Mr. Schrauth was a member of the Catholic Knights of Wisconsin. Surviving are the widow; three daughters, Mrs. Loretta Willet of Chicago, Mrs. Olive Berg of Campbellsport and Mrs. Ann Schaefer of St. Francis; two sons, Alphonse of the town of Ashford and Clarence of West Bend; 19 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; four brothers, Dan of Mellen, Frank and Herman of West Bend and Andrew of Elmora; and four sisters, Mrs. Catherine Boegel of Kewaskum, Mrs. Francis Fisher of Racine, Mrs. Anna Britzke of Chicago and Mrs. Margaret Schroeder of West Bend.

Speaker Pays Tribute to War Dead at Kiwanis Meet

A tribute to the dead of World Wars I and II was delivered by Col. H. P. Schowalter in his speech, "A Bridge to Peace," on the eve of Armistice day to members of the Kiwanis club in Kewaskum.

Col. Schowalter, a veteran of both World wars, related some of his experiences and made a strong appeal for this country's preparedness for a possible future war.

The next Kiwanis club meeting will be a ladies' night affair at the Bar-N Ranch, Monday, Nov. 17, and will begin at 7 p. m. Featured speaker will be Irv. Stout of the Milwaukee State Teachers college, and formerly director of guidance of the public schools of the city of Milwaukee. His speech, "Meeting Children's Needs," will conform to the local Kiwanis club's observance of National Education week.

Truck Rams Into Local School Bus, Driver is Held on $10,000 Bail

Louis Nemzoff, middle-aged Milwaukee junk dealer, who does much hauling out of Kewaskum, was being held in the Washington county jail the past week after he had been bound over to the circuit court and his bail was set at $10,000 by Justice C. B. Hayden in a traffic hearing Monday. He was charged with reckless driving and failure to stop after an accident with a Kewaskum school bus in which an injury was sustained, according to District Attorney Arthur C. Snyder. Leroy Keller Jr. of this village was injured in the accident.

Snyder said the accident occurred last Saturday afternoon on Highway 45-55 north of Germantown as a Kewaskum school bus driven by Earl Dreher and containing 39 pupils of the local high school was returning to Kewaskum from the Marquette-Villanova football game in Milwaukee. Two busloads of pupils attended the game. The other bus, driven by Coach Ernest Mitchell, had gone on ahead.

A truck driven by Nemzoff rounded a curve in the road, colliding with the side of the bus and continued on. Dreher gave pursuit in an auto driven by Elmer Schabo, Kewaskum music teacher, that was following a short distance behind the bus.

Schabo and Dreher tried to force Nemzoff to the side of the road but were unsuccessful. They notified Milwaukee police through Sheriff Ray Koth and Nemzoff was picked up several hours later. Schabo and his wife said that although it was dark the Nemzoff truck did not have its lights lit when it passed their car.

The side of the bus was ripped open by the crash and an angle iron off the Nemzoff truck pierced the body of young Keller causing a ruptured kidney and other possible injuries. When the bus reached West Bend Keller was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, where he now is confined. Volunteers returned to the hospital Saturday night to give blood should a transfusion be necessary. On Sunday a Milwaukee specialist examined and cared for the youth who now apparently has passed the danger point and is recovering nicely.

TENNESSEE

The Scenic State

(Editor's Note: This is another in the "Stories of the State" series.)

By ED EMERINE
WNU Features.

The spirit of rugged Andrew Jackson still lingers over Tennessee, from the Great Smoky mountains to the Mississippi river. His most striking traits of self-confidence, energy, persistency, individualism, honesty, simplicity and loyalty are typical of the state. A product of the frontier, an unlettered youth, Jackson's abilities gained him prominence as a legislator, commander of troops, first citizen and president of the United States. To walk the halls of the Hermitage, his historic home near Nashville, is to feel the personality of the man who loved his fellow men and all things beautiful.

But Jackson did not mould Tennessee; it was Tennessee, with its variety of mountains and plains, rivers and lakes, climate and opportunities, which aided his development. Seeing Tennessee is to understand the diversity of places and things and the vigorous culture that sent forth such men as Jackson and Sam Houston to write whole chapters of American history.

First Settlement.
In 1769 Capt. William Bean and his family built a cabin at the mouth of Bean's creek, and here Russell Bean was probably the first white child to be born in Tennessee. Other families came from North Carolina and Virginia, and the Watauga settlement was established. Stores were opened in other parts of the state, soon to be surrounded by cabins.

These pioneers were far from their mother states, without government and without protection, so they set up their own governmental organization. It is said these were the first white men of America to establish a free and independent community on the continent. The leaders were John Sevier and James Robertson.

The State of Franklin, or Frankland, was short-lived, but it served its purpose. Tennessee was a territory of the United States from 1790 to 1796, with Knoxville as its capital. When it became the 16th state of the Union in 1796, Knoxville remained the seat of government and continued as such until 1812. The legislature, however, met variously at Kingston, Nashville and Murfreesboro, Nashville being the capital from 1812 to 1825. Murfreesboro has been the capital since October 26, 1826.

Frontier Country.
When Andrew Jackson came to Tennessee from North Carolina in 1788, the country was real frontier, filled with individualists, feuds and quarrels, and surrounded by Indians. Every man had to be brave, well versed in human nature, able to fight with fist or gun or sword.

Since Jackson had those characteristics, he soon rose to prominence, helped draft the first constitution of Tennessee and was chosen United States representative from his adopted state.

NATIVE RESIDENT . . . Gov. James McCord is a native of Tennessee. Born in Unionville, he grew up on a farm. Later he was a traveling salesman, newspaper publisher and livestock auctioneer. After serving as mayor of Lewisburg for more than 25 years, he was elected to congress in 1942. He was elected governor in 1944 and was reelected in 1946.

Just as Jackson rose from the wilderness to the Hermitage, so Tennessee evolved from a wild and untamed land to the culture of today, and the end is not in sight! The frontier is gone, but the state's rich resources remain. Such developments as TVA are but the beginning of a richer, finer Tennessee, which always will retain the Old South atmosphere.

Tennessee's forests still cover 30,000 square miles and yield half a billion feet of lumber.

Rich in Minerals.
Chief mineral products are coal, iron, copper, zinc, gold, silver, clay products, phosphate rock, sandstone, marble and limestone. Agriculture is the base of Tennessee's wealth. The leading crop is corn, followed by wheat, oats, hay, potatoes, sweet potatoes, peas, peanuts, cotton, and a multitude of new crops introduced within the last few years.

Tennessee's orchards are expanding. Her dairy herds are increasing. Poultry and poultry products are more valuable each year.

Industry Advances.
In manufacturing, Tennessee has just begun. The electric energy available in the area is immense. The raw products are near at hand. The accessibility to vast markets is well known. Many industrialists already are moving there and others have their eyes on that area. It is pleasant for both labor and capital to get away from crowded cities. In Tennessee there is pure air. The sunshine is soothing. The hills and valleys are pleasant to look upon. Life is better there.

All men crave recreation, whether they work in an office, on a farm or in a factory. Tennessee provides beauty and variety in pleasure. In eastern Tennessee is Cherokee national forest and Great Smoky mountains national park, with hunting, fishing and natural wonders. The Cumberland mountains, too, are a maze of peaks and ridges, rippling streams and deep cut valleys.

The great dams of the TVA system have created a chain of lakes extending across the eastern and western ends of the state, providing boating and fishing — with no closed season. Reelfoot lake in northwest Tennessee covers 14,500 acres and provides a natural fish hatchery and one of the finest fishing grounds in the nation.

Parks are Plethora.
State parks cover 55,000 attractive acres in Tennessee. They contain unusual formations, caverns, natural bridges and other phenomena. There are bridge and hiking trails, long and beautiful highways, and plenty of picnic and outing places, with facilities for swimming, boating and fishing.

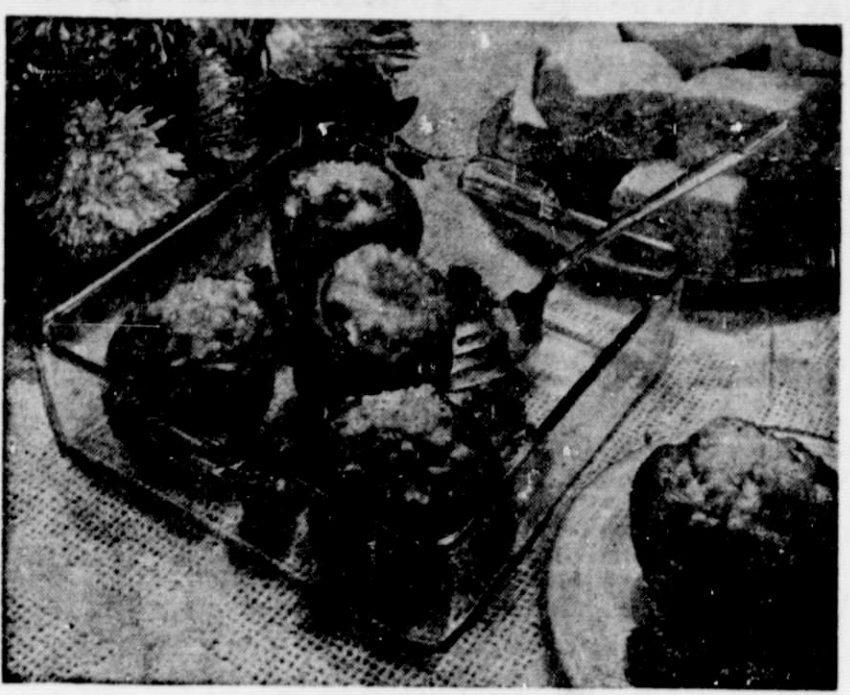

But most important of all about Tennessee is its people. They are gracious, friendly, warm-hearted. Their heritage is a great state endowed by nature with rich resources. Upon that solid base they have built a tradition of which they are proud.

Their culture includes a love of beauty in buildings, in cities, in farms, in gardens and in fields. Their 23 institutions of higher learning are testimony to their desire for knowledge. Their records on the field of battle proclaim their courage. Their progress from the frontier to their present high development attests their determination to move forward.

Tennessee is more than a state; it is an experience in life and living. It is not easily forgotten.

Baked Stuffed Tomatoes Save Meat

Meat Savers

Every now and then when we are called upon to save meat, it helps to have dishes with meat-like texture and flavor so appetites are satisfied. Fortunately there are certain combinations of vegetables which, when served with some cheese, are excellent just for such a purpose.

Tomatoes with a bit of bacon are satisfying for hearty appetites; so are squash and lima beans, with a bit of sausage. An grain combinations are interesting, too, from the point of view of satisfying appetites as well as the budget.

Use the recipes given today when you want to save on meat; these dishes are not meant to be used as a vegetable side-dish for the average family as they are just a bit too much on the hearty side for such a purpose.

*Baked Stuffed Tomatoes.

(Serves 5)

- 5 tomatoes
- 5 slices of bacon
- 2 cups bread crumbs
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 cup grated cheese
- Sprigs of parsley

Cut tops off tomatoes and remove pulp. Cook bacon until crisp. Break into small pieces. Make a stuffing by mixing tomato pulp, bacon, bread crumbs, onion, salt and pepper. Fill cavities of tomatoes with the stuffing. Sprinkle tops with grated cheese. Place tomatoes in a heat-resistant glass dish. Bake in a moderately hot (400 degree) oven for 30 minutes. Serve garnished with parsley.

Squash, Sausage and Lima Bean Platter.

(Serves 4)

- 2 1/2 cups cooked, mashed squash
- 1 1/2 cups cooked lima beans
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 8 sausages

Arrange squash in four nests on a heat resistant glass utility platter. Place lima beans in center of each squash nest. Dot lima beans with butter. Place sausages around squash nests. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes or until sausages are done.

Sausage Stuffed Eggplant.

(Serves 4)

- 1 medium eggplant
- 3/4 pound pork sausage
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 cups cooked brown rice
- 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- Salt and pepper
- 1/4 cup grated cheese

Cut eggplant in half lengthwise. Cook in boiling salted water for 10 minutes, or until it is almost tender. Cook sausage meat slowly in large skillet until lightly browned, stirring occasionally. Add onion, garlic, green pepper and parsley, and cook until vegetables are almost tender. Pour off some sausage fat, leaving about 1/4 cup in pan. Add rice. Scoop eggplant

Save Time Keeping Clean With These Tips
Warm soapsuds and water are the best treatment for cleaning leather furniture.

When you place a clean cover on your ironing board, have it wet and pull it tightly. Tack it on and it will dry wrinkle-free.

When your china dishes become slightly discolored, use a little whitening to clean them. Rinse well in lukewarm water.

Old shaving brushes because of their softness are ideal for cleaning small fragile articles or lampshades. The brush should be washed thoroughly before using. Lukewarm water and mild soap are good cleansing agents for brushes.

Before cleaning a room, remove all the small articles in it to another room. Lay them on a table covered with newspapers. A room free of these items will be easier to clean because the work can proceed without interruption. Then, too, you can stand at the table and clean all the small articles at one time.

Kids Hold 'Bicycle Court'
Reckless bicycle riders will be haled into a special court to face a jury of their juvenile peers in Bloomfield, N. J. The court is being started by police and school authorities and tentative plans call for court sessions once a week in each of five elementary schools. Five students will be jurors and a police officer will preside. Suggested penalties for bike riders are an essay on bicycle safety for first offenders and suspension of bike riding privileges for third offenders.

Tar Heel Mules
In an age of mechanization, the much-maligned mule is making a comeback on Tar Heel farms. In fact, North Carolina's Robeson county ranks second in the nation in the number of mules on farms. North Carolina has 15 counties in the top 100 counties with the nation's highest mule population. Missouri, started in mule lore, placed only two counties in the first 100, according to U. S. agricultural census.

Making Plywood Sheets
In making plywood, sheets of veneer only a fraction of an inch thick are peeled from big fir logs. Then, the veneer is glued together in three, five or more plies to make big panels. Plywood is called a wood-and-glue sandwich as it is made of thin sheets of wood bound together with the grain of each running at right angles to the one above and below it.

Highway Transportation
Highway transportation by motor vehicles in this country got its start with the first successful operation in 1892, in Springfield, Mass., of an automobile powered by a gasoline engine. The number of automobiles had increased to 8,000 by 1900, when commercial production of cars driven by internal-combustion engines got under way.

Candles on Trees
The talker tree was introduced into America from China. Seeds are covered by a white, waxy substance, used in Japan and China for candles and soap. In America the trees are largely grown for ornamental purposes. In Asia the wood is used for furniture and in former days for wood type.

Loss of Nutritional Value
The use of a pressure cooker has no more effect on the vitamins or nutritional value of foods than ordinary cooking. Naturally, some of the nutritive value is lost when foods are cooked, but this will happen in any type of cooking.

Drop in Diamonds
Antwerp's diamond industry has felt the impact of the drop in demand for diamonds in the United States and a lessening of purchases by wealthy individuals who bought them as investments. After a one year boom in the Belgian diamond industry, which ships polished jewels and industrial stones all over the world, Antwerp diamond interests now are operating at about 60 per cent of capacity. This trimmed operation is to avoid dumping diamonds on an unresponsive market.

Swiss Discovered DDT
The original work on dichlorodiphenyl-trichloroethane, or DDT, was done by Swiss scientists who synthesized the product and used it to destroy the Colorado potato beetle that threatened the potato crop in Switzerland. America has secured many of her pests and insects from Europe, but the Colorado potato beetle is one of the few American insects finding its way to Europe.

Major League Stars
Since 1876, when the National league was organized, more than 50,000 men have played for major league baseball teams. One of the greatest of all the players was Ty Cobb of the unconquerable spirit, who played from 1905 to 1928. When Cobb retired from the game he held some 90 records, many of which still exist. For 12 years, nine of them in succession, he was the American league batting champion.

Steepest Railroad Grade
Steepest known grade on a standard steam railroad in the United States is 5.89 per cent. This occurs on the Pennsylvania railroad at Madison, Ind., where the railroad ascends the Ohio river bank. The grade extends about 7,000 feet, and the climb is approximately 400 feet. Saddle-tank locomotives are operated on this track.

TENNESSEE—A PICTURE STATE . . . (1) Tennessee's capitol in Nashville is attractive to visitors not only for its architectural beauty but also for its historic interest. (2) The "Great Lakes of the South," created by the giant dams of the TVA development, rapidly are becoming famous as recreational waters. (3) Much of Tennessee's wealth is derived from its agriculture, of which sheep and livestock form an important part. (4) Tennessee Walking horses, a breed originated in the bluegrass section of the state, have become nationally known as the smoothest gaited saddle animal.

Reputation for Volunteering Explains State's Nickname

Loyalty and service to the United States gave Tennessee the nickname of "The Volunteer State" at the outbreak of the War with Mexico, when she gave over 10 times her quota of soldiers to the American army. Pres. James K. Polk, himself a native of Tennessee, called on his state for 2,800 men, but 30,000 volunteered.

Even before that, however, Tennessee had a reputation for volunteering. This was particularly true as early as the War of 1812 and during several campaigns against the Indians. Even during the Revolutionary war large numbers of settlers in Watauga and Holston valleys volunteered not only for the decisive King's mountain battle fought on September 25, 1870, but also for several other campaigns along the eastern seaboard.

In the War of 1812, Tennessee furnished 28,000 troops and had double the number of any other state in the Battle of New Orleans. General Jackson, hero of New Orleans, was a Tennessean.

During the Civil war, Tennessee was one of the principal battlegrounds. The state furnished a total of 145,000 troops for that conflict, 30,000 of which were in the Union army.

ONE DID ITS PART

A CITY merchant is inordinately proud of his small suburban farm, from which he commutes daily. One day he was proudly conducting a visitor over his rural acres.

"You have a nice little place here," the visitor remarked.

"Yes, I think I have," was the reply.

"A nice garden."

"Yep."

"And some fine chickens."

"Especially fine chickens."

"You like chickens very much?" asked the visitor.

"Indeed, I do!" was the enthusiastic reply. "I tell you it is fine to take a basket every morning and go out after eggs."

At this point the little daughter of the amateur farmer brought the proceedings to a close by brightly chiming in. "Yes, sir, and sometimes we find one!"

NOT EVEN ADVERTISED

A man dropped his wig in the street and a boy picked it up and handed it to him.

"Thanks, my boy," said the owner of the wig. "You are the first genuine hair restorer I have ever seen."

Killing Two Birds

A tired mother was walking her wailing infant back and forth at one o'clock in the morning when the bedroom door opened. Hubby appeared on the scene carrying his shoes.

"Oh, gee," she thought, "maybe he can quiet her."

Instead, he said:

"Here, put these shoes on. While you're walking, you might as well break 'em in for me."

Or Are Lights

An ambitious little group of amateur performers was bravely contending with the manifold problems of mounting a tableau bearing the ambitious title of "Noah's Ark."

"Now, how shall we illuminate the ark?" asked one anxious participant.

"Oh, that's easy," rejoined a whimsical member. "With flood lights, of course."

Truthful Advertising

An accounting school advertised: "Short Course in Accounting for Women." A few days later a note reached the school's director. It said: "There is no accounting for women."

Exotic Delicacies

A mountaineer who came into town saw a bunch of bananas for the first time. He asked the dealer what they were.

"Bananas," he said; and then he good-naturedly added, "Try one."

"No, I reckon not," the man from the mountains replied. "I've got so many tastes now I can't satisfy, I ain't aimin' to take on any more."

After Santa Claus

Father was not greatly pleased by the school report brought to him by his hopeful. "How is it," he demanded, "that you stand so much lower in your studies for January than for December?"

"Why Dad," the boy replied in an injured tone, "don't you know that everything is marked down after the holidays?"

'TIS A GOOD WORLD

The knight of the road hit the lady of the house for a handout. As she passed over a sandwich she asked, "By the way, have you ever been offered a job?"

The tramp replied, "Only once, lady. Other than that I've met with nothing but kindness."

SUGGESTIONS FOR SAVING GRAIN IN LIVESTOCK FEEDING
The government has pledged itself to send many million bushels of grains overseas to relieve starvation in Europe. With only limited surpluses in some sections of America, farmers especially will be expected to conserve grain in livestock feeding. Here are some suggestions that may prove valuable to local farmers:

- (1) Conserve grain supplies by feeding more roughage to the dairy herd and especially to the non-milking animals.
- (2) Cull more closely non-productive dairy herds and poultry flocks.
- (3) Kill rats—each rat can eat 50 lbs. of corn easily and easily destroy another 100 lbs.
- (4) Protein feeds are plentiful. Feed a more protein rich ration to dairy cows.
- (5) Replace old brood sows with gilts.
- (6) Make the most of your feed and equipment by raising two litters of pigs per year.
- (7) Market fat hogs at about 250 lbs.

NO JAPANESE BEETLES IN STATE
No Japanese beetles were found in Wisconsin this year according to reports of a federal survey. The beetles were accidentally brought into New Jersey from Japan in 1916. So far they have never been found in Wisconsin, but have spread into 10 states and have been found as far west as central Iowa and eastern Missouri.

Shell Your Corn Faster, Easier

with a McCORMICK-DEERING CORN SHELLER

The McCormick-Deering No. 30 Corn Sheller is designed for the farmer with a medium acreage to do his own shelling at minimum cost. For capacity of 100 to 150 bushels of shelled corn per hour, it can't be beat.

Simply designed and sturdily built, it will meet the needs of the farmer who shells corn for sale at the elevator, or the livestock feeder who has his own feeding requirements.

Democrats' 1948 Chances Uncertain

Truman's Popularity Grows But Party Itself Is Shaky

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

(This follows a series on the men most talked about as candidates for the Republican presidential nomination.)

WASHINGTON.—One Sunday last month, a friend and I watched President Truman unveil a plaque on Covenant First Presbyterian church. The occasion was a ceremony establishing the church as a national house of worship for Presbyterians.

Just previously, a wreath had been laid on the nearby statue of John Witherspoon, Presbyterian clergyman, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and one-time president of what is now Princeton university.

"There never was a time," President Truman said, in paying tribute to John Witherspoon, "when we needed more of the backing of those people who believe in the Golden Rule, and who believe in the teachings of Jesus Christ."

The President was, of course, speaking of moral support, but he had reason to be rather cheerful because of another kind of backing which he had just learned he had—the kind measured by Dr. Gallup's polls. Gallup called it "one of the most dramatic reversals of political sentiment in history."

On October 16 of last year, the poll reported Democratic party strength at its lowest point in 16 years. Three weeks later, the survey was confirmed at the polls with election of a Republican congress.

But today, Mr. Truman's popularity is way up. A year ago the score was 53 to 47 in favor of the Republicans; in the last count it was 56 to 44 in favor of the Democrats.

On the question: "Do you approve or disapprove of the way Mr. Truman is handling his job as President?" the scorecard said: Approve—55 per cent; Disapprove—29 per cent. The rest expressed no opinion.

Much water has flowed over the dam since the two polls were taken. Mr. Truman will flow; and, at any rate, no poll can measure the impediments facing the Democrats. They have been going through a whole cycle of hopes and fears. The October poll may have been almost as surprising as pleasing to party leaders. They know there must be an end to all things, and it is pretty hard to prove that the stream has not been crossed and that the voters who used, sometimes, to elect Republican presidents, still shudder at the danger of changing horses.

The one biggest abstract obstacle to the election of the Democratic president is the fact that the Democrats have just been around too long. Undoubtedly the biggest concrete threat is General Eisenhower. When that atomic bomb first threatened to break, the President was on the high seas, but the details were reported to him blow by blow—and it was quite a blow.

Probably the next biggest headache is the internal condition of the party. After long delay and much dissatisfaction, a new national chairman, Sen. Howard McGrath (Dem., R. I.) was selected, and welcomed in most quarters. He has a job cut out for him because the Democratic machine has grown very rusty in the last years, and it is not only rusty which has corroded.

Nor is it the machine alone that cracks. Will-the-wisp Wallace with his constant threat of a third party is a threat to the Democratic party itself. Nobody believes that a third party candidate could possibly be elected as things stand now.

But did you ever see that traffic-safety slogan: "Don't try to guess what a child will do?" Democratic leaders are up against the same thing. They don't dare guess what that problem child, Henry Wallace, will do. He is quite capable of going ahead and starting a third party with the full knowledge that it couldn't accomplish anything but the election of a Republican president.

A third party would have not merely a nuisance-value, but Wallace might dream up a long-range scheme of leading a political labor movement like Britain's. After many defeats, that turned into a political party which finally attained power and put a socialistic impress on the whole British national economy. So the Wallace threat is a very definite one.

And what about the labor vote? It has long been a theory, iterated by former AFL boss Gompers, and (until passage of the Taft-Hartley act) reiterated by his successor, Mr. Green, that there was no such animal.

Franklin Roosevelt claimed there was no labor vote, as such. Former Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins said there was none, and in those days, there wasn't, despite the existence of the American Labor party in New York City.

I doubt that there is a "labor vote" now, despite the AFL's new "Education and Public Relations" unit, and the CIO-PAC, and their threats to punish supporters of the Taft-Hartley law. As a matter of fact, I understand opposition to the law is cooling, except where fires are being artificially fanned, and old-timers tell me it will (a) be modified and (b) be forgotten.

The fall congressional election in the eighth Pennsylvania district where such Herculean efforts were put forth to make the bill an issue, didn't prove too much either way, except that the highly-organized CIO campaign did NOT defeat the Republican candidate.

Party Machinery Has Deteriorated

Democratic party machinery has deteriorated rapidly since 1938 when it was discovered that Roosevelt's coat-tails were no longer strong enough to put local candidates into office. Gradually, precinct, city, county and state organizations began to take far more interest in electing local officers than they were in working together as a unit for the national candidate. In Roosevelt's case, that was hardly necessary. And the White House got into the habit of thinking it wasn't necessary to do much for the local people either. So the gulf widened.

It is true that real bell-ringing was carried on by the left wing organized around the CIO-PAC, but in some cases this support proved the kiss of death. The Democratic machine will have to work for the co-operation of Wallace and the present offshoots of CIO-PAC because it cannot afford to alienate that type of support. Gallup a month or so ago reported in a survey of political orientation that 50 per cent of the American people favored a middle - of - the - road policy.

Of course, much depends on who becomes the Republican candidate for president. That is the reason that the possibility of an Eisenhower or even a MacArthur on the horizon raises shivers in the executive mansion.

Much also will depend on the strength of the big city bosses. The Kelly machine is pretty weak. Chicago's new Mayor Kennelly is giving the city an administration such as it hasn't had in a long time. But he has weakened, not strengthened, the old Kelly outfit. However, I hear that Sen. Scott Lucas a down-stater, who has always fought Kelly until the last time, may run for governor of Illinois. He is strong down-state. This might help Truman with the Illinois delegation.

How strong will the new Kansas City machine be? O'Dwyer is refurbishing Tammany, but the Tiger hasn't its old wallop. How much the greatly weakened Hague machine in New Jersey can contribute, I don't know. There is one thing to be considered. Almost all the machines (except Crump's Memphis regulars) have been weakened by the growth of power of the labor bosses. What the Democrats may gain by the labor bosses' influence in attracting some of the liberals who made up the Roosevelt following, may be lost in alienating some of the old-line party workers.

75,000 WORKERS

Building U.N. Home Huge Task

The 65 million-dollar job of constructing the United Nations' world capital along the East river in New York City will benefit more than 75,000 workers during the next three years, headquarters planning officials have predicted.

Chief architects of the future skyscraper city of glass and marble estimated that a total of 25,000 persons eventually would be employed in construction and other direct work upon the actual site.

An additional 50,000 workers are expected to contribute indirectly in production of materials and in other outside labor. Labor expense will account for 42 million of the total 65 million dollar construction cost.

NEWS REVIEW

Meat, Wheat Peril Seen; Get Tough: U.S. Public

FOOD PUZZLE

Meat vs. Wheat

Domestic food situation in the U. S. is entering a critical stage, with two aspects standing out in sharp opposition to each other:

1. The government, determined to ship 500 million bushels of wheat to Europe by next June, is campaigning to save a major portion of that amount by cutting down on the feed consumption of cattle, hogs and poultry. That line of reasoning holds that smaller flocks and feeding to lighter weights will save more grain than any other single effort.

2. The supply of meat is going to be considerably less than it has been and the demand will be greater. Meat prices are expected to go much higher in 1948. Further curtailment of meat production by saving grain at the feed trough will intensify that already serious situation.

There is no danger of a bread or food shortage of any kind this winter because of the nation's bumper wheat harvest. The pinch, if it comes, will appear after the middle of next year, precipitated by a currently threatening drought and failure of the winter wheat crop. Added to that is the fact that domestic uses, plus exports, will leave from this year's harvest of 1.4 billion bushels only a 100 million-bushel carryover by the time of the next harvest — too small a volume in the event of a short crop.

Meat, which right now is a little cheaper than it has been because more animals are being slaughtered, will continue in great demand next year because consumer buying power will remain high.

The supply, however, will be less. The agriculture department estimates there will be only 21.5 billion pounds of meat produced in 1948, compared to 23.2 billion pounds this year. There will be 4 million fewer cattle on farms next January than last January, smaller hogs will be sent to market and there will be no increase in the stocks of sheep, which are at an 80-year low.

PLAGUE:

Egypt Stricken

Cholera, the dreaded black plague is spreading so swiftly in Egypt that a total of 6,000 dead has been predicted by year's end.

With many stricken villages isolated by troops, other small communities are ringed with bonfires day and night in the belief that fire will keep out the disease.

Meanwhile, neighboring nations were taking steps to prevent the spread of cholera from the upper Nile valley. Greece, Italy and Palestine have discontinued international traffic, while private shipping lines will bypass Egyptian ports and air travel is diverted away from Egypt.

Outside help in combatting the disease is at a minimum in Egypt. Swiss scientists alone were said to be helping local health officers. There is a desperate shortage of medicines, DDT and medical specialists.

GET TOUGH: U. S. Approves

Soviet leaders, who cry "war-monger" every time an American diplomat splits an infinitive, are gravely in error if they suppose there is any major cleavage between the American public's views on Russia and the state department's so-called "tough" policy toward the Soviets.

That conclusion was brought out in a recent Gallup poll which indicated that, actually, the predominant mood of public opinion today favors an even tougher policy than the state department is following. Answers to the question, "Do you think that in dealing with Russia and other countries the U. S. is insisting too much on having its own way?" were: Yes, 12 per cent; No, 78 per cent; No opinion, 10 per cent.

Further, 62 per cent of the American people believe that the U. S. is being too soft in its policy toward Russia. Only 6 per cent think it is being too tough, and 24 per cent say our official attitude toward the Soviets is about right.

FINAL TOUCHES:

Marshall Plan

After caroming from praise to criticism to condemnation for the past few months, the celebrated Marshall plan to help Europe regain its feet is being whipped into final shape under direction of Secretary of State George Marshall, its proponent.

One known fact loomed large in the mind of the American taxpayer: The plan may cost up to 20 billion dollars for the four-year period during which it will be in effect.

Marshall, who abandoned temporarily his debating in the U. N. general assembly, returned to his Washington office to put the finishing touches on his plan, which will be laid before congress when the special session opens November 17.

The Marshall plan, subject to later revisions, may be outlined broadly in these main points:

- 1. U. S. would make available to Europe next year a combination of relief and recovery supplies totaling about six billion dollars. Relief supplies (food) would be free; recovery supplies (machinery) would be financed with loans.
- 2. Because of shifting conditions, it will be impossible accurately to forecast the amount of help Europe will need beyond the first year.
- 3. Sums from the U. S. would decrease each year as recovery progress was made.
- 4. The plan would be administered in the U. S. by a new government agency and in Europe by an organization representing the 16 nations which drew up their estimate of needs at the Paris conference.

THE week's most important event in the entertainment world is the testimonial dinner given for Jean Hersholt, marking the 10th anniversary of his portrayal of CBS' "Dr. Christian." The guest list includes leaders in radio, pictures, medicine, public service, charities, music and education; he is as famous for his philanthropic activities as for his skill as an actor. His radio program really belongs to the public, since each week a prize-winning script sent in to the Dr. Christian Award contest is broadcast; it's a program written by the listening audience.

Writer-Director-Producer Orson Welles decided that Actor Orson Welles would drive a station wagon in Columbia's "The Lady From Shanghai"—he forgot that Welles couldn't drive. Refusing to have a double, Welles took an hour's instruction, got behind the wheel—and drove the station wagon into a sound truck. It's a double you'll see driving.

Of course it is a feather in Samuel Goldwyn's cap that his "The Bishop's Wife" was chosen for showing at the Second Annual Royal Command performance before British royalty in London November 25. But—both male stars, Cary Grant and David Niven, are British born, and two of the supporting cast, Gladys Cooper and Elsa Lancaster, are English.

Newspaper pages really come to life in the new March of Time, "End of an Empire?" It tells the story of Dutch attempts to salvage what they can of Indonesia; will send audiences away wondering whether the era of the white man's rule in Asia is ended. It is colorful, beautiful at times—but most important, it is thought-provoking.

Production of PRC's "Brooklyn, U.S.A." starring Brooklyn Dodger first baseman Jackie Robinson, starts December 5; it will be released by Eagle-Lion Films. Branch Rickey, who gave Robinson his chance in the major leagues, has been added to the cast.

Radio melodramas have paid off for Actress Lucretia Tuttle. Noted by screen scouts for her work on "The Whistler" over CBS, and on Peter Lorre's "Mystery in the Air," she is working in Metro's "Homecoming" with Clark Gable.

Beginning November 30 and for four Sundays thereafter the complete story of the birth of Christ will be dramatized on ABC's "The Greatest Story Ever Told." It has never before been done in this way.

Blanche Stewart, once famous for her work with Jack Benny and as "Cobina" on the Bob Hope show, resumed her radio career recently on the CBS "Blondie"; she is on crutches and wearing a brace, after an automobile accident.

More than a dozen highway patrolmen were needed to untangle a traffic snarl of 1,500 automobiles on San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge when Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall did a location sequence there for "Dark Passage."

Ray Milland and Marlene Dietrich did not want even to hear the word "fish" after they had to eat a rich fish stew—at length—in "Golden Earrings." Richard Denning, on the other hand, is all for fish; his wife, Evelyn Ankers, gave the "Caged Fury" star a complete spear-fishing outfit for his birthday, equipping him for his favorite sport.

ODDS AND ENDS—Groscho Marx, back on the air with a new quiz show, "You Bet Your Life," Mondays on ABC, announces that he will be narrator on "The Sidewalks," a Ben Hecht story which his brother Gummo Marx will produce for the screen. . . . Weary of riding 20 miles to take a dip in Dennis Morgan's pool, Jack Carson now has a swimming pool in his own backyard. . . . Evelyn Varden ("Young Dr. Malone") did more than run into royalty one day some years ago at the Victoria Hotel, in London—she bumped into the Duke of York and nearly knocked him off the stairs!

Studio audiences at "The Aldrich Family" have wondered why Katharine Rath ("Mrs. Aldrich") appears in a long skirt and bustle. She is appearing in "The Heiress," 1950 drama, and has to rush to the theater afterward.

Dwight Weist, "We, the People" master of ceremonies, can easily check on his diction and vocal delivery. As he is heard on so many newsreels as narrator; he just drops into almost any theater and criticizes himself.

Gems of Thought Those who think it permissible to tell white lies soon grow color-blind. Philosophy is the parachute in which we return to earth after the wings of illusion fall. When the heart is afire, some sparks will fly out of the mouth. Observance, and not old age, brings wisdom.

LOW EBB: Russian Trade

Two years after World War II, trade between the U. S. and Russia, wartime allies, has dwindled to the extent that shipment of U. S. goods to the Soviets is expected to reach the lowest point in 10 years before the end of 1947.

The United States today is sending a smaller percentage of American-made machinery and equipment to the Russians than it did in the years before Pearl Harbor.

Ask Oleo Tax Repeal

In a telegram sent to President Truman, the National Association of Retail Grocers branded the federal tax on oleomargarine as "unjustly discriminatory" against low income families.

They asked that the "indefensible" tax be ended, and urged that the special session of congress be requested to repeal the tax. The grocers said lifting of the oleo tax would be a price relief measure.

THE FICTION CORNER

POINT TOUCHDOWN

By RICHARD BRESLIN

IT WAS still raining when they came onto the field for the second half. After the heat of the dressing room the air was cold and biting.

You see what they're doing. Kicking early. Keeping us away. They've got a touchdown and we haven't.

Jerry frowned. He said: "You're sure I'm going out there?" "You always have," said Farraday.

Jerry winced. He always had. Since he'd been a sophomore he'd kicked every extra point that Tech had made.

There was a hoarse murmur from the crowd in the opposite stands, and he saw the Aggies sprinting out on the field.

Jerry remembered the coach's words in the dressing room. Big Dan Winowski didn't go in for pep talks.

Jerry froze, grew rigid; gave a gasping sob. "Kick! Kick!" Taggart screamed.

brushed him, but it was enough to send him sliding in the mud. Tech tried three plays and then punted.

The game settled into a punter's battle. Taggart had the wind at his back and counted on picking up distance on each exchange.

Farraday sat next to him. He said: "We're wearing them down. See those subs in there?"

toward the sideline. Taggart dove gathered it in. He slid all the way to the Tech bench, and got up.

Jerry glared. Everybody figured it was easy because he only played a few minutes each game.

Tech started to drive. Taggart sent his plays into the line. He was snarling the signals, snapping his backs at the Aggie defense like a whip.

Tech kept marching. "Yow!" shouted Farraday. Big Dan leaped into the air. On the Tech

Married to a Nagger

Bell Syndicate—WNU Features.

"He is magnetic, handsome, blond, full of fun when he is in company. But he is always impatient, dissatisfied, critical at home."

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

"IT'S all very well for you," writes Janet Painter from Milwaukee, "to advise us, as you recently did, to reduce our housekeeping to a minimum, but what about me?"

"We have two small daughters, and a son aged eight, who has always been delicate. Sometimes Frank scolds because the girls tease Francis, sometimes he criticizes me because they ignore him.

"One daughter told me that they used to be switched if they didn't wear a school-dress five days, and the sons tell me many stories of punishments unjustly administered and home chores that kept them tired.

"Over and over again he says impatiently to me, 'You're only doing what other women do. I'd give you a good cook if I could, but we cannot pay more than a thousand a year for domestic help. You send out the heavy wash, my mother never did that. You have a washing machine, refrigerator, electric light, gas stove, perpetual hot water; she never had any of those things. For heaven's sake pull yourself together and be a woman!'"

"I've tried everything. I've tried resting after lunch, when the children nap, and then being tremendously busy when Frank gets home, dusting, baking, hanging out clothes. No use. And yet at the same time Frank is so right, so admitted, so successful. We are saving one-third of our income for a home, he is in line for quick promotions. He is tender and helpful with the children, and he is magnetic, handsome, blond, full of fun when he is in

There isn't much the wife of a critical, nagging man can do except to endure with resignation, Miss Norris replies to a Milwaukee woman's anxious letter.

Janet Painter says she does the best she can, and makes every effort to be a good mother and housewife. She has three children to care for, and a large house to keep clean. Despite all her efforts, she says, she cannot keep the place spotless enough to suit her exacting husband, Frank. He doesn't like her cooking. If it's plain and simple, he objects, and if she spends more on expensive food like steak, he complains about the bills.

Her management of the household, her training of the children, her appearance—everything about her, in short, comes in for criticism. It is exasperating, Janet writes. She is a college graduate, but her knowledge seems to be of little help in this unhappy situation.

"They are in better than ordinary circumstances, Frank is successful and moving ahead. He is handsome, affable and ambitious. They are saving for the purchase of a new home. If it weren't for his incessant nagging, he would be an ideal husband."

Miss Norris advises Janet to try to rise above her difficulties. By patience, humility and quiet acceptance of her lot, she will find a new strength, even a certain joy in facing her annoyances.

company. But always impatient, dissatisfied, critical at home. What can I do? I'm a college graduate but perhaps not too smart about managing, about saving myself. But what can I do?"

Well, my only suggestion to you, Janet, involves the use of an old-fashioned Christian virtue called "long-suffering." Long-suffering means enduring, but enduring for a purpose. Enduring as if it were a game. Plodding along on your unappreciated way, doing all you can, perhaps finding help as national conditions come nearer to the normal, perhaps tiring out Frank's injustice by sheer patience.

It may not soften Frank if he finds you week after week, month after month, serenely continuing with your tasks, moving cheerfully from stove to table, sink to pantry; if you accept his unfair criticisms equably, with only a mild "I'll do that tomorrow, Frank," or "I forgot that, I'm sorry."

Presently Frank's comments will mean nothing to you but an opportunity to show—not martyred endurance or maddening sweetness, but a real joy. You will treat them as you might in a play in which you are playing the leading part. Your soul will find wings, and in time everything will come right, and a thousand times more than right.

Another old saying, as true as truth itself, is that difficult circumstances ought not to be dodged, because they are "means of grace." And the only thing that saves or changes us in this life is grace.

Less Argentine Wheat Area seeded to wheat in Argentina for current season is 14,344,000 acres, one of smallest wheat seedings on record. This is a reduction of about 13 per cent from last year's reported acreage sown.

Weather conditions have been reported generally satisfactory, although heavy rains in parts of Buenos Aires province delayed seeding. In other parts of that province, and in Santa Fe, dryness is causing some concern. Danger of locust damage is said to have lessened.

"Your soul will find wings."

Nut Production Shows Steady Increase in U. S. Production of nuts that grow on trees—to distinguish them from the other nuts, particularly peanuts the production of which has more than doubled—has increased greatly since the early years of this century, according to the U. S. department of agriculture.

tion of these four varieties increased from 23 million pounds of unshelled nuts in 1909 to a high record of 348 million pounds in 1945. Imports of these four nuts also tended to increase. And imports of foreign tree nuts such as Brazil nuts and cashews mounted rapidly.

Twenty years ago, I built this CONCRETE ROAD—and I'm proud to say it has saved money ever since"

"As an engineer I know what this road cost to build and maintain. Compared with so-called "low cost" roads, this stretch of durable concrete has saved taxpayers money every year."

State highway records covering 210,000 miles show that concrete saves from $49 to $97 per mile per year in maintenance, compared with other surfaces. Figuring in the first cost, upkeep and length of service, concrete roads are cheaper to own than less enduring types.
