

Plymouth 5th Victim in Row, Locals on Top

The Kewaskum Chevrolets met and conquered the mighty Plymouth team in Land of Lakos play here Sunday night before a gym full of wild fans. The victory was Kewaskum's fifth in succession and the unbeaten locals now hold sole possession of the league lead. Previously Plymouth was also undefeated and tied with the Chevys. The score was 60-51.

The game was as wild as the fans and was hard fought all the way. Due to laxity on the part of the officials, things became rough and almost out of hand at times. Several players from both teams disagreed with the officials on numerous occasions and arguments and near scuffles ensued. Even the referees were making it up. One visiting fan threw his overcoat and hat at the referee from the balcony. To play safe personal fouls were called—24 on each team—and there were a number of technical fouls besides. One Plymouth and two Kewaskum players were ejected on fouls. Three others from Plymouth had four fouls, as did two from the home club.

Paced by the three Tassar boys and Higo, Kewaskum worked well ahead in the first quarter. The team continued to pour the ball through the hoop in the second period and it appeared as though it wouldn't be much of a contest. By halftime the locals held a commanding 24-15 lead. But Plymouth fired up in the third quarter and played on even terms so that when the stanzas ended they had narrowed the advantage to 12 points, 47-35. The visitors outscored the Chevrolees in the final quarter but the difference was too big and they couldn't overcome the lead as Kewaskum scored enough to stay a distance ahead.

The scoring of young Johnny Tassar and Higo, who took top honors with 17 and 18 points respectively, set Plymouth down in defeat. The rest of the Tassars, Wayland and Allen, each netted nine, while Melios added seven. Zastrow was the big gun for the losers. After scoring but one point in the first half he went wild in the second half, dropping in 14 points to lead his mates with 15. Accurate shooting Helofels contributed 11 and Binder 10.

The North Side A. C. team held the advantage in the first half, leading 19-18 at the quarter and 40-35 at the intermission. The locals dumped in 19 points in the third quarter, however, to 18 for the visitors and went ahead, 54-46. And that's the way it stayed, both teams tallying 16 markers in the final quarter.

Wayland Tassar put on the best scoring show with his left handed hook shot and piled himself up 19 points. Brother Johnny was on the ball as usual and ended up with 15, while Krueger collected 10. Langford's 18 were best for the Milwaukee club and Forbes and Cole each added 13. This was Kewaskum's seventh straight win.

Three Autos, Truck in Week's Accidents

A 1940 Buick convertible driven by Wm. Kirchner, 1544 N. Jackson st., Milwaukee, was damaged to an extent of about $400 at 8:45 a. m. Wednesday, Dec. 21, in a crash in this village. According to local police, Kirchner was traveling north at a high rate of speed on Hwy. 55. He swerved out to avoid hitting a car coming onto the highway from Main st. and lost control of his machine. The car left the road on the left side and clipped off an electric pole in front of the J.L. Rosenheimer store. The driver was uninjured.

When the front wheel of a 1948 Kaiser driven by Ray Donahue of West Bend locked while he was rounding a curve on Hwy. 55, a mile south of Kewaskum, near the Louis Klein farm, early Tuesday morning, Dec. 19, the driver lost control. The vehicle crossed the highway and ran into a ditch on the left side, where it turned over on its side. Donahue is an accountant at the Kewaskum Utensil Co. He was unhurt and his car was only slightly damaged.

A hog on Highways 46 and 55 just south of West Bend near Reinken's service station, sent a semi-trailer truck into a nearby field and tied up traffic for over two hours on Tuesday evening, Dec. 20. The hog, which was owned by Ed Sauer, R. 1, West Bend, broke through a wooden gate at 8:15 p. m. and was struck by a semi-trailer belonging to the Bird Trucking Co. of Kewaskum.

The driver of the trailer, Charles A. Peterick, 40, of Newton, Wis., said that he was heading north when the truck hit the hog with its left front wheel. The impact threw the truck to the left and across the highway to the west. The vehicle landed in a field after hitting the ditch and plowing through the west ditch. Traffic in the area was re-routed and a local garage removed the truck from the field.

Two persons were injured Monday, Dec. 19, when a car driven by Harry Zindars, 28, R. 2, Kewaskum, apparently went out of control due to a sheet of ice on the highway, left the road, and struck a tree. The accident occurred on Hwy. 28, 2 1/2 miles east of Kewaskum. Zindars received bruises and possible fractures. Marvin Zindars, 18, R. 2, Kewaskum, had a fractured arm and bruises. Both were taken to St. Joseph's hospital, West Bend.

The Kewaskum Standards of the Rivers loop also won Sunday in the first game of the evening. They defeated the Cedarburg Hamiltons, 48-44, in a tight contest. The victory was the Standards third in four games and places them well up in the Rivers. Kewaskum led all the way, 16-15 at the quarter, 27-20 at the half, and 47-21 at the third quarter, but the Hamiltons almost overtook them in the closing minutes. High scorers were Keller with 12 points and Kougil with 10. Borleske and Hammett each swished in 10 for the losers. ## To Explain New State Milk Regulations at Meetings

Farmer meetings to explain the new Wisconsin milk regulations will be held on Thursday, Dec. 22, at the following: Hartford city hall—auditorium, 10:00 a. m.

West Bend high school—gymnasium, 1:30 p. m.

Both meetings will be of a similar nature. Attend the meeting most convenient. The dairy plant or cheese factory where you deliver your milk invites you and urges you to attend either the morning or afternoon meeting mentioned above.

There are many incorrect interpretations being circulated about the new milk standards. Come and hear the new milk regulations explained. You will then know what, if any changes, must be made on your farm to comply with the new laws.

Speakers from the College of Agriculture, the State Department of Agriculture, and the area dairy inspectors will be present to explain the new requirements and to answer your questions.

The transporting of milk is also affected by the new regulations, therefore, a meeting for all who are directly or indirectly concerned with hauling, trucking, or transporting of milk will be held in the West Bend high school gymnasium on Thursday evening, Dec. 22, at 7:30 o'clock.

Dairy plant employees, cheesemakers and plant operators will hold their meeting at the same time and place as the milk truckers.

FEEDER PIG RAISING SUBJECT OF RADIO TALK BY SKALISKEY

R. E. Skaliskey, Washington county agricultural agent, and Roy Ormond, publicity director of the Oscar Mayer and Company of Madison, will present a radio program on the subject of raising a steady supply of feeder pigs for sale at local stock fairs. The interview will be broadcast over WIBA, 1210 KC, at 12:15 o'clock on Tuesday, Dec. 27. Packing plans, like milk plants, find that they can operate more efficiently if they can handle about the same amount of farm products each month. This eliminates the rapid and unusually unexpected fluctuations in prices. Also it makes possible the more steady employment of workers.

HOLIDAY POST OFFICE HOURS

The post office will close at 5 p. m. on Christmas Eve. It will be closed all day on Dec. 26 and Jan. 2. There will be no window service and no rural delivery. The lobby will remain open on both of these days for the benefit of lock box patrons and mail will be dispatched as usual.

Burglarize, Damage the Bowling Alleys at Campbellsport

Cash estimated at $570 was taken and at least $900 in damage to equipment was caused by burglars early Thursday at the King Pin bowling alleys in Campbellsport. The burglars caused considerable damage to expensive electric phonograph and cigar machines.

Money was taken from two cash registers located in the cocktail lounge, from a strong box under the bar and from the juke box, cigar machines and a shuffleboard compartment, according to the Fond du Lac county sheriff.

Sam Salaji, who with his father, George, and brother, Steve, operates the establishment, said that the burglars either entered the place through a service window in the basement or remained in the building after close of business.

George and Steve Salaji left the building at 2 a. m. after checking the day's receipts. They recalled after the burglary that they had seen a car drive toward the alleys, then out to the street and speed away as they were walking out. They noted that it was a 1948 model car equipped with sun visor.

The burglars were thorough in ransacking the establishment. After taking $50 in change and currency from each of the two registers, they proceeded to jimmy open a new juke box and new electric cigar machines. Approximately $100 was taken from the machines. The shuffleboard contained two week's receipts, about $60, according to Salaji, its operator. The strong box was smashed open behind the bar, yielding more than $300 in cash.

There was a large attendance at the alleys Wednesday, "ladies' night." The burglars may have mingled with the crowd, then hidden in the basement. Although they could have entered through the window by which route salesmen deliver soda and beer, such a method would have been difficult because of the size of the opening.

A few fingerprints were obtained which will be studied in an effort to determine whether they belong to members of the alley staff or to the burglars.

PAT, FRANNY TELL OF TRIP

Pat and Franny Fries, former tavern owners at New Prospect, who are now on an extended trip through the southwestern and western states, send the following letter in which they summarize their trip and extend greetings:

"Saying hello to all our friends back home and wishing them a Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year. We'll try and give a brief outline of our trip thus far. At present while I'm writing this here in Tucson, Arizona, I have the door open and the warm sunshine pours in. We have passed through Iowa, Kansas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Texas, Mexico and Arizona. We visited the beautiful Grotto at Dickeyville, Wis., the Will Rogers memorial at Clearwater, Okla., the Old-Cedar Caverns in New Mexico, the Texas Canyon, also many of the smaller mountain ranges. Have been on the A mountains which are a part of the Tucson mountains. From here we saw Tucson at night. It's a beautiful sight. We have been living in the valley of the Catalina mountains which at present have snow on them. We have seen many of the wells in operation, many cotton fields in bloom, plenty of cotton pickers, cotton gineries and many, many cacti, all sizes and shapes.

"The Catalina Caverns so far has been outstanding. No one can describe them. You have to see it to believe its beauty. In this cave you go down 150 feet below surface. They serve lunch 75¢ per person. The trip through took almost four hours. After you complete the trip through the caves you are taken back to the surface by an elevator. It takes 55 seconds to get back. Then you take your car and drive 7 miles down the Quadelupe mountains back to the highway. We also visited the San Xavier de Bac Indian mission and school. It's an old landmark but is still in every day use. It was established in the 1700's. It's holy water baptismal font in the church is 349 years old. Also the Tumacacori mission stands which is left in ruins after the Apache raid. That one was established in the early 1900's.

"Mexico is quite the place to visit. Their business setups are worth seeing, especially what they call silver street. Everything is in the open. "While staying at the Naomi Courts here in Tucson, we had 'People Are Funny,' Art Linkletter's NBC program. His group also staid here. They are touring the U.S.A. with Don Haynes, the man in the sealed ear (a Kaiser). He is to remain in that car 14 months. He begins in February of 1949 and has

School Cagers Lose to North Fondy, West Bend

The Kewaskum High school Indians were nose out in two close contests in the past week's play. Friday evening in a Tri-County conference tilt at North Fond du Lac, the Indians were shaded by the strong Oriole quint, 42-40, in a heartbreaker. On Tuesday evening of this week in a non-league exhibition, the Highs were turned back, 41-34, by the West Bend Badgers of the Little Ten conference there.

The North Fondy win over the Indians gave them a tie for the Tri-County lead with Oakfield, which defeated Campbellsport, 45-36. LeRoy Willis and Bob Smith led the Orioles with 14 and 11 points. Hubert Justman and Frank Krueger were high for the losers with 12 and 11 points.

At West Bend Bill Wolf paced the Badgers with 14 points, while Wierman was the spark plug of the local quint, along with Krueger and Justman. Wierman consistently faked his man out of position and wound up with 11 points even though he made only 5 out of 15 free throws. The game was a zig-zag battle most of the way with only a few points separating the teams until the final two minutes. Kewaskum trailed, 24-19 at the half but soon narrowed the West Bend lead to one point, 25-24. The Indians outscored the Badgers in the final period but not by enough.

5 months to go as yet. He is to gather a pair of pajamas from each governor of the U.S.A. We have spoken personally to him. It's a quite an interesting fact.

"The weather here is beautiful. Beautiful sunshine, you can sit outdoors every day. Flowers are blooming, doesn't seem possible after how cold we get it in Wisconsin. Evenings get cool but a light jacket or sweater takes care of that.

"We also visited Old Tucson in the beautiful Tucson mountains. This is a little town made up of adobe huts which were set up for a film. In fact many films are made here in Arizona. This Old Tucson now is being used for a sightseeing place. They have outdoor square dancing, have weddings in the small adobe church, saloons, and many other things of interest. It's all so interesting one can't fully describe it. Also visited a large orange, grapefruit and date grove. Fruits are just ripening now. We were was a beautiful sight to see.

A-Bomb Progress

NOW that loquacious Sen. Ed. Johnson of Colorado has discussed various atomic matters on television, it is possible to speak frankly about the awesome race to develop death by the atom.

One difficulty in making a hydrogen bomb is producing the detonation instrument to make it explode. This will require unheard of heat, and it looks as if about the only thing that could make a hydrogen A-bomb explode is the present plutonium A-bomb we have today.

Another important chapter in death-dealing which scientists are working on feverishly is the nature of the nucleus of the atom. Today, only a small portion of the potential energy in the atom is used in the current atomic bomb.

However, scientists now expect to achieve sufficient understanding of the nature of the atom to enable them to double and triple the explosive power of the bomb without increasing the amount of plutonium required.

Finally, American scientists have developed instruments to detect radiation which are so sensitive they can pick up traces of an atomic explosion at a distance up to 10,000 miles. In fact, following the test explosions at Bikini, physicists at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., were able to detect radiation from the explosion in the clouds above Ithaca.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

A-Bomb 'Powder' Declared Given To Russia in Lend-Lease Deals; Federal Tax Reforms Suggested

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

MONUMENT TO PEACE . . . This new view of progress being made in construction of the United Nations world headquarters in New York City shows workmen carting their wheelbarrows of cement on the 39th floor, in the shadow of New York's tallest skyscraper, the Empire State building.

DEFENSE:

Skeletons Rattle

Skeletons of the Franklin D. Roosevelt "inner circle" were being rattled again. This time, it was Harry L. Hopkins, Roosevelt right-hand-man in the glittering days of the New Deal and the early war years, who was being resurrected in charges he gave U. S. atomic secrets to the Russians.

THE ACCUSER was G. Racy Jordan, a former army captain, who declared in a radio interview that big loads of what a Russian colonel called uranium and "bomb powder" were flown to Russia in 1944 under hurry-up instructions telephoned Jordan by the late Mr. Hopkins.

Ex-captain Jordan claimed possession of documentary proof, including a diary and copies which he said were of letters he wrote informing his superiors of these events.

U. S. officialdom who might have been concerned, or who were intimate with or associates of Hopkins and the "inner circle," were quick to brand Jordan's charges as "fantastic," a "cock-and-bull story," or to claim they had "heard nothing" about any such happenings.

JORDAN'S ACCOUNT described Hopkins as "the button the Russians touched every time they needed emergency help," and said Hopkins "was in the picture all the time."

Despite the overall denial in high places, a congressional probe group set to work to investigate the charges. Its action was directed by Chairman McMahon (D., Conn.) of the senate-house atomic committee.

TAXES:

Reform Urged

It wouldn't be all beer and skittles for Mr. Truman and his let's-increase-taxes adherents in the second session of the 81st congress. As everyone will recall, Mr. Truman has indicated he will ask a multi-billion dollar tax hike in January, and he was bolstered in that position by a statement by John Snyder, treasury secretary, who also saw a need for more taxes.

HOWEVER, Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.) didn't share the views of these two gentlemen. Instead, the senator said publicly that any tax increase not only would be a mistake, but a "practical impossibility."

The senator, who heads the senate-house economic committee and might reasonably be presumed to know what he was talking about, told newsmen he thought the government could get more revenue by revising the tax system to give new incentives to business, rather than by raising taxes.

HE WILL SUGGEST, it was indicated, that wasteful spending in government be eliminated but not too sharply, and that no tax hike be made. Declaring the present tax system to be badly in need of reform, he said it should be revised to provide incentive for business expansion.

CZECH REDS:

Church War Looms

The smouldering row between church and state in Czechoslovakia threatened to erupt into open conflict as the nation's Roman Catholic bishops warned the Communist government that they could not submit to church control laws that destroy religious freedom.

The bishops even went so far as to suggest the possibility of a "religious fight" to protect their position.

The prelates soberly declared that if a religious fight does break out as a result of an attempt to enforce church control laws by threats and violence, the government alone will be to blame.

Giveaways Going

Public apathy, according to current reports, appeared to be beating the federal courts to the punch in obliterating giveaway shows from the nation's radio networks.

Although proposed federal bans remained tied up in the courts, the public already had knocked off a number of jack-pot shows by the most effective means in radio—not tuning them in. Four such shows already had folded, one was on the way out, others were being revised.

The decline of the giveaway was attributed to the passing of a fad—a falling off in interest among radio listeners; but, whatever the reason, it is axiomatic in radio that a loss of audience is as fatal to a program as any federal edict could be.

HIGH COURT:

A State's Right

A state's right to enact laws forbidding use of force and violence to keep workmen from their jobs was upheld by the United States supreme court.

THE CASE came up on appeal from Arkansas where the C.I.O. had attacked enactment of such a law. The labor unions called it a violation of federal constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and assembly.

But the high court was not confused. The Arkansas law, it ruled, did nothing of the kind. It did not penalize any peaceful assembly at the site of a labor dispute, nor did it "infringe the right of expression of views in any labor dispute."

All it did, the court said, in effect, was to require that labor disputes proceed without the use of force or violence.

JOBS:

On Increase

The national labor picture was looking better than it had in months. In November job totals increased 317,000 and Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer declared "the job picture in November was perhaps more favorable than at any previous time this year."

NON-FARM employment jumped 250,000 in November, reflecting the pickup in factory operations that had been slowed in October by the steel and coal strikes.

Farm employment itself scored a gain of 168,000 in November, a month when the number of workers usually declines.

It was estimated there were about 1.5 million persons with full-time (35 hours per week or more) employment who were on a part-time basis in the week of the November survey because of "slack work, material shortages, job turnover and similar factors."

UNDER the census bureau's statistical methods, anyone who has a regular job is counted as employed, even if he is not working at his job. Coal miners on strike, for instance, are counted as employed.

'Unveiling'

In Independence, Mo., a mysterious blaze "unveiled" a gift by President Harry S. Truman to his home town. The gift was a statue of Andrew Jackson, and the unveiling had been set for a later date.

The statue, mounted in front of the courthouse, was concealed by a muslin covering. Somehow the muslin covering caught fire and burned completely away. Police indicated they suspected pranksters.

JAPAN:

Economic Good

For those who might be wondering how Japan was getting along, there was word from Tokyo.

Joseph M. Dodge, General MacArthur's chief economic adviser, reported results of a second economic study begun last October. He expressed surprise at the improvement between the two visits he had made.

He said Japan's economic health was "surprisingly sound."

COAL:

Off & On

John L. Lewis' coal miners had returned to the pits on an "off & on" system of the three-day work week. The consensus among operators and federal officials was that Lewis had done nothing by this action but "save face."

THEY POINTED OUT that Lewis gradually was beginning to be hemmed in by a combination of circumstances over which he was losing control. Among these were a disposition on the part of the miners to question his arbitrary action in calling them from work and cutting off their incomes, and what appeared to be an open admission of weakness by his bargaining with operators on an independent basis.

At the time the three-day work week went into effect, the southern coal dealers had announced there appeared little point in trying to negotiate a contract with Lewis until he modified two of his contract demands.

The first was Lewis' insistence on a "willing and able" clause which would give him the right to call miners out on "quickie strikes" or put them on a three-day work week.

The other was the mine union chief's desire for "too much control" over the union's multi-million-dollar welfare and retirement fund.

JOSEPH E. MOODY, president of the southern coal operators group, declared that Lewis' stand imperiled the entire industry.

"Unless Mr. Lewis stops winning these demands," he said, "he will wreck the entire coal industry." Of the clause permitting quickie strikes or a three-day work week, Moody said it would have to be eliminated "because it is a usurpation of the basic functions of management; at the right of employers to operate their mines in accordance with sound business judgment."

Meantime a group of small mine operators had signified their intention to sign separate agreements with Lewis.

ARMAMENTS:

Census Voted

The Russians weren't doing so well in United Nations activities. Despite bitter Soviet objections, the U.N. general assembly voted to take a worldwide census of ordinary arms and armed forces. Losing the protest, the Reds lost, too, in an effort to have the census include atomic bombs, too.

However, the Soviet action made it unlikely that any of the western countries would turn in their figures now.

THE ASSEMBLY voted 44 to 5 (Soviet bloc dissenting) for the census of weapons technically called "conventional armaments." This would include anything from such small arms as pistols to the largest warships and planes, but would not include atomic bombs or any other weapons of mass destruction. The western group argued such a census is the first step in setting up a scheme for arms limitation.

The assembly action confirmed once more a decision of the U.N. commission for conventional armaments that it has no business dealing with atomic weapons since the U.N. atomic energy commission was set up for that purpose.

THE FRENCH, on the other hand, charged that Russia was trying to trap the western powers into disarming while the Soviets build an army unprecedented in history.

John D. Hickerson, U.S. assistant secretary of state, told the Russian delegates frankly that western Europe is rearming and the U.S. is helping, "because they fear the intentions of the Soviet Union."

With this open declaration of knowledge or belief of where America's chief danger lies, there should be no excuse in the future for any reenactment of the Pearl Harbor debacle in the event the Reds start a war.

A-Test Chief

Elwood R. Quesada, air force lieutenant general, will head up a special project "joint task force No. 3," which will conduct new atomic weapons tests at Eniwetok proving ground.

TRUST POLICY:

Accord Sought

The federal government planned to launch a campaign aimed to strengthen its federal antitrust policies and, at President Truman's request, Charles Sawyer, commerce secretary, would direct it.

Sawyer announced that a major goal would be to foster voluntary compliance, eliminate unnecessary confusion from existing laws, and clarify the rules.

Sawyer made public a report which was the first of its kind in the past 14 years. It showed the extent to which the nation's production is concentrated in a handful of firms in each of 452 manufacturing industries.

According to the report, the situation in 46 industries was such that the top four companies in each produce more than 75 per cent of all the goods.

Sawyer denied that this new action means the launching of a new anti-monopoly crusade or any attempt at "big stick" rule.

Has all love a physical component?

Answer: It must have, since our minds and our bodies are not separate things...

Can schools "adjust" children to life?

Answer: Basically, No. Whether a child becomes a happy, "well-adjusted" adult depends on his parents, not his teachers.

Answer: Not so much as to have any real conception of democracy, say two American psychologists who interviewed 225 young men and women in the American zone of occupation.

KEEPING HEALTHY

New Drug Helps Shaking Palsy

By Dr. James W. Barton

UNTIL RECENTLY there has been little or no help that could be given to patients with Parkinson's disease (paralysis agitans, shaking palsy).

to these patients, but more recently Dr. F. M. Berger, University of Rochester, in the "New York State Journal of Medicine," reported that a new drug, theopirin, had been found remarkably effective in the treatment of Parkinson's disease.

In this disease, the patient, usually in his fifties, is afflicted with tremor or trembling, the thumb and forefinger producing the so-called pill-rolling symptom, rigidity and slowness in action of muscles which give his face a waxen, mask-like expression, and a bent forward position of head and body.

Dr. Berger treated a total of 24 patients with Parkinson's disease, of which 13 were greatly improved, the improvement beginning two days after the treatment was begun.

A few years ago Dr. Roland M. Klemme, professor of surgery, St. Louis university school of medicine, announced that by removing certain nerve cells in the brain, he had been able to cure 64 per cent of 200 cases of Parkinson's disease.

Patients who were unable to turn over in bed before the treatment with theopirin found that they were able to do so one or two days after taking this drug. Other patients were able to feed and dress themselves and carry out finer movements. One patient confined to his chair for two years, following treatment was able to return to work as a hotel porter.

HEALTH NOTES

While preventing bed-wetting is important, it is even more important to find the cause because in the great majority of cases the cause is emotional, not physical.

Most migraine patients are hard workers and do not spare themselves in their efforts to do a perfect job, whether the job is important or unimportant.

While tuberculosis occurs at all ages, the great majority of cases occurs between the ages of 18 and 30. Tuberculosis is curable if treated early.

That certain drugs control blood pressure is known, but drugs that actually reduce blood pressure once the blood vessels are hard are not available as yet.

The reason your dentist wants you to cut down on your sugar intake is because the sugar gets on and between the teeth, attacks the hard surface—the enamel—and causes tiny cracks in it. Through these tiny cracks organisms which cause decay find their way.

Cutting down on salt and salted foods and also on fats and eating more rice instead is not unlike the usual diet prescribed for high blood pressure, which consists of avoiding preserved, canned and spiced meat and fish—shellfish, salmon, mackerel, pork, herring and liver.

Inward conflicts raise our blood pressure

Physicians consider rheumatic fever childhood's greatest enemy. Dizziness is sometimes a symptom of high blood pressure.

'MULE TRAIN'

THERE IS NO TELLING WHAT the American public will go for in the way of popular songs. One of the most sensational hits in years is something called "Mule Train." You hear it everywhere.

But mule teams are now crashing out of radio sets, roaring across video cabinets and clippey clopping all over the living rooms of the land.

The rhythm and mood are close to "Git Along Little Doggie" which swept the nation a decade ago, and the words are no harder on the intellect than "Yes, We Have No Bananas." The latter's success was easier to comprehend. Everybody had seen a banana.

"Mule Train" pictures the emotions of a mule team driver as he urges the mules to give a better performance on any track and in any company. All he does is to crack his whip, yell at the mules and repeat "clippey clop, clippey clop" over and over again.

We have heard radio singer after radio singer sing "Mule Train" in a manner indicating lifelong pursuit of the business. We have heard girls render it as if, next to love and romance, nothing touched their hearts like a few miles delivering the borax across the mountains.

The kiddies are doing it with homemade whips, shouting at imaginary 20-mile teams as they romp all over the apartment, busting bric-a-brac to right and left. What is a $400 imported lamp if it is in the way of a mule or two?

We understand Bing Crosby is to blame. The song was written by Johnny Lund, Hy Heath and Slickman. But it was "Der Bingle" who saw possibilities and made the country mule team conscious.

"Whoa, you loped-ear loader! Get along there, you bob-tailed rascal! Clippey clop... Clippey clop... Take a hold there! Whee-ee!" (And stop at Times Square, the heart of the mule country, please.)

BROADWAY AND MAIN STREET Another Kind of Courage Has It All Over Standard Heroics

By BILLY ROSE

Recently, a doctor in Maine sent me a story about a courageous kid and, unless I'm getting soft in the heart, it's the most touching tale of heroism I've come across in a long time.

The story, as he got it from the mother, was that the girl and her brother, aged 7, had gotten into the loft of an abandoned barn and, when a rotted plank gave way, she had fallen, broken her leg and ripped her thigh on a piece of rusty farm machinery.

Billy Rose

As the doctor was cauterizing the cut and setting the leg, the boy—his name was Pete—kept watching from the doorway with worried interest.

"Is Molly going to be all right?" he asked when the splints were in place.

"She's lost a lot of blood," said the doctor, "but if she gets past the crisis tonight, everything will be okay."

"What's a crisis?" "It's—well, I guess it's the time when a person is sickest."

"When people lose a lot of blood, do they die?" "Sometimes. You see, the heart needs a certain amount to keep going. In a way, it's like the motor of a car, it stops running if it doesn't get gasoline."

"I see," said Pete.

LATER THAT NIGHT, the little girl's pulse began to slow up. "I'm afraid your daughter needs an immediate transfusion," the doctor told the father, "but there's a complication. She has an unusual type of blood, and I doubt whether the blood bank in Bangor has it in stock."

"Her brother has the same type," said the father. "I know, because the pediatrician who examined the kids last year told me so..."

Pete looked startled a minute later when his dad asked him if he would give up a cup of blood to help his sister get well.

"How can I?" the boy asked. "The doctor does it with a little rubber tube."

"Can I think about it?" "Sure," said the father, "but don't take too long."

Pete went to his room, and his parents heard him close the door. Five minutes later, he was back, looking very earnest. "All right," he said.

WHEN IT WAS over, the doctor bandaged the boy's arm and told him to lie down and take it easy. But instead, the kid went out on the porch and, when his father found him there at midnight, his face was white and his fingers were clenched.

"What's the matter, Pete?" "Oh, nothing," said the boy.

"Look here," said his father. "There's something going on in that head of yours. What is it?" "I was wondering how long it will take."

"How long will what take?" "How long it will take me to die."

The Fiction Corner

UPSTREAM NEMESIS

By Richard H. Wilkinson

JOHN WAS ONLY 29 and already life was bitter. Today, with the rain lashing in his face, wetting the newspapers before he could pass them to customers from beneath the oil skin covering, chilled to the bone, envying those who filed into the subway entrance with their sleek, contented, well-fed looks, he hated life. He hated people; he hated the world.

"Paypare! Paypare! Wuxtral! Wealthy society women slays husband and runs off with suitor!"

Life had been unkind to him. Life hadn't given him the breaks. That's it. It was life's fault. Either you were born into the easy way, or you didn't have a chance. This stuff about fighting your way to the top, overcoming obstacles, being a whooping, self-made success—Nuts! You can't fight when life is against you, when the crowd is way out ahead and throwing dust into your face.

"Rich society woman knocks off her spouse! Buy a paypare, sir."

A thousand smackers! Ha! Fat chance! Not when the breaks were against you. A man was a fool to try and buck the crowds when they were against him. Like that guy in the green hat. Look at him, trying to fight his way up those stairs. Didn't the dumbhead know that it was just after 5 o'clock and hundreds of people would be coming down the stairs on their way home?

"Hey, gimme a News." There was a man at John's elbow, looking impatient and irritated. John jerked himself back to earth.

"Sure. Evening News. Here you are, mister. Thanks. Paypare! Wuxtral! Wux—"

John stopped abruptly. A shot had sounded above the pounding of rain and the rumble of traffic. It came from the direction of the stairs. There was a stir, a wild scrambling, shrieks, curses. The sea of humanity came tumbling down, pausing, shrinking away, hor-

QUIET THINGS

THESE I have loved with passion, loved them long: The house that stands when the building hammers cease,

After wild syncopeation, a sane song, A tree that straightens after the wind's release, The cool green stillness of an April wood, A silver pool untroubled by the breeze, The clean expanse of a prairie's solitude, And calm, unhurried hours—I love these.

I have been tangled in the nets too long, I shall escape and find my way again Back to the quiet place where I belong, Far from the tinsel provinces of men. These will be waiting after my release: The sheltered ways, the quiet paths of peace.

GRACE NOLL CROWELL

"To do what?"

"To die," repeated the boy. "It's like the doctor said—when there isn't enough blood, the motor stops running."

"I see," said the father. "When you gave your sister a cup of blood, you figured you were going to die yourself."

"Sure," said Pete. "That's why I wanted to think it over."

MERRY CHRISTMAS, FRIENDS!

Warmed by the Star of Christmas,
The heart grows tall and strong;
And every passing stranger's voice
Echoes the angels' song;
All men are friends—all friends are dear—
So, Merry Christmas, friends! Good cheer,
And happiness this coming year!

We hope that in some small way our services have made the past year a better one for you and your family. We hope that we can add brightness, convenience and comfort to the coming year for you and yours. Merry Christmas!

MAY YOUR NEW YEAR BE HAPPY AND BRIGHT.
