Voice of Our Readers....

SOW THISTLES AND RATES BY LBARTL

When I was a small boy I had the unique experience of sitting directly upon a sow thistle. That uncomfortable stinging I felt for a week. I forgot that episode for a long time, but my memories of the sow thistle suddenly came back the other day when I opened my telephone bill.

During the last three years at various intervals, different telephone subscribers have brought in complaints to the telephone company as well as the Public Service Commission. Each time officials in charge have stated that they would investigate conditions and promised improvements. For short intervals thereafter the service would slightly improve and thereafter would sag back to the old dead. As a general proposition all we ever got was promises and some more promises, but no materialization of the same. In the past few years the population of this community has increased considerably. There has been a tremendous growth in business. As a natural consequence there has been a heavier load demand for additional services as well as increased revenues for the telephone company. The services and equipment of the telephone company have not kept up with the growth of the community. There was talk about a new and adequate switchboard system. There was talk about dial telephones. There was talk about other improvements. What did we get? That is besides talk.

Telephone service can't be purchased on the open market because it is out of the competitive world and in the franchise field. So if you want service you can only get it from the telephone company that serves your community. And if you don't pay the regular bills they disconnect the telephone. On the other hand the telephone has so become a part of everyone's life that it has become a matter of public convenience and necessity. Under the franchise system, we are, as a matter of law, entitled to satisfactory service and reasonable rates. What are we getting? There are many others who consider it unsatisfactory besides this writer. For example: It frequently takes several hours to get a call through, because there are so many subscribers on one line. Very often it is difficult to get long distance connections. Sometimes you have to wait a long time to get an answer from central. And there have been other complaints. It is probably true that perhaps it has been necessary to hire some extra help and that there has been some other small expenses that they have now over what they had in the past. This, however, should be more than offset by increased revenues set by the former increases in toll charges and by the increased business because of community developments.

I wonder how many Kewaskum subscribers knew about the application for the increase rates and how much increase they were asking for. This writer did not see the notice or would have appeared at the hearing to testify and ask a few questions. So what have all our complaints brought? Better service? NO. Instead the company now has assessed a 35% to 40% increase in the service charge. What shall we do—demand that our grievances be heard or shall we continue to carry the sting of the sow thistle?

Reports Loss of Large Sum on Train Near Here

Enroute from Chicago to Peshtigo, Wis., a man known only by the name of Edwards, reported the loss of a large sum of money to Kewaskum depot agent A. P. Schaeffer.

Upon discovery of the loss, Edwards disembarked at the next stop, which was Fond du Lac, hired a taxi and returned to Kewaskum where he enlisted the aid of Schaeffer and two section men.

Edwards' supposition was that the money had been lost between Barton and Kewaskum. Schaeffer and the crew men, armed with flashlights and flares, searched the tracks between these two villages, but discovered no trace of the money.

Later it was learned that Edwards had been carrying the money loose inside his shirt. Prior to train time, he had stopped at a tavern in a tough section of Chicago.

Edwards told authorities that he had planned to use the money to return to his native Poland, but due to his loss, he is very close to destitution.

It is the supposition that the money could have been lost at almost any point during the journey.

On roll call, all members present voting "aye," no "no's," the motion was declared carried.

Stautz, that all bids received on heating and ventilating be rejected, and that the village readvertise for new bids on heating and ventilating, the new bids to be opened on October 17, 1949 at 8:00 p. m. On roll call, all members present voting "aye," no "no's," motion was declared carried.

Snapped Rod Delays 5:10 Train Near Here

The southbound North Western train due in Kewaskum at 5:10 p. m. daily was delayed at that time last Friday on the tracks just north of the village when the eccentric rod on the locomotive snapped, smashing the steam pipes and air pipes. The train came to a sudden stop at the scene.

According to station agent "Tony" Schaeffer, Conductor Wood of the train walked part of the way to Kewaskum and hitch-hiked the rest of the way to reach the local station in time to warn the streamliner before it left Fond du Lac. He did this as an added precaution to the automatic block signals. The streamliner arrived some time later and pushed the dead engine into the railroad yards here. The detained passengers then boarded the streamliner and it rared on, only an hour and fifteen minutes late.

Around 8 p. m. the rescue engine arrived from Milwaukee and by 8:54 p. m. was on its way with the locomotive and string of empty cars.

INDIANS AND BELLES IN DEADLOCK

Last Friday, the Kewaskum Indians played their first conference game in defense of their championship against the strong Campbellsport team. In the first period, Campbellsport made a touchdown and the kick for extra points, while Kewaskum failed to score. In the second period, the Belles again scored and made the kick. When the half was over, the Belles were winning, 16 to 0. During the third period, the Kewaskum "B" entered the game but still the Indians couldn't score. The Belles made another touchdown but failed to make the kick.

In the last seven minutes of play, the Indians came to life and scored three touchdowns. Koth went around the right end for the first touchdown. Cudnohos scored around the left end for the second, and Koth scored again around the right end for the third. Loomis' kicks were good after the first two touchdowns, but his third went wild. The game ended in a 22-22 tie.

Through the first three quarters the team played ragged football but looked like a completely different team in the last quarter, when they played a sharp, heads-up game. This game goes down as only a tie on the conference records, but to the Kewaskum routers, their team won the game.

The starting line-ups were:

KHS	CHS
Justman	QB	Steinacker
Bloomer	QB	D. Wondra
Koth	B	Tomlinson
Koepke	B	Burgert
Wierman	E	A. Wondra

JAI DER KIWANIANS LEARN MORE ABOUT CHERMANN MON.

The much discussed German situation was brought into focus again for the Kiwanis club Monday as Henry Arnfield of West Bend gave the low-down on some of the high lights of his trip to Germany.

Mr. Arnfield spoke of the Germans in both Hitler's hey day and the post war reconstruction. The interesting views of the speaker included the people, country, government, and general conditions.

Comments were made on the Hitler election and rise to power, the pagan philosophy involved, and the injustice handed out in his regime.

Of particular interest to this rural community is Mr. Arnfield's declaration that German agriculture is primitive when compared with ours.

Along with the serious of his speech, however, were added humorous side-lights of his trip, and an enjoyable "trip" it was for the Kiwanians on this Monday evening.

Dr. R. G. Edwards gave a brief talk on his visit to a Kiwanis club at Rochester, Minn.

90 Dogs Entered in State Beagle Club Trial and Show Here

The 27th annual American Kennel club licensed championship field trial sponsored by the Wisconsin Beagle club at Kewaskum last Friday through Sunday again drew a large number of entries and was a marked success. The same is true of the club's 24th annual licensed specialty bench show held in the Woodman hall on Saturday evening when the dogs were judged on type and appearance. About 30 beagles were entered in the events, which number is smaller than last year's record entry.

Dogs from Michigan, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin competed. The trials were held in wooded areas surrounding Kewaskum with headquarters at Joe Eberle's kennels. They were judged on their ability to track and run rabbits. The weather was fine all three days of the trial but it was too dry for best tracking. Vernie Wilson and W. D. Lancaster judged the trials and the show judge was Herb. Hoch, Winamac, Ind.

Being in Love
Is Intoxication
By Lawrence Gould

Are you happiest when you're in love?

Answer: In a way, yes, but in much the same sense as you might be happier drunk than sober. For in either case your happiness is based on being able for the moment to ignore the harsh facts of life. When you're in love and the feeling is reciprocated, you believe for the time being that you can have perfect happiness without having to work for it or to adjust yourself to the moods or needs of anyone else, and, this rosy day-dream makes you feel that the world is your oyster. Realistic happiness is not as thrilling, but it's safer and more lasting.

social contacts on an equal basis. To retain your parents as your favorite companions is like refusing to swim without "water wings," since their real attraction for you is the feeling that they will not "let you down," whatever happens. A man whose first loyalty is not to his wife is simply not a husband.

Can early "conditioning" be undone?

Answer: Never entirely. No matter what happens to you after you grow up, you will not be the sort of person that you might have been if you had had different parents and a different kind of home life. But all of us have inherent possibilities which had treatment and mis-education cannot wholly destroy and you can be helped to overcome the fears and inhibitions that keep you from making the most of these possibilities. Few, if any, people can't be helped by psychiatric treatment to learn to enjoy a normal love life and a happy marriage.

Will a normal man prefer his parents to his wife?

Answer: No, not if he is really a man—that is, if he has grown up emotionally. Any adult who spends more time with his parents than with people of his own age shows by that fact that he is emotionally undeveloped and afraid of making

Lift-Type Device
Used on Tractor
Will Aid Materially
In Easing Farm Chores

To help with those odd chores about the farm that so often are time-wasting and back-breaking, Pittsburgh forgings company of Corapolis, Pa., has developed a lift-type utility carrier for use on tractors.

The Pittsburgh carry-lift is attached in a few seconds to tractors through the regular implement suspension points. Made of alloy spring steel and structural steel, it will handle loads as heavy as 700 pounds.

An important feature of this new unit is its quick conversion from a platform lift to a fork lift, making it universal in the types of loads it can both lift and carry. It can be used as a platform lift either with or without a back panel, and pockets are provided for standard 2"x4" stakes. The frame is punched to provide easy securing of loads and for the addition of a wooden platform.

Used as a fork lift, the utility carrier works like a small hay buck, and thus can pick up bulky material without the lift having to be loaded by hand. Heavier loads can be handled in this way by using skid-pallets. Its capacity for light, bulky loads can be extended materially by putting 2"x4" fork extensions into the brackets provided.

Lifting of heavy containers like milk cans, drums and barrels is eliminated by the carry-lift because these can be tipped and rolled onto the platform which practically rests on the ground. Small buildings, range shelters, and feeders can be easily and quickly moved by tipping slightly and running the forks beneath them. Heavy bags of seed grain can be taken to the field with a minimum of lifting, and field feeding is made both quicker and easier.

The carry-lift will be found particularly useful because material can be moved over any kind of ground under any condition where a tractor can operate and in places that might be inaccessible by other means of transportation.

Popular Belting

A victim of the war, the first red rubber agricultural belting has been made available to farmers by a Pennsylvania ware manufacturer. Available since 1940 only as a higher-priced industrial belting, the red rubber belting was a pre-war favorite with America's farmers. This farmer's smiles as he gets his first roll indicates a big welcome on its return to the farm market. This belting is particularly popular because of its added flexibility and toughness.

Value of Bicarbonate Use
In Swine Feeding Tested

An experimental feeding program to determine the value of bicarbonate of soda in the feeding of hogs is being conducted this fall at Iowa State college.

Experiments will be aimed at determining whether the feeding of bicarbonate of soda produces observable benefits in the growth of swine and whether the ingestion of amounts equal to 1 per cent of the ration will produce results.

Deep Freeze Units Get
Electric Heat Device

Scientists have decided that new deep freeze units should be heated as well as refrigerated. One section inside these large cold boxes now used on many farms may show a temperature as high as 75 degrees, but that's the way it was meant to be.

B. F. Goodrich engineers have designed an electrically-heated rubber strip for installation in the latest models to reduce condensation.

Win Family Favor with Hearty Soups
(See Recipes Below)

Substantial Soups

COLD, BLUSTERY DAYS call for changes in the family meal plans. Something hot, something tempting with which to start off the meal is warming and friendly and it takes the edge off those appetites which have been sharpened by the elements. That something can be something a little different, dinner or supper.

You could serve a different kind of soup practically every day when its cold enough and never repeat the same kind because the variety may be infinite. Give your meals a lift in nourishment and interest by trying out kinds which you've never had before and see how your rating goes up with the family.

Crabmeat Bisque

(Serves 6)

- 1 1-pound bunch broccoli
- 3 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons finely minced onion
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 4 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 cup grated American cheese

Prepare broccoli: cook washed vegetable in an inch of foiling, salted (1/2 teaspoon salt to 1 cup water) water for 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender. Sieve or chop fine and measure. There should be about 1 1/2 cups of the vegetable pulp. Melt butter in saucepan, add onion and cook until tender. Blend in flour. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, and cook until thick and smooth. Stir in broccoli, seasonings and sauce. Add grated cheese and stir until melted. Serve in warm soup bowls with a sprinkling of more grated cheese on top.

A delicious and different variation of cream soup is bisque which is somewhat thicker, but there's no trick to its preparation.

Crabmeat Bisque

(Serves 6)

- 1 1/4 cups shredded crabmeat (6 1/2 ounce can)
- 1 1/2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 1/2 cups evaporated milk (1 tall can)
- 1 egg
- 1-2 tablespoons lemon juice

Remove any shell from crab meat, then shred. Melt butter; add flour, salt and pepper and blend until smooth. Add boiling water and cook until mixture begins to thicken. Add milk and continue cooking until slightly thickened. Beat egg; add lemon juice and stir into white sauce along with crab meat. Heat to serving temperature and serve immediately.

HERE ARE TWO hearty soups, both of them regional favorites:

Dutch Vegetable Soup

(Serves 10)

- 2 cups dried lima beans
- 1 large soup bone

Clam chowder and consomme can stand a bit of tartness so it's a smart idea to float thin lemon slices on top of the soup when serving.

Grate cheese or puree some red pimientos and fold them into whipped cream for a colorful soup garnish especially attractive for the cream type soups.

Soup will tempt youngsters and oldsters alike if it's sprinkled with buttered popcorn just before serving. This is an excellent idea for tomato, pea and corn soups.

For a quick hearty soup heat together an 11-ounce can each of condensed beef soup and beef noodle soup with an equal amount of water. Simmer for three minutes and you're ready to serve.

Chopped crisp bacon and onion rings fried until golden and tender in the bacon fat make an interesting and flavorful garnish for tomato, bean or celery soup.

Aromatic consomme makes a fine start for a heavy dinner, and will take on a party look if you dress it with fine shreds of chicken and cooked green peas.

*Recipe Given

- 2 cups tomatoes, fresh or canned
- 2 cups corn kernels, fresh or canned
- 2 cups chopped cabbage
- 1 large turnip, diced
- 1 carrot, diced
- 1 onion, sliced
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 teaspoon flour
- 1/2 cup milk

Soak lima beans in enough cold water to cover, for several hours or overnight. Wash soup bone thoroughly and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil and simmer for three to four hours. Skim off fat and add drained lima beans and prepared vegetables. Season to taste and cook until vegetables are tender. Add milk and stir into soup. Cook for 15 minutes and serve hot.

Back Bay Fish Chowder
(Serves 6)

- 1/2 pound salt pork, sliced
- 2 cups diced fish
- 6 small potatoes, sliced
- 2 onions, chopped fine
- 3 cups boiling water
- 2 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper

Fry salt pork in deep kettle. When crisp, remove pork and add fish, potatoes and onions. Add boiling water and simmer one-half hour, or until potatoes are tender. Add milk and cook for five minutes longer. Season with salt and pepper and serve with pilot biscuits.

CABBAGE SOUP is an old-fashioned favorite, and you've probably made it often. Here, however, is a tasty recipe for it, seasoned to perfection with salt pork and a few wisely selected herbs.

- French Cabbage Soup (Makes 2 1/2 quarts)
- 1/2 pound salt pork, cut in cubes
- 2 quarts cold water
- 2 sprigs parsley
- Pinch of thyme
- 1 bay leaf, crushed
- 1 cup diced raw carrots
- 1 cup diced raw turnips
- 1 cup diced raw potatoes
- 1 quart finely shredded cabbage
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 teaspoon salt

Place pork in soup kettle with water, parsley, thyme and bay leaf. Bring to a boil and simmer gently for one hour. Strain out pork and herbs. Add vegetables to the broth with salt; bring to a boil and simmer for one hour. Add pork to the soup, and season to taste with more salt and pepper, if desired. Serve with grated cheese, if desired.

Clam chowder and consomme can stand a bit of tartness so it's a smart idea to float thin lemon slices on top of the soup when serving.

Grate cheese or puree some red pimientos and fold them into whipped cream for a colorful soup garnish especially attractive for the cream type soups.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
DREW PEARSON

Egg Market 'Rotten'

SOMETHING is rotten in the egg market. And Elmer Thomas, the speculating senator from Oklahoma, could tell a lot about it if he wished, though he probably won't.

Elmer Thomas (not to be confused with Sen. Elbert Thomas of Utah, a pious Mormon ex-missionary) is the man who was exposed in this column three years ago for speculating in cotton in cotton and using his influence in the senate to affect the price of cotton.

At that time Thomas vigorously denied he was speculating, called this columnist a liar, said all the cotton he owned was on his back. But two years later when a Republican congress required the secretary of agriculture to make public the names of those speculating in cotton, Senator Thomas's name was on the list. So also was the name of his wife, his secretary, Miss Beth Gage, and his bosom friend, Dyke Cullum. Furthermore, Thomas admitted in a public statement that Cullum had handled his commodity trading for him.

There is nothing illegal about a senator speculating on the commodity market—though his ethics are something else again. However, it is almost unbelievable that a senator—especially the chairman of the senate agriculture committee—should use his prestige and high office to influence prices on the commodity market at the same time he is speculating.

Therefore, Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, then chairman of a senate investigating sub-committee, was authorized to probe the operations of his colleague from Oklahoma. But Senator Thomas did some quick investigating of his own—of Senator Ferguson. Following which he wrote Ferguson a letter in longhand, later published in this column, threatening to expose certain connections between the Ferguson family and the Chrysler motor company.

Eighteen months have passed, and Senator Thomas is now up to his old tricks. Since the Democratic victory last November, he has been restored as chairman of the powerful agriculture committee. But not even waiting for the election, the senator got back into the cotton market last September.

Then, about two weeks ago, Senator Thomas let loose a significant public statement. He took a sudden, surprising interest in eggs, publicly complained about the price of eggs, and blasted the agriculture department's egg-price-support program.

Now every housewife would like to see the price of eggs come down. But what every housewife does not have is 10 railroad carloads of eggs. And what very few people in the United States know is that Thomas's intimate friend, Dyke Cullum, had just purchased 10 freight carloads of egg futures. Therefore, he was vitally interested in the future price of eggs.

And Dyke Cullum is the man who, Thomas admits, has handled a trading account for him.

Thomas Swings Weight
The senator from Oklahoma has been quite brazen in lending his name to Cullum's attempt to influence the egg market. Not only was one letter written to the agriculture department with Thomas's name signed to it regarding the department's egg-price-support program, but Thomas started an official senate investigation of eggs.

In doing so, Thomas wrote a letter to Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, whom he placed in charge of the investigation, asking that he call certain people as witnesses. And in listing them he scrupulously avoided the name of W. D. Termohlen, agriculture department poultry chief, because Dyke Cullum had told him that Termohlen was not cooperative.

Cullum had so heckled the poultry division with letters, phone calls and personal visits in which he claimed to represent the senate agriculture committee that Termohlen finally challenged him—bluntly asked whether he was paid by the senate committee.

"I'm one of those who don't get paid," Cullum retorted.

"Do you work for the agriculture committee?"

"I represent Senator Thomas personally," Cullum declared.

Cullum also wrote, both under his own name and that of Senator Thomas, asking about and criticizing the egg program. He did not at any time reveal, of course, that he had purchased 10 carloads of egg futures.

Finally Ralph Trigg, agriculture production and marketing chief, wrote back opposing Cullum's ideas. He then received an insulting letter suggesting that Trigg didn't understand eggs, and that perhaps a special assistant secretary should be appointed to relieve Trigg of his responsibilities.

The 10 carloads of eggs were purchased in Chicago under the name of the National Commodity Corporation. Cullum and his broker, Ralph Root, appeared on the floor of the exchange and made the purchase personally. Chicago brokers, when interviewed by this columnist, stated that Cullum was out of free in using Senator Thomas's name.

The National Commodity Corporation is the name used by Cullum in the past to handle various speculations. Its other officers are his son, Dyke Cullum, Jr., secretary, and his daughter, Kiki Cullum.

No Waste

During the war Mr. Bulbsnatcher was very conservation-conscious. He made his wife save all the fats from her cooking. He himself saved the waste paper and flattened the tin cans as per instructions, but his wife couldn't understand why he saved dead electric light bulbs.

"Why are you saving those?" she asked.

"We can make the good bulbs last longer," he explained, "by using these dead bulbs during blackouts."

Mathematics
An instructor was teaching a class an intensified course. Realizing that the boys were beginning to show the strain of constant study he decided to ease the situation with a rather pointless question.

"If a chair has four legs, is painted white, and rolls on casters, how old am I?"

The surprised students sat dumbfounded. Then the most backward member of the class supplied the answer, 44.

It was the instructor's turn to be amazed. "That's correct," he said, "but how did you know?"

The student supplied the second answer. "My brother is 22 and he's only half crazy."

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fall to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

APPLIANCE PRICES ARE RIGHT!

Although government statistics show that the cost of living is up more than 70% over 1939, the increase in price of such appliances as refrigerators, ranges, washing machines, water heaters and dishwashers average only about half that. In some cases, they have actually come DOWN!

HERE'S PROOF . . .

Here's a typical example of the way electric appliances have "held the line." The Kelvinator refrigerator at the left sold for $251 in 1939 (10 years ago) — the one at the right sells for $250.95 TODAY! Compare their value for value and see for yourself that in many cases, your appliance dollar buys even more today than it did 10 years ago. Other fine brands show similar comparisons. Kelvinator is used merely as one specific example.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Red Delegate Urges U.N. Accord; World Awaits Pound Cut Effects; Walkouts Plague Major Industry

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

RUSSIA: A 'Sweet' Note

The Russian theme in international accord was growing a little sweeter, if Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet foreign minister could be taken at his word.

WEARING a broad smile, Vishinsky had urged United Nations members to cooperate. The gesture was made by the chief delegate as he arrived in New York by plane to attend the fourth United Nations general assembly sessions.

Disdaining the usual brusque "no comment" for reporters, Vishinsky was almost voluble. "The Soviet delegation," he said, "is fully confident that the United Nations—as the head of the Soviet government, Stalin, said—a serious instrument for the maintenance of peace and international security."

Then he added: "There can be no doubt that the general assembly would be able to solve the important problems before it providing the nations of the U.N. show a sincere desire to cooperate with each other and in accordance with the principles of the U.N. charter."

Other delegates, advised of this and remembering the almost innumerable Russian "vetoes" in matters where cooperation might have been most valuable, decided to await development at assembly sessions to see just how far the Russian affable manner would go.

DEVALUATION: Wait and See

To say that reaction to Britain's devaluation of the pound sterling was mixed, would be an understatement. Instead, reaction ranged from hope to fear, from confusion to jubilant "I told you so's" from all those who had held that devaluation was the only answer to Britain's current economic crisis.

ANY that was the chief rub—was the solution one that would solve just the current situation, or was it the entire answer? The bulk of the thinking on that angle was that it was not the long-range panacea, with most observers preferring to "wait and see" before committing themselves to any analysis of the devaluation effect.

Meanwhile Canada had joined the parade of English-connected nations devaluing the pound.

THE DEVALUATION move was a two-edged sword in the British dollar crisis, for just as it might result in increased buying of British goods by Americans because of lowered costs, it would mean, too, that the English would have to pay more for the items they bought at home. The pound value was cut from $5.03 to $3.07, an action which alarmed most importers.

While expressing fear the move would cost them a great deal of money, most traders said they "didn't know a thing" yet and couldn't speculate until they had some word from British manufacturers.

SOME DEALERS and importers declared they would take a beating on the reduced values of their inventory of British goods already bought and paid for at $4.03 to the pound.

Fire Hazards

Of course one can live in a fire-trap—but the question is: How long? The National Fire Protection association, calling attention to Fire Prevention Week October 9-15, poses this question and points out that 11,000 people lost their lives in fires last year. More than twice

Dry roof is vulnerable. That number were seriously injured. One-third of that number, the association reported, lived on farms. Reporting that a few structural hazards account for at least half of all farm fires, the NFPA urged farmers to take steps now to eliminate such hazards. These steps were listed as: checking of wiring systems; wetting down inflammable roofs in dry weather; inspecting heating plants and chimneys, and protection of main buildings with lightning rods.

MARSHALL PLAN FUNDS

Money Helps Fight Disease in Europe

Critics of the Marshall plan could find little fault with one phase of it, at least. For the record showed that through this means the United States was throwing the full weight of modern medical science into Europe's battle against war-spawned disease and malnutrition. This was disclosed by ECA officials in Paris.

Through the Marshall plan, ECA-financed high vitamin foods and preparations were helping present and future generations of Europeans to attain adequate health standards.

Besides the products themselves, ECA funds were enabling the recovery program participants to buy specialized machinery and tools with which to produce their own medicines and drugs.

In a little more than a year, ECA authorized participating countries to spend approximately 28 million dollars of aid funds for medicinal and pharmaceutical products.

New Justice

Judge Sherman Minton, of U.S. circuit court at Chicago, was named by President Truman to succeed the late supreme court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge.

WALKOUTS: Cars, Coal, Steel

American industry, fighting to regain pre-war stability, was facing perilous times. John L. Lewis' coal miners had left the pits. The United Automobile Workers union had handed the Ford Motor company what amounted to a strike notice, and now the steel industry was next.

WITH these basic U.S. industries all down, production suspended, millions of workers out of jobs, the national industrial and economic picture appeared dim indeed.

President Truman was coming in for some blame in the steel industry dispute, with critics charging he had "fumbled the ball" in efforts to prevent a strike.

Four days before the deadline for start of the strike, federal conciliator Cyrus Ching had reported no progress in negotiations. Neither side would budge on the key point in negotiations.

The union contended that since it had agreed to forego its demands for a pay raise, the steelmakers should accept the presidential fact-finding board's recommendations for a company-financed welfare fund. While this seemed to satisfy steelworkers, it didn't please the UAW.

ON the other hand, the steel industry was buying newspaper space to claim that it was agreed at the outset that the presidential board's findings would not be binding on either party, and that if a strike resulted, the union would have to assume the responsibility.

Steel leaders took the position, too, that the workers should contribute to the pension-insurance plan costing 10 cents an hour for each man.

BOMBERS: Gives Reds Pause

The declaration came from a man whose qualifications entitle him to the rating of expert—Gen. Henry H. Arnold, wartime chief of U.S. air forces. The statement, made in a book, "Global Missions," was that it isn't armies or navies that Russia fears, but only far-reaching bomber strength.

"Let's put it this way," the general wrote. "Russia has no fear of an army, she thinks hers is just as good and bigger than any other in the world; she has no fear of a navy since she can't see how it could be employed against her; but she does fear our long-range strategic air force which she cannot as yet match, or as yet understand. In the strategic air force, coupled with our atomic bomb, at this writing we hold the balance of power in the world."

"But," he warned, "by tomorrow the picture may change." Arnold minced no words in the dim view he takes of the Russians. "The Russians," he says, "would have none of the American proposal that the American air force be allowed to build B-29 bases in Siberia to attack Japan." Similarly, he recalled that agreement for bases in Russian territory to be used for shuttle-bombing of Germany, was ended after a short time by Moscow.

The air force, in the current squabble over armed-service prestige as a result of the unification bill, could take much solace and encouragement from General Arnold's statements.

SATELLITES: Protest Notes

The United States was taking the offensive in the war to preserve rights among the Soviet satellite nations. This nation served notice that it would press charges that three such satellites have flouted the human rights of their peoples.

The charges would be aired at sessions of the United Nations general assembly in New York. Sharply-worded formal notes to this effect were delivered.

ARMS BILL: Meddling Feared

The 1.33 billion dollars arms-aid bill had a stalwart supporter in Sen. Arthur Vandenberg (R., Mich.) who termed it a bargain-price peace insurance policy against Communist aggression.

He said he feared that any "meddling" with the bill might impair its force and effect.

Vandenberg, chief Republican spokesman in the senate on foreign policy, declared that the arms-aid program might be regarded either as life insurance or fire insurance and said that in any case it is a bargain policy as far as peace is concerned.

Referring to the North Atlantic defense pact, he said that pact included a pledge to maintain forces that can resist armed attack. Too, he pointed out, European allies have weaknesses that the arms bill would help overcome.

Vandenberg declared that it would be in "honorable keeping" with U.S. treaty obligations to adopt the arms bill. "I think it is definitely and specifically in the interests of our own national defense," he went on, "I think it is a discouragement to war... I think it is prime and vital peace insurance."

He argued that the plan to send American tanks, guns and planes to Europe falls squarely within the commitments of the North Atlantic pact which the senate ratified by a vote of 82 to 13.

He denied sending arms abroad would mean the start of an arms race between the East and West.

Vandenberg's active support for the measure was expected to help it materially in winning final adoption in the senate, since many dissident Republicans would probably go along on the basis of Vandenberg's admitted stature in the field of foreign policy and because of his prestige in the senate.

U.N. TOP MAN: Soviets Object

Over Soviet protest, Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, anti-Communist campaigner from the Philippine islands, was elected president of the fourth United Nations general assembly. Only the five nations of the Soviet bloc opposed his election.

IGNORING the Soviet attitude, Romulo's first act was an appeal that the delegates make this gathering a real "peace assembly."

According to newsmen, Yugoslavia apparently voted against the Soviet bloc for the first time, in the secret ballot for president, but declined to admit it publicly.

The new president, acknowledging that many obstacles to peace still exist, said the danger of a new war had abated and that the delegates must press this advantage.

HE CALLED upon them to move forward boldly in the spirit of international cooperation called for by the Mexican resolution approved unanimously in Paris last year.

Romulo's choice as chief of the assembly was seen as indicating friction in debate on issues as the Soviet bloc could be expected to fight the anti-Communist leader at every turn where opposition could be maintained. Top Russian delegate Vishinsky had also spoken out for harmony, but on the basis of past performance by the Russians, his attitude was open to doubt.

Anti-Red

RAILROADS: One Fireman

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen wouldn't like it, but nevertheless, there would be only one fireman on diesel locomotives. The presidential emergency board had ruled that a union demand for a second fireman on these locomotives was out of line, rejected the demand.

THE BOARD said simply that there is no need for an extra fireman on diesel-powered locomotives now in use.

TRADE BODY: Carson Okayed

Despite some vigorous Republican opposition, John J. Carson was confirmed by the senate as a member of the federal trade commission. The Truman appointee was confirmed by a vote of 45 to 25. Carson's economic views came under heaviest fire from the Republicans, with many charging him with lack of sympathy for the American free enterprise system. Carson, 59, is a former newsmen.

Among the arguments against Carson was one by Senator Reed (R., Kan.) who said, "Here is an unfit appointment if I ever saw one." Senator Bricker (R., Ohio) declared that Carson's thinking was "fuzzy" and that there was "nothing to show he has any comprehension of the problems of the trade commission."

Senator Magnuson (D., Wash.) led the fight for Carson's confirmation, and argued that Carson was fully qualified for the post because of his experience as a newspaper man, and a senatorial secretary.

The Yukon Comes To Life

Because of a world shortage of lead, the fabled Klondike of gold and silver is active again; but this time prospectors turn their backs on gold and focus their attention on lead which is now high on the list of metals critically needed for industry and defense stockpiling. In photo above, Otsito, 104-year old Mackenzie Indian and Ta'la, his 97-year old squaw, talk with Father Henry Huybers, known as the "mining priest," who carries a portable altar to the mines.

The tiny Canadian government assay office at Keno Hill (above) is a center of activity. Here E. Myles Flynn, of Consolidated Yukeno Mine company, paid William Sime, government assayer, $100,000 for a group of claims. In photo above, Sime (right) talks with Flynn about the claims. Photo at left shows Charley Nord, prospector, looking at map, but his eye actually is on the Siberian husky owned by Mrs. Ruth Hendrickson, who came in with the rush of '98 and stayed in.

Myles Flynn (photo at right) inspects lead and silver being bagged for shipment by Ed Tobarik on dump at Galena Hill. Flynn, who covered worldwide mining interests of John Hays Hammond for many years, says ore is highest grade he has ever seen.

RAILROAD COMPANIES NOW 'SEND' US... Patrons Protest Trains That Depart on Time ... AS BING 'TRANSPORTS' PASSENGERS

SOME OF THE BIG railroad stations in our larger cities are going in heavily for entertainment. It takes your mind off the fact you can't find many posters. It is announced that disk jockeys will now play records, give news items and tell you how the ball games are going, interspersing them among the regular train calls. Never a dull moment.

"Twentieth Century Express now ready! . . . You will hear her laughing across a crowded room . . . Brooklyn 4, Giants 3 . . . On track Number III . . . I don't see me in your eyes any more . . . Will the lady who requested 'Riders in the Sky' and reported she has lost her umbrella kindly call at the information booth . . . All aboard!"

We looked into the matter yesterday. It was somewhat confusing. Our idea was just to get a ticket to Cos Cob. We walked up to the information booth. It was pretty crowded. A young lady wanted to know what time she could catch the "Bali Ha'i." Another wanted to know how much time there was between the express to Utica and "Strummin, On the Old Banjo."

"What time does the local to Cos Cob leave?" we asked. "Let's Take an Old-Fashioned Walk," was all we got in response. "Cos Cob," we repeated.

"DiMaggio just hit a homer with the bases full. Baby, it's Cold Outside's up next," came to us in loud tones.

"Listen, mister," we shouted at the information man. "We haven't got that," he replied.

"Haven't got what?" "The Wedding of Lili Marlene," he answered. "The four winds and the seven seas on track 11 at 3:38 . . . Get your latest news from the tennis matches at window eight."

Here everything was drowned out by an argument between a station attendant and a woman toting two suitcases and a hat. She said a porter had refused to carry her bags as he had never heard her on the Hit Parade.

Both were shoved aside by a cop with a loud cry of "Aw, shut up! I wanna hear 'Room Full of Roses!'"

We finally got the information clerk's attention and repeated "Cos Cob. What time?"

"It's that by Perry Como or Tony Martin?" he asked. "It's by Mamaroneck," we snapped.

"That's funny. Mamaroneck isn't scheduled today. Would you like to hear how the Yanks made out?" We gave up and tottered around until we found the Cos Cob track. But the trainmen wouldn't open the door. They were all listening to "Some Enchanted Evening," no dining car, first stop Stamford, has grill car only.

FATHER AND SON

"Popper, what is that money conference in Washington all about?"

"Oh, it's some sort of huddle about British money and ours. Shouldn't you be out playing ball?"

"Is there a dollar shortage in Europe, popper?"

"There is a dollar shortage everywhere, and even you kids had better begin realizing it."

"How can the British have a dollar shortage? They use pounds, not dollars."

"They have to have a reserve of dollars for convertibility in world trade."

"But how did they get short of dollars in the reserve, popper?"

"Our dollar is worth so much more than it was in greater demand, I guess, or something. Here's your bat."

"But who demands American dollars?"

"Who doesn't?"

"Is there an American dollar shortage?"

"If you had to fill a gas tank, pay the house bills, go to a musical, order a steak dinner or two or hire a plumber these days you would not ask such a foolish question, my son."

"Why is nothing said about an American shortage of dollars?"

"Because Americans think if they have five dollars that will buy only what one buck would once buy they are away out ahead of the game. I hear the Jones boy whistling for you."

"Why must England and Canada and America have different money? Why can't we all get together on one type of money?"

"It would throw too many bookkeepers, accountants, jugglers and mathematical wizards, out of steady employment, my son."

Seven-Day Religion

Lesson for October 9, 1949

EMPLOYERS don't care much for letters of recommendation signed by preachers. Not that they think preachers are dishonest. The employer is glad to know where the chap is on Sunday mornings. But he would rather have a letter from somebody who sees him every Saturday night and Monday morning.

Religion Won't Keep Sweet by Itself

IT IS a temptation as old as religion, to put it on one side of a wall and life on the other. But the prophets showed, once and for all, that God has literally no use for religion which has been dissected off from life. Religion which is kept apart from life turns sour and bad. In Isaiah's time, everybody knew there was something wrong with the country.

Why God Was Tired

A CATHOLIC priest would shock everybody should he call Vatican City "Hell's Half Acre." Isaiah shocked his fellow citizens by calling Jerusalem "Sodom and Gomorrah." Those cities were the worst places the Hebrews had ever heard of.

They were so bad the Lord had to destroy them by fire—not 10 good people could be found there. The prophet follows up that first shock by another. Every single expression of organized religion comes under the prophet's lash.

Sacrifices and offerings (v. 11), attendance at the sanctuary, observance of the Sabbath and other holy days (v. 13), church gatherings, corresponding to our rallies and conventions (v. 13), even prayers (v. 15).

Put that into modern terms: attendance at church, Bible reading, tithing, praying—if that is all, there is no God. It may be religion, and of course it is one kind of religion; but not the kind God wants.

Indeed, Isaiah says God hates it; he is "fed up" with it (vs. 11). What was wrong? Isaiah tells them that, too, in short simple words. "Your hands are full of blood."

Oh, the people would protest, we are not killers, we don't lay a hand on anybody. Isaiah goes on to explain: seek judgment (i.e. justice), relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow.

You don't kill outright, you churchgoers, he would say, but you are so indifferent to justice in your city, you take so little interest in the people at the bottom of the heap, that people die here, widows and orphans die, simply because no one cares.

What Makes a Town Worth Saving? ALAS, nobody did care. One hundred and more years went by, and Jerusalem came close to its end. But nobody thought that disaster could strike. The belief had grown in every one's mind that the Temple of the Lord would forever insure the safety of the city in which it stood.

But a young prophet, Jeremiah, preached a sermon on the same theme as Isaiah's (Jer. 7): it is not the temple that will save you, it is not church attendance that will bring you the favor of God.

As the men of Jerusalem looked back to the great days of Moses, they thought of the sacrifices and offerings, the tabernacle and the rituals and all the pageantry and paraphernalia of a picturesque religion, as the great thing that God had given them.

But God remembered it otherwise. Jeremiah even says (with understandable exaggeration) that God had not said a word about sacrifices and offerings; the Ten Commandments, with all they implied, were the main thing.

What God looks for, back of all our church attendance and Bible reading, is "justice between a man and his neighbor." A place where that can be found is a good place.

The Great Secret

HERE is a power only those can know Whose feet have climbed to some far Calvary

Where all the winding roads of suffering go, With the gentle Christ accompanying them, and he Bearing upon his back a heavier cross Than ever could be ours through pain or loss.

There is a secret to be learned through suffering! His sympathy, his patient, gentle grace. And pain borne bravely never fails to bring The high white look of Christ to any face. On any cross of sorrow and despair We learn the secret God's own Son learned there.

WHEN SAMMY KAYE entered college he was headed for a civil engineering degree. But long before he was graduated he had formed a college band; after he left he kept the crew together, radio called, and his famous "swing and sway" style soon became a national favorite. Someone with a statistical mind sat down and figured out that more women named Mary have been picked as "Queen for a Day" than those with any other name. Rating second on Jack Bailey's hilarious program is Betty, followed by Alice, Helen, Ruth and Ann. Some that stretch the imagination have been recorded on the program—such as Malgorzata, Gummel, Anjani and Minal.

The Fiction Corner

THE EXPERT

By Richard H. Wilkinson

NO ONE had much faith in the new sheriff. The night preceding the day of his arrival the ranchers of the Roaring River Valley held a meeting in the Paradise Saloon. Mark Raoul, largest cattle owner in the vicinity, was the spokesman.

"No use in expectin' results from this young deputy they're sending up from the county seat. He's a westerner with eastern ideas an' a college education. Probably got a head full of new fangled notions on how to run down a bunch of Arizona cattle rustlers. Thing for us to do is organize a vigilante group on our own, and wipe them there cattle thieves off the face of the map."

"How we gonna do that," Rex Rupert wanted to know, "when we ain't got a notion where the rustlers is takin' our cattle?"

"We got as good a notion," Mark shot at him, "as any smart young deputy sheriff what aint dry behind the ears yet."

Vic Stuart, red-headed, freckled, blue-eyed and friendly, arrived the next morning and announced himself to be the new deputy assigned to the Roaring River Valley cattle rustling business. Rex Rupert, self-appointed committee of welcome, looked the youth over and decided the ranchers had been smart in postponing their vigilante organization. But Rex betrayed none of the confidence he felt when he explained the circumstances.

Vic listened and smiled and his blue eyes crinkled at the corners. "Natural," he said, "for Raoul to feel that way. Fact is I have got some new fangled ideas. It takes brains to beat a bunch of outlaws these days, whether they're stealing cattle or operating a racket."

Rex's thoughts were rather glum as he rode back to the ranch. He felt almost sure, now, that the new deputy would fail.

About midday of the next day Vic Stuart rode in just as Rex finished his lunch.

"How many armed men can you provide me?" the youth asked shortly.

Vic Stuart led them to a section of country familiar to them all; the hopes that Rex had entertained began to ebb. Then suddenly they burst out anew as Vic entered a narrow canyon, the existence of which Rex stated. "You ain't found the rustlers' roost?"

"That was easy. Thing to do now is scare up enough men to take care of the rustlers, who are at the present moment engaged in branding your stolen cattle."

which was a surprise to everyone. A moment later he pointed down into a hidden valley where stood a couple of rough shacks and an astonishingly large herd of cattle.

REX asked no question, but directed his men into a fan-shaped line, then ordered them to move down the slope. The rustlers were taken by surprise. They had no idea as to the size of the attacking force, and after a desultory attempt to fight off the invaders, the main body broke and fled.

The big surprise of the affair occurred when Vic Stuart rode up behind the masked leader of the rustlers and, standing before Rex and his riders, tore off the leader's mask, revealing the snarling features of Mark Raoul.

"Matter of brains," Vic grinned, "Funny thing it didn't occur to any of you hombes who've lived in this country all your lives that even a bunch of rustlers couldn't camp where there wasn't water. Only water hereabouts is the Roaring River. That was the theory I went on. I got myself a forked hazel stick and used it to locate water and to indicate the direction of the source. Forked hazel sticks never fail to indicate the presence of water if held properly in the hands of an expert." His blue eyes crinkled. "I reckon I'm an expert."

FIRST AID to the AILING HOUSE by Roger C. Whitman

Finishing Walls and Floor of Cellar QUESTION: I should like some advice on finishing the walls and floor of our cellar, which we now are digging out. Our house was built without a cellar. ANSWER: The floor can consist of at least four inches of good, waterproof concrete. If you intend to make a game-room, you could cover this with asphalt tile, which should be properly laid by an experienced workman. The walls can consist of poured concrete, or concrete block. They should be waterproofed on the outside below grade with two coats of hot tar or asphalt paint. The outside trenches can be walled with drain tile to carry off water, or in any case should be solidly packed with earth formed into a bank at the top sloping away from the house. Do not throw any kind of rubble, stones or anything else into the trench can be provided with drain holds volumes of water that may work inside the cellar. (I hope you will have experienced help with this important work.) If you wish to paint the walls either inside or outside, use a waterproof cement-base paint. Get this from a dealer in building supplies or mason supplies.
