School Grid Champs Feted at Banquet by Kiwanians

The annual football banquet for the high school squad members and their fathers was held at the Peace church social rooms Monday evening, Nov. 15, sponsored this year by the local Kiwanis club. Kiwanians and faculty members added to the attendance roster for this splendid affair.

Feature of the banquet was a talk by Oliver Olson, football coach at Beloit college and a former all-American while at Northwestern. Mr. Olson spoke of football in general and gave an inside view on some of his experiences as a player and a coach. He urged the players to play football wholeheartedly but to play the rules in both football and life. He congratulated the Kewaskum squad for its fine record.

Each of the Kewaskum squad, Ernest Mitchell, and captain of the 1948 team, Bob Fellenz, added bits of pigskin philosophy which seemed to concur with Mr. Olson's views about the game of the sport of football.

Miss Helen Lundgren and a bevy of high school girls handled the serving of the meal in an excellent manner. The meal was prepared by ladies of the Peace church.

KEWASKUM HIGHLIGHTS FOOTBALL BANQUET

On Monday, Nov. 15, the Kiwanis club sponsored a banquet in honor of the football team of Kewaskum High school, the Tri-County champs. There were about thirty-five Kiwanians present and approximately eighty sons and dads. Guest of the evening was Coach "Ollie" Olson of Beloit college, a former all-American star of Northwestern university. He spoke on "What a Coach Expects of a Football Team." Bob Fellenz, captain of the champs, gave his opinions on football as a sport. Special praise should go to the Ladies' Aid and to Miss Lundgren and her sophomore home economics class for the fine food served and for the decorations.

Paul Landmann, president of the Kiwanis club, who served as master of ceremonies, drew attention to the fact that four players from the Kewaskum team made first place on the Tri-County conference "dream" team. They are:

- John Tessar; End
Robert Dreher; Quarterback
Ken Koth; Halfback
Bob Fellenz; Center
James Wink made the second team and Fritz Koepke received honorable mention. The dinner ended with everyone's singing the school song to the accompaniment of Melvin Kluever at the piano.

The musical comedy, "Waltz Time" was given on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Nov. 11, 12, and 13. There were many spectators to see it each of the three nights. It was a comedy which lingered with its audience because of its beautiful music, all modern waltzes, thanks go to Mr. Schnob, the director, Melvin Kluever, the accompanist, and all the cast and crew who made these performances memorable.

State Deputy Fire Marshal Talks on Arson at KC Meet

Discussing arson and unusual arson cases which he has investigated in his years as state deputy fire marshal, William Rousler, marshal for Washington, Omaha and Milwaukee counties, addressed a meeting of the West Bend Council Knights of Columbus, at West Bend last Thursday night.

Rousler described arson as one of the oldest crimes known to man and pointed out that it is described in the Bible. Perhaps the earliest arsonist recorded in history, he said, was Nero, who started the fire that destroyed Rome.

Every state in the union includes arson in its statutes and one, Georgia, proscribes capital punishment as the penalty for the crime. Most states, however, send a convicted arsonist to prison for from two to 20 years.

Most cases of arson today involve juveniles, Rousler said, adding that while some fires of incendiary origin are the result of mischievous children's games, the majority are deliberately set by juveniles having no regard for personal property or lives.

After describing several unusual arson cases which he has investigated in recent years, Rousler concluded his talk by relating a humorous story about a friend of his who cured a young son of the habit of playing with matches.

At a business meeting prior to the fire marshal's talk, plans for a Christmas dance to be held Monday night, Dec. 27, were discussed. It was also disclosed that a social for Knights, their wives and sweethearts will be held in the club rooms next Monday night, Nov. 22.

Kewaskum's Football Champs Place Four on All-Conference Team

Title winning Kewaskum swept four of six places in the coaches' 1948 Tri-County all-conference six-man team. Ronald Sterr, senior halfback from Lomira, who made the squad for the third straight year, was the only unanimous choice. Kewaskum also placed one player on the second team and received one honorable mention.

Named to the third annual all-star lineup are: END—John Tessar, Kewaskum, senior, 157 pounds, 6 feet. CENTER—Robert Fellenz, Kewaskum, senior, 148 pounds, 5 ft. 8 in. END—Dave Hesprieh, Lomira, senior, 135 pounds, 5 ft. 8 in. QUARTERBACK—Robert Dreher, Kewaskum, senior, 141 pounds, 5 ft. 7 in. HALFBACK—Ronald Sterr, Lomira, senior, 172 pounds, 5 ft. 9 in. HALFBACK—Ken Koth, Kewaskum, junior, 136 pounds, 5 ft. 9 in.

Koth of Kewaskum was the only junior to make the star-studded team. It was the third successive season that representatives of Brandon, Oakfield and Campbellsport failed to make the first team lineup, completely dominated in 1945 by Kewaskum and Lomira players.

Nominated to the second team are: Andrew Wondra, Campbellsport, end; Art Culver, Oakfield, center; James Wink, Kewaskum, Gerald Geishardt, Oakfield, and Robert Collien, Oakfield, all tied for end; Darol Collien, Oakfield, quarterback; Douglas Uolmen, Campbellsport, and Gordon Kaufman, Oakfield, halfbacks; Wondra, Culver and D. Collien are juniors, while Kaufman is only a sophomore.

Receiving honorable mention were: Gary TerLauw, Brandon, end; Stuart Edwing, Campbellsport, center; Anthony Hesprieh, Lomira, and Phillip Kurtz, Brandon, quarterbacks; and Fritz Koepke, Kewaskum, halfback.

Wondra, Campbellsport, was the league's highest scorer and Ken Koth, Kewaskum, was second. Making the nominations were Dan O'Brien, Campbellsport; John Flets, Lomira; Arlyn Hollander, Brandon; Ernest Mitchell, Kewaskum; and William Kirchen, Oakfield.

While Sterr received 10 points, Tessar, Fellenz and D. Hesprieh all had 9 out of 10 possible points in the balloting. Dreher had eight and Koth had six to nose out the second team halfbacks.

Preparations for basketball are now underway at all schools, including Rosendale, a non-competitor in football.

Kewaskum Woman's Club

The Kewaskum Woman's club held its regular meeting in the clubroom on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 12. The members of the club decided to send Christmas gifts to the Wisconsin School for Girls at Oregon, Wis., instead of exchanging gifts at the Christmas party. Each member should bring a fifty-cent gift suitable for a young girl to the Dec. 4 meeting.

Following the business meeting Mrs. Louis Trapp told about living conditions and problems in Germany. She is well qualified to speak about these conditions and problems because she is a native of Germany and taught school there before coming to the United States as the wife of an American soldier. Mrs. Trapp said that the main problems in Germany today are securing adequate food, clothing and shelter.

Sandwiches, olives and coffee were served by the hostess, Mrs. M. W. Rosenheimer, at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Louis Trapp, Mrs. Roger Bilgo, and Mrs. Wilmar Falk were recently welcomed to the club as new members. A number of the members of the Woman's club volunteered to help with the chest x-ray clinic which will be held in Kewaskum on Dec. 8 and the morning of Dec. 9.

Deer Hunter Doings

They're off! Yes, a stream of our deer hunters hit the road for the north woods on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for the opening of the deer season Saturday morning, Nov. 26. We could mention the names of many of our local nimrods who made the trek to the north in this issue but because the lists of the parties would be incomplete we will withhold this information until next week. However, the only way we can obtain a fairly complete list of the hunters, where they hunted and what luck they have is to have our readers let us know. So send or phone in the news of the deer hunters for our succeeding issues.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

President Truman Astounds Nation By Winning Election Over Dewey; Senate, House Go Democratic, Too

By Bill Schoentgen, WNU Staff Writer

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper.

ELECTION: Ghost Walked

The night of November 23 was supposed to have been a wake for the defunct Democratic party but the corpse wouldn't lie still. It not only sat up but went around slapping the premature mourners on the back.

IN THE FACE of the supposedly out-and-dried nature of the campaign between President Truman and Governor Dewey the results of the election were fantastic. Everybody had been wrong—from the second-guessers on every street corner to the "infallible" pollsters of public opinion.

It was Truman all the way—from the first early returns which indicated the trend until the great, pivotal states of Ohio, Illinois and California swung over into the Democrats' camp, crushed Dewey and forced him to concede.

MR. TRUMAN'S two million-plus plurality which gave him 304 electoral votes (to Dewey's 189) was nothing less than a popular directive to serve.

Thus, for the first time since he entered the White House, President Truman was able to feel that he had full, untrammelled control of the administration.

MORE THAN that, the President was enormously elated about the fact that the Democrats had gained control of both houses of congress. How justifiable that elation will turn out to be, however, is a question for time to answer.

"We have a congress now, and I'm sure we'll make some progress in the next four years," he said. Yet, full cooperation between a U. S. president and his congress, even when they are aligned politically, is, if not quite a rarity, at least unusual.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York must have been the most tormented man in the nation for a few days after November 2.

AT 46, an age when most men in politics are only beginning their climb to the top, he had sat for a few weeks on an imaginary pinacle—created by himself, with yeoman help from the pollsters—to feel it dissolve under him when the votes were counted.

Dewey was through, a man to be pitied. Never again would he find the ambition or the chance to be president of the United States.

BUT FOR President Truman these were days of such happiness and triumph as few men savor in a lifetime. He had pummeled his way through the allotted number of rounds in the campaign almost single-handedly.

He had fought Dewey and the Republicans. He had fought the apathy of his own party. He had fought for and won over to his side a majority of the United States voters.

Harry S. Truman was the man of the year.

WHAT NOW? Program

Now that it is going to be President Truman again for the next four years, what can the nation expect of him to do along legislative lines?

His program will probably be elucidated in two phases, his annual message to be delivered to the January 3 opening of congress and his inaugural address on January 20.

In the meantime, if his campaign speeches are taken as being reasonably reliable, Mr. Truman has committed himself to a program involving these principal issues:

PRICES: "I'm still in favor of action to hold down the cost of living." He wants price control laws, the President indicated.

LABOR: "The Taft-Hartley law is the opening gun in the Republican onslaught against the rights of the working man. It should be repealed." He also is expected to ask for the raising of the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour.

COMMUNISTS: "We are on guard against them."

CIVIL RIGHTS: "We cannot be satisfied until all our people have equal opportunity for jobs, homes, education, health and for political expression."

AGRICULTURE: "Full markets for farm products... a floor under farm income... increased farm income through cooperatives, market development and research."

SOCIAL SECURITY: "A comprehensive insurance system to protect

THAT'S ALL, BROTHER

Two hours after he had conceded the election to President Truman, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey had made his decision: He would not consider running for the presidency a third time.

At a post-election press conference the first question fired at Dewey was, "What happened?"

"I was just as surprised as you are and I gather that that is shared

Engineer Is Happy

Lee Tindle, the railroad engineer whom Governor Dewey called a "lunatic" for backing his campaign train into a cackling at Beaucoeur, Ill., smiled a big smile and asserted that he was "well satisfied" with President Truman's victory in the election.

"I was as surprised as anybody else that President Truman won," Tindle said. "I voted for Harry Truman, but I had given up hope."

JOY ABOARD: About Harry

Astonishment at the re-election of President Truman was not confined within the boundaries of the United States, and United Nations delegates in Paris received the news with a mixture of incredulity and happiness.

MAJORITY opinion among the delegates seemed to be that it was a good thing.

First, the western European leaders said, the continuity of the American government will hasten Atlantic pact negotiations. If Governor Dewey had been elected an inevitable delay would have resulted, pending the switch in administrations.

Second, most of the delegates of Russia and the eastern bloc of Europe, although chagrined at the miserable showing of Henry Wallace, asserted they preferred Mr. Truman to Dewey because they will be dealing with a man and administration with which they are acquainted.

THERE IS some doubt, however, as to whether that is the real Soviet attitude. The Russians and their satellites had been banking on a Republican victory because they were sure that if a GOP administration took over in the U. S. the last great depression that would destroy western capitalism would inevitably come.

They do expect, however, that Mr. Truman, now having the support of congress, will make a fresh approach toward improving U. S. Soviet relations, probably renewing an effort to untangle the Berlin puzzle.

Consensus of all the delegates is that the success of President Truman demonstrates the unexpected strength of the liberal element in America combined with a powerful anti-Communist attitude.

GRAZING: Western Problem

One of the greatest sins of the western United States has been the pasturing of too many cattle and sheep on the range—over-grazing, in other words.

Despite the apparent remoteness of the subject, it vitally concerns every housewife and every consumer who likes to eat meat, for much of the beef and lamb in the butcher shop originates in the 11 western states.

IT IS still the subject of hot debate among western stockmen and the U. S. forest service, however, whether the vast, public-owned lands are grazed too much or too little.

Yet, the evidence seems clear that when livestock or big game eat black grama grass, for example, too close to the ground it eventually dies.

Meat-producing grasses are driven out and replaced by worthless or inferior plants such as snake-weed, bitterweed, cactus, yuccas, creosotebush and the mesquites.

THIS condition is becoming more common throughout the West and Southwest. In southwest Texas, for instance, more than a million of acres of good grasslands have been depleted. Drought and over-grazing has killed the choice grama and buffalo grasses and their place has been taken by mesquite, cedar and catclaw brush and by an assortment of low-value weeds. As a result of this abuse, meat production has been slowed definitely.

Nevertheless, there is definite proof that such a situation need not exist.

ON THE Jornada experimental range, a 192,000-acre cattle ranch owned and controlled by the U. S. forest service just north of Las Cruces, N. M., the cows are plump and the calves fat despite the third year of the worst drought in 50 years. There is a good stand of black grama grass.

And on similar land outside the ranch over-grazing has all but destroyed the grama grass. Worthless snakeweed has taken control of the land.

Blithe Spirit

With a let-joy-be-unconfined look on his face and obviously not in a veiling frame of mind, Andrei Vishinsky, Soviet U. N. delegate, attends a special performance of the opera given for United Nations delegates in Paris. With him is Madame Vishinsky.

MOLECULES: Inside Story

A new kind of light, consisting of radio waves less than a quarter of an inch long, is being used to study the inside of molecules, the basic chemical units of all matter.

These radiation waves, several thousand times longer than those of visible light and several-fold longer than infra-red "heat light" waves, are absorbed and reflected by the atoms making up the molecules.

The work is being carried out by Dr. Walter Gordy at Duke University. Usual radio waves are half a mile or more in length. Development of radar during the war brought into use the so-called microwaves, two inches long.

Among the findings recently announced is that the average molecule in a gas, where there is almost complete freedom of motion, rotates at a rate of about 100 billion times a second with almost infinite exactitude. Scientists talk now about using the rotation periods as a basic measure of time.

Washington Digest Abolish Post Exchanges? Oh! Perish the Thought

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON.—Members of a sub-committee of the armed services committee of congress have recently completed a highly interesting tour of investigation. It was ordered because of a spirited controversy now going on in Washington.

I can't help mentioning the subject because its background is made up of some ancient vivid memories—memories of the day when, as a lonely recruit in an ill-fitting uniform and sagging wrap-leggings, I wandered into an army post-exchange for the first time, more than three decades ago.

As I looked around the dreary setting my loneliness was not alleviated. I was at that moment yearning for the corner drugstore back home.

I can hardly reconcile that mental picture with the one of Corporal Roberts, shown on this page, as he reaches for his milkshake proffered by a plump and friendly damsel! The smile she is passing out with the drink would have meant far more to me that day than the smile on the face of the general. Now don't think I'm prejudiced against generals, as a class. (Some of my best friends are generals). But I must say that what I missed most in the gloomy PX of my rookie experience was not the gleam of a general's stars.

Since that sad day, I have visited many army post exchanges and some ships' service stores (the navy equivalent), and I was a little startled when I heard just recently that they were being threatened with abolition.

Of course there are two sides to every story. I'll try to forget personal prejudice in favor of anything that gives the armed services a break, and present both sides.

One side is represented by private businessmen. They charge that the exchanges which sell the soldier and his family a lot of things at reduced prices is "big business" subsidized by the government, competing with "little business" run by private enterprise.

The exchanges take in about $130 million gross annually. According to a recent analysis, quoted by the "Army Times" (a non-official but approved newspaper for servicemen) the average soldier spends $24 a month in the PX.

Three-fourths of this $24 goes, according to the analysis, for "tobacco, food at fountain, cafeteria and snack bar, for uniforms and insignia, and for candy and bottled drinks." The remaining one-fourth goes for all other purchases, including the "special orders" which many merchants object to, "although special orders constitute less than 3 per cent of the exchange business."

This 25 per cent of the total sales of the exchanges (or 40 million dollars) is only a tiny fraction of the billions spent by the American people every year in private stores on jewelry, watches, radios, cosmetics, toilet goods, and semi-durable house furnishings which come under the head of the "all other purchases" bought in the exchange.

The Army Times points out that the PX competition is chiefly with the stores in the immediate vicinity of army posts. But would those business people rather have no post there at all? The soldier spends plenty of money. Enough, anyway, to have the congressman very anxious and very active in trying to obtain or hold army and navy installations within his constituency.

Looking at the other side of the picture, it is true that some servicemen and ex-servicemen have taken change manager has help to pay and insure, has maintenance, supervision and accounting costs along with a host of other expenses faced by any merchant—costs and burdens which seldom occur to the average consumer.

The exchanges also have to make a "profit"—not a profit to them, but a 6 per cent figure which the law demands they must clear over all expenses and turn into welfare funds. Their "mark-ups" are, of course, less than those of the merchant.

The Army Times puts the argument this way: "Out of these markups, the exchanges run themselves and pay the 6 per cent to welfare. That is, the GI buying in an exchange pays enough over costs to return to himself over 70 per cent of the expense of a multitude of off duty activities—music, service clubs, day rooms, hobby shops, soldier shows, library service, athletic facilities and equipment, and the like.

"The theaters ante under 10 per cent of the welfare requirement; the taxpayers put up just about 15 per cent of the vitally necessary welfare and recreation bill."

If the exchanges didn't turn in that 6 per cent profit, the taxpayer would have to provide the welfare items mentioned above. Or the GI of today would have even less diversion to brighten the barren surroundings of camp or post than did this lonely rookie when he walked into the decidedly limited institution which the regular army post provided where your correspondent began his none-too-brilliant but nevertheless unforgettable army career.

TAXES: "The tax reduction (passed over his veto) is inequitable as well as untimely. Some readjustment is required to afford relief to families who are suffering. But total receipts should not be reduced."

CONGRESS: Demo Gains

Although they had needed a net gain of only four senate and 31 house seats for control of the 81st congress, the Democratic party did much better than that.

By the time Dewey conceded the election, the Democratic party was assured of at least 18 senators against five for the Republicans and 188 representatives against 86 for the Republicans.

Forty-nine votes are necessary for senate control. The Democrats now have 54. Democrats have clinched at least 263 house seats. Only 218 are necessary for control.

Republican senators seeking re-election were defeated by Democrats in West Virginia, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Minnesota, Iowa, and Illinois. In other contests where Democrats were seeking re-election they won.

Colorado's Democratic Senator Johnson was a winner in his re-election campaign. In Oklahoma, where a Republican seat was at issue, former Gov. Robert Kerr, Democrat, won.

Republican Senator Revercombe was defeated in West Virginia by Democratic Governor Neely. Hubert Humphrey, Democratic mayor of Minneapolis, won his bid for Republican Sen. Joseph H. Ball's job. In Illinois, Democratic Senate Candidate Paul Douglas defeated Republican Sen. C. Wayland Brooks by more than 100,000 votes.

GUARD: Expansion

Soon after the 81st congress convenes on January 3 it will be requested to boost the authorized strength of the national guard by 100,000 men and put all its units on a ready-for-war basis.

And the way things look now, it appears that congress will agree to that request.

Guard officials said they would like the authorized strength be increased from the present 341,000 to 441,000. This, of course, would require special appropriations for armories and equipment.

These officials in Washington said they also will ask that all 27 divisions of the national guard be included in the army's stepped-up defense program.

The army so far has selected only six of the 27 divisions for its "mobilization day" force, the outfit that would be ready to strike back first if this nation were to be attacked.

Army spokesmen, however, claim their present funds and equipment cannot support more than six guard units on a war-ready basis.

SQUALLS

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

Gramma's experience in squalls with her seafaring husband prepared her admirably for the role she was called upon to play when Nedra and John called off their marriage.

NEDRA had been crying. Sitting in her chair by the big window in the living room, Gramma went on knitting. In one quick glance she'd seen that the girl had tried to hide the tear-stains by an expert dabbing of powder around her pretty blue eyes.

After a minute Gramma said casually, "John left early." "And not a minute too soon," Nedra returned quickly, sinking deeper into the fireside chair and turning her face away. "Ho, so you two had a quarrel?" Gramma knitted a little faster than before.

"No, a conflagration, an explosion, a dissolution, a parting of the ways," Nedra's voice was both angry and vehement, and a little tearful too.

"As bad as that?" Gramma inquired mildly. "I gave him his ring. It's all over," Nedra swallowed a sob quickly.

Gramma made a little clucking sound but she went on plying her needles industriously.

At last Nedra burst out unhappily. "Well, aren't you going to console me, or congratulate me, whichever the case may be?"

Gramma stopped knitting for a moment, looked up. "You and John have quarreled before. They are something like the squalls we'd sometime meet up with on the Saint Lawrence when I'd made a trip with your grandfather on his steamer."

"Well, there'd be a terrible lot of noise and wind, and then the most beautiful calm you ever saw. It's natural for people in love like you and John to quarrel once in a while."

Nedra sat up. "Darling, you're an incurable sentimentalist. John and I are sensible and modern and analytical about love, as all young people are nowadays. We've had several bitter quarrels since we became engaged, so we've simply had to face the fact that we're not compatible and that marriage would be a mistake."

"It was sensible of course to face this before it was too late," Nedra said in a small, desolate voice.

"But love is not modern," Gramma observed quietly. Then she added, "but of course someday you'll meet the right man."

The sudden white horror of Nedra's sweet face was like a shock. "There'll never be another man, never!" she exclaimed passionately, as she rose and left the room.

Two or three days passed. One day at noon Nedra was lying on a chaise longue in her room, listlessly turning the pages of a magazine when Gramma burst in, excitedly waving two important looking tickets.

"Listen, darling, we're going places. We're shipping on a fruit boat for... for... she studied the tickets for a moment, "for Trinidad."

"It's been the desire of my life to travel on a fruit-boat," Gramma said fervently. Nedra stared at her for a moment, then yielded. "In that case we'll go."

So it happened that in a very few more days, Gramma and Nedra found themselves on a fruit-boat bound for the intriguing destination of Trinidad. And on their very first morning on deck, they both saw a tall, dark young man standing at the rail, gazing moodily out to sea.

Nedra's heart almost stopped. She clutched Gramma's arm and drew her around to the other side with every split second, the waves tearing at the ship as if possessed of the fury of a thousand devils.

Nedra dressed hurriedly, went into Gramma's room to find her also dressed, as early as it was. "Is it a hurricane?" Nedra asked shakily.

"I don't know, dear. I think I'll just go and try to find out." "Don't stay long. I'm beginning to be frightened," Nedra pleaded.

"I'll be back in a jiffy. There's nothing to worry about. At least I think not." She'd hardly disappeared before there was a loud knock on the door and John came in. "Nedra, Nedra darling, I had to find you, I had to tell you in... in case anything happened, that I still love you, and I always will."

"We were silly to think we could," Nedra agreed softly.

The next moment he had her in his arms. "And I still love you, John. The moment I knew the ship was in danger, I thought of you." Nedra's voice was a happy whisper.

He bent his head and tilted her chin. "Which only goes to prove, dearest, that love is something that escapes all logic and reason and analysis. We can't argue ourselves out of it just on the pretense of being realistic."

"We were silly to think we could," Nedra agreed softly. "The only reason we quarreled," John went on, "was because of my absurd jealousy, because I love you so very much."

"No," Nedra contradicted adoringly, "it was my bad temper." John shook his head quickly. "You have the temper of an angel, and we'll never quarrel again in the future... there is a future left to us," he finished bravely.

Neither of them was aware that the wind had ceased its wild roar and the deceitful sea had suddenly become as calm and benign as a summer day.

Still holding each other in a close embrace, they hardly heard Gramma when she came back and saw them together. "Just a squall," she murmured softly as she went into her own stateroom, a happy smile wreathing itself around her lips.

Star Dust

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO Released by WNU Features

By INEZ GERHARD RAY MILLAND, in New York for some radio appearances, had an engagement with flu instead. Our luncheon engagement found him still wobbly. Though ready to laugh about the bit part he plays in "Tatlock's Millions," and discuss "Sealed Verdict," his latest for Paramount, he was more in a mood to talk about his experiences in the south Pacific during the war.

RAY MILLAND

Out of them has come an idea for a musical, which he ought to write but probably won't. He'd rather head for a driving range with Mrs. Milland and their eight-year-old son. Each takes a bucket of golf balls and starts driving—with young Milland doing better than either of his parents.

Ika Chase's talent for comedy has never been better displayed than in that same "Tatlock's Millions," but she, too, preferred to talk about something else. Her lecture tours, a projected trip to Paris, the mink skins she was taking to a milliner for a hat—all were more important than a Hollywood stint which was just one more job so far as she was concerned.

Howard da Silva, of RKO's "They Live by Night," can't help tinkering with mechanical objects. He has bought a service station and auto repair shop in the heart of Hollywood, and so far has three profitable investments to his credit.

Since "Perry Mason" is the only daytime mystery, it requires special treatment so that suspense will carry over from day to day, five days a week. As one plot winds up, say "The Case of the Sinister Sister" is doing now, the new one is worked in with it. Peter Capell and Fran Lafayette are both key figures in these two—heard on CBS.

Radio executives complain about giving shows, but nothing was done about them until "Everybody Wins" was dropped by its cigarette company sponsor for a weekly series based on original scripts of a crime-mystery nature. Big-name Hollywood and Broadway plays will be starred.

It's Hollywood: none of the cast of the hit play, "Command Decision" will be signed for MGM's film version—but James Whitmore, on the strength of his fine work in the play, was signed by Columbia.

The important Elgin Thanksgiving and Christmas programs will be called "Holiday Star Time" this year, instead of "Two Hours of Stars," but they will be star-sprinkled as usual. The network will be NBC instead of CBS, 4:00 to 6:00 EST.

Apparently it's all right to kick your car in anger if it won't start. You may even reprimand it severely with a torrid tongue lashing. But you can't roll it down embankments and set it afire, in Dietrich's opinion. That's disorderly conduct.

He fined Earl A. Landis $5 and costs for doing just that.

Jewels THROUGH GLASS

Grace Noll Crowell STAND before a jeweler's plate glass pane. That crystal-clear conductor of the light. I watch the sunshine pierce the gorgeous stain Of rare gems clustered there before my sight: Crimson and purple fires banked in gold, And ice-white diamonds splintering the air, Deep fires of brilliant beauty to behold Displayed for any who may pass them there.

I think of God whose gracious hand prepares His living truths for all mankind to see. They shine as clearly as these jeweled wares, To ever be revealed by you and me. Lord, shine through me as jewels shine through glass, That men may see thy beauty as they pass.

Some Pointers for Those About to Buy a Raincoat

Thinking of buying a raincoat? Then read the label before you make your final selection so you will know the kind of protection you can expect from your new garment. The label also will tell you how to clean the coat and whether the finish is permanent or will be lost in dry cleaning or washing.

For wear in a heavy rain a garment marked "waterproof" gives the best protection as it has a finish that seals out water. Make sure the thread used for stitching also is waterproof so that dampness will not enter at the seams.

One disadvantage of a waterproof coat is that the finish that seals out water also keeps out air and makes it hot and uncomfortable for general wear. Such a coat should have holes or slits under the arms for some ventilation, says Mrs. Helen Barnard, Missouri university clothing specialist.

BE-KIND-TO-NYLONS WEEK

Now, that your longer skirts and Petticoats have forced you out of socks and saddles, and into nylons and heels, we're declaring a "be-kind-to-nylons" week. We appealed to our hi style scouts for ideas on nylon preservation and they've come through as usual with flying colors — also with fewer runs. If nylons are one of your economic problems you might want to try out their ideas.

Preventative Measures—No more snags and runs from rough desk and chair edges in school, if you take a piece of sandpaper along with you and do a competent smoothing down job. Then the only disaster you need fear when you get up to go to the blackboard is not knowing the right answers.

First-Aid Equipment—Carry colorless nail polish with you wherever you go to stop those runs in their tracks. Use bright red nail polish to identify your stockings with your initials at the tops to avoid confusion with other nylons in the family. Nail polish is good for the nails, too—in case you forget.

Proven Precautions—Wash your new nylons before you wear them and wash after each wearing. One first rinsing of salt in the first rinsing strengthens the fibers. You only have her word for it. Don't hang them over the radiator to dry. If your nails and hands are rough, put on a pair of cotton gloves before handling your nylons.

It's usually more comfortable for ordinary wear. It will protect from a shower but not from a drenching rain. Such coats are often made of firmly woven cotton fabric with a water-repellent finish.

Before buying, learn from the label, whether the finish is permanent. Some finishes are lost a little at a time with wear, or dissolved in dry cleaning or washing. The coat is then no longer rainproof until it has been refinished by the manufacturer or by a cleaner who specializes in such work.

A BACK BRACE IS ADDED TO PREVENT ROLLING. THIS SEAT MAY BE MOVED ABOUT READILY AND CAN BE LEFT OUTDOORS DURING THE WINTER WITHOUT SUFFERING TOO MUCH FROM THE WEATHER.

IF YOU ARE POSSESSOR OF AN OLD ROCKING CHAIR THAT IS TOO DECORATIVE TO BE USED IN THE HOUSE YOU DON'T HAVE TO SAW IT UP FOR FIREWOOD. IT CAN BE MADE INTO A COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE LAWN CHAIR AT THE EXPENSE OF ONLY A FEW MINUTES' WORK. THE LEGS OF THE CHAIR SHOULD BE SAWED OFF IN ORDER TO GET THAT DESIRED COZY BACKWARD TILT. THEN INVERT THE ROCKERS AND FASTEN THEM TO THE LEGS WITH LONG WOOD SCREWS.

Glorify the Savory Turkey!
(See Recipes Below)

Thanksgiving Topics
THANKSGIVING IS ONE OF THE important feast days of the year, and in a sense it's the beginning of the holiday season. Let's make it hearty, gay, full of thanks and cheer. Since everyone expects a big feast on the table for the special occasion, plan it carefully and start working on it in advance so everything can be picture perfect. Plan an all white or ivory cloth and napkins as a simple background for the table. Have your glasses sparkling, silver shining, and the china washed to spic and span neatness.

IF YOU WANT to have a first course, plan an easy soup like cream of mushroom or asparagus or celery, a clear soup made beforehand. Here's a baked oyster dish that makes a nice appetizer:
*Baked Oysters
Use four to six oysters for each serving. Open the shells, cover oyster with Thousand Island dressing and sprinkle with a sharp grated American cheese. Bake until heated through and the cheese is melted and browned. Serve in the shells with crisp crackers.

For the turkey, allow from three-quarters to one cup of bread crumbs for each pound of bird. Here's an interesting stuffing which you'll like for variety:

*Apple Sausage Stuffing
(For 12 pound turkey)
1 pound pork sausage links
12 cups bread cubes
2 tablespoons minced onion
Salt to taste
1 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons minced parsley
6 tart apples, diced
2 tablespoons sugar
Cut sausage in thin slices. Sauté and add other ingredients. Toss lightly and stuff bird.

*To Roast Turkey
Allow 30 minutes to each pound for roasting time, using a moderate (350-degree) oven. Baste frequently. If turkey becomes too dark, cover with water-moistened cheesecloth.

*Cranberry Salad
(Serves 8)
1 pound cranberries
2 navel oranges
2 cups sugar
1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1/2 cup boiling water
1 cup diced celery
1 cup chopped nutmeats
Put cranberries and oranges through food chopper. Add sugar and let stand for two hours, stirring frequently. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. When cool, add the fruit mixture, celery and nuts. Pour into a mold and chill until firm.

*Baked Stuffed Sweet Potatoes
(Serves 6)
6 medium-sized sweet potatoes
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
1 dozen marshmallows
1 cup shredded pineapple
Juice of 1 orange
Bake the potatoes until tender, then scoop them out of the shells. Mash the pulp well, adding the butter, salt and orange juice. Stir

LYNN SAYS:

Give Contrast to Menus With Careful Planning

Certain food combinations are so good together because of contrast in flavor, texture and color that the meal seems more satisfying. Here are some foods you'll like for family or entertaining:
A sweet potato casserole with ham loaf makes a delicious main course. Creamed cabbage adds further contrast, and an apple dessert adds just the right finish.

Next time you serve broiled chicken, add some corn fritters to the menu and top it off with an apple pie served with a wedge of cheese.

Baked stuffed potatoes, buttered green peas and a grapefruit salad form a good combination with lamb chops.

Make your fricassee of chicken with dumplings, serve with succotash as a vegetable and colorful cranberry pie for dessert.
A roast beef dinner with Yorkshire pudding makes a solid meal and requires only a cheese tray with assorted crackers as dessert.

THANKSGIVING MENU

in nuts and pineapple, making sure of getting an equal distribution. Refill shells with this mixture. Cut the marshmallows into small pieces and spread over the tops. Bake in a hot (375-degree) oven until brown.

(Serves 6)
Use one pound of broccoli. Select stalks with dark green, tightly closed buds. Cook in boiling, salted water until easily pierced with fork. Drain. Make one cup thin white sauce, using one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour and one cup milk. Place broccoli in buttered casserole, pour over the white sauce, top with buttered bread crumbs and grated American cheese. Bake until cheese melts.

Baked Squash with Green Peas
Select small squash, split and bake until tender. Fill with cooked green peas, seasoned and buttered, and sprinkle with crumbled bacon.

*Pumpkin Pie
(Makes 2 9-inch pies)
3 cups steamed and strained pumpkin or 1 large can of pumpkin
1 cup light brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
1/2 teaspoon powdered cloves
3 teaspoons cinnamon
3 teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, slightly beaten
2 cups scalded milk
Mix ingredients in order given and bake in crust-lined pie plates. Set pie on bottom shelf of oven (450-degree) for 10 minutes, then move pie to middle shelf and reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) and bake for 40 minutes or until a silver knife comes out clean.

As a variation for pumpkin pie, add one teaspoon of grated orange rind to the filling before baking, if desired.

*Finger Rolls
(Refrigerator)
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 tablespoons lard
1 tablespoon butter
2 cups boiling water
2 yeast cakes
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
2 eggs, beaten light
1 1/2 pounds flour
Dissolve first four ingredients into boiling water. Let cool. Dissolve the yeast and sugar into the lukewarm water. Combine first two mixtures, add the eggs. Add one-half of the flour and beat thoroughly, for 10 minutes. Add remaining flour and beat until mixture blisters. Brush top with melted butter, cover and place in refrigerator until mixture doubles. (Four to six hours). Shape into rolls. Let rise for two to three hours before baking in a hot (400-degree) oven for 10 to 15 minutes, or until golden brown.

Released by WNU Features

With the blandness of veal as a main dish, you can properly add contrast with an onion soup as first course, and a cottage pudding with chocolate sauce as dessert.

Whitefish is so mild that it can easily be served with a piquant shrimp sauce, spinach or beets as a vegetable, and a tart lemon dessert.

With a simple baked ham dinner, serve oven browned potatoes and green peas with butter sauce. Lemon or pineapple ice or sherbet completes the menu.

The best type of salad to serve with a spaghetti dinner includes assorted greens. Fresh fruit is indicated for dessert.

Kidneys wrapped in bacon and broiled are well contrasted when served with Waldorf salad and a rice pudding for dessert.

A simple ham and egg supper will be a real treat if you add to it a molded fruit salad and a spicy apple coffee cake.

Meat loaf frosted with mashed potatoes is lovely enough for guests. Serve with peas and carrots and a berry pie.

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it. It's no trouble at all. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

And you'll say it's truly excellent, for quick action. You can feel it take hold swiftly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it eases breathing, and lets you sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

I'VE SMOKED CAMELS FOR YEARS...I KNOW THEY'RE MILD...AND THEY TASTE GREAT!

PROVE CAMEL MILDNESS FOR YOURSELF!

In a recent test, hundreds of men and women all across the country smoked Camels—and only Camels—an average of one to two packages a day—for 30 consecutive days. Each week their throats were examined by noted throat specialists—a total of 2470 examinations—and these doctors found not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels.

Night Owl
 YOUNG Archy Spencer was a rabid "joiner." He belonged to every lodge in town, and was proud of it. That is he was until he asked the canny Lucy Morgan to be his wife.
 "I don't know," the girl replied doubtfully. "I hear you are an inveterate lodge member, Archy. Just how many lodges do you belong to?"
 "F-f-fifteen," the startled swain admitted.
 "No," Lucy decided, "I can't marry you. I simply won't have a husband who goes out 15 nights a week!"

Vital Statistics
 Bret Harte, the author, once arrived in Richmond with a splitting headache which almost blinded him with pain.
 Feeling that a bit of fresh air would do him good, he went out for a stroll with a proud native of Richmond who talked long and hard about the wonders of the city.
 "Richmond," boasted his companion, "is one of the healthiest cities in America. Our death rate averages only one person per day."
 At this, Harte slowed his walk perceptibly.
 "Tell me," he moaned, holding his throbbing head in his hands, "has today's man died yet?"

TAKING NO CHANCES

 "My dear," said the borrowing neighbor, "when I returned Mr. Jackson's lawn mower with that broken blade he swore at me."
 His wife sniffed.
 "We don't want that sort of thing to happen again," she replied.
 "You'd better borrow the preacher's the next time."

Meddling Preacher
 The old lady was punctuating the preacher's sermon with occasional but fervent "Amen's," as the minister blasted every sin from murder to cheating at cards. Then he moved on to the subject of snuff-sniffing. Here the woman flared up, nudged her neighbor, and exclaimed indignantly:
 "Uh-oh! There now! He's done quit preachin' and gone to med-din'!"

HEARD WHAT?

 Jones—Look at that bunch of cows.
 Smith—Not bunch, herd!
 Jones—Herd what?
 Smith—Herd of cows!
 Jones—Sure, I've heard of cows!
 Smith—I mean a cow herd.
 Jones—What do I care if a cow heard? I didn't say anything I shouldn't have!

A Head for Business
 Two partners were arguing about what they should do to increase business in their theater. One maintained that people would come to sit in their seats if they were recovered with red leather; the other thought mohair more appropriate. Finally they turned to a third partner who was standing by silently.
 "Joe, you're not saying a word. What do you think about it?"
 "If you ask me," he replied, "I think we should cut the admission price and cover the seats with people."

LEARNING HOW
 A preacher whose congregation regularly spurned seats in the front of the church was surprised to see one man, a stranger, in the very first row. After the sermon, the pastor asked the man why he sat down in front. The man replied that, being a bus driver, he wanted to find out how the preacher got people to move to the rear.

Can't Fool Her!
 Little sister was entertaining the visitors until her mother was ready. One of the ladies remarked to the other with a significant look: "Not very p-r-e-t-y," spelling out the word.
 "No," answered the child, "but awful s-m-a-r-t."
Second Happiest
 Her father—Young man, you say my daughter has consented to marry you. That makes you the second happiest man in the world.

HOW IT STARTED
 MARDI GRAS—is French for "fat Tuesday." It refers to Shrove Tuesday, which is the day before the beginning of Lent, therefore, the last day of feasting.
 "WIENIE"—a substitute word for frankfurter, is a corruption of Wienerwurst, from the German Wiener, "of Vienna" and Wurst, "sausage."
 ONIONS—were named for a city built by Onias on the Gulf of Suez in 173 B. C.
