A corps of over 300 volunteer workers stood ready this week awaiting the opening of the 1948 Red Cross fund drive in the West Bend chapter area which gets under way Monday, March 1, and continues through March 15.

Drive Chairman Matt Goring Jr. said Wednesday that all was in readiness and that it was his hope the people in the West Bend chapter area would generously support the fund campaign.

"Our quota is $5,230," Goring said, "and we will need the cooperation of all residents of the area if we are to reach our goal. The excellent work done by the Red Cross in this vicinity and on the national scene must be continued and will be continued, if each of us does his share."

In explaining the breakdown of the 1948 drive quota, Goring pointed out that while the chapter actually needs $10,230, use of $5,000 from reserves accumulated by over-achievement of fund drives during the war made it possible to fix a quota of $5,230.

The figures making up the quota are as follows: Total estimated expense of the local chapter $7,788.00. Share of national and international work 2,442.00. Total funds needed for fiscal year ending June 30, 1949 $10,230.00.

Reserve funds applied (1947) $5,000.00. Balance to be raised by drives (51%) $5,230.00. Chapter Chairman Stephen O'Meara heralded the opening of the drive with a statement, emphasizing the accomplishments of the local chapter during the past year and pointed out the wide scope of Red Cross activities here.

"We need these services badly," O'Meara said, "and it is up to all of us to cooperate in assuring a continuation of Red Cross work. At home and abroad the Red Cross can carry on for you and I only if we will provide the means through generous contributions during the fund campaign."

O'Meara's statement, listing the accomplishments of the various Red Cross services during the past year and the 1948-49 budget for each, is on (CONTINUED ON LAST PAGE)

North Fondy Defeats Kewaskum in Finals of District Tourney

Orioles Finish Strong to Win, 49-43, After Close, Bitter Battle for Crown Saturday; Highs Tip Rosendale, Lomira to Gain Finals

A jam-packed, overflow crowd of close to 1,000 spectators saw North Fond du Lac's Orioles cagers win the W.L.A.A. district tournament championship Saturday night from a game and spirited but outmanned Kewaskum high school team, 49 to 43, in the finals in North Fondy's home gym. North Fondy won the tourney crown for the second straight year. Last year this same Oriole team nosed out Kewaskum by one point for the title. North Fondy's giant squad, except for one player composed entirely of seniors, who have played together the past three or four years, was ranked 12th strongest team in the state among schools of its size in a poll this week.

The teams were more evenly matched and the game closer than the final score shows. During most of the contest only one or two points separated the teams and at the start of the fourth quarter Kewaskum was ahead, 35-31. North Fondy gained its victory the hard way with a concentrated, hard-driving finish. The Orioles gained their 6-point advantage in the closing minute, Kewaskum, trailing by one basket, had to get the ball and in so doing fouled an Oriole, giving them an extra point on a free throw. While the Indians were trying to steal the ball in the closing seconds and their defense was broken up Leroy Smith sank a sleeper from under the basket just before the gun.

North Fondy's home floor advantage accounted for their victory. A team playing on its home court is conceded a 4 to 8 points over its opponent. The Orioles led, 22-19, and at the third quarter, 33-31. At least 100 Kewaskum fans saw the game.

The great height advantage and over-all balance of the Orioles was just a little too much. Against the six-footers Kewaskum's "mighty mites" forced them to the very limit and all but beat them, although not playing their best ball. Leroy Smith led the winners with 14 points while their heavy center, Lyle Smith, netted 12. John McElhatton counted 12 for the losers and John Tessar added 11.

North Fondy advanced to the district playoff at Plymouth Wednesday night when they faced Kohler, winner of the Plymouth district meet, for the right to enter the Waupun sectional meet next week. Kohler upset the Orioles, 55-51, in overtime.

Kewaskum played its first round game Thursday night and barely squeaked out a 36-25 win. Bobby Dreher gave the Indians a last second victory after the Dales had led most of the game. Rosendale, playing inspired ball, stopped Kewaskum cold for three quarters. The locals were way behind at the third quarter, 30-15, and staged an almost impossible rally in the closing minutes to gain an unbelievable victory. Dreher dribbled half the length of the floor to sink the winning basket as the gun barked. The teams were tied, 7-7, at the quarter and Rosendale led, 21-15 at the half. It was a heartbreaker for the Dales. Kewaskum scored 18 points in the final quarter to Rosendale's 5. McElhatton scored 17 for the winners while Madigan and Jacobs had 11.

In the semi-finals Friday Kewaskum easily tripped Lomira, 41-31, in their best game of the tourney. Tessar, although still not fully recovered from a recent illness, hooked in 12 points. Dreher and Edwards added 10 and McElhatton 9. Hesprieh accounted for 13 for the Lions. The "Kuma" held Lomira's high scoring guard, Sterr, to 8 points.

Mrs. Ernise was dressed in a pink frock with a nylon top and full skirt, her tulle and lace headpiece matched and she carried red roses. Mrs. Zehren wore a similar gown with a green satin top and full nylon skirt, and carried red roses.

The bride's gown featured a satin top with a bouffant skirt, over which fell a full-length veil. Ivy, intertwined with white roses and ribbon, fashioned her bouquet.

Lakes Champs Nose Out Legion, 52-51

Kewaskum had victory snatched from its grasp here Sunday night when the team was nosed out, 52-51, in the final seconds by Random Lake, champions of the northern division of the Lakes. Kewaskum had the champs on the run for three quarters and held a big lead over them. But the Legion let down in the last quarter and Random came to life with a bang to come from behind in the last minute and win just before the final whistle after trailing all through the contest.

Kewaskum walked away from the visitors from the start and was ahead, 17-1, at the quarter. The locals were still well ahead, 26-18, at halftime. They gained another point in the third period, which ended 41-35. Kewaskum. Then in the fatal last quarter the Lakers caught fire and dropped in 17 points while holding the Legion to 7. The win was Random's 13th in 15 starts but they were surprised and lucky to come out on top. It was a tough one for Kewaskum to lose after outplaying the Lakers three quarters.

Wayland Tessar set the scoring pace with 15 points and Bilgo had 14. Siebenaler, league leading scorer, pushed through 14 for the winners.

Table with 4 columns: Player, FG, FT, PF. Rows include Siebenaler, Ray Krier, Mattor, Bugl Krier, Helminger, Grotenhuis, Winter.

OLD TIMERS BEAT RIVERS CAGERS IN PRELIMINARY. The big attraction to the large crowd was the first game between the Rivers team and old timers. To the delight of the fans the older boys who came out of hibernation snatched out a 34-23 win over the Rivers.

This was a terrific nip and tuck battle. The old timers had a squad of 15 players and although short of wind their numbers were sufficient to outlast the Rivers five. The old timers were divided into three teams by Manager Harbeck, the shock troops, shock absorbers and pointers.

The shock absorbers started, with Harold Claus and Lee Honeck at forwards, Ralph Marx at center, and Joe Miller and "Jennie" Schlosser at the guards. After giving the lead to the Rivers they were replaced by the pointers, Willard Frost, Fred Dorn, "Mix" Marx, Joe Miller and "Bud" Korth. After bringing up the score, this team was replaced by the shock troops, Cyril Victor, Roger Heindel, Lou Bath, "Mugs" Manthei, Norman Heik and Earl Manthei. In the second half substituting was numerous with the pointers winning the victory in the closing minute.

Carroll Haug was at the loud speaker and with wit that kept the spectators in hilarity he introduced the teams, gave a brief biography of the old timers, and announced the game. The old timers were handicapped because their large assortment of plays were not clicking, also by the absence of their flashy guard, Bill Schaefer, who was not present.

Schaub and Staehel scored 5 and 8 points for the Rivers. "Mix" and Joe Miller collected 6 apiece for the winners. "Killy" Honeck and Wayland Tessar officiated and received their share of "boos." The superb long shooting of "Mugs" Manthei and the close guarding of "Jennie" Schlosser, who really rode his man, featured.

Friday night the Rivers team lost a league game at Mayville, the score of which was not reported.

MENOMONEE FALLS, MAYVILLE CLOSE SEASON HERE SUNDAY. Both the Lakes and Rivers teams bring their regular season to a close this Sunday night with games on the home floor. The Rivers five will take on the strong Mayville cagers. The Lakers play a return contest with Menomonee Falls. The strong Falls team, second place holders, nosed out Kewaskum in a thriller at Falls early in the season. Kewaskum intends to end the season by gaining revenge.

RAUCH DAUGHTER BAPTIZED. The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Rauch, Route 3, Campbellsport, was baptized Sunday morning by the Rev. Wm. G. Schweinmer in the Peace Ev. and Reformed church. She received the name Joanne Estelle. Sponsors were Mrs. Elmer Rauch and Ralph Kraemer. Twenty-five relatives and friends were entertained at dinner at the Rauch home for the occasion.

Catholic Charities Quota, Captains Set

A quota of $16,310 for Washington county has been set for the Milwaukee Archdiocese Catholic Charities drive to be conducted from March 7 to 21, it was announced this week. Parish captains and separate quotas for two districts in the county were also revealed.

District "J" which is under the chairmanship of Baltus Rolfs, West Bend, and comprising 14 municipalities in the northern section of the county, is seeking $11,320. Quota for district "Q" which is composed of seven municipalities in the southern part of the state, under the direction of Owen McCollow, Hartford, is $5,000.

The total county quota is about 10 per cent higher than last year but this is due to the increased operating costs of the 21 charitable institutions and agencies serving the archdiocese which the drive supports, according to Rolfs. A desire to give more individual attention to each Catholic in the county prompted the two-district arrangement. The county was formerly one district with Rolfs as chairman. Organization of the respective parishes and arrangements to approach every Catholic in the county are now underway.

Although none of the charitable institutions supported by the Catholic Charities funds are located in the county, many cases are referred to and taken care of by them. Rolfs explained. One of the agencies supported by the drive, the Catholic Welfare Bureau, sends trained social workers to personally investigate Washington county cases from time to time.

District "J" parishes and captains are as follows: Ailenton, Sacred Heart, William Weiss; Nabob, St. Matthias, George Scharrer; Barton, Immaculate Conception, Frank Bahls, Goldendale, St. Boniface, John C. Heisdorf; Kewaskum, Holy Trinity, Joseph Miller; Wayne, St. Bridget's Mission, David Hanrahan; Newburg, Holy Trinity, Leroy Fesher; Trenton, St. Augustine, Martin Fechtler; West Bend, Holy Angels, Henry Arrifield; St. Kilian's, St. Kilian, George Peter; Nemo, S.S. Peter & Paul, Rev. Francis B. Kraus, Captains for St. Anthony's parish, St. Anthony, St. Michael's, St. Michaels, and St. John of God, Farmington, have not as yet been named.

The depository of funds in District "J" is the First State Bank, West Bend. The archdiocesan drive, which has $25,000 for its goal and includes ten counties, is under the direction of Archbishop Moses E. Kiley, Milwaukee.

Kiwanians Sponsor Bowling Tournament

In a highly successful and at times very amusing bowling tournament sponsored by the Kiwanis clubs of Kewaskum and West Bend at Herd's Alleys in West Bend Sunday, Feb. 22, the Kiwanis club of Sheboygan, capped first place honors with a team total of 2411, winning $25 and the possession of the eastern division bowling trophy for 1948.

Not content with leading the division bowling teams in this tournament, Sheboygan produced the next best team also, running up a total of 2367 and making down runner-up money $15. Each of the next three teams won $10. In order, they were West Bend (2378), Kewaskum (2368), and Plymouth (2352). In sixth was another Sheboygan team with 2237 for which $7.50 was awarded. The total number of teams entered was 22, representing six Kiwanis clubs.

Good fellowship prizes were awarded as follows (in order): Port Washington $10, Manitowoc $10, Manitowoc (another team) $10, Plymouth $10, Sheboygan $5.

Booby prize went to the Kewaskum Hotshots, a team composed of Kewaskum Kiwanians who never bowled before or who hadn't bowled for many years. They pounded the maples for a terrific 1321 and thus put in their successful bid for the low award of $1.10 (25c per man). Their efforts, however, were a true exemplification of Kiwanis fellowship and spirit.

Featuring the local club's Monday evening program was Eugene A. Brumm, Washington county director of public welfare. He gave an informative speech on public welfare, its structure, agencies, and duties.

Annual 4-H Week Will Stress Farm and Home Improvements

Based on the old but proved premise of learning by doing, rural girls and boys receive training in the rudiments of good leadership and good citizenship. The girls also learn how to cook, sew and run a home. The boys learn how to be good farmers. That is the story of 1,700,000 farm boys and girls in 4-H clubs.

In 74,000 4-H clubs covering every state and territory, these boys and girls will tackle man-sized jobs during National 4-H Club Week, March 1 to 7. That's the week they have set aside to launch another year of farm, home and community improvement projects and demonstrations. They'll ask neighboring boys and girls to join in and help them carry out their "make the best better" motto.

The 4-Hs, standing for the pledge of Head, Heart, Hands and Health for their clubs, their community and their country, set in a four-leaf clover, has grown to be a respected symbol of the 11,000,000 former 4-H club members, their leaders and friends.

The 4-H club program is unique in that it is entirely voluntary, educational and locally run. Each club under guidance of a local voluntary leader elects its own officers, holds its own meetings and plans its own "learn by doing" and community improvement projects.

Responsibility for helping the clubs organize and operate as well as providing good farming and homemaking advice on the various projects rests with the cooperative extension service, the educational arm of the U. S. department of agriculture and the state agriculture or land-grant colleges. The extension service, in cooperation with county governing bodies, employs county agricultural, home demonstration and 4-H agents. These agents carry on educational work with farm youth through 4-H clubs in much the same way they help adult farmers and farm women keep attuned to better farming practices growing out of scientific research and local experience.

The 4-H story is demonstrated in the experience of Donald Stoten, 20-year-old Carthage, Ind., boy. After 11 years of club projects he is ready to start farming with a fine herd of Angus and Jersey cattle, Hampshire hogs and Southdown sheep. During that time he has helped his dad expand their farm from 72 to 450 acres.

Another typical 4-H story is that of Lavona Thornhyde, 18-year-old Lambert, Okla., girl, who received this year's presidential award for girls. After her father's death and brothers' enlistment in the army, she and her mother took over operation of their 480-acre farm. Her 4-H projects in clothing, home improvement, food preparation, canning and gardening helped her carry almost full responsibility for the home as well as meal planning and cooking for the harvest and other hired help. Thousands of other boys and girls are doing practical things in the 4-H world. Kenneth Bosley's 4-H project has grown into a well-equipped machine shop where he repairs the farm machinery. A grain elevator he built from a small motor, old farm machinery parts and $12 worth of new parts, saves lifting by hand approximately 225 tons of crops each year, as well as also boys, especially boys who have a liking for work in woodland areas and other outdoor activities. Last year 365,000 girls and 5,000 boys chose food preparation as a 4-H project. Their work ranged from preparation of one kind of dish all the way up to planning, preparing and serving complete, nutritionally well-balanced meals.

Catherine Wilson, 17, of Cranbury, N. J., has specialized in food preparation projects for seven years. During this time she has prepared and served more than 1,000 balanced meals for her family of eight, including 50 dozen biscuits and many cakes and pies.

Realizing that soil conservation is an important matter to everybody, 4-H members have demonstrated keen interest in studying methods that will save and build up soil. Typical soil conservation work is that of Jim Kludas, 18, of Cherokee, Iowa, who took as his 4-H project the elimination of erosion on his father's 160-acre farm, now described as a model of soil conservation practices. He began contouring in 1943, then constructed nine grass waterways and dams to prevent washing. A gully control also was started. A series of dykes was built and 400 willows were planted.

Health, one of the 4-H in the 4-H symbol, is something for which all members strive, both for themselves and also for their communities. Tommie June Streeter, 16, of Bryceand, La., has carried on mosquito control work which won her recognition in her parish and state.

Practically every homemaking, farming or rural community activity is represented in 4-H projects.

Guidposts to Program. Much discussion during 4-H Club Week in the local 4-H clubs will evolve around ten guidposts. Developed and agreed upon soon after V-J Day by club leaders representing all the states, the ten guidposts form the basis for the long-time 4-H program. They show the basic objectives of this rural youth educational movement and serve as the basis for building local 4-H programs:

1. Developing talents for greater usefulness.
2. Joining with friends for work, fun and fellowship.
3. Learning to live in a changing world.
4. Choosing a way to earn a living.
5. Producing food and fiber for home and market.
6. Creating better homes for better living.
7. Conserving nature's resources for security and happiness.
8. Building health for a strong America.
9. Sharing responsibilities for community improvement.
10. Serving as citizens for maintaining world peace.

Out of these guidposts each year comes a theme for major 4-H discussion and work. The theme for 1948 is "creating better homes today for a more responsible citizenship tomorrow." It is out of the application of such themes and guidposts to every-day living of thousands of farm boys and girls that 4-H club work succeeds.

MOTION PICTURE fans whose memories go way back are going to take especial interest in one of the most dramatic scenes in the RKO-released "Joan of Arc." The faces of some of the judges in the trial sequence will be so familiar to them that they may concentrate on trying to place the men instead of on watching Ingrid Bergman's performance. To save them the trouble — those well-remembered faces belong to James Kirkwood, Herbert Rawlinson, Matt More, Stewart Holmes and Alan Napier.

While overseas during the war Bob Hope was fascinated by the act of a USO trouper, Billy Romano, who inflated and kneaded toy balloons into animal shapes. Meeting him recently in Hollywood, Bob asked him to a party, had him perform; guests went away and talked, and a prominent game manufacturer made a deal with him. Who says Hollywood gossip does no good!

Raymond Burr was driving to the studio to be killed in a duel with Errol Flynn, in "The Adventures of Don Juan." His car was sideswiped by a truck on a steep road; it was caught and somewhat crushed by a telephone pole, which saved it from hurtling down an embankment. Having been saved from sudden, real death, Burr kept his date with an imitation.

Sports fans will love RKO's "Sports Coverage," a short subject showing how sports news is rushed to the public. Joe Williams, the sports columnist, is featured, covering his beat. The film includes Red Barber and Clem McCarthy (who, with Andre Baruch, are the narrators) and other sports writers and photographers, also Willie Turnesa, Gus Lesnevich and Mel Ott.

M-G-M's "The Search" is the first feature picture to be photographed in the American zone of occupied Germany; most of the exteriors were filmed in and around Nuremberg, Munich, Wurzburg and Frankfurt. A large cast, mainly non-professional, supports Montgomery Clift, Aline MacMahon, Wendell Corey and Jarmila Novotna, leading star of the Metropolitan Opera company.

The U. S. department of immigration is negotiating with United States Pictures and Warner Bros. for 50 16 mm. prints of "My Girl Tisa," for use in Americanism classes prior to examinations for citizenship. Lilli Palmer and Sam Wanamaker star.

"Make Believe Ballroom" will reach the screen via Columbia Pictures, as an entertainment cavalcade, with six top name bands and six headline vocalists. Bob Fine, Danny Kaye's brother-in-law, is writing the screenplay.

Every Sunday night Fanny Brice gives a dinner party, and secretly records her guests' conversations; she edits the recording, using her "Baby Snooks" voice for the narration, then invites her guests to come and hear the recordings.

Cathy Lewis and Marie Wilson, co-stars of "My Friend Irma," both include the "new look" in their wardrobes, but at show time they work in dresses with the old one. They say it's superstition—but admit the old one's more becoming!

The Hollywood Brown Derby is taking down caricatures of some of the celebrities whose likenesses have adorned its walls and putting up newer stars—Cathy and Elliott Lewis among them.

ODDS AND ENDS—Top winner of the "Dr. Christian" award gets $2,000 and a three-month contract with Michael Curtis Productions. . . . Bon Gage, announcer of the "Danny Thomas Show," is comming between Hollywood and Chicago, where his wife, Esther Williams, is making personal appearances. . . . Hoagy Carmichael's front door bell plays "Star Dust" on chimes; ring at the back door and you hear "Georgia on My Mind." . . . The state department has selected Bea Wain and André Baruch to record a series of programs on American life; "Mr. and Mrs. Music" will transcribe their impressions in seven languages.

"Treasure of the Sierra Madre," starring Humphrey Bogart (and almost stolen by Walter Huston, whose performance is magnificent), chalked up the biggest non-holiday week in five years at the New York theater where it's running.

Todd Russell has prematurely graying hair because he worries so about the contestants on his "Strike It Rich" program. When he knows that something serious is at stake he's on pins and needles, wanting the contestant to win.

War and Population
Although nations involved in World War II count their total war dead at 15 million, the world's population now is 10 per cent larger than it was in 1939. That increase is one of the reasons for continued hunger in countries which have not been able to restore food production to its prewar level.

Bacteria in Cleaning
Experiments have revealed that at least 297 times as many infective bacteria are stirred up by sweeping with a dry broom as are released with a vacuum cleaner—that a carpet sweeper stirs up 19 times as many bacteria as the vacuum device.

Your Fire Loss
Direct losses by fire in 1947 soared to an unprecedented 700 million dollars, or 23 per cent higher than in 1946. This fire loss, if apportioned equally among America's 60 million jobholders, would cost each wage-earner $11.66.

Labor Agreements
Forty-five per cent of all wage earners covered by collective bargaining agreements were employed under closed shop and union shop conditions, according to a Twentieth Century fund report.

Speeding Up the Cow
Cows fed on synthetic stimulant called thyroprotein yield as much as 40 per cent more milk with high percentage of butterfat. It is not known whether this "fast" living will shorten the lifespan of the cows.

Clever Crooks Carry On Counterfeiting in Prison

In 1899 in Philadelphia, a clever pair of crooks, Arthur Taylor and Baldwin Bredell, were convicted of counterfeiting U. S. $100 bills and then sent to Moyamensing prison to await sentence. Says Collier's. Within several months, the men had counterfeited and gotten in circulation 32 excellent $20 notes, having made them at night in their cell with a few smuggled-in materials and tools which did not include a camera but did include a printing press no larger than a cigar box.

Upon confessing later, the convicts re-enacted their feat before a group of experts who had sworn it was impossible without a camera and an eight-ton press in a sizable workroom.

HOW IT STARTED
HOOSIER. The origin of this term is disputed. One version is that "Hoosier" is a corruption of a pioneer greeting "Who's here?" Perhaps it sounded more like "Who's here?" The word came into early use and soon was applied to the inhabitants of Indiana. The first known early use of it was in "Hoosier's Nest," by John Finley, an early Indiana poet, and printed in the Indianapolis Journal January 1, 1833.
COOKIE. This word comes from the Dutch word "kookie," a diminutive of "koek," meaning a cake.
ONION. This term is derived from the Latin "unio," and was formerly applied to a large pearl.

Spider Must Be Cautious To Stay Free of Its Nets

A spider doesn't stick to its web for several reasons. First, the spider treads only on the strands of the web, which are not sticky. Second, it never lets its body touch the web. Third, the spider secretes a liquid which oils up the claws and prevents them from sticking to the silk.

DOAN'S PILLS

Martin Is Likely GOP Dark Horse Contest Between Taft, Dewey Decisive in Republican Race

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

As this is written, the crystal ball gazers say that the 5' 8" black-moustached governor of the Empire State is going to be the next President of the United States.

But the Dewey following is confident, even in the face of the latest Roper poll, which shows that Harold Stassen is the only Republican (now that Eisenhower is out) who could win four out of the six major geographical regions of the country from Mr. Truman!

Suppose the solid South should split from the Democratic party, as they indicated they might in order to rebuke the President for his so-called "anti-southern" civil rights message which recommended anti-lynch, anti-poll-tax, fair practices legislation, which is labeled "pro-Negro" by many southern critics? Well, suppose that, and as of the date of this poll (February 5), Stassen has it.

BAUKHAGE

Still the old-timers stick to their prediction of Dewey, which they make with tears in their eyes, instead of smoke from the smoke-filled room where decisions are supposed to be made.

I wish that you people could have attended that over-crowded luncheon at the National Press club when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower spoke and introduced his successor, Gen. Omar Bradley, as chief of staff.

It was a good talk, and you probably read the report of it. You also probably have read the report of the question and answer period which General Eisenhower permitted, and which was one of the best news conferences—that's what it turned out to be—that I ever have attended. Members who couldn't get in were standing up, cocking ears, 12 to 15 deep outside the entrances to the dining room.

Naturally some questions dealt with the Eisenhower withdrawal statement issued late in January. The night after the Eisenhower withdrawal, which most Republicans and Democrats considered as final, I happened to be with two die-hard, right-wing Republicans, who wouldn't even admit they were as happy as they were. They kept saying, why couldn't he have said that much earlier if he meant it, and anyhow he has left a loophole so he can run, if not now, in 1952.

I couldn't see that. I knew a lot of Republicans thought Eisenhower's letter was an absolutely honest statement, dictated by the reasoning of an honest man, untrained in politics, it is true, but speaking from his heart.

There isn't space to repeat Eisenhower's long statement in which he said, among other things: "I am not available for and could not accept nomination for high political office. . . . My decision . . . is definite and positive."

The necessary and wise subordination of the military to civil power will be best sustained . . . when lifelong professional soldiers . . . abstain from seeking high political office. . . . I would regard it as unalloyed tragedy for our country if ever should come the day when military commanders might be selected with an eye to their future potentialities in the political field."

General Sherman said: "I will not run if nominated and will not serve if elected."

But what motivated Sherman . . . and Eisenhower?

The sincere belief expressed in Eisenhower's statement that a man of purely military training wasn't equipped for the job? (That statement, as you know, was thrown back at Eisenhower as a sideswipe at Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has emphatically NOT said that he didn't choose to run.)

I have spoken of the Eisenhower family at some length before in this column. I do not claim to be more than an acquaintance. But, as I said, when General Eisenhower's statement came over the wire, I was firmly convinced that there wasn't any equivocation in it. And I am glad that the press and their friends heard Eisenhower answer the questions as he did, giving back steel for steel on every throw.

There was a big sigh of relief, of course, when the Republican and Democratic leaders knew Eisenhower was out. I felt the same way, but for a different reason. My reason for being glad that Eisenhower isn't going to be President—as he would have been on any ticket if he had run—is the same reason he put forth. I have tremendous respect for him, personally, professionally. I am not a professional soldier, but my experience as a wartime soldier is reinforced by an indirect impression of military thought which goes back for many generations in my

NEWS REVIEW

Peril Seen for Tax Cut; Soil Control Row Due

Following the first blush of joy over the prospect of a tax-cutting program, which seemed to have been evoked by the commodity market price slump, U. S. citizens began to realize that complications might set in.

Most significant hidden gimmick behind the market skid appeared to be the development that the price decline might, in the words of Sen. Scott Lucas (Dem., Ill.), "eliminate all possibility" of income tax reductions this year.

And that apparently was the cautious but considered opinion of the entire tax-writing senate finance committee, of which Lucas is a member.

Sen. Owen Brewster (Rep., Me.), also a finance committee member, expressed a concurring view, pointing out that any appreciable general price decline "certainly would have to be taken into consideration" by Republicans in their tax-cutting plans.

Another member of the group, Sen. Harry Byrd (Dem., Va.) said that if a decline of market prices develops into a business recession, it probably would have "a considerable effect" on tax reduction.

"I certainly am not going to vote for any bill that would put the treasury in a deficit position," said Byrd.

While the senators' statements reflected a good deal of pussyfooting and at least a temporary surge of indecision with regard to tax reduction in the light of the market slump, it was obvious that they were thoroughly concerned with this turn of events.

Theory is set their tax-cutting plans awry is that a continued slump of commodity market prices would bring down the national income and tax receipts, thus rendering any major tax reduction program.

Soil Control: State or Federal? One of the springtime battles now shaping up in congress will concern the issue of whether the national farm erosion program should be federally or state controlled.

Fireworks are scheduled to begin in March when the house agriculture committee opens hearings on a bill sponsored by Rep. Harry D. Cooley (Dem., N. C.) which would turn over the soil conservation program, operated by the agriculture department since 1935, to state land grant colleges.

Along with the transfer of authority would go about 10,500 department agents who administer the program in about 2,000 districts. That will provide a point of strong controversy, as will the measure's provision for federal grants to help states foot their soil-saving bills.

Pushing the switch from federal to state control most strongly is the national farm bureau, one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington, on the grounds that the soil conservation program would accomplish more under state authority.

The federal program has not been as effective as it should be so far, the farm bureau contends. But opponents of the transfer counter with the argument that the states lack experience to handle the project satisfactorily. Currently operating under an annual budget of 39 million dollars, federal soil conservation service has 10,500 persons working with farmers, helping prepare conservation plans which the farmers may accept or reject.

So far it has prepared conservation plans for 476,128 farms covering 131,855,608 of the country's one billion acres of farm land.

mentioned in the Bible can be considered "true plague" and traced through history to 1320 B. C. It is believed to have started in lower Egypt, and in a few centuries "spread to the ends of the inhabitable world."

The black rat of Asia, which carries bubonic plague, probably was introduced into Europe by returning crusaders in the 12th century. They would have multiplied sufficiently to be noticed in Europe within a century, and history books say they appeared at that time.

It wasn't until around 1900 that it was definitely established that the black rat harbors the disease. The rat is bitten by a flea; the flea then bites a man and transmits the

Veterans SERVICE BUREAU

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above business office and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Home Loans Tightened

A total of 540,000 World War II veterans were able to buy homes during 1947 under the G. I. law as compared to 410,000 in 1946, a total of 1,056,711 homes purchased since the law was enacted.

Reviewing the past year's loan transactions VA finds that the average home bought by veterans in 1947 carried a price tag of $7,300. Four of every 10 paid more than $8,000 and one in 20 paid $12,000 or more for his home.

Out of the total of homes purchased, however, only about 160,000 were for newly constructed homes, averaging $8,200 each. Of the total home loan mortgages totalling well above six billion dollars, nearly half of which is guaranteed or insured by VA, claims paid to date on defaults total slightly more than a million dollars.

From federal reserve bank sources, however, indications are that veterans are being caught in a general credit tightening and that fewer and fewer 100 per cent loans are being made by the banks and other lenders. According to the banks, the reason is that many veterans regard these 100 per cent loans on which they make no down payment as rent, not buying, and since they have no equity to protect, they let their monthly payments lag. Banks therefore are planning to make veterans put up more cash.

Questions and Answers

This column is indebted to T/Sgt. H. E. Slaughter, public information officer of the army and air force recruiting station at Baton Rouge, La., for directing our attention to an error in a recent column. We had informed an Orlando, Fla., wife that her husband, who had reenlisted in the army, was not entitled to a G. I. loan in order to buy a home.

The facts are that any member of the armed services who has been separated, even for only a matter of hours, is in status by Veterans' administration as a veteran and entitled to all the privileges and benefits of the G. I. bill even if he reenlists in any branch of the service. So to Mrs. G. G. T., at Orlando, your husband who has reenlisted in the army for two years, is entitled to make application for a G. I. loan for purchase of a home.

Q. I am the widow of a World War II veteran. I have one little daughter, age six. I have been unable to take care of her and she has been living with friends of mine a short distance from the town in which I live. I believe the child is entitled to a pension for the death of my husband, but am wondering if I can collect this pension since she does not live with me. Can you advise me?—Mrs. H. G., Mineral Wells, Tex.

A. Yes, the child is entitled to pension payments. These payments may be made either to you or to the persons who have custody of the child, preferably the latter if they are to continue the child's care. Suggest you get in touch with your nearest VA Office, or the office you contacted for your own widow's pension.

Q. Will the subsistence allowances now being paid to veterans taking educational courses under the G. I. bill be increased by this congress?—K. L. McK., Rocky Mount, N. C.

A. As this is written, all indications are that subsistence allowances will be increased, since a bill for this purpose has been passed by both houses and will soon go to the president for signature.

Q. My wife and I are homesteading a claim near here. I am a veteran of World War II with three and a half years service. My question is, am I entitled to a guaranteed or insured loan under the G. I. bill on my claim here?—J. J. T., Butte, Mont.

A. It would depend upon the purpose of your loan. Loans may be guaranteed or insured under the G. I. bill to a homesteader if the loan is for operating capital for purchase of farm equipment or machinery, and all ordinary farming or business purposes. However, loans for construction purposes including construction to a farm house or other buildings are not available until the veteran acquires such title as will enable him to give a valid first lien on the realty.

Q. I am a veteran of four and a half years. Was discharged in July of 1945. Would I be eligible to take music under the G. I. bill of rights? I'm unmarried, but support my mother.—D. A. Wells, Nev.

A. Yes, music can be taken under the G. I. bill provided the approved schools in your area list music in their curriculum. Suggest you get in touch with Veterans' administration regional office at Reno to secure a list of approved schools in your area. Then all you need do is to check the list for the school offering the music courses which you want.

Q. I was told that Veterans' administration would pay up to $500 per school year for tuition, would you take a specialized course, tuition for which would exceed $500 a year. How can I do this?—G. B. S., Cleveland, Ohio.

A. You may take a more expensive course by sacrificing some of the schooling time allotted to you. If you are entitled to three school years, Veterans' administration can pay up to $1,500 for your tuition. The whole $1,500 can be used for two years at $750 each, or one year at $1,500.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When washing windows during the winter put a small quantity of ammonia or vinegar into the water. This helps to keep the water from freezing on the glass.

When laundering lace collars, sew the collars on white muslin. This will help keep them in shape.

Protect your rubbers from oil and soil. Oil causes blistering, and soil will cause rubber articles to chip and crack and lose their resilient strength. Clean well after using.

Fix a towel rack on the back of baby's high chair, on which you can keep such handy items as a damp wash cloth, a bib and a towel.

For a larger and fluffier omelet, add hot instead of cold water when beating the egg yolks.

Keep acid foods, such as tomatoes, lemons and vinegar off the porcelain enamel of a range or refrigerator. They cause stains that won't come off.

Excessive use of oil or thinners will reduce the covering power of any paint.

Do not put woolen blankets through a wringer when washing them. Place in thick turkish towels first, then pass through wringer. Avoid changing temperature of water from hot to cold, only tepid water must be used. Dry blankets indoors on flat surface after stretching to size.

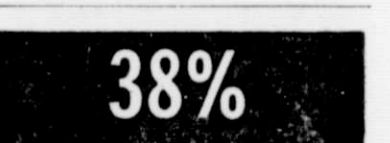

Keep on hand: Percolator tops, electric fuses, an assortment of corks, waxed paper, paper napkins, a box of tacks, an extra can-opener, extra light bulbs, a ball of twine, bicycle tape.

THE FICTION CORNER

THE RUG
By VIRGINIA SULLIVAN TOMLINSON

I KNEW the Farraday family before it happened. I knew them first when I was nine and Ellen Farraday was eight and in my class at school.

There were two other Farraday children: Skippy, the baby, who was five, and Dora, seventeen, just entering business school. Dora was engaged to marry Danny Wright, who ran the service station in town. Mr. Farraday was branch manager of our local bank. "Such a nice, quiet man," people said. "If only that wife of his were not such a fool."

I didn't think Mrs. Farraday was a fool. I liked her. The sprawling old Farraday house, with its sagging porch, was always in need of repair, the shabby living-room would be cluttered and dishes unwashed, but Mrs. Farraday was never too busy to plan games for rainy afternoons or picnics in summer in their rickety old car. She was little and quick and dark, with rather kittenish ways; always thinking up something new and "exciting"—like the dress she designed for Dora that won the prize in the Easter parade.

There was nothing I loved more than going over to the Farraday house whenever I had the chance. Saturday mornings they always had pancakes; Sundays they had sausage and Boston baked beans and applesauce in a blue glass dish. And they had laughter. A great deal of laughter—except when Aunt Abby came to call.

Aunt Abby was Mr. Farraday's aunt, a very rich, very unpleasant old lady who lived in an imposing granite house at the end of town. It was no secret that she disapproved bitterly of the entire Farraday family. Why she visited them nobody knew, unless it was because of all her relatives, they refused to be impressed by her money or upset by her caustic tongue. They merely accepted her, all but Mrs. Farraday, who seemed to like having Aunt Abby around. Curiously enough, it was Mrs. Farraday herself that Aunt Abby most bitterly disapproved.

"My nephew's wife isn't fooling me," she'd say. "Always pretending to be so gay. What's she got to be happy about. I'd like to know? If my nephew had married a sensible woman, he'd have amounted to something by now."

"I declare," my mother said, "it gives me the creeps, the way that old lady looks at Mrs. Farraday. I believe she really hates her."

"She hates them all," my father said, "because they've got what she never had. The Farradays have contentment. All Aunt Abby has is money, and when she's gone they'll have that, too."

Only they didn't. Because, when Aunt Abby died the year Ellen Farraday was nine, she left them no money at all. Her entire estate went to charity, with one exception. She left Mrs. Farraday a rug. It was an Oriental rug, exceptionally large and lovely; golden in color, satiny to the touch, starred with dusty pink flowers.

"It's a shame," people said, "when those children need money so. But of course they can sell the rug. It's valuable and Orientals are in vogue." Then a dealer offered Mrs. Farraday $25,000 for her rug. The town rejoiced for the Farradays. This meant college for the children and money to fix up the old house. But, to the amazement of everyone, Mrs. Farraday stubbornly refused to sell. She had always admired that rug, she said. She'd been as surprised as anyone when Aunt Abby had left it to her. She had always thought Aunt Abby disliked her; all those unkind remarks she used to make. But now she was grateful for the rug and meant to keep it.

Since the narrow living room at the Farradays was too small for the rug, Mr. Farraday was persuaded to sell the home and rent a house with larger rooms. Their old stuff looked pretty shabby against the rug, so with the money from the sale of the home they bought new furniture. And after awhile, because of the friends they acquired in the new surroundings, the Farradays bought a new car, too.

I saw less of Ellen now, except at school. Gradually my visits to the She'd taken Skippy to the picnic, hadn't she? She should not have gone off with that beau of hers, leaving the child alone by the lake.

Farradays had ceased, partly because my mother disapproved of Dora Farraday's new friends. Dora had always been a sweet, docile little thing, ambitious to get along. Now she had given up business school. She had even broken off her engagement to Danny Wright. Dora had a new beau now; one she'd met through her "crowd." Nobody liked him, but he was rich and he gave Dora a good time. He had a weak, handsome face and a loud scolding laugh. I'd see them together as I walked home from school, dashing around town in his rickety car or going into Van's Place for drinks. People felt sorry for Danny Wright. He'd been so crazy about Dora, and always so glad to have Skippy and Ellen around.

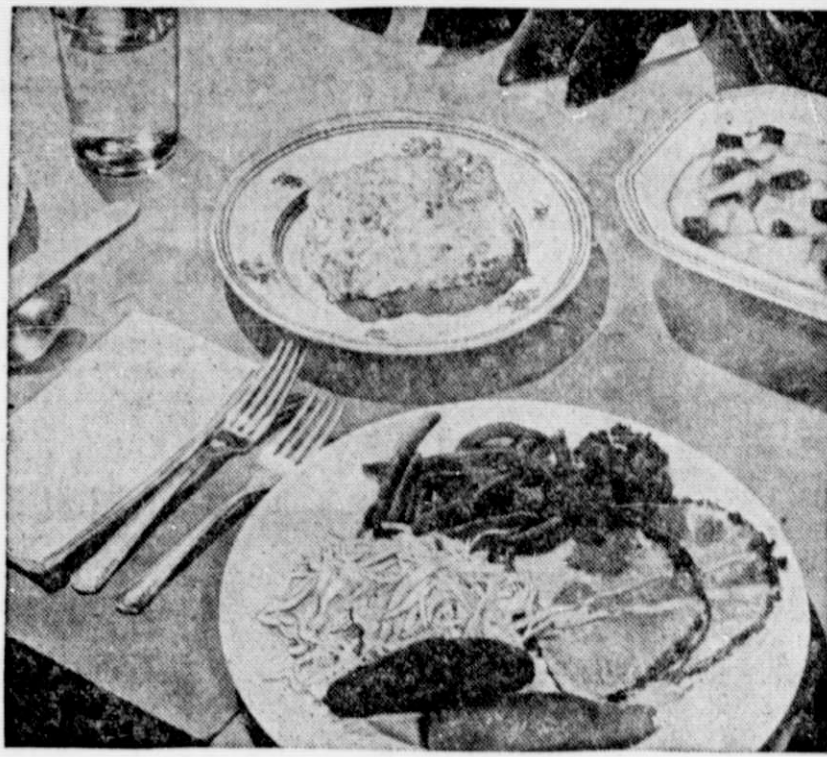

DORA's new beau didn't like children. He objected to Skippy trailing her about. Skippy was six now, very spoiled and rather a nuisance; but it seemed hardly fair to blame Dora entirely for what happened at the Elks' picnic that year. Everyone said, though, that it was Dora's fault. She'd taken Skippy to the picnic, hadn't she? She should not have gone off with that beau of hers, leaving the child alone by the lake. My father was one of the men who Elks' picnic that year. Everyone took Skippy's little body out of the water that night. My mother sat with Mrs. Farraday when they brought him home. Dora Farraday didn't come home at all. She sent a telegram. It arrived just as they were bringing Skippy's body into the house. Dora had left Skippy alone by the lake to elope to New York with her new beau.

Ellen continued at school; she had always been very quiet. And after awhile, Mrs. Farraday went about the town again, holding her head very high, smiling her fixed, gay smile. Only Mr. Farraday seemed changed. He aged visibly that year. Nobody was surprised when the cold he caught just before Christmas turned into pneumonia. The doctors said that he just hadn't the will to live.

Dora came home when her father died. Mrs. Farraday sent her the money. Dora's husband had left her and Dora had been working in New York, clerking in a store. People thought that perhaps she'd stay home now, since her mother needed

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Have Baked Ham for a Social Supper. (See recipes below.)

Feeding Fifty

If your club or church is planning a community social dinner for a get-together or for the purpose of making money, you'll appreciate these tested recipes. The recipes are bound to be tempting to most people, which is an important consideration for dinners of this type.

You'll need to do careful planning for both purchasing and preparing, or perhaps you can have a committee work out the donations so there will be more of a return on the dinner. Have your group choose an able leader to insure a successful dinner. She should be thoroughly familiar with all the procedures of the menu, and should be able to divide and assign the work properly, as well as iron out all sorts of details that come up.

Tableware should be checked in advance so there will be enough to go around. The same goes for kitchen equipment.

Men as well as women will like the menu for this community supper as it is appetizing and well balanced.

Baked Ham. Buttered Green Beans or Peas. Candied Sweet Potatoes. Cole Slaw. Apple Cranberry Sauce Relish. Rolls Jelly Butter. Pineapple Chiffon Cheese Cake.

Baked Ham. (Serves 50) 18 pound smoked ham 2 cups brown sugar 1 tablespoon vinegar 1 tablespoon prepared mustard ¼ cup cloves

Place ham (wrapped in heavy waxed paper or inside wrapper), fat side up in an uncovered roasting pan. Bake in a slow (350 degree) oven about 5½ hours. About an hour before the ham is done, remove from oven, lift off remaining skin and score fat surface. Mix brown sugar and mustard, add enough vinegar to make a paste. Spread paste over fat surface and stud with cloves. Return to oven and bake in a slow (325 degree) oven for about 45 minutes to glaze the surface.

Here are some other glazes which may be used. The amounts are sufficient to cover the surface of one ham:

ORANGE GLAZE: Mix one cup brown sugar, juice and grated rind of one orange and spread over fat surface. Garnish with orange slices when serving.

HONEY OR MOLASSES GLAZE: Use one cup honey or molasses and spread over ham; stud with cloves. Finish baking.

SPICE GLAZE: Use one cup brown sugar and one cup juice from spiced peaches, crabapples, ginger pears or pickled peaches. Garnish with the spiced fruit.

For the vegetable, green beans, you may use two No. 10 cans, sea-

LYNN SAYS: Food Tips Add Interest to Menu

When you serve whitefish or halibut, you'll find that cranberry sauce or jelly adds just the right note of tartness as well as color to the fish.

Rice or noodle ring makes a nice platter when filled with leftover ham or chicken creamed with peas and pimiento.

When you serve vegetable loaf, pass along a sauce made of tomato soup and grated cheese.

Speaking of rice, you can serve it in place of potatoes or another starchy food. Fry in a little butter, make mounds and serve with spinach. It's pretty as well as good to eat.

Orange marmalade mixed with peanut butter makes a nice sweet sandwich for the lunchbox or for a snack.

Ever tried chicken pie with a sweet potato crust? Mash the potatoes until creamy, season with butter, salt and pepper and add cream for smoothness. Beat until fluffy and top pie.

A nice easy dessert consists of tapioca mixed with crushed pineapple, served with soft boiled custard.

Serve fish on a bed of watercress if you want it to look truly effective. The greens, of course, should be eaten.

If the family doesn't take kindly to liver, parboil it, chop and mix with egg, bread crumbs, chili sauce and seasonings. Make into patties and wrap in bacon. Bake in tomato sauce.

Omelet tastes much better when it has some fine herb seasoning such as tarragon and basil.

A quick molded salad consists of fruit cocktail molded in gelatin. Add some diced celery for crispness.

Leftover fish can be flaked and mixed with mashed potatoes, then shaped into cakes and fried until golden brown. Serve with tartar sauce for a treat.

A few thin slices of ham will make a nice supper dish when they pat bread dressing on them, they roll and bake until heated.

Spring Freshet
Grace Noll Crowell

I LIKE the look of snow when it is melting And sending its clear rivulets toward the sea; I like the sweep of dry grasses lending Beneath those bright feet, suddenly set free.

I have seen small green leaves under snow That now had hidden through the winter hours. Fresher and greener and sweeter than the leafing That springs to life after the April showers:

A little clover leaf washed clean by waiting, Eager for life again at the hint of spring! I reach my fingers into the icy water To touch that tender, tremulous, wistful thing.

Knowing a kinship with it, deep and abiding, I, too, have waited until the winter passed, And I lift my head after a strange chastisement To the bright air again, the sun at last!

Carnival Setting Prevails In Modern Industrial Plant

The late Ernie Pyle once described a tin can as one of the simplest things in the world to make—if you make it slowly. But when cans come off a line many times faster than you could possibly count, he said, the whole thing becomes intricate and fantastic.

The speeds attained in modern can manufacture—as high as 600

cans a minute—have been made possible by some of the most ingenious machinery in use in American industry. A coincidental reflection of this ingenuity is the resemblance of some equipment in a can plant to the frolic and thrill apparatus of a typical carnival or amusement park.

A visitor to an American can company plant will see "ferris wheels" in operation, dark "tunnels of love," "electric scooters," "shooting gallery" targets, "roller coasters" and "shoot-the-chutes." All of these things have been designed, of course, for the serious purpose of achieving maximum efficiency, so that the country's canners, packers and manufacturers of industrial goods can obtain at low prices the billions of cans they require annually. But the visitor who wants to squint his eyes and dream a bit will be reminded of happy, carefree hours spent on merry-go-rounds and throwing balls at peep-hole targets.
