

Over 300 Will Attend Meeting, Banquet of Badger Firemen Here

Mid-Winter Event Sunday to Feature Blatz Quartette, Music by "Tiny," Chief Wischer of Milwaukee to Speak

The Kewaskum fire department is all set to play the perfect host to well over 300 firemen of the Badger Firemen's association at the annual mid-winter meeting and banquet of the association in Kewaskum this Sunday afternoon and evening, Jan. 25. Chiefs, officers, delegates, firemen and friends of the 15 member departments will be represented.

The business meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the American Legion Memorial building by the various chiefs, officers and delegates. The Legion donated the use of their clubhouse for the business session.

The banquet will be held at 8 p. m. in the Holy Trinity church parlors for the 225 or so who requested reservations. More reservations could not be accommodated. The parish very graciously provided their spacious facilities for the banquet and the dinner will be served by the ladies of the congregation. Many who will not attend the afternoon meeting will come for the banquet. After the meeting and banquet the visiting firemen will have time to spend as they wish.

Following dinner an entertaining program will be provided. The famous Blatz quartette of Milwaukee, well known here through two previous engagements, and popular throughout the state, will sing. This fine quartette will render both comedy and serious numbers. Music will be furnished by Kewaskum's ace accordionist, Sylvester "Tiny" Terlinden, who will tickle the keys with some of his best pieces. Fire Chief Edw. Wischer of the Milwaukee fire department has been engaged as the main speaker at the banquet. Members of the Kewaskum department will attend in force.

CAR DAMAGED WHEN FARM TRUCK CRASHES INTO IT

The left front end of a 5-passenger Ford convertible coupe owned and driven by Frank Heister, Kewaskum, was damaged when it was struck by a 1-ton Ford farm truck driven by Harold Swisher, 19 R. 1, Slinger, at an intersection on Highway 141 near Slinger at 2:30 p. m. Friday.

The accident occurred as Heister was slowing down to stop at an intersection. Heister approached the intersection from another direction and as he rounded the intersection he made too wide a turn, crashing into the Heister machine. Heister was unable to avoid the collision. Neither driver was injured.

Mrs. Christ Klumb Dies

Mrs. Christ Klumb, 73, nee Katherine Werner, of the town of Barton, mother of Mrs. Wm. Bunkelmann of this village, died Thursday, Jan. 22, at 2:30 p. m. at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend. The remains will be in state at the Miller Funeral home, Kewaskum, after 7 p. m. Saturday. Services will be held Monday at 11:30 a. m. from the funeral home to St. Peter's church, town of Addison.

OVER 50 AT MEETING OF SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION

Between 50 and 60 sportsmen attended the meeting of the Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's Association, Inc. of Kewaskum in the Legion Memorial building Monday evening. Following a business meeting at which the by-laws of the newly reorganized and re-named association were read to the members, lunch and refreshments were served.

HAACK GRANTED HERD NAME

Hilbert Haack, Kewaskum route, has been given the privilege of the exclusive use of the name "Lakerest" as a herd name in registering his purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle. This prefix name is granted and will be recorded by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.

Nearly 1000 prefix names were reserved for breeders in 1946.

Mrs. Oscar Koefke spent last week Thursday and Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gustafson at Oshkosh. Mr. Gustafson recently had a stroke and is confined at a hospital there. Mrs. Gustafson is the former Miss Mayme Arneov of this village.

The following surprised Mrs. Alex Pasch on Saturday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary at her home: Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stange and son David, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Koenen and son Billy, Math Bath, son Harold and daughter Mary Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Uelms and son Donald, all of Kewaskum.

Mrs. Thull, Clarence CedARBURG Noses Out Legion in Overtime

Mrs. John Thull, 67, nee Minnie Muckerheide, of this village, passed away on Monday morning, Jan. 19, at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, following an illness of 2 1/2 months with carcinoma.

Born May 2, 1880, in the town of Kewaskum, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Muckerheide, the deceased spent her early years with her parents in that township. She was married to John Thull on Nov. 26, 1916, and after their marriage the couple resided on a farm in the town of Farmington. They made their home on this farm until five years ago when they came to Kewaskum.

Surviving besides the husband are five children, Marie of Milwaukee, Agnes (Mrs. Herbert Wolner) of Port Washington, John of Barton and Leo and Cecilia at home. One child predeceased her mother. Mrs. Thull also leaves three grandchildren, one son-in-law, one daughter-in-law, and the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Oscar Thull, town of Kewaskum; Mrs. Durwin Perkins, village; Mrs. William Holzamer, Kenosha; Miss Agnes Muckerheide, town of Kewaskum; Walter, John and Henry Muckerheide, town of Kewaskum.

Mrs. Thull was an active member of the Ladies' Altar society of Holy Trinity congregation.

Funeral services were held at 9:30 a. m. Thursday at Holy Trinity church. The Rev. Arnold Muckerheide of Thorp officiated and the pastor, Rev. F. C. La Bue, also was present in the sanctuary. Burial took place in the St. Michaels cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot adequately express our deep appreciation to our relatives and friends for the many kind and sympathetic acts that came to us at the time of our bereavement, the death of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. John Thull. Special thanks to Revs. Muckerheide and La Bue, choir, Ladies' Altar society, organist, pallbearers, drivers, for the beautiful floral pieces and spiritual bouquets, to the traffic officer, Miller Funeral home, all who showed respect by calling at the funeral home and attending the funeral.

CedARBURG Noses Out Legion in Overtime

The Kewaskum team of Lakes team lost a heartbreaker on the home floor Saturday night when the CedARBURG cagers squeaked out a 56 to 54 victory in an overtime game. The score was tied at 50-50 at the end of the regular playing time and a 2-minute overtime was played. This was Kewaskum's third defeat of the campaign.

Kewaskum was ahead of CedARBURG throughout the first three quarters and should have won but it failed to turn out that way. At one time the Legion was 9 points ahead but a late rally brought CedARBURG a tie when the contest ended. The home clubs very poor showing on free throws lost the slingshot for them. They sank only 10 gift tosses in 20 attempts.

Wayland Tessar, playing his first game in three weeks due to an injury, was top man in the scoring department with 17 points. Krueger, with 11, took next honors. Vince Cibik, former University of Wisconsin football star, and now a coach at CedARBURG, led his team with 12 points. Hercules got 12.

The Lakes O' Rivers took two leadings the past week from two of the leading teams in the league. Last Thursday at Port Washington they were dunked under, 53-17, by Port's powerhouse. In the opening game here Saturday they took another beating, 57-33, from league leading CedARBURG, which has won 9 games and lost but 1. Urban and Cleavers scored 17 and 14 points for Port, while the Kewaskum scoring was divided. Against CedARBURG Bobby Staehler was high with 7 points, while Regnitz paced the winners with 17.

PLAY TWO GAMES AWAY AT HARTFORD AND HUSTISFORD

Kewaskum hits the road this next week, playing two contests away. On Saturday night they go to Hartford to meet the strong Mueller quint. In the opening game that night the Hartford and Kewaskum Rivers teams tangled at 7 p. m. There will be 2 games at Hartford. The Rivers game will be followed by a second contest and the Lakes game will be last at 9 p. m. Next Wednesday night the Lakers travel to Hustisford for their first game against that team in the cracker box Hustisford hall.

35 AT 35TH ANNIVERSARY BANQUET OF WOMAN'S CLUB

On Saturday evening, Jan. 17, 35 members and guests of the Kewaskum Woman's club celebrated the 35th anniversary of the club with a dinner and bridge at the Bar-N Ranch. Mrs. D. M. Koenenheimer, the only charter member in the club today, was presented with a corsage.

The winners at bridge were: Mrs. N. W. Rosenheimer, 1st; Mrs. Clyde Smith, 2nd, and Mrs. Tom Green, 3rd. For the ladies: L. Oppenorth, 1st, and M. W. Hoeschler, 2nd, for the men. Ray Schaefer was winner in schafkopf.

On Saturday afternoon, Jan. 24, a luncheon-bridge will be held at the clubroom.

Donations Pour in for Annual Meeting of Kewaskum Mutual

As the 1948 March of Dimes, Jan. 15-30, nears its final week, 15, 25, Rice, West Bend, March of Dimes general chairman for the Washington county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, disclosed that approximately $400 in contributions have been turned in to him to date.

Of this amount $165 in checks have been received from women's organizations in West Bend. Rice revealed that he also received several personal checks totaling $35 and $200 from miscellaneous contributions to make up the $400 total. Rice said he expected to get a 100 per cent response from women's organizations as in past years.

The chairman is appealing to all men's organizations through the newspapers to contribute to this great humanitarian cause.

The general chairman singled out an unnamed West Bend tavernkeeper whose coin box annually brings in the largest returns in the county. It is filled several times over. The tavernkeeper keeps the coin box circulating among patrons up and down the length of his bar. Rice said he was making this disclosure as a hint for other tavernkeepers.

"The drive is now at the halfway mark," Rice said. "So far it looks as though the people of Washington county are joining the March of Dimes as never before. However, a race is not won at the halfway mark. It's the home stretch that counts."

Rice urged communities throughout the county to arrange special events, such as card parties, dances, basketball contests, and the like, for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

Lakes All-Star Games Jan. 27; Tessar Named

The Lakes O' Lakes Major all-star team of 14 players selected by vote are ready to meet the Milwaukee Shooting Stars at CedARBURG high school gym on Tuesday, Jan. 27, at 8:30 p. m. The team will be managed by Paul Schacht of West Bend.

In the first game of this interesting doubleheader, the northern lakes all-stars, managed by Jerome A. Krier of Random Lake, will meet the southern division all-stars under the coaching of Roy Swart of the Correct Equipment team of Hartford.

The players selected from the northern division are: F. Siebenaler and G. Krier, Random Lake; Pape and Mintzloff, Grafton; W. Tessar, Kewaskum; Tamms, Meno, Falls; Cibik and Moldenhauer, CedARBURG; Black and R. Wenzel, Hartford; Hackborth, Hustisford; Koening, Campbellsport, and Ehlers, Tinsville.

The entire net proceeds will go into the Lakes O' Lakes accident benefit fund. The managers selected because their teams were in first place on Sunday, Jan. 17, will also furnish scorekeepers. Several league officials have volunteered to officiate these games.

MAYOR SCHLOEMER OF WEST BEND TALKS TO KIWANIS

"Municipal Planning" was the subject of a highly educational address given by Mayor Clyde J. Schloemer of West Bend to the Kiwanis club Monday evening.

Money-saving plans such as found in the Decorah Lawns program, in West Bend were explained to the local Kiwanians. Mr. Schloemer advised the value in planning lots and streets to save unnecessary street space and to provide future citizens with sufficient playground areas. His advice appeared to have a sound basis which may be of much value to Kewaskumites in the future.

FARMINGTON FARM BUREAU TO MEET AT BOLTONVILLE

The January meeting of the farm bureau membership of Farmington township will be held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, in the Modern Woodmen hall in Boltonville. Two speakers have been secured for the program. They are County Agricultural Agent E. E. Skalsky, who will talk on the new township Bank's disease law, and Phil Bain, who will talk on soil conservation and show colored motion pictures entitled "This Is Our Land." Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend this meeting. Bring the family.

Auburn German Mutual Fire Levels Machine Shed, Chicken Coop on Leo Zehren Farm

A combination machine shed and chicken coop on the Leo Zehren farm, R. 3, Campbellsport, a mile west of St. Kilian, burned to the ground in a fire early Monday evening. Destroyed with the building were the farm tractor, about 135 chickens, a small quantity of straw and other smaller items.

The Kewaskum fire department was called to the scene at 5:10 p. m. and responded hurriedly. The firemen remained at the farm for four hours protecting the other nearby buildings and putting out the blaze in sub-zero weather. Years ago the old timber structure destroyed was the dwelling on the farm.

The blaze was caused when gasoline ignited as Mr. Zehren was attempting to start the tractor. He was using a blow torch to thaw out the machine when it failed to start. Gasoline which escaped from a cracked sediment bulb on the machine ignited and the flames spread rapidly to straw on the second story of the building. Although the firemen reached the scene in ten minutes after being called, the building already was half destroyed and there was no chance of saving it.

The nearby house and barn were threatened but fortunately the wind was out of the right direction and carried the sparks and burning embers away from the other buildings. The firemen stood by in case of a shift in the wind. After the flames died down some of the adjoining buildings were no longer in danger, the firemen put out the blaze with the available water on their fire truck and over 1,000 gallons taken from the Zehren well. The firemen very much appreciated a lunch and the hot coffee served by the Zehrens and neighbors.

Huge Dairy Exposition to Open Monday, Jan. 26

Plans are about completed for what promises to be the largest single agricultural meeting to be held in this section of the state. This will be in the nature of a huge dairy exposition at the Nightingale ballroom which is located on Highway 55, about 3 miles south of the Washington-Waukesha county line.

The dairy exposition, planned and assembled by the College of Agriculture, State Department of Agriculture, and various state dairy organizations, will come to the Nightingale ballroom for a two-day program on Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 26 and 27. The exposition will open to visitors from 1:00 to 4:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon, Jan. 26, and from 7:30 to 10:00 o'clock on the evening of that day. On Tuesday, Jan. 27, the exposition will open at 10:00 a. m. and close at 4:00 p. m.

This dairy exposition has been planned for a very special purpose and to meet a great need. It is something new and different from any former agricultural meeting. It will be of interest to producers and consumers of dairy products, to merchants who handle any type of dairy supplies or dairy machinery, or livestock feed, and to boys and girls interested in learning more about the greatest single agricultural industry in Wisconsin—namely, the dairy industry.

Making up this dairy exposition will be a large number of exhibits and booths, each featuring some important phase of the dairy industry. At each such booth will be a member of the staff of the College of Agriculture who will explain the exhibits. This will also give farmers an excellent opportunity to talk over his particular problems with the college specialists.

Below are a few of the many exhibits and booths that will be featured: Farmstead plans, types of dairy barns including pen type barn, use of electricity and running water, mastitis control, insect control, managed milking, a full sized milk house, an all-aluminum milk truck body, a miniature model dairy plant, bean cleaners, milk carts, feed carts, sanitary dairy equipment, etc., automatic silage remover, approved cleaners and washing powders, feed conservatin ideas, advertising of dairy products, department grading and inspecting, dairy economics, home milk pasteurizers, and a lot of ideas too numerous to mention.

The demand for milk and dairy products is increasing year by year. Wisconsin farmers and others interested in the dairy business want to retain our share of this market. This exposition is planned and assembled to give the dairyman and members of his family, and any others in any way connected with the dairy industry, suggestions which might aid in producing better milk and better dairy products more efficiently and with less labor. Let us remember that:

Dairy represents the largest source of farm income. Wisconsin dairymen must keep a good market. Production costs must be kept down. The public is invited to attend this exposition. There will be no formal speeches. It takes about two hours to see the various exhibits. You may stop as long as you like.

The exposition during its stay at the Nightingale is under the auspices of the extension service of Milwaukee, Ozaukee, Washington and Waukesha counties. The program is being financed by contributions of local milk plants. There is no admission charge.

Annual Meeting of Kewaskum Mutual

The annual meeting of the Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance company was held in the company's office on Thursday morning, Jan. 15. Secretary Theodore R. Schmidt reported at the meeting that the company had another very successful year and substantial gains were made in the company's assets and surplus. Premiums written were the largest since the company was organized in 1901.

Admitted assets of the company on Dec. 31 were $294,235.23 and the surplus of policyholders was $172,373.73. The company has over 10,000 policyholders and the insurance in force on Dec. 31 was $29,267,000.

L. P. Rosenheimer, Carl F. Schaefer and Theodore R. Schmidt were re-elected directors for the term of three years each. Other directors are M. W. Rosenheimer, Peter J. Haug, August E. Koch and George H. Schmidt.

The board of directors met immediately after the policyholders' meeting and re-elected the following officers: President, L. P. Rosenheimer; vice president, M. W. Rosenheimer; secretary-treasurer and general manager, Theodore R. Schmidt.

Employees in the home office are: Edna Schmidt, Ione Terlinden, Joyce Kuehl, Margaret Wink, Florence Schulz, and Mrs. Doris Berg. Elmer Possin of Waupun is the fieldman for the company.

Mid-Winter Conference of County Teachers is Held

In spite of drifted roads and zero weather, all but three of the Washington county state graded and rural teachers attended the mid-winter teachers' conference at the Me Lane grade school, West Bend, Friday.

According to the comments of the teachers it was one of the most inspirational and challenging conferences that they have attended in a long time. The program was highlighted with a talk given by First Assistant State Superintendent Fred Bishop, in which he discussed the "Basic Needs of Boys and Girls." "As a teacher it is your responsibility," said Bishop, "to show feelings of love and sympathy when these children come to you in the fall. You must spend time in helping the boys and girls to adjust themselves and if you do that your time and your work in the school will be rewarded." He concluded by saying, "we must have realism of life in our teaching, and we will do a much better job of teaching when we sincerely consider the essential basic needs for boys and girls."

"Do Your Bulletin Boards Teach?" was the topic selected by James Schwabach of radio station WJLA. During his discussion he outlined the various steps that teachers should follow in creating bulletin boards that will assist them in effective teaching. H. B. McCarty's speech was on the utilization of the "Fehool of the Air." He emphasized the great need for pupil preparation for the radio program, and the necessity of adequate suggestions following the broadcast.

Ethan Maxon of Cedar Creek presented his pictures on the Alaskan highway and the teachers were extremely interested in his experiences in Alaska.

The conference was closed with a fine presentation on teacher community relation by H. I. Peterson, principal of the McLane graded school. He stressed the need of more activity within the community which would aid in lessening the possibility of misunderstanding on the part of the parents.

NORTH FONDY 41; KEWASKUM 26

Tuesday at North Fond du Lac, Kewaskum bumped into one of the strong teams in this area in the "Hoies" and lost, 41-26. North Fondy, which nosed out the Indians in the district tournament there last season, has the same team intact this year. They did not lose a regular from the lineup. The Hoies have won over a number of the larger schools this year and have a big, strong team.

Old and New Cookie Favorites Rank High For Snack Purposes

Do you like to have people dropping in just to be neighborly? Do you have youngsters who bring their friends home often? Then you'll want to have the cookie jar well stocked at all times with old favorites and new.

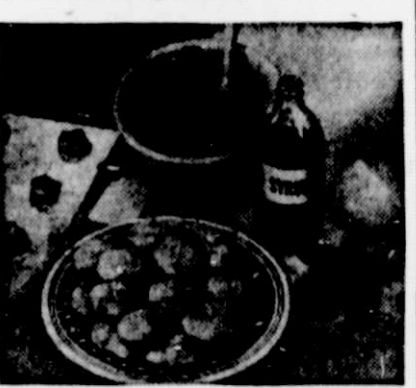

A cup of hot chocolate and a cookie mean something to every youngster, especially when the weather is bitingly cold; and it also means something very special to your own friends who may just happen to drop in. Spread your friendliness and cheer in this way with others and you'll be a happier person.

It's easy to have cookies on hand if you select those that are quick to fix and easy to keep. You'll feel a lot easier about inviting people in if there's always a snack or two ready.

In view of the prevailing high cost of butter and shortenings, the cookie baker must be careful to select recipes that spare these precious products.

Nut Macaroons. (Makes 3 1/2 dozen)
4 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon almond extract
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups cornflakes, slightly crushed
1 cup pecans, coarsely chopped
1 cup coconut

Add salt to whites and beat to a coarse foam. Add flavorings. Add sugar by one tablespoon proportions, continuing beating until liquid is stiff and glossy. Fold in cornflakes, nuts and coconut. Drop from teaspoon onto well-greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven until delicately browned, about 15 minutes. Remove promptly from baking sheet.

Dates and syrup keep the sugar content low on these Date Drops. They stay fresh and moist for a long time, if they last, in a cookie jar or covered cookie tin. Use for snacks and lunch boxes.

If you like crunchy, fruity cookies, make these Date Drops. You'll find they keep nicely in a cookie jar.

Date Drop Cookies. (Makes 4 dozen)
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/2 cup shortening
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup bottled corn syrup (dark)
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 tablespoon orange juice
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
1 cup chopped dates

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder, salt, cinnamon and ginger. Cream shortening, add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add corn syrup and then egg, mixing well after each has been added. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and orange juice to creamed mixture. Stir in orange rind and dates. Drop by spoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) about 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown.

Date Dainties. (Makes 25 1 1/2-inch squares)
2 cups chopped dates
1 cup nutmeats, chopped
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup sugar
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt

LYNN SAYS:
Solve That Leftover Problem Easily
Meat juices and gravy are excellent to use with meat or even vegetables for flavor.
Cooked cereals may be chilled and sliced, fried and served with jelly or syrup.
Canned fruit juices are easy to use in fruit salad dressing, such as thinning mayonnaise, pudding sauces, flavoring milk or basting meat. Use also for liquid or any part thereof in gelatin salads or desserts.
Leftover egg yolks are good for making custard, pudding sauce, mayonnaise or hollandaise sauce.
Leftover egg whites are for angel food, white cake, meringue shells, icings or sauces.
Canned fruit or leftover cooked fruit is excellent as a meat garnish, in salads, or desserts. Mixed fruits may be made into a nice thickened pudding sauce.
Use leftover butter from bread-and-butter plates for greasing cake and cookie tins or for seasoning vegetables. Or, collect it and use for sandwich spreads.

1 cup rolled oats
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Cream sugar, shortening and egg. Beat until well blended. Sift together dry ingredients and add to first mixture. Fold in oats and nuts. Roll dough into small balls and place on a slightly greased baking sheet. Flatten balls slightly and bake in an oven set at 400 degrees for about 10 minutes.

Fruit Nuggets. (Makes 5 dozen)
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup shortening
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup currants
1/2 cup chopped mixed fruit (candied cherries, citrus fruit peel, etc.)

Sift together first four ingredients; add sugar; mix in shortening with a fork. Add unbeaten eggs and flavoring and mix thoroughly. Add fruit, nuts and milk. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (375 degree) oven for 10 to 12 minutes.

You'll find an interesting combination of flavors in these Nut Macaroons. They're a nice, crunchy, low-calorie snack which will fill many roles in your home entertaining.

Shortbread is a rich but very delicious cookie, very delicate in texture. No flavoring is used so it must come from the butter and sugar primarily.

Scotch Shortbread. (Makes 3 dozen)
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup powdered sugar
2 egg yolks
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Mix butter and sugar together well. Add egg yolks. Fold in sifted dry ingredients. Roll out 1/4 inch thick; cut in desired shapes. Prick with a fork. Place on baking sheet and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 20 minutes or until a delicate golden brown.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
Holding onions under water while peeling makes it a tearless process, and keeps the onion odor from penetrating. . . . To flour chickens evenly for frying, place the flour in a paper sack, then the pieces of chicken, and shake vigorously. . . . Adding a teaspoon of lemon juice to the water in which rice is boiled will help separate the grains of rice.

Leftover breads, rolls and crackers may be toasted and served with spread. If they are very hard and old, have them thoroughly dry or toasted and then put through the food chopper for bread crumbs.
The best way to keep lettuce to wrap it in waxed paper and place it in the refrigerator unwashed. It is likely to turn brown if it is washed.
Soured milk and cream may be used to make gravy for meats, such as veal. Also use them for baking breads, cakes or cookies.
Meat bones can almost always be made into a well flavored soup. Add vegetables, noodles or rice to extend.
Scrape badly burned particles off with a stiff-bristled brush. A warm water soap solution is best to use for the actual washing of the range.
Refrigerators will stay sweet and clean if washed thoroughly with warm water and baking soda solution.
Always hang up brooms and mops after using. A towel bar fastened in the closet will keep them off the floor.

Land Of Hoosiers

Indiana

Heart Of America

(Editor's Note: This is another in the Stories of the States series.)

By EDWARD EMERINE
WNU Features

Indiana is the Land of the Hoosiers. And the Hoosiers are that particular breed of people who do things and make history. "Hoosier" is no mean sobriquet. The word embodies the good soil, the gentle climate, the perseverance of pioneers in the wilderness, the courage of strong men and women in the face of Indian attack, and the will to win recognition against all odds.

Originally much of Indiana was covered with a heavy growth of forests, mostly hardwood trees. The first hundred years of its history were marked by a hectic series of events involving Indian tribes, wars, French traders and English explorers. After the Revolutionary war the Americans pushed farther west into the wilderness. They were the first Hoosiers. They built permanent settlements. They drove out the Indians — remember reading about the battle of Tippecanoe and General Harrison?

In 1800, Indiana was made a territory. The state was admitted to the Union 16 years later. Its progress had been rapid. Lands were cleared, roads were opened, towns had sprung up, industries were established. And the rest of the world began to hear about the Hoosiers.

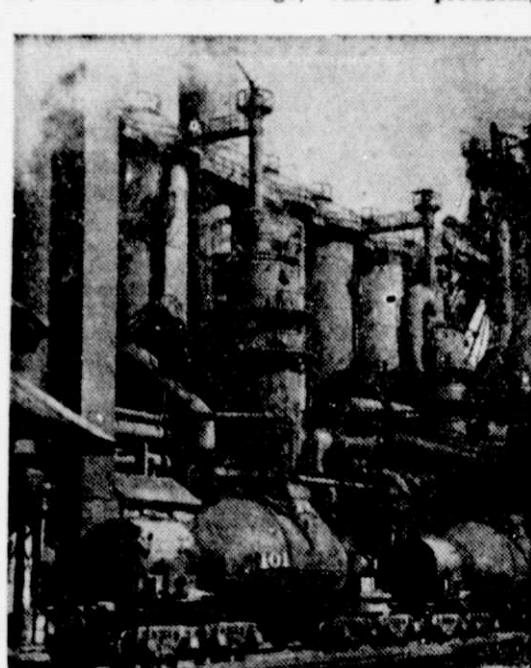

William Henry Harrison, first governor of Indiana territory, became president of the United States. Benjamin Harrison also was president. Vice presidents of the U. S. included such Hoosiers as Schuyler Colfax, Thomas A. Hendricks, Charles W. Fairbanks and Thomas R. Marshall of "five-cent cigar" fame.

Home of Inventors.
In the field of invention, James Blake, a pioneer of Indianapolis, built the first steam mill and factory. Elwood Haynes built the first "horseless carriage." James B. Eads invented the diving bell as well as building the famed Eads bridge over the Mississippi river at St. Louis.

Famous Hoosiers, men and women of today and yesterday, are found in many fields of achievement. John S. Bobbs was the first surgeon to operate for gall stones. Eli Lilly founded one of the world's largest pharmaceutical plants. Isaac Coe, a celebrated pioneer physician, was one of the founders of the First Presbyterian church. John Stuebker — and four sons, Clement, Henry, Peter and John — spread the fame of Indiana over the nation.

Hoagy Carmichael is a Hoosier. Paul Dresser and Cole Porter, the composers, were other Hoosiers. Such names as Ford Frick, Knute Rockne, Kenesaw Mountain Landis and Wilbur Shaw remind sports followers of Indiana. George Ade's "Fables in Slang" and Edward Eggleston's "Hoosier Schoolmaster" still cling to library shelves. The Hoosier twang in Elmer Davis' voice reaches the ears of those who listen to radio. Theodore Dreiser gave us "The American Tragedy."

Prominent Hoosiers.

THE HUM OF INDUSTRY . . . Indiana is primarily an industrial state, with manufacturing plants, large and small, dotting the landscape. Typical of Indiana's tremendous steel industry is this blast furnace department of U. S. Steel corporation's Gary plant.

Bendix, Will Hays, Roy Howard, Don Herald — but the list grows long before even a small portion of the great Hoosiers are listed.

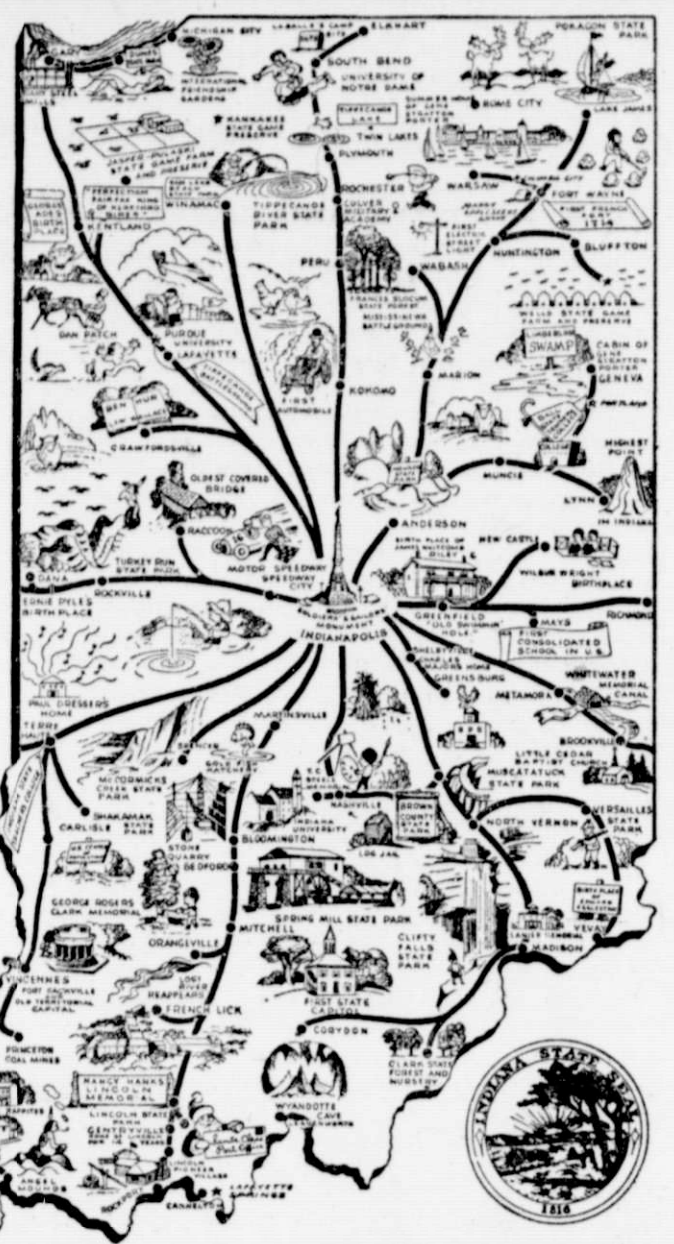

Authors, actors, business leaders, politicians, editors, engineers, radio and picture stars, movie producers and great industrialists have come from Indiana to make the world better, more pleasant and more profitable for others.

In its workaday life, Indiana is primarily a manufacturing state, with diversified industries in both large and small cities. Its steel business is tremendous. Manufacture of auto parts, furniture, glass, soap, refrigerators, farm implements, pumps, clothing and hundreds of other products is most important. One of the great industrial centers of the world is the Calumet region, including Gary, Hammond, East Chicago and Whiting, with great harbors on Lake Michigan at Gary and Indiana Harbor. A 1944 industrial directory reveals 4,420 Indiana manufacturing establishments in 359 communities with a combined population of 2,113,399 persons or 62 per cent of the state's population. The state does not depend on any one type of manufacturing, but lists 132 general types from abrasives to woolens.

Lake Ogle is a beauty spot in Brown county state park.

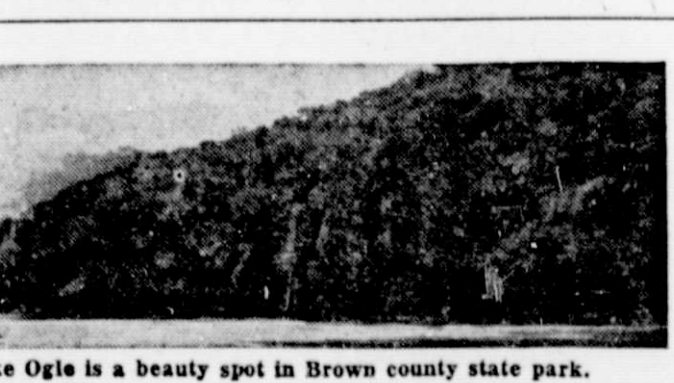

FIRST ELECTIVE OFFICE . . . Gov. Ralph F. Gates, who took office in January, 1945, is a native Indianan, born in Columbia City on February 24, 1893. The governorship is his first elective office. An attorney for many years, he has been in partnership with his late father and two brothers. During World War I he was a navy officer.

Elkhart claims to be the band instrument capital of the world and has 113 industries producing 38 types of goods. Kokomo has the Continental Steel corporation, Haynes Stellite, Delco division of General Motors, Chrysler corporation, General Electric Kingston corporation, American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation, and others.
Fort Wayne boasts of the General Electric and International Harvester plants. Anderson has thousands of its people employed by General Motors. Columbus has the Cummins Engine company (diesel) and the Noblitt-Sparks radio and accessory plant. Approximately 4,500,000 tons of coal are mined annually in Vigo county, of which Terre Haute is the county seat.

Land of Allure.
But Indiana isn't all farms and factories. You'll have a good time in the Hoosier state, which has rocky canyons, virgin forests, sand dunes, rolling countryside, attractive residential areas and more than 10,000 miles of paved state highways, supplemented by 51,000 miles of secondary roads. There are 14 state parks and 12 state forests. Indiana has rivers and streams and more than 1,000 lakes, not including the southern shores of Lake Michigan. There are historic memorials to such national figures as Abraham Lincoln, who spent 14 years in Indiana, and to George Rogers Clark, conqueror of the Northwest Territory. There are sports — fishing, boating, swimming, hunting — in all of Indiana.

For more than 50 years Indiana has been the center of the nation's population. "See Indiana — and you'll see and feel the heart of America," is a state claim.

It has airways, highways, waterways, railways — and is close to its markets. Indiana is populous, productive and powerful. Typically American, it flexes its muscles, feels its strength, and faces the postwar world with all the confidence it has drawn from a rich land during the past 150 years.

Lake Ogle is a beauty spot in Brown county state park.

Hoisting Freight Cars
Every railroad has a car record office which, by means of daily reports from agents, keeps a complete up-to-date record of the movements of all freight cars on its own lines, regardless of ownership, and all of its own cars on other railroads. When a car moves from one railroad to another, the agent at the point of interchange reports the fact to the car record office of the railroad concerned. Thus the location of every freight car is known and its movements and wanderings become a matter of permanent record.

New Textile Plastic
Saran, a new fiber plastic, has been placed on the market. This synthetic textile, chemically called vinylidene chloride, is classified between rayon and nylon in texture. Saran will be among the cheapest of plastics because a large part of its composition is low cost chlorine. The other principal raw material is petroleum. Saran plastic has been used for several years in upholstery, women's handbags and other products, but now will be spun into ultra-fine fibre, expected eventually to find its way into clothing.

LAFF LINES

Still Wrong
TWO YOUNG men had been invited out to dinner by their employer. During the course of the meal the conversation drifted into channels which got the young friends into rather deep water for them. "Do you care for Omar Khayyam?" asked their host, at one point during the dinner, thinking to discover the literary tastes of the young men.

"Pretty well," the one addressed replied, "but, personally, I prefer Chianti."

The subject was abandoned, but on the way home the other said to his chum:

"Why don't you simply say you don't know when you're asked something you don't understand? Omar Khayyam isn't a wine, you idiot. It's a kind of cheese."

Valuable Animal!
A man arranged to have his aged mother cared for in a nursing home, where he visited her twice a week. Each time he brought her a special lunch of delicacies from the farm, including a thermos bottle of fresh milk in which he slipped a little brandy — on the advice of the family doctor. The old lady always was delighted with the lunches, and one day, as she sipped the milk, she said gravely, "Oh, Larry, don't ever sell that cow!"

SNAPPY RETORT
Dear Old Lady—Little boy, does your mother know you smoke? Little Boy — Does your husband know you speak to strange men on the street?

WORTH WINNING
A generous tipper at a hotel found a new waiter serving him breakfast one morning and said — "Where's my regular waiter, that boy called Mose?" New Waiter — Boss, Mose ain't serving you any more. I won you in a card game last night.

No Harm Done
A man with a gun on his shoulder was walking down the street with his dog. An automobile approached. The dog ran directly in front of the car and was killed. The motorist stopped and expressed his grief to the owner of the dog. He took a $20 bill from his pocket and said: "Here, take that. Will that pay for losing your dog?" "Oh, yes," replied the man. "Everything is all right. I was taking him out to shoot him anyway."

Her Contribution
The six-year-old came home from school to tell the events of her school-day world. Among other things, she breathlessly related that she had a long conversation with her teacher. "Just what did you say?" asked her mother. The little lady proudly announced: "I said 'uh-huh' twice."

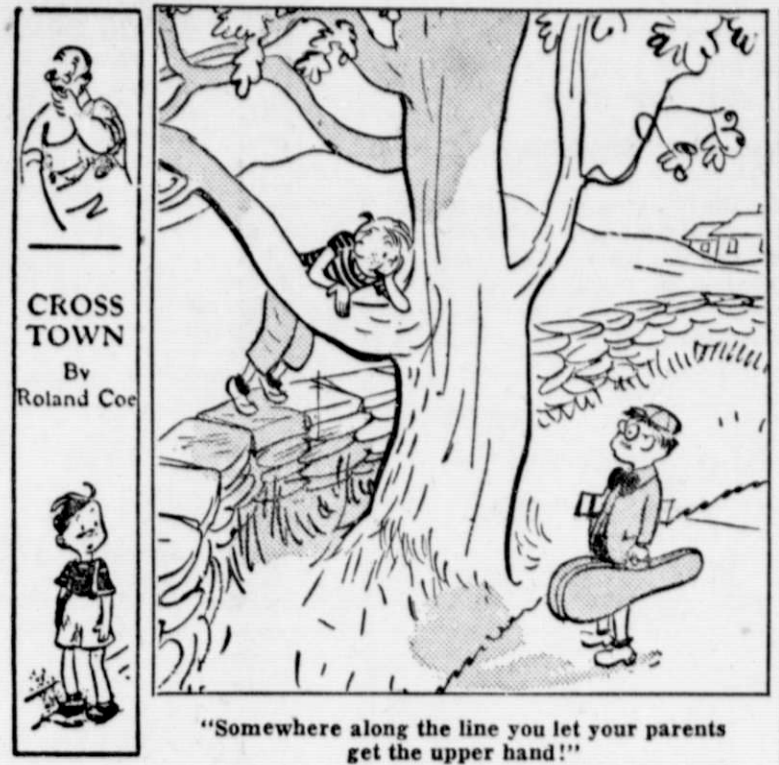

THREATENING GESTURES
It was Jimmy's first time at a concert and, watching the antics of the conductor, he turned to his mother and asked: "Why is the man shaking his stick at the lady on the stage?" "Sh-sh," pleaded his mother. "He's not shaking it at her." "Well, what's she hollering for then?"

Learned His Lesson
A little boy being very curious asked his father, "Daddy, how did you meet mommie." With a bit of a frown on his face, his father replied, "That's a rather big question for a little boy. But I'll tell you one thing — it certainly cured me of whistling."

A Good Beginning
"What kind of oil do you use in your car, Bill?" "Oh, I usually start out by telling 'em how lonely I am."

Quick Thinking
Traffic Cop — Why didn't you stop when I yelled back there? Driver (quick thinker) — I thought you said "Hello, senator." Traffic Cop — Well, you see, senator, I was going to warn you about driving too fast in the next town.

Keep What They Can
"Rastus, do the people who live down the road from you keep chickens?" "Dey keeps some of 'em, sah."

Household Hints
To keep order in the bathroom and prevent squabbles, assign wash cloths and towels of a certain color to each member of the family. Never change the color scheme, though.

Castors that are oiled periodically make furniture easier to move while cleaning.

If a dress pattern calls for ruffles or flounces, choose crisp material for them.

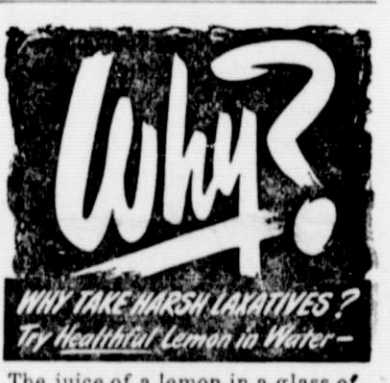

The suction attachment of an electric vacuum cleaner may be used for cleaning hot air registers.

When sewing sheer materials on the machine, put a layer of tissue under the seam. Tissue prevents puckering and can be torn off.

Put small scraps of candles together in a little cotton bag and use to prevent iron from sticking.

Don't be disturbed if your baby does not grow as rapidly during his second year as he did during his first. A slowing down of baby's development during his second year is perfectly natural.

To store a loaf of bread that has been cut, wrap it in waxed paper. A cloth absorbs moisture and may give the bread an "off" flavor.

There's still room for YOUR name on this calendar

• Not only in one place, but several. Actually, we mean your name along with your farm machines that need checking over and repair work before they go into the fields next season.

You see, this calendar is our Early Bird Service Schedule. And by getting a date on it now, we can both be sure that anything from a checkup to a complete overhaul will be done during the months your machines are idle.

That's the best way for both parties concerned. We'll have plenty of time to do a satisfactory, Blue Ribbon Service job. You'll be insured against breakdowns or lost time during busy weeks ahead. See how it pays to be an "Early Bird"! Line up necessary service work with us now!

Gems of Thought

CHEERFULNESS and content are great beautifiers, and are famous preservers of youthful looks.—Dickens.

Once he (Diogenes) saw a youth blushing, and addressed him: "Courage, my boy! that is the complexion of virtue." As rust corrupts iron—so envy corrupts man.

Many Political Thrills Seen in 1948

Democrats, GOP Unafraid Of Wallace Party Threat

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—From the way things look to the newsmen whose beat stretches along that historic mile-and-an-eighth from Capitol Hill to the White House, politics in 1948 is going to be a rodeo—plenty of excitement for the audience, a lot of hard riding and tough spills for the performers.

At this writing, nobody's down-hearted. The last rodeo I attended, there was a very funny funny-man who fell off horses and rode backwards and made wisecracks over the loudspeaker system (it was a very up-to-date rodeo not more than 2,000 miles from where the deer and the antelope play).

There were also a number of very good, very earnest contestants who had learned their bucking and breaking a long ways from a drugstore or a Hollywood set. The funny-man himself was no tenderfoot when it came to forking a bronc, but once in a while he got in the way of the real performers. Since they weren't riding for glory alone (the purses were fairly heavy), he incurred some displeasure from the regulars, if not from the spectators.

This year the political field will take on a similar appearance. The owner of one of the sombrero tossed into the arena in December is going to cause considerable concern to the rest.

I refer, of course, to hard-riding Hank, the Iowa Whirlwind, who is no more afraid to ride bare-back than he is to ride bare-back. He isn't so bad either with the vocal lariat when it comes to throwing as well as roping the bull. As the contenders size up the situation with the aid of a lot of wishful thinking, Mr. Wallace is going to get in everybody's way but theirs.

Certainly there is no gloom exuding from the White House. Sure, said the President to us at a recent press-radio conference, the Democrats were going to have a happy New Year, he already was. And stretching back for a long time, the presidential news conferences have been fairly heavy), he incurred some displeasure from the regulars, if not from the spectators. This year the political field will take on a similar appearance. The owner of one of the sombrero tossed into the arena in December is going to cause considerable concern to the rest.

And so on—you've heard the story before from many optimistic lips.

Likewise, each hopeful favorite soon finds something to cheer him.

But the canny observers are placing no bets yet, and those who had their money down have had to do very little hedging. There is only one thing certain and that is: It's going to be a grand show.

Lo, the Noble Horse

The year 1947 ended with a new sea serpent story which you undoubtedly read about. I mention it, because I myself saw a strange and terrifying beast as I walked to work one late December morning, and I believe the two tales worthy of repetition.

As to the sea serpent: The Associated Press carried a signed story Santa Clara, J. Fordan, in which he described the monster sighted in the Atlantic 118 miles due east of Cape Lookout. He named the first and third mates and the navigation officer as witnesses.

According to their testimony, the monster's snake-like head was about two and one-half feet long, there was about 35 feet of cylindrical body some three feet in diameter visible. The water about the animal was thrashing around in apparent agony, causing the skipper to believe that the ship had cut it in two. The head was covered with hair. The head was more than two feet long, the barrel-shaped body was supported on four long legs which made the creature higher when it threw up its head, much higher than a man.

Its feet were not large compared to the great, powerful body, and they terminated in a great claw, or nail-like substance, which would give the creature terrible weapons of offense or defense. The teeth were large and blunt, and the mouth, though not large, plainly could inflict damaging wounds.

Human beings looked puny beside this creature which appeared as out of place on a Washington city street as a hippopotamus or an elephant.

Strangely enough, it did not cause any great commotion except among the younger people who stared in wonder, obviously never having seen anything like it, except in picture books. It did pose considerable problems for motorized traffic. Horns honked, drivers jittered, back-seat orders thundered.

Finally the monster turned off the street and went up an alley. That was a great relief to me. I knew what it was. I had ever ridden one when I was in the artillery, and later, but it was a shock to see a real live EQUUS CABALLUS in a city street.

almost bubbled. Once in a while, Mr. Truman would jerk a little when the reportorial needle hit a political nerve, but for the most part, these meetings, where the questions become sharper and sharper as the Ideas of November '48 approach, have been a feast of wit and a flow of soul.

And there is no moaning at the bars where other Democrats gather; Wallace will drive all the liberals to active support of the Democrats, they'll tell you; he will shear away the lunatic fringe of Democratic support; drain the party of the last tint of that which might incarnate its record; will garner the middle-of-the-readers who will feel less danger of contaminating their ballots with a New-Dealish radicalism; it may mean Mr. Taft may be Mr. Truman's opponent, and an easier battle can be fought and won against Taft, say the Democrats, than against other presidential hopefuls who might be better Republican vote-getters.

And so on—you've heard the story before from many optimistic lips.

But the canny observers are placing no bets yet, and those who had their money down have had to do very little hedging. There is only one thing certain and that is: It's going to be a grand show.

Glory, Jest And Riddles

I submit the following as an IQ test to my readers. The answers will not be found on the following page: Can you tell a cormorant from a water turkey when they are so far away they look no bigger than a fly in custard pie?

Did you ever see a loon trying to walk?

Did you know that between Christmas and New Year's Day, roosters crow, cows moo, horses whinny in the night, when otherwise they would be asleep?

Do you know they DON'T?

Can you tell by the feel on the line whether you have a catfish or a lazy trout on your hook?

Do you know where to scrape the deepest hole in the ground when you have to roll up your blanket and sleep all fresco?

Would you rather spend a night in a rain-storm in a pup tent if you were camped in a pine forest, or crawl under the lowest branches, matted on a hundred years of pine needles, rolled up in a shelter-half?

Could you plow the corners better with an old-fashioned plow or a new-fashioned tractor?

If a man talks "low-German," does that mean he is talking a dialect?

Do the educated people in England speak a language which would be more understandable to Shakespeare than our "hill-billies" lingo?

Anyone answering all of these questions correctly will receive a free trip to the moon on the third rocket ship.

WET AND DRY

Factions Fight Over Statistics

Those irreconcilable enemies, the wet and dry forces in the U. S., fought out the legal liquor question in 769 local option elections in 21 states last year, then went at each other hammer and tongs in a battle of statistics.

Distilling industry spokesmen claimed that 1947 brought "the first wet gains since repeal."

Prohibition groups countered that the past 12 months produced new victories for their campaign to dry up the country by taking one community at a time.

Outcome of the statistical fight may never be clearly defined because the wets used population figures to back up their claims while the dries counted geographical areas.

DEFENSELESS . . . A striking study of a man who found something he never expected at the end of his path of false glory is this picture of former Nazi Junker Gen. Wilhelm Von Leeb, who was a member of the German high command. Now he sits in the prisoners' dock at Nuernberg, charged with crimes against humanity and peace and atrocities against civilians.

NEWS REVIEW

Truman Asks Tax Cut; Brazil Ousts All Reds

Whether President Harry Truman's state of the union message to congress was "socialistic," as Republican partisans dubbed it, or "forthright and courageous," as in the eyes of loyal Democrats, remained a matter of opinion, but it was fairly obvious that in making it the President had cast a loving glance toward next November's election day.

He proposed a combination tax-cutting-and-raising device that manifestly has no chance of passage in the Republican dominated congress but one that sounds good to a lot of voters.

His plan, embodying tax-relief to the "little man," would give each individual taxpayer an immediate $40 tax cut for himself and for each dependent. To offset that reduction in federal income he proposed that corporation taxes be raised by 3.2 billion dollars.

Mr. Truman presented the scheme as a "cost of living" credit designed primarily to relieve the small taxpayer.

In a phrase certain to be quoted with relish by Democratic orators during the coming campaign, the President said he wants to keep revenue collections where they are and still help those who need relief to "buy the necessities of life."

Supplementing the tax proposals he called for a 75-cent-per-hour minimum wage, representing a 35-cent increase over the present 40-cent minimum. Although in the past he has favored raising the national minimum wage, the 75-cent figure was the highest flat demand he has made.

General tone of the President's message to the joint session led most observers to believe that he was swinging his administration back to "a little left of center," a point which generally is identified with New Deal philosophies.

Some saw in the speech a perceptible bid for the left-wing and liberal vote that Henry Wallace's third party is threatening to take away from the Democrats.

Republican reaction to Mr. Truman's speech was bitter and intense and the G.O.P. went ahead more determinedly with its own tax-reduction bill.

KNOCKOUT: Brazil

Brazil, which severed diplomatic relations with Russia in a huff last October, now has administered what looks like the coup de grace to Red activity within its own borders.

It came in the form of a law, signed amid great fanfare by President Enrico Dutra, virtually abolishing every vestige of Communist action in Brazil by removing all Communists from elective posts throughout the nation, including congressmen.

The process of outlawing the Reds was far from a calm one, marked at times by dramatic displays of Latin-American verve and temper.

Fist fights broke out frequently on the floor of the chamber of deputies, and at one point during the debate the session was suspended temporarily when three deputies pulled guns from their pockets and waved

TRANSPLANTED: Hardy Corn

Six test plots of Guatemalan corn have been harvested at Iowa State college with results indicating that certain desirable characters of Central American corn can be bred into Iowa corns, according to Dr. E. E. Melhus, project leader of the Guatemalan outpost of the college's tropical research center.

"In 1945," said a spokesman, "local option elections dried up areas in which 311,293 Americans lived. In 1946 there was a gain in the total dry population of 285,309. But this year, the tables were turned and the wet population showed an increase for the first time since 1933."

However, Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, and Laura Lindley, research secretary of the Anti-Saloon league, were no less vehement in reporting dry successes during 1947.

Mrs. Colvin estimated that the number of legally dry areas "jumped about 500" during the year as a result of local option elections. Miss Lindley said the Anti-Saloon league had not yet completed its survey of liquor election results, but added that a preliminary report on 15 states showed a net gain of 259 dry communities.

The opposing factions were agreed on only one point—that the current year would bring more hard-fought battles in states, counties, townships and wards on the question of local prohibition.

Wheat Export Cut

President Truman's cabinet food committee has reported that 450 million bushels of wheat and wheat products is all this country can spare for export this crop year and still maintain a year-end reserve of 150 million bushels.

That export quantity is 50 million bushels short of the goal set earlier in the year, but the figure may be changed if 1948 wheat crop prospects continue favorable.

Veterans' SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

G.I. Affairs Reviewed

Of the total number of World War II veterans, 14,685,000 as of December 1, 1947, Veterans' administration reports that 2,800,000 are in school or on-the-job training, 395,022 were drawing unemployment compensation, 2,191,759 were drawing disability awards, 107,483 were in veterans' hospitals or homes and 17,975 were awaiting hospital admission.

The November figures reached new peaks in all categories with the exception of on-the-job training, which has declined for the tenth consecutive month.

Most of the G.I. bill trainees were studying in schools, with 1,150,000 enrolled in colleges and universities and 651,000 taking work in other schools below the collegiate level. Institutional or school-on-farm training attracted 199,000 while 545,000 were enrolled in on-the-job training.

VA reported that with 18,284 cases pending, there were 439,282 cases in which it was paying death compensation or pensions.

Questions and Answers

Q. I read your answers in the Cincinnati Community News and would like some information about my husband who is still in service. He is overseas and in event something happened to him, which I pray not, what would I do about his terminal leave bond which has not been signed or endorsed by him as yet? He does not know exactly when he will ever be back home, so this question puzzles me. What shall I do about it? — V. E. R., Covington, Ky.

A. Would suggest that your husband either make a will making you executor of his estate or give you power of attorney to sign the bond.

Q. Our son is with the occupation forces in Germany. We have not heard from him for several months and the last address was at Frankfurt, Germany. We have written to him regularly and sent him several parcels but have received no answers. Can you suggest how we can get in touch with him? — Mrs. A. R. G., Wilmington, Del.

A. Address a letter to either the chaplain or the commanding officer, or both, of your son's outfit at his last address. Or you might, in the interest of time, write a letter direct to Central Postal Locator, care of your son's APO number in New York City and give them your son's last address and ask them to locate him for you.

Q. Is it possible for a veteran taking a college course under the G.I. bill to complete one semester and then work a semester and then go back to school? I am a married veteran with one child and we find our subsistence allowance is not sufficient for us to live on and go to school without working. Can you advise us? — Veteran, Bloomington, Ind.

A. Yes, it is possible to go to school a year and then work a year since you have four years from the time of your discharge, or after end of war, whichever is later, in which to start your educational course and you have nine years after the end of the war to complete it. There would be nothing to prevent your getting a part-time job to help out on your subsistence even while you are going to school.

Q. Will veterans who are still in the army and not eligible for discharge be entitled to a terminal leave pay bond? — Mrs. O. R. T., Tupelo, Miss.

A. If the veteran was in the army at the time terminal leave pay bonds were issued he probably has received the bond if he had terminal leave pay coming. However, the army says those entering service after that time will be paid in cash the amount of their terminal leave, upon their discharge.

Q. I am the wife of a World War II veteran and I want to know if the wife of a veteran gives him cause for a separation and they don't separate, and they live together from the date of marriage until he dies, will she be entitled to a pension when the veteran dies, if all other requirements have been met? — Mrs. G. W., Adamsville, Tenn.

A. If you are the legal wife of the veteran at the time of his death and all other requirements have been met you would be entitled to a pension for life, or until you remarry.

Q. My husband has reenlisted in the army for two years and I am wondering if he couldn't get a G.I. loan so that in the meantime we could be paying on a little home and have it pretty well paid for when he comes out. Can you advise me? — Mrs. G. G. T., Orlando, Fla.

A. No, your husband is not a veteran as long as he is a member of the armed services and the law provides G.I. home loans are available only to veterans who have been discharged from the armed services under conditions other than dishonorable.

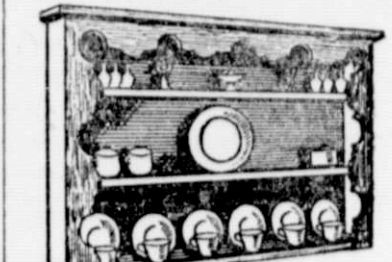

Q. I have been reading and hearing about the admirable manner in which bodies of World War II servicemen are being returned from abroad to their own homes for burial. This has raised another question in my mind. Will Veterans' administration pay the expenses of burial of any veteran of World War II after his discharge from the army? — O. S. McC., Tallahassee, Fla.

A. Under most circumstances a veteran of any war who has been honorably discharged is entitled to burial, funeral and transportation of body expenses, not to exceed $100.

STREAK OF IRISH

By GARTH R. SPENCER

Russ Van Hosen was late but feeling good, with the check from another car sale tucked in his pocket. He walked in at the back door. Pat was stirring something at the cupboard. She heard him, but didn't glance around.

Russ squeezed her shoulders and kissed her, then waited hopefully. Pat didn't respond. After a minute and a half, she turned and walked on into the living room. So Pat was still sore. Well, one thing was certain; the next peace move would have to come from her.

He sat down and reached for the sport page. Golf was opening at the Wyconda Sunday. Well, they probably wouldn't go now; they probably wouldn't go anywhere. Lately, it seemed, they'd been quarreling all the time.

It had begun this time as usual, with a quick sizzling flash of Pat's Irish temper. One of those brief flash-ups which usually ended with little damage done. Only this one hadn't ended yet; it was still dragging on. Well, let it drag!

Maybe by the time it was over Pat would have learned to keep that streak of fighting Irish temper down. Pat came in from the kitchen. "Russ Van Hosen," she said sharply, "put that paper down!"

"All right," Russ knew what Pat wanted — to carry on from where they stopped last night. "I want to know," Pat said tightly. "Just why you left the party with that Gertrude Hale last night?"

Russ' jaw grew stubborn. "I told you; I went out to start her car, that's all." "It certainly took you a good long time... Where was her husband — why didn't she have him start it?" "I don't know — he was somewhere around, I guess. Anyway, I had sold her the car."

"Yes," Pat said, "two years ago — before I'd even met you... Russ, are you getting a little tired of me?" Russ groaned. Pat knew better, of course. All she wanted was a row. Maybe he had spent too much time with Gertrude, but what of it? What about Hal Kirk last week? Pat had asked him to stop over and see her on his way in to Chicago. Talk about old pals!

"Well," Pat insisted. "Russ, I've said all I have to say." Pat started to speak again, then stopped. Over the paper Russ saw her face tighten. "All right," she said quietly.

Russ watched her walk across the room and begin to climb the stairs. He listened, and after a moment he could hear her moving about in their bedroom above. Doing what? he wondered. After ten minutes he went to the foot of the stairs and called.

"Pat!" No answer. "Pat!" he called again. "Pat was coming down the stairway; she had on her hat and coat. She carried her bag in her hand. "Pat," Russ demanded, "where are you going?"

"Why are you caring?" Russ studied her face. She was blushing, of course; threatening to leave. Well, two could bluff. "That's right," he said, "why should I?" "I'm going back to work for Hal, if you want to know."

A little stab went through Russ' heart. "Simply because of Gertrude Hale?" "Not entirely... Russ, we simply can't go on fighting all the time."

"You know," Russ said evenly. "I've been thinking that same thing." Pat's lips whitened again. "So that's settled... I'll need some money," she said.

Russ took out his billfold. It held three fives and a ten. He offered her the bills. Without looking at them Pat shook her head. "That's not enough," she said. "I'm taking the next plane at the airport."

Russ was sure now that she was stalling, giving him a chance to beg her to stay. If he gave in this time he'd have to give in always. The stubborn lines of his jaw hardened.

Taking the car check from his pocket he endorsed it with his pen. "This is on Conway & Company," he said; "you can cash it anywhere in the state."

Pat's cheeks went fiery red. Her voice was low, but it trembled. "Russ Van Hosen, I could murder you! Give me those bills and let me go!"

Russ said nothing. He watched her back the car out onto the drive. Not until then did full realization come over him. He had held firm; he had won a moral victory. But Pat was gone.

Russ walked slowly back into the living room. He was still dazed, unable to believe it. Ten minutes passed, a half an hour. Then memories began to rise and choke him, a hundred memories of the sweet times they'd had together.

From that first day when they'd met at the golf course. They'd played together and he'd beaten her, in spite of the ribbing she'd given him over his mis-matched patched-up clubs. He'd been saving to buy a new set — but he'd bought her a ring instead.

If there were only some way to get her back —

Russ swallowed against the painful aching in his throat. What a fool! To think their little spat had mattered — as if every couple didn't have them during their first year.

Maybe even now, if he should call the airport — The clock struck ten, booming through the awful emptiness of the house. Russ grabbed the phone; the plane left at ten. Feverishly he dialed the number. "Airport?"

Listen, has the plane — It's gone! The silence of the house beat against his ears. He couldn't stand it here; he had to get out, do something. Russ started for the front door, then remembered it was raining. His raincoat was in the closet off the kitchen door.

The closet was dark; his searching arm knocked down a package, a long package that clinked as it fell. He dragged it into the light.

Russ took out his billfold. It held three fives and a ten. He offered her the bills. Without looking at them Pat shook her head.

contained a set of perfectly matched clubs. So that was it! That was why she had had Kirk stop there. To get a present — for him. All these months, Pat had been scrimping on her clothes, pinching, saving —

What a heel — WHAT A HEEL — he had been! A sound from behind startled him, the turning of a latch. He whirled. Pat stood in the doorway. Pat's eyes were blazing; her cheeks were on fire.

"Russ Van Hosen!" She stamped her foot, and it shook two bright tears out on her cheeks. "Russ Van Hosen, I COULD MURDER YOU!" "Honey," Russ gasped. "Honey-girl!"

"Don't honey me! For a half hour you've let me sit out there in the rain! In the rain! Waiting... for you to come out and get me. But you wouldn't. Oh, how I hate you! Instead you waited until I had to give in myself — humbling my pride —"

Suddenly Pat's voice broke. Her arms went around him. "Oh, Russ, I don't care what you did. But say you love me — that you'll always love me!... Because, I love you so!"

Russ didn't answer; he didn't want to answer. All he wanted was the assuring feel of her in his arms. "Russ," Pat was sobbing, "even while we were quarreling I loved you. If you could only forgive that streak of Irish in me —"

"I can," Russ said humbly, "if you can overlook a streak of stubborn Dutch."

Shoes Require Special Care in Wet Weather

Shoes often suffer from wet weather. Once soaked they may never look as well or fit as comfortably unless they are properly dried and cared for.

Extension clothing specialists say that wet shoes should be taken off as soon as possible. Leather is weak when it's wet. Wearing wet shoes may pull them out of shape and cause breaks and other damage.

Wet shoes should be stuffed with soft paper or absorbent cotton to take up moisture. Never use tension shoe trees because they may stretch the leather out of shape. Instead of drying the outside of shoes by rubbing, which may roughen the leather, pat with a soft cloth.

When the inside moisture is absorbed, remove the stuffing and let the shoes dry slowly away from the heat. Fast drying with heat makes leather shrink, harden or crack.

Star Dust

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

Released by WNU Features. By INEZ GERHARD

ANN RICHARDS stands five feet five, has honey-blond hair (gray eyes, a lively sense of humor and a very beautiful face. She hails from Australia (left there the day after Pearl Harbor), but her father is an American, so she is one too.

She appeared on the stage and radio and in pictures at home, got a Metro contract soon after arriving here, spent a year making "An American Romance." She was Jennifer Jones' close friend in "The Love Letters."

ANN RICHARDS

starred in Paramount's "The Searching Wind," and will be seen in the "other woman" role in their "Sorry, Wrong Number," with Barbara Stanwyck and Burt Lancaster.

An avalanche of mail descended on the producers of Mutual's "Superman" series from grateful parents and storekeepers, heaping praise on the Man of Steel for exposing the punchboard racket, that has victimized so many children.

Ironically, just after "Superman" topped all children's programs in the Hooper ratings, the sponsor withdrew!

Bing Crosby now ranks with Shirley Temple; for the fourth time his name is first in the annual Motion Picture Herald's poll of exhibitors, to determine which stars were strongest at the box office. Shirley also headed the list four times.

Betty Grable came second, Ingrid Bergman third, though she did not have a new 1947 picture. Gary Cooper was fourth again; then came Humphrey Bogart, Bob Hope, Clark Gable, Gregory Peck, Claudette Colbert, Alan Ladd.

"Juvenile Jury" producers have reached over to England, to find a youngster who meets their qualifications. The child will be flown here with an escort for a two weeks' stay, to go sightseeing and appear on the program.

Dwight Weist, announcer of "Inner Sanctum," etc., and a plane enthusiast, is back on the air after being grounded for three weeks. He had to jump from his plane and swim to shore when it sank in Lake Tomahawk, N. Y.

Some pictures have glorified the FBI, some have humiliated Scotland Yard. But Edward Small, producer of "T-Men," will do both in "FBI vs. Scotland Yard," in which Dennis O'Keefe, as a G-man, will compete with Louis Hayward as a Scotland Yard detective in an effort to solve an international mystery.

Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant will make their first appearance together on the air when they co-star, playing their original screen roles, in the Lux Radio Theater "Notorious" — January 26, at 9:00 p. m. (EST) on CBS.

John Wayne wore a red bandana hanging from his back pocket when making "Tycoon," till he began working with llamas. The story is laid in the Andes, hence the llamas. After Wayne had been charged by them every time he turned his back he learned that llamas object to red. You will see Wayne in the Technicolor drama minus the bandana.

A majority of projectionists in movie houses, doomed to see a picture over and over, have declared that they favor United Artists' "Body and Soul" the year's picture "most endurable" again and again; John Garfield the male star who never palls, and Lana Turner the actress who can be watched endlessly without boredom's setting in.

Mac Morgan, singing star of the NBC Friday night "Highways in Melody," often finds a manuscript song in his mail; occasionally he discovers one that is really good.

ODDS AND ENDS — Ida Lupino's engagement ring from Collier Young is 100 years old — it's a circle of 12 diamonds and another of 12 rubies. . . If you buy an orange from Edward Arnold's ranch you'll find each one is stamped with his autograph. . . The router that won that contest to become the "Warner Bros. News" trademark is a Plymouth Rock; won in competition with 25,000 others. . . William Bendix has bought a chicken ranch, but the product will not be stamped with his name. . . or crown professional. . . "David Harding, Country" has been renewed for 53 weeks. . . "What's My Name" returns to the air soon.

ABOUT OUR PRESIDENTS. PRESIDENT FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT vetoed 631 bills during his terms of office. Some of these bills did not become law through use of the pocket veto. President Cleveland during his two terms of office vetoed 584 bills. Third in line is President Grant, with 92 bills vetoed. TWO OF OUR PRESIDENTS, Herbert Hoover and Harry S. Truman, have never had stamps issued in their honor. Commemorative stamps are not issued to honor the living. PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON was a football coach at Princeton in 1877, and at Wesleyan in 1889 and 1890. TWO VICE PRESIDENTS serving under George Washington, Clinton and Gerry, died while in office.

HOW TO SIGNAL A CAR FOR HELP AT NIGHT

IT'S MIDNIGHT. It's an emergency. How to "flag down" a passing motorist? Your flashlight is your best bet. Swing your flashlight across the road... with the beam down! Be sure it's powered with "Eveready" batteries... powerful, dependable, they outlast all other brands!

KEEP YOUR LIGHT MOVING, says the A.A.A. Standing about 50 feet to the rear of your car, wave the flashlight across the road... with the beam down! DON'T throw the beam into the eyes of the oncoming motorist! A light in a driver's eyes can cause a serious accident!

KEEP A "DANGER SIGNAL" HANDY! Red means "danger." So here's what you can do to turn a flashlight into a danger signal. Roll a sheet of red cellophane around the head of the light. Hold it in place with a rubber band. Twist the ends of cellophane to resemble a flare. Keep an "Eveready" flashlight handy.

Proof!... in the laboratory, in your own flashlight... 'EVEREADY' BATTERIES OUTLAST ALL OTHER BRANDS!*

*Brighter light, longer life! That's what you want in a flashlight battery — and that's what you get with "Eveready" brand batteries. Laboratory tests prove it. And the "laboratory" of all — your own flashlight — proves it! That's why "Eveready" batteries outlast all other brands — because they outlast all other brands! *According to the "General Purpose 4-Ohm International Test" of the American Standards Association, which most closely approximates average use.

Sword Swallowers Dance Ranks High in Zuni Magic

Probably one of the strangest of the winter Indian ceremonies is the Dance of the Sword Swallowers, held each winter at the ancient Zuni Pueblo in the western part of New Mexico, south of Gallup. Few white men have ever seen the ritual, which ranks high among examples of Indian magic. The dance is a supplication to appease the rain gods so that they will allow winter snows to nurture their lands for spring planting. The Zunis ages ago found that summer rains were not enough to assure bounteous crops, so they reasoned they must further please the gods to bring heavy snowfalls for additional moisture.

The Dance of the Sword Swallowers and the accompanying ceremonies take several days, and it is reported that double edged, sharp pointed, 18 inch swords are used in the ritual.

Accompanying each dancer is an attendant, and if the sword swallower fails to make the sword reach the pit of his stomach, the attendant reportedly pushes it down the swallower's throat. The sword then must be withdrawn and swallowed again.

A long and intricate ceremonial, the Dance of the Sword Swallowers ranks with the Shalako ceremony as one of the most spectacular of the festivals held at Zuni Pueblo, where Coronado began his conquest.
