

Kohler Tips Indians in Regional Playoff at North Fondy, 51-45

Coach Ernie Mitchell's Kewaskum High school Indians, Tri-County conference champions, Lomira sub-district tournament champs, and Fond du Lac district tournament titlists, were finally eliminated from further tournament competition this year by the well balanced, sharpshooting Kohler Blue Bombers in the regional playoff at North Fond du Lac last Thursday night. The game was close, with Kohler winning by a six point margin, 51-45.

The winners advanced to sectional competition this week end in the W.I. A.A. state basketball tournament elimination, where Kohler will meet the

INDIANS TO PLAY ALUMNI SATURDAY NIGHT

The Kewaskum High school team will end play for the season with a game against the school alumni on Saturday evening. The alumni will be composed mainly of members of the Land o' Lakes and Rivers fives. The school's B team will engage an alumni second team in the opening game at 7:15. Proceeds will be used to help pay for the new electric scoreboard in the gym.

tougher Class A and B teams. Kohler is competing in the sectional at West Allis Nathan Hale High school gym, Milwaukee, with these other regional winners: Wauwatosa, last year's state champion, which has also been named strongest team in the state this year in a poll taken throughout the season; Racine Horlick, which was rated third strongest in the state in the poll, and Lake Mills. Kohler faced Racine Horlick in its opening game Friday night, seven points more and Kewaskum would be competing at West Allis.

Kohler won district honors and moved to the regional by horse-whipping three opponents in their own meet. The Blue Bombers walloped Grafton, 52-19, tripped Howards Grove by 47-26, and knocked over rival New Holstein, 45-35, in the finals. Ace of the Kohler quint, which won 15 and lost 5 during the season, and finished second behind unbeaten Plymouth in the strong Eastern Wisconsin conference, is Jim Stephani, forward. Guard Klaucek was an all-conference guard and wound up ninth in the individual point race. Stephani was sixth. Both were named to the Kohler all-tournament team. This will give some idea of what Kewaskum was up against.

Kohler had just a little too much of everything in the battle with Kewaskum at North Fondy, played before 675 spectators, the majority of them from here. Kohler produced a hard-driving, even-scoring team which slowly but definitely forged ahead of the Indians. The Blue Bombers' shooting was very accurate and many of their shots were from far out. On the other hand, Kewaskum's shooting, which has been very good all season, was especially erratic. Their luck was also very bad, and on many shots the ball went in the hoop but bounced out again. The Indians seemed sort of lost and tight, and couldn't get to checking the way they have proved they can.

Kohler was always just a couple of points ahead in the first half, which ended, 21-19. The Indians challenged repeatedly in the second half but could never quite work up enough steam to surge past the Blues. Two quick baskets by John Tessar and John Kougl underneath the Kohler basket after two minutes of the final quarter made it 35-34, but Coach Roy Ebbens' quint dropped in five points to end Kewaskum's hopes of coping a fourth straight tourney game.

First Calls Made in Red Cross Fund Drive

Aided by sunshine and warmer weather, a corps of volunteer solicitors officially opened the 1949 Red Cross fund drive in this area Tuesday making their first calls in the city, villages and rural areas.

Under the direction of General Chairman Robert E. Engiske and 17 cooperating precinct chairmen, the volunteer solicitors will continue their calls during the next two weeks. The slogan of the drive is "You Too Can Help Through Your Red Cross."

Engiske said Tuesday that he hopes the West Bend chapter will continue its record of being among the first in the state to attain its quota.

"Our goal for 1949 is $5,219," he said, "and we will need the generous cooperation of everyone in the chapter area if we are to meet our quota."

The chairman emphasized the importance of the work of the precinct chairmen and volunteer solicitors. It is only through the effort of these people who cheerfully donate their time and energy that Red Cross is able to continue its work in the West Bend chapter area. The personal contact of the local chairman and solicitors with the people in their own home neighborhoods serves to bring into the family of Red Cross membership a larger number of people each year, Engiske said.

Chapter Chairman Stephen O'Meara pointed with pride to the record of past years and said the West Bend chapter is among the best and most active small city organizations in the Midwest area.

"It is only because the people of this region have so generously supported Red Cross work that we have attained such recognition," O'Meara added. "We are sure the people will continue that record this year," the chapter chairman concluded.

SCHAEFER NOT A CANDIDATE

I hereby announce to the voters that I am not a candidate for village clerk at the coming election on April 5.

To do justice in carrying out the ever increasing duties of the clerk requires too much time, which I feel must be given to my own business.

I wish to thank all the people who have so faithfully supported me for the past fifteen years.

Firemen Out Twice on Chimney, Truck Alarms

An alarm at 4:45 p. m. last Friday called the local fire department to the Wallace Krueger farm in the town of Auburn, three miles north of Kewaskum, where a threatening chimney fire was in progress. The blaze was a stubborn one and hard to combat. Firemen worked about 1 1/2 hours in getting the fire completely under control. A cracked chimney and damage to the walls in places resulted.

The firemen were aroused early on Thursday by the sound of the fire siren at 4:30 a. m. The call came from Spanny Pete at what is known as Kohn's Curve, two miles north of the village, where a large shipment of produce and freight being hauled in a semi-trailer truck caught fire. Ervin Tessmer, Wausau, the driver of the truck, owned by the Allbright Freight & Storage Co. of that city, pulled to the side of Hwy. 55 when the fire was discovered. Tessmer was enroute to Chicago with a load of eggs, cheese, fish poles and other freight, and had a charcoal heater burning in the rear of the truck to keep the perishable goods warm. While driving the fish poles shifted position, rested on the heater and started burning. The poles, some paper cartons, crates, insulation and siding burned and most of the load was scorched before the blaze was extinguished. The driver was able to continue on to Chicago with his load.

Lakes Team Trounces St. Kilian Couple Observes Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

LAND O' LAKES STANDINGS (Northern Division)

Table with columns: Team, Won, Lost. Includes Plymouth, Fond du Lac, Kewaskum, Grafton, Menomonee Falls, Cedarburg, Random Lake, Lomira, Campbellsport.

Manager Kilian Honeck Jr. of the Kewaskum Lakes team predicted to the Campbellsport management last week that his cagers would whip the Blues by 20 points Sunday night at Campbellsport and that's exactly what they did, the score being 63-43. There were very few Campbellsport fans on hand to see the contest but Kewaskum had a very large following.

Kewaskum had an easy time of it against the Blues, leading by an overwhelming 18-2 score at the quarter over a luckless Campbellsport five. The losers failed to sink a field goal in the first period. They took many shots but the ball was not with them and they could not connect. The Indians stayed a head by about 12 points throughout the second and third periods, which ended, 26-14 and 43-31. In the final stanza Kewaskum turned on the pressure again and built up their advantage to 20 points.

High point getter was Koenig of the Blues with 13, while mate Marchant dunked in 12. The winners' scoring was very evenly divided. Every man on the squad scored with the points ranging from 3 to 11. A. Bilgo topped the list with 11. W. Tessar and Krueger made 10. The fouling was free and 55 personals were called, 32 on the Blues and 23 on the Indians. The locals sank 21 free tosses. Campbellsport had three players with five fouls, two with four, and two with three. Kewaskum had four men with four fouls.

RIVERS TEAM DEFEATED

In the preliminary to the Lakes tilt at Campbellsport the Rivers five took on the Belle outfit of the loop and were decisively trounced, 49-31. Campbellsport went way ahead in the first half, in which the Papooses scored but five points. The contest was rough and tumble. So many players were ejected on fouls that Campbellsport finished the game with three players and Kewaskum four.

FALLS ENDS SEASON HERE

Kewaskum brought the Lakes season to a close Thursday night when Menomonee Falls was met on the local floor. In the preliminary the Rivers cagers squared off with Mequon. On Saturday night most of the Lakes and Rivers boys will play on alumni teams against the high school A and B fives. Beginning Sunday, Mar. 13, the Lions club of Lomira will sponsor a tournament and the Lakes five has entered the event. The Ladies play their first tourney game at Lomira against Random Lake at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Mar. 15. Details on the meet next week.

State Supervisor Visits Graded Schools of County

Miss Della E. Kibbe, supervisor of elementary schools for the State Department of Public Instruction visited the state graded schools of the county on Feb. 21, 22 and 23 of last week.

As a result of her observation State Superintendent of Schools John Callahan filed his report with the village superintendent of schools for the villages of Richfield, Germantown, Biltonville, Hillmore and Barton. In all these schools the state superintendent was pleased to make favorable comments on the work observed. In every school very definite educational materials had been purchased by the board, such as playground equipment, globes, maps, reading materials, library supplies, and reference materials. She mentioned that the attitude of the teachers, response of the pupils and the excellent spirit of the schools were very commendable.

A strong appeal was made by Mr. Callahan that all state graded schools should have school lunch service and that services of a janitor should be supplied. Boards should not expect teachers in this type of schools to do "janitorial work" in addition to a full day of teaching. The reports are such that school boards, teachers and people are to be complimented upon their enthusiastic support of education.

West Bend Pilot is Sold by Kaempfers

In a business deal transacted Saturday, a group of young West Bend businessmen purchased the West Bend Pilot printing plant from the Kaempfer family, owners of the newspaper and commercial printing establishment for the last 47 years.

The new owners, who announce they will operate the newspaper under the corporate name of Pilot Press, Inc., are Alan E. Pick, president; Kenneth B. The new owners will continue to conduct the business as heretofore and intend to expand it in the future. Several changes in the personnel of the plant have been made.

The Pilot made its first appearance in the community Feb. 24, 1892, under C. E. Robinson as the Washington County Pilot. H. B. Kaempfer was the editor at that time and he purchased the paper in 1902. Later it was in the hands of his son, H. C. Kaempfer, who has been with the Pilot almost 35 years. His father died in 1945. Mr. Kaempfer has no immediate plans, other than to take a long vacation.

Bread Stuffing Makes Fish Savory (See Recipes Below)

Lenten Favorites
IF YOU HAVE only a slight acquaintance with how savory meatless foods can be, then Lent is the time to let your ingenuity go to work. You may discover, as have many homemakers through the years, that small acquaintance can lead to enduring friendships.

Fish may readily become a year-round favorite just because you discovered a special way to prepare it during Lent. Although the family may already like and expect eggs for breakfast, you may discover that creamed, deviled or hard-cooked eggs combined with other foods make delightful luncheon or supper dishes.

Both fish and eggs are nutritious foods. Fish and egg yolk contain protein, that important body building and repair substance which everyone needs daily.

In both vitamins and minerals, both of these foods rate as excellent sources. Egg yolks are rich in iron, builder of red blood cells; they also supply calcium needed for bones and teeth. You'll appreciate the fact that eggs are a good source of phosphorus, riboflavin, and vitamins A and D.

Fish are very active, and since the B vitamins (thiamine, niacin and riboflavin) are necessary for energy production, their flesh is rich in these. All fish are rich sources of phosphorus and ocean fish and sea foods are excellent sources of iodine, the element necessary to the prevention of goiter.

COMPARED TO MEAT, fish has little fat and, therefore, it requires little cooking time. A short cooking time for fish is also essential so that you will lose few of the important B vitamins which are so readily destroyed by heat.

Long slow cooking time breaks down the muscle fibers of fish which leaves it dry and unappetizing. Cook it as directed in these recipes and serve as soon as it is taken from the oven, and you'll have fish so delicious no one can resist it.

Stuffed Fish (Serves 6 - 8)
Select a fish weighing 3 to 4 pounds. Clean. Rub salt inside and out. Stuff with bread stuffing made by mixing 1 1/2 cups bread cubes with 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon thyme or marjoram and 1/2 onion, minced. Slowly add 3 tablespoons melted butter.

Close the cavity of the fish with toothpicks or skewers and draw edges together by lacing with string. Brush with melted fat and place in baking pan. Bake for 15 minutes in a very hot (450° F.) oven. Then reduce heat to 400° F. and bake for 45 minutes longer.

Garnish fish with parsley and lemon wedges. Serve with a sauce made of 1 cup white sauce to which has been added 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, or 2 tablespoons capers or 1/4 cup mushrooms, chopped.

Stuffed Fish Fillets (Serves 4)
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup chopped, cooked or canned mushrooms

LYNN SAYS:
Here's How to Serve Eggs Attractively
Minced parsley or watercress may be added to mashed yolks for stuffed eggs. A bit of tart salad dressing contributes tangy flavor. Minced green onion, minced green pepper and pimiento are good to use with the mashed yolk for deviled eggs.

Chopped hard-cooked eggs mixed with chopped black olives and mayonnaise make a delicious sandwich mixture.

Don't eggs baked in rice cups sound delicious? Moisten cooked white rice with butter and cream and line the mixture into small baking cups. Break an egg into each cup, sprinkle with cheese and add a tablespoon of cream to each. Dust with bread crumbs and bake in a pan of hot water until eggs are set.

To make eggs a la King, add cream sauce to eggs which have been hard-cooked. Add also some canned, broiled-in-butter mushrooms, sautéed, chopped green pepper and a bit of chopped pimiento for color.

Flemish Fillets (Serves 6)
2 pounds haddock fillets
1/4 pound bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
3 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 cup tomato paste or drained, canned tomatoes

Partially cook bacon in skillet. Pour bacon fat into bottom of shallow pan. Add half of onion and parsley. Place fillets in this and add remainder of onion and parsley. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and place slice of bacon on each fillet. Bake in a moderate hot (375° F.) oven for 45 minutes. Remove fish to hot platter and add tomato pan mixture. Heat, adding a few tablespoons of water if necessary. Pour sauce around fish on platter. Serve with squash or sweet potatoes.

Ever scrambled eggs with crabmeat? They're wonderful this way. Sauté crabmeat in butter in skillet, then pour in the egg-milk mixture. Stir gently until eggs are cooked.

Serve three salads on one plate for luncheons: one of shrimp or crabmeat, another of well-seasoned cottage cheese, and a third of chopped vegetables.

Don't toss away leftover green vegetables such as asparagus, peas or green beans. Mix them with chopped celery, hard-cooked eggs and mayonnaise. Serve in lettuce cups.

Sautéed bean sprouts, sliced mushrooms, celery and onion may be added to eggs while you scramble them for a delicious Chinese dish.

Creamed eggs and asparagus always meet with approval. Fold asparagus tips into hot white sauce and pour this over a layer of sliced, hard-cooked eggs in a casserole. Cover the top with bread crumbs and place in oven long enough to heat.

Cabbage takes on more flavor if cooked with some carrot slices, chopped celery and onion.

Chopped, cooked ham may be added to the yolks of hard-cooked eggs and then stuffed into the white. Pour over this a hot cream sauce. Serve on hot toast, if desired.

Escalloped Corn and Oysters (Serves 5 - 6)
1 No. 2 can corn, kernel style
1 pint oysters
3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains of pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
2 cups oyster liquor
1 cup buttered crumbs

Heat corn. Drain oysters and add enough water to liquor to make 3/4 cup. Make white sauce of butter, flour, salt, pepper, milk and oyster liquor. Arrange layers of corn, oysters and white sauce in a buttered baking dish. Top with crumbs. Bake in a moderately hot (400° F.) oven for 15 to 20 minutes.

Shrimps, Louisiana Style (Serves 6)
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon minced onion
1 pint shrimp, peeled
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons minced parsley
4 tablespoons tomato catsup

Melt butter, add onion and shrimp; brown. Stir in flour and add seasonings. Gradually add milk and cook about 10 minutes. Add parsley and tomato catsup; cover and let steam until sauce is thickened. Serve over hot boiled rice.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

An easy way to chop nuts is to put them in a clean cotton bag and roll over the bag lightly with a rolling pin.

Keep a shaker of boric powder on the kitchen shelf and sprinkle it in your rubber gloves before and after you use them; this helps them slip on easily and acts as an antiseptic in the case of any skin abrasions.

Calcium deposits in bottles and teakettles may be removed by boiling in or with a solution of vinegar and water.

An open bottle of air freshener placed on a suitcase and allowed to remain therein overnight will rid the case of "that" mildew odor.

For a delicious luncheon dish put a layer of chopped, cooked and seasoned spinach in an individual baking dish. Slip an egg on top and sprinkle with salt and pepper and celery salt. Pour a tablespoon of heavy cream over the egg and sprinkle generously with coarsely grated yellow cheese. Bake the individual dishes in a moderate oven (375° F) for about 20 minutes, or until the egg white is set.

If you need to boil an egg that is cracked, wrap it in wax paper and twist the ends before dropping it in boiling water. The paper will prevent the white from running out of the shell.

To prevent seam puckers in sewing sheer fabrics, loosen sewing machine tension and use a longer stitch. Or with regular setting, stitch seams over strips of paper, then pull off paper. Test scraps of fabric before starting on garment.

LAFF LINES

Wrong Party

HE WAS undersized, meek, diffident, subdued, and had applied for a job as night-watchman. "Yes," said the manager, eyeing him dubiously, "but the fact is we want someone who is restless and uneasy, especially at night; someone who thinks the worst of everybody and whose suspicions are seldom if ever allayed; someone who sleeps with one eye open always; someone with remarkable hearing, who starts at the slightest sound; someone who is always listening, thinking there are bad characters about. A meek, mild watchman would be of no use to us. We want a large, aggressive, intrepid, and dangerous person; a good shot; bad-tempered, and revengeful, too. The kind of person in fact who, when roused, is a fiend incarnate." "I'll send the wife 'round," said the little man.

REMOTE CONTROL

"And what would you like for your birthday present, Tommy?" asked the fond mother. "Oh, a telephone!" replied the youngster promptly. "What ever for?" "Then I can ring up and answer teacher's questions without having to go to school."

Soft Pedal

A Welshman who was very proud of his bass voice was describing a wonderful dream he'd had. "I was in a mighty choir," he said; "5,000 sopranos, 5,000 altos, 5,000 tenors—all singing together double forte." "It must have been wonderful," said the listener. "But what about the basses?" "That was it!" said the dreamer. "Suddenly the conductor stopped the choir and, turning to me, said: 'Not quite so loud in the bass, please, Mr. Jones!'"

PRACTICAL VIEW

The Scotsman was playing a round of golf with a business acquaintance. They started off, and the Scotsman excelled himself time and again with remarkable drives, finishing off the game by making a hole in one. His partner was speechless, and after a few minutes he grasped the Scotsman's hand.

"I really must congratulate you," he said with emotion. "I've never seen a drive like that last one of yours before. It's amazing." "We-el," replied the Scot, "it did save wear and tear on the ball."

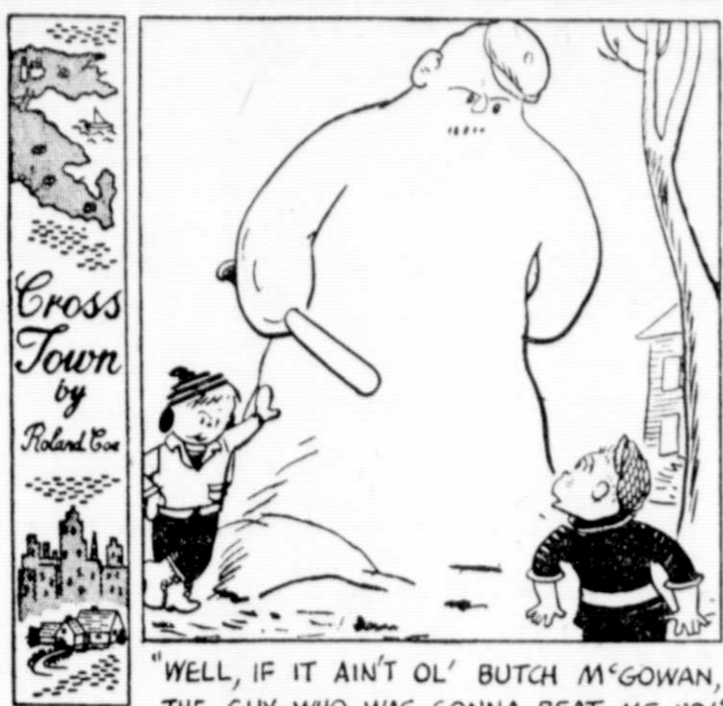

HELP!

The little man who was the meek escort of the big woman in the ramble through the shopping establishment had fainted. "Is he subject to this sort of thing?" asked the shopwalker, as he rendered first-aid and motioned the crowd to stand back.

"Not exactly," replied the woman. "He's a little nervous sometimes. I tried to buy it without him seeing me, but he heard me give the order." "Buy what?" asked the shopwalker, somewhat suspiciously. "A rolling-pin," said the woman.

Yeah—How?

The languid youth seated himself in the dentist's chair to have a tooth extracted. He wore a wonderful striped silk shirt, and an even more wonderful check suit. He also wore the vacant stare that so often goes with both. "I'm afraid to give him gas," said the dentist to his assistant. "Why?" asked the assistant. "Do you think his heart is groggy?" "No," replied the dentist, "but just look at him. How will I know when he is unconscious?"

Sew a Layette for a New Baby

Layette Is Fine Gift

A DAINTY, yet very practical layette that makes an ideal gift for the babies of your friends, daughter or granddaughter. Use fine white nainsook for the petticoat, sacque and dressing gown. Made of silk crepe, the dress will be a lovely christening gown.

Cleanliness Advised By Veterinarians

Cattle brucellosis or Bangs disease will never be conquered while animals are housed in unclean buildings and farm yards. Ranchers have been successful in avoiding spread of the disease by maintaining separate calving pastures and rotating all pastures. Much of the dissatisfaction with brucellosis control can be avoided by better management and identification of vaccinated animals. Calf losses usually can be stopped by veterinarians, but where owners cannot maintain holding pens and yards that are clean and sanitary, their prescribed vaccines and treatments may be of little value; the sooner young calves can be put to pasture on fresh grass, the better.

Doesn't it seem more sensible? ALL-VEGETABLE LAXATIVE

NATURE'S REMEDY (NR) TABLETS A purely vegetable laxative to relieve constipation without the usual griping, sickening, perturbing sensations, and does not cause a rash. Try NR—you will see the difference. Uncoated or candy coated—their action is dependable, thorough, yet gentle as millions of NR's have proved. Get a 25c box and use as directed.

HOW MUCH IS ONE RESCUE WORTH?

A tiny hand above the water. Then slowly, slowly it sinks. But there is time—still time—if only someone is near, someone who knows what to do. A twelve-year-old boy, a woman, an old man—anyone, if only he knows

And the wonderful thing is that there are millions who do know what to do and how to do it. Last year alone, you—through your Red Cross—made it possible to train more than a half million people in water safety. Another 55,000 were trained and qualified as instructors in water safety and first aid. It is estimated that 17,000,000 have had training in first aid and water safety through your Red Cross.

Many of these people are able to save human life—priceless human life. How much is this ability worth? It's hard to say—unless it is someone you love who has been rescued.

Your contributions to your Red Cross can help carry on this training program, help take it to new areas that need it. Give now—it may save a life sooner than you think.

—A group of about 30 former classmates, relatives and other friends surprised Recruit Allyn Mertes at his home on Thursday evening, the occasion being his 15th birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in playing cards and in a social manner. Everyone enjoyed a pleasant evening. Allyn left on Friday for Ft. Benning, Ga. for further training, having been transferred there from Camp Breckinridge, Ky. after a week's furlough at his home here.

Words cannot adequately express my deep appreciation for the many kind and sympathetic acts that came to me at the time of my sad loss, the sudden death of my dear husband, Joseph Simon. Thanks to all, especially Rev. Hochhaus, Rev. Reichel and Father Romuald, the organist, choir, pallbearers, drivers, members of Holy Name society, traffic officer, Miller's, to all who attended the funeral and called at the funeral home.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Congress Gets Control Proposals Which Would Curb Wages, Prices; Doctors Offer Public Health Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONTROLS: Needed or Not?

The administration at Washington has made its move for price and wage controls.

It has asked congress to place ceilings on prices which threaten to go above last December's level.

Already, however, it was becoming increasingly clear to the people that constantly shifting factors are changing so swiftly that some of the major points in the administration's legislative program may become obsolete before they are called for consideration.

FOR INSTANCE, the downward trend in prices would indicate that a proposal for price control, except in some few isolated cases, might even appear ridiculous.

The sincerity of the administration in this respect might be open to question, but not seriously so. Practiced politicians and people who realize the need for application of politics in government procedures will understand that whether it is the government actually wants what it asks is somewhat beside the point.

The real point is that these measures were pledged by President Truman in his campaign, and it was as early as inauguration day that administration leaders stated publicly they meant to implement campaign pledges in every way.

A QUICK RUN-DOWN of the administration's legislative-potential will show that civil rights, tax increases, outright repeal of the Taft-Hartley law and socialized medicine, all admittedly needing some treatment, are in for a rough time in congress.

That being the case, it is difficult to understand how Mr. Truman and his advisers could make price and wage controls stick should there be no apparent need for either.

PUBLIC HEALTH: Physicians' Plan

There would be discussion of motive, of course, but whether actuated by the belief that socialized medicine was an undesirable alternative, or by a sincere desire to widen their field of service, America's physicians had come up with a plan.

OBVIOUSLY, the plan was a counter move in the developing battle over socialized medicine, and in it one could see some concession to the bureaucratic ambitions which, it is claimed, motivates the socialized medicine effort.

First, the doctors through their American Medical Association's board of trustees, urge creation of a federal department of health, with cabinet status, which would be authorized to promote the general welfare by aiding and fostering programs in the field of health.

Briefly, the program would include: PROMPT DEVELOPMENT of diagnostic facilities; health centers and local public health units; health centers and hospital services; comprehensive health education programs; integration of veterans' medical care and hospitalization with other medical care and hospital programs; greater emphasis on the program of industrial medicine, and adequate support, with funds free from political control, of the medical, dental and nursing schools and other institutions necessary for the training of specialized personnel required in the provision and distribution of medical care.

In its scope the doctors' program read like Mr. Truman's "bold new program" for betterment of world living. But its very generalities and extent might be the factors to doom it.

With immediate medical care the greatest need of too many Americans unable to pay for it, the panacea would have to be immediate and visual. Examined, even close up, the doctor's plan appeared to offer little toward the solution of the issue of socialized medicine.

MERCY TRAIN: And Kisses

Although no finished hand at the game, Kentucky's Gov. Earle Clements was not to be outdone in the amenities incident to arrival of the French Mercy train in Frankfurt.

BUSSED heartily on the cheek by French representative Andre Picard, Governor Clements busied right back, displayed no chagrin.

And, in addition to the bus, Picard received a commission as a Kentucky colonel.

Picard, a French railroad employee, was the originator of the idea of presenting gifts in recognition of the train loads of American food sent to France last year.

THE PRESENTS from the French people arrived in a French "40 and 8" boxcar—half as long as the flatbed American car that bore it. The gifts consisted of letters of thanks, vases, scarfs, dolls, plates and other objects.

After being displayed they were to be distributed to museums and public institutions throughout the state.

Rising Giant

One of the rising giants in the field of canned foods is frozen orange juice concentrate. The pack for this year, distributors report, is expected to be around nine million gallons, or 192 million six-ounce cans.

The concentrate has won wide acceptance in only three years because of its retention of natural flavor, high vitamin-C content and ease of storage and preparation.

TRENDS: Dictatorial

The gentleman who was talking knew whereof he spoke. When he began to express himself on dictatorships, the public might listen respectfully for he had lately concluded an assignment to put down one of the most vicious dictatorships the world had ever seen.

But he wasn't talking of foreign dictatorships. Instead, he was warning the Columbia college forum on democracy that dictatorship was an actual possibility right here in the United States.

THE SPEAKER was Gen. Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower, who was supreme commander of allied forces in the war against the dictatorships—World War II.

Discussing the supposition that this nation was in danger of falling into the hands of a dictator without a shot being fired, Eisenhower said he was not talking about the usual type of seizure of power by force.

He was talking, he said, about a gradual dictatorship of bureaucracy which could result from the "constant drift toward centralized government."

"There is a kind of dictatorship," he said, "that can come about through a creeping paralysis of thought and readiness to accept paternalistic measures from the government, along with a surrender of our own responsibilities and, therefore, of our control over our own lives and our right to exercise our vote."

"IF WE ALLOW this drift toward centralized bureaucratic government to continue, finally it will be expressed . . . in the actual field of operation."

"There'll be a swarming of bureaucrats over the land, ownership of property will gradually drift into that central government, and finally you have to have dictatorship as the only means of operating such a huge organization."

When a man of General Ike's stature is publicly concerned over the probability of a dictatorship in the U. S., benign or otherwise, it seems it were time the public, too, should begin to look into the situation.

MYSTERY: Biggest Run

As one southern reporter described it, it was the "biggest run in the South's history."

One moment everything was all right. The next, disaster had struck. It happened in Jacksonville, Fla., and there was no warning of its coming. Women and girls arose in the morning, donned attractive, sheer nylon stockings and started about their business.

Then, the nylons simply started coming apart. Working girls went bare-legged to lunch, carrying their stockings—or what was left of them—in their purses.

A horrible possibility failed to materialize—the girls were spared disintegration of their nylon underwear; but there were many anxious moments as they watched the nylon stockings disintegrate on their legs.

The health department advanced a theory that incompletely burned particles of soot carried a gas which caused the stockings to come apart.

At Wilmington, Del., a technical engineer for a nylon manufacturer said it happened before in Washington, Chicago, Nashville and Minneapolis.

He explained that the trouble was acid-bearing soot. These tiny particles, he said, even from ordinary coal fires, contain sulphur dioxide, sulphur trioxide and other acids. When they land on a coat or hat, the concentrate may destroy a thread, but you don't notice it.

But when they land on a stocking thread—zip! And there's a story to make the nation's headlines.

Accused

Agnes Smedley, 54-year-old Oklahoma born author, has been named by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as a Soviet agent in his recent report on a Russian spy ring. She denied the accusation.

METALS: Stronger

For those who use metals, there was good news Dr. J. H. Holloman, General Electric research laboratory scientist, reported that metals eventually can be made stronger from five to 10 times stronger.

Metals are made up of tiny grains. A break always begins at a high temperature with microscopic cracks along the boundaries. It is prevention of these cracks that will strengthen the metal.

CAPITOL: Rickety

The house appropriations committee has decided to do something about the state of repair of the roof of the nation's capitol. The committee has voted to spend more than two million dollars to repair the roofs of the senate and house chambers when the lawmakers quit for the summer.

The roofs have been held up by temporary steel girders for several years.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Look for Happiness

"OUR MARRIAGE has become a farce," writes Elinor Price from Minneapolis. "But we don't want a divorce. We both love our home and our adopted daughter, Georgette, who is 8. I dread the scandal of a divorce and the shock to our child. Paul has none of the usual faults that lead to separation and I don't think I have. But we've reached a point of such boredom in our 12 years of marriage that we sometimes hardly can be civil to each other."

"This eight-room suburban home was his mother's. It has every convenience—washer, dryer, furnace, lovely garden. Paul works in a bank, belongs to a good club, is admired and popular. Georgette is a little dream of beauty and goodness. With help three times a week, I can keep my home as neat as wax."

"We breakfast at 8. Paul leaves half the paper, touches his cheek to the back of my head, is gone. Georgette gets her milk nicker and lunchbox and goes. Then silence—silence. I go to market and look at beaver coats in windows, evening frocks in windows, pictures of successful movie stars no older than I."

Monotony Moves In "That night Paul sits by his radio and reads his paper. Georgette has her supper and does her homework in bed, as we have to watch her chest in our cold winters. I get dinner, speak to Paul. He puts his paper down, answers."

"Sundays we talk vaguely of a picnic or a walk; go to a 4 o'clock movie; think we will drop in at the Wilsons, decide not to, come home. I open the ice box; tell them what's there. What does anyone want? Paul says quietly that that isn't his idea of supper. I say that if they'll wait I'll cook a regular meal. But I will have to change my clothes, etc. He says that isn't his idea, either. He'll go out for something. Do we want to go downtown?"

"Well," the letter runs on, "either we do or we don't and either way it's a failure. We get a slow waiter, Georgette gets sleepy, the food is expensive and poor. Nobody's happy."

Want To Be Happy

"Don't think I'm stupid or spoiled. It's really serious. We both want to be the busy, happy, contented people we see about us. We've lost the key. Paul makes pathetic efforts; I make feeble efforts, too. He brings me home a few flowers or I say brightly at dinner, 'Your old favorite cake, Paul.' It all seems to drop flat. How can I put life into my marriage? When we first were married, we were very happy; we aren't really unhappy now. Isn't there a cure for this?"

You're not stupid or spoiled, Elinor. You're suffering from causes buried deep in our way of living. You have what every human heart in the world wants—enough food first, then shelter, then clothes, companionship, leisure, beauty. And to find that it isn't enough is the shock that is upsetting the lives of hundreds of women like you.

If Paul came home today badly wounded, to be an invalid for life, you would rise to the crisis almost with buoyancy. Caring for him, reassuring him, somehow making money, somehow keeping your affairs afloat would make a new woman of you.

Paul, too, if he were called to help in some calamity, would pull off his coat, take command of the younger workers, live to the very utmost of his capacity and glory in it.

The cure of your case, Elinor, the secret of brimming, soul-satisfying life is contained in those old words that made so many millions of outwardly dull, obscure lives so bright with dancing light. Seek and you will find.

But specifically in your case, because I think it would be just the tonic you need, I am going to recommend to you a cure that worked a miracle for me years ago. Adopt a family—without their knowing it. Ask your organized charities for the name of some unfortunate lonely young woman with two or three babies. They'll supply material aid; you do the rest.

Go every day for five or six hours. Make her bed. Gradually get the dark crowded rooms into order. Have lunch there. You'll find miracles all the way along.

Female Breadwinners Boost Income of United States

WASHINGTON.—Working women have a lot to do with increasing the income of the United States, according to latest census bureau data.

In 1947 the female breadwinners provided the entire support for more than two million of the nation's 37 million families. They contributed 25 per cent or more of the total income for one out of four families.

COMMUNISTS

Saxon Mines Harbor Reds

HAMBURG, GERMANY—Christina Peter, a 24-year-old German girl, who volunteered for low-grade uranium mining in Saxony, said she estimated that more than 100,000 Germans were at work in the mines. Food, liquor and cigarettes were fairly plentiful but Communists were continually trying to convince workers to join the party.

A German-speaking Russian officer trained German girls on Russian-built listening instruments. The instrument, Christina said, had two large earphones and a metal stick. Both were connected with a battery which was carried on a belt around the shoulder.

Before she was sent into the mine, she worked with a group of Russian and German technicians equipped with divining rods and other instruments to combe the surface.

Had To Report

Whenever her earphone reacted with a bell-like sound she had to report to the next Russian, who marked the place and ordered a Russian technician to go through the test again.

After that job she was sent underground into a primitively constructed mine. Her job was to test all ore and rocks coming out of the tunnels for radium or Uranium, she said, was easily recognized by a violet-colored stripe going through the stones.

All the labor is not voluntary. An 18-year-old German youth who escaped estimated that between 30,000 and 50,000 persons were in Soviet forced labor camps in Saxony.

Still wearing the rubberized clothing and boots issued to him when he went to work in the uranium mines, Gerhard Riefenstahl described conditions in the labor camps. A blond six-foot youth, Riefenstahl, now virtually a human skeleton, said he lost thirty-five pounds during two months of forced labor for the Russians.

Lived in Barracks

The miners live in barracks, small camps and among the German populace, the youth said. He stayed in a room with 10 other men. Although they were unguarded, they were warned not to try to leave. The entire area was blocked off, with guards at all railroad stations and roads.

The miners are fairly well paid, Riefenstahl said. He received 400 marks per month, which is $33 at the official rate of exchange, or about $10 at the more realistic black market rate.

Food rations were supposedly somewhat higher than in Berlin, but only in theory. The penalty for being late to work was a 50 per cent cut in rations, and since the mines were far from the barracks and the transport system poorly organized, few workers were ever on time.

Tale Retold of Lincoln's Visiting New England Site

HINGHAM, MASS.—The oft-mentioned possibility that Abraham Lincoln may have visited his ancestral home here 100 years ago has been revived.

The question arose when the Lincoln house was presented to the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities. During a visit to Boston in September, 1848, Lincoln was supposed to have "vanished for three days."

The lost three days are discussed in Elizabeth Coatsworth's new book, "South Shore Town."

Miss Coatsworth believes Lincoln may have visited Hingham in those three days to "commune with the ghosts of his ancestors and to draw vigor from their yeoman blood."

The first ancestor of Lincoln came to Hingham from Hingham, England, in 1637. The Lincoln house, a story and a half gambrel roof cottage, was built some time later on the original land plot of the Lincoln family.

Drift of South America From Africa Idea Studied

CINCINNATI—Did South America drift apart from the continent of Africa?

The question is reopened by the research work in South America of Dr. Kenneth E. Caster of the University of Cincinnati, assistant professor of geology and fellow in the graduate school of arts and sciences. He returned recently after almost four years in South America, where he traveled widely gathering geologic data, much of which bears on the theory of "continental drift."

His visit to South America was under the auspices of the United States department of state and the Guggenheim foundation.

"None of the findings in South America definitely proves or disproves the drift hypothesis, but they are significant enough to warrant additional field studies in South Africa, India and Australia to make necessary comparison," Dr. Caster said.

He added that he hoped to make trips to those continents to continue his research.

SHORT STORY

The Young Old Folks

By Matthew F. Christopher

"THERE!" Dave said. "The ceiling's finished. Now, you've got new stairs, new walls in the living room and bedrooms, and a new porch." He lifted his chin defiantly, and something like a cold glint entered his brown eyes as he gazed down at his mother.

"Anything else you need to do?" Drusilla glanced at him warily, clutched his arm. "Dave!" She sounded so weak, like a child.

His mother stared up at him with a soft flame burning in her cheeks. She was so short, thought Drusilla, so small against her son.

"Why? What's the matter? Dad and I—we were talking about putting in a new kitchen floor, too."

Dave shook his head. "There you go! Ever since you bought this place that's all you and Dad have been doing—fixing and fixing. For a couple of old people you're certainly throwing your money around."

3-Minute Fiction

"I'm only fifty-five," said his father solemnly, puffing quietly on an old, black-bowled pipe.

"Dave laughed dryly. 'Well? Don't you think that's getting along?'"

They walked together through a field that separated their home from Dave's folks.

After lunch he took a nap, and Drusilla sneaked quietly out of the kitchen door and started back across the field to Mother and Dad Parsell's.

"I didn't have anything to do," she explained, "so I thought I'd come back and visit awhile. Dave's sleeping. Mother said you're going to put in a new kitchen floor. What kind? Oak?"

"Oh, no, Mother did not mean that. We just want to see the old floor, then put on linoleum."

She left soon, for fear Dave would get up and not find her there.

When he woke there was still time for supper, and Drusilla suggested a little ride through the country.

"The road down toward the lake," she said. "We haven't seen the Acklings so long! And Mrs. Ackling has been so sweet to me!"

"OH, DRUSILLA — and Dave! It's so good to see you!"

"Come around the house. John is back there, working on the terrace. They followed her. Drusilla stopped and stared surprisedly at the vari-colored flagstones that made up the terrace. At one corner, which was not quite finished, a white-haired figure dabbled with a trowel. He looked up, his red face crinkled in a smile. "Well!" he exclaimed. "Look who's here! How are you, Drusilla? Dave? My, you're both looking so young you could see that in the soft tears in their eyes, and their mouths that hung, limply at the corners."

make me feel old! How's the folks, Dave?"

"God, Mr. Ackling, thanks."

"Doing any more on that house of theirs?"

"Some. Just finished—"

"Mrs. Ackling!" Drusilla exclaimed. "What's that down below here? A flower bed? Oh, it's beautiful! Dave, look!"

After work the next day she saw Dave drive past the house, and from the back door she saw him stop at his mother's. She waited for the sound of the car's motor to start up again, for he should be coming home to eat. Minutes went by. What was Dave doing?

She heard the motor. She stared at the car, waiting for it to move. Suddenly she realized it wasn't the car. And then, hurriedly, she ripped off a sheet of wax paper, covered the food on the table, and started running across the field to Mother and Dad Parsell's.

When she peered through the door of the kitchen, the noise that came from within was so loud she could barely think. But she could see Mother Parsell sweeping one side of the old floor that was slowly changing to new, her round, rosy cheeks puffed up in a smile. And Dad Parsell, his mild, contented face in the center of his own smoke fog, holding an electric cord, so that Dave wouldn't run over it with the sander.

MIRROR of your MIND

By Lawrence Gould

How Ideas Are Born

Does anyone know where "ideas" come from?

Answer: If you're thinking of "original ideas," all that we can be sure of is that they don't "come into our minds" out of the wild blue yonder; they rise out of the "unconscious." Basically each idea starts from a wish or "drive" and represents a real or imagined way of getting satisfaction for an invention, for example, may start with a wish to save yourself work, to win fame, or to make money. But little is known of the mysterious process by which we put two and two together so that an idea eventually "takes shape."

scious wish to be dependent on some stronger person, and the reason this wish seems so dangerous is that once he gave full confidence to someone—probably one of his parents—and felt he was betrayed or "rejected."

Can your body make your mind sick?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Armando Ferraro of the New York State Psychiatric Institute. He feels that psychosomatic medicine has emphasized the mind's effects on the body to the point where it tends to ignore the fact that physical conditions may produce mental disturbances.

A disorder of the "autonomic nervous system" which controls our movements and sensations may arouse states of "anxiety" such as occur in anxiety neurosis. What we know as mind and body are two aspects of one organism and whatever injures one affects the other also.

If you're in doubt about what to choose, remember that a simple type in subdued colors will blend with almost any decorative scheme.

Select Table Background To Harmonize with Dinnerware

If you have chosen a subdued yellow set of dishes, your best choices for tablecloths will include soft green, several shades of blue, brown and of course, white, either plain or touched with any of the already-mentioned colors.

If your dinnerware is a soft green, the best choices are rose, maroon,

KEEPING HEALTHY

Preventing Heart Stroke

By Dr. James W. Barton

MANY years ago, one of the medical journals published the story of a businessman who had become mentally deranged. He was taken to a farm and treated entirely as an animal—regular meals, regular exercise and regular sleep.

In a matter of months he was restored to good mental and physical health because of this regularity of the same life as an animal—plenty of the right food, and the full amount of sleep to give rest needed because of the hard physical work.

It is not surprising, therefore, that physicians are prescribing somewhat similar treatment for their cases of high blood pressure which cause heart strokes (coronary thrombosis or occlusion) and brain strokes (apoplexy).

Men will not have coronary occlusion in the dangerous age (except if they have infections) if: (1) they take daily physical exercise; (2) learn their foods (do not gain weight, take a low fat diet, do not eat more than they need for the amount of work or exercise taken); (3) keep a quiet mind; and (4) get eight hours' sleep, leaving worries at the office.

There is no question but that if the middle-aged man or woman would take daily physical exercise, which creates a natural appetite and prevents constipation, he or she will have rich pure blood circulating throughout the body, feeding needy tissues and carrying away wastes which could damage heart and blood vessels.

Naturally, also, the man or woman who can sleep peacefully and not be restless because of office or domestic problems, is going to rest heart and blood vessels and prevent a rise in blood pressure. Restful sleep is like having a battery recharged. It is the rise in blood pressure that causes most attacks of coronary occlusion or heart stroke.

HEALTH NOTES

The doctrine that alcoholism is a sickness has provided drinkers with a handy alibi, according to Edward J. McGoldrick Jr., director of New York's Bureau of Alcoholism Therapy. The most important thing in effecting a cure is that the patient must want to be cured. There should be more psychiatric clinics like Bridge House in New York City.

Another step toward finding the best treatment for rheumatism and arthritis was taken recently when an anonymous University of Wisconsin alumnus donated a $10,000 grant to the Wisconsin Arthritis and Rheumatism Assn. for research.

Research workers in food and nutrition—particularly those who do special work in overweight and underweight—say that many overweight persons actually eat more food when worried about something than when their mind is at rest.

With death rates from cancer reported on the decline, there is strong reason for optimism, according to Dr. Louis L. Dublin, second vice president and statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. This is largely because widespread publicity has sent many persons to cancer detection centers or to their physicians at early stages of the disease.

That alopecia areata (baldness) is due to psychic or emotional disturbance as well as gland disturbance—thyroid, pituitary, adrenal and sex—has been suggested and it may be that these emotional disturbances, in turn, affect the glands.

It is said of Chauncey Depew, who appeared to attend and speak at a banquet every evening, that he was able to live well into his 90s because he had learned what foods "agreed" with him and simply avoided the foods that did not.

Simplicity, Harmony Outstanding On Tables Set With Taste, Care

By Erta Haley

ARE YOU PROUD of the dishes and cloths and napkins which you use for setting the table? Or, are they just a jumble of all sorts of dishes which you've had in the past?

If you really want to add beauty and graciousness to your home, one of the best ways in which to do it is to set your table for mealtimes with attractive and beautiful dishes and their proper accompaniments.

Just in case you're worried as to how the new table settings can come out of the budget, it's important to point out that the project need not involve a lot of expense. Quality dishes are within everyone's reach, and as for tablecloths or doilies and napkins, these might possibly be made at home with little or no outlay of actual money.

It's important to have certain colors and patterns in mind before starting this project. Decide what you like and be certain what you have chosen is in harmony with the furnishings in the home.

Homes done in simple modern, early American, and some colonial types call for simple table settings. For the more elaborate period types of homes, you'll want to choose

Contemporary Design

This lovely design in contemporary American pottery has simplicity in every line. It is a fine example of the new trend in American dinnerware, light in weight, yet strong and durable. It comes in subtle pastels that are a favorite for casual, informal living and for that pleasant, relaxing supper after the rush of the day.

Worn tablecloths can frequently be cut down to rectangular shapes to make doilies. Perhaps the old napkins will even serve with the "new doilies." Cotton bags, sheets, pillow cases and cotton remnants can frequently be converted into doilies. Dye them if it makes them more attractive, apply a light starch and press carefully.

For simple table settings, use a fine, hand-hemmed edge, a narrow edging of good lace, a bias trimming or a fringe.

Study Dinnerware Style Before Choosing

American dinnerware is now more plentiful than at any time since pre-war days and you'll find many attractive new lines stressing a spirit of individuality. Intensive research, increased output and lower costs have combined to put quality wares within the reach of every family.

There are certain differences in ware with which you should be familiar before buying. All of the following types are made by American potters: vitrified china, semi-vitreous ware, often called fine earthenware, and pottery.

Basically, the ingredients and methods of making are much the same for all three, but variations in processing and firing give different characteristics to each.

China, for example, is the most delicate of dinnerware. It is translucent, meaning that when you hold a plate to light, you can see the outline of your fingers through it. It may seem fragile, but it is actually strong and durable. China is vitrified, which means that the ware has been made entirely non-porous and non-absorbent.

Because of its delicate beauty, china dinnerware has long been identified with the formal or semi-formal occasion, but it may be used in almost any sort of table setting, especially if the simpler patterns are used.

Semi-Vitreous Ware Is Non-Absorbent

In style and beauty of pattern, semi-vitreous ware has the same qualities as china. In processing and texture it is different. Semi-vitreous ware is molded somewhat thicker than china and is usually fired at lower temperatures. It is not vitrified and is not translucent. However, it's an especially sturdy ware, capable of withstanding much wear and long use. The deep glaze completely seals the surface and makes the ware non-absorbent.

Usually, semi-vitreous ware is less expensive than china. It is made in patterns which are entirely suitable for formal settings and many more which are right at home in less formal surroundings.

Much of the gay, colorful new dinnerware, which strikes a note of informality is known in general usage as "American pottery." Basically, it's a semi-vitreous ware and is no kin to the imported rough native ware commonly known as pottery. Such native ware is rough in texture, made from coarse clays, fired at low temperatures and thinly glazed.

Many of the most popular patterns for casual, informal occasions are in American pottery. The ware is deeply glazed, chip-resistant and sturdy. Only because of its simplicity, gay patterns and informal patterns it is called "pottery."

Because of its economy, American pottery fits well within the family budget. For this same reason, many families have the pottery for lunch, and breakfast service in addition to their dinnerware service of china or semi-vitreous ware.

Whatever you have, take some precautions against misuse. Cups should be hung whenever possible, and plates may be stacked or placed on racks. China and semi-vitreous ware plates should be stacked with pieces of felt between them.

Fashion Flashes

Blouses are still appearing in dainty Swiss style cottons and look very fragile as well as feminine. Other blouses are being done in quaint Victorian and provincial print patterns, some of them with an interesting contemporary interpretation.

Huge bold checks are making their appearance on the new Spring coats, and the multi-striped coats which go so well with the new light-weight suits are also popular.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By INEZ GERHARD

CLAUDETTE COLBERT'S new picture "Family Honeymoon," (Universal-International) is another of those ray comedies in which she specializes. Fred MacMurray is the bridegroom with whom she embarks on a honeymoon, taking her three children along. The Colbert-MacMurray combination works beautifully as always but the real hilarity is provided by the children Jimmy Hunt and Peter Miles

CLAUDETTE COLBERT are exceptional; little Gigi Perreau is enchanting. Beautiful, talented, completely natural, she may well develop into our next big child star. The comedy situations in "Family Honeymoon" are not subtle, but the cast is excellent and the picture is packed with laughs from beginning to end.

Further notes on Gigi Perreau. Samuel Goldwyn has lifted the first six-month option, has her under contract for seven years. Featured in "Enchantment," currently appearing in "Roseanna McCoy," she will be starred in her next picture.

Lex Barker, the new "Tarzan," finds that he is expected to set a good example for his friend's children. "People like Van and Evie Johnson ask me to show their kids how I eat spinach, or cereal, or something else the kids don't like," he complains. "It's rough on my waistline, and besides, I don't like some of the stuff my friends ask me to popularize."

There probably never has been a more extensive tour of Florida than the one being made by the CBS "Hint Hunt," which began Feb. 14 and continues through April 1. Chuck Acree awards approximately $2,000 worth of prizes each day. In addition to the broadcast there is always a two-hour warm-up. "Hint Hunt" is directed by Georgene O'Donnell, one of the five women network producers.

If you're in New York and want to see Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" crew off-stage, go to the Rockefeller Center Skating Rink. They've hired it for every Friday night from 11 P. M. to 1 A. M. till spring.

Raymond Walburn, who played Betty Hutton's father some years ago in "And the Angels Sing," has joined the cast of Paramount's "Red, Hot and Blue." Again he appears with Betty; this time, as a playboy, he has a blind date with her!

"The Pride of the Yankees" will be re-released by RKO in April, to coincide with the late Lou Gehrig's last professional appearance on the baseball diamond. Starring Gary Cooper and Teresa Wright, it features many baseball giants, including the late Babe Ruth, Bill Dickey, Bob Meusel and Mark Koenig. A Samuel Goldwyn production, it was voted one of the 10 best of its year.

Danny, the black ram of "So Dear to My Heart," refused all one afternoon to obey the script and butt a careless stock judge. Then, the instant he was out of camera range, he butted anybody who turned a back to him.

Ted Donaldson, John Littel and Ann Doran will resume their familiar roles of son, father, and mother in "Rusty's Birthday," eighth in Columbia's series dealing with the adventures of a boy and his dog, Seymour Friedman will direct.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . When MGM told Mario Lanza, the opera singer, that he was to portray a piano mover in his first picture, "Midnight Kiss," he felt right at home—that's what he worked at when he was discovered as a singer.

Sounds as if Joan Crawford is serious about wanting to do a musical; she has enrolled at Warner's for lessons in tap, adagio and exhibit in ballroom dancing . . . Patricia Neal wears a ring set with a huge opal, for good luck, defying the old superstition.

Walter Huston and Claire Trevor are cited by Switzerland's top movie magazine for the best film performances for 1948. Huston was named for his work in "Treasure of the Sierra Madre," Claire for hers in "Key Largo."

John Lund, starring opposite Marie Wilson in Paramount's "My Friend Irma," gets a complete change from his last assignment. That one cast him as the romantic "Duke of Ferrara" in "Bride of Vengeance."

Farmer Refuses to Accept 'Tainted' $500 Bail Refund

INDIANAPOLIS. — Federal officials have been trying for several years to refund $500 bail money to William J. Schrock, 65, but the Amish farmer from Logansport, Ind., won't take it.

It has been "tainted" by the court, he says. Schrock was arrested in 1942 for failing to register for the draft. The federal court clerk said he will turn the money over to the United States treasury.

French Bank Robber Carries Submachine Gun on Bicycle

DIJON, FRANCE.—A bank robber who couldn't buy an automobile stole a bicycle and set out to loot the bank at Beaune.

He was in jail because startled police in the quiet little village of Nuits-Saint Georges nabbed him as he pedaled down the main highway with a submachine gun perched on the handlebars.

He confessed he was en route to rob the bank.

Joe Cannon's 'Bargain' Coat Brings Very Little Profit

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Uncle Joe Cannon, former speaker of the house, was a notoriously shabby dresser.

Thinking that he should dress up to his position, his sister tried to persuade him to buy a new overcoat so, finally, one day on his way to the capitol, he stopped in a clothing store, priced garments and found overcoats for $25 each. Indignantly he marched out, announcing he could not be that extravagant.

When the late Senator Watson, who was present, reported this to Cannon's sister that evening, she secretly handed him $15 with the request that he visit the store and slip it surreptitiously to the overcoat man, thereby automatically reducing the price to $20. She then persuaded Uncle Joe to stop again and price the garment, which he did. Discovering the cost was now $20 instead of $25, he bought one and wore it to his office on the hill. One of his conferees, impressed, saw it and remarked:

"You have a new overcoat, Uncle Joe. I would like to try it on."

Finding it fitted, he turned to his friend and said:

"I'll give you $25 for it, spot cash."

Speaker Cannon, thinking that he was making a shrewd bargain and a quick profit, accepted, put on his old coat and went home, reporting the developments to his sister, much to her dismay.

SENIORS APPLY FOR JOBS

As graduation time draws near, many seniors are starting to ask themselves that all-important question, "Where shall I work?" Some have already answered this by applying for jobs here in Kewaskum and also in West Bend. Shirley Hoffman is now working at the Himmell Manufacturing Co. after school each day. Joan Dreher has been working part-time at the Kewaskum Dairy for almost a year, and Pat Kirchner has just started at the Kewaskum Mutual Fire Insurance office. Shirley Melius, Joyce Cotter, and Priscilla Braun have sent applications to various places in West Bend. Louise Strohmeier, Marie Pamperin, Mary Gay Searles, and William Schmidt, plan to continue their studies after graduation from high school.

FORENSIC CONTESTANTS

The following people are participating in the local forensic contest to be held on March 3: Louise Strohmeier, Harriet Klumb, oration; Kenneth Klug, 4 minute speech; Diane Schaefer, original oration; Marion Domann, Mary Boegel, extemporaneous reading; Eugene Beck, extemporaneous speaking; Marian Cudohoski, Irene Kaniess, Shirley Melius, Vernette Backhaus, Joan Miller, Virginia Thull, Patricia Stenman, serious declamatory; and Mary Searles, Mary Ellen Miller, humorous declamatory.

WRESTLING

Does anyone have a book on jujitsu? Some of the boys at the high school have decided that they need exercise and have organized wrestling cards. The mats are taken off the wall before the matches and upon these mattresses are performed the arts of self defense. The boys are divided into fairly even weight classes with each boy wrestling a fellow of near his own weight. The matches are being held every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday noons with about eight boys competing each noon hour. It's a new venture for the fellows, and they're rather new to the art of wrestling and the rules, but they're all good sports, and are learning fast.

Kiddies Picture Contest Entries

Well, here they are. Yes, they are the little folks entered in the Statesman children's picture contest held in co-operation with the Woltz Studios of Des Moines, Iowa. The pictures were taken by the Woltz Studios some time back in Kewaskum.

It took a long time for us to get the pictures and cuts from the studio although we have had them now for some weeks. However, we have not had ample space to run all the pictures until now.

First, second, third, and fourth prizes were awarded by judges of the Woltz Studios (not the Statesman) for the pictures taken which they judged best. Next week the winners will be announced in the Statesman. In the meantime we invite you to select the four pictures you think are best and compare them next week with the winners picked by impartial judges. After the winners are announced in this newspaper their pictures, along with those of all the entries will be displayed in our show window.
