

L. N. Petersons Lose Infant Son

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Peterson, village, born Wednesday, Nov. 10, at St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, passed away the next day, Thursday morning.

Besides the parents the baby is survived by his brothers, Lyn and Tommie, and three grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Johnson of Massillon, Ohio, and Mrs. Mabel Peterson of Carrollton, Ohio.

Funeral services for the immediate family were held Friday morning, Nov. 12, with the Rev. Wm. G. Schwemmer officiating. Burial took place in the Peace Evangelical and Reformed parish cemetery.

MRS. GRACE SCHMIDT

Mrs. Grace Schmidt, 63, lifelong resident of Campbellsport and vicinity, was found dead of a heart attack at 10:30 a. m., Saturday, Nov. 6, at her home in Campbellsport.

Born Nov. 29, 1879, daughter of the late Oliver and Margaret Hendricks, town of Ashford, she was married to A. F. Schmidt in 1913. Mrs. Schmidt was reared in the town of Ashford and spent her married life in Campbellsport. She was an active member of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church. Mr. Schmidt died in March, 1943.

Surviving Mrs. Schmidt is a brother, Roy Hendricks, of Campbellsport. The remains were in state at the Berge funeral home, Campbellsport, from where funeral services were held at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday to the Methodist church at 2 p. m., the Rev. E. Holland officiating. Burial was in Union cemetery there.

GERHARD KOENINGS

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Nov. 2, in St. Peter's church, Slinger, for Gerhard Koenings, 69, Slinger barber and insurance agent, who died Saturday, Oct. 26, at St. Joseph's hospital, Hartford, after falling for several years. He had been hospitalized seven months with heart disease. The well known Mr. Koenings served as chairman of the Washington County Draft Board, as a member of the county board of supervisors, and village assessor of Slinger for several years. The Rev. George Jentes officiated at the rites and burial was in Holy Cross cemetery, Milwaukee.

A son of Gerhard and Gertrude Koenings, he was born May 19, 1888, at Barton. He was married to Anna Hott on Feb. 16, 1908, at Barton and the couple came to their present home in 1919. His wife predeceased him on Feb. 16, 1942.

Nine children were born to the couple, one of whom preceded his father in death. Surviving are Angelina and Marie, Milwaukee; Helen Nagel, Bristol, Pa.; Anna Sattro, Long Beach, Calif.; Paul, Buena Vista, Calif.; Tony, Beaver Dam; Bonnie, Slinger, and Roman, Waupaca. He also leaves 15 grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Helen Otten, Barton, and two brothers, John and William Koenings, Barton.

Town Wayne Group Meets to Plan Chest X-Ray Program

An enthusiastic group of men and women from the town of Wayne met with Miss Gladys Satter, county nurse, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 3, at the Kohlsville school. The meeting was held to make plans for the township chest x-ray program which will take place Dec. 9 beginning at 1:30 p. m. at Schneider's hall, Wayne Center.

The committee members are going to do their best to see that every person in the community knows about this health program.

Three women have volunteered to be on hand Dec. 9 to help their friends register and see them through the x-ray bus.

Those present at the meeting were Paul Pamperin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Steger, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Klein, Rev. Carl Flueckinger, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bauer, Miss Pearl Kibbel, Mr. and Mrs. Herman J. Engelder, Rev. and Mrs. Armin Duchow and Mr. and Mrs. Warren McElroy.

SHEEPSHEAD RESULTS

Last Thursday night's winners in sheephead at the tournament held at "Mike" Stelplius's Friendly Farmer Tavern were: 1st, L. Klein, 48-6-42; 2nd, R. Kudek, 42-2-46; 3rd, A. Bier, 28-6-32; 4th, G. Reimer, 26-0-26; 5th, A. Schaefer, 24-8-26; booby, W. Schmidt, 6-16-10 minus.

SPORTSMEN'S MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Kettle Moraine Sportsmen's association of Kewaskum will be held at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the Legion clubhouse. All members are asked to attend.

MRS. DALUGE, COUNTY HOME AGENT RESIGNS POSITION

Mrs. Gwen B. Daluge, Washington county home agent for the past four and a half years, has resigned her position effective Nov. 15. She and her husband, Harlan Daluge, who had been inspector in this area for the Retail Credit company, will move to Janesville where he will operate a 400 acre farm with Mrs. Daluge's father and brothers, Edgar and Elton Broegee.

MINNESOTA GRAD ENGAGED IN NURSING FIELDWORK IN COUNTY

Miss Veronica Fliegel, whose home is in DeForest, Wis., is at the present time engaged in field work under the supervision of Miss Gladys Satter, county public health nurse. She will remain in this position for a period of six weeks.

EINAR INGMAN, 19, ENLISTS IN ARMY FOR THREE YEARS

Einar H. Ingman, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Einar T. Ingman, R. 1, Kewaskum, was accepted at the West Bend recruiting station Nov. 1. Ingman enlisted for three years for the armored forces in the Far East command. He will be assigned to Camp Breckinridge, Ky. to complete basic training before being assigned overseas.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Louis C. Heiser and Eileen J. Backus, both of Kewaskum.

Brownie and Girl Scout Troops to Be Organized

The Girl Scout movement has always been recognized as a way of developing good citizens. Girl Scouting, which welcomes all girls regardless of race, creed, and color, provides an ideal framework in which to learn and practice democracy, for it understands and respects the rights and beliefs of others.

All girls, 10-14 years of age, who are interested in becoming Girl Scouts meet at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, Nov. 16, at the Legion clubhouse. The Kewaskum chapter of the American Legion has graciously offered a room on the third floor in their clubhouse to the Girl Scouts. Mrs. Harry Koch is the Girl Scout leader and her assistants are Miss Lois Koch and Miss Mary Jane Mayer. The Girl Scout committee is the following: Mrs. A. Hron Jr., chairman; Mrs. M. W. Rosenheimer, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. W. Stennan.

All girls, 7-9 years of age, who are interested in becoming Brownie Scouts meet at the home of Mrs. Paul Landmann at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 16. Mrs. Landmann is the Brownie Scout leader and her assistants are Mrs. Theodore Rohlinger and Mrs. E. E. Miller. The Brownie Scout committee is as follows: Mrs. Jos. Schwind, chairman; Mrs. Ernest Mitchell, secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. Charles Miller.

STAEHLER WINS AWARD FOR NAMING NEW CAGE LEAGUE

Lawrence Staehler, R. 1, Kewaskum, won the $10 cash award offered for a suitable name for a new seven team league in which the West Bend basketball team will compete this season. His entry was 'Badger State Basketball league.' Staehler probably got his idea for the name from the Badger State baseball league in which Kewaskum teams used to play. The name was agreed upon at a meeting of team representatives at Horizon Monday night. A contest was conducted in the various cities comprising the league.

BIRTHS

CLAAS—A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Claas, R. 5, West Bend, formerly of Kewaskum, Thursday, Nov. 4.

CROOK—A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crook, Campbellsport, at the Bahmer Maternity home at Campbellsport Friday, Nov. 5.

MOVE TO VILLAGE

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schultz have moved from New Fane into their new, by constructed home on East Main st.

New L. Rosenheimer Sub-Division Named Roseland Heights

Judges Charles Reigle, Theodore Schmidt, and Lee Rose selected the name Roseland Heights for the new L. Rosenheimer sub-division.

Both Mrs. Norman Held and Mrs. Wm. F. Schultz of Kewaskum banded in this name, and shared evenly in the $50.00 prize money.

Most of the lots in this new sub-division have been sold and real building activity will start next spring. Some of the streets have been roughly graded, and the city engineers have been busy the past week establishing grades for the sewage and water works.

This new addition on our western boundary of the village is an ideal home site location far enough from the industrial center and railroads to keep it free from dust, soot, and smoke, and should develop into a beautiful residential section.

High Tension Line Snaps, Sets Fire; Families Flee

Damage totaling about $2,000 was done to a two family house at 1060 W. Cherry st. in West Bend early Sunday morning when a high tension line carrying 26,000 volts snapped and fell across feeder lines entering the duplex, which is owned by Alfred H. Soefelt of Kewaskum.

The flat, occupied by the Joseph Winnighoff and Robert Helit families, was set afire by the heavy charges of electricity and the West Bend fire department was called at about 1:30 a. m. The heavy power jolt knocked plaster off the walls, burned a hole in the water pipe flooding the basement and burned through the gas pipe, setting a fire which ate into the walls and burned through the floor. Electric appliances plugged in were ruined and fuse boxes totally destroyed.

The same volt charge struck another house across the street but did little damage since the fuse box immediately blew out and the charge was grounded.

FALL FESTIVAL, SUPPER AT HOLY TRINITY PARISH SUN.

The annual fall festival and supper sponsored by Holy Trinity congregation, Kewaskum, will be held in the new parish hall on Sunday afternoon and evening, Nov. 14, starting at 2 p. m. There will be amusement, refreshment, candy, needle work and fancy work booths to provide fun and entertainment for all. A cafeteria style supper will be served starting at 5 p. m. and continuing until all are served. Everyone is invited to come and have a good time.

PLEASE

The party who took the sugar and creamer from the Bar-N Ranch on Saturday evening, Nov. 6, is known. The sugar and creamer are part of an heirloom set of Lenore's China. No questions will be asked if these pieces are returned to 109 East Ave., West Bend.

100 Attend Reorganization Meet of School Districts

Approximately 100 interested taxpayers representing the Kewaskum school district and adjacent rural school districts attended a meeting conducted by the county committee on common schools relative to reorganization and redistricting the districts in the Kewaskum area.

The meeting was held recently in the Kewaskum High school. A similar meeting attended by about 60 taxpayers was held in the town of Wayne, according to M. T. Buckley, county superintendent of schools and secretary of the committee.

At both meetings, Atty. William Dieterich, Hartford, committee chairman, recited the legal steps necessary to perfect reorganization and redistricting of school districts. He listed arguments that have been presented to the committee for and against the program.

Buckley reported considerable serious discussion concerning the problem of redistricting to provide better educational facilities for the children attended both meetings and that it was all without rancor, something which cannot be said for some other communities in the state that have considered the problem, he pointed out.

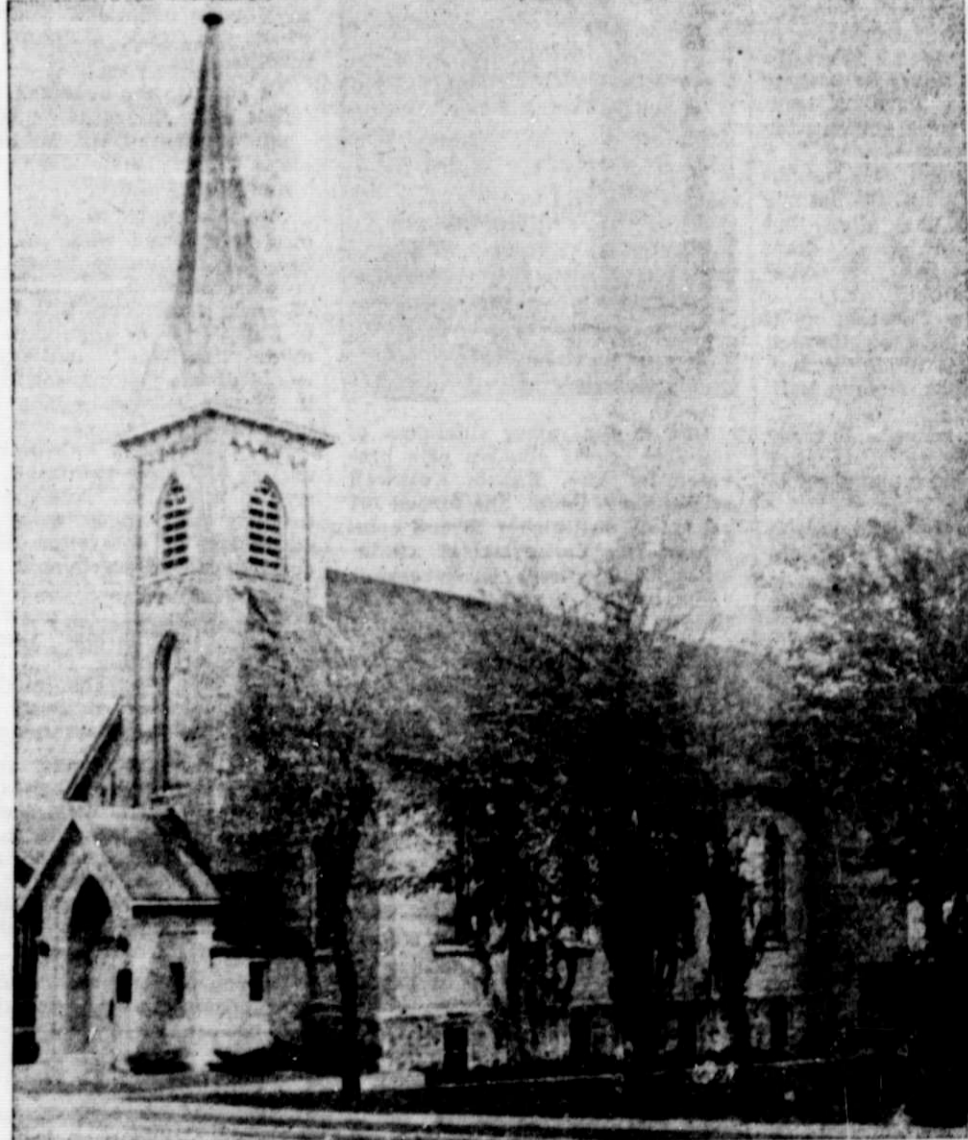

It appeared that the people were open minded on the subject and that they were willing to take any steps necessary to the advancement of school administration and facilities in the county.

A third meeting of the committee, Buckley announced, was scheduled to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 10, for town of Farmington taxpayers at the town hall in Fildesboro. The county superintendent disclosed that the committee will also conduct a meeting in the city of West Bend about the middle of the month.

MILK TRUCK DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT ON RIVER ROAD

A milk truck owned by Loran Backhaus, R. 3, Kewaskum, and driven by Ivan Buss of the same address was badly damaged in a crash on Highway G (the River road) about one-half mile north of the village last Friday morning. The driver lost control of the machine, which ran along a ditch for a distance, clipped off a pole, swiped a tree and came to a stop where the highway intersects with a side road. Much milk was spilled and many milk cans damaged and strewn along the side of the road. Buss escaped with minor bruises.

PEACE CHURCH OBSERVES GOLDEN JUBILEE

The golden jubilee of the founding of the Peace Evangelical and Reformed church, Kewaskum, was observed last Sunday at three services held during the day. At all the services the church was filled to overflowing, and about 600 meals were served during the day by the ladies of the parish. The meals were prepared by Miss Florence Jusch, West Bend cateress.

Former pastors of the church were present at the 50th anniversary services and preached sermons. In the morning the Rev. Ernst Irion of Ellettsville, Ohio, preached. The afternoon speaker was the Rev. Richard M. A. Gadow of Wauwatosa, and at the evening service the Rev. R. G. Beck of Burlington, Iowa, was heard. Former pastor Henry Barth, retired, also brought greetings, as did the Rev. John Gieser, Milwaukee, president of the South Wisconsin synod.

Handsome anniversary booklets containing the history of the church and its members were sold throughout the day and these booklets may still be obtained by interested members and friends of the parish by contacting the present pastor, the Rev. William F. Schwemmer.

2 Men Face Induction on First County Draft Call

Draft notices from their government were being received this week by draftees throughout the state. A total of two hundred four state youths will be taken into the armed services, 17 of whom will be residents of Washington county. Of these 17, only two will be inducted into the army on the government's first draft call. The others will report to local boards for physical exams to further determine their qualification for active service.

First of the new Wisconsin draftees have been ordered to report to their induction stations Nov. 15. They will report to 14 stations set up throughout the state. Almost all of the men now being inducted will be certain to see 21 months of service under the new draft law. They are the ones who received physical exams by army doctors in October and who were declared physically capable of active service.

The men who will report, beginning Nov. 15, are for the most part 25 year olds who are unmarried and who failed to see active duty in World War II. The lower age groups were scheduled to be summoned to fill later quotas but some draft boards have been forced to select men from the younger age brackets so that they could fill their quotas. It is expected that in January the boards will be taking men who are in the 21 year age bracket.

The local board reported that those ordered to take their pre-induction physical will travel to Milwaukee to do so. The board has also reported that it still is in need of two additional members.

Many draft boards suspect that many of those born in 1920 and who would thus fall under the 18 year age bracket, have failed to register. The average for the first eight months of the year would be 20 to 18 year olds per month but the average has slipped to nine.

Membership Drive of Jr. Red Cross Starts Monday

The annual membership drive of the American Junior Red Cross in the West Bend chapter area will begin Monday in public and parochial, and all rural schools, according to Mrs. Albert Gensman, chapter Junior Red Cross chairman.

The membership drive will be opened as Junior Red Cross members pick up fellow students in classroom units, at the regular fee of 50 cents for each classroom in elementary schools and $1 for a group of 100 or less in secondary schools. No individual fees are required, Mrs. Gensman said, and no one is excluded because he is unable to contribute toward group enrollment. All funds over enrollment fees go into the Junior Red Cross service fund, used to finance local, national and international Junior Red Cross programs which are disconnected with disbursements of the adult Red Cross membership.

"We want to see 100 per cent enrollment in all of our schools," the chairman said. "And we believe that our children, realizing the vast accomplishments of young Red Cross members in the past, will want to join the youth organization that has achieved such a fine record."

Mrs. Gensman said that through the National Children's Fund, Junior Red Cross members have contributed to the health of children abroad and in addition to $125 contributed locally to the fund last year, members here packed 156 gift boxes with educational and health supplies for war-impooverished children overseas.

COLORFILM OF ALPS TO BE SHOWN AT BEECHWOOD HALL

"Sons of the Alps," a travelogue in a new style, will be shown at Piremen's hall, Beechwood, at 8:30 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 20. Werner Buchel of Milwaukee in this film emphasizes the human side of the country's story and illustrates the remarkable progress Switzerland has made.

It required Buchel 14 months of filming which took him through some of the remotest and most colorful mountain sections of this little Alpine land. The film covers a lot of territory in its 2 1/2 hour run and includes St. Moritz winter sports, Alpine youth melodies and many other features, and ends with the Old Glarus whence a group of determined pioneers set out to find a New Glarus in Wisconsin about 100 years ago.

"JUVENILE DELINQUENCY" SUBJECT OF KIWANIS TALK

"Juvenile Delinquency" was the subject of a very interesting speech given the Kiwanis club Monday evening by Otto C. Rentner, vice president of the Lutheran Aid Association, Appleton.

Stressing that adult examples are important and that bad companions form another delinquency cause, Mr. Rentner advised that youths also learn by imitation. Emphasis was also placed on bad literature and the need for cleaning it up.

Advice included being honest and fair with youths, securing good companions, and providing a good environment.

Mr. Rentner was a guest of Marvin Martin.

Remains of Sgt. Kuehl to Arrive Wednesday

The casketed remains of Sgt. Lester Kuehl, 24, World War II deceased member of the army, will arrive in Kewaskum aboard the 9:45 p. m. northbound Chicago & North western train No. 161 next Wednesday, Nov. 17, according to word received Thursday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kuehl, village, and Miller's Funeral home.

The casket will be accompanied by a uniformed military escort from the Chicago Distribution center, American Graves Registration service. Sgt. Kuehl was one of 7,000 Americans who lost their lives during World War II returned to the United States from Europe aboard the army transport Carroll Victory, which docked in New York on Oct. 6. Armed forces dead originally interred in temporary military cemeteries in France and Holland were among those brought back to this country on the Carroll Victory.

Sgt. Kuehl was inducted into the army Sept. 29, 1942, and served overseas from October, 1943, until the time of his death. He was killed in action in France on Aug. 9, 1944, while serving with an infantry unit.

Members of Kewaskum Post No. 281, American Legion, will meet the train at the depot and escort the casket to the Miller Funeral home. Reburial services will be held from the funeral home at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 18, at the Salem Reformed church at Wayne. The American Legion post will participate in the services and the post firing squad will provide military honors at the grave.

A complete obituary will follow in next week's issue.

COUNTY LEGIONNAIRES ENJOY HARD TIME PARTY

A hard time party given by the Washington County council of the American Legion was held at Schneider's hall, Jackson, Friday evening, Nov. 5. A business meeting preceded the party. The council endorsed the reappointment of George Koib as county service officer. Refreshments and free dancing were furnished by the host Jackson post. Prizes were awarded the best hard time costumes and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Koch, Kewaskum, won one of the prizes given to best dressed couple.

SEWING DEMONSTRATION

The two local adult sewing classes met together on Tuesday evening at the high school and had a demonstration given by people from the Singer Sewing Machine shop at Fond du Lac.

Russ Reject U. N. Berlin Proposal; Stalin Hits Three Western Powers As Attempting to Start a New War

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: The opinions expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer and not necessarily those of the newspaper.

DIFFERENT COAL STRIKE... French troops in battle array march into the Villiers mine in the St. Etienne area of France as the government seized strike-bound coal mines throughout northern France. Violent rioting and assorted civil battles preceded the government's action in taking over the mines.

REJECTION: U. N. Proposal

Russia wouldn't play ball with the United Nations on the settlement of the Berlin dispute.

A six-power "face-saving" resolution for solving the crisis was presented to the U. N. security council and promptly batted down by the Soviets—to the surprise of no one concerned.

THE RESOLUTION proposed that Russia lift the Berlin blockade immediately; that the four military governors of Germany begin immediate negotiations to implement the Moscow agreement of August 30 for a Soviet-backed, four-power controlled mark in Berlin by November 20, and that a foreign ministers' council be convened within 10 days thereafter to take up other serious differences over Germany.

Russia's stated objection to the resolution was that it provided for the lifting of the blockade before the currency control went into effect.

Previously, the western powers had turned Andrei Vishinsky's counter proposal for simultaneous lifting of the blockade and putting into effect the currency agreement.

IN REALITY, this point of difference upon which the latest deadlock centered was a minor one, but it served to illustrate the vast gap that must be closed before a meeting of minds between the East and West can be achieved.

MOREOVER, it has become increasingly clear that Moscow does not even have any desire to lift the blockade. It is, for them, too good a weapon with which to attempt to bludgeon the U. S. and the West into granting them further concessions in Germany, including a voice in the operation of the all-valuable Ruhr industrial area.

STALIN TALKS: "Horror"

In what is probably the most amazing outburst he has made since the war, Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin told the world that the U. S., Great Britain and France are seeking a new war through a "policy of aggression."

The accusation, despite the high level of its source, amounted to nothing more than a repetition of the already stereotyped Russian practice of attempting to turn an opponent's reasoning back on him.

HOWEVER, he added, the "public forces favoring peace" are too strong to permit "the instigators of a new war" to plunge the world again into the "horrors" of world conflict.

Stalin named Winston Churchill as "the main instigator of a new war" and predicted that Churchill's "pupils of aggression" would be rejected by the people just as Churchill has been.

Although he did not label President Truman or any other leader as a "pupil in aggression," the implication was too clear to be mistaken, particularly since the Moscow radio had broadcast a prediction that Mr. Truman would be defeated on November 2.

STALIN accused the U. S. and Britain of twice rejecting settlements of the Berlin crisis with Russia and said that debate on the Berlin question in the U. N. security council "was a display of aggression on the part of Anglo-American and French ruling circles."

The British and Americans, the Soviet premier said, declared "null and void" an agreement reached in the Kremlin conferences August 30 that would have Old-Fashioned, but...

Toothaches are old-fashioned. That is the opinion of Dr. John C. Brauer of the University of Washington school of dentistry, a leading authority on children's dentistry and care of the teeth.

Dr. Brauer said few children would experience dental pain during their lives if they practiced preventive measures now known to dentistry. Most older people are doomed because of their past habits.

"The determining factors are what the child eats and how his teeth are cared for," Dr. Brauer said. "Hereditarily little to do with dental decay."

A child should visit the dentist before he is three years old. The average youngster already has dental decay by his third birthday. One of the major necessities is an adequate nutritional diet, including proper amounts of milk, eggs, meats, fruits and cereals.

Children should have only a minimum of concentrated sweets like candy, gum and pastries.

Headliners

IN YORK, Pa. . . Mrs. Walter Sechrist made a wide-eyed announcement that her gas range picks up short wave transmissions made by her next-door neighbor, an amateur radio operator, vowed it had broadcast a conversation between the neighbor and another operator in South America.

IN SALEM, Mass. . . Robert C. Carter claimed in a divorce suit that his wife had deserted him a block from the church just two minutes after they were married in 1944.

IN HAGERSTOWN, Mo. . . Thieves broke into the Potomac Edison building, got away with a specially equipped camera set up to take pictures of thieves breaking into the Potomac Edison building.

IN LITTLE BRICKHILL, Eng. . . Postmaster N. C. Parrott looked down his nose at the man with the gun trying to rob him of his postal receipts, sneered, "The revolver is not loaded, you know." "Sorry," said the crushed desperado, sinking away.

IN DURAND, Wis. . . Frank Weimirs was forced to reassure his customers as to the fact that he still was in the popcorn and soft drink business after he began making deliveries with an old hearse.

BLUFFING: In Berlin

Gen. H. H. Arnold, wartime commander-in-chief of the U. S. air forces, turned up in the news with a military man's hearty opinion about what to do with the Russians in Berlin.

"WHY NOT take a motor convoy and push it through the corridor to Berlin?" he suggested. "Perhaps we might have learned something from Gen. George Patton's technique. If Patton were running the show, he would take it through."

Russia, he claimed, is attempting a tremendous bluff against the U. S. and the western allies, but is "not ready to fight, doesn't want to fight and won't bluff" if someone should call her bluff.

WHAT would the Russians do if an armed convoy did plow through the blockade? "Not much, if anything," was Arnold's laconic estimate.

"It would be a grave and basic error to let the Communists bluff us out in the present deadlock in Germany."

"They are not ready to fight and they do not want to fight. We should curb the national tendency to be in awe of the Russians, an awe amounting almost to fear."

"TIME plays with the Russians. We have the superior power now. They may have it later. Meantime, it would be folly to let them bridge the gap by bluff alone."

Whether he was right or wrong, Hap Arnold at least had done the worrying U. S. public one favor: By reducing the problem to hard, simple terms of pure action and divorcing it from the intricate diplomacy he made it appear more understandable, less overwhelming and less frightening. General Arnold, at least isn't expecting a war tomorrow.

Worst of All

Norman Thomas, veteran Socialist presidential candidate, rated the 1948 campaign as "the worst of the six campaigns I have been in."

Thomas, who was first nominated in 1928, demonstrated "the admitted truth that any man with the right sort of luck can be president" while Gov. Thomas E. Dewey "exudes sweetness and light not native to his disposition." And Wallace and Taylor were even worse.

TREATY: On the Way?

In view of the existing physical and ideological rift which has divided the world into two opposing blocs, it has come to seem almost inevitable that the western bloc sooner or later would devise some kind of informal military treaty for the mutual protection of the nations concerned.

AND A few days before the election word began to creep out from among "high American sources" that a military treaty was on the way.

The report was that drafting was scheduled to begin soon of an agreement pledging full aid to the five-nation Brussels alliance of western Europe. Results of the U. S. election were in no way supposed to affect the plan, since both major parties had committed themselves in principle to backing the Brussels alliance.

SUCH AN alliance supposedly will link the United States and Canada in formal treaty relationships with Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg.

From a behind-the-scenes standpoint, this will not be a new move. It is highly probable indeed, that the broad outlines of a north Atlantic pact—with some details sketched in—has been in existence for some time.

The alliance is expected to commit the U. S. and Canada to: 1. BUILD up air, land and sea forces of the Brussels powers.

2. STANDARDIZE equipment and training with the Brussels powers.

3. CREATE a seven-nation unified military strategic command under an American commander-in-chief.

4. PLEDGE a guarantee of each nation's territorial integrity in case of war.

5. GIVE the North American powers the right to establish air, land or sea bases in any of the five other countries.

U. S. officials expect that the treaty will be ready for ratification by the middle of 1949, barring extraordinary events. How congress will react to such a treaty is, for the time being, a debatable question.

SHIPBUILDING: Navy Expands

Increasing importance in the minds of U. S. defense chiefs of underwater and air warfare, including consideration of possible attacks across the Arctic, was revealed in a statement outlining the navy's post-war shipbuilding program.

Vice Adm. Earle M. Mills, chief of the bureau of ships, listed the development of advanced prototypes in four major fields as the aim of the building and conversion plan:

"FIRST, aircraft carriers capable of handling the fast, heavy long-range naval planes developed and under development since the war; second, high-speed, deep-submergence submarines; third, anti-submarine vessels to combat these submarines; fourth, ships equipped for Polar and picket service."

Battleships were not mentioned in the statement, nor was there any direct reference to preparations against air attack over the roof of the globe, but the program's emphasis on polar ships was considered self-explanatory.

IN THIS phase of the program, two destroyer escorts and two submarines will be specially fitted for off-shore aircraft detection. One cargo ship and two floating dry-docks for landing ships will be converted for service in polar waters.

The aircraft carrier part of the program includes the construction, to begin late this year or early in 1949, of the yet-unnamed super-carrier of 85,000 tons, designated as the CVA-58.

Conspicuous First

One of the minor sidelights of the late, great election was provided by Mrs. Fannie Rockwell of Danbury, Conn. She turned 104 years old on October 25 and celebrated this chronological attainment six days later, on November 2, by casting a vote for the first time in her life.

RED PRICES: Going Up

America doesn't have a capitalistic monopoly on inflation. Russia is getting her share of that uncomfortable condition, too.

Here's what happened in Russia in August: Postal and telegraph rates were boosted 33 1/2 per cent. Train fares and long distance phone call rates went up in varying amounts. In Moscow subway fares jumped 25 per cent and streetcar fares from 50 to 100 per cent.

How did Soviet newspapers report this news? They didn't, according to a recent "Voice of America" broadcast to Russia and the Soviet satellites.

The state department's "Voice" said that a "first hand report" revealed the sweeping August price boost in Russia. All public utility rates throughout the Soviet Union were increased, it claimed.

The "Voice" commented that if this had happened in any western country it would have made front page news in every Moscow journal and most other Soviet papers.

Elections Will Bring Out Those Cave Man Instincts

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—I know you may find it hard to believe, but I was greatly stirred up over the election campaign and its outcome. I have a job and it's as tough under one party as another. I have no vote, and between you and me, I am not agitating for a civil rights bill which will get me one.

Like all of the citizens of the District of Columbia, I share the delightful irresponsibility with minors, idiots and criminals who don't have a vote either.

Thus, I am without political affiliation, obligation, or prejudice.

Well—sometimes I do have one prejudice—a race prejudice. Sometimes I get awfully prejudiced against the human race.

Another reason that I am not politically excited this year is that I have been watching the Washington vaudeville show from a good seat in the gallery press and radio gallery—most of the time for the past three decades, and although the performers have changed, there hasn't been too much alteration of the script. A Republican or a Democratic politician, to a reporter smells no sweeter by any name.

It is my business to report what they do and say, and of course I am not to express the more they do and say, the better—the brickbats fall where they may.

I have observed a good many acts on the Washington scene that got top billing—and deserved it. I have also listened to a lot of pretty sad comedians and seen a lot of hams.

But on the whole I believe that, regardless of who happens to be in the cast, taking it all in all, it's a pretty high class drama. In fact, I think as we compare the Washington program with most of the others that are offered by the other capitals of the world, it's really the greatest show on earth.

However, during campaign time I must admit I would rather be right (where I am) than President. On any ticket.

Now don't think I am objecting to our good old knock-down, drag-out method of electing Presidents or any other officials. I not only think it's a wonderful thing that we have this free-for-all every four years, but I think both parties would wither on the vine if we didn't.

In fact I think the abandonment of our method would probably bring crashing to the ground the palladium of our republic, would destroy our opportunity to pursue life, liberty and happiness—and would reduce these United States to such a condition that the Indians wouldn't take the property back if we offered it to them.

I base this statement not upon mere guess but upon sound scientific studies of the question of why we behave like human beings (when we do).

Now I don't know how far you will go along with the psychiatrists who claim your athlete's foot is due to a complex created when you were two years old by having your big brother drop a baseball bat on your toe. Nevertheless I think one thing has been established by psychiatry—a truism confirmed by writers and poets of all ages and which you can confirm yourself by going over some of your own inner thoughts. Especially when you think what you'd like to do to the man who crumpled your fender while you were attending prayer meeting.

I refer to the accepted truism that even the most benign and mild-mannered Mr. Milquetoast has a caveman deep within him.

One has only to observe one's own angel-child who, on his way home from Sunday School, and in cooperation with the angel-children of one's neighbors, will tie a can to a dog's tail or engage in a dozen other "humane" activities that would give a visiting cannibal from the South Seas something to write home about.

We DO have a caveman within us; we DO have primitive, aggressive instincts. We have the instinct to give pain, to destroy, to take advantage of our fellow-man. The early period of our lives is spent in being taught to turn these instincts to good purpose. The psychologists call it "sublimating" them. The sadistic inclination of a medical student can be transmuted, under the influence of civilized society, to make him the finest surgeon.

The desire to plunder and rob and destroy, common to even the most angelic little ones, can be channeled into the ingenuity by which the engineer moves mountains and captures of industry push railways through the forest, and thus benefit instead of harm mankind.

Do you suppose we could put on that greatest of all exhibitions—a World Series game—if it weren't for the old cave-man?

I have heard it said that baseball has become the monarch of sports because it brings into play so many of the primitive emotions. First, we have pursuit, without which primitive man could not get the food necessary to sustain himself and his family (or even a wife to raise the family).

Then—another primitive pastime used in baseball—pity the poor cave-man who couldn't accurately heave a rock! It only requires plenty of practice in a summer camp plus what was learned in the sandlot to turn that basic desire into the ability to pitch a no-hit, no-run game.

Take one more example. As the cave-man progressed, he learned to use a club. So there it is—base runner, pitcher, batsman.

Primitive Urges Basic in Democracy

Just as the sublimation of primitive instinct has formed the great sport of the greatest democracy in the world—so the sublimation of some of these instincts behind ancient tribal customs has made our democracy itself possible.

In a successful democracy, instincts are not repressed. They are merely modified so that they fit into a human and humane society.

As you know, by the time man had reached the point where he had organized himself into a clan, it was the "papa" who ran things. He was the chief because he had the one quality most essential in those days of self and group protection—strength.

His term of office was not limited by statute. Some of the chiefs even ran for a fourth term.

But as the "papa" grew older—if not wiser—he also grew weaker. But his sons were growing stronger. Finally they felt it was time to hold an election. (They had had their primaries of course, and had picked a candidate.) Then the campaign began. It was usually quite short—but very snappy. Both candidates were armed with goad-sized clubs. The debate took place at some point where the non-voting but interested electorate (this was before women's suffrage) could watch with as little personal danger as possible.

Of course the best man finally won. Inauguration ceremonies took place immediately, attended by all of the tribe except a couple who were delegated to bury the defeated candidate. Then the younger brothers and the females settled down to maintain peace, prosperity, and the pursuit of happiness.

Let me quote one or two paragraphs from the work of that very fascinating book by Dr. Gregory Zilboorg—"Mind, Medicine, and Man."

"It is difficult to find any function of our democratic society which surpasses or even approximates an electoral campaign in intensity and blatancy of aggression. Acrimony, anger, hate, slander, venality appear—everything except actual homicide. The proverbial lid is literally off the reservoir of patricidal drives, and society turns itself on its symbolic victim with all the energy of a primitive cannibal. It is primitive cannibalism, whether it expresses itself in campaign slander, whispering campaigns, political maneuvering, or flattery of the indolent who do not care. A father is to be killed by way of democratic ceremonial, and a new one will at once be set up by way of the same ceremonial."

In other words, we had a healthy fight in November and got it out of our systems. The cave-man within us was satisfied. We've got ourselves a President, and nobody has committed murder.

And there in we have an advantage not shared by some other countries. For here, even between elections, we allow the cave-man to roar unmuzzled in the press, over the radio, and from the rostrum. He can brandish his verbal club and hurl his barbed epithets in the very face of the President, the congress, and the town meeting.

And thereby, likewise, we prove our strength, a strength which derives not from the atomic bomb, but from a power that can and does penetrate peacefully even through an iron curtain.

A married man is a better adapter than a single man, says the American Machinist. He probably has learned that it is adapt or increase Fido's housing problem.

Make Your Child Happy With Novel Pull Toys

IF YOU want to make some child happy, make a set of these animals. The whole barnyard is represented. There's a whimsical sheep, a shy hog and a very dignified swan. Each will make friends quickly with some happy youngster.

There's a hen and rooster and a duck and duckling. Place them on stationary or movable platforms. They'll provide some lucky youngster with many play-time hours.

The full size pattern offered below simplifies making. You merely trace the pattern on wood, saw out each piece, then assemble it exactly as step-by-step directions indicate. No special tools or skills are required.

To insure decorating with a professional touch, full size decorating guides are provided. Trace these directly on to the wood and paint with color specified.

THE FICTION CORNER

SEAL OF APPROVAL By JOHN H. ROSE

He had been away a long time but Armand's appeared much the same to him—even to the apartment across the street which he nearly by-passed in his bitterness.

ARMAND'S looked much the same, even after seven years. The long lunch counter on the right extended the full length of the room, the polished fittings of the soda fountain gleaming in dual rows as they reflected themselves in the mirror behind the counter. To the left were the red leather booths. Half way back was a wide doorway leading to the dining room and dance floor beyond. I looked for old Peter, the clean-up man who was the favorite of the high school kids who frequented the place. But he was not in sight. A new soda jerk polished the spotless surface before me, and the girl who took my order was also a newcomer.

"A chocolate malted," I said, and stroled to the jukebox in the far corner while the little mixer hummed. I punched the numbers at random and fed the music box a couple of coins.

Back on my stool I saw that Armand was sitting at the little alcove table overlooking the entire room.

It started to rain. Belting down hard, little torrential streams poured from the awnings, just as they had the first night we came to Armand's. Her guardian angel, she'd called him. He had to meet and approve all her new friends. For years they had been neighbors, and Armand was a kind of paternal friend since her own father had died.

As the old boy gave me the once over that night, she had laughed gaily. And silly or not, I felt pretty swell when he came over and treated us. She told me he gave his seal of approval by treating if he liked you. I was in.

I ordered another malted for the sake of the memory, and looked up toward the little alcove. Armand had detached himself from his chair, and with no small amount of effort, was waddling along behind the counter. I waited, thinking of that other night when she had been at my side. The scent of her had been everywhere, her soft hair cascading gently to her shoulders, the sweated. I fidgeted and sipped again at the malted. He stood watching me for a long minute, then he said: "She was in last night," he said. "As a matter of fact, we were talking about you, Mr. Anderson." He picked up my empty glass, and forced it down over the automatic washer.

I nodded, too busy thinking about what he said to even reply properly. So they had been talking about me? What did that mean? I was certain neither of them knew the real story behind my sudden departure. I'd had to go in a hurry. No one knew except John and Peggy. As far as the others were concerned, I was just a guy who had taken his firm for a few hundred dollars. They probably figured I'd been lucky to escape prison.

That I had been covering for John was nobody's business. I didn't approve what Johnny had done, but Peggy was my sister. With three kids and another on the way, Johnny knew his salary wouldn't be able to stand the stretch. Instead of laying his problems before his boss and asking for a raise, he lost his head. He did the foolish thing. Others had done it before. I got him out of the mess, but no one knew this but the three of us.

So I figured any conversation about me wouldn't be complimentary . . . unless they'd discovered that I wasn't just a cheap thief. I wondered. She lived at the same place. Armand was friendly toward me. What did it all add up to?

But did they know these things about Peggy and John? Did they know that the money had been repaid? Or were they like the others—did they suspect that I was just a bum? I guess I might just as well forget about the whole thing and go some place to start all over again. I took one last look toward her apartment, picked up my coat, and asked the girl for my check. Armand had stepped to one of the booths to greet some folks who had come in just as the rain started. I waited for him at the cashier's booth at the end of the counter.

I was disgusted and showed it. I guess. Finally Armand shuffled over to the cash register and took the check the girl had given me.

"That's all right, Mr. Anderson," he said, "This is my treat. Good luck."

I muttered my thanks and went outside to stand under the awning, wondering where to go in the gloomy downpour. Then it suddenly dawned on me. Armand had treated! His seal of approval! I was still Mr. Big across the street—that's what he was trying to tell me!

Armand had let me know that in his quaint, unobtrusive way. I looked again at the apartment windows. There was a light there now. She was home!

I didn't even look up and down the street, but dashed out into the rain. The thing I'd waited a million minutes for. This made up for every lonely night, every remark handed out by those who didn't know. I was going home. I could say all the things that had been bottled up inside me for so long. I could tell her how much I loved her, how I had longed for her. I glanced back as I entered the building. Armand was peering out the door, his round face pressed against the glass, a wide smile spread across his countenance as I waved merrily before climbing the stairs to the third floor front.

Francis L. Sullivan, arriving in Hollywood for his role in "Joan of Arc," with Ingrid Bergman, carried a small, perforated box. It contained Mrs. Sullivan's pet turtles, brought along so that she would not get too homesick for her country place in England, where she has so many small animals and birds. The Sullivan's turtles should meet James Mason's cats.

Petticoat Influence. Say, who's that walking down the street in front of us? We mean that beruffled dresden doll who pauses to swish up her skirts as she steps daintily up and down the curb? Could it be the same teen-ager we used to deplore in jeans and shirts? It could—and it is! It's YOU in the petticoats that have changed your whole manner and personality, along with your appearance.

Conceal or Reveal?—A survey indicates that most of you approve of the petticoat that hangs a bit beneath your skirt. And just to make sure that it doesn't bluish around, you're catching up one side of your skirt with a bow or clip. All this despite protests from the same Joes who so vigorously and futilely opposed your New Look. Will they be sewing ruffles on their trousers in protest, now that you've all subscribed to the P. H. D. society (Petticoat Hanging Down, that is)?

Petticoat Pretties—Down in Louisville, Ky., teens are living up to Southern Bell traditions by pinning artificial flowers to their petticoat ruffles to match the buttonholes on their suits or blouses. Out West we hear they're sewing heart-shaped pockets near the hem of their petticoats for handkerchiefs or sachets. And, all over the country you're lifting a corner of your skirt with that new Petticoat Peeper pin with a metal clip at the end of its chain shaped like a little hand.

Well, as the Ruffie said to the Flourier, "Let's Hang Around a Little Longer."

The scent of her had been everywhere, her soft hair cascading gently to her shoulders, the big brown eyes, long lashes, her soft white skin, and her pouting lips, vividly but carefully painted to entice the likes of me.

He always sat in this spot, or perched on a stool in the cashier's cage. He glanced up and smiled like a fat little Buddha come to life. He didn't speak. I thought:

"He doesn't remember me. But then I am the only customer in the place, he must have smiled at me."

He remembers me all right," I thought, "but doubtless doesn't relish the memory."

I turned away. I couldn't help but stare out the window. Her apartment was just across the street, third floor front. The windows overlooking the street were dark. Being so near her set the butterflies hopping in the pit of my stomach. I returned to the fountain and sipped at the malted.

Seven years. How do people mark the passage of seven years? To some it's the span of a witch's curse on a broken mirror. The return of the locust. The end of the itch. Pilgrimages to Mecca. Sabbatical leaves for teachers. Each has his own way of reckoning. Seven years . . . or a century.

I glanced at Armand. To him it probably meant another chin . . . more money. To her . . . I had no idea.

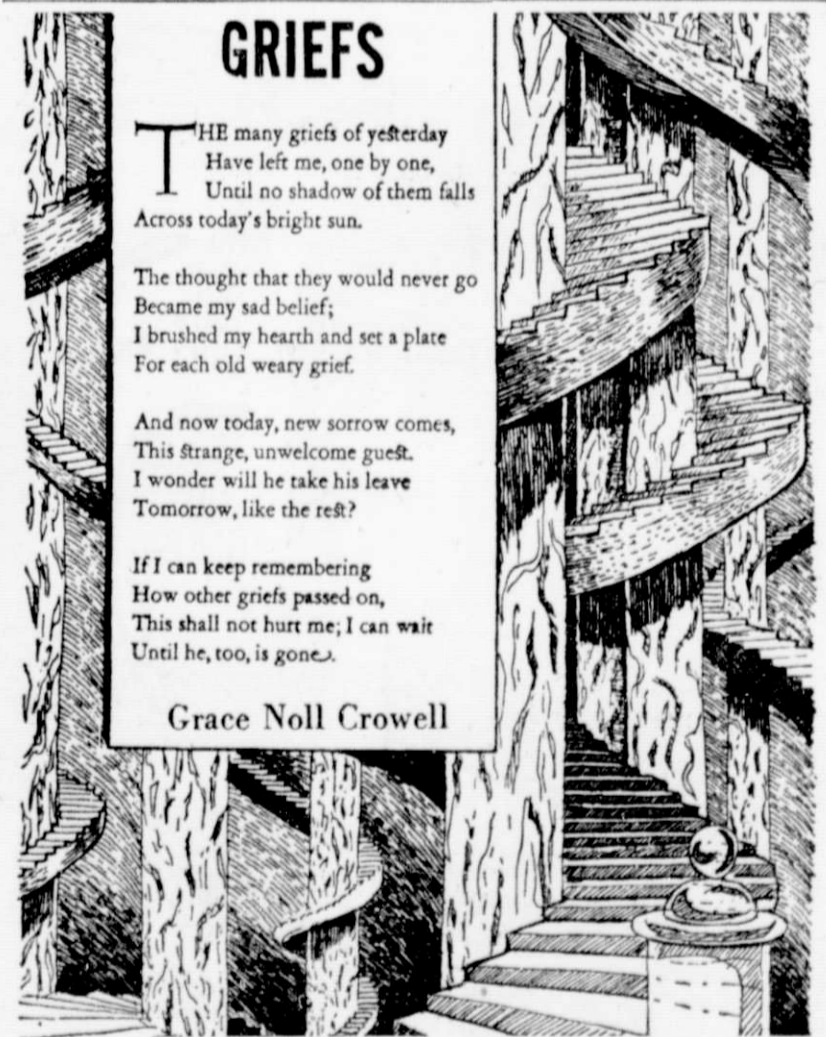

big brown eyes, long lashes, her soft white skin, and her pouting lips, vividly but carefully painted to entice the likes of me. The old guardian and I looked at each other for a long minute. I wondered if he was remembering. Finally he smiled. So . . . he hadn't forgotten.

"It's been a long time, Mr. Anderson," he said in his ingratiating rumble.

I STUCK out my hand, replying, "It's been a very long time, Armand. How've you been?" "Not bad, not bad," he shrugged. "A bit older, a trifle wiser. I can't complain." His eyes wandered across the street as he left us the answer to my unasked question. "Are you back in town to stay?" he added, as a kind of afterthought.

"That all depends," I said, and wondered about that "wiser" business. She certainly must have told him all about me. But he sounded friendly enough. I watched as he glanced again toward the front. I knew he was looking up at her apartment windows.

I tried to sound casual as I asked, "Amity's in lately?" He stroked his handful of chins, and seemed to be making a decision before he an-

New Records Established American railroads in the first half of 1948 carried more tons of freight per train than ever before and without any decrease in the average speed, states the Association of American Railroads.

At the same time, freight train performance per hour also established a new high record. The average load of freight per train in the first six months of 1948 was 1,153 tons, an increase of seven tons above the previous high in Rail Freight Haulage record for the year 1947 when the average was 1,146 tons. It also was an increase of 14 tons above that in 1944, the peak year for that period, the average was only 894 tons.

Tons of freight moved one mile for each hour of freight train operation averaged 18,212 in the first six months this year, the highest on record, compared with 10,580 ton-miles in the year 1929. This performance was made possible by improved operating meth-

Eve Arden, star of "Our Miss Brooks," has had successful careers in the movies, on the stage, now in radio. But she says that perfection in one medium is not much help in another. The projected performance of the stage would look hammy on the screen; the screen's restrained acting would be dull on the stage. Then in radio, you're not seen at all!

Felix Bressart has never played a role without a mustache since early in his career, when his wife threatened to leave him after he shaved his head and face, to play a grumpy old man. In "A Song Is Born" he uses what he calls his "standard hair brush moustache." "Comedy and tragedy are a hair's breadth apart, and I use a moustache to bridge that narrow gap," he says.

It has taken Dorothy Malone nearly six years to reach the place she attained in "One Sunday Afternoon," opposite Dennis Morgan. Tall, dark, beautiful, she began playing bits and posing for publicity photos at RKO.

Reminiscing on the set for "Every Girl Should Be Married," Alan Morley told how he lost his money aboard ship when coming here from England, years ago. A hotel kept his luggage when he couldn't pay his bill, so he slept under a tree in Central Park, ate rolls left on trays in the Automat and drank hot water flavored with catsup, till he landed a job.

Wallace R. Magill, producer of more than 700 "Telephone Hour" programs starring music's greatest names, gets along beautifully with even the most temperamental musicians, perhaps because he's a musician himself. He's the only person who calls Lily Pons "Didi." It started when, after a bit of clowning, she called him "Mr. Magee." He came back with "Didi," his version of "diminutive diva," the popular label for La Pons.

Lucille Ball of the movies and CBS's "My Favorite Husband" is very proud of the cranberry glass chandelier in her living room. Her mother searched "all over Connecticut" to find one, proudly sent it to the coast. It got broken when it was being unpacked, whereupon the fond parent had to start searching again till she found a duplicate.

ODDS AND ENDS—October was Baby month on "Road of Life"; Eileen Palmer ("Francis Breda") and Audrey March, who sings the commercials, both had daughters. . . . The heavy mist you see in dream sequences in pictures is made of dry ice, vaporized by steam. More than 10,000 pounds were used to cloud up Doris Day's nightmare singing scene in Warner Bros.' "Two Guys and a Gal."

Jack Carson lays claim to one of the most unusual careers in Hollywood. After his arrival and entrance into films he made a career of losing Ginger Rogers. "I lost her six times, in six different pictures," says Jack.

Doctor Claims 1 Out of 500 Frenchmen Is Buried Alive

PARIS—One of every 500 Frenchmen who die is buried alive, Dr. Jean Huet told the General Council of the Seine department. Dr. Huet, a member of the council, charged that issuing death certificates by municipally appointed physicians often was a mere formality.

He introduced a bill to "organize the prevention of premature burials."

Expert Advises Raw Foods And Fresh Milk for Ulcers SAN FRANCISCO—If you are afraid of stomach ulcers, you may do well to include raw foods and fresh milk in your diet. That conclusion was reached by Dr. Garnett Cheney, chief of staff at Stanford university, after tests conducted with guinea pigs. A diet rich in vitamin U, found in raw foods and milk but deficient in heated foods, reduces peptic ulcer occurrences.

House Becomes an Aquarium After Columbia River Flood

ST. HELENS, ORE.—When the Columbia river flood subsided, the Sara Barkers went back to their home here. They weren't too surprised to find a carp in the bedroom. Nor even when they found a sturgeon in the living room.

What stumped them was what they found in the kitchen. It was a crab—70 miles upstream from the ocean.

The Bonne of Luxembourg was a daughter of the blind King of Bohemia, killed at Crecy in 1346 and a granddaughter of Saint Wenceslas.

Milwaukee Cat Club To Hold Show

The Milwaukee Auditorium will be the scene on November 13th and 14th for the Eighth Annual Cat Show given by the Milwaukee Cat Club, announced Miss Stella Harlos, manager of the show.

The show has an entry of almost 200 cats and kittens all competing for that great honor "The All American Cat." Many of the winners of last show season will be defending their title.

Two features this year will be a Siamese specialty show sponsored by the National Siamese Cat Club and a Silver specialty show sponsored by the American Silver Fanciers.

Judge of the All Breed show will be Mrs. C. F. Rotter of Minneapolis, Minn., while Mrs. Walter E. Linpert of Mentor, Ohio will judge the two specialty shows. Judging will go on through the day on Saturday and Sunday. At 8 P.M. Sunday evening Miss Harlos will present the grand awards.

One of the entrants in the show will be Ch. Spoon River's Suntan, the winner of the award for Best Cream All Midwest. His wins include two wins of Best Kitten in show, one Beresford Chicago show, 1946, and one at Milwaukee CFF 1947. His latest win was Second Best Cat in show at South Bend, Indiana last week end.

CHRIST MAYER FARMS BULL TOPS SIRE SALE AT $600

Oscar Kurtz, a dairy farmer near Ackerville, was the top bidder on a choice sire consignment by the Christ Mayer farms of Slinger at the 4th annual I-H and F.F.A. sire sale held last May. This young bull is a good show animal, having won blue ribbons at the county and state fairs and was the second champion animal at the Hartford farm festival. He is out of a 62 pound butterfat dam and is a son of a well known Curtis Cuddy consigned herd bull. The young sire was raised by Fred Mueller, an F.F.A. student of Hartford High school. The bull sold for $600.00.

The second top price of $525.00 was paid by George Hawkins of Jasco, Ill. for the Herbert Lapien consignment. This young sire carried a double cross of Bag Apple breeding. He was raised by Clifford Bauer, an F.F.A. student of West Bend High school.

The average of the 25 sires in the sale was $313.36. Sixteen of the 25 bulls sold for $200.00 or more. All but four of the bulls were purchased by farmers of the county.

Also sold at the sale were 8 young heifers ranging in age from 3 months to 2 years. The top sale price was $236.00 for a very nice 2 year old bred heifer, consigned by Arthur Bast of Hartford.

More than 400 farmers attended the sale. Appreciation is extended to Arthur Quade, auctioneer, and Howard Schacht of the First National Bank of West Bend for their gratuitous services.

Further appreciation is also extended to the following business firms of Washington county for their financial donations to defray the boys' share of the expense of the sale. Those contributing were:

Allenton State Bank; The Barton Corporation; Bank of Kewaskum; Brittingham & Hixon Lumber Co., West Bend; H. E. Cooley & Sons, West Bend; Enger-Kress Co., West Bend; The First National Bank, West Bend; Fuller Goodman Co., Slinger; Gehl Bros. Manufacturing Co., West Bend; Gell Milk Company, Allenton; Held & Kramer Hardware Co., Slinger; Alfred Held, Jackson; A. G. Koch, Inc., Kewaskum; Ray's Elevator, Allenton; Rockfield Canning Company, Rockfield; L. Rosenheimer, Kewaskum; State Bank of Slinger; Thiel's Mill, Slinger; West Bend Equipment Corp., West Bend; Aluminum Co.; West Bend Concrete Products Co.; Weiss Hardware Company, Allenton; West Bend Milling Co.; West Bend Lathia Company; B. C. Ziegler & Co., West Bend; Zwald's Mill, Slinger; Woelker Stamping Corp., Barton; White House Milk Co., Inc., West Bend; Carl Schryss, West Bend; First National Bank, Hartford; Kraft Food Company, Hartford; West Bend Consumers' Co-op; Ekerdt-Kraeber Oil Co., Hartford; Hartford Exchange Bank; Hartford Elevator; Leach & Christenson, Inc., Hartford; Bank of Jackson; West Bend Elevator; Gadow Milling Co., Barton.

TWO MOBILE X-RAY UNITS TO GIVE FREE COUNTY SERVICE

The state board of health will bring two mobile x-ray units to our county for two weeks free service beginning on Monday, Dec. 6, and continuing through Dec. 19.

The purpose of the chest x-ray service is to seek out unknown cases of tuberculosis with the hope of finding the trouble in its early stages when there are no symptoms to give warning. Remember that one per cent of the general population is ill with active contagious tuberculosis. Help us find these people.

The importance of the service cannot be over-emphasized. People in every walk of life can harbor this sometimes fatal disease. We suspect that farmers and industrial workers are particularly susceptible to tuberculosis, primarily because of the hard work in these livelihoods, and also because of occupational hazards.

Like most diseases, the best control of tuberculosis is to prevent its spread by early diagnosis. This is what the mobile x-ray unit will do. While the service is limited to persons over 17, it is felt that even though children are excluded the results will be complete as tuberculosis is pernicious mostly in adults, especially the aged who have a chronic cough.

Tuberculosis can be arrested in its early stages. Any person wanting to be sure that he is free of the disease and this ought to include every one who has not recently been examined—should spend the few minutes necessary for a free x-ray as offered by the county health department sponsored unit which will be here in December. Exact time and place will be published next week.

Money in Trees, Dundee Forestry Meeting Shows

The forest management meeting held Monday afternoon at the demonstration woodlot near Dundee was well attended by G.I. trainees and farmers from Washington county. The demonstration woodlot is a part of the state Kettle Moraine forest and is under the management of the conservation department.

Adrian DeVriend of the conservation service, R. W. Abbot, extension forester, and E. E. Skalski, county agricultural agent, explained present management practices now being carried out on this woodlot.

Carefully kept records of the amount of timber harvested annually show that time and labor spent in the woods during the time most farm work is slack can be made to pay out at nearly triple prevailing wage rates.

Demonstration on the use of power chain saws for felling trees, the use of a one man chain saw for trimming trees, log grading and classifying, were also presented.

Less than 5% of the land in Washington county, Mr. Skalski pointed out, is in a well regulated woodlot. Much of this land is unfit for cultivation. The production of trees is about the only use that can be made of such land without causing severe erosion problems.

There is a good demand for home sawed lumber and for fire wood. These acres can be made to produce an added income on any farm by careful and proper management, and they can be made to add to the beauty of the rural landscape.

COUNTY WOMEN ORGANIZE FOR CHEST X-RAYS BY MOBILE UNIT

Several members of the Associated Women of the Farm Bureau met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Bezold, Germantown, to discuss the organization of Washington county for chest x-rays by the mobile unit for tuberculosis. Miss Salka, the county nurse, gave definite dates and places for the clinic which starts in December. It is the sincere wish that all of Washington county will co-operate. Posters will be displayed and personal contacts will be made. The following attended:

Mmes. H. Kressin, Jackson; E. Reed, Erin; N. Leffen, Erin; J. Doll Jr., Hartford; A. Horst, Hartford; L. Blesch, Slinger; R. Held, Polk; C. Lezold, Germantown; H. Gettelman, Germantown, and M. Blomberg, Hixfield.

CARD OF THANKS
Our heartfelt thanks to all who extended comforting sympathy and help in our recent sorrow, the death of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. August Stange. To Rev. Zanow, the organist and singers, Ladies' Aid, Miller's Funeral home, for the beautiful floral pieces and memorial wreaths, and to all who showed their respect by calling at the funeral home or attending the funeral, we are deeply grateful.
August Stange and Family

IN MEMORIAM
In sweet and loving memory of our beloved wife and mother, Mrs. August Stange, who passed away on Nov. 2, 1948:
Farewell dear mother, sweet thy rest,
Weary with years and worn with pain,
Farewell, 'till in some happy place
We shall behold thy face again.
Thou art to miss thee, all our years,
And tender memories of thee keep
Thine in the Lord to rest, for so,
He giveth his beloved sleep.
Sadly missed by her husband, August Stange, and children.

IS YOUR SPINE IN LINE?

Perfect alignment of the spine means perfect health. Imperfect alignment means that one or more of the vertebrae of the spine are out of the natural position. This produces pressure on the delicate nerves at the point where they leave the spine. Because of this the brain cannot get the full amount of life force over them.

Whatever part of the body, whether it is the heart, stomach, lungs, kidneys, etc., that is supplied by a pinched nerve, is bound to be weak, because every cell in the body receives its life force over the nervous system, and if the nerve is pinched this life force is decreased.

Chiropractic Treatments
will put your spine in line and health follows.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Single Dish Suppers Please Family Tastes; Most Prepare Quickly

EVERY HOMEMAKER needs several special dishes on which she can draw for Sunday night suppers and other occasions when company appears and needs hot and hearty refreshment. There are covered dish suppers at the church which are so popular, and then, too, the youngsters coming home from school games and events may want something to warm them as well as to satisfy their appetites. Plan to serve either a salad or dessert or both as one of the main dishes, depending upon the appetites, and, of course on the type of supper you are serving. All of the recipes I'm giving you today are bound to be special favorites.

Baked Beans
1 quart dried navy beans
1 teaspoon soda
1 medium onion
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/4 pound salt pork
1 1/2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Soak beans in cold water (to cover) overnight. Drain, cover with cold water and add baking soda. Bring to a boil and boil 15 minutes. Drain, cover with fresh water and bring to a boil again. Drain.

Baked beans make an outstandingly good supper for Sunday night or for entertaining informally for men folk or youngsters who like their food hearty, but good to eat.

Place the onion at the bottom of the pot and add beans, molasses, brown sugar, seasonings and juice. Cut pork into small pieces and press into the beans. Add enough water to cover the beans. Bake, covered, in a slow (325-degree) oven for five hours, adding more water when necessary to keep the beans from drying. Remove cover, bring pork to the surface and bake for one hour longer.

BAKED BEANS ARE good when served with the following dessert and salad:

Cabbage-Fruit Salad (Serves 6)
2 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 cup diced pineapple
2 red apples, cored and diced
Mayonnaise

Toss all ingredients together with enough mayonnaise to make creamy.

Orange Sponge Pudding (Serves 8)
2 cups bread crumbs
1 pint milk
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 orange
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
2 beaten egg whites

Place bread crumbs in top of double boiler with milk and cook until soft. Then add remaining ingredients. Pour mixture into a buttered baking dish and bake in a slow (325-degree) oven until firm. Serve with the following sauce: Beat two egg yolks until thick; add one-fourth cup of powdered sugar and the juice and grated rind of one-half orange. Just before serving fold in one cup of cream, whipped. The pudding may be baked as the beans finish since the oven temperature is the same.

LYNN SAYS: Keep Ingredients Available For Making Hot Snacks

Those baking powder biscuits from Sunday dinner can be turned into delicious snacks on Sunday evening. Split the biscuits, butter them and top with a slice of tomato, a slice of cheese and sprinkle with chopped cooked bacon. Broil until cheese melts.

Creamed, well seasoned crabmeat may be broiled after being spread on buttered toast rounds.

Frankfurters may be split and inserted with a piece of cheese, then wrapped in bacon and broiled. Serve them in toasted buns or with hot potato salad.

Leftover ham may be ground with hard-cooked eggs, chopped, and enough mayonnaise and catchup to hold together. Place the mixture in split and buttered finger rolls and heat in a paper bag in the oven.

Have you ever tried placing canned asparagus tips on buttered toast and serving with a cheese sauce? They're delicious!

SUNDAY NIGHT SUPPER

- Chilled Tomato Juice
 - Hamburger-Cheese Buns
 - Relish
 - Cabbage-Fruit Salad
 - Hot Chocolate
 - Boston Cream Pie
- *Recipe Given.

After a heavy dinner on Sunday, the family will enjoy the light savoriness of Shrimp Wiggle for the evening supper. Serve with a salad or just a dessert depending upon how sharp the appetites are.

ONE OF THE following fish dishes makes a delicious supper when the gang gathers at your home or for Sunday night supper as a delightful change from regular dinner:

Shrimp Wiggle (Serves 4)
2 onions, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
2 cups stewed tomatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 cup water
2 cups cleaned shrimp, cooked or canned
Salt, pepper
Toast rounds

Saute onions in butter until golden brown. Add tomatoes.

Simmer for a few minutes. Stir water into flour to make a smooth paste and add tomato mixture. Cook, stirring as mixture thickens. Add whole shrimp. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Serve with toast rounds and garnish with stuffed olives.

Macaroni-Salmon Scallop (Serves 6)
1 cup macaroni
1 1/2 pound can flaked salmon
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper
Salt

1 1/2 cups thin white sauce
Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse. Alternate layers of macaroni and salmon in a casserole sprinkling each layer with onion, green pepper, and salt. Pour white sauce over all and sprinkle top with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate (350-degree) oven. This dish may also be made with tuna fish, ham or chicken.

SOMETIMES WE MERELY want hot sandwiches to satisfy our appetites for Sunday night or after a football or basketball game. But, make these hot and substantial, and serve with a hot beverage and dessert if you want to make a grand meal of them.

Open-Faced Cheese Sandwiches (Makes 6 Sandwiches)
6 slices lean bacon
1/2 pound American cheese
2 slices onion
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
6 slices bread

Grind together the cheese, bacon and onion. Add mustard and mix thoroughly. Toast bread on one side and spread a thick layer of cheese on the untoasted side. Brown under broiler or in oven. Serve hot.

Hamburger-Cheese Buns (Serves 5)
1 pound ground beef
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
5 round buns
5 slices snappy cheese
India relish or piccalilli

Combine beef with salt and pepper and form five round, flat cakes. Fry on both sides until well browned. Split buns, toast and butter them. Cover the lower half of each bun with cheese, slice and let melt under broiler flame. Cover with hot hamburger, spread with relish and serve hot.

Released by WNU Features.

Season mashed sardines with catchup and Worcestershire sauce and stir in grated cheese. Spread the mixture on slices of toast and broil until cheese partially melts. Salami may also be ground and mixed with cream cheese and enough cream of celery soup to moisten. This may be spread on buns or toast for tasty snacks.

Tuna fish salad spread in toasted buns makes a delicious hot sandwich if you place over the tuna fish some nippy cheese and broil until the cheese melts.

If your family insists on ham and cheese as the only filling sandwich, put together some slices of ham and cheese with mustard and catchup, and place in toasted buns, with the cheese on top. Broil until the cheese melts.

For a dainty sandwich, place pineapple cream cheese or cream cheese mixed with orange marmalade on English muffins or toast fingers and broil until bubbly.

Creamed chicken and mushrooms or ham and mushrooms served over hot waffles make a nice sandwich snack.

Formal Address

IT WAS a formal banquet, and the hands of the clock crept toward midnight as celebrity after celebrity sought to be entertaining.

"Mr. Blank will now give us his address; which will, I am sure, be a pleasure for all of us," said the toastmaster.

Mr. Blank rose, with his watch in his hand, put it up, and then said pointedly:

"My address is 29 Clifton street, New York City. I wish you all a very hearty good-night."

And departed to catch his train.

Batter Up!

It was a bright fall day, and Eddie was looking out the classroom window longingly. The geography teacher wanted to get his attention.

"Eddie, where's Cleveland?" she asked.

"Cleveland's in New York today," came the prompt answer, "and Bob Feller's pitching."

READY TO PLEASE

Bob handed in his composition with a long list of dots and dashes at the end.

English Prof.—What is the meaning of these marks?

Bob—They're punctuation marks, and you can put them in to suit yourself.

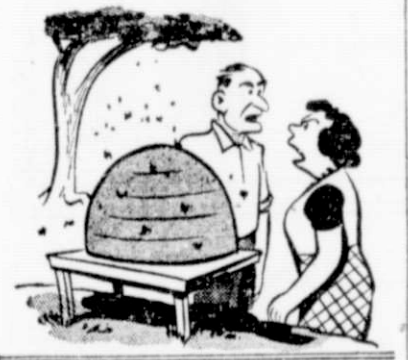

Daytime Visit

An old southern planter was discussing the hereafter with one of his servants.

"Sam," he said, "if you die first I want you to come back and tell me what it's like over there. If I die first I'll come back and tell you what it's like."

"Dat suits me, massa," replied the old Negro, "but if you dies first, Ah wants you to promise dat you'll come back in de daytime."

BEE-FUDDLED

An irate visitor darted angrily up to the beekeeper and complained: "One of your bees stung me, and I want you to do something about it."

The beekeeper answered soothingly: "Certainly, ma'am. Just show me which bee it was and I'll have it punished."

PRICE OF STEALING

Husband—If a man steals, no matter what, he will live to regret it.

Wife (cooly)—You used to steal kisses from me before we were married.

Husband—Well . . . ?

Salt Talk

Two fishermen named Smith, living near each other, had met with misfortune, one having lost his wife, the other, his boat.

A visitor called by mistake on the man who had lost his boat, thinking he was the widower.

"Good morning, Mr. Smith," she said. "I'm sorry to hear of your loss."

"Oh, it don't much matter. She wasn't up to much," Smith replied. "Dear me!" exclaimed the visitor. "Ay, she were a rickety old creak. I was always in danger of my life with her. Indeed, I offered her to my mate only last week, but he wouldn't have her. I've had my eye on another for some time past."

Egg-sperience

Shipper—Those are rather small eggs, aren't they?

Grocer—Give 'em a chance, lady—they were laid only yesterday.

Then Sit Down

Mistress (to maid who had just given notice)—Haven't we always treated you like one of the family, Mary?

Maid—Yes, ma'am, you have, and I can't stand it any longer.

Misery Loves Company

"Thank goodness that misery's over."

"What misery, pal?"

"Dancing with the hostess. Have you been through it yet?"

"I don't have to—I'm the host."

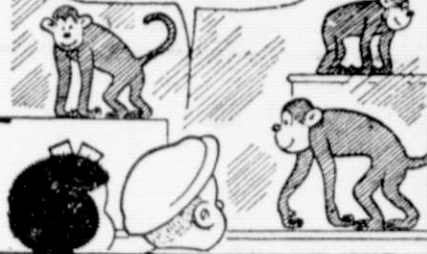

"I'VE REACHED A VERDICT, YOUR HONOR."

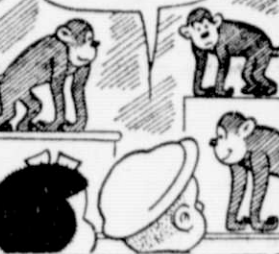

"WE GOTTA GET TRANSFERRED TO MEN'S TIES. THERE'S NO FUTURE HERE!"

HOW IT STARTED

"GRAVEYARD SHIFT"—Centuries ago mariners referred to the middle watch, the one from midnight to 4 a. m., as the "graveyard" watch, because then their eyes usually were sticky from sleep. During the years that followed some slip of the tongue changed "graveyard" to our less picturesque "graveyard."

"WHITE FEATHER"—This comes from the old cock-fighting days. No gamecock has a white feather. It indicates a crossbreed in birds; in the white feather became a symbol of cowardice.

"WISDOM TEETH"—People were once supposed to have reached the age of wisdom when they cut these teeth.

FUTURE HOMEOWNERS OF AMERICA
Last week Thursday was a big day for the Future Homeowners of America delegates who were chosen to go to Valders to a rally there. Ruth Elshardt, Carol Schmidt, Mary Ellen Miller and Marion Domann were the "lucky ones" because it was an all-day session, so they were excused from a whole day of school. Miss Lundgren accompanied the group as an advisor. This rally was a get-together of many different schools. Since our FHA at Kewaskum High is still in its infancy, the group really got some good ideas as to how this club can be conducted and what to do at different times. The group that went to Valders came back with new inspiration and felt that there really was something to accomplish and to work for in an organization of this type. There is a lot of work connected with it, but it can turn out to be a lot of fun for all.

The girls plan to put on a mother-daughter banquet, go on educational trips, and possibly start projects. The club also needs money, and in order to raise some, they plan to sell Christmas and all-occasion cards, put on a bazaar and probably have a candy sale.
