Utensils Knock Off First Place Lannon

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division) Won Lost Lannon 13 5 Mequon 13 5 West Bend 13 6 Kewaskum 10 9 Menomonee Falls 9 16 Germantown 8 11 Granville 6 12 Grafton 2 17

The Kewaskum Utensils rose to the heights again Sunday here and in the best played game of the season they posted off first place Lannon by a 3 to 2 score. This was Kewaskum's second victory of the campaign over the league leaders in three games and on the fifth defeat of Lannon. The setback dropped Lannon into a tie for the lead with Mequon.

The six hit pitching of Marx, sparkling fielding plays, and timely hitting by Kral and Prost were the highlights and major factors in the Utensils' accomplishment. Along with his feat of holding the heavy clubbing Lannon nine to six bingles, Marx whiffed seven batters as his mates gave him excellent support. Kewaskum garnered nine safeties off an offerings of Wagner and M. Heimer. There were no extra base hits in the contest, proof of a fine pitchers' battle.

The visitors were first to score with a button in the fourth. The Utensils knotted the count in the fifth on Held's single, Marx's sacrifice and Kral's one bagger. Lannon pushed ahead again in the seventh on Wagner's hit, an infield out and Mitchell's single. In their half of the same frame Kewaskum went ahead to stay with two markers resulting from Held's walk, an infield out, and successive hits by Kral and Prost.

Literally hundreds of prizes and ribbons were awarded at the Washington county 4-H club fair held recently at Slinger, a list of which was released by County Agent E. E. Skalnsky, secretary of the fair, last week.

Other features of this year's fair were the presentation of century farm certificate awards to county farmers whose property has been in the same family for 100 years or more and the staging of a centennial pageant in commemoration of the state's centennial observance. WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS
Bumper Crops Due This Year,
May Crack High Cost Living;
Spy Probe Confusion Mounts

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

SIDETRACKS . . . Two potential witnesses who were expected to add some information to the Washington Red spy hunt were Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina (left) and Alexander Koral. Neither did, however. Mrs. Kosenkina who taught children of Russian U. N.
officials in New York, made headlines by leaping from a third-story window in the Soviet consulate where she allegedly was being held against her will. Koral, billed as a "mystery witness" and accused of being a paid courier for the wartime Communist espionage ring, refused to tell anything he might know on the grounds that he would be incriminating himself.

CROP REPORT:
Momentous
There was momentous news from the nation's farms: In the cards for 1948 was a record-setting corn crop, the second largest wheat crop and substantial increases over last year in oats, barley and rye.

Government estimates, as of August 1, of this year's grain production read like a statistical fantasy of the promised land.
Bureau of agriculture economics reported that a corn crop of 3,506-363,000 bushels is indicated this year, far above 1947's small, weather-plagued crop of 2.4 billion bushels.

An approximate 1,284,323,000
bushels of wheat will be forthcoming this year. Other crop estimates were: Oats, 1,470,444,000 bushels;
barley, 313,139,000 bushels, and rye, 26,664,000 bushels.

Grain exports will be pushed, of course, but the export market is almost certain to fall off in a year or so because other nations also are intensifying their farm production with considerable success.

Deflation?
Brighter side of the crop situation is the fact that it promises the consumer almost certain relief from inflated food prices sooner or later, since grain supplies and prices are basic in determining cost of living at the household level.

ACCIDENTS:
100,000 Deaths
Possibly the most shocking set of statistics compiled year in and year out in the U. S. is that dealing with the nation's accidental death rate.
In 1947, National Safety Council has disclosed, about 100,000 persons died accidentally. The full accident toll was approximately 2,000 deaths higher than in 1946.

Everybody works. Everybody makes money. That is the theme song of the American people who are, nevertheless, twisting and turning in the clutches of an in-high rate of 211.9 billion dollars in

YOUTH MONTH:
Awareness

If the day should ever dawn when every family in the nation becomes fully aware that all juvenile delinquency has its beginning in the home, then U. S. society will have reached its Elysian fields.

Once families become endowed with this awareness they will tend to bring pressure to bear to eliminate the secondary factors that contribute to delinquency in young people: School failure, church failure, bad housing and the inevitable shift
in ethical values from one generation to the next which are sometimes confusing and frightening to immature minds.

To that end, and because a healthy store of young minds and bodies is the best overall insurance
any nation can have, September
has been proclaimed Youth Month.
The Theater Owners of America, who feel they have a big stake in the welfare of U. S. youth, have undertaken to organize the principal media information—newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures—to publicize the month.

Aside from the publicity to be accorded the problem of juvenile delinquency, which is the immediate purpose of Youth Month, the observance is more deeply significant in that it provides some evidence that Americans are becoming actively conscious that at least a partial remedy must be found.

Springboard for Youth Month and any other concerted group action that might obtain is a probing and thoughtful report on juvenile delinquency by the National Conference on Prevention and Control of Juvenile Delinquency, Washington,

NEW LOW:
Bitterness
While American, British and French ambassadors in Moscow were grimly making peace talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov
in the Kremlin, general relations between the East and West were sliding to new depths of mutual reconciliation.

This state of affairs was not essentially by unsubstantiated reports that the Moscow talks had degenerated into a deadlock and that no progress was being made.

For the most part, however, the animosity was being spread through raucous propaganda by British newspapers, with the publications sponsored by the Russians and the western powers waging a pitched battle of words.

Washington Digest
Ghost of Latvia Recalls
Memories of Better Days

By BAUKHAGE
News Analyst and Commentator

WASHINGTON—At the end of one of those few pleasant summer days which Washington gives us, I was walking homeward from a mission in a part of town which I hadn't visited recently.
I found myself in a neighborhood which seemed to produce a slightly nostalgic feeling.

The street took a quick up-turn and, for a short block, was quite steep.
Most of the houses were new but there was one with a colored glass window such as graced many a home that I visited as a child. Such windows were usually on the staircase landing, at the turn, and when the sun shone through them it tossed a handful of jewels on the carpet. I always wanted to pick them up. That, I thought as I walked along, is nostalgic—childhood memories.

But I was wrong. Soon I realized that the memory which the stained glass window
evoked was much more recent. But it did stir ghosts,
the ghost of a man
and the ghost of a nation, for there is no reason why
dead nations, which really never quite died, must not live
on in some form.
And Washington is not without such disembodied sovereigns. I had met the man whose memory the multi-

colored window had stirred for the first time when he was descending a staircase with just such a window behind him. He was Alfred Bilmanis and he died in July of this year. He was the minister of the republic of Latvia which had "died" eight years ago but according to the state department was and is of such corporate quality that, along with its sister republics of Lithuania and Estonia, it still possesses diplomatic representatives who are recognized on equal terms with those of living nations.

It was in August of 1940 that the Red army marched into the Baltic states and they became by force majeure, territorially
a part of the U. S. S. R.
But the three little democracies were prepared politically, if not diplomatically. A month or so earlier, by due process of parla-mentary law, a decree was promulgated which made the Latvian minister to London chief of the Latvian state if the Russians took over her territory. Today Charles Zarena, minister to Britain, remains the head of the diplomatic corps of the republic of Latvia.

Bilmanis continued to serve his ghost-government in the United States after the Russian seizure.
Up to then he had helped to keep the bonds firm between us and his little country whose people reached the shores of the Baltic back in the early days of European history,
along with the only other remaining groups which are at least linguistically, if not ethnically, related to the Latts: the Finns and the Magyars.

The last president of the free republic of Latvia, Carl Ulmanis was American trained. He lived in Nebraska where he waited in exile and worked for his country's independence. He studied agriculture and when he returned to Latvia in that hopeful heyday of Europe's new republics after World War I, he carried back ideas. One of them was the 4-H clubs.

Latvia was 60 per cent agricultural and among its population of only two million, the 4-H movement grew, adapted of course to its new environment, to 40,000 when I heard of it last before the iron curtain descended.

There were interchanges of visits between the countries and, whenever the big 4-H encampment took place in Washington, the little Latvian legation echoed to the cheerful chatter of American children who drank lemonade and heard the big, smiling man with the expressive ruddy hands, tell of his country and show pictures of the children there at work on their projects or going through their folk dances in the gay costumes of their land.

The American kids looked at the paintings that covered the walls—for Bilmanis was quite a collector. They were allowed gingerly to try the great chair which Napoleon had taken back to France from Moscow, examine the delightful little ivory objets d'art which filled the legation.

And then, one by one, they tripped up the stairs to look at the life-size model of the Latvian girl in the traditional robes of the country, wearing the symbolic necklace made of great discs of amber. Amber had been a Latvian article of export since the earliest traders from the Mediterranean made their way to this northern land, for it was a much admired ornament for the ladies of ancient Rome and Greece. A good necklace was supposed to be worth an Arabian mount.

If there is any amber being collected on Latvian beaches today it is being turned into the coffers of the Kremlin. I can well imagine what happened to the 4-H organizations when the Reds stepped in—they are about as closely akin to the Communist youth as the boy scouts were to the Hitler Jugend.
But if we are to believe all we hear,
Latvia is resisting communism.
Only this week I received a copy of the Baltic Review, printed in Sweden. Here is one paragraph:
"With the coming scholastic year war games will be introduced as an obligatory subject in the schools of all the constituent Soviet republics, writes 'Cina,' the organ of the Communist party in Latvia.
The paper goes on to say that the international situation demands that children be taught the art of war as early as possible. Military discipline should be instilled in them even before they come to school. Their toys should be model tanks and planes and so-called children's 'mechano' or building boxes should consist of parts whereof these objects can be constructed. The author relates about his trip to Russia to study Soviet education and military training and remarks that in this respect the Baltic republics are very backward as yet. Pupils of seven and eight in the schools of Moscow had displayed quite surprising knowledge as regards military matters. Ten year olds had been experts with the rifles and girls had been as competent as boys. Even tiny tots four and five had known the rudiments of military drill. How useful this proficiency may be in a guerrilla war, exclaims the author."

What is going to happen to the next generation in the U. S. S. R. itself and in the countries dominated by her?

THE RIFLE
By DANIEL F. LINDSAY

"ONLY $30." The clerk smiled down at Jud as he handed him the rifle. "Uh," Jud hesitated for a moment as his trembling fingers ran along the dull barrel. "I haven't got that much." "Sorry son," he took it back. Jud's wistful eyes followed him as he sat it in the rack and hurried down the counter. Thirty dollars! He had a sick feeling as he walked down the street he swung the bag of salt from hand to hand. If a rifle cost that much, think how much that house must have cost. Enough to buy all the rifles in the world. Reaching the edge of town he started up the twisted mountain road. Unconsciously his bare calloused feet avoided the blistering hot rocks. Any other day he would have walked close to the jagged cut formed by the road. Today he didn't care about the cool shade. His mind was still back at the little store. Maybe his Pa would get it anyway. The thought made him half run. As he rounded the curve he could see his mother waiting for him in the doorway. "You sure made a quick trip Jud. What you so excited about?" "I got to talk to Pa." He handed her the bag of salt and went inside for a drink of water. She followed him with amused eyes. "What about son?" He hung the cup back on its hook and shook his head. "Man talk, mom." "Oh, see," she ducked her head. "Well, he's up in the upper pasture." He rushed outside again. "Pa," he shouted as he reached the edge of the tree ringed field, "It's down at the store." "What's down at the store, son?" His eyes were affectionate as he watched Jud gallop toward him. "The end of the world done up in pink ribbons?" "No, Pa." His young face was serious as he slid to a stop. "My rifle. The one I want." "Oh?" Pa looked away uncomfortably. "You sure it's the one you want?" How he had dreaded this day. All winter long they had talked of guns, particularly the one Jud would get some day. Each time they went to the store Jud would rush eagerly over to the shiny gun case, but they never suited him. "Gradually it had reached the maybe, someday" stage. Pa had been glad. "Sure Pa. I went down for a bag of salt and there it was." His eyes were shining. "You ought to see it."

walls of the old log cabin weren't built for eavesdropping. After a while he heard the sounds of their going to bed and the house was silent. He lay there staring miserably at the ceiling, his mind filled with the deep aching and despair that goes with wanting the unattainable. Finally his tired little brain could stand no more and he fell into a restless sleep. The early morning sunlight streaming across his face woke him. He started to jump up, then remembered the rifle and sank back. The sounds of hungry animals edged around his consciousness. He could hear Pete, Blackie and Joe, his lame sheep, bleating for him. At least, he shrugged his shoulders, I've got them. "Son," his mother came in from the kitchen, "As soon as you're dressed your Pa wants to talk to you." "All right." He hurried into his pants and shirt. At least he would know for sure. His father smiled as he entered. "Good morning Jud." "Morning Pa." His eyes searched his father's face for a sign. "Your mom and I talked about the rifle last night, son." Jud just stood there. "And we don't think we can spare the money right now." "Okay, Pa," his face fell, "$30 is a lot of money." "But," his father continued, "we did think of a way you could get the rifle if you wanted it bad enough."

"Oh, I do, Pa." His face was one broad smile. "I want it more than anything in the world." "Enough to sell your sheep?" JUD pushed open the screen door and walked outside without answering. His mother and father exchanged glances and went on with their breakfast. Once away from the house Jud hurried to the little pen. The sheep hobbled over to his side. He slipped one arm around Pete's neck and his mind went back to the day he had crawled down into the ravine in search of him. He stood there a long time while a chain of memories passed over him. Finally he wiped a tear on his shirt sleeve and went back inside the house. "I want the rifle, Pa." He held his sturdy little body stiff. "All right son. It's up to you." His father got to his feet and went outside. Jud sat down at the table, swallowing the lump in his throat. His mother filled his plate with pancakes. He didn't even know they were there. Through the screen door he could hear his sheep being loaded into the battered old truck. A rifle was better anyway. When his father tooted the horn he got up solemn faced and kissed his mother.

All the way to town he kept his eyes away from the back of the truck. Just as they came to the slaughter house he could stand it no longer. "Pa," he burst out, "They won't hurt long, will they?" "No, son," his father's eyes shone kindly, "They'll never know what happened."

"All right." He stared out of the window while his father sold them. When the man took them away he swallowed hard, then shook his head. His father handed him the money and they drove off. "Want me to come in too, son?" Pa smiled as they came to the store. Jud shook his head and hurried to the rickety steps. Half a minute later he came back out wearing a proud smile. "Say, Jud, that's some iron." His father put the box of shells on the seat between them. "Why, it's even better'n mine." "It sure is a beaut, Pa." He held it upright between his legs all the way home. All afternoon they could hear the crack of the new rifle echoing down the range. Then toward evening there was a long period of silence. When they called him for supper he pushed open the screen door and shuffled inside. His sigh was heavy. Pa looked up with an understanding smile. "Regret your bargain, son?" "No," he shook his head, "but I miss my lame 'uns." "I know, son. Growing up is tough." "Yes, Pa." He ran his fingers along the dull barrel. He tried hard not to think about Pete, Blackie and Joe.

JIVIN' YOUR JEANS There's an epidemic of blue jeans parties sweeping through teendom. Maybe it's just a reaction to all this "new look" dressing up that's been going on. Even though the new name for a jeans party is a "bums rush," you usually turn up looking pretty elegant—even in jeans. Here are some of the ways you dress them up to the occasion. Sissy Stuff—One way to feminize your jeans is to cut them off, pedal-pusher length, and edge them with eyelet ruffling. Ditto around the neckline of your tuck-in sweater. No, Elmer—the farmer's daughter never looked like this!

CLIPPED ACCENTS—You'll attract attention (and imitation, too) if you roll up your jeans and hold them in place with clip clothes pins. As a formal touch, paint your clothes pins with red polish, and while it's still moist, sprinkle some sequins on them. WASP WAISTED—That's how you'll look if you bind your ombre silk scarf, cummerbund, fashion around your waistline at the next jeans jamboree. A matching scarf tied around your head please, with long ends hanging gypsy style at one side. Now, all you need is a golden earring—or, maybe, Ray Milland. GOLD PLATED—For a really new look, gild your jeans with a gold kid belt; wrap fake gold chains around your neck and dive for the oyster in gold kid ballets or sandals. A coat of gilt paint will transform last year's black ballets, in case you've squandered your allowance on malteds and bubble gum. Try out any of these tricks at the next bum's rush and the only thing blue about your jeans will be the color—see?

As PEGLER Sees It

By Westbrook Peeler

IT WAS, in President Truman's eyes, a cultured, political expression, "rotten" of him to wave the bloody shirt of religious hatred in charging that the 80th congress had been guilty of religious discrimination in the present displaced persons act.

The 80th congress represented the people of the United States. This law was a further act of self-sacrifice, hospitality and great national compassion. Perhaps it was not truly expressive of the popular will because, for all we know, the people, in a referendum, would close the doors absolutely. I direct attention to the fact that politicians, waiting in fear of minorities holding the balance of power, always have prevented the referral of such questions to the people.

When did you ever vote on help for some warring foreign country or on to some persecuted foreign minority?

YOU VOTE ON AN ISSUE OF HOT LUNCHES OR A PLAY-GROUND.

President Truman may share the error of others who think there is some constitutional provision which compels us to admit without discrimination the members of all religious communions and all races. On religion our Constitution says only that congress shall make no law "RESPECTING THE ESTABLISHMENT OF RELIGION," whatever that means, or "PROHIBITING THE FREE EXERCISE THEREOF."

The most that of that clause can mean is that congress can't set up any faith as the official religion of the U. S. But if some cult tried to practice animism or mayhem as a religious rite we would interfere quickly with the free exercise thereof. We would refuse absolutely to admit members of any such cult as immigrants and that exclusion would be based on religious ground alone.

Our exclusion of "Asiaties" for many years was based on religious objections among others. Our white Californians couldn't compete with them, because they could outwork the white man on one-fifth the food.

We had a case of a native American son of Japanese parents during the recent war which has a strange bearing on a large element of very impudent and brazen Communists concentrated in the city of New York and scattered in large lumps in other cities of the East.

Fred Korematsu, a Nisei, or native American Jap, was a citizen of absolutely unquestioned loyalty. But we rounded up all the Japs on the west coast and slammed them into concentration camps and Korematsu got his back up and resisted. He was convicted of disobedience to the curfew and deportation orders of General De Witt, who was in command of the area, and the case went to the supreme court.

Somehow, the boys ruled that it was all right to do this to Korematsu and somehow they reasoned that his racial descent had nothing to do with the case.

Justice Jackson, in a dissent, kicked the majority right in the teeth when he wrote, truthfully, that this citizen's conduct was made a crime only if his parents were of Japanese birth. The majority mumbled stupidly to the effect that he was excluded because we were at war with Japan.

That decision now means that, in view of our trouble with Russia, we can throw into concentration camps all persons who came from Russia and her satellites, and all their sons and daughters.

If they should happen to be preponderantly of any particular race or religious faith that would be immaterial. The court says that such drastic protection is justified if the military authority feels that the occasion demands the segregation of persons coming from a country with which we are at war, and their sons and daughters.

The 15th amendment says the rights of citizens shall not be abridged on account of race or color. But European displaced persons aren't citizens and so they have no rights to be abridged. And we do not find any forbiddance against such abridgment on religious grounds. Only race or color.

We can exclude immigrants for any reason that seems sufficient. AND WHEN THE F. B. I. TELLS US THAT ABOUT ONE-HALF OF OUR COMMUNIST TRAITORS TRACE THEIR ORIGIN TO RUSSIA OR HER SATELLITES, WE HAVE A RIGHT TO CLOSE THE DOOR ABSOLUTELY TO PEOPLE FROM THOSE PLACES.

The truth is that the people of the United States deserve the everlasting gratitude of Hitler's refugees for the very reason that we did exercise discrimination.

What it comes down to is this: WE HAVE BEEN MORE THAN GENEROUS, MORE THAN HUMANE AND YET WE RESERVE THE RIGHT TO JUDGE THE FITNESS BY ANY TEST, EVEN RACIAL OR RELIGIOUS, OF APPLICANTS FOR THE GREAT PRIVILEGE OF ADMITTANCE TO OUR COUNTRY. After all, it still is our country.

WALTER SHEARD, WNU Correspondent

Concentration of Power

THE concentration of economic power in the hands of a few large industries, which control the manufacture, distribution and price of goods destined for the American people, has been brought sharply to the attention of the public consistently during both the 79th and 80th congresses.

Through the President's midyear economic report and the report of the federal trade commission this condition again has been brought into focus. More than 75 per cent of the total output of 121 basic commodities is manufactured by four firms, the report reveals. Says the federal trade commission: "No great stretch of the imagination is required to foresee that if nothing is done to check the growth of concentration, either the giant corporations will ultimately take over the country or the government will be impelled to step in and impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest."

Three corporations produce 67 per cent of all farm machinery in this country and particularly in the past three years there has been a sharp upward move in mergers and acquisitions in the product of the farm—meat, food and fiber. These mergers, the acquisitions and the subsequent fixing of prices are made at the expense of small business and the consuming public in the home towns of the country.

Monopoly in Agriculture

On that same subject but generally unknown is the fact that the agricultural industry, farms and farmers, is following in the path set by the big monopolies. For a report of the census bureau only recently published by the department of agriculture shows that the farms of the nation are getting larger in size and fewer in number, accounting generally for the fact that there are several thousand less farmers in the nation today than 10 years ago.

"Today," says the report, "over half the farm land in the country is in farms of over 500 acres. Farms over 1,000 acres now account for 40 per cent of the farm land."

Considering the fact that there are 1.1 billion acres in farms, this means there are approximately 460 million acres in farms of over 1,000 acres. This indicates that the owner-operated farm, although still more desirable, is being crowded, and absentee ownership or corporation or partnership ownership is moving in.

The report shows that even in the midwest, where farms generally are smaller, the average farm has increased 30 acres in 25 years. In Oklahoma, where all farms originally were settled on the 160-acre homestead basis unit, the average farm has increased to 225 acres.

The impact of mechanization, economic pressures, and smaller families has played a part in increasing farm sizes and reducing the number. Another factor is that large food distributing corporations have gone into the field of agriculture and land ownership. Also important is the fact that the census shows that there is not that small 5, 10, and 15 acre tract, which actually are nothing more than rural residences of urban farmers, still are counted as farms, the percentage of large farms to all farms would be still higher.

Family Farm Disappears

The bureau of agricultural economics declares that "the traditional family-sized farm, long the foundation of American agriculture, has been giving way to much larger commercial units."

Here also the agriculture picture coincides with the concentration of production in business and industry for the report says that "from the top third of the farms come 80 per cent of the total production and the top tenth of these farms produce 50 per cent of the total farm production."

At the other end of the scale, the products of 5 per cent, or about 200,000 farms, had an average value of more than $10,000 each. Of these large farms, 25,000 had an output valued at $40,000 each and 5,000 farms had production valued at from $100,000 to $1,000,000 each. Measured in acres the largest farms are in the West and Far West. But measured in value of production they are concentrated in the Corn Belt.

Regulation Impends

The question which agricultural economists now are asking, just as business economists are asking, is: "How long before the government will be impelled to step in and impose some form of direct regulation in the public interest or in the interest of the 3.9 million little farmers?" If the big monopolies continue to raid the agricultural land market at the expense of the small farm and the public, then it may not be long in coming.

Tenancy Decreases

One paradox in the situation is that while the number of farms has decreased, farm tenancy is at the lowest point in half a century. Government loans, particularly to tenants or sharecroppers in the South, loans to veterans and big production yields are responsible. But more than half the decrease in tenancy is in the South. Other tenancy decreases were around war-bulging cities or military establishments.

AROUND THE HOUSE

To take the excess electricity out of a taffeta dress, try steaming it in the bathroom. The handiest way to remove paint splatters from tile is to wipe them away with a cloth dipped in nail polish remover.

When you hang slacks out to dry turn them inside out and pin them to the line by the pockets. It will avoid getting them out of shape. If the ticking of your alarm clock is too noisy, set it on a blotter or piece of felt.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE
by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: I have bronze screens that have been discolored because someone rubbed yellow soap all over them. This has made them green. I have tried to clean them by washing them and also used kerosene, but this has not helped. I would appreciate any suggestions.

ANSWER: I believe wiping the screens with a cloth dampened with ammonia would take off the green discoloration. Be careful of ammonia fumes. If this fails, try a good metal polish. An alternative would be to wash with ordinary vinegar, in which has been dissolved as much salt as will be taken up; then rinse well with clear water. The solution can be made into a paste by the addition of flour.

QUESTION: My chimney has leaked for years. Numerous repairmen could not find the leak. I also had a waterproof coating applied. The leak is over the fireplace. Can you advise me?

ANSWER: There may be breaks in the mortar joints, especially at the joint over the fireplace. Or the bricks themselves may be old and porous. Defective flashings at the roof line might be another cause. Try to get a good chimney mason to visit the house on a rainy day and find out just where the trouble lies. He may advise putting on a chimney cap, for rain may come down the chimney. Perhaps a tuck-pointing job may be needed, and also a coating of cement base paint containing a waterproof.

Insects Cause Food Loss

Insect pests reduced cottonseed production last year by an amount which would have provided 4,500,000 people for a year with as much fat as now is included in European diets. Each 100 pounds of cottonseed meal will replace 250 to 300 pounds of grain when the oil meal is used for livestock feed. Some authorities estimate that control of insects that attack corn would add 100 million bushels to annual yields.

Married Women Earning More

For the first time in history married women outnumber single women with paying jobs, according to Paul C. Glick of the U. S. bureau of census.

Since 1940, Glick says, there has been a 50 per cent increase in the working wives labor force. Today, the husband is the sole provider in only three fifths of the husband and wife households.

"Five sixths of the married women working have either no dependent children in the home or children of school age only," Glick explains. Glick believes this means the advance of the standards of family living.

Grapes in the Sun

"The sun, which has all those planets revolving around it and dependent upon it, can ripen a cluster of grapes as if it had nothing else in the world to do." —GALILEO

THIS purple cluster at my fingertips, Sweet with the essence of the sun and rain, Holds all its honeyed nectar for my lips, Holds all of life within its crimson stain. The sun's long concentration brought to bear Upon the rippling vine, the ripening fruit, Is evidence of the great miraculous care Back of the sod, and deep within the root.

New Chemical Enables Blood to Carry More Oxygen

Increased supplies of oxygen to meet emergency needs can be transported through the bloodstream by a new stable preparation of hemoglobin, the coloring matter of blood, according to a report of the American Chemical Society. The new form of hemoglobin, extracted from red blood corpuscles, can be stored without refrigeration for as long as a year without losing its ability to carry oxygen, the report asserted, pointing out that the natural instability of other hemoglobin preparations has discouraged scientists in the past from exploring hemoglobin's potential great value in treating a variety of ailments. "Many types of illness require an increased supply of oxygen to the tissues," chemists reported to the society. "A stable preparation of oxygen-carrying hemoglobin might be extremely advantageous in those instances." Emphasizing that the suggested uses of hemoglobin are potential and not yet proved, the report said:

"The primary potential use of hemoglobin solutions might be in cases of massive hemorrhage, where the oxygen-carrying capacity of the bloodstream is greatly deficient. Whole blood now is used in these instances. These solutions would have the advantage not only of greater stability than whole blood during storage, but also of not requiring typing before use and in being available where blood banks are not maintained."

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS

by Lynn Chambers

Simple Enough for Youngsters to Make (See recipes below)

For Amateurs Only

ARE YOUR CHILDREN shy and awkward in the kitchen or can they do an apron and turn in a creditable performance as a cook?

Mothers who give their children the run of the kitchen occasionally deserve a bouquet of orchids because they are helping to turn out well-balanced, healthy children. And it does mother good, too, if son or daughter occasionally can whip up a batch of good cookies or cake, or prepare a tasty salad.

There are days when youngsters just simply are bored with their usual pursuits and then they tend to wander around the house without anything to do. Perhaps it's too stormy to play outside or maybe all their friends are on vacation. This is the psychological moment to suggest they try their hand at being an amateur chef.

Give them a few pointers beforehand if they need it so food will not be wasted, and help only if it's requested once they start their culinary adventure so you won't spoil it by being the "extra cook in the broth." Have it understood, too, that the kitchen is to be cleaned after they finish.

I'VE OFTEN SAID that anyone who can read, can cook. But here are simple recipes that involve no complicated procedures. Let the children try these recipes so especially designed for them that they will really have a wonderful adventure on their day in the kitchen.

Boys and girls alike will enjoy making these hamburgers, and they are so easy, you simply won't have any failures.

*Hamburgers De Luxe (Serves 6)

- 1 pound ground beef
- 2 eggs, unbeaten
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/2 onion, grated
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup catsup
- Bacon
- Fried onions

Mix the meat with eggs, flour, onion, salt and catsup. Beat the mixture thoroughly with a large fork or spoon. The longer the mixture is beaten the better. Form into thin cakes. Spread a layer of fried onions between two cakes and press the edges of the meat together. Place a strip of bacon around the hamburger, fasten with a toothpick and fry in hot fat or place in the broiler. If using broiler allow cakes to brown six to eight minutes on each side. If frying, allow a little more time for hamburgers to cook.

BOYS AND GIRLS alike will enjoy making a salad and tossing it together with a fork and spoon the way real chefs do!

*Tossed Green Salad (Serves 6)

- 1 head of lettuce, cut in quarters
- 4 tomatoes, quartered
- 1 bunch watercress, if desired
- 1 cucumber, peeled and diced
- 1 bunch green onions, cleaned
- 1 green pepper, sliced thin
- 1 bunch celery, diced
- 1 bunch radishes, sliced
- Lettuce cups

French dressing
Chill the vegetables thoroughly after preparing. Place all in a large bowl. Add French dressing and toss

LYNN SAYS:

Use Proper Methods When You Cook

Do you use neat methods when you cook or is everything a jumble when you get into the kitchen?

First check the recipes you use and see if you have all ingredients on hand.

While the food cooks, wash all the dishes you have soiled. In this way, you never will have an accumulation of dishes in the sink when you get ready to eat.

Read the recipe over carefully before you work and try to picture the procedure.

Measure out ingredients before you begin working and you won't forget any of them as you cook.

After measuring ingredients, grease pans or get out any utensils which you will need.

After mixing a recipe, check over the directions to see that all steps have been carried out.

You can save wiping dishes if you have a rack on the sink. Rinse dishes with very hot water and they will dry by themselves.

lightly with fork and spoon. Serve in lettuce cups or from a bowl.

YOUNGSTERS LIKE to make cooling beverages. Let them do these simple things on hot afternoons:

Chocolate Milk Shake (Serves 2)

- 2 cups milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 tablespoons chocolate syrup
- 2 ice cubes

Place all ingredients in a quart sized glass jar or shaker with cover. Shake until fluffy. If desired, 2 tablespoons of chocolate or vanilla ice cream may be added before shaking.

Root Beer Shake (Serves 2)

- 2 scoops vanilla ice cream
- 2 cups root beer

Place together in a glass and stir. Serve at once.

Lemonade

- 6 lemons
- 1 quart water
- 1 cup sugar syrup
- 1/2 cup maraschino cherry juice

Squeeze lemons and strain juice. Mix with sugar syrup and water. Add cherry juice. Chill thoroughly.

SIMPLE TYPES of cookies may be made by the youngsters. Neither of these types requires tedious creaming of ingredients.

Brownies

- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup lard
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- 2 squares chocolate
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, then measure. Add salt and sift again. Melt lard with chocolate in saucepan.

Beat the eggs until fluffy, then add sugar and beat again. Mix eggs and sugar with chocolate and lard. Add flour, nuts and vanilla.

Bake in a shallow pan which is greased, in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares.

Drop Cookies

- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup white sugar
- 1/2 cup lard, melted
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon cloves
- 1 teaspoon soda in 1 tablespoon hot water
- 1/2 cup raisins
- 1/2 cup nuts
- 3 cups flour or enough to hold shape when dropped

Combine ingredients in order given. Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate (350 degree) oven for 10 to 15 minutes.

Most dishes are easy to wash after they have been soaked. Have a pan of suds ready so that dishes, cups, measuring spoons and other utensils can be placed in the water to soak as soon as you finish using them.

Paper toweling should be used to wipe greasy pots and pans before washing so that grease does not accumulate in the drain pipe.

Never let silverware which has egg on it stand without rinsing. Egg tarnishes silverware.

Soak greasy dishes in hot water to which soap has been added. If the dishes are very greasy, cut the water with baking soda, vinegar or detergent.

A dish towel placed on the bottom of the dishpan will prevent your chipping both china and glassware. Lemon or vinegar in the dish water will help remove odors from dishes in which you have mixed or served fish.

A small vegetable brush is a handy gadget to have on the sink for washing very dirty dishes and silverware.

HUMIDITY

"IT ISN'T THE HEAT, IT'S THE HUMIDITY"

HUMIDITY REFERS TO THE AMOUNT OF WATER VAPOR IN THE AIR. HUMIDITY IS IMPORTANT TO PHYSICAL COMFORT. DRY AIR EVAPORATES MOISTURE QUICKLY, COOLING THE SKIN. WHEN THE HUMIDITY IS HIGH, LITTLE EVAPORATION OCCURS AND A PERSON FEELS HOT AND "STICKY."

HOW TO FIX IT

By TOM GREGORY

TO SAVE TIME AND TROUBLE IN SHOVELING COAL FROM A BIN YOU CAN CONSTRUCT AN UNUSUAL DOOR THAT PERMITS THE FUEL TO BE REMOVED FROM EITHER THE TOP OR BOTTOM OF A FILLED BIN.

SEVERAL BOARDS ARE CUT TO FIT THE OPENING AND EACH BOARD IS HINGED SEPARATELY TO THE CASING, THE FREE ENDS HELD WITH A HASP AND STAPLE. TO MAKE SINGLE UNITS OUT OF THE INDIVIDUAL BOARDS JUST DRIVE SCREW EYES INTO THE SECTIONS IN A VERTICAL LINE AND RUN A ROD THROUGH THEM.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO KEEP TWO OR THREE FLOWERS STANDING ERECT IN A VASE WITHOUT SECURING THEM IN POSITION IN SOME WAY. FOR THIS PURPOSE, CUT A CARDBOARD DISK TO FIT SNUGLY IN THE VASE NECK AS SHOWN.

THEY WERE ESTABLISHED TO PROVIDE ENGLISH SUNDAY SCHOOLS WITH THE BROTHERS OF EDUCATION. MANY CHURCHES OPPOSED THE MOVEMENT AS A MENACE TO THE SANCTITY OF THE SABBATH!

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

Released by WNU Features

By INEZ GERHARD
ALAN LADD estimates that if all the flat fights he has had in his screen career were lumped together, they would take 90 minutes, the equivalent of a 30-round professional bout. Paramount's "Beyond Glory" is the first film in which he doesn't have a fight with some other character. Incidentally, the Distinguished Service Cross he wears in that picture was loaned to him by Audie Murphy. World War II's most decorated soldier, who makes his screen debut in a featured role in "Beyond Glory."

Speculation concerning James Mason's first film in this country ended when Enterprise studios snared him for the movie version of "Wild Calendar," co-starring Barbara Bel Geddes and Robert Ryan. Mason studied a number of scripts before deciding on this one, in which he will have a sympathetic role, that of the other man in the inevitable triangle.

There's one advantage in driving a bus exclusively for musicians: You get music lessons free. So says the lad who is chauffeur for the Vaughn Monroe orchestra (CBS Mondays). He claims he has picked up hints on how to play the piano and the trumpet from Monroe's boys; now he wants to take singing lessons from the boss!

Just about the time his new fall radio series for a new sponsor got started, Jimmy Durante also will be seen on the screen in an M-G-M film entitled "This Time for Keeps." That title might apply to his sponsor, as the cigarette company which formerly had him under contract gave him up to another sponsor, but now has signed him up again.

The new March of Time deals with the "career girls"; tells how these young working women get their start, what sort of jobs they hold, how they manage their finances and their social lives, their attitude toward marriage.

The tale is that a talented little pig was signed for a comedy role opposite Bette Davis and Robert Montgomery in "June Bride." But Director Bretaigne Windust of the New York Theater guild noticed that the pig's tail didn't curl. Fearing audiences would think it a dog disguised as a pig, he had the make-up department take over, tape the pig's tail to a curly wire.

Since making his screen debut in "The Big Punch," Gordon McCrae, young radio singer, has signed to continue his air show, tripled his production of recordings, bought a new car and a new house, joined the Lakeside Golf club, got a starring role in "Look for the Silver Lining." He says as a radio singer he collected only travel sores and a bank account.

Jay Seymour, official photographer for more than half a dozen shows, stands by to snap the winners, then rushes to his studio to work all night, developing and printing pictures for newspapers, magazines and wire services. He'll never forget the week when contestants hit the jackpot on "Break the Bank," "Hit the Jackpot," "What's My Name?" and "The Bob Hawk Show."

ODDS AND ENDS—W's may see two Cesare Borgias on the screen—John Lund in "A Mask for Lucretia" and Orson Welles in "Prince of Foxes"; made in Italy. I'll take Lund. . . "The Lassie Show" has been renewed for 52 weeks on NBC, and three new film scripts are being prepared for the most popular animal in moviedom since Rin Tin Tin. . . When Randy Scott and Ella Raines made "The Walking Hills" for Columbia they spent 11 days in the sand dunes of Death Valley, with windstorms up to 80 miles an hour and temperatures which sometimes carried 60 degrees in a single day.

Ronald Reagan and Eleanor Parker, who were co-starred in "The Voice of the Turtle," will be seen together again in "Charge It, My Love," a comedy about a young married couple and their battle to balance their budget.

You will see a quartet of top army pilots in "Fighter Squadron," saga of the army air forces. Appearing as pals of Edmund O'Brien and Robert Stack, they will also do some stunt flying in Thunderbolts.

Escaped Bull Stages Classy Rodeo for Busy Detroiters

DETROIT—A bull staged a 40-minute rodeo all its own in Detroit's packinghouse district, hooking one man in the seat of the pants and terrorizing a woman.
A shot from a deer rifle finally ended it.
The bull broke out of a pen and made a dash for busy Michigan avenue. A few feet behind came George Alexander, chasing the animal in a trailer-truck.

Bargain Hunter Rents House For $35 but It's Invisible

HOUSTON, TEXAS.—H. M. Padgett thought he was in luck when he was able to rent a house for only $35 a month.
The Houston newcomer sent to Illinois for his wife and daughter.
When Padgett went out to the house he rented he found just a vacant lot at the address. His "friend," who rented him the house, got 10 days in jail and a $35 fine.

Tuition Chief Can't See Why People Live in America

ST. LOUIS.—Tahiti is still the paradise it always has been, and Chief Charlie Mauu of the Pacific island can't see why anyone would want to live in the United States.
"Politics? United Nations? We cannot worry about such things," the six-foot, two-inch islander said in halting English.
Then he gave his philosophy for happiness:

Watchful Cat Saves Pennies From Thieving Youngsters

BROOKLINE, MASS.—Eddie Collins' watch cat saved the pennies that early morning newspaper customers slid under the door of his store.
Police caught two youngsters trying to fish out the money with a hooked wire. They said it had been easy before Collins put the cat to work. Now, they explained, the playful cat grabbed the hook.
Sgt. James Carroll tried it and the cat clawed the hook.

WOMEN FIGHTS WITH BURLAP; Uses Telephone as Weapon

LOS ANGELES.—The burglar who entered Mrs. Henry H. Francis' apartment had a telephone thrown at him. Mrs. Francis is a telephone operator.
"I think I broke his nose," she told attendants at a receiving hospital where she was treated for rib injuries. "I woke up to find this fellow rummaging in a drawer. I started chasing him. I caught him in the front room. The only thing handy was the telephone. I let him have it."
"The burglar grabbed a heavy book of poetry. The poetry itself, by the way, is pretty light stuff. Anyhow, we fought in the dark and I guess he knocked me out, because when my husband came home from work at 6 a. m. he found me unconscious."
Mrs. Francis admitted she was screaming during the fight "but when I hit that guy with the phone he was screaming, too."

MIRRORS HELP STUTTERS Correct Speech Defects

MINNEAPOLIS.—It isn't unusual to see students making strange faces in a huge mirror at the University of Minnesota.
It is one of the newer methods the school is trying out to cure stuttering.
Each year, the university treats about 60 stutters and about 300 others who have speech defects. The reason for the mirror is that it reflects habits students have developed in their fight not to stutter, such as deep breathing, hard swallowing and whistling through their teeth.
In all, nearly 1,000 students and several non-students are treated

These Wise Mallards Make Duck's Soup of Migration

BRIGHTON, MICH.—Maybe some animals are dumb—but not the ducks of Brighton.
These Livingston county birds have solved the whole tiring business of fall and spring migration.
While most of their kind are flying thousands of miles in the spring trek from the warm South to the awakening North, the Brighton contingent does the whole thing in about 400 short, waddy steps.
The 50-odd feathered thinkers based here took care of the 30 minute matter of migration in about 30 minutes.
When the call of spring stirs the flock into action the Brighton mallards climb the sides of their little mill pond, waddle about 100 feet across Main street and down the bank into the other half of the pond.
The mill pond is bisected by the city's east-west street. On the north the pond freezes in winter. But on the south side, where the water is kept open by a small dam, a small flock of domestic white mallards congregates. The banks of the pond are liberally sprinkled with bread crumbs and other duck delicacies.
General Electric said the dust was worth from $3 to $5 a carat. The 4 1/2-carat Hope diamond is valued at about two million dollars.
The dust was used to polish dies of tungsten-carbide and can be reused.

He Prefers Cash

The husband and wife had finished an excellent meal in the exclusive restaurant. A bill for five dollars was presented, and the husband suddenly remembered leaving his wallet at home.

The waiter summoned the proprietor. The husband explained the situation. "I must have left my wallet in another suit," he asserted. "Can you wait while I go home for the money? I'll leave my wife here as security."

The proprietor coughed slightly. "I beg your pardon," he suggested, "but haven't you a watch or a ring you could leave as a deposit instead?"

The husband looked up angrily. "Sir," he demanded, "are you insinuating that my wife is not worth five dollars?"

The proprietor bowed. "Not at all," he murmured, "but I really have a wife!"

GROUNDLESS FEARS

"What would happen if we struck a big iceberg?" asked the nervous passenger.

"The iceberg would pass along as if nothing had happened," answered the captain.

The passenger sighed with relief.

DEFINITE REPLY

The teacher, explaining to her young pupils that the earth was round, asked questions to bring out her point. "Herman," she asked, "could you walk around the earth?"

"No, ma'am," promptly replied little Herman.

"Why not?" asked the teacher. "Because my mother won't allow me to leave the back yard."

Slightly Deceiving

A woman phoned her bank to arrange for the disposal of a thousand-dollar bond.

"Is the bond for redemption or conversion?" a clerk inquired. There was a long pause, then the woman asked: "Am I talking to the First National bank or the First Baptist church?"

FISH NETS

Willie: "Dad, now do fishermen make their nets?"
Dad: "That's very simple, Willie. They just take a handful of holes and sew them together."

Run, Brother, Run!

Two absent-minded hunters strolling in the African jungle had forgotten to bring their gun. They realized it when they saw a rare saber-tooth tiger coming toward them.

"What shall we do?" asked one. "I don't know what you're planin' on doin'," the other hunter replied, running, "but I'm getting ready to spread the news through all South Africa."

Fussy Patient

Patient: "Why stick me in the ward with that crazy guy?"
Doctor: "Hospital's crowded—is he troublesome?"

Patient: "He's nuts! Keeps looking around, saying 'No lions, no tigers, no elephants'—and all the time the room's full of 'em."

Out of Date

The young husband eyed the grayish concoction with misgiving. Bravely he dug a spoon into the mystery and began to eat.

After a few moments he straightened himself, eased his collar a little, and asked: "What do you call this, darling?"

"It's date pudding, dear," beamed his wife.

"Oh, yes," he breathed, "but—er—what date?"

Signs of Health

The robust young hillbilly came down to the village one day to see the doctor.

"Doc," he said, "Pa's tryin' to run me out to work. I want a paper from you tellin' him I ain't able. I got rheumatism, my back hurts all the time, I'm allus full o' heartburn, an' my head's allus achin'."

The rural physician looked at him with amused eyes. "Why should you want a paper? What fine health you must be in to stand all those things!"

HOW IT STARTED
"WINDFALL" — At one time members of the English nobility were forbidden to fell heavy timber on their own estates, as all large trees were reserved for use by the Royal Navy. However, windfalls—trees that were blown down—could be used by the noblemen for anything they wished.
"SKYSCRAPER" — While the word "skyscraper" was not applied to buildings until 1885, it was being used to designate a skysail in 1794, a large horse in 1826, an exaggerated story in 1841, and a tall man in 1847.

More Money Spent During 1948

Americans during 1948 are buying houses and automobiles faster than they can be produced and indebtedness is increasing, according to the Federal Reserve Board's 1948 survey of consumer finances.

Fewer folk are saving in 1948 than the year previous. Some 3 million consumers who had savings bonds in 1947 didn't have them the first of 1948. Consumers are doing more of their paying on a credit basis than a year ago. Because buying has increased, they're using more of their savings than before.

It is expected that about one-fourth of the consumers will spend beyond their income in 1948 as they did in 1947.

don't use Harsh Laxatives
Keep regular this healthful way—

The juice of a lemon in a glass of water, when taken first thing on arising, is all that most people need to insure prompt, normal elimination.

No more harsh laxatives that irritate the digestive tract and impair nutrition! Lemon in water is good for you!

Generations of Americans have taken lemons for health—and generations of doctors have recommended them. They are rich in vitamin C, supply valuable amounts of B and P. They alkalize; aid digestion.

Not too sharp or sour, lemon in water has a refreshing tang—clears the mouth, wakes you up. It's not a purgative—simply helps your system regulate itself. Try it 10 days.

Make these 4 comparisons before you buy any car

COMPARE THE VALUE

Yes, compare the features—compare the prices—compare what you get for what you pay—and you, too, will come to the conclusion that Chevrolet continues to be first in value, just as it continues to be first in Big-Car Quality at Lowest Cost, and just as first in demand, year after year.

COMPARE THE POPULARITY

You can identify the biggest value in any list of products by picking out the one product which enjoys greatest popularity, year after year; and, of course, in the field of motor cars, that one product is Chevrolet—outstanding leader in popularity for the total 17-year period, 1931 to date!

COMPARE THE FEATURES

Only Chevrolet combines the Unitized Knee-Action Ride for gliding smoothness; the world's champion Valve-in-Head engine for performance and economy; Body by Fisher for tasteful beauty; and Fisher Unisteel Construction plus Positive-Action Hydraulic Brakes for all-round safety protection!

COMPARE THE PRICES

You'll agree with millions of other car buyers that prices—like quality—are a major consideration in these times; and just as Chevrolet's Big-Car quality is unique in its price range, so Chevrolet prices are the lowest in its field. Chevrolet costs less to buy, to run and to maintain!

Only Chevrolet gives BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST PRICES... that's why
