

Kewaskum High Wins Tri-County Title for Fourth Straight Year

Tessar Again Cops Scoring Title With 205 Points; Sterr Second

Coach Ernie Mitchell's big, bad, bold Indians won the undisputed Fox Valley Tri-County league basketball championship for the fourth year in a row when they ended the season last Friday night with a 74-32 mauling handied last place Rosendale. The Indians finished the campaign with a record of nine wins and only one defeat, and this lone setback was by one point at Lomira when the team played without their star center, Tessar.

The Indians won the 1949 case crown by a two-game margin and Center Tessar with 29 tallies against hapless Rosendale, won his third consecutive league scoring title, which as far as we remember is a new record. He had 205 points and played in only nine games. Ron Sterr, Lomira, finished second with 191 which were made in ten games.

Against the Dalers Kewaskum was out in front through the whole game and even though Rosendale would have liked to keep Kewaskum from winning, it was an easy victory for the Indians. They played as though they would let nothing stop them. Along with the conference title, Kewaskum also took the 1948 district tournament championship. They lost out in the finals last year. The Indians hope to again take the tourney this year, having already reached the finals by trimming Oakfield and Lomira at Lomira this week. Kougil was the second best scorer in the Rosendale tilt with 12 points. The box score for Kewaskum reads:

County Teachers Hold Mid-Winter Conference

More than 60 county teachers attended the annual mid-winter conference sponsored by the Washington County Teachers association at West Bend Friday, Feb. 11. The conference included morning and afternoon sessions in the Immanuel Ev. and Reformed church parlors and a noon luncheon in Fellowship hall of the Fifth Avenue Methodist church. The conference was a distinctive contribution to the in-service training of teachers.

The morning program opened at 9 a. m. with songs by the Kewaskum High school girls' chorus under the direction of Elmer Schabo, which were well received. Mr. Schabo should be proud of the work his pupils did before the meeting. An address, "The Challenge of Public Relations," by West Bend Superintendent of Schools Fred Holt followed. Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, Madison, discussed "Junior Red Cross in the Curriculum," and Roy Hienfeldt, state supervisor of schools, talked on "Rural Problems."

A business meeting of the Washington County Teachers association completed the morning session.

Kewaskum's Rivers quint took two laces on successive nights over the week end, Saturday night they played at Hartford and were defeated, 60-36. In the first game here Sunday night they were mowed down by the undefeated, league leading Slinger power-house, 54-29. The Slinger team, winners of 24 consecutive games, is composed of former college and high school stars, and has beaten many Lakes teams and others of the strongest fives in this section. Kewaskum's team was crippled for both games. Here are the lineups and points:

Fond du Lac Winner by Two Points, 64-62

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division)

Table with columns: Won, Lost. Rows: Plymouth, Fond du Lac, Grafton, Kewaskum, Menomonie Falls, Oudenburg, Random Lake, Campbellsport, Lomira.

Kewaskum's Indians almost proved to be giant killers here Sunday night against the strong second place Fond du Lac Engels. Only two points difference kept them from upsetting the Fondy bucket brigade, which squeezed out a 64-62 win. The heartbreaking setback, which came after playing a hard, worthy game, dropped the Indians behind Grafton again in the standings.

A very strong second half finish won for Fond du Lac. Kewaskum held the upper hand throughout the first half, leading at the quarter, 10-6, and at halftime, 24-18. The Engels turned on the steam after the intermission. They played a very fast brand of ball, which was just enough to nose out the never-say-die locals, who matched their basket for basket. Fondy outscored the Indians, 46-33, in the last half and needed every point. The score stood 45-41, Fond du Lac, going into the last period.

The Engels' towering center and forward, B. Anderson and Wilderman, made the difference between the two teams. Not only did they vie for high scoring honors but accounted for controlling of the ball much of the time over the smaller Indian five. Each scored 16 points, Wayland Tessar was a hot night for the losers and had a constant menace for the Engels besides Augie Bilgo who was responsible for 13.

Free throws won the game for the Engels as they did in a previous game pooled on 29 gift tosses while the Indians had 14. Twenty-seven personals were called on the locals, who had two players foul out and three others with four apiece.

March of Dimes Drive Ends; Await Reports

The 1949 March of Dimes in Washington county officially came to an end Tuesday, Feb. 16, and B. D. Rice, West Bend, chairman of the campaign in the county, immediately followed with a plea to all his subcommittee chairmen to submit to him as soon as possible reports of contributions made to them.

Rice asked that this be done as quickly as possible in order that a complete county audit of donations received can be made and a report published in the county newspapers within the next several weeks. He pointed out he is now rounding up the coin collectors distributed throughout the county and that it will take him some time to compile the total of their contents.

The general chairman was unable to indicate this week whether the drive would be a success, in accordance with the goals set for it. Previously, he had been far from optimistic over the outcome because of the slowness with which contributions were being received.

Complete and final returns were received from two sources during the week. The West Bend and Mernac theatres, West Bend, reported contributions totalling $434.36. Labor contributed a total of $175, according to Ben Heiting, R. 2, West Bend, chairman of the drive among labor in the county.

The contributions from labor, according to Heiting, came from Locals 845, Kewaskum Aluminum Co.; 879, Hamford plant, West Bend Aluminum Co.; 865, West Bend plant, West Bend Aluminum Co.; 879, Gehl Bros. Manufacturing Co., West Bend; 533, Line Material Co., Barton, and other unions in Washington county, all of them affiliated with Council 2 of the United Automobile Workers of the American Federation of Labor (UAW, AFL).

Heiting, who is president of Local 865, said he desired to take this opportunity to issue a word of thanks to all members of labor who unselfishly contributed during the campaign.

The 1949 drive was the longest March of Dimes ever conducted in this county. It began generally throughout the county before Christmas and was extended to Tuesday of this week following its original closing date of Jan. 31, with efforts being concentrated on raising 50 per cent more funds this year than last year in an attempt to replenish depleted treasuries of both the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and its Washington county chapter.

Because of overcrowding and a lack of room at North Fond du Lac, the opening rounds were played at two places this year. Four teams played at Lomira and four at North Fondy. And the final will play at Superior High gym at Fondy which seats over 2,000 people. The Saturday night crowd may be the largest ever to witness a district game in eastern Wisconsin.

In the games at Lomira, Kewaskum's play was a spectacle of beautiful basketball. With the team's outstanding ace and the Tri-County's top scorer, Johnny Tessar, leading the way, the Indians sailed through both tilts without too much effort. Johnny scored 26 points against Oakfield and 28 the next night against Lomira, making a total of 54 in two contests. This puts him way ahead of all other scorers in the tourney. Ronnie Sterr, Lomira ace, and leading threat to Tessar during the season, was held to about eight or nine points Thursday by Frankie Krueger of the Indians. Speedy, slippery Bobby Dreher, Wink and Kougil all played fine games. Many comments and much praise from the fans of other teams were heard at Lomira about Tessar and the rest of the team as a whole. The boys, and especially Tessar and Dreher as outstanding people with their top-notch play.

Even Kewaskum's flashy cheerleaders, with a new Indian war whoop, raised the blood pressure of every fan in the house. And there were plenty of them, the gym being packed both nights.

Following is the box score of the Kewaskum-Oakfield game Wednesday night:

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS U. S. Rejects Stalin Peace Talks; Norway Prefers Western Alliance; Spurns Russian Council Suggestion

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

SOVIET "BARKIS" . . . Like the Dickens character, Russia's Premier Josef Stalin was "willing" to meet with President Truman to talk peace. But the question was: how willing? He is shown above with President Truman when the two met at Potsdam.

WANTS OPEN DISCUSSION

Truman Won't Talk Behind Iron Curtain

It was beginning to look like "Uncle Joe" Stalin and Harry S. Truman never would get together for a talk looking toward settlement of U. S. and other western powers' differences with the Soviets.

"Meet Stalin behind the iron curtain," Secretary of State Dean Acheson snorted in disdain, declared in effect that the idea was preposterous.

Acheson went further. He asserted indirectly that the Russian leader was playing politics with peace hopes of millions of people.

Any way, Acheson went on, what might be gained? Hadn't the Russians consistently blocked all efforts in the United Nations looking toward disarmament, control of the atom bomb and creation of a U. N. police force?

BUT THE U. S. couldn't be put in the position of appearing disinclined even to talk about peace, so Acheson left the door open for a conference parley; but there were some American conditions this time. The White House, it appeared, would be willing to see Stalin—in Washington. Stalin had said he'd be willing to see Truman—behind the iron curtain, and there the matter stood.

Acheson made a further point. The U. S., in any event, would not discuss with Russia alone any points having a direct interest to other nations.

As for a "peace" declaration, Acheson declared he found this puzzling inasmuch as Russia, the U. S., and all other U. N. members are already pledged "by most solemn treaty commitments not to engage in war with one another."

HE ADDED that the hopes of the world's peoples for peace are considered by this nation to be fundamental, and that the United States would not play politics with these hopes.

While it might appear an oversimplification of the problem, many might raise the question that if Acheson is relying on Russia's U. N. pledge to keep the peace, why should there be any official U. S. concern over the entire Russian relations puzzle?

The fact that there is grave concern over the puzzle indicates Mr. Acheson may have been talking when he should have been thinking.

NORWAY:

Norway was drawing no cards. Standing pat, she would play the ones she had.

IN OTHER WORDS, the Norwegians wanted nothing but friendship with the Soviets, but if it were all the same, they would rather depend upon security in regional pacts such as the proposed north Atlantic alliance, than upon an alignment with the Soviet union.

The position stated by Norway was in answer to a Soviet note asking the nation's clarification of its view on the proposed north Atlantic setup.

Norway said the United Nations had failed to provide the world with peace and security, and her own people's "serious concern" for their liberty had convinced the government that it was necessary to seek increased security through regional cooperation in the defense field.

BUT THE NORWEGIAN government assured the Russians that it would never agree to foreign bases on its soil "as long as Norway is not attacked or the subject of threats of attack." And the government pledged itself to support a policy of non-aggression.

The decision could be interpreted no other way than as a definite setback for Soviet expansion-by-intimidation policies. Norway is a small country and vulnerable to Soviet attack. Nevertheless, it has

MORE CLOTHES:

Great Britain has ended eight years of clothes rationing—practically, that is.

Effective now, any Briton with the money may go into any store and buy a suit of clothes, his wife a dress. And for the first time since January 1, 1940, he won't have to give 26 clothing coupons for the suit, 18 for his wife's dress. Coupons, however, will still be required for many articles of clothing.

MARSHALL:

"Miserable Job"
New Hampshire's Republican Sen. Styles Bridges asserted to the senate that former Secretary of State George C. Marshall "did a miserable job" in China. Bridges, long-time advocate of more aid to China, declared the U. S. "turned its back" on a nation that "stood beside us in times of stress." He contended this nation virtually turned China over to the Communists. Marshall represented President Truman in China.

PENSION BILL:

Vets Must Wait

Little possibility was seen by congressional leaders for enactment of a veterans' pension bill during the current session.

The administration is openly opposed to any such measure, being quoted as saying a program already offered "could not be considered in accord with the program of the President."

THE PROPOSAL to which the reference was made is a veterans' pension bill to give servicemen of the last two wars a $60 monthly pension when they reach age 60, plus disability payments. It is estimated this would cost almost two billion dollars the first year, with later outlays reaching multi-billion dollar levels.

Under this measure, sponsored by Mississippi's Rankin, a veteran need only have served 90 days in either world war to qualify for a pension. The extra disability pay would range from $20 to $120 a month, with no proviso that the disability must have been incurred in service.

Veterans administrator Cary R. Gray, Jr., said that while he was neither opposing nor favoring the legislation in his capacity as veterans' administrator, its magnitude must be weighed closely now to prevent unwarranted financial outlays in the future. He pointed out the cost burden might be so great as to endanger the entire veteran-compensation program.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN was on record with this statement: "The necessity for new or extended benefits for veterans without service disabilities should be judged not solely from the standpoint of service in our armed forces, but in the light of existing social welfare programs available to all veterans and non-veterans alike."

Mr. Truman also said in his budget message: "The program of veterans' services and benefits should reflect the fundamental fact that our primary long-run obligation is to dependents of veterans deceased from service causes, and to veterans disabled in service. At the same time, we should preserve and extend our basic objective of assisting the recipients of these benefits to be as nearly as possible self-reliant and self-supporting members of our society."

All of which indicates that veterans of both world wars expecting pensions and disability allowances had best be prepared to wait awhile.

SATURATION:

Claimed for Taxes

Millions of Americans would agree with the premise: Taxes in America have reached the saturation point.

Former President Herbert Hoover made the assertion to congress. As a remedy, he suggested unslashing a century of government red tape, a slash in federal spending.

FOR ALL HIS earnestness and the force of his figures, Herbert Hoover, "great engineer" of the depression, was a voice crying in the wilderness.

While President Truman outlined the need for vast federal expenditures for world social and economic improvement, as well as for defense measures, he had said nothing about reduction of government expenditures. There was nothing in his announced program relating to any such action.

True, there have always been one or two individuals in every congress who have sought to stick a finger in the hole in the dike of federal outlay, but to date the stopper has never approximated the circumference of the orifice. Indications were that it would be thus in the 81st congress.

HOOPER RECOMMENDED consolidation of 1,800 bureaus, commissions and divisions, but lurking in the background, ready to raise its awesome head at any moment, was patronage. Patronage means votes, and votes means legislative tenure, and with the one fattening off the other, Mr. Hoover's recommendations commanded respect more for their temerity than for any hope of their adoption.

But long before D-day, thousands of details have been worked out hundreds of miles from the scene of action. As one officer put it, the stack of charts that have to be drawn are a mile high. Beans, bullets, shoelaces—all are part of the picture quite as much as radar and range-finders.

The little island of Vieques will be pounded with tons of shells, hauled, mauled, captured, and deserted, and then go back to a sub-tropical siesta. But what happens there on and before March 2 and 3, 1949, may be of vital importance a decade hence.

A New Truman Going to Work
As the Ides of March approach, the new administration swings into its stride with a good deal of honeymoon fervor still in the air. From the day of the first White House press and radio conference after the inauguration, it was clear that he had a new President.

Washington reporters had become used to several Harry Trumans. There was the very grave and not very certain man who was called in 1945 to a job which he didn't want and never expected to have with the shadow of tragedy over him. A man who was at first so anxious to reassure the country that there would be no break in the continuity of leadership that he sometimes rushed in where a more experienced man might have feared to tread.

There were many "off-the-cuff" remarks with some disastrous results. Then came a period when he leaned over backward with caution; after that, the period when his own party seemed to be falling apart and it was no secret that the man in the White House was disappointed and unhappy.

Then came a gradual change which even many of his intimates did not realize, a change that gradually culminated in the combative confidence which most of his supporters failed to share. Washington watched his election campaign with considerable admiration for his fighting spirit but without being convinced that even he, himself actually had the confidence he displayed.

Then came the election upset and two months later, the tremendous turnout at the inauguration. There was evidence for those who could recognize it, in the manner of delivery of his inauguration speech, that here was still another Truman. At that first press and radio conference, it was plain enough. At last he was his own man. He felt he had earned his office. He probably had felt all along that he was fully competent to carry on its responsibilities. But now something had been added: a controlled self-assurance.

I think Mr. Truman was sincere when he told a luncheon meeting of the Democratic party's finance committee that there were a million men in the United States who would make a better President, but it was his job and he would carry it out. He was simply saying that he realized there were men in the country with greater ability than he had. He didn't say, nor did he think, that he didn't have enough ability. If events prove that he hasn't, he probably will be the first to admit it.

That is my own interpretation and is offered for what it is worth. It is an expression based not only on what Harry Truman has said and done, but largely on the way he has said and done it. If he continues to handle himself in the way he has since the election, the men in government and out, in his own party and out of it, will find him a lot easier to deal with. Likewise, he is going to be proportionately more successful with those with whom he has to deal.

Press Conferences Have Changed, Too
At a recent White House news conference, an old timer came up to me and remarked that the last few times he had attended these gatherings, all of which had been especially well attended (well over 100 reporters) he couldn't help thinking back to the days of Taft when, as he put it, Robert Small of the Associated Press and perhaps one or two others who used to be sneaked into the back door of the White House for confidential talks with the President, but no other newsmen or women had any access whatever to the Chief Executive.

I was not in Washington then but later I came to know Small very well and I know he was known as "the fair haired boy" of the Taft administration. It was the first time I had ever heard the expression. Small was a brilliant newsmen and Taft was very fond of him. I well recall the ex-President (Taft was then chief justice) comforting Small's father at Bob's funeral. The former White House reporter was comparatively young when he died.

I do not know how the press corps felt about Small's intimate relationship with the White House—or the other fortunate ones who were given these exclusive privileges but I doubt if it occurred to anyone to suggest the possibility of having regular open press conferences. Teddy Roosevelt, however, did call in press association men on occasion.

And yet such a situation (no regular conference) seems incredible today. No President would dare refuse to see newsmen and stand up to questions which sometimes are more impertinent than pertinent.

AT EASE!

Hodges Retires

Courtney H. Hodges has said farewell to the army he served from private to general.

In ceremonies at Governor's Island, off New York, and at city hall, Hodges, who led American forces in their sweep through France and Germany in World War II, gave up command of the famed First Army and retired after 43 years service. Now 62, Hodges is a native of Georgia.

The voice of the turtle is certainly being heard in the land of the bear—peace doves are being released from the Kremlin in flocks.

Army, Navy, Marines Join In Big Caribbean Maneuver

By BAUKHAGE

News Analyst and Commentator.

WASHINGTON—About the time these lines are in print, 35,000 American soldiers, sailors, fliers and marines and a hundred ships will be shoving off for the greatest peacetime maneuvers in our history. Providence permitting your correspondent will be on it.

A strange and sinister "aggressive force" which will have seized and fortified the island of Vieques in the Caribbean will be bombarded by sea and air, attacked and (we trust) captured by a joint marine corps and army expeditionary force landed by navy ships and planes which have fought their way past enemy planes, and submarines.

The purpose of this undertaking is officially described as "to advance and insure combat readiness for Fleet Marine Force Atlantic units, and to provide amphibious training for Army and Marine Corps units."

Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet will be in over-all command. Lieut. Gen. Kellier E. Rockey, USMC, will command the joint marine corps and army expeditionary troops which will be composed of the second marine division and the 65th infantry, Caribbean command.

Many of these men are veterans of Pacific landings and the North African operations, but, the experts tell me, there are many things to be learned for great progress has been made in amphibious training since the war.

This is the first operation of its kind since the merger of the armed services has been in effect, and nothing approaching it in size has ever been attempted in peacetime.

Of course the marine corps was virtually born amphibious and for the past 20 years has perfected the methods which were used in the late war. Now they serve as the instructors in this particular field of activity for the other branches of the service.

Maneuvers which get comparatively little notice in the press are largely regarded by laymen as a spectacle or as a series of highly technical military problems which are too complicated to follow. As a matter of fact, the actual maneuvers are a small part of the operation compared to the planning which dates back to the days when Caesar took his famous tenth legion from small boats onto the soil of ancient Britain, or before.

Perhaps the earliest important invasion from the sea in modern times was one of the most unsuccessful - - the ill-fated Gallipoli battle when the British troops were almost annihilated in their first attempt to invade Turkey in World War I.

Intensive study of this debacle was made in this country, and the marines had made great strides long before World War II made such training necessary. Very few people realized this. In fact, many people probably think that the Japs had a special patent on amphibious tactics.

As one officer expressed it to me, there is nothing secret about this method of fighting. It is simply a question of "know-how." A vast conglomeration of minute detail which is not used at all in ordinary land fighting. For example, an infantryman takes for granted that he and his rifle are more or less one piece. But the first time he has to go over the side of a ship and into a small craft, he suddenly finds he is faced with a major problem in assuring not only his own arrival on the beach but, what is equally important, the simultaneous arrival of his gun. If you have ever tried to crawl down a net with no equipment whatever, you realize it requires all the hands you have.

But long before D-day, thousands of details have been worked out hundreds of miles from the scene of action. As one officer put it, the stack of charts that have to be drawn are a mile high. Beans, bullets, shoelaces—all are part of the picture quite as much as radar and range-finders.

Cattle Industry Grew With U. S.

Two years after the first colonists landed in Virginia, cattle were a conspicuous part of colonial wealth and by 1627 a peninsula "as large as an English county" had to be fenced off for grazing purposes.

The Carolinas were once regarded as "the greatest cow country" in America. However, cattlemen began moving west after the Revolution and by the end of the Civil War, Texas was the foremost cattle state.

MONTHLY MILK RECORDS REVEAL PROFITABLE COWS

The annual butterfat production of the average dairy cow in the United States is 189 lbs. The annual production of cows in dairy herd improvement association work is 348 lbs. Much of this increase in fat production may be due to better feeding, but much of it can be attributed to heredity. DHIA records enable the dairyman to find out what his good producing cow families are. He can build his future herd around these better producing bloodlines and appreciably raise the profitability of his herd. The Washington County Dairy Herd Improvement association offers excellent milk testing service to farmers. The cost of such service is small and within the ability of dairymen to pay. For example, the cost of the owner-sampler method of testing service is less than $2.00 per month. Such service is adequate to give the dairyman a definite picture of the milk and butterfat production of the cows in his herd. DHIA testing is an investment in more profitable cows. Anyone wishing to have further information may phone or write the agricultural extension service or call at the milk testing laboratory.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Serve Baked Puddings for Dessert!
(See Recipes Below)

Oven Magic
THERE IS NOTHING more warming to cold spirits than to come from the chilly outdoors into a kitchen fragrant with the baking of fruit desserts. These, served warm with cream, make a very special finish to the ending of a meal. Homemakers will appreciate being able to use the oven for more than just the main dish and vegetables. When you bake your dessert along with the meal, you save time and last-minute preparation.

THIS SPECIAL rice pudding has much to offer since it's combined with tasty apples and a delicate butterscotch meringue as topping.

Apple Rice Pudding (Serves 6 - 8)

- 1 cup uncooked white rice
- 6 medium apples, thinly sliced
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 cups milk
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 egg whites, beaten
- 4 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Wash rice and cook in saucepan with 1 quart boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt for 10 minutes; drain. Place half the apple slices in a buttered 2-quart casserole. Blend together salt, sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle 1/2 of the mixture over apples; add 1/2 of the rice and the remainder of the apples and sprinkle with second 1/2 of sugar mixture. Top with remaining rice and sugar mixture. Pour in milk which has been blended with beaten egg yolks.

Cover and bake in a slow oven (300°f.) for about 2 hours, stirring occasionally, adding extra milk as needed. Uncover and cook 30 minutes longer to brown. To make meringue pudding: beat egg whites until they peak; add brown sugar, a tablespoon at a time, beating between each addition and continue beating until very stiff. Fold in vanilla. Spread on pudding and return to oven for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool. Serve with a jug of cream.

LIKE THE ABOVE pudding, this next one uses apples, too, and has a buttery brown sugar topping with a hint of spice:

*Raisin Apple Pudding (Serves 10)

- Batter:
- 3/4 cup seeded raisins
  - 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 4 teaspoons baking powder
  - 1/2 cup granulated sugar
  - 5 tablespoons shortening
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 2 eggs
  - 2 cups thinly sliced cooking apples

- Topping:
- 1/2 cup melted butter or substitute
  - 3/4 cup brown sugar (packed)
  - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1 teaspoon nutmeg

To make batter part, rinse raisins and chop. Sift together, flour, salt, baking powder and sugar. Work in shortening. Add milk and eggs, beaten together, and mix well. Stir in raisins and apples. Pour into a

Delightful Salads
Please the Palate
Mix pistachio nuts with cream cheese and form into balls. Serve these on apricot halves and crisp salad greens.
Small whole leaves of spinach tossed with a garlic-flavored French dressing make a tangy green salad for heavy dinners.
Pineapple spears spread with cream cheese and garnished with whole fresh strawberries are a spring favorite.
Swiss cheese, cut in strips, anchovy fillets and French dressing are delicious with a mixture of lettuce, watercress and curly endive.
Toasted almonds and ripe olives mixed with cubed, cooked chicken, then garnished with mayonnaise and sliced, hard-cooked eggs make chicken salad deluxe.
Celery and cooked beets, cut in strips, are a lovely salad combination when served on romaine.
Mold cut, cooked asparagus and sliced hard-cooked eggs in tomato aspic for a colorful salad favorite.

well-greased baking pan (about 10 1/2 x 12 inches). To make topping, blend all ingredients together and spread mixture evenly on batter. Bake in a moderately hot (375°f.) oven 35 to 40 minutes. Serve warm with plain or whipped cream.

PLAN TO SERVE your family prunes frequently as they are economical, delicious and nutritious. A good source of iron which builds red blood, as well as an excellent supply for thiamin, vitamin A and riboflavin which help safeguard health, prunes should find a welcome place in menus.

Prune Bread Pudding (Serves 6)
4 slices bread, buttered if desired
1 cup sliced, stewed prunes
2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cup (1 can) evaporated milk
1/4 cup boiling water
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of nutmeg or allspice
Lay bread in a shallow baking dish. Cover with prunes. Beat eggs until foamy. Add 1/4 cup of the sugar, milk, water and spice. Pour custard over prunes. It should be rather foamy to brown nicely. Bake in a slow (325°f.) oven until set, about 1 hour. Remove from oven. Sprinkle with remaining 1/4 cup sugar and set in a hot oven or under broiler just long enough to brown. Serve warm or cold.

Peach Pie Crust (Serves 6 - 8)
Crumb Shell:
1 cup finely-rolled corn flake crumbs
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1/4 cup melted butter or substitute.
Filling:
1 tablespoon plain gelatin
1/4 cup cold water
1 1/2 cups sliced canned cling peaches.
1/2 cup syrup from peaches
1/2 cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 cup cottage cheese
1/4 teaspoon salt
Crumb Shell: Blend corn flake crumbs and sugar. Add melted butter and mix well. Pack firmly into bottom and sides of 8-inch pie pan. Chill thoroughly.
Filling: Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat peaches, syrup and 1/4 cup sugar. Beat egg yolks slightly and add gradually to heated mixture without stirring. Continue to cook and stir until slightly thickened. Dissolve softened gelatin in hot peach mixture. Blend in lemon juice and rind. Cool. Force cottage cheese through sieve and add to peach-gelatin mixture. Beat egg whites until foamy, add salt and beat stiff. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar, beating after each addition. Fold into peach-gelatin mixture. Pour into crumb shell and chill 3 to 4 hours before serving.

Chicken salad looks elegant when garnished with apricots rolled in toasted coconut, topped with whipped cream and a cherry.
Raw cauliflowerets tossed with shredded raw carrots, blanched almonds and lettuce hearts in mayonnaise are crisp and delicious.
Garnish individual salmon salads with notched cucumber slices, marinated green beans, tomato wedges.
Luncheon meat rolled with a filling of finely shredded carrot mixed with mayonnaise may be used with any vegetable salad.
Canned, assorted fruits make a picture-pretty salad when topped with mint sherbet.
Figs and cooked prunes, stuffed with cottage cheese and arranged on pineapple slices will compliment any dinner.
To make onion juice for flavoring vegetables for salad, sprinkle cut onion with salt, then scrape juice, using a sharp knife.
Another idea for new peas: cook the peas with a bit of chopped fresh mint and see what a luscious and appetizing flavor it adds to the vegetable.

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE
by Roger C. Whitman

QUESTION: "When we moved into our apartment, we purchased from the previous tenant the inlaid linoleum on the kitchen floor. The quality is excellent, but the color is a dirty gray-green in a marbled pattern. Is there any product which will stain or dye the linoleum (not paint) so that we can get a deep blue tone and still retain the marbled effect?"

ANSWER: I do not know of any stain or dye for that purpose. But you may be able to get the effect that you want by stippling in two colors, or else by applying a "spatter-dash" finish. For the stippling, first cut a large sponge in half. Apply an oil floor paint of the background color that you wish on the floor. When this has dried, paint a section of clean board with a second color that you will use for stippling, press the flat, cut side of the sponge on this fresh paint, and then press this on the linoleum. The pattern of the cut sponge thus will be transferred to the floor.

For a spatter-dash effect, use a stick and a brush with a rather long bristle. Dip the brush into the paint and wipe off the excess. Strike the brush ferrule against the stick so that the paint will come off in drops on the floor. (The floor should already be painted with the background color.) Try these methods first on pieces of boards to get the knack. See that the linoleum is absolutely clean and dry before you start to paint, so agree of wax.

Reducing Lamb Losses
Fortifying sheep rations with cobalt and iodized salt is a promising means of cutting down lamb losses on some farms.

TWO OLD gentlemen in wheel chairs on the porch of a hotel got into conversation.

"What's your trouble?" asked one.

"Can't walk. Got rheumatism," replied the other. "Tried everything for it, but nothing helps."

"Then let me tell you about the wonderful Recluse of Waste Mountain," the first O. G. said. "I couldn't find a cure for rheumatism either, until five years ago I heard about this fellow... I fitted out a safari and crossed the Gobi Desert. Had myself carried up to the bald-est peak you ever saw. Here was this hermit, all hair and eyes, and he took one look at me and pointed his finger and yelled: 'You are cured! Throw away your left crutch!'"

"You didn't do it, did you?"

"I threw it on the ground. Then the hermit pointed at me again and yelled: 'Now throw away your right crutch!'"

"Did you do it?"

"Yes."

"And then what happened?"

"I fell flat on the ground."

MATTER OF TIMING

The minister was leaving the church after the evening service when a member of his congregation stopped him and said: "I like to come to church when you are preaching."

"I'm glad to hear that," replied the minister. "It's nice to know that somebody appreciates my sermons."

"Oh, it's not that," replied the woman. "I mean, it's easy to get a seat, even when I arrive late."

Likely Story

"Don't you ever change your mind?"

"Not often any more. I've found that I'm just as likely to be wrong on second thought as on first."

The famous artist's likeness of the magnate's wife was not pleasing to the wealthy one. Remonstrating with the artist, he complained: "Why, you've got the plainest woman I've ever seen on that canvas."

"Maybe so," replied the painter. "But if you wanted me to paint a peach, why did you bring me a lemon?"

Knew What He Wanted

A man dashed into the fire-station. He was very excited, and burst out with: "I'm sorry to interrupt, but my wife has disappeared again."

One of the firemen looked up. "That's too bad," he sympathized, "but why tell us? Why not notify the police?"

The intruder shook his head. "I dare not tell the police," he explained. "I told them the last time she disappeared—and they went out and found her!"

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

A coat of spar varnish applied to wooden drain boards in the kitchen will provide an extremely durable finish.

Cream whips best when it is very cold, but egg whites whip best when they are at room temperature—70 degrees Fahrenheit.

Baked potatoes should be carefully timed in baking and promptly served to avoid the loss of this vegetable's valuable vitamin C.

When cleaning radiators with a brush, place dry newspapers under them, cover the dry papers with dampened papers and brush the coils downward so that the dust collects on the damp paper.

Bread crusts, left over after the preparation of certain dishes, should be dried and made into crumbs, then stored in the refrigerator in a covered jar.

Few patterns for little girls call for a placket opening into the skirt; but a sash just can't pull in and conceal excessive inches of dress material—a zipper in a placket and two waistline darts, front and back, will make a surprising improvement in the fit and appearance of the garment.

When making clothes for children, buy an extra card of matching buttons for each garment. Such buttons are priceless when it comes time to replace lost buttons.

Pasture Rotation Controls Parasites

A few years ago parasites caused such heavy losses in sheep and lambs in the northwest that some ranchers were forced out of business. Research and investigation by veterinarians, sanitary experts, and sheep men pointed to overgrazing as the underlying cause of the trouble.

Rotation of pastures and reasonable growth of grass or sheep and lambs were vital to stop the devastating parasites. Some ranchers, who practiced frequent rotations and the feeding of adequate minerals the year around, were relatively free from parasite losses.
