Harlan Gruber Enlists in Army for Three Years

Harlan Gruber, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gruber, village, has enlisted in the U. S. army for a period of three years. He passed his physical examination in Milwaukee on Tuesday and left Wednesday to begin serving his country.

Harlan's two older brothers, Robert and Eugene, both are veterans of World War II. Both served overseas in the marine corps. The latter was in on the invasion of Iwo Jima.

Other young men from Kewaskum have enlisted in the service and their names will be published when they come to begin training in the next couple of weeks.

By enlisting these young men will avoid the emergency draft, which will begin in September.

Kiwanis Chief Executive to Speak in This Section

Officers of the Kiwanis club of Kewaskum learned this week that J. Belmont Mosser, prominent Pennsylvania industrialist and recently elected president of Kiwanis International, probably will speak in this section sometime during his one-year administration.

Paul Landmann, president of the local club, said that following the former's election at Los Angeles the new Kiwanis chief executive had indicated he would launch his speaking itinerary in late summer. This schedule undoubtedly will carry him into a majority of the 29 Kiwanis districts throughout the United States and Canada.

Delegates to the largest convention in the history of Kiwanis International named Mosser to succeed Dr. Charles W. Armstrong, Salisbury, N. C., who served as president of the community service organization during the past year.

Long active in eastern industrial circles, Mosser is vice president and general sales manager of the Spear Carbon company and vice president of the International Graphite and Electrode Corp., both at St. Marys, Pa., where he maintains his home.

Active in civic affairs for many years, the new Kiwanis president recently was appointed by Governor Duff of Pennsylvania to the state committee to study education facilities.

He also is a past chairman of the carbon section of the National Electrical Manufacturers association. In St. Marys, he has served as co-chairman of six war fund drives and as a director of the St. Marys chapter of the American Red Cross and the Community Chest.

Mosser was treasurer of Kiwanis International for the past two years. Prior to that time he served as a member of the International board of trustees. International committee chairman, governor of the Pennsylvania Kiwanis district, and president of the St. Marys club.

Dairy Bar, Lunch Room to Open in Kewaskum

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Oeming and son Bob, who since last November operated Bob's Dairy Bar in the Rackow building at 251 South Main street in West Bend, have leased the Louis Heiser building adjoining the Heiser tavern on Main street, formerly occupied by Rembrandt Fashions, Inc., where they will open a dairy bar and lunch room on Aug. 1. Rembrandt Fashions, Inc. discontinued in business here some time ago.

The new business will be operated under the name of Bob's Dairy Bar, the same as it was in West Bend. It will be open for day and night service. The lunch room will serve plate lunches and chicken at all times along with the regular lunches and refreshments.

Mr. Oeming stated that he enjoyed a good Kewaskum trade at his West Bend place and had many requests to come to Kewaskum, especially from Kewaskum Utensils company night shift workers. This and other reasons prompted him to bring his business to our progressing little city. Watch for further announcements in the Statesman concerning the new lunch room and dairy bar.

Kewaskum Indians Win Close Game From Barton

Last place Barton put up a good scrap here Sunday before losing to Kewaskum, 4 to 2, in an interesting Rainbow loop contest. "Hefty" Backhaus bested the Barton hurler in a pitcher's duel. Both pitchers were given good support by their mates. Barton has not won a game this season.

In the top flight game in the league Sunday Waubesa edged Belmont, 1-0. St. Michaels kept its edge on top of the standings with an 8-5 win over Belmont.

Kewaskum-Belgium Game to Be Completed

Officials of the Rainbow league ruled that the Kewaskum-Belgium game of Memorial day, which broke up in the sixth inning when Manager Dreher of the Kewaskum team pulled his team off the field after an umpire's decision, must be completed from where it left off. The game will be finished early in September. The teams will start play in the sixth inning, with Kewaskum leading, 4-3, and two men out. The game had been called up as a defeat for Kewaskum and now changes their record in the standings to 6 wins and 2 defeats.

Newburg, and Batavia trounced Boltonville, 11-4, in other games. Batavia and Waubesa remained in a tie for second, a half game behind St. Michaels, by virtue of their victories. Kewaskum is fourth, one game behind the leaders.

This Sunday Kewaskum plays another game on the home field, entertaining Belgium, which is next to the locals in the standings. In the first meeting between these teams at Belgium Manager Dreher took his team off the field after a poor decision by the umpire. In other games St. Michaels plays at Waubesa in an important tussle which will decide the league lead. Newburg is at Boltonville and Sheboygan Falls at Barton.

Utensils Tip Second Place Mequon, 6 to 3

Those surprising Kewaskum Utensils did it again Sunday when they knocked off Mequon, the second place team, on their home grounds by a 6 to 3 margin. Mequon had been leading the Land of Lakes league until two weeks ago when West Bend took over. The team now has defeated every club in the circuit except the leaders and Germantown, to whom they lost in 15 innings there. The Utensils are fourth, 2 1/2 games out of first, but have proven themselves capable of beating any team in the loop.

Four big runs on a walk to C. Stautz and four singles by Prost, Tassar, J. Stautz and Wietor in the second inning led the victory for the Utensils early in the contest. Mequon came back with two in the same inning.

NIGHT GAME RAINED OUT The booster exhibition game scheduled to be played by the Kewaskum Utensils and Campbellsport Belles of the Central States league under the lights at West Bend City park Wednesday night was postponed because of rain and wet grounds. The game will be played instead on Monday night, Aug. 2, at West Bend.

Local workers of the West Bend Aluminum Co. in West Bend and Hartford were paralyzed Tuesday morning when 500 production workers walked off their jobs. A number of Kewaskum workers employed at the West Bend plant, were idled by the strike.

The employees, who are members of UAW-AFL Local 865, threw picket lines around both plants at 9:30 a. m. They struck after negotiations with the company broke down Monday night over a 20 cents hourly wage increase demanded by the union.

The management held to its offer of a 10 cent hourly raise, according to Ben Heiting, president of the striking local.

Death Sunday of Mrs. Mary Schladweiler

Mrs. Mary E. Schladweiler, nee Feltenz, 67, of 925 Cedar st., West Bend, formerly of the town of Kewaskum, passed away at her home at 8:20 p. m. Sunday, July 18, after having been seriously ill for the past 10 days. She had been ailing for the past eight months.

Mrs. Schladweiler was born March 25, 1881, in the town of Scott, Sheboygan county, where she grew to womanhood. After her marriage to Philip Schladweiler at St. Michaels on May 1, 1906, the couple resided on a farm in the town of Kewaskum for two years before moving onto a farm in the town of Farmington. The deceased went to West Bend to live in November, 1942. Her husband preceded her in death.

Seven children were born to the couple, four of whom died in infancy. Surviving are Veronica (Mrs. Alex Peters) of the town of Trenton, Leo (Mrs. Jerome Stockhausen) of West Bend. The deceased is further survived by 11 grandchildren and the following sisters and brothers: Elizabeth of Waubesa, Mrs. Christina Janssen of West Bend, Rose (Mrs. Elyer Schladweiler) of Farmer, S. D., Lena (Mrs. Jacob Schiltz) of Milwaukee, Clara (Mrs. Math. Kies) of the town of Barton, Cecelia (Mrs. Stanley Byrnes) of Midwest City, Okla., Bernard of Milwaukee and Gregor of West Bend. Four brothers predeceased her.

Mrs. Schladweiler was a member of the Christian Mothers society of St. Michael's church, St. Michaels.

Funeral rites were conducted Thursday at 9 a. m. from the Schmidt Funeral home, West Bend, and at 9:30 a. m. in Holy Angels church there, the Rev. Edw. J. Stehling officiating. The Rev. Francis Eschweiler officiated at the burial services at St. Michael's cemetery.

Canning Tactics

ISN'T IT CONVENIENT to have home-canned foods in good supply before the garden runs out? Yes, you may have been putting up fruits and vegetables as well as some of the early jams, jellies and preserves.

There are a variety of home-canned soups which are simply grand when lunch time rolls around on a snowy day. And, of course, there are pickles and relishes that are always handy for adding zest to sandwich suppers or for rounding out the meat course.

IF YOU LIKE a good, well-seasoned tomato soup, here is an easy way to put up one. This is a small-sized recipe, but it is concentrated so it will go a long way after you heat it and add milk or water.

Concentrated Tomato Soup (Makes 2 quarts) 12 pounds tomatoes 3 small bay leaves 12 whole cloves 2 teaspoons salt 2 teaspoons sugar

Choose firm, red ripe tomatoes. Wash and remove cores; then place in a large preserving kettle. Add bay leaves and heat to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer for 10 minutes. Put through sieve or food mill, return to kettle and simmer until of the consistency of gravy.

IF YOU LIKE to eat meats, here are some ways which are delicious for preparing them: Veal in Tomato Sauce (Makes 4 quarts) 2 1/4 quarts tomatoes 2 cups sliced celery 2 tablespoons salt 1 teaspoon sugar 1/8 teaspoon black pepper 6 pounds boneless veal, cut for stew

Peel tomatoes, remove cores and slice thin before measuring. Or use one and one-half quarts cooked or canned tomatoes. Mix tomatoes with celery, salt, sugar and pepper; heat to boiling and cook rapidly for five minutes. Add veal, cover and simmer for 2 1/2 hours. Pack into clean hot jars and fill to within one-half inch of top. Adjust lids according to manufacturers' directions. Process 75 minutes for pints, 90 minutes for quarts at 10 pounds pressure.

Beef for Stew (Makes 4 quarts) 10 pounds of beef 3 tablespoons shortening 2 tablespoons salt Use either chuck or rump of beef. Trim off excess fat and weigh meat after trimming. Wipe with damp cloth and cut into pieces to fit jars. Melt shortening and brown meat in skillet. When well browned add just enough water to cover, heating until all browned residue from skillet is dissolved to make a rich gravy. Pack meat into clean hot jars to within one inch of the top. Add one and one-half teaspoons salt to each quart. Adjust lids. Process 75 minutes for pints, 90 minutes for quarts at 10 pounds pressure.

LYNN SAYS: Housekeeping is Easy With These Hints Nail holes on walls where pictures have hung can be filled with a mixture of melted glue and extra fine sawdust. Pack this into the hole tightly before you paint your walls.

Table linens that have white lines running through them after washing and ironing usually have been put through the wringer. Wring them by hand to prevent the lines. Colored clothes should not be sprinkled long before ironing. Do the job with lukewarm water and cover well with towels about 15 minutes before ironing. A soft brush for lightly scrubbing those clothes which cannot be run through an automatic washer is helpful in removing hard-to-get-off dirt.

ANY VEGETABLES you like may be used in a soup combination, but the processing should be done in a pressure cooker for vegetables unlike tomatoes are a non-acid food and need more processing.

IF the garden is coming to the end of its yield, here's a good batch of soup that can be put up from it: End-of-Garden Soup (Makes 3 quarts) 2 parsnips, peeled 2 medium-sized potatoes 4 carrots, scraped 2 cups quartered, peeled tomatoes 2 bunches celery, cut 1 sweet red pepper, trimmed and cut in strips 1/4 pound spinach, washed and shredded 1 cup cut green beans 2 quarts water

Clean all vegetables thoroughly before preparing. Cut in rather small pieces. Place in soup kettle, add water and simmer for two to three minutes. Pack while hot into clean jars; add one teaspoon salt to each quart. Adjust lids; process in pressure cooker, 60 minutes at 10 pounds pressure for pints, or 70 minutes at 10 pounds pressure for quarts.

Chili Sauce (Makes 4 pints) 10 tomatoes 1 quart chopped sweet red peppers 1 cup finely chopped white onions 1 hot red pepper, chopped 1 quart sugar 2 tablespoons salt 5 cups vinegar 1 tablespoon celery seed 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon 1 teaspoon ground cloves

Scald tomatoes, remove skins and cores. Clean and chop remaining vegetables. Heat to boiling in a large kettle and cook vigorously for one and one-half hours. Add spices and cook in two or three thicknesses of cheesecloth and cook one-half hour longer until the mixture is thickened. Remove spice bag. Pour into hot sterile jars and seal immediately.

Chunk Pickles (Makes 8 pints) 6 pounds large cucumbers 3 1/4 cups salt 3 quarts water 2 tablespoons alum 1 quart vinegar 8 cups sugar 2 1/2-inch sticks cinnamon 1 blades mace 1 tablespoon whole cloves

Wash cucumbers; place in stone crock or jar; cover with cold brine made of salt and water; let stand two weeks. Remove cucumbers from brine, wash, trim off stem ends and cut crosswise into one-inch pieces. Cover with cold water; add alum; let stand overnight. Drain; wash well. Combine remaining ingredients and bring them to a boil. Pour immediately over cucumber chunks. Repeat the process for three mornings, reheating the syrup every time. On the fourth morning, place cucumbers in jars and pour hot syrup over them. Seal at once.

Blankets and sweaters, if dried in a well ventilated room, will retain their original softness. Long exposure to direct sunlight will harden the woolen yarns. When melting paraffin for topping jelly glasses, heat only hot enough to make the wax liquid. Do not allow it to smoke. Before doing grimy cleaning jobs, press fingernails into some soft soap. This will eliminate staining. The soap is easily removed with a nail file. Keep a paper sack in your garbage can for easy disposal of rubbish. This is simply lifted and tossed out. In place of washing the can after use, you need only wipe it with a disinfectant. As you remove silverware from the table after use, place it in a solution of soap and water. It takes but a few minutes to clean as nothing has stuck to it. Thin-skinned carrots are better if they are not scraped. Simply scrub them with a brush. You'll save time and nutrients.

"THE EAGLE - OUR NATIONAL EMBLEM" The Continental Congress on June 20, 1782 adopted the Great Seal of the United States which has an eagle in the center of it and that's how the eagle became our National emblem.

Zoo Keepers Devise New Type Scale for Weighing Gorilla

NEW YORK - Time was when keepers at the New York Zoological park had no trouble weighing Makoko, a young male gorilla. Keeper Jim Reilly would take Makoko on his shoulders and step on the scales. Then Reilly's weight was subtracted.

Planes Overtake Twice; Rider Switches to Auto

ROOSEVELT, UTAH - V. A. Bair, Roosevelt merchant, decided it was just not his day for a plane ride. Bair chartered a small private plane to fly him to Salt Lake City on a business trip. A gust of wind caught the plane just as it started its takeoff and the craft was flipped into a nosedive.

River Will Be Moved Under Newly Constructed Bridge

GREEN BAY, WIS. - Wisconsin highway department is planning to build a bridge on dry land and move the Wolf river under it. The new 300-foot bridge will replace an old steel swing bridge. Approaches to the present span are flooded in nearly every period of high water.

Thief Steals Car Right Under Policemen's Noses

LOS ANGELES - Miss Mildred Peck, secretary to a city councilman, always felt that her car was safe in the city hall garage which is located beneath the police station. Although there are always a lot of police cars around, someone drove her new red coupe out of the garage in such a hurry it nearly bowled over an attendant. The police admitted it was stolen-right under their noses.

Funds for the Military. War clouds have forced the government to talk of spending more for the army, navy and air force. At first it looked as though the military services could get along on $2,250,704,300 more this year than last.

Even so, that would have meant so much more money competing for steel, wooden yard goods, leather, autos. But now there are plans to increase that by another three billion dollars. Whether it's two or five billions that the services have to spend this year, it's all new money bidding for what American farms and factories turn out.

WASHINGTON-Complicated figures just released by the federal reserve board and the department of commerce carry storm warnings for housewives who are already having trouble making both ends meet. The story is just more of the same old thing: shortages. We want more than is being turned out.

The possible dynamite under prices lies in three new large sums about to go into circulation: (1) money "saved" because of lower income taxes, (2) increased installment payments, (3) increased defense appropriations. Taxes have been cut 4.8 billion dollars. Much of that tax cut went to working families who are expected to spend it instead of save it.

JEST JESTIN'

Fleetfooted Kangaroo

A United States Army officer stationed in Australia decided to go on a kangaroo hunt. He climbed into his jeep and instructed his Negro driver to proceed to the plains in quest of a kangaroo. Soon they spotted one, and the driver drove the jeep in hot pursuit.

For some time they went at break-neck speed without gaining on the animal. Finally, the driver shouted to the officer: "Ain't no use chasin, that thing, sir!"

"Why, Sam?"

"Cause we is new doin' 65 and that critter ain't put his front feet down yet!"

Objection Overruled

Father: "Wasn't that young Jones I saw downstairs last night?"

Daughter: "Yes, father."

Father: "I thought I issued an injunction against his seeing you anymore."

Daughter: "Yes, Dad, but he appealed to a higher court and Mother said, 'yes.'"

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

A northerner seeking an ideal southern town stopped at a small hamlet and asked an old mountaineer if the place was healthy. "Healthy?" the man roared. "Why, this is the go! darn healthiest place you ever did see. Shucks, nobody ever dies in these parts."

"That's strange," the northerner remarked. "On my way into town I passed a funeral procession."

"Oh, that," the mountaineer grunted. "That was only the local undertaker. The fool starved to death."

BIRTHDAY FUSS

When Uncle Eb White was the guest of honor at a party given to mark his 100th birthday, everybody was enthused except Seth Higgins, 99 years old.

"Can't see what all the fuss is about," grumbled Seth. "All Eb's done is grow old and he's taken a year longer at it than me."

This Mechanical Age

Lonely baby chick taking a look around the electric incubator of unhatched eggs: "Well, it looks as if I'll be an only child. Mother's blown a fuse."

POWERFUL BREW

"Did you test this stuff, Joe?"

"Yeah. I poured some in an ash tray."

"Did it turn green?"

"I dunno. I can't find the ash tray."

Practical Viewpoint

The teacher, telling her class about various types of leather, ended her discussion with the question: "Now who can tell me the chief use for cowhide?"

A small boy who had been gazing off into space during most of the period surprised the teacher by raising his hand.

"Yes, Jimmy?"

"To hold the cow together."

Nobody Believes Him

William Fitelson, probably New York's most successful theatrical attorney, tells of a trial in an upstate town in which the examining lawyer was trying to ascertain the veracity of the defendant by questioning one of his farmer neighbors. The answer was highly enlightening.

"Can't say he don't never tell the truth," the witness averred, "but if he wanted his hogs to come to feed, he'd have to git someone else to call 'em."

One Hundred Per Cent!

A favorite story of famed attorney Arthur Garfield Hays concerns one Gino Cuomo who was looking forward to the blessings of American citizenship. In court for the routine questioning, Gino was doing all right until he was asked the usual queries about the American flag.

"What is it," asked the kindly judge, "that you always see flying over this courthouse?"

"That's easy," confidently replied Gino. "Peejins!"

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE
by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: What size mesh should be used for gutters, and what kind would be impervious to corrosion?

ANSWER: A quarter-inch mesh, which would keep most of the leaves out of the gutter in case there are trees close to the house. Copper is impervious to corrosion.

QUESTION: When the former tenants moved from here they scored the floors with their furniture. Is there any way I can remove the score marks?

ANSWER: Scraping with an electric floor sanding machine should take out most of the marks. If any slight hollow place remains after sanding, you may be able to make them less noticeable by building them up with several thin coats of a quick-drying varnish.

QUESTION: Can you tell me what causes the hot water faucet to vibrate with a disturbing noise when it is turned on?

ANSWER: Since the noise occurs only when the faucet is on, the trouble may be from a worn-out washer or some loose part in the faucet. Also, there is a possibility that you are overheating the water.

QUESTION: How can I remove varnish from my linoleum rug?

ANSWER: Sponge with a lukewarm solution of trisodium phosphate using about 3 pounds to the gallon of water. Let the solution stay on long enough to soften the varnish, then take up with fine steel wool. Rinse thoroughly.

QUESTION: My indirect heater is connected to the boiler, but my hot water is only luke-warm. What is the matter?

ANSWER: If you were getting hot water and the condition has developed recently, it is possible the heater jacket is clogged with sediment and may have to be taken apart and cleaned.

Henry's Widow Was All Out for Forced Labor!

"Do you wish to have the body cremated or buried?" the undertaker inquired, when the widow called to arrange for the interment of her late husband, Henry.

"If it's up to me, I want you to cremate the lazy rascal and put his ashes into an hour glass," the long-suffering woman replied.

"But, my good woman!" objected the undertaker, "I couldn't do that. Why that's unthinkable!"

"Unthinkable, my eye!" rejoined the widow. "That good-for-nothing loafer never worked a lick in his life, but now that he has no say in the matter, I'm going to make him to be useful at last!"

Pike's Peak Best Known

Pike's Peak, towering over Colorado Springs, is the best-known though not the highest of the Rocky mountain peaks in Colorado. A summit of the Rampart range, it lifts its snow-capped peak 14,108 feet above the sea and is covered with pine forests to a height of 11,000 feet. During the summer season the ascent of the peak can either be accomplished by car from Colorado Springs and Manitou over a well graded and extremely scenic thirty-mile highway, or by cog railway nine miles in length.

High Death Rate on Farms

Farm workers had an accidental death rate twice as high as workers in non-agricultural industries in 1947. The 1947 death rate was 52 per 100,000 workers, while in non-agricultural industries the death rate was 26. Total farm resident deaths were 19,500, about the same as last year. Injuries totaled about 1,800,000. Farm home deaths totaled 7,000, with approximately 1,050,000 non-fatal injuries. Motor vehicles killed 7,300 farm residents in 1947 and injured 250,000 more.

COUNTY 4-H DEMONSTRATION CONTEST WINNERS TO STATE

At the county 4-H demonstration contest, held in West Bend on July 19, Bernice Blank and Robert Friedman, both of Kohlsville, were selected as Washington county entrants in the state contest. This contest will be held as a part of the junior program at the state centennial.

Others who gave demonstrations were: Beverly Meyer and Betty Meyer, Slinger; Marjorie Klein and Joyce Bauer, Kohlsville; Lucille Janz and Irma Kurta, Slinger.

Miss Charlotte Trowatha, home agent of Dodge county, judged this contest.

A demonstration contest will also be held at the Washington county fair. Any 4-H or FFA member may take part.

MOVEMENT OF HAY TO NORTHERN COUNTIES SMALL

Northern Wisconsin areas have experienced a severe drought so far this summer. In many of these counties hay and other farm crops are very short and poor. These counties, it is believed, will need much livestock feed shipped in from areas of greater abundance.

As far as is known no real effort has been made by the drought stricken counties to purchase hay from surplus areas. What has been purchased has been done on a private basis. Farmers having hay to sell may list it at the agricultural agents' office. This information will be forwarded to northern counties. It is no assurance, however, for the sale of any hay or livestock feed.

Now more than ever before—
FIRST IN VALUE FIRST IN DEMAND
Only Chevrolet brings you all these major advantages of BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST PRICES... prices now decidedly lower than those of any other car that even remotely approaches it in quality!
The plain truth is that this pace-setting Chevrolet offers major quality advantage after major quality advantage not available in other cars in its field; and, in addition, Chevrolet prices are now obviously and outstandingly lower than those of any other car that even remotely approaches it in quality.
Thus, Chevrolet and only Chevrolet offers the Big-Car comfort of the original and outstanding United Kneec-Action Ride... the Big-Car performance and dependability of a world's champion Valve-in-Head engine... the Big-Car beauty and luxury of Body by Fisher... the Big-Car safety of Fisher Unisteel construction, the United Kneec-Action Ride and Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes... all at lowest prices—prices that are now even more economical, even more thrifty, when compared with the prices of other automobiles in its field.
Yes, indeed, Chevrolet is first in dollar value by the widest margin in all Chevrolet history; and, of course, it is first in nationwide demand as well.

County Farmers Urged to Follow ACP Specifications

Farmers of Washington county who are co-operating in the agricultural conservation program are urged to follow through on their indicated intentions to carry out conservation practices—and actually complete the practices. A. John Cleary, chairman of the county ACP committee, says that every year some farmers fail to complete practices or fail to meet specifications in the practices they do carry out.

Mr. Cleary explains that the county committee has the responsibility of seeing that funds used to assist farmers in carrying out conservation practices are used to obtain the maximum of soil and water conservation. Some farmers fail to qualify for assistance because they didn't understand what was required. The committee doesn't want any farmer to carry out practices and then find that assistance cannot be given because the practices fail to meet specifications.

Farmers also are reminded of their responsibility in furnishing acceptable evidence of conservation practices carried out. Measurements, price slips, analysis tags, or whatever is required should be obtained at the time the material is purchased or the practice carried out. A little attention to these matters now, said the county chairman, will save time and money later on, and only in this way can the nation be assured of maximum conservation.

HARTFORD COUNTRY CLUB TO HOLD GALA JAMBOREE

Plans are just about completed for the second annual golf jamboree to be held by the Hartford Country Club Saturday and Sunday, July 31-Aug. 1. Boasting a staggering list of valuable merchandise prizes for both good and bad golf, members of the various committees are ready to take care of one of the largest turnouts of golfers that the Hartford course has ever seen.

Hartford has long been noted for its fine greens, ranked by many as equal to any in the state, and many of the state's best golfers visit the course for a green trout. Tickets for jamboree are on sale at most of the golf clubs within 25 miles of Hartford. Four tickets are good for an 18-hole green fee and each ticket offers a chance at many, many prizes. Local golfers are urged to plan to take in the Hartford meet this year.

Poa yields will be somewhat lower in Wisconsin this year, but the quality will be high.

Wisconsin now has 2,352 dairy plants that handle a dozen classes of milk products.

Arabs and Jews Go Back to War As U.N. Truce Fails in Palestine; Truman OKs Farm Price Support

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.

FAILURE: U.N. Truce

There was not peace, but once more a sword in Palestine. The United Nations truce had failed. As the four-week interruption of hostilities between Arabs and Jews dragged sullenly through its final hours, combatants on both sides were making preparations to resume warfare.

Stage Manager

Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr. of Pennsylvania has been chosen by Republican leaders as the national chairman to lead the party in the forthcoming presidential campaign.

BERLIN: Trouble

As U. S. planes continued to fly tons of food into beleaguered Berlin the East-West stalemate over Germany was solidifying in a stubborn mold.

The Russian blockade of Berlin had brought the painful German issue to a head, and both the Soviets and the western powers were anticipating that events might begin to move very rapidly soon.

There were these developments: The Communists announced that they were drawing up a constitution for a German republic and also a two-year plan to link Berlin economically with the Soviet zone.

At the same time, on the free side of the iron curtain, German political leaders were expressing their opposition to the western powers' plan for a West German federal government.

In Berlin, power cuts were ordered in the three western sectors of the city to save the dwindling coal stocks. The action was taken despite the fact that coal shipments had begun to arrive by air.

Key to the situation, perhaps, was the Communist proposal for a new constitution. The Soviet-sponsored German People's Congress of eastern Germany announced that the document would be official.

In a statement the group said that "Germany is an indivisible republic made up of states and that executive power stems from the people."

That appeared to bring Soviet intentions more or less out in the open. It means that Russia apparently is determined either to force the western democracies out of Berlin or bludgeon them into an agreement whereby the Soviets would be in virtual control of the city.

REPUBLICAN: Changes, If

Although the presidency of the United States still is far from a reality for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican nominee nevertheless is giving considerable thought to some of the problems that will face him if he does get elected to the office.

If, for instance, he is to make good his promise to sweep out "16 years of Democratic cobwebs" from the federal government, there are some of the tasks he will be expected to perform.

Replace hundreds of officials in Washington and all over the nation with men of his choice who will put his policies into effect.

Establish with congress a coordinated program of policies for all federal departments, both foreign and domestic.

Streamline government functions and eliminate duplications in the present structure of alphabetical agencies and bureaus.

It will be a gigantic task. Policies that a Republican president would have to establish would range through the current conduct of foreign affairs; domestic spending of taxpayers' money; federal relations with private business, labor and industry; housing, veterans, agriculture and social improvements.

Then there will be the matter of choosing a cabinet that will be geographically representative of the entire nation.

PRICES: Up Again

Consumer's price index, formerly called the cost of living index, for mid-May this year rose .6 per cent above that for mid-April to reach a new all-time high, according to figures released by National Industrial Conference board.

Expressed in 1923 dollars, the purchasing power of the dollar stood at 61.3 cents in May. That represents a drop of .6 per cent from April and 7.4 per cent from June, 1947.

From mid-April to mid-May food, up 1.3 per cent, showed the greatest increase. During the same period fuels were up .8 per cent. Housing was unchanged. Clothing was down .1 per cent, while house furnishings and sundries each took a drop of 2 per cent.

Food rose 11.2 per cent from June, 1947, to May, 1948. The same period saw fuels soar 9.3 per cent, house furnishings 5.8 per cent, sundries and housing 5.2 per cent and clothing 4.6 per cent. Between April and May, 1948, prices rose uniformly across the nation.

RAILROADS: No Strike

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough was not a man to stand idly by and watch society disintegrate, as he termed it, so he issued an injunction forbidding a national rail strike.

The injunction was a permanent one replacing the temporary "no strike" order he issued last May after the government had seized the railroads in the face of an impending strike by the three operating brotherhoods.

Justifying his action, Goldsborough said that if he had not issued the order "the whole economic and political system of the nation would be upset."

Although rail unions had protested that a permanent injunction was unnecessary, Goldsborough said they could not be permitted "to adopt a process which will disintegrate society itself." That held true, he pointed out, regardless of whatever merits the union's case might hold.

"Our political influence throughout the world would be done away with, we'd become a laughing stock. To permit a strike of this kind is something society should not be forced to tolerate."

But as the stalemate dragged on the disputants apparently lost some of their zest for the contest.

Finally a series of conferences, arranged by John R. Steelman, presidential assistant, resulted in a more or less amicable settlement: The unions agreed to accept a wage increase of 15 1/2 cents an hour, plus some changes in operating rules.

Chortled President Truman as he called the labor and management representatives into his office: "You did this on your own hook and I feel very good about it. I congratulate all of you on it."

CYCLES: Freezing

People who are addicted to the theory that human existence is defined by cycles have made a horrendous prediction: This will be a world of dictators for the next 250 years.

That prognostication was made in a "law of growth of nations," published by the Foundation for the Study of Cycles. This law indicates further that after the period of dictators will come a static or "frozen" civilization.

This "frozen" civilization probably will be a happy one, but it is, nevertheless, doomed to deteriorate. The end is foreseen when younger peoples, eager for the loot of the world, rise to give the coup de grace to the emasculated western powers.

Who these younger peoples are is not revealed. They may be a fresh group of barbarians or near-barbarians who will come sweeping down from the north or up from the south.

Personally, if I were advising a teen-ager I never would recommend close order drill or tossing together a batch of firing data which would produce almost as many shorts as averts, as the one most terrifically scrumptious method of whiling away a couple of years.

On the other hand, I have had more adulterated pleasure in doing quite a number of things in which were not included learning the multiplication table, cutting the lawn, making a trial balance, working a paper route, translating the chapter which begins "Cesar trans Rhenum pons fecit," or even carrying the Thanksgiving turkey the first time "her" relatives came for dinner.

As I say, I can imagine several things many people would rather do than these mentioned, including military service, but having done them, most people are better for it. I admit that for one of a delicate nervous disposition, unable to adjust his personality to groups, carrying a turkey for the first time before in-laws might be the worst thing imaginable. It might be the one particular thing that the particular individual couldn't stand.

Extreme psychosis might result—even a psychotic condition that would lead to homicide or some other emotional outburst that a stranger might have represented or subtlimated into kicking the dog or dropping molasses on his wife's girle.

I grant all this freely. There are men so unable to meet the simple challenge of the crowd, for instance, even those who mildly afflicted with agoraphobia, that they never could stand a simple formation like pay-call. I have known the type in civilian life so sensitive to the presence of others that although he had been drinking peacefully for hours and accepting the hospitality of say two or three acquaintances, when an additional member appeared (just when it was our subject's turn to buy a round) he would jump through a plate glass window, four stories to the street below.

Someway, he lacked the group instinct. I admit that type probably wouldn't get on in the army—long. However, I claim these are exceptions.

The majority of the problems which the youth of our land is going to have to face soon are not too tough. And they are good exercise—like parading in full kit.

Meanwhile 694,000 men, without giving more than a thought to the hardships ahead of them (197,000 of these, according to the experts, are re-enlistments and therefore should know what they are getting into) will already have joined up, thus reducing the number of those who bashfully await their Uncle's nod this year.

Thus out of the 924,000 new men needed, less than 250,000 will be drafted. And many of those who are called will not be chosen because of the number of exemptions granted.

Veterans with combat records, with 90 days service between Pearl Harbor and V-J day, or with 18 months' service since September, 1940, will be exempt, as will anyone who has earned a combat infantryman's or a Purple Heart, Air Medal, or any combat medal.

Exemptions will be granted to any veteran joining an organized reserve unit, or if the nearest one which he otherwise might join is an

IN NEW ORLEANS . . . Mrs. Morrice Champagne gave birth to a son in Baptist hospital, 24 hours later Mrs. Joseph Liquor had a daughter, 18 minutes after that Mrs. S. R. Stagers was delivered of a daughter.

IN BUTTE . . . Deputy Sheriff Robert Russel was treated for burns on his right forehead suffered when he was demonstrating the safe way to handle firecrackers to a group of youngsters.

IN KANSAS CITY . . . Clyde E. Paine, a roundhouse worker, unable to sleep since he was transferred from the day to night shift, invented an electric fan that makes a clack-noise like the wheels of a freight train, lulling him into peaceful slumber.

IN MILWAUKEE . . . James Beard put a handful of nickels into a pay telephone, got a wrong number every time, was arrested when he was found walking down the street in a mist of rage with the telephone receiver dangling by the cord wrapped around his neck.

IN FINLAND . . . Communists in Finland are thoroughly disgruntled over results of the recent parliamentary election there. The Communist-led Popular Democrats lost 12 of their 49 seats in the legislature.

One of the reasons for the losses, they pointed, was an anti-Soviet whispering campaign stirred up by reactionaries and facilitated by Finland's anti-Russian educational system.

Washington Digest Some Things Are Worse Than Being in the Army

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Less than a month from now the draft will hit young Americans, but it will be a nudge, not a wallop. One of its chief immediate purposes is to deflect the flood of enlistments of young men from the national guard and the reserves to the regular services.

It is expected that so many eligibles will enlist rather than wait until they are invited that only between 200,000 and 250,000 will actually be requested to report or —

It isn't at all strange that there is a certain amount of reluctance on the part of so many young Americans to leap to arms the moment they ascertain that their country has decided they are needed. There are no bugles blowing. No foreign tyrant has soiled the nation's honor. There is no visible sign of a "military necessity" to disturb the even tenor of their activities—sandlot, movie, poolroom, work, study or play.

On the contrary, there has been an almost steady anti-military propaganda from all sorts of sources, all the way from the paid agents of the Kremlin to the innocent idealists or the doting mothers who think that if fighting must be indulged in, it certainly should be done by some other mother's boy. The polls show these propagandists are in the minority, but they are a loud minority.

Personally, if I were advising a teen-ager I never would recommend close order drill or tossing together a batch of firing data which would produce almost as many shorts as averts, as the one most terrifically scrumptious method of whiling away a couple of years.

Someway, he lacked the group instinct. I admit that type probably wouldn't get on in the army—long. However, I claim these are exceptions.

The majority of the problems which the youth of our land is going to have to face soon are not too tough. And they are good exercise—like parading in full kit.

Meanwhile 694,000 men, without giving more than a thought to the hardships ahead of them (197,000 of these, according to the experts, are re-enlistments and therefore should know what they are getting into) will already have joined up, thus reducing the number of those who bashfully await their Uncle's nod this year.

Thus out of the 924,000 new men needed, less than 250,000 will be drafted. And many of those who are called will not be chosen because of the number of exemptions granted.

Veterans with combat records, with 90 days service between Pearl Harbor and V-J day, or with 18 months' service since September, 1940, will be exempt, as will anyone who has earned a combat infantryman's or a Purple Heart, Air Medal, or any combat medal.

Exemptions will be granted to any veteran joining an organized reserve unit, or if the nearest one which he otherwise might join is an unreasonable distance from where he lives.

There are three kinds of deferments for those planning on going to college (1) for all full-time students, until academic year ends; (2) advanced students in certain specialties; (3) four years' deferment for college students enrolling in a full four-year ROTC course or other military courses under special conditions.

There are exemptions under certain conditions for married men, high school students, scientists, engineers and reservists.

So not many young men who don't want to be going to work in the armed forces of their country. At least at present there seem to be enough ready to step forward before they are actually called.

As I remarked, it is easy to understand why the average youth would rather not accept the restrictions and discipline of army life. A part of the lack of enthusiasm for soldiering is due to the long tradition in the United States that soldiering is a wartime business for all those who don't make it their fulltime business. And I use the word business because it describes a career honored in this country far above that of the professional man—the artist or the writer—and the homage rendered is even greater in comparison if a member of the military profession is involved, excepting, of course, war heroes.

This is something hard to change. But the thing we can and should combat is the propaganda referred to earlier—propaganda which is put forward in many cases for far different reasons than even the proponents realize.

Far too often objection to military service is made on the basis that it is itself a bad thing or a wasteful thing, when the real reason behind the argument is a selfish unwillingness to take the risk or sacrifice the time and effort which the service involves.

Frequently this false reasoning stems entirely from the influence of a parent whose purely selfish possessiveness has perverted the mind of a youngster who otherwise would accept his responsibility and take his training in his stride with no more than the ordinary, harmless grousing which is as much a part of military service as the alibis at the 19th hole.

It wasn't like This In the Old Army The army psychologists have been working doubletime ever since they discovered that it took more than guns and gunpowder to win wars, and that the winning was easier on something besides hardtack and whiskey.

In World War II, besides the best food an army ever ate, better medical attendance than the average civilian can get, and a lot more superlatives, the armed forces went in for yards and yards of colored ribbon. It did no harm, even if the British did say the Yanks got a new service stripe every time they saw a battle in a newsreel. And it helped morale.

And now something new has been added. A whole new system of chevrons in two colors have been devised for combat and non-combat non-commissioned officers. Combat leaders—squad sergeants and platoon sergeants, for example—get an inch-wide tab of green in the middle of each shoulder loop.

Despite all this, I can't help thinking of the verse that came out of a war where the prevailing color was olive drab—with the drab predominating, goes the rhyme. Oh, the parade, the colonel and the adjutant a-sportin' all the braid, the major and the skipper—none of 'em look so fine as a newly minted corporal a-comin' down the line!

The Couldn't Say Anything Before the Democratic political convention, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower couldn't sit down to write a letter without reading in his newspaper the next day that that letter had been translated into an acceptance on his part to run against Truman for the presidential nomination.

Had Eisenhower written a letter saying that he often leaned back to dream about the North African campaign or to think about the decisions at Casablanca, someone would have been sure to come forth to say: "See that? He talks about a campaign—obviously hinting at the presidential race—and 'decisions at Casablanca'—get that? Casablanca is Spanish for White House!

Washington Digest Some Things Are Worse Than Being in the Army

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Less than a month from now the draft will hit young Americans, but it will be a nudge, not a wallop. One of its chief immediate purposes is to deflect the flood of enlistments of young men from the national guard and the reserves to the regular services.

It is expected that so many eligibles will enlist rather than wait until they are invited that only between 200,000 and 250,000 will actually be requested to report or —

It isn't at all strange that there is a certain amount of reluctance on the part of so many young Americans to leap to arms the moment they ascertain that their country has decided they are needed. There are no bugles blowing. No foreign tyrant has soiled the nation's honor. There is no visible sign of a "military necessity" to disturb the even tenor of their activities—sandlot, movie, poolroom, work, study or play.

On the contrary, there has been an almost steady anti-military propaganda from all sorts of sources, all the way from the paid agents of the Kremlin to the innocent idealists or the doting mothers who think that if fighting must be indulged in, it certainly should be done by some other mother's boy. The polls show these propagandists are in the minority, but they are a loud minority.

Personally, if I were advising a teen-ager I never would recommend close order drill or tossing together a batch of firing data which would produce almost as many shorts as averts, as the one most terrifically scrumptious method of whiling away a couple of years.

On the other hand, I have had more adulterated pleasure in doing quite a number of things in which were not included learning the multiplication table, cutting the lawn, making a trial balance, working a paper route, translating the chapter which begins "Cesar trans Rhenum pons fecit," or even carrying the Thanksgiving turkey the first time "her" relatives came for dinner.

As I say, I can imagine several things many people would rather do than these mentioned, including military service, but having done them, most people are better for it. I admit that for one of a delicate nervous disposition, unable to adjust his personality to groups, carrying a turkey for the first time before in-laws might be the worst thing imaginable. It might be the one particular thing that the particular individual couldn't stand.

Extreme psychosis might result—even a psychotic condition that would lead to homicide or some other emotional outburst that a stranger might have represented or subtlimated into kicking the dog or dropping molasses on his wife's girle.

I grant all this freely. There are men so unable to meet the simple challenge of the crowd, for instance, even those who mildly afflicted with agoraphobia, that they never could stand a simple formation like pay-call. I have known the type in civilian life so sensitive to the presence of others that although he had been drinking peacefully for hours and accepting the hospitality of say two or three acquaintances, when an additional member appeared (just when it was our subject's turn to buy a round) he would jump through a plate glass window, four stories to the street below.

Someway, he lacked the group instinct. I admit that type probably wouldn't get on in the army—long. However, I claim these are exceptions.

As PEGLER Sees It

By Westbrook Pegler Released by WNU Features.

AFTER 16 years of drought and famine and itch, 16 years of hiding in caves and living on roots and berries, the Republicans at last swaggered forth openly at Philadelphia looking for Democrats and especially for New Dealers to push off the sidewalks. They nominated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, for a second whirl at the presidency and, by contrast with the morose temper of the prophets and the faithful in four other Republican campaigns, not a soul in the house could doubt that this was their year to howl.

If the Democrats in Washington had any sense left in their ghastly confusion, they must have been piling in heaps all the damning tax returns, the expense accounts and vouchers, the confidential chits of the treasury, justice, defense and state departments and putting in applications for turns at the incinerators, macerators and fathomless dumps at sea.

Governor Dewey has said nothing about vengeance, but he is a Biblical man with a stinging memory of the ridicule and sneers shot at him through the blow-guns of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Ickes, Morgenthau, Eleanor the Great and many another during the long ordeal. ANYWAY, HE IS A STICKLER FOR FIDELITY IN OFFICE AND A FAMOUS PROSECUTOR.

All this while, and growing more reckless by the day as it got away with more and more outrageous floutings of civic decency and even of the criminal statutes, the Roosevelt administration conducted itself as though its only successors would be its own friends bent on similar felonies or worse.

Winston Churchill and the London publisher, Lord Beaverbrook, were among the foreign crew, who under Roosevelt's avarice and cynical assurance, ignored the leading politician of the American opposition, treating him as though he never could be more than a heckler.

The income tax returns of the Roosevelt family will be secrets no longer unless the treasury should destroy them or has done so in the past.

John Edgar Hoover, faithful though he has been in his legal duties, will be invited to seek high honors elsewhere and the files of the F. B. I. will pass into new hands. He was a New Deal cop and his friends and haunts were political. Before it is all over, Harold Ickes may be asked to pay for his vacation travel aboard the coast guard's vessels and adjusted compensation in the government for his rental of the interior department's luxurious private love-bower for the old curmudgeon.

The most spectacular flight of repudiated parasites in the sordid and often larcenous story of predatory politics in the American republic is about to start.

Now the cry of the bleeding heart is "TO THE HILLS, MEN, THE DAM HAS BUST!"

It would be arbitrary to say that the Americans are at their untidiest in the moods of grim civic exaltation at these quadrennial bouts. But no other feast, from the speedway race to the Kentucky derby, puts them in a mood to walk, sit and wallow in the butts of dead cheroots and hot dog rolls, get stuck to slatted chairs and to shuffle about looking like station-house bums with blue-mold, with so little complaint.

One of the most poignant events, spiritual as well as political, since the Mounthawk seduced the rabble with his defiance of fear itself, on March 4, 1933, was the speech of Herbert Hoover.

This was not a harangue but a sermon, beautiful and sadly reproachful, not because the people had repudiated him but because they had been bribed and beguiled to loose their grip on liberty. It probably was Herbert Hoover's farewell address.

The other hour of dignity and grace, saving the convention from a dead level of loud vulgarity, was the program of James Melton, the singer, on opening night.

Most of the delegates on such a mission pass unrecognized into the oblivion whence they came. It falls to a few, however, to answer for their names for the networks when delegations are polled. When this happens all but the dullest of them seize the chance to send their names reverberating down the ages and through the vastness of space by crying out quaint, witty or magnificent sprigs of cress to garnish the plain statements of their votes.

A lady from North Dakota, asked how the delegation voted, tore the flesh from the bones of thousands present with an awful bellow that hers was the honor and the privilege to cast 11 votes for Stassen.

In the Ohio delegation, similarly, one delegate polished an apple for his hero by singing out that he was "winning with Taft." On such parley are little careers in politics nourished into postmasterships.

The resumption of the ordeal found the multitude still soggy and visibly let down. This was the slump that Dewey's people had feared and fought against, knowing, from old experience in the district attorney's office, how hard it is to steam up a jury's hatred of a miscreant after a two-dollar blue-plate at the county's expense.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The best way to pick up tiny bits of glass is to swab them up with a large piece of absorbent cotton. When done, throw the whole thing away.

Glassware will have added sparkle if washed in water containing some laundry bluing.

Punch a few holes in the metal screw top of an empty French dressing bottle to make a handy clothes sprinkler.

When dog or cat hairs get on the upholstery, rub the surface lightly with a damp piece of sand paper or damp rubber sponger.

If you're growing ivy in water, a chunk of charcoal in the water will help it along.

Pipe cleaners are handy things for cleaning the inside of glass drinking straws.

Use a curved grapefruit knife to scoop the insides out of a tomato or pepper.

If properly applied, wax does not make floors slippery or unsafe. Wax should be applied in thin, even coats; the polishing kind should be buffed well to a dry, hard finish; self-polishing wax should be allowed to dry thoroughly before the floor is used—too much wax and too little buffing have given waxed floors an undeserved reputation for causing falls.

To add flavor to tea keep a dried piece of orange rind in the canister.

ONE MORE JUMP

"I've told you it makes no difference to me, Ralph, and I meant it. It really doesn't."

He laughed harshly and reached down to feel, through brown trouser fabric, the device which substituted for the flesh and bone he had left on a field in Normandy when gunfire from the ground met parachutes drifting silently in the darkness.

"Normal?" His voice was flat and bitter.

"Please, Ralph." Her voice rose a little.

"Sorry, but I'd never be that, even with two real legs." He laughed shortly.

"Let's talk about you peeping at me on my roof here this summer. Let's talk about you waiting downstairs to introduce yourself as the peeper."

"You probably missed it," Harriet laughed a little shrilly.

"No chance of that." There was amused tolerance in his grin.

ape's probably back in his zoo cage and glad to get away from humans. And I didn't peep at you on your roof. I looked. It can't be a crime to look at softness and beauty and sweetness, with so much hardness and ugliness and bitterness in the world.

Ralph Pell watched her cross the flat roof of the other building to the small shedlike structure that housed the stairway. It was about forty feet away. Then he jammed his hands down into his trouser pockets, swore softly and kicked at gravel on his own flat roof with his good foot, balancing himself on the artificial limb.

Harriet was swell people. That made it tough, but positive. She deserved a whole man. Years, or maybe only months or weeks from now, she'd look back and be glad that things turned out as they had.

Harriet's small figure appeared in the doorway of the stairway shed on the other roof.

"The impact of the two words drove him forward until his knees struck the edge of the low brick parapet bordering the eight-story drop into the alley between the two buildings."

He heard Harriet scream again. Shouting for help would be useless. By the time someone heard and understood and reached the other roof...

mother was dying of tuberculosis. During the war the "sickly baby" wrote regularly from overseas. He was a pilot in the air force.

For a moment, he was drifting down through the black Normandy night, a huge silk dome above him, bracing himself for the blast from the ground, the numbing shock of bullets striking.

His artificial foot struck the other parapet and slipped off. He fell. There was a quick, breath-taking drop toward the pavement eight floors down, then his outflung arm struck brick, brown fingers curled over a sharp edge, gripping. Strain came on the arm as he stopped the fall, and his weight all but tore his fingers loose.

Plan Centennial Feature for County Fair Program

The Washington County Centennial committee met at the court house in West Bend and made the following plans for centennial celebrations in Washington county:

First of all, E. E. Skalsky, county agricultural agent and his co-workers, Mrs. Daluge and Mr. Wanless explained plans for a pageant to be presented at the 4-H fair to be held at Slinger. This pageant will center around various nationality groups who had pioneered in Washington county. 4-H clubs will represent each group and will contribute songs, skits, dances, etc., typical of their group. The centennial committee has contributed $500.00 to cover the cost of costumes and other incidental expenses.

Secondly, the centennial committee went on record for a county wide celebration that would honor farmers who possess farms that have been owned by one family for 100 years. Every farmer who is entitled to this award made application with County Clerk Staral so that certificates could be obtained. To each owner will be given a certificate signed by the governor of Wisconsin, Mr. Bennett.

These awards will be presented on Sunday, Aug. 1, at Slinger as part of the 4-H fair program.

VETERANS REMINDED OF DEADLINE DATES

JULY 31, 1948—Deadline date for reinstating National Service Life Insurance without physical examination.

AUGUST 31, 1948—This date is set as the last day to apply for terminal leave pay.

FEB. 2, 1950—Application for muster-out pay. Veterans who were discharged or released prior to Feb. 15, 1944, and who failed to make application before the former deadline date (2/3/46) now have until 2/3/50 to submit application.

National Service Life insurance policy holders are now guaranteed a dividend on their policies. However, it will be some time before the Veterans Administration can start making payments on the approximately 16 million policies. Amount of dividend is unknown at this time, and highly unpredictable.

Holdings of term policies which would terminate during 1948, have been extended for another five year period on a level premium term basis, at the premium rate prescribed for the age at which extension is made.

For the convenience of those veterans who wish to reinstate their insurance and are unable to call at our office during regular hours, the West Bend office will be open on July 19 from 8:30 to 8:00 p. m., and on July 26 in the evening by appointment.

The Hartford office will be open on July 29 by appointment. It is requested that those veterans who wish to reinstate their National Service Life insurance do so as soon as possible, as delay in doing so may result in losing this privilege.

Application form for the purpose of requisitioning gold star lapel buttons for the next of kin of army and navy dead are now on hand. The next of kin of boys who lost their lives in service are asked to call at our office so that we may be able to assist them in securing this button.

MORE GIRLS ARE CHOOSING NURSING AS THEIR CAREER

Bright, smart girls are choosing nursing as their career. In 1946, 30,000 fortunate girls entered nursing school. In 1947, 40,000—a third more—entered nursing school. This year the figure may well reach 50,000.

That's because nursing offers girls so much. A student nurse receives one of the most expensive professional educations at far less than the cost of four years at college. She serves side by side with intelligent, warm-hearted people—the finest people in your town. And when graduated she is prepared for a rewarding career.

40,000 students entered nursing last year. And more graduate nurses are serving than ever before. And yet there are countless opportunities today for the well-prepared graduate nurse. More Americans are receiving hospital care. Clinics and other health agencies are being opened all over the country.

These widening fields are open to the graduate nurse: airlines, American Red Cross, anesthesia, army and navy, child health, doctor's office, hospital administration, hospital staff services, Indian service, industrial nursing, missionary service, nursing administration, obstetrical nursing, orthopaedic nursing, pediatric nursing, physical therapy, private duty, psychiatric nursing, public health, research, school nursing, supervision, surgical nursing, teaching, U. S. public health service, veteran's administration, X-ray.

Any high school graduate or a college girl in good health can write today about a nursing education to Mount Sinai hospital, School of Nursing, 308 N. 12th Street, Milwaukee 3, Wis.
