

Homer Schaub, Clay. Stautz Take Brides

Married in the paragon of Holy Trinity church by the Rev. F. C. La Buhl in a 1:30 o'clock nuptial ceremony on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 8, were Miss Mary Slesar, daughter of Mrs. Joseph Slesar of this village, and Homer Schaub, son of the William Schaub, also of the village.

The bride wore a gown of white satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline. The skirt was gathered at the hip line and ended in a long train. Her fingertip veil with scalloped edge was gathered to a headpiece of seed pearls. Her bouquet consisted of white gardenias and mums with green ivy.

The matron of honor, Mrs. August Koch, sister of the groom, wore a gown of gold satin fashioned with a Chinese neckline, full skirt and cap sleeves. Her picture hat of gold satin was trimmed with bronze mums and ivy. She carried a bouquet of bronze mums and green ivy. Mrs. Joseph Slesar, sister-in-law of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a gown of green satin identical to that of the matron of honor.

Dinner was served to 34 guests at the Republican Hotel, following which a reception and wedding dance for 200 guests were held at Forest Lake resort. Later the young couple left on a honeymoon in Canada.

The bride, a graduate of West Bend High school, is engaged as bookkeeper at the A. G. Koch, Inc. store while her husband, a Kewaskum High school graduate, is engaged as a barber in Campbellsport.

STAUTZ-QUAAS

Given in marriage by her father was Miss Aletta I. Quaas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman N. Quaas, R. 4, West Bend, when she became the bride of Clayton C. Stautz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford C. Stautz, Kewaskum, in a nuptial ceremony performed by the Rev. W. P. Sauer in St. John's Lutheran church, West Bend, at 2 o'clock on Saturday, Oct. 15.

Decorating the altar for the service were two vases of mums with ferns. Jean Sauer rendered two vocal solos during the rite, "Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who wore her mother's lavalire, was gowned in ivory satin in off-shoulder effect. The gown was fashioned on princess lines with long ruffles in the front. The long train of the gown was edged with French lace. A crown of seed pearls held the fingertip veil of French illusion. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of white roses and pom poms.

The bride's sister, Mrs. LeRoy Thom, was her matron of honor. Her gown of white taffeta was styled with a sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and full skirt with rows of ruffles in the back and a bow on top. Miss Orlean Quaas, another sister, was the maid of honor and wore a gown of orchid taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss A. B. Backhaus, fiancée of the groom's brother, was gowned in yellow taffeta. The junior bridesmaids, Myrtle Quaas, sister of the bride, and Karen Basler, cousin of the bride, wore green taffeta frocks styled like those of the honor attendants.

All of the young ladies carried baskets of yellow, white and orchid mums and wore matching headpieces of mums. They wore necklaces and bracelets of rhinestones, all gifts of the bride.

Floyd Stautz was his brother's best man, while Donald Quaas, brother of the bride, served as groomsman. The guests were ushered to their places by Darwin Bruesel, cousin of the groom, and Wilmer Quaas, brother of the bride.

A wedding supper was served to 100 guests at the home of the bride's parents and later a wedding dance was held at West Park ballroom, West Bend.

The young newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico, and upon returning will reside at the home of the groom's parents in Kewaskum. The groom, a graduate of Kewaskum High school, is employed at Mauthe lake with the Wisconsin Conservation Department. His bride, a West Bend High school graduate, had been employed at the West Bend Aluminum Co.

LAUFER-MARTIN

Miss Betty Jane Martin, daughter of the Philip F. Martins, R. 3, Kewaskum, exchanged wedding vows with Edward Laufer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Laufer, R. 2, West Bend, in a ceremony read by the Rev. Leo Felda at 8:30 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 8, in Holy Angels church, West Bend.

Lace and rhinestones trimmed the bride's wedding gown. Two rows of lace in apron effect trimmed the skirt and also edged the long train. Rhinestones accented the crown which held her fingertip veil, and her flowers were a shower bouquet of white roses and pom poms.

Mrs. Kenneth Fischer, the honor attendant, wore a blue satin gown, with lace trimming and a bustle back. Her flowers were bronze mums and pom poms. American beauty satin gowns styled like that worn by Mrs. Fischer were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Loretta Wiesner and Mrs. Roland Ruppinger. Both young ladies carried bouquets of orchid mums and pom poms. The flower girl, little Miss Joyce Heimborn, wore a white satin gown with a hoop skirt having four rows of ruffles.

Melvin Martin was the groom's best man, while Robert Cain and Jack Heland attended as groomsman. Ushers were Norman Martin and Kenneth Fischer. Jimmy Kell was the ring bearer.

Hunting Season Opens; Dates, Bag, Laws Listed

The 1949 migratory waterfowl hunting season began last Friday with hunters reporting good shooting. Many hunters had a comparatively easy time shooting their limit. In the Horicon marsh area it was reported that 1,130 ducks were bagged during the first two days of the season.

Ruffed grouse (partridge), pheasant and squirrel shooting will begin this Saturday, Oct. 22, at 1 p. m. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset and the daily bag limit is three.

The season on cottontail rabbits in this and all southern counties opens Nov. 5 and extends to Jan. 15. Shooting hours are from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset and the daily bag limit is three.

Deer hunting in a number of northern counties begins Nov. 19 and will extend through Nov. 23. Bob Lake, county conservation warden, wishes to make clear that no deer tags will be sold in the county after Nov. 18. One deer per season is allowed and must be either antlerless or with antlers not to exceed a fork-horn with branch or fork two inches long to be measured from inside angle.

The opening date has been set this week for trapping of muskrat, otter and mink on Nov. 1. The season closes Nov. 13 in most counties, including Washington. There is no bag limit. A mink season will also run from Nov. 13 to Dec. 13 in this county.

Hunting licenses are still $1.50 and deer tags $1.00.

Hunters are reminded that there are some new regulations this year and they are urged to study the hunting law booklets before taking to the field. Guns must be enclosed in a case when carried in a car, not only unloaded and broken down.

KIWANIANS GET RUBBER BALL VIEW OF THE HUDSON RIVER

If you noticed any of Kewaskum's foremost businessmen bouncing along the streets of your fair city on Tuesday, it probably was an after-effect of the exciting sport film they saw Monday evening.

The rough, bobbing scenes of motor boat racing were shown the club in a color presentation of the Albany-New York marathon. This 136-mile competitive jaunt on the Hudson river left the members in a happy—or should I say "hoppy" mood.

THANKS TO FIREMEN

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the members of the Kewaskum fire department who responded so hurriedly and did very effective work in combating the roof fire at our home last week Wednesday and holding the damage to a minimum.

Ground Broken, Construction Begun On Municipal Building

Ground was broken Tuesday and excavation work was started the next day for Kewaskum's new $100,000 municipal building on the corner of First and Railroad sts., the former Felenz property. Village President Charles Miller shoveled the first clod of dirt for the 45x140 foot building, marking the beginning of construction. The contract calls for completion of the structure by next June.

The two story building will house the village hall, fire house, public library, police station, and an all-purpose meeting room. The general contractor engaged to do the work is Fred Piette of Appleton.

Businessmen Cooperate in County Holstein Sire Sale

Washington county business firms, banks, and others have each year for the past few years given a donation to a boys' agricultural project. This is the sire raising project and is county-wide.

Registered Holstein cattle breeders consign a young bull calf to the project. About 25 4-H and FFA boys are carefully selected each year as members of the project. They draw for the animals so that all may have the same opportunity. They raise the sire calf until it is about one year old. An auction is then held to sell the young sires.

Catalogs of the pedigrees of the animals are printed and publicity is given the auction. The donations from the business firms are used toward defraying the boys' share of this expense. Deductions for the breeders' part of the expense are made from his share in the sales.

It is felt that this project does much to improve the dairy herds of the county. Businessmen feel that a profitable dairy industry is of benefit to them as well as to the rural people.

Twenty-seven (27) young bull calves will be offered for sale on Friday afternoon, Oct. 28, at the fairgrounds in Slinger. The sale will get under way at 12:30 o'clock.

Auctioneering service by Arthur Quade of West Bend and sales clerical service by the First National Bank of West Bend are donated to the project.

WOMEN'S CLUB NEWS Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Green and Mrs. Edwards were hostesses at the teachers reception on Saturday, Oct. 15, in the clubroom.

Miss Charlotte Wood, an instructor of English at the University of Wisconsin, gave an excellent dramatic presentation of Maxwell Anderson's newest play based on the life of Queen Anne.

New members accepted into the club were: Miss Meta Sheffield, Mrs. C. Schaefer, Mrs. Reynolds, Miss Louise Martin, Mrs. Earl Kohler, Mrs. D. Hanrahan, Mrs. Underwood, Mrs. H. Koch and Mrs. F. Miller.

Mrs. C. Miller, president, gave a report of the 6th district board meeting of the Women's club which she attended at Fond du Lac on Oct. 16.

The members of the Women's club tested all the public school students hearing last week with an audiometer. There were 319 children tested and, of these, 10 will need professional testing which the state will provide.

In most schools the same size as Kewaskum's, the state has found, on an average, 25 pupils who needed re-testing. It is encouraging to note that there are only 10 in our school who will need re-testing. It is hoped that very few of these will need remedial treatment.

On Saturday, Oct. 29, the members of the Women's club will have lunch at Gumbels at 12:30 and at 2:30 will tour the Charles Allis art library at E. Royall pl. and Prospect Ave. in Milwaukee.

NO NSLI CHECKS MAILED TO VETS BEFORE JANUARY The following news release was received by G. A. Kolb, county veteran service officer, from the Veterans' Administration regarding NSLI payments. There is no possibility that any checks in payment of the special NSLI dividend will be mailed before January, 1950. Harold W. Breining, assistant administrator for insurance, said reports that checks might start going out before Christmas were "absolutely without foundation."

"The real fact is," Breining said, that we are even working overtime in an effort to get these dividend checks to the veterans entitled to them according to our present schedule which calls for the first checks to be dispatched sometime around the middle of January."

An estimated 16,000,000 veterans and servicemen are entitled to a share of the $2,500,000,000 dividend fund. Once payments start, checks are expected to go into the mails at the rate of 200,000 per working day.

More than 12,000,000 applications for dividend payments have been received in Washington since application forms were made available last Aug. 29.

Jackson Telephone Co. Explosion; Eight Hurt

Eight persons were injured Wednesday, shortly after noon, when a gas explosion leveled a two-story frame building housing a telephone company office and residence at Jackson. The blast rocked the village of some 200 persons.

The injured, taken to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend, were: Guilford Perkins, Milwaukee, fractured left shoulder, brain concussion, scalp cuts; Frank Sheehan, Milwaukee, multiple cuts on the face and upper limbs; Mrs. Frank Bergen, Jackson, chief telephone operator, brain concussion, multiple cuts; Henry Matter, Jackson, shock, brain concussion, cuts; James Bradley, Jackson, brain concussion, multiple cuts; Jack Higgins, Jackson, possible chest injury, scalp cuts; Vernon Frank Jackson, brain concussion, multiple cuts; John Indermuehle, Jackson, compound leg fracture.

The blast wiped out the Commonwealth Telephone Co. exchange serving 500 customers in the Jackson area, most of them on rural lines.

Washington County Sheriff Sylvester Naumann said the explosion was caused by a gas leak. The leak, he said, occurred while Sheehan and Perkins were installing a new stove. A screw holding the gas shut-off valve in the building's basement broke off, he stated, and gas poured into the building.

Workers tried frantically to turn off the gas but before they could do it the fuel was ignited by flames from the building's furnace. A blast that followed the explosion was quickly put off by firemen.

The blast damaged the James Bradley residence west of the phone company building, and Village President Mayer's home, east of the phone firm structure. Plaster was cracked and furnishings knocked over. Large windows were blown out at the Hoge and Gumm general store and the Martin Gumm garage, about 300 feet away.

Telephone company personnel had been warned about the danger of an explosion and left the building. There was no one at home in the apartment over the exchange occupied by Mrs. Beren and her family. The injured, besides Sheehan and Perkins, were standing across the street at the time of the blast.

WORKERS TRIED FRANTICALLY TO TURN OFF THE GAS BUT BEFORE THEY COULD DO IT THE FUEL WAS IGNITED BY FLAMES FROM THE BUILDING'S FURNACE. A BLAST THAT FOLLOWED THE EXPLOSION WAS QUICKLY PUT OFF BY FIREMEN.

PLASTER WAS CRACKED AND FURNISHINGS KNOCKED OVER. LARGE WINDOWS WERE BLOWN OUT AT THE HOGE AND GUMM GENERAL STORE AND THE MARTIN GUMM GARAGE, ABOUT 300 FEET AWAY.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS Control Atom, Keep Alert: Baruch; Senate Clashes on Price Supports; U. S. Seeks Method to End Strikes

EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.

A-CONTROL: 'Truly Effective'

After President Truman's announcement on September 23 of an atomic explosion in Russia, U.S. citizens worked up a kind of peculiar, detached tension that seemed to have been born out of the expectation that somebody—maybe Bernard Baruch—ought to say something significant pretty soon about the world and the atom bomb.

And Mr. Baruch, who is the author of the plan for international atomic control that was rejected by the Soviets in 1946, measured up to the demand for an opinion by coming out with what looked to be some practical suggestions.

PRIMARILY, he urged that "nothing less than a truly effective" system of international control be put into effect.

He supplemented this major point with three other recommendations as to how to face up to the Russian atom:

1. Pending such "safe and sure" control, make every effort "to maintain our overwhelming advantage" in the development of atomic weapons.

2. Re-examine our strategy for peacemaking.

3. Enact a standby mobilization plan, including civilian defense, immediately.

BASIC IDEA, of course, is for the U.S. to do its moral best with the olive branch, but in the meantime keeping a gun handy, just in case.

Baruch's conception of a mobilization plan would include price, wage and rent controls, rationing priorities and anti-profiteering measures.

Russia's counter-proposal to international control—the outlawing of the bomb and international agreements to destroy all existing stocks of the atom bomb—over-simplifies the problem, Baruch said.

HE WARNED that a would-be aggressor easily could divert "peaceful" atomic material to "international blackmail and destruction."

STRIKES: Economy Throttled

The history making double basic-industry strikes—coal and steel—were rapidly throttling the nation's economy as the first week of the twin work stoppage drew to a close, causing:

1. The layoff of about 100,000 white collar workers whose clerical jobs no longer were needed.

2. Furlough of 49,829 railroad men.

3. Curtailment of Packard motor company operations.

4. Reduction of steel output to an anemic 8.2 per cent of capacity.

5. Daily loss of 30 million dollars worth of business in the steel and coal industries alone.

6. Daily loss of 11 million dollars in wages to nearly 900,000 striking steel and soft coal workers.

President Truman had indicated that he planned no direct government intervention in the strikes, but Federal Mediator Cyrus Ching was trying to figure out a new attempt to settle the disputes.

With the steel mills and coal mines idle, Ching's massive problem was to find a workable solution first of all to the pension demands of Murray's United Steelworkers and Lewis' United Mine Workers. Making it more difficult was the fact that neither the industry leaders nor the unions were in mood to make any concessions.

An added grim note was sounded by Philip Murray, CIO leader, when he warned that still another 500,000 of his steelworkers would be going on strike by the end of October unless the company-financed six-cent pension and four-cent insurance program was accepted by the steel industry.

PERCENTERS: 5, That is What happened to the 5 per cent inquiry that was hotter than a two-dollar deep freeze box a month or two ago?

According to Senator Hoey (D., N.C.), who heads the special senate subcommittee which studied whether federal buying was improperly influenced, the probe probably won't be resumed this year, although the senator indicated that he might release a report on it soon.

? Current Events ?

Here are five questions, based on recent happenings in the news, which are practically impossible to answer—unless your children give you enough time to read your newspaper before they start playing tag-up-with it. Anyway, try them on your I.Q. for size.

1. Yugoslavia, aided by the U.S., recently bid for election to a seat on the U.N. security council. How many elective members are there on the security council?

2. News from London following the devaluation of the pound made frequent mention of the "shadow cabinet." What is it?

3. U.S. aid to foreign countries in fiscal 1949 totaled 5 billion dollars. Would you say Britain, Germany or France received the most?

4. Oklahoma voted recently to keep its 42-year-old statewide prohibition law. How many other all-dry states are there?

5. Guam, a U.S. possession formerly run by the navy, recently inaugurated its first civilian governor. When did the U.S. get Guam?

ANSWERS 1. Of the 11 seats, five are held permanently, six are elective. Elective members now are Argentina, Canada, China, Denmark, France and the Ukraine. Ego, Norway and the U.S. are candidates.

SECURITY: On the Way Judging from all the activity that has been generated around the idea recently, apparently the thing Americans are most concerned about is how they can keep a few dollars rolling into the family till each month after father reaches the ripe old age of 65.

Pension plans have been an issue in major strikes confronting the nation and survivors insurance was coming up fast on the agenda of a greatly expanded social security measure.

Even as the administration-sponsored bill was reported out onto the floor by the house rules committee, it had been fairly obvious that the house would approve this portion of President Truman's program.

Briefly, the current measure provides for: 1. An increase of 11 million in the number of workers covered by old-age and survivors insurance for a new total of 46 million.

2. An average 70 to 80 per cent increase in old-age benefits.

3. Creation of a new insurance system for persons who became totally and permanently disabled.

4. An increase in the payroll taxes by more than 300 per cent during the next 20 years.

At any rate, the prospects were bright for those legislators who were plumping for passage of the expanded social security law. Senator George (D., Ga.) chairman of the finance committee, freely predicted that the senate would pass the hopped-up social security program in 1950.

REVOLUTION: With Trailers Tomorrow's butcher, baker and candlestick maker may desert main street to come rolling right up to Mrs. America's doorstep to sell their wares.

This minor revolution in retail salesmanship was forecast this week by America's trailer coach manufacturers as they prepared to display commercial and industrial trailer models at their first national exhibit in Washington, D.C. November 18-20.

In addition to a complete line of house trailers, the show will feature, among other specially-designed coaches, a well-stocked traveling grocery store, mobile beauty parlor, library, dental unit, field office and medical unit.

Hailed as a progressive step in relieving congested shopping centers and simplifying the housewife's marketing problems, the new trailer stores already are winning favor in both metropolitan and rural areas, say sponsors of the idea.

DEFENSE: Bacteriological The city of Chicago, aware of the high attack priority it would have in the event of war, is becoming more defense conscious.

About two weeks ago, Dr. Herman Bundesen, Chicago board of health president, convened the first conference ever called by any city in the world to protect its citizens from the threat of biological warfare. Said Bundesen: "There is vital need for planning."

The meeting, possibly a precedent-setting one, was attended by city department heads, representatives of all Chicago medical schools, spokesmen for the state laboratory and leading experts on bacteriological and sanitary perils of all types. Bundesen was apprehensive.

As chief of emergency medical services here during World War II, I was made acquainted with some of the catastrophes that could follow if deadly toxins and pathogenic substances were employed as methods for conquest by a hostile power," he said.

A Spendthrift Department

EACH YEAR the post office de- partment reports to congress an ever increasing deficit, now amounting to approximately one-half billion dollars annually.

Each year congress appropriates the amount needed to make up that deficit, and the American tax payers put up the money to meet that appropriation.

At fairly frequent intervals the department suggests that congress pass legislation increasing postage rates as a means of preventing the annual deficits. The people would pay in increased postage instead of in taxes. A bill for such an increase is being considered by congress at this time.

Also before congress now in both senate and house, are bills based on recommendations of the Hoover commission that would reduce the post office department's costs without effecting the efficiency of mail service. It would take out of those costs more than one-half of the annual deficit and save the people approximately 300 million dollars each year.

The post office department has not had an overhauling for the last three quarters of a century. Methods of communication have changed decidedly in that period. New bureaus and divisions have been added to meet changing conditions, but the old outmoded ones have not been discarded.

The people still pay for the employees who man unneeded, out of date bureaus and divisions. The elimination of these employees represents but one phase of the Hoover commission recommendations covering the post office department.

Why does congress hesitate to act on the commission's recommendations that would relieve the load on the tax-payer? The answer is patronage. Those unneeded employees' jobs are rewards for the politically faithful. They near votes. Those votes are considered more important to those who represent our states and districts in Washington than the interests of the people.

For months there has been no action on post office department reorganization bills in either the senate or house. There is no evidence that there is any intention of permitting them to reach a voting stage, but there has been hours and days devoted to the consideration of increased postal rates. The people will pay those postal increases.

Those senators and representatives who are failing to consider the interests of us, the American people, are working for you and me and the other fellow. We are in a position to demand results; to demand that senate bill 2062, and house bill 5177 have consideration. It is possible for us—you, me and the other fellow—to demonstrate to those who would sacrifice our interests in order to protect a bit of additional patronage, that we can, and do, represent more votes than these patronage jobs can supply.

Congress has enacted a portion of the legislation needed to effectuate the Hoover commission's recommendations despite the organized opposition of the bureaucratic employees. It has been accomplished because of the demand of the people back home, but if we are to reap the full benefit of that promised saving of more than three billion dollars a year, we must keep on demanding more votes than these patronage jobs can supply.

The citizens committee that is backing the demand for those savings has done a wonderful job of arousing public sentiment, but all of us, including the members of that committee, who do the paying cannot lay down until congress has completed the savings we have a right to expect. We want that three billion and more a year now and through the future.

The enactment of all the Hoover recommendations into law will accomplish that saving. Tell your senators and representatives what you expect if he is to get your vote.

A definite demonstration of the result of socialism is the devaluation of the English pound. It is a step toward run-away inflation. The English people are finding the socialistic "something for nothing" they were promised must be paid for. The price is longer hours, harder work, more production. The devaluation is but an expedient.

On any one subject there is such a divergence of opinion among economists that one wonders whether economics is a science or merely a guessing contest.

It is a speedy world in which we live. In less than one lifetime the travel time between New York and San Francisco has been reduced from more than 100 hours to less than six. In the span of two lifetimes it has been reduced from six months to six hours.

It would seem that a part of the job of an army officer of four star rank is to collect political contributions.

Color, whether it be red, white, black or yellow, is not objectionable as is dirt, disorder and the way of living.

Will the Republican party continue to sleep in the New Deal bed? So long as crime is willing to pay some officials will accept.

Arkansas Farmers May Grow Drugs
 New Plants to Produce Narcotics, Digitalis

A drug-farming program which may free the United States from reliance on foreign sources for many vital medicinal compounds has been launched in Arkansas by a transplanted Rumanian chemist, reports the magazine "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

Dr. O. K. Cosla, a biochemist who instituted the first successful cultivation of drug-bearing plants in Rumania, is in charge of the Arkansas program at the College of the Ozarks, Clarksville, where a 20-acre tract has been set aside for his experiments.

Dr. Cosla, who has an M. D. degree as well as a Ph. D. in biochemistry, used to export to the United States part of its drug supply, and during World War II he furnished southeastern Europe with medicinal materials.

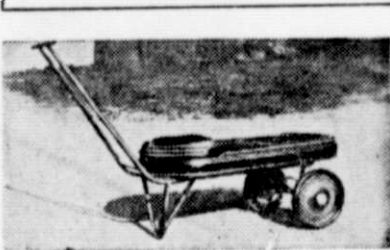

If Dr. Cosla's plans mature, Arkansas farmers will soon begin supplying the nation with such drugs as belladonna, a narcotic; stramonium, a drug processed from dried Jimson weed which gives relief to asthma sufferers, and ergot, used to control blood hemorrhages and as an anesthetic. Foxglove, the dotted white and purple tubular flower whose leaves bear the powerful heart stimulant digitalis, will also soon be blooming in Dr. Cosla's medical garden.

Some of the drug-bearing plants which Dr. Cosla is planning to cultivate already grow wild in the Arkansas backwoods. To determine the best conditions for growing each plant as a domestic crop, the Rumanian chemist will test them in hydroponic installations, in which their roots will be immersed in a watery solution containing mineral nutrients, instead of in soil.

The active drugs will be extracted from the plants in a four-room laboratory which Dr. Cosla brought with him to this country to aid his research in biochemistry and experimental pharmacology.

Dr. Cosla believes, according to "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," that the South can eventually become one of the nation's principal drug farming and manufacturing centers, thus diverting to the area millions of dollars now spent annually on imports.

Handy Cart

Elgar Schroeder, Morrisonville, Wisconsin, believes a handy farm gadget can have an attractive appearance while saving work for its owner. His pull-push cart carries a good-size load the tools, supplies or produce easily. The cart was made from a child's discarded coaster wagon, using the box and wheels. The original wagon axle was kept, the cart was built of ¾ inch pipe. Time required to build the cart was two and one-half hours at a cost of $1 for materials. Arc welding played an important part in the cart's construction.

Corn in Silage Form Answer to Extra Crop

Corn in the form of silage is the solution for the extra crop—and a trench silo is the cheapest and easiest way to provide for making and storing of silage.
 The trench silo is especially recommended for those who need to provide storage space hurriedly. However, areas having extremely high water tables or soil that is sandy or loose are not suitable, according to a dairy specialist.

Somersaulting Chickens May Have Vitamin Lack

When baby chicks turn somersaults they're not necessarily having fun—they may be suffering from a vitamin-E deficiency. Dr. Erwin L. Jungherr of the University of Connecticut told the American Veterinarian's association that lack of vitamins is often responsible for strange behavior and sickness in poultry.
 He cited "crazy chick" disease which may develop

The greatest worry of most women traveling alone is the bugbear of a flat tire on a lonely road. In this series of photos, Carol Lane, Shell Oil Company's much-traveled expert shows a few tricks that will enable a woman to change a tire alone—maintaining poise and calm from start to finish. The first thing to do at the first hint of trouble is to pull off to the side of the road.

DON'T STOP, MEN

Naturally, that old, feminine trick of looking helpless is okay, provided someone is coming along—but if no one stops, milady might just as well get at the job. The wise woman motorist carries a pair of canvas gauntlets and an old shower curtain is invaluable for protecting clothes against grease and dirt.

Get the tire wall of the spare tire as close to the flat tire as possible, then gently ease the flat up and on the spare. If the backing up is done gently, the flat will not be damaged—and this trick will make the tire changing much easier.

A rubber mallet is a useful tool for starting stubborn lugs. Note that the flat is still riding the spare for extra stability.

When all lugs have been removed, an extra pump or two on the jack-handle will free both tires and the flat can be rolled to the trunk compartment or the rear seat section. With the flat off, tilt up the spare. A few minor adjustments with the jack-handle and use of rubber mallet to jockey the spare into place will keep physical exertion down to a minimum.

There—it's all done. It hasn't been any picnic, of course; but neither has it been an exhausting, aggravating ordeal. A little ingenuity has turned what may have seemed like a hopeless situation into a relatively minor incident.

Fewer Pedestrians Figure In 1948 Traffic Deaths

CHICAGO—Fewer pedestrians walked themselves to death during 1948 than the year before. There were 9,850 pedestrian traffic deaths last year, according to the 1949 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council. This was 6 per cent below the 1947 total of 10,450.
 The yearbook points out that last year was the first since motor vehicle deaths have been tabulated by type of accident that pedestrian deaths were fewer than deaths from two-vehicle collisions.

PERSONS WHO WEAR GLASS SLIPPERS . . .

Cinderella Is Wooded by a Devaluated Prince

. . . SHOULD NEVER THROW THEIR SHOES

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a man who married for his second wife one of the haughtiest women in the world. She had two daughters of her own who were a pair of fine meanies. She had a stepdaughter of unparalleled goodness and beauty. She was called Cinderella. Her stepsisters kept her at the meanest work. They made her sleep in an old abandoned thirty-room showplace which nobody wanted while they had things easy in a $25,000 four-room ranch house, with no garage.

The king gave a great ball to which he invited everybody of prominence, including the two sourness sisters. They got themselves up like Mrs. Astor's pet ponies and paraded before Cinderella, who, after they flounced off, said, "I wish I could go to a great ball." Instantly her fairy godmother appeared.

"These great balls are not what they used to be," she said. "Before you get in you will have to take chances on a couple of automobiles and maybe a dream house. And there will be be-bop music. Still, if you wish to go . . ."

"Oh, I do," said Cinderella. "Fetch me a pumpkin, then," said the fairy godmother. "Pumpkins were pretty high, as the government had under-written them, or something, but she got one.

"Get me a mouse, a rat and six lizards," said the fairy godmother.

"I wanna go to a ball, not an animal show," warned Cinderella.

The fairy godmother had a wand, a book on economics by Sir Stafford Cripps and several speeches by government experts, so she was able to convert the pumpkin, mice, etc., into a coach with white horses, a coachman and six attendants. Whisk! And Cinderella was off to the ball before anybody could arrive to demand that she pay luxury taxes on the whole business.

She was the most ravishing dish at the ball. The king's son went for her in a big way at once, much to Cinderella's discomfort. She was a smart cookie. (This could get serious. A prince would have loads of money, and she knew what that meant these days. He would have to spend all his days figuring out how he stood and all his nights checking to see if there had been anything new from Sir Stafford Cripps.)

Suddenly the great clock struck. "Twelve," said Cinderella. "Eleven," said the prince. "Ten," said the king.

"My goodness, one can't figure anything these days," said Cinderella, taking it on the lam. (She had to take a taxi. The coachman, the big rat, had struck for more money and all the lizards had walked out in sympathy.)

Well, to make a long story worse, she was not through with the prince and the problems of having everything. She had left a glass slipper.

The prince searched the whole land until he found that the slipper fitted Cinderella, and was he glad when he discovered she was really a working girl and hadn't a thin dime! It meant less bookkeeping.

He proposed and Cinderella accepted, saying, "I suppose I could have done worse. Look at all those girls who win giveaway programs!"

So she married the prince, who got back to the palace just in time to find the pound had been devaluated again and he wasn't worth very much which meant, after all, a life of comparative tranquility.

CHRISTLIKE

THIS is a Christlike thing: to bear a grief Unspoken and unshared, yet go one's way Not feverishly seeking for relief, But day by day Doing the tasks at hand to cheer and bless, That others may find greater happiness.

This is a Christlike thing: through wearing pain To keep quiet still, that watching, none may see The weariness, the harrowing stress and strain, The agony, And wearing always something of Christ's grace And infinite patience written on one's face.

For the Master bore His agony alone, And bore it well, And the greatest grief a heart has ever known, He did not tell.

daring thing in making "Pinky," the story of a colored girl who passed for white; equally daring was his choice of Miss Crain for the sort of role usually reserved for actresses like Bette Davis. But Jeanne Crain's talent has been obvious ever since she and June Haver made their debuts in "Back Home in Indiana"; as usual, Zanuck knew exactly what he was doing.

The cast of "Pinky" is star-studded. Ethel Barrymore, Ethel Waters and William Lundigan share honors with Miss Crain, and Elia Kazan, one of the best directors of stage and screen, directed this one.

Johnny Weissmuller weighed 199 pounds when he reported for his new "Jungle Jim" picture, thereby saving some $38,000. Weighing 238 when the deal was signed, he said he'd pay $1000 for every pound he didn't lose by starting time.

Lauren Bacall made no money by losing the five pounds she gained after Stephen Humphrey Bogart was born, but at 118 she looked better when she went to work in "Young Man with a Horn," with Kirk Douglas and Doris Day.

Nancy Olson, who stepped from undergraduate status at UCLA into the leads of two top pictures, will be Bing Crosby's romantic interest in Paramount's "Mr. Music." In her first film, "Canadian Pacific," she appeared with Randolph Scott; she recently completed a featured role in "Sunset Boulevard," with William Holden and Gloria Swanson.

The Fiction THE CAPTURE

Corner By Richard H. Wilkinson

SHERIFF Sol Rock cautiously approached the cabin and knocked three times. A bolt slid back into its socket. The door swung open and a voice came out into the night.

"That you, Sol?"

"Hello, Baldy," he said, stepping inside. "What luck?"

"None." Sol heard Baldy fishing for a match, and he said, "Wait a minute, Baldy. I got a scheme I want to work out."

"They've seen me," Sol went on. "Joe and Slim. They've been trailing me all day. I just kept far enough to avoid trouble."

"Avoid trouble? You?" Baldy's voice sounded incredulous. And Sol chuckled. "Listen, Baldy, we've been chasing these two bad men for more than a week now. I'm sick of it. And now that we've found them, I don't aim to let 'em get away."

"So that's why you ran away from them?" sarcastically.

"Don't be a fool. I wanted 'em to follow me. They'll be along any time now. I made sure they save me ride down in here by silhouetting myself against the skyline fifteen minutes ago. Now here's the point: They don't know about you, yet. They think there's only me to contend with. And unless I miss my guess, they aim to get me out of the way tonight."

"Unless I stop 'em," said Baldy. "Right. Now get this; I'm leaving you here alone, see? Cover the windows and then light up. They'll think it's me inside here, all unsuspecting."

"Fine," said Baldy. "But what's wrong with me being on the outside and you on the inside?"

Sol laughed shortly. "A lot, you little squirt. Now pipe down and obey orders. I'm going."

Instantly he grew tense. Every muscle and nerve and fibre became alert. He half crouched, half stood in his hiding place. And as he watched the cabin a dim figure took shape and became a man. Another appeared beside the first.

They lingered only a moment, then began stealthily to approach the door. Sol stepped silently from his hiding place. At the very instant that one of the figures crouched to thrust his weight against the door, he spoke out of the darkness.

"Reach toward the sky, boys! Drop those guns, and turn around. The jig's up. We got the drop on you!"

SOL QUICKENED his footsteps. In the darkness he stumbled, regained his feet and came on. At the moment he went down an orange lance of flame streamed out of the blackness near the cabin. It was followed by another.

But before the two bandits could shoot again, the two six-guns in Sol's hands thundered.

Answering shots came from the cabin. Sol felt a searing pain in his left shoulder. His senses began to reel. And suddenly he realized that the renegades had accomplished what he had been unable to do because of his stumble. They had fired at the flash from his guns—high—hoping for a kill.

This was Sol's last thought.

When Sol returned to consciousness he found himself lying on a bunk in the cabin. Baldy, grinning broadly, was standing over him.

"What the hell did you blow out that light for?" Sol wanted to know. "It spoiled my aim, made me stumble and nearly got me killed."

"Thought it would," Baldy grinned. "Wanted it to. You didn't think I was going to be fool enough to open the door and stand in the light so those birds could take pot shots at me?"

"Well what happened, anyway?"

"For answer Baldy pointed across the room. Sol looked and saw two men lying there, both bound securely."

"Wing 'em?" Sol asked.

"Winged nothing. I whacked 'em over the head from the doorway while they were shooting at you. By the way, you almost hit me with your own wild shooting."

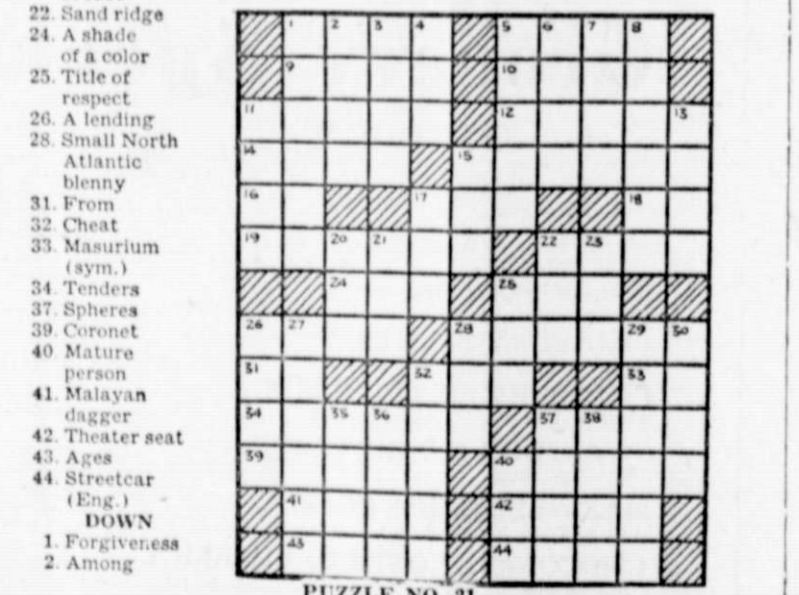

"Wish I had," Sol grinned. "Say, squirt, you ain't so dumb as you look!"

"And I ain't so much of a squirt, either," Baldy replied indignantly. "Fact is I blew out that light just so's I could show you what a big feller I was."

Household Hints

Avoid Carrot Stains To avoid yellow stains on your hands when peeling carrots, peel them under water.

Lunch-Packing Tomatoes If tomatoes are to be packed in a lunch basket or to be taken on picnics, don't keep them in a refrigerator. Once a tomato is chilled, it turns soft and wrinkled when it returns to room temperature.

Saving Potatoes The waste incurred when potatoes are peeled can be minimized by boiling the potatoes in their skins, and then peeling them while holding them under a stream of cold water.

Use Double Boiler To avoid lighting the broiler or oven when you have to cook a tiny piece of meat for the baby, place the meat in the top of a double boiler, along with some butter; put the lid on and let it cook.

Left-Over Pie Dough When you have left-over pie dough, wrap it in wax paper and keep it in the hydrator of your refrigerator. It'll still be in good condition for baking for several days.

QUESTION: I have a dining-room set with a lacquer finish. The top of the table is scratched. Could I just finish the top, or do I have to do the whole thing over?

ANSWER: If the finish is scratched all over, I believe you would get more satisfaction by doing a good job of refinishing the top in the right way, rather than varnishing over the scratches. You can take off the scratched lacquer with a small, portable electric sander, which can be either bought or rented in the larger cities.

fruit show held at the fair grounds at Slinger last Saturday. This was the largest fruit show held in recent years.
 C. L. Kuehner, orchard specialist of the College of Agriculture, who judged the apple entries made this comment: "I have judged the Washington county fruit show for many years. Your exhibits this year are of better quality than in any previous year. It is also the best show I have had the pleasure to judge this year." J. Chitwood, agricultural instructor, Slinger High school judged the potato and corn entries.
 The Washington county fruit show is a continuation of the county fair and the regular county fair premiums are paid on all winning entries.
