Assisting Miss Bruhn in this decation to the Central and South Americas were Mrs. Richard Bruhn and Mrs. Phyllis Crook. A native Panamanian dance was executed by Mrs. Crook, but it is seriously doubted that this could have been possible without the able assistance of her dance partner, President Ted Schmidt, The throbbing rhythm of Latin America and the dance gracefully performed greatly enlivened the program. Mrs. Crook's colorful costume and brilliant jewelry added to the authenticity of the entertainment.

Souvenirs and photographs seemed to give even more realism to a brief but enjoyable trip to our good neighbors south of the border.

PRESIDENCY: 'Say It Isn't So'

Was President Truman emulating the ostrich with the old "head in the sand" technique, or was he naive enough to believe what he was saying?

This seemed a fair question when Mr. Truman, despite multiple setbacks in congress for his legislative program, declared he and the congress were cooperating and that only "troublemakers" talked of bad feelings between them. .

MR. TRUMAN had suffered three major setbacks in attempting to have his campaign pledges enacted into law. He had been blocked on rent controls, appointment of Mon C. Walgren as a key figure in the national defense setup, and civil rights proposals.

But, the President shook off these reverses by ignoring them in a speech to the United States conference of mayors in Washington. Instead, he told the mayors:

"Of course I differ with the congress on some points and where these differences are important I shall continue to urge the course I think is right.

"BUT, BASICALLY, the congress and the President are working together and will continue to work together for the good of the whole country. We are going to agree on a lot more things than we disagree

Many observers took the view that the President's remarks indicated adoption of new strategy in dealing with congress-that an attitude of "soft words" might be held more advisable than angry denunciations of the lawmakers.

PENSIONS:

Who Pays?

It was beginning to appear that a veteran's pension bill in some form would be enacted by the 81st congress. Prodded by Rep. John Rankin (D., Miss.), of the house veteran's affairs committee, the measure under consideration would give veterans of World Wars I and II automatic pensions of $90 a month at age 65. Budget bureau experts contend this would cost the nation upwards of 125 billion dollars over the next 50 years.

WHO WOULD PAY the cost of the pensions? American taxpayers, of course, and among these would be all the veterans who might some day receive the bonus. As one young war veteran put it, "By the time I reached 65, I would have gone broke trying to pay taxes to grant me a pension

That's the viewpoint of some veterans. There are many others who honestly feel they are entitled to a pension and would readily accept an "installment" tax payment period between their present age and age 65 in order to get the

MEMORY: Ours Is Short

To many who had experienced the horrors of war and who had met German foemen in battle, American policy in Germany was almost maddening. Official ap-proval of selection of a group of ex-Nazis to manage the Ruhr-Germany's greatest war-making potential-was bringing cries of protest from all over the nation.

The grasp of the ex-Hitlerites was reaching farther and farther into Germany's vital affairs and the optimism of the group that their desires would be fulfilled was significant.

Latest manifestation of the trend was a statement by Hans Thomsen, who was the Nazis' last charge d'affaires in Washington, that he and other veteran Hitler diplomats expected to resume their careers in the "new Germany."

There was no lack of cockiness in Thomsen's stand. Said he: "The new German government cannot get along without the old Wilhelmstrasse men-who know their business." He is now in the banking business in Hamburg.

The old pattern was becoming increasingly clear, Smart diplomats, seeking a rampart against communism, were using this same objective to re-create Germany as a European power-a buffer against the Reds.

SWALLOWS: Unfailing Legend

The old, old legend was unfailing. Always the swallows had come back The Kremlin and its satellites to Capistrano, and this time they were literally burned up over the came again.

Glory in the Power ...

Man has fastened a harness on the rivers, a harness in the form of the vast masonry of dams which yoke the power of falling water and transform that energy into electricity for homes, farms and factories. With dams, too, he can store water in great reservoirs and dole it out for irrigation projects, and he can control rapacious floods. These pictures, from the American Educator encyclopedia, show some of America's major dams.

the world. Above is the Bartlett dam on the Salt river showing reservoir full with a flow

SOME OPPONENTS of the pension measure favored restricting pensions only to veterans of World War I, but it was obvious no such proposal as this would be enacted. There were too many World War II veterans who would oppose that simply on the principle of discrimination, no matter how they might feel basically about the pension proposal.

On the first test of the measure, it was almost lost, but swift parliamentary maneuvering saved it from being returned to committee where it might have died a natural death.

DRAFT: Easing Off

Military draft eligibles could relax - Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, army personnel chief, said no more men will be inducted into the army before July, 1950; and that's when the present peacetime draft act expires

SO, JT SEEMED that the peacetime draft was virtually over, except for the possibility of enactment of a new act or extension by congress of the present law.

However, the national defense establishment hastened to state that General Dahlquist was giving only his opinion - that no draft policy has been laid down, and that no one knows what the future holds.

IT WAS REGARDED as significant that there have been no inductions under the present law since the end of January because voluntary enlistments have filled quotas. and army officials have said that budget reductions forced them to legislative pressure in their own cut their proposed strength.

tered on Truman's military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan. Nevertheless, Tribune publisher Colonel Mc-Cormick now has found something in common with Harry Truman and Harry Vaughan. He is an admirer of dictator Peron of Argentina.

Col. McCormick has been traveling through Latin America spending an average of 30 hours in each of four capitals - but spent more time in Buenos Aires where President Peron pinned a medal on his breast-the same kind of medal given to General Vaughan.

After lunching with Peron, Mc-Cormick informed the press that he and the dictator were in complete accord on western hemisphere affairs.

Other things about the Colonel's trip were interesting. One was the way American ambassadors kowtowed to McCormick. giving the impression that the publisher's views were sympathetically received in Washington. Where he stopped McCormick was wined and dined by the U.S. envoy, with top government officials of each country invited.

Another interesting fact was Mc-Cormick's rabid attitude toward Europe which became so violently manifest that even his own interpreter toned down his remarks.

Drooping Merchant Marine

Democratic Sen. Warren Magnuson has informed Presidential Assistant John Steelman that he will do some tough talking on the senate floor if the White House doesn't wake up to the plight of our merchant marine.

It's time we realized that the American flag is going off the seas, declared Magnuson. Our private commercial shippers have fewer vessels in service than the approximate 360-vessel seagoing fleet of the army. Furthermore, 95 per cent of our relief shipments to Denmark and 60 per cent of our shipments to England are being carried in foreign bottoms.

As a result, declared Magnuson, about 48,000 U.S. merchant seamen now that once cancer starts, it prohave been beached in the last seven gresses till death occurs unless treatmonths.

Question: My new plastic tablecloth has made the ends of the breakfast table sticky. How can this be removed from a varnished birch finish and not ruin the fin-

Answer: Try wiping the sticky places very lightly with benzine, being careful not to press hard on the finish. Be careful of fire, and close the door leading to the kitchen. If the table is in the kitchen, do not work there. If the benzine dulls the finish, apply a thin coat of paste wax, let it dry and then polish with a soft cloth.

Question: Can anything be done to stop the radio interference caused by our oil furnace? Some say to ground the furnace. Our furnace is on the main floor as we have no basement.

Answer: Radio interference from oil burners, motors and other electrical equipment can be eliminated, but this calls for the service of an expert electrician or radio serviceman. The manufacturer of your oil burner might be able to take care of the nuisance.
